V.O.P. Jubilee Offerings Add 28 Stations - 7 in Canada

Among the 28 new daily Voice of Prophecy broadcasts made possible because of offerings received at Golden Jubilee programs held in every union of North America are seven stations of the CKO network in Canada. Broadcasts are heard Monday through Friday at 10 p.m. in Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, London, Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal.

The total cost of time on the seven stations is $62,400 a year. The entire amount of the $5,607 offering received at the Golden Jubilee program in Oshawa this spring is being applied toward this cost. Four additional Jubilee programs are planned in western Canada this fall to help raise funds for the CKO network broadcasting.

"It's been a thrill to each one of us on the team to present the Golden Jubilee program to audiences in Canada and the United States and to know that the offerings will help us place the VOP on more stations in those areas," says Pastor H.M.S. Richards, Jr.

"And we're really pleased to report that every dollar received in the offering goes directly for station time. The expenses of the travel and auditorium rentals are being cared for by the profits from sale of products at the meetings and by other sources of funds."

"We hope our fellow church members will join us in praying that many persons will be reached with the gospel through the Voice of Prophecy on these new stations, and that sufficient funds will be available to keep the broadcasts on them until they can become self-supporting," says Pastor Richards.

H.M.S. Richards holds a microphone presented to him by KHJ, the Los Angeles station of the Mutual Broadcasting System from which Voice of Prophecy programs were aired coast-to-coast in the United States during the 1940's. Elder Richards is celebrating his 50th anniversary of continuous religious broadcasting during 1980.

H.M.S. Richards, Jr., speaker on the daily broadcast, begins reading a script after taking the cue from producer John Robertson. The challenge to be "on the air, everyday, everywhere," inspired the program department to approach 1980 with a new direction to its radio outreach.

A successful all-day Bible study seminar was included in H.M.S. Richards, Jr.'s, crusade this past fall in San Bernardino, California. Each year Elder Richards conducts a major campaign for the Voice of Prophecy.

Instructors in the Voice of Prophecy Bible Correspondence School give a personal touch to the grading of lessons. Students of the 11 courses offered have the advantage of corresponding with the same instructor throughout the entire course.

A Year of Miracles

by H.M.S. Richards, Jr.

What a year of miracles 1980 has been for the Voice of Prophecy! I can't think of anything more exciting than seeing a miracle —or being a miracle. A Christian is one of God's miracles. You and I are a miracle!

This past spring in the great Northwest Territories a miracle took place in the life of one of our VOP friends who was without a job and hundreds of dollars in debt. I'll let her share the story.

"How I want to thank you for your prayers when I so badly needed work," she began.

"On March 3, I knelt in prayer at 12 noon along with the Voice of Prophecy workers. Shortly after getting up from my knees, the telephone rang. On the line was the employment office of a company where I had placed an application. They asked me to report for work that very afternoon."

What power there is in prayer. And what a privilege is ours to pray for each other!

So many dear people write and say, "I'm sorry I cannot give. Times are really tough. But I pray for you twice a day."

The lady who wrote from the Northwest Territories closed her letter by telling us, "Every day I pray for Pastor Richards so that his dream to be 'on the air, everyday, everywhere' can come true."

I thank God for these dedicated prayers. For 50 years the Voice of Prophecy has been sustained and strengthened by prayer. Without prayer, the Voice of Prophecy would not exist!

Dad is the first to admit this. So many times during the past 50 years, special prayer services have pulled the Voice of Prophecy through a major financial crisis. So often our employees have knelt in prayer together to ask for divine guidance in making an important decision relating to the direction of the ministry's outreach.

Last year, after much prayer, we set a goal to blanket North America with the Good News through the daily radiobroadcast. For our motto we chose the challenging words: "on the air, everyday, everywhere."

The response has been tremendous and as a result, the Voice of Prophecy is being heard today on 49 additional stations.

One of the most exciting miracles this year made it possible for us to begin daily coverage on May 26 with the CKO All-News Radio network. This step in faith enabled the daily program to begin airing in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, London, Calgary, Edmonton, and Vancouver.

This project will cost the Voice of Prophecy $62,400 a year, but we are confident our friends in Canada will back us with their prayers and finances.

Another miracle in 1980 has been the way in which people have responded to our new Partner in Faith giving program. Sometimes I find it almost unbelievable when I read about the sacrifices made to help get the message "on the air, everyday, everywhere."

One friend from Canada wrote: "Instead of paying insurance on our land and house, we are giving the money to the Voice of Prophecy."

