Helen Keller stood there with her hand under the pump spout. Cool water tumbled through her fingers as teacher Anne Sullivan pumped and simultaneously tapped out an alphabet code in Helen's other palm.

There must be a reason for this, Helen thought, as her facial expression showed the mental struggle she was experiencing. Then this seven-year-old deaf-blind girl knew! She pronounced her first word, "water." There must be other words that match objects, Helen thought as she dashed about the yard touching, questioning, sensing the message tapped by her teacher and finally verbalizing the new concept. She learned 30 words that first day. This was only the beginning of a lifetime of learning. Graduating cum laude in 1904 with a B.A. degree, she was later awarded an Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters and Doctor of Law degrees. The Keller home and the water pump are still there, in Tuscumbia, Alabama, reminding mankind of this monumental breakthrough.

In this year, 1980, the Helen Keller Centennial Congress is also remembering the exemplary conquest of "America's First Lady of Courage" and the persistant dedication and genius of her friend and tutor, Anne Sullivan.

Christian Record Braille Foundation also remembers and joins other organizations in showing the strident steps taken by blind persons as they live successfully and grow intellectually and spiritually in a sighted society.

In a similar tradition, Christian Record has extended a caring outreach of free services to the visually impaired for the past eighty years. It has a large and growing audience of which many Seventh-day Adventists are not always aware.

Pastor Harry Sutcliffe, Ph.D., is Director of the Episcopal Guild for the Blind. I met him recently while attending a convention of the American Association of Worker's for the Blind in Oklahoma City. When we met, this minister said he recognized my voice from CRBF records and tapes. He mentioned that he reads Student magazine, (the adult Sabbath school lessons), in braille and listens in recorded form. He studies one during the week and the other on Sabbaths. "And," Pastor Sutcliffe said, "I do mean the Bible Sabbath!" He expressed appreciation and concern on behalf of blind people generally and blind ministers in particular.

Dr. Sutcliffe values Ministry magazine "with superb articles by such wonderful men as Dr. Siegfred Horn." He spoke of many (blind) pastors, church leaders and laymen who are crying out for the deeper things in life in addition to the rudiments of the faith. "As you sit there in Lincoln," he observed, "you may think, "Who is reading this material? Is anyone out there being reached?" I assure you, souls are being saved; growth in grace is taking place. My prayer is that the Lord will continue to bless you and make you a blessing."

Sight-handicapped persons cope with very real and sometimes rather unique problems. Last summer in New England I visited a 75-year-old man who reads braille with his tongue. Since his school days at Perkins School for the Blind in Boston, he has had very poor "feel" in his fingers. From sheer necessity, he was forced to resort to reading braille books with his tongue. But a prolific reader he is! He commends Christian Record for its concerned field workers and the braille reading materials he receives.

Mr. John Baerg, District Representative for the Christian Record Braille Foundation in Central California, is shown interviewing the world renowned and much loved Helen Keller some time before her death. Miss Keller has had degrees conferred upon her from around the world, because of her marvellous accompliishments in overcoming the insurmountable problem of the double handicap of deafness and blindness. Miss Polly Thompson, her travelling companion, communicates with Miss Keller by finger spelling as Mr. Baerg interviews her.

More on Alberta Legislation

by James M. Campbell

Printed in the last issue of the Messenger was a copy of the telex announcing legislation enabling C.U.C. to offer degrees in affiliation with the provincial university. An explanation and further details follow.

Bill 43 which became law in Alberta, May 22, 1980, removes the major hurdle and, for the first time in the history of the Province, opens the way for private colleges to prepare candidates for fully recognized degrees. This significant legislation recognizes the need for alternates to public education at the university level and underlines the Government's commitment to diversify in the advanced education sector.

Moves are already being made to implement the provisions of the amendment to the Alberta Universities' Act, and approval to offer senior courses in selected programs commencing September 1980 is being sought.

The amended University Act makes it possible for private colleges to prepare candidates for degrees. Students who have successfully completed programs acceptable to the affiliating provincial university will receive the degree of that university. These degrees are well recognized and accepted nationally and internationally.

Submissions have been made to the University of Alberta requesting approval for programs leading to bachelors degrees in five fields of study: Biology, Music, Music Education, and Elementary and Secondary Education. The degree in Theology and Religion will continue to be offered as a college degree.

