TWO-YEAR Programs

AUC TWO- YEAR

Programs

AUC is introducing four new two-year Associate Degree programs in the following areas for next year: Business Computer Programming, Chemical Technology, Health Science, and Bible Instruction.

Since its introduction five years ago, the Associate Degree program has been a success at AUC. Two years of study in a nursing, accounting, or secretarial program have provided students with a career opportunity combined with an orientation to the liberal arts. With the addition of four new two-year programs, AUC now offers seven different associate programs in which students can acquire marketable skills for immediate employment. While these courses of study provide the advantages of educational experiences in association with other Christian youth, both the time and expenses involved are less than those of a four-year program.

AUC invites you to consider each of the two-year programs in greater detail.

ASSOCIATE IN SCIENCE IN BIBLE INSTRUCTION

The A.S. degree in Bible Instruction provides a brief but thorough concentration in Biblical and Applied Studies. It differs from the four-year Religion course in that the Liberal Arts features are largely omitted. It, therefore, meets the needs of those who desire a short but thorough background in Biblical Studies. It is designed to equip the layman to make a contribution in the local church in soul-winning endeavor.

ASSOCIATE IN SCIENCE IN CHEMICAL TECHNOLOGY

Chemical technicians are an integral and important part of any scientific or engineering team. At this time opportunities are good for chemical technicians—men and women trained in the practical skills of carrying out reactions, preparing products, performing analyses, and operating the many kinds of scientific instruments.

Some typical positions for which the student would be prepared on completion of the program include quality control technician, research technician, food product analyst, fuel technician and pharmaceutical technician. The skilled performance of these specialized duties by well-trained personnel is essential to the success of chemical research and industry.

ASSOCIATE IN SCIENCE IN BUSINESS COMPUTER PROGRAMMING

Individuals completing this program will be prepared for the duties and responsibilities of a variety of positions in the computer field, such as: assistant programmer-operator in a small computer center, an entry-level business applications programmer in a large computer installation, or sales representative for a computer manufacturer.

ASSOCIATE IN SCIENCE IN OFFICE ADMINISTRATION

This program aims to prepare the student for the responsibilities of an administrative secretarial career as compared with the more limited training of the stenographer, which depends upon the basic skills of typewriting and shorthand. While these skills are emphasized, the advanced students in this two-year program are given the opportunity for specialization in the business and professional areas of the secretarial field.

Atlantic Union Passes 40,000 Membership Mark

The official statistical report from the General Conference shows that the Atlantic Union reached a membership of 40,110 at the close of the first quarter of 1974. This is a gain of 8,148 members over the last five years.

New England Youth Ensemble

The New England Youth Ensemble, directed by Dr. Virginia-Gene Rittenhouse, left July 12, 1974, to make a three-week tour of Poland, under the auspices of the Ambassadors for Friendship Organization in New York, and co-sponsored by the Reader's Digest and Polish government.

The talented group was chosen from approximately four thousand applications from musical organizations all over the United States to give this initial program in Poland. Dr. Rittenhouse says that the members of the Ensemble feel a very deep sense of responsibility to represent the highest ideals of our American way of life.

New England constituents are well acquainted with the Youth Ensemble which was established nearly six years ago and has appeared before numerous audiences throughout the Atlantic Union, East Coast, Canada, and during the summer of 1973, in Europe. The Ensemble performed before audiences in Iceland; Usher Hall in Edinburgh, Scotland; the New Gallery in London; and the world-famous music center of Fontainebleau, France. Glowing tributes were heaped upon the youthful performers. A warm reception was given by the audience in Iceland and many stated that "their faith was restored in the possibility that young people still represent true Christian ideals." The bishop of the beautiful Lutheran Cathedral in the city of Akureyri—almost within the Arctic Circle—paid a similar type of tribute. Mademoiselle Nadia Boulanger wrote following their concert in Fontainebleau, France, "It was a pleasure to hear them so musical, so enthusiastic, so well-bred. It therefore represents a high appreciation of the guidance and initiative of the director."

Most of the members in the Ensemble of twenty-two, whose average age is fifteen, play more than one instrument. Among the group are six first-prize winners in the Music Teachers National Association Competition, the New England Piano Teachers Association Annual Competition in Boston, and the Worcester County Young Artist Competition. There are two family groups that are members: the Taylor family string quartet, winners of the Coleman National Award for Chamber Music, and the Charlestream family singers. Consequently these young people serve as soloists in addition to being Ensemble members which adds variety and interest to the program.