A letter from Ontario warmed my heart as I read about an 84-year-old lady who gave us the $700 she had saved to cover funeral expenses. Someone else went without electricity for a month. Another individual sent the money she had saved to pay for her daughter's wedding dress.

Now that finances have made it possible for the Voice of Prophecy to be heard on more stations, the challenge is even greater. With the broadcast reaching additional thousands of searching hearts, we must now keep the message on the air. The battle is raging between good and evil and we must continue to be positioned on the front lines!

I was so clearly reminded of the need to be there in a letter which came from Alberta. A young Catholic mother wrote: "I married an atheist and until last week I hadn't prayed since I was a child. Now I feel closer to God, but as of yet I haven't made the big step to accept Christ as my Savior. For various reasons, I'm still fighting it."

Recognizing the need to do everything possible through Christ's power to bring people to a decision for Him in this final crisis, we are recruiting 100,000 Seventh-day Adventists in North America to join us as Prayer Warriors on October 11.

All across the continent, Prayer Warriors will be remembering the Voice of Prophecy ministry in prayer. What a surge of strength will be sensed on that day as God is petitioned in behalf of our needs and the needs of those whom we are ministering to!

Also on this day—a day set aside for all Adventist church members to present a special offering for the Voice of Prophecy—these Prayer Warriors will be giving a gift to help fight in the battle for souls.

If 100,000 Prayer Warriors would give $50 each on October 11—one dollar for every year the Voice of Prophecy has been on the air—there would be funds enough to cover North America with the gospel.

Won't you join the thousands across North America on October 11 who will be Warriors with us? Every dollar you give will be used to further the Voice of Prophecy work in Canada.

The following week I'll look forward to seeing many of our Canadian friends at the Jubilee meetings in Calgary, College Heights, and Edmonton. One month later I'll anticipate meeting those who live in the Vancouver area.

As we reflect on the miracles of the past, let's look forward to the climactic miracle to take place when the battle on earth is over. If we will only accept the invitation, we have been promised a home with Jesus where peace, joy, and love will reign forever.

I can't wait to be a part of that miracle!

From Dawn Till Dusk — Part III

by G.D. Strunk

Off to work! Nearly every man, woman and student's lot in life is more similar than it is different. There are grievances, there are encouragements; not everything is smooth, not everything is rough. It is a curse to an individual to be grieved with his work. It should be our continuous study to learn how to enjoy our work, no matter what our assignment. The Bible says, "whatsoever the hand findeth to do, do with thy might." If we are only half-hearted instead of whole-hearted it will become a source of frustration and irritation. The work will be grievous to us and we will be grievous to others. If we are not satisfied with our job or our life's pursuit we should change jobs. There is no sense wasting a third of a person's life doing that which militates against the other two-thirds of his life, namely his sleep time and his family

On the other hand, it isn't always possible to just change jobs or a life's pursuit. If this is the case, then it is a lack of spiritual growth and maturity that allows oneself to remain in a state of discontent rather than making the necessary adjustments to see the roses instead of the thorns. The individual who claims to have Christ in his life, who dwells on the grievances of his work rather than the satisfactions of his work, is but a child who wishes to pout for having to work and not having things his way, rather than accepting the responsibility of labour.

Most of us work for someone else. We may still have a tendency to resist taking orders. This creates distress. But even if we willingly accept the responsibilities by others it may still produce more irritation than if it were something which we chose and designed to do. If I don't have the opportunity of choosing my own work and how I'm going to accomplish it, it is helpful, very helpful to accept my assignment, identify with it as if it were the work I chose to do and thereby make it my work, the work of my choice. A few people prefer to be told what to do rather than carry the responsibility of making decisions of what ought to be done, but many like to make their own decisions. These can work with far less stress, for longer hours, when working on projects they have chosen and designed, than they can when working on a project which someone else has chosen, designed, and imposed upon them.

Of course we usually say it's the people who make my life and situation grievous and not the job itself. While to some extent this is true it is likely that we have not learned to forgive others as we have been forgiven and to become tolerant with their deficiencies as Christ is with ours.

To make a planned and deliberate effort to enjoy our work wherever our decision has placed us, is a giant step toward avoiding the degeneration of chronic stress, and toward reaching a level of growth where God can, without embarrassment, move one to a higher level of responsibility.

10:00 a.m. Coffee-break: Just water thanks. 2-3 glasses from breakfast to lunch will aid in digestion and help to prevent fatigue. We had a good breakfast so nothing more is needed till lunch. "You should never let a morsel pass your lips between regular meals." ... "Not even an apple, a nut, or any kind of fruit . .." Counsels on Diet and Foods, p. 182.

