THE TRIUMPH OF THE CHURCH

By F. R. Millard, President
Atlantic Union Conference

Jesus' declaration that He would build His church and the gates of hell would not prevail against it contained not only a statement of purpose, but a prophecy and a promise as well. His own life had been the object of bitter attack by a foe He Himself had conquered and cast from heaven. He had watched the persistent efforts of that foe to thwart all the plans of God. The church He now announced had been typified by the church in the wilderness and He knew full well how that church had failed so often and had degenerated into a movement that now sought His life. The assurance that this church would eventually prevail was linked with the prediction that the attacks that began in heaven, and were now concentrated on this earth, would continue.

The "gates of hell" sought first through persecution to destroy the church and its light came close to flickering out in the Dark Ages. But the devil learned that the blood of the martyrs becomes the seed of the church and turned to more effective methods. The first persecution scattered the early Christians to every part of the world and this only served to carry the gospel everywhere. The enemy now turned his efforts within and the life and the writings of the Apostle Paul give us a clear picture of the workings of the devil within the church. Under the guise of a zeal for truth, a desire for holiness, and a mission of reform, "false teachers" infiltrated the church everywhere. In his farewell words to the elders of Ephesus, Paul warned that savage wolves would come from among them, not sparing the flock and that even from their own body, men would come forward who would distort the truth and induce disciples to break away and follow them. Such men would not come with the appearance of savage wolves but as teachers of "truth," with very convincing arguments and insidious suggestions. Jesus Himself predicted that false christs and false prophets, especially in the last days, would come close to deceiving the "very elect." It behooves the church today to be on its guard and to recognize those movements which seem to have a strong religious appeal but contain elements the devil uses to undermine the church and its work.

We have a notable example of this in the experience of Israel. Korah, Dathan, and Abiram sought to destroy confidence in the leadership and succeeded in enlisting the sympathies of 250 of the most prominent men in the camp. They contended that all the people were holy and that Moses and Aaron had usurped too much authority. When God intervened and sent drastic punishment upon the people, the death of over 14,000 people proved how successful these false prophets had been in seducing the congregation. Even after the terrible visitation of God's judgment, many of the people still continued to complain against the leadership, further evidence of the subtle influence of what had been introduced to the people as a "reform movement."

The church and its leadership continue to be under insidious attack in our times. From its beginning, the church has seen numerous "reform movements." Reforms are needed and must come, and God will move upon conscientious individuals to work for the spiritual revival and return to primitive godliness which has been predicted and promised for the church. Revivals will come not only in our own church, but in other areas as well and it may be difficult to distinguish the genuine from the counterfeit. We do well to heed this admonition from the servant of the Lord:

Great changes are soon to take place in the world, and everyone will need an experimental knowledge of the things of God. It is the work of Satan to dishearten the people of God and to unsettle their faith. He tries in every way to insinuate doubts and questionings in regard to the position, the faith, the plans, of the men upon whom God has laid the burden of a special work and who are zealously doing that work. Although he may be baffled again and again, yet he renews his attacks, working through those who profess to be humble and God-fearing, and who are apparently interested in, or believers of, present truth. The advocates of truth expect fierce and cruel opposition from their open enemies, but this is far less dangerous than the secret doubts expressed by those who feel at liberty to question and find fault with what God's servants are doing. These may appear to be humble men; but they are self-deceived, and they deceive others. In their hearts are envy and evil surmisings. They unsettle the faith of the people in those in whom they should have confidence, those whom God has chosen to do His work; and when they are reproved for their course they take it as personal abuse. While professing to be doing God's work they are in reality aiding the enemy.—Testimonies, P. 273-74.

Men frequently come forward with interpretations of the Scripture that fail to win acceptance by the church and its leaders. This often results in criticism or bitterness on the part of the individual who often seeks to find support for himself by canvassing the members of the church by means of circulars or mimeographed material. Such individuals, though appearing sincere and earnest, are usually more concerned with winning support for themselves in the church rather than trying to win souls to the kingdom of God. They invariably seek to cast reflection on the judgment of church leaders and may even become abusive in their attacks. The church itself is not spared in these attacks. All these elements should help us in distinguishing the true from the false.

Although there are evils existing in the church, and will be until the end of the world, the church in these last days is to be the light of the world that is polluted and demoralized by sin. The church, enfeebled and defective, needing to be reformed, warned, and counseled, is the only object upon earth upon which Christ bestows His supreme regard.—Testimonies to Ministers, p. 49.

The enemy knows that "if Christians were to act in concert, moving forward as one, under the direction of one Power, for the accomplishment of one purpose, they would move the world."