Canadian Union College is especially pleased to have been able to pioneer this breakthrough in private college education in Alberta. Two other private colleges will benefit immediately from the amended legislation. God has given our college favour and prominence in the eyes of leaders throughout Alberta. The Holy Spirit has impressed legislatures and educators to change a rigid tradition so that Canadian youth may receive a Seventh-day Adventist college education in their own college in Canada.

In a special assembly, following passing of the Bill, students and faculty gave a standing ovation in appreciation for the perseverance, tact, and faith of Dr. Neville O. Matthews and his associates who have struggled for years against seemingly immovable obstacles to reach the goal of a senior Adventist College in Canada. With a deep sense of the moving of the Holy Spirit, students and staff united in singing, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

In his remarks to the legislature, and clearly meant for the public and especially for anyone who may be tempted to take the amendment lightly, The Honourable James Horsman, Alberta's Advanced Education Minister said, "I choose this opportunity once again to make certain everybody is quite clear on this government's commitment to diversify in the advanced education sector."

He continued, "I would like to underline once again our government's commitment to having degree level education at private colleges . . . I would expect that the Universities in this province will seriously examine any aspects of their traditional requirements which might impede private colleges from securing recognized degree level programs in courses other than divinity."

During a praise service held May 24 in the Lacombe church, Dr. Matthews said, "While we can all rejoice in God's leading in the opening of the doors of educational opportunity in Canada, it is now necessary for the entire Canadian constituency to sense deeply the burden of responsibility to make the dream a reality. The work of putting together a senior college, second-to-none in academic quality, has only just begun. Much remains to be done-and done quickly-to merity the respect and continued confidence of the academic community, the Alberta legislature and the officials of the Department of Advanced Education who supported and steered our petition through waves of strong traditional opposition. With God's help, the united efforts of the Canadian constituency will meet with success in rapidly establishing a full-fledged senior college."

"Praise God Because . . .

These are the opening words of a beautiful letter written to Faith for Today. The letter is from a lovely lady in Ontario, who watched FFT, took Bible courses, read books, etc., and is a Seventh-day Adventist today. Her letter expresses the experience much better than I can relate it. The letter is addressed to Pastor William Fagal.

"Dear Sir:

Praise God because He uses such representatives as Pastor Fagal on the television program, 'Faith for Today' and for Pastor A. of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in B, Ontario, to lead souls to God.

Thank you, Pastor Fagal for (1) your spiritually well-dramatized television programs, (2) all your spiritually enlightened courses which really are changing my life for the better, (3) sending Pastor A to our home to explain some very profound passages of the Bible. Pastor A, being well-dedicated and sensitive to the Holy Spirit, guided me to read some of the very marvelous books of Ellen G. White.

Pastor A has instructed me well on many Bible lessons based on the television program It Is Written on which Pastor Vandeman is also a very eloquent speaker. On Saturday, March 22, 1980, Pastor A baptized me in the Seventh-day Adventist Church in B, Ontario. Just before I left my home to be baptized, I took my Bible to read a passage. It automatically fell open at Psalm 32 and verse 8 seemed to jump out at me. 'I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go.'

God bless you, Pastor Fagal."

God has blessed our mass media programs, Faith for Today, It Is Written, The Voice of Prophecy, etc.

I spent last weekend in Ottawa. While visiting with the members, stories similar to the above were repeated to me. Many have rejoiced in their relationship to Jesus for many years.

One person told me that it had been 15 years since she found Christ through one of these programs.

A young couple told me how they had found Christ through the mass media. A young person, planning to go to Andrews University, had a similar experience.

I want to thank all of our readers for the good support you give to these programs in Canada. Your support in prayer and gifts keeps these programs alive and producing.

God bless all of you.

"We're Going to Build a New Church"

by Don E. Crane, Director, Stewardship Department, Canadian Union Conference

He said to me with great enthusiasm.

"Oh," I said, "Wonderful! . . . But have you asked God whether He wants you to build Him a church?"

"What, . . . what do you mean?" he said.
"Do we have to ask God?"

"Well," I said, "David did . . ."

My brothers enthusiasm was commendable! And I was not about to dampen his spirits by any means.