Lunch Time: "At least five or six hours should intervene between the meals." Counsels on Diet and Foods, pp. 173, 174. We'll not take time to detail the contents of this meal, but a few remarks are in order. If this is the last meal of the day one need not overeat as if it were his last meal for two days. For fear of getting hungry at night, many who eat two meals a day overeat, causing excessive hydrochloric acid to be produced with subsequent pain and discomfort, a tired stomach crying out in pain later in the day, causing a person to interpret that pain as hunger. Thus he's tempted to eat even more the next day to prevent the hunger pain later in the day. Those persons suffer from bad breath, as bad as those who eat a large supper late at night. The quantity of the second meal should only be moderate, whether or not a third meal is to be eaten. The digestive system will make better use of the food provided if the system is not overloaded.

Let me share a personal experience that caused me to appreciate our closing quotation. For years I drank 3½ quarts of milk a dayone with each meal and one-half during coffee-break in the afternoon. One summer while working in a sawmill I ate my lunch and my quart of cold milk as had been my practice for years. This was at 12 o'clock noon. It was 3:00 p.m. or later before the drugging effect wore off and I began to enjoy my work. The great amount of cold liquid dragged me down, making me feel morose and peevish.

During the next winter I was exposed to this quotation:

"Many make a mistake in drinking cold water with their meals. Taken with meals, water diminishes the flow of the salivary glands; and the colder the water, the greater the injury to the stomach. Ice water or ice lemonade, drunk with meals, will arrest digestion until the system has imparted sufficient warmth to the stomach to enable it to take up its work again. Hot drinks are debilitating; and besides, those who indulge in their use become slaves to the habit. Food should not be washed down; no drink is needed with meals. Eat slowly, and allow the saliva to mingle with the food. The more liquid there is taken into the stomach with the meals, the more difficult it is for the food to digest; for the liquid must first be absorbed." Counsels on Diet and Foods, p. 420.

The next summer I drank nothing with my meals. I ate another sandwich and a piece of fruit. I did not feel the need of a nap after eating and I was ready to go back to work with energy by 1:00 p.m. What a blessing are God's counsels!

God wants to heal us of our diseases, not with miracles but by appealing to our rational minds with the wisdom of following His commandments, His statutes and His judgments. It is as we do this that "the Lord will take away from thee all sickness." Deut. 7:15. That will be miracle enough and we will have had a part in it.

Messenger Editor Retires

Bedecked with banners from every province across Canada and scented with the aromas of the all-Canadian meal, the Canadia Union Conference Board Room took on a festive air for the "How to Retire" gettogether for Norm and Fran How.

Elder and Mrs. How have endeared themselves to Canadians all across this great dominion but most recently to those of us closely associated with them for the past six years here in Oshawa. Elder How has been Secretary for the Church in Canada as well as editor of the Canadian Adventist Messenger.

Since 1949, when he began his denominational employ, Elder How has been connected with the publishing department, the Book and Bible House and the treasury office of the Alberta Conference, subsequently heading east where he assumed the presidency of the Newfoundland Conference. Later he held the same post in British Columbia before joining the staff at the Canadian headquarters.

Darren Michael emceed the "This Is Your Life" program which included slides and highlights of Norm's life from "How to be a Beautiful Baby" to "This is the Navy, Mr. How," a song by Bill Edsell and Malcolm Graham and on to "Elder How, the Preacher and the Administrator."

Upon receiving gifts and good wishes from fellow workers, both Norm and Fran responded with some original poetry.

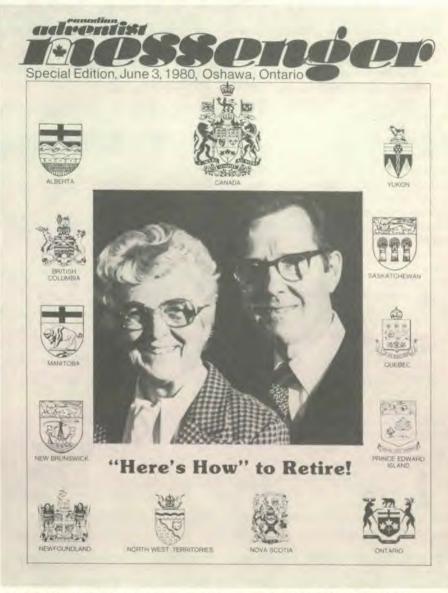

Elder and Mrs. How were known here at Oshawa for their eager and willing participation in church and community activities. Norm was Sabbath school teacher, as well as chorister and vespers coordinator and Frantook an active part in community services.