—Testimonies, IX, 221. It is little wonder then that the enemy of the church tries in such subtle ways to bring in divisions, misunderstandings, and ill-will. The church will triumph for the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Let us hold fast our profession, be in constant union with Christ, and we will triumph with His church.

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Fifteen years ago a quest for the favorite hymn of North America placed "The Old Rugged Cross" at the top of the poll. In order to discover the religious musical tastes of the people of the United States and Canada, the Seventh-day Adventist churches across these countries will be participating in a search on April 27 for the favorite hymn or gospel song. Through this simple, but effective approach, it is hoped that more than a million people will be reached in personal interviews. From the poll, the favorite hymns of children and youth as well as adults will be determined. Those contacted will be encouraged to listen to the Voice of Prophecy and Faith for Today and invited to enroll in a Bible Course. Following the announcement of the national results at the end of May, the Voice of Prophecy and Faith for Today will produce programs featuring the top songs for release on October 6.

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- SAWs - the Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Service - is sending more than $36,000 worth of relief supplies to South Vietnam. The aid consists of $31,000 worth of lightweight clothing and up to $5,000 to buy other supplies in South Vietnam. The Far East Division will match the cash appropriations. Dr. Jes C. Holm, medical director of the Saigon Adventist Hospital, reports the 50-bed hospital is caring for more than 75 in-patients and hundreds of out-patients who come for help each day. Approximately 2,000 people died in the fighting in a two-block area around the Adventist Hospital.

MADRID, SPAIN -- Ruben Escribano Esteban, a Seventh-day Adventist soldier of the Spanish Army, stationed in Madrid, has been sentenced by court martial to six years in prison for refusing to serve on Sabbath.

TAKOMA PARK, MARYLAND -- The Home Study Institute has enrolled its 100,000th student. Founded in 1909 as the Fireside Correspondence School, Home Study Institute provides work ranging from kindergarten through college level. Currently the school is expanding its non-credit adult education courses designed for church laymen, pastors, teachers, and administrators.

PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY -- Americans consider their biggest concern to be the Vietnam War. For the first time since scientific polling began in the 1930’s, Americans list lawlessness as their second biggest worry. On the local level, crime was considered the most important problem topping education, transportation, high taxes, and unemployment.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA -- Taking prime position in the February 4 Sunday magazine section, "California Living," of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner was a feature on the floating islands of Lake Titicaca. Six full-color pictures and two in black and white told the story of life on the reed islands inhabited by the Uru Indians and showed a class in session in the floating school built by the Adventist Mission three years ago. The writer, Alec M. Blasco-Ibanez, calls his story "Life on a Floating 'Mattress' - the Ancient Reed People of Lake Titicaca." His report covers three full pages. Working closely with the author during his visit to the Islands was Harold O. Burden, director of public relations for the Lake Titicaca Mission.
Southern New England Conference Biennial Session

By F. R. MILLARD, President
Atlantic Union Conference

Two hundred fifty delegates, representing the 58 churches of the Southern New England Conference, convened at Pioneer Valley Academy, April 7, for the twenty-first biennial session of the conference. Two of these churches—Framingham-Spanish and Lawrence—were received into the sisterhood of churches, having been organized since the last session.

The delegates unanimously re-elected Lowell Bock as president and Donald Russell as secretary-treasurer. With the exception of the medical department where Dr. William Jacobson was elected to replace Dr. Simon Witter, the entire departmental staff was returned to office for another two-year term.

Donald W. Hunter, associate secretary of the General Conference, opened the session with a devotional talk that included reports of progress in various parts of the world. Elder Hunter also took an active part with the standing committees and gave guidance and counsel to the session.

In his report to the delegates, Elder Bock indicated solid growth and progress in nearly every area of the work. Special mention was made of the work of the conference evangelistic team who, assisted by local pastors, won a total of 175 persons to the church. This helped to bring to 658 the number added to the church by baptism and profession of faith during the two-year period. This has resulted in a total membership of 6,677 for the conference as of December 31, 1967, thus giving the highest number ever recorded in one year for the conference.

The treasurer reported a total of $2,840,152.57 in tithes for the past two years—a net increase of nearly a half million dollars over the previous two-year period. During the same time, the churches contributed substantially toward Pioneer Valley Academy and have brought the indebtedness of $840,000 to $420,000.

The lay activities department of the conference, under the leadership of Marcus Payne, distributed 7,000 Bibles during the past biennium in connection with the Gift Bible Evangelism program. Sixty-one persons were baptized as a direct result of this project. In addition, a million and one-half pieces of literature and 20,081 Bible studies were reported. The members of the conference averaged $27.51 each in Ingathering funds raised during the biennium, representing a gain of $32,851.02 over the previous period.