Soloists in the Ensemble are: Sylvia Araujo, violinist and concertmistress; Connie Rittenhouse, pianist and violinist; Leon Hauck, pianist and trombonist; Hope Charlestream, soprano; Annette Jarschke, pianist and clarinetist; and Julie Hasselback, pianist.

Faith for Today Appoints Public Relations Head

Recently appointed to direct Faith for Today's public relations program is Richard J. Barnett. Elder Barnett comes to his new post from Kettering Medical Center (Kettering, Ohio), where he was public relations director.

Elder Barnett's varied background as pastor, conference departmental secretary, and in institutional communications, will enhance his work at "Faith." His duties include publications, fund raising, and general promotion for the ministries of the telecast.

A native of New York City and a graduate of Columbia Union College and Andrews University, Elder Barnett took up his new responsibilities at the Thousand Oaks office of Faith for Today on July 8. He will be involved in promoting several exciting projects such as the spot ministries (thirty-second TV spot messages) and a children's television program. Barnett will also serve on Faith for Today's board of directors.

Happiness at Home — III

Sincere, loving appreciation of the other is a prerequisite to full happiness in a marriage. Ministry of Healing, on page 361, states it this way:

Let each give love rather than exact it. Cultivate that which is noblest in yourselves, and be quick to recognize the good qualities in each other. The consciousness of being appreciated is a wonderful stimulus and satisfaction. Sympathy and respect encourage the striving after excellence, and love itself increases as it stimulates to nobler aims.

One of the tests of true love, as distinguished from false, is its unselfishness. All true love, we are told, should draw its closest bonds from divine love. The essence of divine love is to give rather than take. "God so loved the world that He gave. . ." (John 3:16). "What can I do?" rather than "What can I get?" should be the dominating desire. How many of our family problems would never arise if we cultivated more of this kind of love!

You will note that it is when we cultivate the noblest qualities in ourselves that we will more readily perceive the positive virtues in our partner and others. In other words, cultivating positive attitudes and thoughts produces only good all the way around. Looking for positive qualities in ourselves and others will encourage a widening atmosphere of constructive and loving approach. It will bring hope to achieve better and nobler aims. It will provide a strong motivation to reach higher heights in sharing with others. In turn, being sincerely appreciated will bring hope and inspire those around us to strive for higher ground.

Prayerfully examine your life and your love. Which way is it leading? To become more and more like the divine pattern, or is it too much like one who epitomizes selfishness? Would this not be a good time to make a renewed effort to emulate the principles of divine love?

Two Veteran Readers of Scripture

Two veteran readers of Scripture, Dr. H. M. S. Richards (of the Voice of Prophecy, left) and Jacob T. Balkenberg (27 Sterling Street, Franklin, New Jersey), compare notes at Tranquility, New Jersey, the site of the state's annual camp meeting. Balkenberg, who has mined gold in California, silver in Arizona, and zinc in Franklin, New Jersey, has read the Bible through 75 times. Dr. Richards, dean of Adventist preachers, who is approaching 80 (Balkenberg is 80 years of age), has read the Old Testament through 76 times and the New Testament 140. Once Dr. Richards actually read the New Testament through verse-by-verse in reverse. Dr. Richards has attracted world-wide attention to reading of Scripture through the annual Voice of Prophecy marathon Bible reading on New Year's Eve.

Christian Leadership Seminars Planned

Home Study Institute has developed a new facet of its Continuing Education Program. Christian Leadership Seminars for all administrators and executives in the Seventh-day Adventist Church are planned for 1974-75. Dr. D. W. Holbrook, president of HSI, and Elder R. R. Bietz, former vice-president of the General Conference, have constructed this four-day course, based on the Spirit of Prophecy. Other features include case studies, films, in-basket workshops, lectures, and discussions.

Most of the seminar materials, including student notebooks, were produced by HSI. "Home Study Institute is delighted to have such an active part in this excellent and innovative project," states Dr. Holbrook.

The first seminar, held in May in the Pacific Union, was enthusiastically pronounced a success by participants. In August, the Central Union will host the seminar.