But what do you think, — Does God have a right to tell us when to build a place of worship for Him? And do we have the responsibility to discover God's principles—His requirements for a house of worship? I believe we do have this responsibility.

Through David, the Psalmist, we are reminded:

"Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it . . ." Psalms 127:1

Frequently, man's concept in building a church is to first consider the physical resources:

- 1) The plans
- 2) The money
- 3) The site

God's plan places priority first on the spiritual requirements:

- 1) Individual surrender to God
- 2) A spirit of sacrifice

"Devotion to God and a spirit of sacrifice were the first requisites in preparing a dwelling place for the Most High." E.G. White, Patriarchs & Prophets, page 343

The Macedonians gave to us a commendable example "... they first gave themselves to the Lord ..." II Corinthians 8:5, NASB

In building the Sanctuary the church of Israel gave to us a model of free-will sacrificial giving. "... everyone who was willing and whose heart moved him came and brought an offering to the Lord for the work on the Tent of Meeting for all its service, and for the sacred garments." Exodus 35:21 NIV

We are told: "... and their devotion, their zeal and liberality, are an example worthy of imitation." E.G. White, Patriarchs and Prophets, page 344

Incidentally, does "devotion to God and a spirit of sacrifice" permit a house of God to remain in debt? Present day practices and lending institutions make it possible to have "instant" churches. But is God the originator of this plan? This inspired counsel might be well for us to keep in mind:

"The building erected for the worship of God will not be left crippled with debt. It will appear almost like a denial of your faith to allow such a thing." E.G. White, Counsels on Stewardship, page 260

As we think of the greatness, the majesty of God—we ask ourselves the same question as did King Solomon at the dedication of the temple?

"... will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, heaven and the highest heaven cannot contain Thee, how much less this house which I have built!" I Kings 8:27 NASB

What greater thing could a man do to prepare a dwelling place for his God? What a privilege! What an honour! What a responsibility!

And when we follow God's requirements for the building of His house—devotion to God and a spirit of sacrifice—God makes Himself responsible for the success of the project!

At no time should we deplore the apparent lack of visible resources. In God's plan it is always Divine power combined with human effort. It is always God and Man Unlimited!

"The outward appearance may be unpromising, but energy and trust in God will develop resources. The gift brought to Him with thanksgiving . . . He will multiply as He multiplied the food given to the sons of the prophets and to the weary multitude." E.G. White, Prophets and Kings, page 243

All that God asks of us is to work to the limit of our abilities! From beginning to end He cooperates with us. And as we trust God, and follow His directions, we will not be overly concerned about the results!

(In the next Messenger we will consider divine principles in regards to physical requirements for building a House of God.)

Does It Take a War?

by G.D. Strunk

Adventist Health Ministries

In 1940 F.D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, invoked the National Defense Act of 1916 to establish the National Defense Advisory Commission. This Commission requested the National Research Council to set up two committees of equal importance; one to study the biochemical nutrition requirements (physiology of nutrition), the other to study psychological and cultural patterns of food habits (psychology of food behaviour).

Their report issued in 1943 said that "a new science of food habits is developing." Since then psychologists, sociologists, anthropologists and nutritionists have been researching and writing books on food likes and dislikes, why people eat as they do.

They recognized that by 1940 the biochemical science of nutrition requirements was pretty well established, but unless people can be persuaded to adopt their recommendations "nothing happens." The health and fitness of a nation's people is a vital part of its national defense.

The purpose for studying human eating behaviour was to learn the laws of why people behave as they do, then capitalize on those laws to change the eating culture of the people—presumably to improve their nutritional status and their fitness for war.

Two lessons to learn from this brief period of history. Lesson No. 1—It took a war and its concommittant FEAR to stimulate this concern and action in behalf of the people's health. Therefore, were they really concerned about the people's health, happiness and well-being or were they only concerned about losing the war? Admittedly preventing the latter may be one means of preserving the well-being of the citizens, but if the people rather than the institution is first to be served such measures would not require a war to initiate them.

The same phenomenon can be seen in the development of the current emphasis on physical fitness. When it became apparent that in some cases less than half of the young men could pass the physical exams for induction into the armed forces President Kennedy called for measures to improve the physical fitness of his people . . . for war. Since then a great movement has been mounted of research, writing and experimentation about fitness. The trumpets of war brought it about and the drums of war set the tempo. Does anybody really care about the people?