The Sabbath school, under Elder Payne's leadership, reported offerings of $344,850.23 for missions. In addition, they have conducted 19 branch Sabbath schools and 21 Vacation Bible schools with over a thousand non-Adventist children in attendance. Four hundred eighty-five baptisms have resulted in part from the work of these Sabbath schools.

F. R. Stephan, the conference educational superintendent, reported on the 16 elementary schools and three senior academies maintained by the conference.
over 200 known baptisms resulting from the operations of the press secretaries of the General Conference, reports Elder Barnett, reports a 24 per cent increase in literature evangelistic activity at an annual cost of over a million dollars. One hundred thirty-one of the 1,792 students enrolled in these schools were baptized during the last two years. Elder Stephan cited the Cedar Brook school in Rehoboth, Massachusetts, as an outstanding example of the consolidated school plan in which a number of churches join in operating a school.

M. A. Dopp, youth and temperance leader, reported 15 Pathfinder Clubs with a membership of over 300 youth in our churches. Forty individuals were baptized in 1967 alone as the result of the witnessing of our youth. Along with more specific plans for youth crusades and youth evangelism, the department told of plans to winterize Camp Winnekeag so that its facilities could be used the year round.

The temperance work in the conference has been highlighted by numerous Five-Day Plans to help people stop smoking. Many avenues are thus being opened for community service and witnessing, and a number have been led to seek church fellowship as a result of attending these special meetings.

Richard Barnett, public relations secretary, reported on the fine cooperation of the press secretaries of the 58 churches which resulted in the placing of 16,836 column inches of free news stories about Adventism in the pages of over a hundred newspapers in the territory. The radio and television department, also under the leadership of Elder Barnett, reports over 200 known baptisms resulting from the combined radio-television ministry during the last two years.

George C. Peterson, publishing department secretary, reported a 24 per cent increase in literature evangelistic activity.

Many books were placed in parochial schools and many contacts made through doctors' offices. Elder Peterson reports that 44 persons were baptized as the result of the literature evangelists since 1966.

The president's report, presented in pictorial form, served to acquaint the delegates with the overall program of the conference and formed the basis for the president's challenge to the delegates to accomplish a much larger work for God during the next two years.

Elected to serve as the conference Executive Committee for the coming biennium were: Lowell L. Bock, chairman; Donald J. Russell, secretary; Victor Collins, Herbert Douglass, Clarence E. Johnson, O. J. Mills, G. S. Remick, Harley Schander, F. R. Stephan, Charles Stokes, Grant Tollefson, Paul Wethey, and Simon Witter, M.D.

How Will You Respond?

By Clark Smith
National Service Organization

The response by every church member in the United States to the call for the Servicemen's Fund Offering will be a measure of our concern for our youth. The goal of $100,000 for the Servicemen's Fund on May 11 will be reached as every one gives to help these young men for the two years before the next offering is taken.

The time spent on military duty is probably the greatest period of testing in life. Frustration, challenge, temptation, fear, as well as opportunity, advancement, and fellowship mark every moment of it. From the uncertainty before the induction notice to the discharge from all reserve obligations six years later the church must make itself meaningful and helpful to the young man where he is. This is a mammoth task.

The Servicemen's Fund provides church papers for these young men on active duty. It also provides missionary literature to our servicemen and to our Adventist chaplains. This presence of the church by mail reaches to the remotest assignment and searches out those engulfed in the masses about them.

There are many ways by which the church helps servicemen. There are twelve Adventist military chaplains (and current possibilities for more!), nine civilian chaplains, and scores of MV secretaries and local pastors who are specially trained for this work. There are many leaflets printed for the information of our servicemen. There is a program of preparing young men for their obligated military service. There are many contacts maintained by the church with military, selective service, and other government authorities to keep channels open for use in helping our men in their military obligations. But most of all there is a concern in the hearts of our church members for these young members of the faith during this period of stress.

Everyone of these tools must be effectively employed if the church is to be present with its youth in these days so different from the days when some of us were young.

This is a day of computers and satellites in the sky, but there is still no tool effective in reaching the many Adventist servicemen except individual contact. The only way to know who they are is to have someone give their name and full military address. Then they can be reached with literature and contact with the church. Won't you provide the church with this information? We'd rather get a man's name ten times to check against the master file of servicemen we maintain at the General Conference than to miss one man because someone thinks we already have the name.

Send the name and address of every Adventist serviceman to the MV secretary of the conference and remember to give your offering to the Servicemen's Fund on Sabbath, May 11. Mark it clearly for the purpose you intend it.

New Book on Medics

No Guns on Their Shoulders, a new 144-page hard-back book about Seventh-day Adventist medical soldiers serving in Vietnam, written by Herbert Ford, director of public relations for the Pacific Union Conference, has been released by Southern Publishing Association.