Have a Will

Atlantic Union College_____

WE MAY HAVE SOME MONEY FOR YOU

Last year, Atlantic Union College offered more Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant money per student than any other denominational college. This continues to be one source of financial aid to AUC students. Another is the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant which is available to freshmen and sophomores who have not attended a post-high school educational institution at any time before April 1, 1973. The amount awarded is based on what you and your family can contribute toward the cost of your education and two other factors: (1) The amount of funds available to the college for the program and (2) the cost of your education. If you would like to know how much money you can get, fill out the BEOG forms available from Atlantic Union College or your local high school or academy. If you'd like us to send you these forms, write Mr. Taly Dorn, Director of Student Finance, Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Massachusetts 01561. It might mean as much as $1,050 for this next school year.

BUT THAT'S NOT ALL. IF YOU NEED MORE MONEY . . .

. . . we've got plenty of work opportunities for you.

On campus we have:

AUC Broomshop
Miles Bindery
AUC Bindery
Housekeeping

College Press (with experience)
College Services (clerk, secretary, etc.)
Cafeteria
Maintenance and Grounds

We also have a number of industries near the campus.

AND THAT'S NOT ALL EITHER. IF YOU NEED EVEN MORE MONEY . . .

. . . the state of Massachusetts offers scholarships of up to $900 per year, available to Massachusetts residents, National Direct Student Loans, with no payments due until nine months after graduation, Nursing Student Loans which can cancel themselves out to a large degree if you become a Registered Nurse, and State Guaranteed Loan Programs.

ONE MORE THING . . .

If you're in a rush and need information right away, pick up your phone and dial our special "hot line" number: (617) 365-4561. And call us COLLECT. Ask for Taly Dorn. He'd like to help you.

Greater New York

Camp Meeting at Greater New York

Camp meeting 1974 is now a memory in the minds of the members of Greater New York, but it is a cherished memory. From the opening meeting to the final benediction in both English and Spanish camps, the presence of the Holy Spirit was felt. Victories were gained and the people went home feeling spiritually refreshed.

in Greater New York

Six men were ordained to the gospel ministry on the first Sabbath afternoon of the English camp meeting and one was ordained at the Spanish camp. They are: Gerardo Brito (Spanish pastor), Frank Croley, H. A. Iles, John Lupens, Nick Satelmajer, Rollin Shoemaker, Tony Torres. The men are all pastoring churches in different parts of the conference with the exception of H. A. Iles, who is secretary-treasurer of the conference.

Each of these men has demonstrated his call to the ministry by being influential in leading others to Christ, and in fulfilling his responsibilities for the church in an acceptable way. At each ordination service the sermon was given by Elder J. L. Dittberner, president of the Atlantic Union Conference, and the charge was given by local conference president, Elder D. J. Sandstrom.

The local conference committee, the Atlantic Union Conference Committee, and later, the examination committee, all recommended the men for the sacred rite of ordination. It is the prayer of all that these men and their wives will be used by God to help finish the work of preaching the gospel to the millions of Greater New York.

Spanish Broadway Church Dedication

Saturday night, June 29, was a very special occasion for the pastor and members of the Spanish Broadway church in Manhattan. For months they planned to have a dedication service during the month of June, 1974. As the time drew near complications arose concerning the final payment of the remaining debt on the church building.

The desire to dedicate in June became more important when the members realized that Pastor Conrad Visser had accepted a call to work outside of the United States. Elder Visser had been with the congregation since before the present building was purchased. Following much prayer and discussion the members joined in sacrifice and, assisted by the local conference and the union conference, raised the remaining funds that were needed.

When the hour for dedication arrived on Saturday evening, June 29, the sanctuary was packed with members and friends. Most of the pastors of the other Spanish churches in the conference were present. Elder D. J. Sandstrom, president of the conference, and Elder H. A. Iles, secretary-treasurer, each had a part on the program. The main sermon of the evening was given by Elder J. L. Dittberner, president of the Atlantic Union Conference. It was interpreted into Spanish by Elder Antonio Vazquez.

When the congregation said farewell to Elder Visser the next day it was with a great feeling of satisfaction and thankfulness that the dedication of the church was a reality. The new pastor, Elder Hildebrando Saldia, looks forward to many opportunities for evangelistic outreach in the months ahead.

Conference treasurer, H. A. Iles, left, and church pastor, Conrad Visser, smile as the note is burned, indicating the Spanish Broadway church is now free of debt and ready to be dedicated.