Lesson No. 2—Having knowledge doesn't guarantee that people will utilize that knowledge. The nutritional knowledge of what was "good for you" and what was "bad for you" was not being incorporated into the food habits of the people. And so a great amount of study of human nature has been in progress to try to learn how to bridge this gap between knowing what we should do and doing what we should do. So far after 40 years of study the researchers are agreed on one thing, that man is a complex subject and must be dealt with via a multifactorial design. Very profound!

The answers to their quest were revealed long ago. The theatre of war of much greater consequence than inter-national conquest is the battle for the allegiance of the soul. And nutrition is a vital part of our defense system individually and collectively as a church.

A war of tanks, guns and ICBM's breeds hatreds and the basest passions of brutish nature. No concern for the control of these passions is given in the selection of food. They eat only that which is believed to provide a sense of physical strength. Not so in our conflict. We wrestle not against flesh and blood. Our warfare is not against men but against the spiritual forces that manipulate these men. The only way to conquer the hard, proud hearts of such men (and our's too) and the forces behind them is the soft answer of principled love. The foodstyle God has recommended to Seventh-day Adventists is strategically designed to support such a battle plan. Cool food gives a cool head.

But notice that God first cares about the individual. The motive behind the information is the well-being of the individual. And having cared for the individual the church will have been cared for.

But He does have a similar problem with individuals as leaders have with their nations. "We know much better than we do" was a sigh of frustration from the pen of Mrs. White. "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge" can be said of some. But many more know much better than they do.

I'm afraid one reason for this is that we don't realize we are in a war. Nor do we realize the kind of war we are in. We may not even recognize when we've been defeated. We are giving up ground daily in conflicts with the enemy; ground we could have held if our health behaviour had been correct. If nutrition and physical fitness are national concerns for the defense of the physical western world they are of even greater concern for the defense of the spiritual world. The development of spiritual strength is dependent upon that level and type of physical health that supports the spiritual battle. God has prescribed that type and level of physical health and given us the motivation. But when deterioration of the physical dimension is recognizable on a national scale, the spiritual reserves have already decayed.

"No one will be born upward without stern, persevering effort in his own behalf. All must engage in this warfare for themselves. Individually we are responsible for the issue of the struggle." Testimonies, Volume 8, pp. 313, 314

God's Blessings at Nipawin

Approximately eighteen months ago a visit was made by Pastor John Gilbert in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Nowlin. At that time they were considered isolated members but had not attended church regularly for a number of years. On this and subsequent visits they expressed an interest in their children and granchildren's spiritual welfare.

A number of months of visiting and Bible study culminated in the baptism of their son, Victor, and their four grandsons: Morgan, Wade, Slade and Clay. Victor's wife, Mae, joined the church on the same day through profession of faith. We welcome the eight Nowlins to the church in Nipawin as a blessing from God.

Voice of Hope Director Visits Winnipeg German Church

On May 15, 16 and 17, members of the Winnipeg German Church were privileged to hear Elder F. Patzke speak. Elder Patzke is the Director of the Voice of Hope program (German equivalent of the Voice of Propecy). Also present was Herman Ottschofski, pastor of the Fargo, North Dakota Church. Pastor Ottschofski and Brother H. Litke were the initiators of the Winnipeg Voice of Hope program.

Following are some highlights of Elder Patzke's Sabbath sermon.

☐ Religious broadcasts are not allowed radio time by the West German government-owned stations; our Voice of Hope programs are taped in Darmstadt, West Germany, sent to Luxembourg and from there are beamed back to the Federal Republic.

☐ The Seventh-day Adventist Church in Poland is the only church entitled to inexpensive radio time, along with their choice of public listening time. We can be sure of God's Providence here.

☐ The Voice of Hope's annual operating budget of 800,000 DM (approximately $500,000 Canadian) is supported solely by the freewill offerings of church members and listeners, not by Conference funds.

☐ In closing, Elder Patzke exhorted the members to work for the finishing of the Lord's work in whatever language reaches those around us.

Students Save Dimes To Send Signs

Each student attending the church school in the Innisfree-Vegreville district have decided to send at least one Signs of the Times subscription as a missionary outreach. James Martens, teacher, is taking the dimes and quarters that are coming in each day. Members in this area are indeed thankful for our church school. They believe says Pastor Ron Dorchuk that Christian education is not an option—it is a mandate.