The new book is a collection of stories which give personal glimpses of young men who go into combat as unarmed medics devoted to saving the lives of their comrades on the Vietnamese battlefields. Some of the medics mentioned in the book are killed in battle, many are wounded... and several are decorated for heroism.

Seventh-day Adventists enter the armed forces as non-combatants and are usually assigned to the medical corps. They do not carry weapons as do other combat medics.

More than 40 pictures are included in the book, many of which show Adventist medics in action in Vietnam. Some of the pictures were taken during actual battle operations.

Ford interviewed or corresponded with dozens of enlisted men and their families in collecting material for the manuscript. He spent more than a year researching and writing the book.

No Guns on Their Shoulders is Herbert Ford's third book to be published by Southern Publishing Association. His first, entitled Wind High, Sand Deep, was published in 1965, and his second, Flee the Captor, was published in 1966. He was born in San Benito, Texas, and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Pacific Union College in 1954.

Ministerial Association Library Receives Books

Two Korean workers, Howard Pang and Elder K. S. Oh, admire the first shipment of books to be received by the Korean Union Ministerial Association Library from the Theology Forum, a student organization at Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Massachusetts.

The Association Library is being organized as a lending library from which our workers in the field may check out books by mail. In a land where most of our workers have very meager source materials, this plan is meeting with a great deal of enthusiasm. It is hoped that within a few years the library can be expanded to include several thousand volumes both in English and Korean.

The number of Bible School lessons graded at Faith for Today since the telecast began is slightly under seven million.

Bermuda Institute Culture Program

Here are the chosen leaders of culture selected recently at Bermuda Institute at the close of "Culture Week," a yearly feature at the school. They are (center) Wilton Simmons, king, and Udora Ingham, queen; prince and princess are Lloyd Matthews and Beth Adams. Students are selected because of their excellence in grades, courtesy, thoughtfulness, appearance and over-all character appointments. There is one rule, however, the same student is not selected two years in a row.

ROY E. MALCOLM, Bermuda Institute principal, greets two guests at the school "culture" program held there in the Assembly Hall recently. They are Miss Eulene Simmons and Wendell Simons; the latter is a teacher at the school. The banquet was held for the students of the academy, which is in its first year at the Institute. Mr. Malcolm has done much to develop the program and to enhance student incentive at the school over the past few years.

Frank W. Hale, Jr., Ph.D., president of Oakwood College, Huntsville, Alabama, was guest speaker at the Bermuda Institute recently to promote true higher education. A two-part program was held entitled "An Object to Achieve"—"A Standard to Attain."

In all, four appointments were kept by Dr. Hale: at the Bermuda Institute, the Southampton church, the Hamilton
The Country Gospel Singers

The Country Gospel Singers will present a benefit program in the Spanish Central Brooklyn church, 167 Graham Avenue, on Sunday night, May 12, at seven o'clock. This will be a vocal and instrumental program of gospel favorites. The instruments are all strings plus accordion and all non-electric. The group comes from upstate, and are under leadership of Mac Coy of Palmyra, New York.

Admission fee is one dollar. Proceeds will benefit the Welfare Center at 261 Mauver Street in Brooklyn. Plans are underway to enlarge our welfare services, and this benefit will help us do so.

New York Executive Has Adventist "Pastor"

One of our laymen recently went to one of New York City's largest banks to apply for a loan. For some reason, he was invited to go to the fifteenth floor of the building to talk directly with the man in charge of the loan department.

During the course of the conversation, the executive asked our member to what church he belonged. When he said that he was a Seventh-day Adventist, the banker exclaimed: "Then you must know George Vandeman. He's my pastor. I never miss his telecast. I haven't sent the program any money yet, and they haven't asked me to, but I am planning on sending a contribution."

This man to date has never made himself known or been contacted in any other manner, and yet he obviously is being well informed of latter-day truth. How many others are there in this great metropolis who are perhaps secret disciples of Christ as a result of the telecast? We can never correctly judge the effectiveness of our use of the mass media by noting only immediate results.

A New Name for New York Center Church

The church which meets in the New York Center has a new name. Formerly known as the New York Center church, it is now to be called the Crossroads church. This new appellation is derived, of course, from the nearby Times Square area, which is often referred to as the "crossroads of the world."

Favored as it is with such a strategic location, the Crossroads church desires to be as a light set upon a hill. Its rapid growth thus far during 1968 would seem to mark it as a church that is moving ahead. Eight were added to its membership lists in January, four in February, and three in March. Three of the above acquisitions were by baptism.

Huntington Reaches Super Goal

A newly baptized member, Ted Alekel, led the Huntington church to a Super Ingathering goal victory of $30 per capita. Mr. Alekel personally raised $130 by soliciting friends and leading out in the Christmas caroling.