Senior Youth
Camp Meeting Project

"Why did you decide on that project?" This question was frequently asked when people learned of the senior youth camp meeting plans. Under the direction of Pastor Ted Wilson and other youth leaders, arrangements were made for the senior youth during English camp meeting to paint and beautify the New York State Police headquarters in Dover Plains about seven miles from Camp Berkshire.

On three different afternoons the young people drove over to the police station to do their work. Weeds and grass were growing everywhere. The yard was cleaned and mowed. Next the fence and curb stones were painted. The flag pole was taken down for painting and then put back in place. The front of the building also received a coat of paint.

The officers in charge of the police station were looking for a group of junior-age boys and girls but when the group turned out to be middle to upper teen-age youth they were very favorably impressed. They have sent pictures and a story to the Highway Patrolmen's Magazine.

If we look for them, there are many opportunities to create good community spirit and at the same time to witness for Christ.

News Notes from the Cortland District

Sabbath, May 4, a baptism was conducted in the Cortland church. Two precious souls followed their Saviour into the watery grave publicly expressing their faith and surrender to Jesus. One of those baptized was Mrs. Norma Baker, mother of Robert Baker, one of our conference literature evangelists. Robert's first contact with the church was by reading an issue of These Times in the Student Center at the University in Cortland. After reading the issue, he subscribed to the magazine and then ordered the Bible lessons which led to his conversion and baptism.

Mrs. Baker became interested in the Seventh-day Adventist Church largely through the influence of her son, and now both mother and son are baptized members.

On Sunday, May 19, the Cortland church school held an Open House to allow the church and public to view the improvements that have been made during this school year. The principal, Grace Kellogg, has done a tremendous amount of work in encouraging the church to assist her in completely remodeling the interior of the school building. A home and school lunch and sale preceded the Open House. Miss Kellogg deserves a special tribute for the imagination and leadership she demonstrated in accomplishing this project this year.

For the past three years the Cortland church has been sponsoring the Community Services program called "Dial-a-Prayer." At a recent board meeting it was decided that more direct results could be obtained by changing the format to an evangelistic approach. The name of the program has been changed to "Dial-Your-Family-Bible," and the telephone number has also been changed. Daily advertising in the local newspaper informs the public of the program. Although the change has just been made, less than half a week, a dozen people have signed up for the Bible guides.

* * *

The Ithaca church has recently sold its building in downtown Ithaca. Presently, the building committee is studying the alternatives available for relocation, and the church is renting its old building from the new owners. Hopefully, by the end of the year, the move can be made to new quarters.

* * *

A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was conducted in the BOCES auditorium in Cortland May 12-16. Four doctors were involved in the program as well as the pastor. Although the attendance was not as large as hoped, all but one of those who attended regularly claimed the victory on the final night. The following week the church received a beautiful letter of appreciation from one of the ladies who claimed victory expressing her thankfulness for our interest in helping people with this problem.

* * *

During the month of April the Cortland church conducted services in one of the nursing homes in that area. Many of the members became involved in these services. The biggest surprise of the month came after the service on Easter Sunday afternoon. A gentleman who was visiting his mother attended this meeting. Afterwards he chatted with the pastor and pressed a little gift for the church into his hand. That little gift turned out to be a twenty-dollar bill, which was used to buy additional These Times subscriptions.

A baptism is being planned every month in the Cortland-Ithaca district. Dale Kongorski, district pastor, reports that "with the Lord's blessing and consecrated and dedicated laymen working in co-operation with the pastor, we anticipate that precious souls will follow their blessed Lord into the baptismal font every month."

Cooking Class Conducted at Bethel

Thirty-four women and one man recently received certificates after completing a course of study on preparing various vegetarian diets.

The courses were under the supervision of Mrs. Debra Boyce, wife of Stephen Boyce, pastor of the Bethel youth church.

Mrs. Boyce holds a B.A. degree in home economics from Oakwood College. She was ably assisted by four veterans of the culinary arts: J. Coit, M. Arties, M. Lai Hung, and C. Williams. Besides preparing the diets, the students did extensive reading of E. G. White's Counsels on Diets and Foods. The foodstuffs used during the course were generously supplied by Loma Linda Foods.

Eight in Bronx Baptism

On Sabbath, June 22, 1974, in a spirit-filled ceremony, eight persons experienced the rite of baptism in the Washington Avenue Bronx church.