Elder How will be remembered for his ready smile, his brisk step and his cheerful "Here's How," not only by co-workers but by his neighbours and fellow church members.

The Hows are now residing in beautiful British Columbia. There Norm will do some auditing and they both can enjoy their grand-children and this is where they will eventually retire if they know "how."

"Here's How"

(Sung to tune of This Land Is Your Land)

Chorus:

He has the answer for every question, For friends and family, and office workers. We'll all have trouble when he leaves the office— No more will ring the words, "Here's How."

'Twas in nineteen-fifteen that an Edmonton mother With wondering eyes and a furrowed brow. First heard her baby speak words now famous, As little Norman cried, "Here's How."

With school completed in business studies, Norm didn't play with a hammer, wrench, or plough He joined the Navy, wen accountant's honours, Took up his pen and wrote, "Here's How."

Young handsome Norman, met Frances Henry, Whose grace and beauty he did avow. As at the altar, "I do," she whispered. Proud Norman sang aloud, "Here's How." Two noble sons joined the happy family, For Fred and David, Norm took the bow. As Fran washed diapers and fed the babies, Norm strutted by and crowed, "Here's How."

This fine young couple joined our church family. Studied religion; took the pastoral vow. Served in Alberta, St. John's and B.C.-This president declared, "Here's How."

As a seasoned veteran who has tasted victory In God's great army, the time is now, Por our secretary to give another The pen that writes the words, "Herm's Now."

We sing our thanks for loving service, And faithful guidance from helm and prow. We wish God's blessing on Fran and Norman As they retire,—If they Knew "how."

Christian Record Braille Foundation Opens Canadian Office

The first Canadian branch office of the Foundation was opened on August 3, 1980, in Abbotsford, British Columbia. This was made possible through the enthusiastic promotion by the general manager, Elder A.W. Kaytor, and the generous support of the local community.

Officiating at the ribbon cutting were Mr. Bill Ritchie, MLA, Mayor Harry DeJong, of the Matsqui District, Mayor George F. Ferguson, of Abbotsford, Elder A.W. Kaytor and Elder B.E. Jacobs, International General Manager of the CRBF, of Lincoln, Nebraska.

About 150 friends, officials and supporters were present to witness this milestone for the expansion of this dedicated service organization for the blind and deaf in Canada.

The CRBF offers books, magazines and Bible studies in Braille, on records and cassette tapes for the blind. These cover many topics from children's stories, health, Bible lessons and music, for all age groups. They also have large print materials for those not totally blind.

Attractively illustrated books printed in colour with story in print and Braille are prepared for the blind parents who have sighted pre-school children. These are also available for teachers of blind children. These cover poetry, Bible stories, nature and citizen-

The CRBF has also begun an outreach for the deaf. They have served the blind for over 80 years. There are over 14 million hard-ofhearing in Canada and the United States, of whom a little more than 2 million are totally deaf. These wake up each day to a silent world.

Children who are deaf from birth or from a very early age do not have the opportunity to learn from what they hear, therefore they need a great deal of extra help because of this lack of communication capacity.

An important service of the CRBF is the summer camping programme for blind children. Several are operated in Canada each year.

Doctrinal topics are provided for Seventhday Adventists and for seekers after truth.

Qualified Workers Needed-Due to expansion the denomination has full time openings in Western Canada, Quebec, and the Maritime Provinces. The Christian Record Braille Foundation is accepting applications for representatives to work with the blind and the deaf. Must be willing to travel away from home and have own transportation. Theological training would be helpful but is not essential. All denominational benefits. Send qualifications, resume, and photo to area director, J. Reitor, 750 Falkirk, Kelowna, B.C. V1X 1R1.

Logo Identifies Ministry for the Deaf

THAT THE DEAF MAY HEAR ...

A new logo has been adopted to accurately identify the purpose of Christian Record Braille Foundation's ministry for the deaf, according to Thompson Kay, coordinator of services for the deaf.

"The deaf are craving to 'hear' more about the love of God," Kay explains. "Christian Record, in cooperation with the Seventh-day Adventist Church, can help these souls hear the gosepl message."

"Sign language is the primary medium for the deaf to comprehend the message of salvation and foremost is the message of Jesus Christ," Kay says.