The total amount reached by the Huntington church was $990.

School Institute and Workshop on Sabbath, March 23, at the Spanish Mott Haven church in the Bronx.

Elder and Mrs. L. L. Reile had spent scores of hours in preparing a most interesting and helpful program in Spanish for the Sabbath school teachers and any others interested in the children’s divisions. Nearly 250 people crowded into the church to hear the various speakers and see demonstrations. Mrs. Reile led out as chairman, assisted by her husband, the conference president. The theme was “How to Make the Sabbath School Christ-Centered.”

Those attending separated into teacher-groups: junior, primary, and kindergarten-cradle roll. Bulletins and theme sheets for the coming quarter were distributed. On Saturday night, W. H. Bergherm, Jr., Book and Bible House manager, sold nearly $300 worth of books and Sabbath school materials.

On Sunday morning, sixty-five registered for the workshop, which lasted until 3:00 p.m. All the Spanish churches but one sent delegates. Five tables were arranged where various attention and offering devices could be made. There was much jigsawing, gluing, lettering, coloring, snipping, and cutting of paper and cardboard. Much of this material will also be used in branch Sabbath school work. We hope that workshops can become a regular program for both the English and Spanish churches in the future.

Evangelism Mass Meetings

Enthusiastic support for the Gift Bible Evangelism campaign was noted at the four area-wide United Evangelism mass meetings recently held in the New York Conference. Emphasis was given to co-operative effort by members, officers, and ministers in the divinely inspired movement to win souls to Jesus Christ.

There was a representative from the General Conference as the guest speaker at each area rally. Theodore Carcich, vice-president of the General Conference, spoke at Buffalo; Ralph S. Watts, vice-president of the General Conference, spoke at Elmira; Earl E. Cleveland and J. R. Spangler, both associate secretaries of the Ministerial Association of the General Conference, were guest speakers at Syracuse and Albany, respectively.

A spirit of urgency ran through all the meetings as the speakers brought to the attention of the large audiences that “time is short, and our forces must be organized to do a larger work.” —Christian Service, p. 72.

Large and fruitful results are expected from the literature and other material the churches are distributing every Sabbath. In fact, results are already evident as the signed cards are coming in by handfuls to the conference office every day.

A. J. Patzer, president of the New York Conference, pointed the hearts and minds of the folk in attendance to the vision that was given to Ellen G. White: "Hundreds and thousands were seen visiting families and opening before them the word of God." As they faithfully carried out this inspired commission, "Hearts were convicted . . . a spirit of genuine conversion was manifest . . . doors were thrown open . . . great blessings were received. . . ." —Testimonies IX, 126.

A sense of dedication was manifested by those in attendance and all committed themselves to the task of soul winning in 1968.

New Piano Acquired at Union Springs Academy

Victory at last! The new "Betty Crocker coupon" piano was delivered by the manager of the Clark Music Company of Auburn, New York. The piano, an Everett, a forty-one-inch model, was built to the specifications of the American Piano Manufacturer's Institute and is fully guaranteed against material and workmanship defects.

Shown in the picture is Raiford Couden, music director at Union Springs Academy, presenting a check to Al Bronson of Clark Music Company, as Annabelle Berg, piano instructor, looks on. The piano has been placed in Miss Berg's office, and is to be used for teaching only.

Much credit for obtaining this piano must go to Mrs. Josephine Franke for her months of hard work in trimming, sorting, and packing the thousands of Betty Crocker coupons that came from all over the states. Her enthusiasm for this project, even when the 120,000 coupon goal seemed unattainable, has meant the difference between success and failure. We want to thank Mrs. Franke.

Mrs. Ellen Gray, press secretary of the Glens Falls church, is the Press Secretary of the Year in the New York Conference. She placed a total of 303 stories about her church in the local papers and enjoyed excellent relations with the press as well as the radio outlets. All this work was faithfully done in spite of a full-time job in the office of a plumbing and heating company. Mrs. Gray is active in the Glens Falls church and is willing to lend a helping hand when needed.

“Smoking Sam” Visits Schools

From Canton to Elmira, from Buffalo to Glens Falls, “Smoking Sam” is on the go these days. James Everts, temperance secretary of the New York Conference, has been visiting the public school systems of the conference and encouraging the young people to leave tobacco alone.

In these schools students are shown that even the so-called “low tar—low nicotine” cigarettes can cause an accumulation of these poisons in the lungs and body organs. Young people are urged to avoid their use altogether and help those who may have started to smoke to discontinue the habit.

Several churches have scheduled smoking clinics as a result of the school and industrial visiting.