New Pastor for Perth-Andover

Pastor and Mrs. Paul Boudreau and their daughter, Jennifer, have arrived at Perth-Andover. On Sabbath, May 17, they were introduced to the church members by the conference president. Pastor Boudreau recounted the many blessings of God that led he and his family from a frustrated life in the world to a glorious new life in Christ and now into the ranks of the ministry. The Boudreaus are bilingual and will be working in the French areas of northern New Brunswick while pastoring the Perth-Andover church.

We welcome this dedicated family to the staff of the Maritime Conference.

John Warner lives in a tiny house near the woods on the outskirts of a small town in Mississippi. He doesn't enjoy the usual benefits of electricity, so there is no refrigeration, nor air-conditioning. His firewood comes from the nearby woods. To keep himself oriented, he sets a small battery-operated radio on the porch so that he can listen as he gathers firewood and find his way home again. At times the battery power fails and the radio dims. "Have you ever lost your house?" he asked his CRBF representative. John rejoices in the contents of reading material he receives in magazines and wholesome, inspirational books.

A sighted person recently wrote on behalf of a blind friend. "My friend asked me," she wrote, "to write to you requesting the Sabbath school lessons in recorded media." Then she added, "My blind friend was baptized last Sabbath in a Battle Creek, Michigan church."

A lady in Washington, New Jersey, wrote in a similar vein. Her testimony was that "as a direct result of the books and magazines I have been receiving from Christian Record for some 20 years . . . I have accepted the Lord and was baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist church."

Now, with the penetration of the new decade of the 1980's, Christian Record is undertaking a new challenge of providing needed services to persons with hearing impairment. This has been a long and muchneglected segment of our society. Thompson Kay, newly appointed Coordinator of Services for the Deaf, brings training, consecrated enthusiasm and dedication. Anticipated projects for the deaf include a monthly newsletter, informational brochures, Sabbath school quarterlies, pamphlets and tracts, Bible study lessons, workshops and seminars, and interpretation for the hearing-handicapped.

Your generous gifts in the annual Christian Record offering on July 12 will bring blessings on earth and precious fruitage for the kingdom.

Attendance More Than Double on Guest Day

The fifty members of the North Shore and Squamish churches combined were pleasantly surprised and rewarded for inviting their neighbours and friends to Community Guest Day on March 22, when, in spite of high winds and rain, attendance reached about one hundred and twenty.

Following the special Sabbath School program and worship hour in which special music was presented by members and guests, all were invited to share in the Fellowship Dinner.

The guests that continue to come are those with whom members have made friends and are having Bible studies.

Seminar Well Attended In Trail

A large portable 24-hour lighted sign was rented and positioned at a major intersection on the main highway through Trail, B.C., alerting and directing people to the It Is Written Seminar. Information was changed and up-dated as the Seminar continued, and several travelling salesmen noticed the sign and spent the evening enthusiastically joining in with the program. The use of the sign greatly enhanced public awareness of the ongoing Seminar and illicited surprisingly favourable comments from many, including advertising people.

Glen Maxson and Dirk Zinner teamed up for this Seminar assisted by 10 local members. Pastor Zinner continues with Sunday and Tuesday Seminars and of the 20 keenly interested folk, a number will be baptized shortly.

Sanctuary Ranch News

The student choir and faculty of Sanctuary Ranch held services at McBride, Dawson Creek and Fort St. John recently.

A group from Walla Walla Valley Academy gave assistance in building the shop building at Sanctuary Ranch which will house their second convention June 13-15. Pat Scott, pastor, plans to baptize several students at that time.

Deadline for applications for the next school year is July 1.

Biking for Cambodia

Comox Valley Juniors and Youth with leaders biking for Cambodia.

Eleven young people and two adults, each equipped with a bicycle, gathered at the home of Pastor and Mrs. Norman Manweiler for prayer, before beginning a twenty-mile bike-a-thon.

The recently organized Junior-Youth Sabbath School of the Comox Valley Seventh-day Adventist Church, under the leadership of Lonnie and Marlene Aldrich, had a burden for the suffering people of Cambodia. It was decided to have a bike-a-thon to help raise the money for these people and also for Investment.