Since arriving at CRBF in March, Kay has published a bimonthly newsletter for the deaf, Signpost. Sent to deaf SDA's, circulation at present stands at 750. Other projected goals include Sabbath school quarterlies, deaf camps and retreats, sign language workshops and seminars and educational pamphlets and tracts.

Names of interested Adventists should be referred to Thompson Kay, Christian Record Braille Foundation, 4444 South 52nd St., Lincoln, Nebraska.

Quebec Camp Meeting in the Laurentian Mountains

Camping with God is always a precious experience, especially at Camp Coureur de Bois, in the tranquil Laurentian mountains.

This year a simultaneous translation service was inaugurated in the "big tent." Radio receivers tuned to 650 AM broadcast the service in the alternate language.

Campers were treated to a delightful, nononsense approach to health by Dr. DeShay. R.W. Olson reconfirmed Ellen White as an inspired writer for our time. Brother D.R. Banfield counselled Quebeckers to be thoughtful of mind, and D.J. Handysides of Branson Hospital reminded us of God's love for his children.

Ministers from many parts of Quebec shared their love of Jesus from the pulpit.

President Reile of the Canadian Union Conference spoke of our Lord's soon return. Union Youth Director Bill Edsell laboured with Quebec's impressionable youth. Canadian Union College's accreditation story was recounted by President N.O. Matthews. CUC also sent us Pastor M. Kis, who showed an eager congregation how to systematically study the Bible.

The principal speaker was G. Hermans, Canadian Union evangelist for all francophones, and host of the television programme "Il Est Ecrit."

The Kingsway brass ensemble and male quartet provided special blessings in music as did many talented members of the local churches.

Special attention was given to the kindergarten and primary divisions, and a new bilingual songbook for the children was much appreciated.

Of course, no camp meeting is trouble free, and Quebec is no exception. One sister tumbled downstairs fracturing and dislocating her shoulder. A hydro transformer exploded on two cars, damaging them, and an especially sad note occurred after the final meeting, when brother Robert Letourneau of Hawkesbury, Ontario succumbed to a heart attack.

The Holy Spirit was very close at Quebec camp meeting. Although there was much done and said, people will not forget that in the closing hours of earth's history Jesus said, "Let your light shine."

Yugoslavian Church Baptism

On Sabbath, June 21, at the Yugoslavian church in Toronto, Verica Dimkovski took her stand for the Lord in baptism. She received much encouragement from her husband who was baptized only a few months ago. Their interest began by viewing the Yugoslavian program GLAS NADA. Pastor Manestar officiated.

Four Join Tantallon Church

On Sabbath, July 26, 1980, Jack and Irene Berggren, their son-in-law Gerry Levy, and Heather Harrington joined the family of God through baptism with Pastor David Crook officiating. Pastor Crook enrolled Irene in the "Encounter" lessons and later studied with her and Miriam Levy, her daughter who had previously been baptized. When the evangelistic meetings began at Tantallon, the two ladies attended along with their husbands, Jack and Gerry. Following these meetings, Pastor Crook had the joy of giving Bible studies to these men. A special thank you is extended to Sister Marge Longard who for 25 years sent literature to Irene as a result of an Ingathering contact.

Heather Harrington responded to a call at camp meeting given by Elder Carney. Heather's husband was baptized 2 years ago and faithfully brought their children to church every week and led out in the Pathfinder program at Tantallon. Heather had grown up in a Seventh-day Adventist home and her parents were happy to witness this occasion.

Memories of Camp Meeting at Blackstrap

Early risers at the Manitoba-Saskatchewan camp meeting were treated to daily morning devotionals by Pastors Ken Schander and Ron Hyrchuk. They conducted a dialogue discussion on the parables of Jesus, enlisting audience participation. Their discussion pointed out various revelations of the Father and the Son Jesus Christ and Their relationship to the sinner and his salvation.

Various guest speakers brought spiritual food to many who were "hungering and thirsting," One highlight of the week at Blackstrap was the ordination of Mark Atwood. Elder Philip Lemon, recently appointed Secretary for the Canadian Union Conference, gave a short message before Elder Reile presented the challenge of the gospel ministry to Mark and Carol Atwood. They were welcomed to the ministry by Pastor MacIvor, president of the conference.

Canadian Union College had a nice display to encourage our youth to attend Canadian Union College and receive quality Christian education.

Adventists love books and magazines. This was evident at the A.B.C. salesroom.

The Community Services Federation meeting was highlighted by Brother Blix's paraphrase of Isaiah 58, and his community services tree.