DISCOVERING THE UNKNOWN

Through test tubes and equations the scientist has opened up a whole new world for modern man. Today we live in an era that a few years ago was only man’s fanciful dreams.

But while modern man has made tremendous discoveries, the most glorious revelations of all come from God’s Word. Here is outlined the secret of personal power. Beautifully revealed are the steps one takes to salvation and entry to God’s kingdom.

You may have a friend or loved one who has never made a full commitment to Christ. Take a moment now to invite him to enroll in Faith for Today’s Bible E.I. du Pont de Nemours Correspondence Course. Fleeting moments spent in giving a brief invitation to study in this way can lead another to make his calling and election sure.

BY FAITH I LIVE, a full message book by Doctor W. A. Fogal, will be sent to all of those securing five or more enrollments. Send names and addresses of enrollees to:

The Home and School Association of the Bronx church, under the leadership of Mrs. Lucille Vanderveer, has a real concern for the future of Christian education in the metropolitan area of New York City. Mrs. Vanderveer's concern has turned into an action project, and she has stimulated many of the members of the church to join her in laying plans for raising funds in the interest of Christian education.

"King Solomon and the Four Queens," a Biblical pageant, is one of the first projects in this fund-raising campaign. The program has been designed to benefit a school building project and each organized Home and School Association in the metropolitan area of New York City. Mrs. Vanderveer and her associates are in the process of contacting all churches to solicit their cooperation and support.

The date for the presentation of this program will appear soon in the "Dateline" section of the GLEANER.

William Warfield
Bass-Baritone

William Warfield, baritone, will appear soon in Elijah with the Bethel Choir under the baton of Victor Kelley. Mr. Warfield has been acclaimed around the world as one of the greatest vocal artists of today. Achieving extraordinary triumphs at home each season, he tours the world extensively and has been hailed everywhere he sings, enhancing all peoples' awareness and love of music. So great is this singer's impact upon audiences that our State Department has on six separate occasions requested his services as a cultural ambassador of the United States.

As an orchestral soloist, the bass-baritone is in constant demand by conductors both here and abroad. He is frequently re-engaged by such great symphonies as the New York Philharmonic and the Philadelphia Orchestra. His recent appearance in The Messiah marked the artist's thirty-fifth appearance as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra. During Holy Week, April, 1966, he appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic in Bach's St. John's Passion, repeating his role just one year later with the Rochester Philharmonic.

The man who was destined to become one of the musical greats of his day was born in West Helena, Arkansas, the eldest of five sons. While still a small child, the Warfield family moved to Rochester, New York.

William Warfield was born in 1939, the eldest of five sons. His musical career began at an early age, with his family singing in church and at home. He later attended the New England Conservatory of Music, where he studied with legendary voice teacher Caruso. Warfield made his professional debut in 1963 with the New York Philharmonic, and since then has performed with leading orchestras and opera companies around the world. He has been awarded numerous honors, including a Grammy Award and the Presidential Medal of Freedom. Warfield is known for his powerful voice and his dedication to social causes, particularly civil rights. He has performed at many important events, including the 1963 Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Concert and the 2009 inauguration of Barack Obama. Warfield continues to perform and to educate about the power of music and the arts.
Worker’s Meeting in Northern New England

Recently a round-table type of workers’ meeting was conducted in Northern New England by Elder Carl P. Anderson, conference president, with five pastors and five office staff members. These workers met together for a day and a half, discussing the interrelations of the departments with the work in the churches.

As a result of this pilot program, plans are being laid to conduct at least two more such meetings so that all of the pastors will have the opportunity to take part in the discussion.

Federation Meetings in Northern New England

One hundred seventy-five men and women attended the four area Health and Welfare federations conducted in Northern New England during the first week of April.

The guest speakers for the meetings were Miss Mattie Johnson, Federation president of the Northeastern Conference, and Mrs. Nancy Towers, Southern New England Conference Federation president.

Elder W. E. Peeke, lay activities secretary of the Atlantic Union Conference, and Elder W. W. Menshausen, lay activities secretary of the Northern New England Conference, assisted the presidents of the four federations with the program.

Encouraging reports were given, telling of the faithful work that is being done through our Health and Welfare service. Our speakers challenged all of the church members to become involved in a greater service for the Master.

THE ATLANTIC UNION GLEANER
Spring Workers' Meeting Held

The pastoral staff of the Southern New England Conference gathered at the South Lancaster Village church for a two-day workers' meeting, April 9-10.

Evangelism was the keynote of the session and this theme was the overtone of the messages presented by Elders N. R. Dower, secretary of the Ministerial Department of the General Conference; Elder F. R. Millard, Atlantic Union Conference president; and Elder G. H. Rainey, of the Atlantic Union Ministerial Department. At one point Elder Rainey made a statement that was the crux of what was communicated to the ministers during the sessions, when he said: "If evangelism is not the first work of the pastor then he is either in the wrong work or in the wrong church."