These souls, baptized by J. A. James, pastor of the five-hundred-member congregation, represented an aspect of MISSION '74. What could be described as an innovation, added color to the service as each candidate was supported by his relative or friend on his way to the pool. Already with two previous baptisms this year, the prospects of a rich harvest of souls in '74 seem good. This can be a reality if each member combines his efforts with the pastor and Mrs. Mary Holyfield, the energetic Bible instructor.

"The Lord Moves Mountains"

In early spring of the year, a permit to obtain a lot and tent was filed in the Freeport-Roosevelt area by Pastor J. A. Thompson. The permit was denied. Months later another permit was filed for a tent to be put on the property of the Ebenezer church. Permit was denied. Letters and contacts were made to the lawyer and persons involved. Permit was denied. Calls to Mayor White, of Freeport, were made but to no avail. The Board of City Affairs had already voted against the vital program and community-outreach offered by the Christ Our Hope crusade.

The sweet incense of prayer ascended to our heavenly Father above. Pastor Thompson and the church members engaged in much prayer during the Sabbath services (a week prior to the opening). After being informed by the Mayor's office that never before had there been a tent in Freeport and that they weren't particular about starting at this date . . . Pastors Thompson and Murray (his associate) pursued the matter to the point of a face-to-face confrontation with the Mayor himself. This was Wednesday morning. Wednesday evening, the Mayor's secretary called to say "request granted."

The words of Pastor Thompson that evening . . . "The Lord moves mountains" . . . were just as true as ever. For it was just last year that the decision denied became the decision granted on the Wednesday before the opening. Wednesday is just a day of the week . . . but for Pastor Thompson it's a regular fast day. To God be the glory! The members of Ebenezer are ready to do their part for the summer that they might attain their goal for '74 . . . more souls for God's kingdom. There will be plenty of obstacles but the Lord can certainly move mountains!

"No Mortgage Burning"

The place was Rutland, Vermont; the time was June 22, 1974; and the occasion was the dedication of the newly constructed church building for our members there in that beautiful central Vermont city.

When Elder George Mills, local pastor, introduced that longed-for happening in every building project—the burning of the mortgage, he announced: "There will be no mortgage burning today, for we never had a mortgage here in Rutland."

Members and friends of the Rutland church had joined together under the direction of three laymen—Clifford Young, Warren Young, and Robert Walker—who led the work. The members had saved the necessary half for building, the Historic Society had purchased the old church building, and the General, Union, and local conferences had given help and so they started to build.

A beautiful contemporary design was chosen. The ground-breaking led to footings and foundations, and on to the shell and inside work. Progress was the watchword and soon services were being held in the new sanctuary while preparations were made for dedication.

Church school was another forward step in Rutland's plan when in September, 1973, school opened with James Morgan as teacher. It was a good year for the school in the new school wing of the church.

Then came the big day when Elders Dittberner, Trout, and Brogden came to represent the Atlantic Union Conference and Elders Anderson, Trecartin, and Williamson represented the local conference in the dedication of the new church.

The dream of all members was to see their new church full of happy people and that is exactly what it was as the people came to witness the service. Music was presented by the Vanguards of the Atlantic Union College.

After the sermons of the day were given, prayers ascended, dedicatory promises were made, and the final benediction was spoken, the fulfillment of a dream was now realized as a witness in Rutland; and the task of finding every honest soul and leading them to Christ while fulfilling the Limited space does not allow us to tell of the most wonderful encampment at Freeport, Maine, in the past eleven years. We had the presence of the Spirit of God, and were blessed with many dedicated and gifted speakers.

Over two thousand souls attended camp meeting during the ten days. Voice of Prophecy and Faith for Today speakers were there with their stirring messages, and we were privileged to have Elder Robert H. Pierson, our General Conference president, in our midst to deliver vital messages for us.

The local news media, including television, have carried pictures and stories, plus a personal interview over the TV with our local conference president, Elder Carl P. Anderson, and Elder R. H. Pierson, president of the General Conference.

Plan now to attend camp meeting next year. It will be one week earlier than this year. The dates for our 1975 camp meeting are June 19-28.

Pioneer Valley Academy News

Although the 1973-74 school year has come to a close, things are all abustle with anticipation, excitement, and plans for the new school year which will begin with registration on Sunday, August 25.