These are just a few details of the feast of good things that brought blessings to those who attended Camp Meeting '80 at Blackstrap.

The Ginther family sang several times at the camp meeting.

The A.B.C. was a busy place. The Sunday book sale had a line at the cashier table to pay for the many books purchased.

Unique Investiture at Tugaske

A very innovative and unique Investiture service was held at the Tugaske church school. The students sat around a "camp fire" with Pastor Bob Schafer. They talked about safety rules, missionary work, related Bible and nature stories and explained some of the class requirements. Pastor Rudy James and several Master Guides assisted in the Investiture. Those who completed their class work are Brenda and Melanie Foulston, Leanna and Lovera Gallant, Cameron and Darla Foulston and Larry Coates who completed the work for two classes. Congratulations!

Bridge City Pathfinders Love a Good Time

Bridge City Pathfinder Club held its annual campout at Trappers' Lake, Prince Albert National Park, Saskatchewan from June 11-15. Over twnety pathfinders and their counsellors hiked, camped, cooked, and learned wilderness survival skills during the five-day campout. Separate hikes were led by Naturalist Gerhard Stuewe, and Ken Schander, pastor, both of the Saskatoon Central Church.

During the weekend David Koseruba and Dawn Gray were chosen Pathfinders of the Year.

The club has been under the direction of Dr. David Metzler, Mrs. Shirley Reimche and John Tataryn. During the year the club members have been engaged in numerous activities including cub car races and various crafts. The club members made their own uniforms after raising funds through car washes, bake sales and bottle drives.

In February the Pathfinders led out in an entire church service in the Central Church. The service included a slide presentation of some of the club's activities as well as sermonettes by Ronald Ginther and David Kosenuba.

The club members plan to attend the Canada-wide Camporee to be held August 28 through 31 in Manitoba.

Alberta Camp Meeting '80

Forty studied the course on Parenthood presented by Dr. Kay Kuzma from Loma Linda University in California, at the Alberta Camp Meeting at the Foothills Adventist Camp, Olds, Alberta.

Dr. Kuzma is Associate Professor in the Health Science Department of the School of Health at the University with a specialty in maternal and child health and parenthood.

"The most important thing in a child's life is what he thinks about himself," stated Dr. Kuzma. "If a child feels good about himself because his parents have loved, encouraged and given him a sense of self-worth," continued Dr. Kuzma, "then he has a healthy attitude toward life and is able to cope with various levels of life problems."

Dr. Kuzma said that parents must balance love with discipline so the child will learn to take responsibility and make rational decisions.

"The biggest lack in our society today is the lack of moral values," proposed Dr. Kuzma. "The moral values you possess have come to you in various ways." Dr. Kuzma stressed the importance of the responsibility of parents in creating these moral values early in the lives of their children. "This does not happen by chance," stated Dr. Kuzma.

Her lectures and courses were designed to help parents to understand the needs and individual characteristics of the child and how to administer discipline.

Her book, Prime Time Parenting, deals with how to create quality time for your children during the busiest years of your life.

Les and Betty Ortner from Riverside, California, conducted a very worthy Sabbath School Child Evangelism Workshop. Jim and Karen Triplets from one of the visual aid suppliers were there too and demonstrated and taught air brush painting on felts.

Ron Ruskjer, from British Columbia, gave health lectures daily and J.J. Millet and R. Watts gave excellent spiritual food to our people.

God is working and our people are responding.

150 Attend Kootenay Camp Meeting

A very enjoyable time was had by 150 campers at the Hidden Valley Ranch, 30 miles east of Cranbrook, for the 3rd annual Kootenay Camp Meeting. A tremendous spiritual feast, along with lots of Christian fellowship, was enjoyed by all, with the rustic setting and natural environment adding to the enthusiastic and pioneering spirit of members and speakers.

All of the area pastors were in attendance and assisted greatly in the activities. Present were Frank Johnson, of the Revelstoke-Golden districts; Glen Hanson of Nakusp; Dirk Zinner or the West Kootenays; and Al Reimche and Roger Hougaz of the East Kootenavs.

50 Yr. Grads Honoured

Five graduates of 1930 were honoured in the Canadian Union College graduation exercises on June 22. Each marched in a special convocation directed by Dwayne Straub, Alumni president. Diplomas of distinction were presented by Dr. Neville O. Matthews, president of Canadian Union College.

Following the presentation service, the Canadian Union College administration hosted a luncheon in honour of former students and graduates who had attended Canadian Junior College in 1930 or before.