All were greatly encouraged by the district reports brought by each of the ministers during the course of the meetings. Definite progress was noted in the reports as they were presented. Here are just a few illustrations:

1. The Willimantic (Connecticut) church tripled its membership in the last two years, under the leadership of Pastor Russell Burrill.
2. In one year the Lawrence (Massachusetts) church membership has grown from eighteen to thirty-three members under the leadership of Pastor George Clavet. Lawrence is a new church in the conference.
3. The Spanish Framingham (Massachusetts) church, which began with twenty members just a year ago, has doubled its membership, while the Bridgeport Spanish church, whose membership was twenty-five, now has forty-five members on their church books.
4. A new church is nearing completion in Worcester, the second largest city in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
5. The presence of a number of young couples has injected new life into the Sterling (Massachusetts) church and a new building is in the future planning.
6. Pastor Richard Coffen of the Pittsfield (Massachusetts) church is conducting evangelistic meetings at the church, and reports a new welfare center opened in Canaan, Connecticut.
7. The Brockton (Massachusetts) church is negotiating to sell its old building and plans to erect a new sanctuary shortly. Jerry Johnston is the district leader.
8. Elder O. J. Mills of the Hartford (Connecticut) district reported that a field school will be conducted in Hartford in August and that they anticipate a large influx of souls from this effort. He also stated that three branch Sabbath schools are being conducted in Hartford and that one of these is soon to become a company.

and the Five-Day Plan with good success.

The Problem Clinic, conducted on both days of the meetings, proved very helpful to the pastors as they discussed the problems which they are confronted with in their work, including ecumenical pressures brought upon them and the Church, as well as the Church's relationship to the current race issue. Elder Rainey, as well as Elder Leon Davis, public relations secretary of the Atlantic Union Conference, helped to clarify some of the problems that are confronted by the negro as well as the relationships between the regional conferences and those with a white constituency.

The spiritual tone of the sessions, the valuable instruction, as well as the fellowship enjoyed by our workers, provided a respite from their daily labors and inspiration to continue in the successful upbuilding of the Lord's work.

Adventist Children Have Better Dental Health

Dr. Robert L. Glass, of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine and the Forsythe Dental Center in Boston, visited a number of the larger church schools in the Southern New England Conference, including South Lancaster Academy, during the week of April 1 to make a special study.

Fostered through a grant of the dental division of the U. S. Public Health Service, the study is intended to compare the dental health of Dr. Robert L. Glass examines the teeth of Carl Bruno while making a survey of the dental health of the youth at South Lancaster Academy.

Seventh-day Adventist children with that of children in public schools. The local survey confirms the findings of a similar study made three years ago by Dr. Glass and other dental specialists at Loma Linda University Dental School in Loma Linda, California, as well as in Washington, D.C. Each of these tests, in which elementary- and high-school-age students were examined, revealed that Seventh-day Adventist children have significantly better teeth than children of the general public.

Dr. Glass stated that the Adventist children he had examined, both in this conference and elsewhere, had "appreciably less dental disease than the public school children that we have examined." The superior degree of dental health revealed in the Adventist children, he added, is believed to be the result of their diet. When the dental survey is completed, Dr. Glass will share his findings with Dr. Leif Bakland, an Adventist dentist in South Lancaster, who co-operated in the study.

Pioneer Valley Academy Hosts Music Festival

Six academies in the Atlantic Union Conference participated in a music festival on the week end of March 28-30 at Pioneer Valley Academy, New Braintree, Massachusetts. These were: Greater New York Academy, Greater Boston Academy, Northeastern Academy, South Lancaster Academy, Union Springs Academy, as well as the hosting school.

The week-end program, which was sponsored by the Atlantic Union Education Department, began with special services on Friday evening and a Sabbath school program the following morning in which the performance of sacred music was highlighted. The Sabbath morning worship speaker was Elder Andrew Fearing, of the General Conference Ministerial Association. On Sabbath afternoon the massed choirs and bands of each of the schools represented gave a sacred concert and in the evening these groups presented a secular performance.

News Notes

- Three hundred persons attended the seventeenth Five-Day Plan conducted by Elder O. J. Mills at the Hartford church school auditorium, March 24-28. It is reported that fifteen radio stations as well as three television outlets advertised the program with spot announcements. The Hartford Times also carried three full-length feature stories by a staff writer on March 5 and 6, extolling the plan and describing how it works. The articles were captioned as follows: "1,000 Persons Quit Smoking After Taking Church Course"; "Ex-Smokers: Here's How We Kicked Habit"; "No-Smoking Plan Is Keyed to Good Health Appeal." The publicity generated by this exposure in the mass media resulted in the excellent response noted above.