All thirteen of the enthusiastic participants completed the twenty miles in one and a half to three hours, with about an hour for rest and lunch at Comox Lake. Thanks to the enthusiastic cyclists and generous sponsors a total of $600 was raised for Cambodian relief.

Refugees Arrive at Comox Valley

"What blessings we would have missed if we had not sponsored a refugee family!" These are the sentiments of the members of the Comox Valley Seventh-day Adventist Church as we have been sharing our means, time and love with our refugee family.

After six months of praying, giving and preparing, for what we referred to as our "Special Family," Xoy and Lay Khamvongsa and their two girls, Koung and Pou, arrived at the Comox Airport the evening of April 11. The Communists had made it impossible to have any freedom, and living was quite unbearable thus they are very happy to be in Canada and are deeply grateful for an opportunity to start a new life.

Open House was held on Sunday afternoon with displays of health ministries, cooking schools, educational institutions, and missions. The Sunday evening sermon "The Truths We Hold Dear" was presented by Elder Lehman.

Not all the events for our weekend celebration happened as planned. En route to Echo Bay, Saturday night after the evening meeting, Pastor Dennis Heintz's car was involved in a highway accident. The six passengers in the Heintz car sustained injuries of a varied nature. Elder Beck and Pastor Heintz were hospitalized. (An account of the accident has previously been published.) We are thankful for the Lord's blessings, and His answer to prayers for the recovery of these individuals.

☐ An "It Is Written" seminar was conducted by Elder Larry Pumford until Pastor Heintz recovered from his injuries. Several people have become interested in having Bible studies with the pastor and some members.

Our church continues to be a "lighthouse on the hill."

Perth Avenue Churches

On April 9, under the direction of the Superintendent Mabel McNeil, visitors day was celebrated in a unique way. One hundred and thirty adults plus thirty children participated in the spiritual feast of the day. The Sabbath School Department presented the visitors with a copy of the Marked Bible or one of Pastor Vandeman's books. During the Divine Hour, Elder A.N. How's message: "The Glory of the Cross" portrayed God's wondrous love for man.

Six new members were added to the Toronto Perth Ave. Church through baptism on May 3. The solemn ceremony was conducted by Pastor C.S. Greene after an inspiring message by Evangelist Charles Buursma, whose "Word of Prophecy Crusade" began Sabbath evening in the church.

"Alumnus of Distinction" Awarded Todd Murdoch

Dan Matthews is F.F.T. Director-Announces Fagal

Jacobs Appointed Director of Christian Record

Todd C. Murdoch, assistant pastor of the Nanaimo church on Vancouver Island, was recently named "Alumnus of Distinction" during homecoming weekend at Andrews University May 2 through 4. Specializing in ministerial and educational administration, Elder Murdoch has dedicated more than fifty years of his life to active work in the Seventh-day Adventist Church in England, Canada, where he served as president of Kingsway College, and in the Phillipines. He is a 1930 graduate of Andrews University Streamlined M.B.A. Program to Begin September at A.U.

The business administration department at Andrews University will offer a streamlined two-year master of business administration program beginning in September, according to Dr. Dale Twomley, department chairman.

This new schedule will enable students to complete their graduate degrees in seven quarters at Andrews. Until now, Twomley said, eight quarters of study were necessary to finish the program.

For students who have an undergraduate training in business administration, the revised program will make it possible for them to attain their master's degrees in four quarters instead of five.

Another advantage of the streamlined schedule is that all courses in the M.B.A. program will be offered at night as well as during the day, he said.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the business administration department at Andrews University, or by calling 471-3102.

In the year 1950, our General Conference leaders placed on us the responsibility to experiment with presenting the gospel on television. The program Faith for Today was the result, with its special emphasis on reaching the nation's 80,000,000 unchurched—those who would seldom listen to a sermon and who feel that religion has little to offer them. God has been wonderfully good in helping us not only to reach this class of people with our modern parable approach but also millions of young people whose lives are still before them.

But we must always plan adequately for the future, and it seems that perhaps I should take on lighter duties than I have carried for so long. Accordingly, we have searched for a dedicated man of experience who could join Faith for Today and assume the heaviest of the responsibilities for the work. We believe the Lord has led us to Elder Dan Matthews, Executive Secretary of the Potomac Conference, and he has accepted our Board's invitation to join Faith for Today as Director.