There are some new faces on the faculty and staff and we would like you to meet some of them at this time:

Miss Willa MacLaren is really not a new face at PVA, returning after a year's leave of absence to the New England Memorial Hospital, and as dean of girls at Union Springs Academy in New York. Before last year, she had been at PVA from its opening in 1965, working in the cafeteria where she will resume her duties once again. Along with her fantastic cooking she has been a friend to many and is welcomed back to PVA.

Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Nelson are coming to us from South Lancaster Academy where Stacy taught physical education and Bible. He will be the new physical education teacher, also teaching two classes in Bible. His wife, the former Sandra Moore, is an alumna of PVA and will be nursing in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Nelson, Jr., consider that they are back home in New England after spending two years at Southern Missionary College in Tennessee where Mr. Nelson was assistant dean of men. He will be the new history teacher at PVA. His wife, Nancy, is a full-time mother with their two daughters, Noelle and Nicole.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roberts hail from Pendleton, Oregon, which they have called home for the past twelve years. Ernest was the assistant manager at Harris Pine Mills in Pendleton, and will resume the same duties at our Harris Pine Mill in New Braintree. His wife, Jean, will be teaching grades 1-4 at Pioneer Valley Academy Elementary School. They have four children, David, Keith, John, and Sandra.

The new faculty and staff are looking forward to the new school year and are praying for a successful one as the students return this fall.

Elder Bush Joins Trust Services Department

Elder Francis F. Bush has accepted an invitation to become associated with the Southern New England Conference Trust Services Department as trust officer. Elder Bush's forty years in the ministry will add great strength to the Trust Services Department. He and his family have moved to South Lancaster where Elder Bush will join the department this fall.

Super Goal Raised

The Beverly church believes in making hay while the sun shines. Already they have raised their Ingathering super goal and beyond. Actually, they have raised $270 more than their super goal, and are going strong. Elder Herbert Silver, their pastor, obtained permission for the first time ever to have a tag day in Beverly.

Community Services Co-operation

The Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking held June 10-21 in the city of Brockton, Massachusetts, was rather unique in that 18 agencies or service groups were directly or indirectly involved in promoting and supporting this city-wide campaign.

Eric Mattson of the Home Health Education Service made some original contacts and together with the local pastor, Paul Peterson, started the ball rolling with more and more joining together on the Plan. Wes Volke of the Southeastern Massachusetts Lung Association offered to take charge of organizing, and a trailer was made available for displays and advertising.

The 21-foot trailer loaded with Smoking Sam, lung samples, posters, displays, and pamphlets traveled to over 25 schools in the Brockton area and then spent two weeks at the Brockton Westgate Mall. Hundreds of people from all walks of life were contacted.

The local radio station called the trailer hourly and messages went out over the air during the two weeks with folks calling in or coming in to the trailer and signing up for the Stop-Smoking program.

There were 180 persons signed up for the Five-Day Plan. Three schools were selected as sites and the group was divided evenly. Two Plans were held simultaneously the first week and a third Plan the following week. Twelve non-Adventist doctors from the Brockton area offered assistance. Of those persons who followed the program, about 80 were successful in stopping smoking within the five days.

Hundreds of copies of Listen and "Smoke Signals" were distributed during the month and those attending the Plan were encouraged to subscribe as a part of the follow-up. In addition periodic meetings were planned as well as periodic mailings of material to keep the alumni encouraged.

Some of the supporting agencies are requesting more Five-Day Plans in the future. Massasoit Community College, with a mailing list of about 5,000, has requested a Plan for September.

He is a member of the American Society of Hospital Purchasing Agents and is presently serving on the Stoneham Rationing Board and the Stoneham Energy Commission.

In accepting the new position, Mr. Heid said: "I look forward to the challenges which the position will present and the additional exposure to employee concerns."

personal witness to win souls to God's kingdom.

Evidence of the dedication of our colporteurs and the results of their work in the Atlantic Union is reflected in the following figures. During the last year, over one million dollars' worth of our literature was sold by our colporteurs. They gave away 116,745 pieces of free literature and 12,216 were enrolled in the Bible courses. Prayers were offered in 11,233 homes. Sixty-nine people were baptized from direct contacts by our colporteurs. Final results of their personal witness and the testimony of the books will not be known until Jesus comes and the full story of conversions will be told.