- H. Carl Currie, pastor of the Bridgeport (Connecticut) church, reports that 170 smokers registered for a Five-Day Plan which began there on March 24. Among the doctors who assisted in the program, were Dunbar Smith, M.D., and Leslie Fisher, D.D.S.

Conference on Bible Teaching at AUC

Dr. A. Graham Maxwell

A. Graham Maxwell, director of the Division of Religion and professor of New Testament at Loma Linda University, will hold a "Conference on Bible Teaching" at Atlantic Union College, June 17-28. This two-week course is designed to add relevancy, interest, and vigor in the Bible courses taught in Seventh-day Adventist schools.

Dr. Maxwell received his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from Pacific Union College in 1943 and 1944, respectively; and his Ph.D. degree in the field of New Testament from the University of Chicago Divinity School in 1959.

Guest Instructor for Summer Sessions

Dr. Quimby is one of the denomination's outstanding specialists in Old Testament prophets and history. Among the books he has written are The Prophets Still Speak, Prophetic Interpretation of Daniel and Revelation, and Christ's Messages to the Remnant in Revelation.

Dr. Quimby received the Bachelor of Theology and Bachelor of Arts degrees from Emmanuel Missionary College in 1921 and 1924, respectively; he received the Master of Arts degree in history from the University of Southern California in 1982, and in 1940 he earned the Ph.D. in history from the same school.

More than half of the steel framework is completed and rapid progress is taking place in the building program of New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham, since the recent steel delivery combined with the favorable spring weather. Completion of the first phase is scheduled for the fall of 1969.

Operating Room Nurses Attend National Meeting

The operating room nurses of New England Memorial Hospital attended the American Operating Room Nurses Convention held in Boston during the week of February 18-22.

There were many professional products and educational exhibits as well as meetings on new surgical techniques and seminars on sterilization, legal problems, and changes predicted in the future of operating rooms.

Guest speakers, Dr. Carl Walters, and members of the Palo Alto heart-transplant team, rounded out the meetings.

On Sunday, February 18, the hospital was host to the operating room nurses from other Seventh-day Adventist hospitals who were attending the A.O.R.N. Convention. Those hospitals represented were Madison Hospital, Tennessee; Leland Memorial Hospital, Maryland; and Parkview Memorial Hospital, Maine.

Pictures and plans for the new building were shown, and the visitors were given a tour of the hospital by John Lew, director of public relations, Edward Wall, director of unit management, and Mrs. Laura Deutsch, assistant director of nurses.

After the tour, the group was taken to the historical Wayside Inn for dinner and a guided tour giving the guests from different areas of the country a bit of the flavor of New England.

Husband-Wife Medical Team Establish Practices Here

Drs. Margaret and G. Ernest Horsley, a husband-wife medical team formerly of Inglewood, California, are presently practicing in Stoneham and Reading.

Margaret Horsley, M.D., is an ophthalmologist and a Diplomate of the American Board of Ophthalmology; G. Ernest Horsley, M.D., practices eye, ear, nose and throat (EENT) medicine, and is a Diplomate of the American Board of Otorhinolaryngology. His special interest is in reconstructive nose surgery and allergy as related to EENT.

Both doctors are graduates from the medical course at Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, California.

The Horsleys began a practice in Madison, Tennessee, in 1955, where they were associated with the Madison Sanitarium and Hospital. During this time Dr. Margaret took an eye residency at the University of Tennessee, Memphis, and Dr. Ernest taught at Vanderbilt University in Nashville.

From Tennessee, they went as missionaries to the Bella Vista Hospital in Mayaguez, Puerto Rico. In addition to responsibilities at the hospital, they were involved with vocational rehabilitation services for the government, and she as an eye, and he as an ear, nose, throat consultant at Ramey Air Force Base. She worked with the crippled children program.

They were in Puerto Rico until 1963 when they moved to Inglewood, California.

Add one minute for each thirteen miles west. Subtract one minute for each thirteen miles east.
The world grows smaller. Each year, thousands of Americans stream abroad to foreign countries, each bringing home a little more world understanding, a little more knowledge of the life and habits in other countries.

Knowing the clothing, the culture, and the food of other countries is surely one of the finest ways to promote understanding and friendship. We were reminded of this again and again during the recent Jan Worth Recipe Contest. We received many unusual and delicious recipes with a foreign flavor. Three of the prize winners are presented here. They are easy to prepare and offer a new taste treat for your family. We hope you enjoy them.

Sincerely,

Jan Worth