Elder Matthews comes to us with considerable administrative and communication experience. He has served as Ministerial Secretary and Executive Secretary of the Potomac Conference, and was Director of Public Affairs for the Oregon Conference. He has been Associate Speaker for the "Words of Life" television program, host/announcer for the "Take His Words" television series, and has produced a daily 5-minute radio broadcast called "Impact." Elder Matthews will be a real strength to our work and I believe our people will quickly come to love and appreciate him.

B.E. Jacobs, currently serving as secretary of the Far Eastern Division, has been appointed General Manager of Christian Record Braille Foundation. He replaces Eugene Stiles, who has accepted a position in the treasury department of the General Conference.

A 1955 graduate of Union College, Elder Jacobs says "I have been interested in the work of Christian Record since my college tenure at Union," Jacobs says. "My goal is to continue Christian Record's source of encouragement and inspiration to the millions of blind persons throughout the world."

As Faith for Today's Founder I will be doing much the same day-by-day work as I do now—meeting preaching appointments in the churches and at camp meetings and caring for correspondence in the office. Certainly there is work enough for us all, and I intend to do my utmost to help and support Elder Matthews in the huge task still ahead.

We hope all of you who have been so loyal, praying for and supporting Faith for Today with your gifts during all or part of these last 30 years, will continue your strong support. Under the blessing of God I believe Faith for Today's most fruitful days are just ahead of us as we unite our efforts to finish the great task God has given us.

SISTER MARY LOU

by Chester & Wilma Westphal (Destiny)

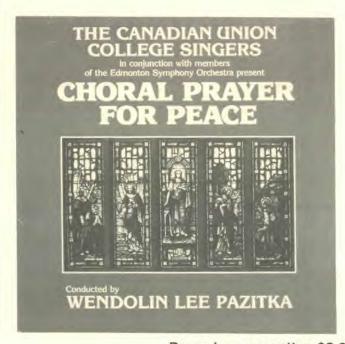

Mary Lou Pfannenstiel grew up with the stong desire to become a nun. After high school she left home to attend the Sisters of St. Joseph's Academy. She gladly accepted the life and routine at the academy at first, then changes began to creep into the church, into the order, into the very way of life that Mary Lou had become accustomed to accepting. The story unfolds showing Mary Lou's struggles to accept a new way of life and give up old dogmas—a story that you'll not want to put down before finishing.

Chairman, General Conference Music Committee writes:

"After listening to this cassette I can tell you I am delighted with the quality of the recording, the sound level and with the musicianship of the college young people. Their selection of music is highly pleasing and I am so thankful in this day of deterioration of church and gospel music to hear a tape of this quality.

"CUC can be proud of this fine music organization and what they are doing to praise God and glorify Him with their musical offerings. The presentation of the Canadian Union College Singers at the General Conference session in Dallas was greatly appreciated and was in keeping with the high standards which the General Conference Music Committee set for the world gathering."

C.U.C. Students Explore Career Possibilities

Thirty different careers were presented to Canadian Union College high school students on a recent Career Exploration Day, according to Caroline Wiebe, director of guidance and counselling organizer of the day.

"Alberta Education promotes this program," Caroline explained, "and I modify it with the special interests of our students in mind."

The day took almost a month of planning. Caroline first sent out a survey to all high school students, asking them which careers they would be most interested in learning about. She then located people in those careers who were willing to come and talk to the students.

"One of the main aims," according to Caroline, "is to help the students get a realistic view of the careers they're interested in. Sometimes all they see is the glamorous, television version of certain occupations and then are greatly disappointed later on."

Many careers in the allied health professions were presented this year for the first time. These included occupational therapy, physical therapy, x-ray and speech pathology. Also presented for the first time was information for those interested in radio announcing and to those who would like to be florists.

Other careers included in the day were athletics and recreation, agriculture, construction, mechanics, social work and biology. Guest speakers came from Lacombe, Red Deer, and Edmonton to help the students learn a little more about career possibilities for their future.

Rosemary's Testimony

Rosemary Dore, who just completed her freshman year as a social work major at Canadian Union College, wrote the following letter to her home church in Penticton, B.C., telling of her new friendship with Jesus Christ. By special request Rosemary shared the letter with the CUC school family.

"Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I have something to tell you which I feel is very important. It has made a great change in my life.

"Something beautiful happened to me that first weekend at my new school, my new home.

"It was Friday night, at afterglow, where all the young people get together to share their love for Christ.

"That night, I met Someone. He was so kind to me. My friend seemed to like Him too. We sang with Him, we prayed with Him, we talked and laughed with Him.

"During the weeks that went by, I got to know Him better and I began to realize He was beginning to mean something to me. And I could tell that He loved me too. I was getting kind of excited about it.

"Well, one day He asked me. He asked me to go away with Him. I sincerely thought about it. But, you know, I just couldn't. I, for some reason turned Him down. I thought about it a lot after that and I didn't really see Him much for a while. I tried to ignore Him, but you know, I think I missed Him.

"He usually sat with me at church, at worship, at afterglow, but then He wasn't there anymore and I knew I needed Him. So, I finally asked Him to sit with me, to pray with me, and to talk and laugh with me again.

"He seemed to know what I had been going through because He still showed His love for me. I tell you, He's so patient.

"Guess what? He asked me again. He asked me to go away with Him. This time I said YES! "Well, I guess you are all wanting to know Who this wonderful Person is. Some of you might even want to meet Him. As a matter of fact, I'm sure you do know Him and He is with you right now.

"You see, this super-special Person's name is Jesus Christ!"

Kingsway College Band Heads West

The Kingsway College Band set forth on its annual spring tour on April 16. Destination—Western Canada. Some thirty-five hours and three bus drivers after departure, we arrived in Regina, Saskatchewan where we were warmly welcomed and fed an excellent meal. A sacred concert followed in the Regina Seventh-day Adventist Church, where the band performed for about 120 people.

The following morning, we left Regina and travelled to Canadian Union College, where we were met by a truck with a huge sign that read "Welcome Kingsway Band" and were escorted to the campus. For the rest of the afternoon, the new Physical Education Complex was open to our members for some much-needed exercise.

Barry Taylor performed a cornet solo for special music for Friday vespers and on Sabbath morning several band members provided musical selections for Sabbath School and Church services in several churches in the surrounding area. Our first concert at C.U.C. was on Sabbath afternoon in the Lacombe Seventh-day Adventist Church. On Saturday evening we moved over to the P.E. Complex for a secular concert. The band members, whose throats and tongues were as dry as a desert by the end of the concert, were treated to ice cream floats by C.U.C. Band members following the concert.

We departed Sunday morning with fond memories and new friends. Our destination was Banff and the Rocky Mountains. Seeing the mountains for the first time for some of us was a thrill, especially picturesque Lake Louise. The luxurious hot springs at Banff and a gondola lift up a mountain were thoroughly enjoyed by the participants. Then back on the bus and off to Calgary where we played both sacred and secular pieces making our day a full one indeed.

Monday, not too early in the morning, found us all crowding back on the bus for the stretch from Calgary to Edmonton. At Coralwood Academy we played a mixed concert in the afternoon for the students and a secular concert in the evening.

Heading east again we had stop overs in Yorkton and Winnipeg where "the band played on" and we met old friends. Thunder Bay, Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury were locations for our last concerts.

On Sunday we were heading home with mixed feelings of relief, sorrow, and reluctance. We were relieved that we wouldn't be cramped on the bus, sad to leave the fun behind, and very reluctant to go back to school.

The approximately 50 band members were accompanied by Miss Greene, whose narration added much to the programs.

All in all, the tour was a wonderful experience for everyone involved. We were constantly impressed by the warmth of Christian friendship, Western hospitality, excellent food and accommodations that were showered upon us. Most of all we were proud to represent Kingsway in such a way that would glorify God.

Where Are The Special Children?

All children who need special education are known as "exceptional children," whether they are gifted intellectually or are handicapped. Do you have a child who would profit from special education? Do you have questions regarding such areas of specialization as Hyperactivity, Diet and Mental Health, Learning Disabilities, Nutrition, and Perceptual Disabilities? We are seeking data on exceptional children among our church members to determine the direction as to the type of special services the church should provide. If you have such a child or would like your questions answered regarding special education in these areas, contact Dr. Geeta R. Lall, Education Department, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.