Records show that more than 7500 students have attended Canadian Union College and its fore-runners, Alberta Industrial Academy, Battleford Academy and Canadian Junior College since Alberta Industrial Academy opened in Leduc, Alberta in 1907.

Alumni Organizes Race

Seventy-two year old Mavis Lindgren, worldrenowned marathon runner who graduated from Battleford Academy in 1924, hosted the First Alumni Road Race at Canadian Union College, June 22. Mrs. Lindgren, who has completed 16 of the 26 mile marathons in the past three years, found CUC's 10 kilometer race a mere warm-up. Daryl Trefz, a first semester 1979-80 CUC student, completed the race in the fastest time.

The two most famous senior Adventist athletes are both Canadian Union College Alumni. They are Hulda Crooks, who at 80+ years, climbs mountains to promote the Adventist way of life. She graduated from Battleford Academy in 1920 and still leads the pack to the top of some of the most famous mountains in North America, and Mavis Lindgren, 72, who is the only lady over 65 on record to complete the 26 mile marathon race. She graduated from Battleford Academy in 1924.

from Canadian Junior College in 1930.

Graduates of Battleford Academy, which closed in 1931, are considered to be alumni of Canadian Union College. A special recognition is planned for June 19-21, 1981 when all students and teachers of Battleford Academy will be honoured at Canadian Union College along with CJC graduates of 1931.

Wendolin Munroe Records Children's Songs

Wendolin Munroe (nee Pazitka), Canadian Union College Assistant Professor of Music, choir director and vocal instructor, recently recorded a series of sacred children's songs for use in the religious education program of the Lacombe, Alberta school district.

The religious classes are taught by clergy of several denominations including Seventh-day Adventist pastors. Instrumental accompaniment for the recordings was provided by Chris Kinman, CUC senior Theology student and Terry Geates, third year music major.

BOOK REVIEW

The New Senior Devotional Book for 1981

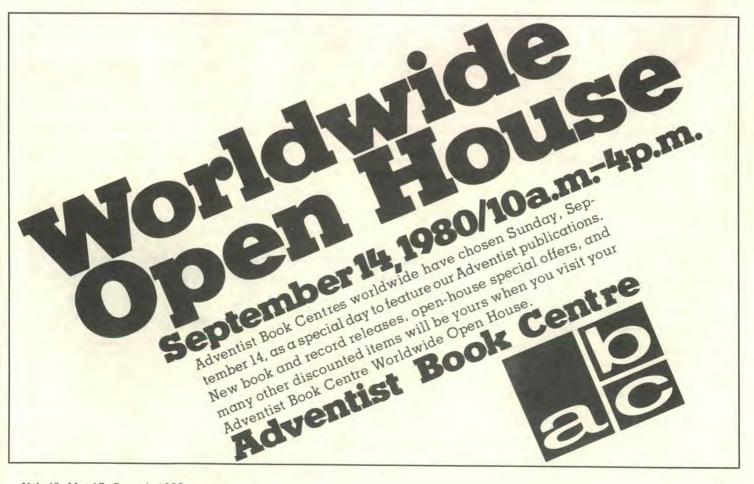

FAITH THAT WORKS

by Morris Venden

The apostle Paul tells us, "By grace are ye saved"; James says, "Faith without works is dead." Much current discussion is devoted to a harmonizing of these two principles. Sometimes there is a tendency for the discussion to use semantic terminology that is beyond the reach of the ordinary student of the Bible. Morris Venden, pastor of the Pacific Union College Seventh-day Adventist church and a speaker much in demand across North America, lays the matter out in terms that are not only easy to understand but easy to apply to everyday living. Drawing his illustrations largely from Bible incidents, he demonstrates that a vibrant faith in the saving power of Jesus Christ, effective now, is the privilege of every person. Those who appreciate the large-print editions will be pleased to know that Faith That Works is available in a largeprint edition, as well as the regular hardbound devotional book. 386 pages.

Associate Editor Named for Review

William Johnsson, Associate Professor of New Testament at Andrews University and Associate Dean of the Seminary. has been elected Associate Editor of the Adventist Review. It is expected that he will take up his duties in Washington, D.C. at the beginning of September, filling the vacancy created by the sudden death of Don F. Neufeld in early March.

Dr. Johnsson joins the Review staff as a well-qualified writer. In addition to having contributed more than 50 articles to denominational journals, he has authored three books. Johnsson says his goal in writing is "to show the meaning and value of the Biblical writings, particularly the New Testament, for contemporary man."