Of any group of Christian workers, there is no doubt that there is the most enthusiasm, optimism, and joy among the literature evangelists. They are in direct contact with the people. They encourage many whom they meet. They pray in the homes and enroll people in the Bible courses. They sell the best Christian books and magazines in the world. They leave free literature where purchases are not made. They see the results of their labor in people baptized. They have a close tie to each other and their Lord. They are engaged in a work and calling that, in the sight of God, is equal to any kind of Christian work. So why shouldn't they be enthusiastic and joyful! Their happiness could be increased only as more would join their ranks to share their joy and the rest of us would pray for them and regard their work with the highest respect.

"I'M GLAD WE BOUGHT THE BOOKS"

By J. L. DITTBERNER, *President
Atlantic Union Conference*

In western New York one of our literature evangelists sold a set of Bible Stories, along with the Great Controversy, to a certain family. Not long after purchasing the books, this family asked the colporteur if he would come to their home and study the Bible. When he arrived, he found a house full of people, including a minister from one of the neighborhood churches. The group enjoyed his presentation and invited him back. As the studies continued and advanced to some of the Bible truths that called for changes in the habits of the people, many lost their interest. However, the literature evangelist kept a contact with the family who had purchased the books.

On a Sabbath afternoon the colporteur and his family stopped by to again visit these people. While there, the children of both families went down by the road to engage in childish recreation. Soon a cry was heard; and as the parents rushed to the road, they learned there had been an accident, and one of the children had been hit by a car. As they came upon the scene, they didn't know at first whose child it was. As the literature evangelist knelt by the side of the injured child and turned the boy over, he realized it was the son of the other family. His first thought was: "Oh, why did it have to be their child, and mine was spared?" His concern was that this tragedy might discourage the family, and they would lose faith in God and their interest in the Bible truth. Surely this kind of dedication and concern for others, even to the point of being willing to lose your own child, must be marked down in the books of heaven. Would to God there were more of us who would have this concern for others, even in thought!

The little fellow was not breathing, and our colporteur gave him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while they waited for the ambulance. This treatment continued on the way to the hospital, as the equipment on the ambulance was out of order. In spite of the emergency treatment, life ebbed away that afternoon. In a little chapel in the hospital our colporteur sought to give comfort to the bereaved parents. After prayer was offered asking God for help and hope, the father turned to the literature evangelist and said: "I'm glad we bought the books." He said that his little boy enjoyed the Bible Stories so much. Then he went on to say: "If only we had taken our stand for the Sabbath before now, this might not have happened. We could have been at church."

Some time after this experience, a series of meetings was held in this community by the conference evangelist. This family was baptized and now rejoices in the blessed hope of the coming of Jesus when their family will be reunited.

During these meetings, there were eight adults baptized who were the direct result of contacts made by literature evangelists in that area. Six of them were the contacts of this one colporteur. The work of our literature evangelists does result in people accepting God's message for this time!

Up in New Hampshire one of our veteran colporteurs, in going to a home to present our books, found that the wife and mother was in the hospital. The father said she was critical and had an affliction that could prove fatal. Under the circumstances, the colporteur did not feel he should make a canvass for the books but spoke words of hope to the distraught man and then offered prayer for the wife in the hospital. Then he said: "I will pray every day for her, and you do the same." He then was impressed to say: "If she gets better, will you buy the books?" Happily, the man gave his assurance; and the colporteur promised to be back in two weeks.

When he returned, he found the lady at home sitting by the kitchen table in good health. The family not only purchased the books, but asked a number of questions about the Bible. Bible studies were arranged; and after the third one, they said to the colporteur: "We want to start paying tithes, and we also want to know more about healthful living." They were anxious to learn and willing to obey. The pastor of our church baptized them about a year later, and they are now connected with one of our health-care institutions in the Atlantic Union. Yes, of course, our literature evangelists in their work and with the books are winning souls!

In fact, the winning of souls was the theme of the recent annual Atlantic Union Literature Evangelists' Institute held at Camp Berkshire, under the direction of Elder Paul Bernet, union publishing secretary, and Elder Joe Hunt from the General Conference Publishing Department. There were 120 literature evangelists in attendance; and, with their families and guests, there was a total of 245 individuals present.

Instructions in selling methods were given. There was an exchange of experiences. Discussions were held in small groups as to how the work might be improved. Special meetings were held for the colporteurs' wives. But the main interest seemed to be in getting the books and magazines out to the people, that they might be prepared to meet the Lord. Also, the literature evangelists have a definite conviction to do all they can in their