Kenneth H. Wood, Editor of the Adventist Review, says of his new associate, "He is highly respected by his academic peers, and his spiritual ministry will be deeply appreciated by the general church membership."

In Appreciation

I thank the many, many friends who sent Elder Henriksen cards and beautiful flowers while in the Royal Columbian Hospital. They gave him courage and hope - and for the floral contributions at the funeral.

Your sympathy cards and many kindnesses will never be forgotten.

Gratefully, Evelyn Henriksen

Children's Week of Prayer Doctor of Health Science Messages Available on Tape

For several years the adult Week of Prayer messages have been available on cassette tapes through the ASPIRE Tape of the Month Club sponsored by the General Conference Ministerial Association. This service is offered again this year. However, for 1980 the children's messages are also being offered. In most instances the reading voice on the cassette is that of the writer. For the children's messages this is Pastor W.A. Townend, until recently the president of the South Australian Conference. His messages, geared particularly to the primary and junior age, will be welcomed by pastors, school teachers, Vacation Bible School directors, parents and others interested in children's programs. The eight messages for adults on the general theme, "The Outpouring of the Holy Spirit in the Latter Rain," are available on two cassettes for $4.50. The six children's messages on the theme, "Up, Up, and Away," are on a single cassette at a cost of $2.50. Send money with order to: Aspire Tape of the Month Club, 6840 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20012. Please add extra for overseas airmail postage.

Vandeman Honoured with Award

George E. Vandeman, director-speaker of the It Is Written telecast, has been named a 1980 "Faith and Freedom" award winner by Religious Heritage of America, a St. Louis-based organization.

"My hope is that this honour will focus attention on our loving God," said Vandeman. "He and His Word are the centre of all we do at It Is Written."

When you've earned the Doctor of Health Science (DHSc) degree-what have you

This is a question that people who are unfamiliar with Loma Linda University's School of Health sometimes ask. It's a valid question, in that only a few schools in the country offer a program similar to this one.

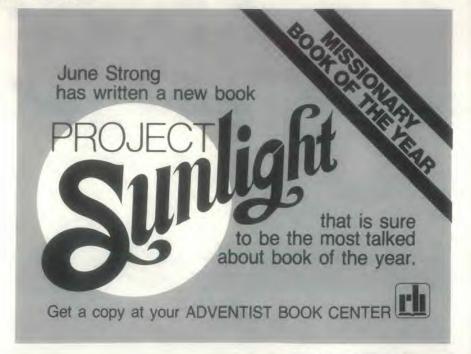

Until recently, the program was combined with a master of public health degree in a three-year package. However, it has now been modified into a full two-year program, accepting students who have previously completed a master of public health, or master of science in public health program.

"We have identified four career tracks for the DHSc graduate," says Dr. Hart. "Of the approximately 80 people who have graduated from the program since its beginning in 1974, most have been working in one of these categories:

"1. Health science teaching on the secondary and college levels; 2. Research relative to lifestyle disease-usually in a university setting; 3. Management of health promotion programs, and 4. Health counseling."

The program primarily attracts people with undergraduate science degrees. However, they have enrolled a number of nurses, as well as graduates from other areas of the medical arts.

Those wanting more information on the Doctor of Health Science program should write to Admissions, School of Health, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, CA 92350.

We need your vote for — Family Physician of the Year

The directors of the Affiliated Network of Seventh-day Adventist Family Practice Residencies wish to honour the 1980 Family Physician of the Year. They seek your help.

The Network will nominate a family physician who is a graduate of Loma Linda University, a member of the Alumni Association, and who epitomizes the best of family medicine. Honour will be given to the selected family physician at the next APC.

The person chosen as the Family Physician of the Year should:

- 1. Be a first rate family physician
- 2. Be known and respected in his community
- 3. Be held in high esteem by his patients
- 4. Be respected by his colleagues
- 5. Be a loyal supporter of his church
- 6. Be a loyal member of the Alumni Association

This person could be your spouse, your practice partner, your personal physician, your father or mother, or simply a friend. Whoever, why don't you submit his or her name for the nomination? Why not drop a line right now telling us why your choice should be the choice of the entire Network?

Address your letter to: Raymond O. West, M.D., Coordinator, Family Practice Network, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, CA 92350, or Walter P. Ordelheide, M.D., Department of Family Medicine, 25455 Barton Road, Ste. 101B, Loma Linda, CA 92354.

The Parent Scene -

Free Newsletter Available

In an era when some sociologists claim that the traditional family is falling apart, a refreshing attempt is being made by Loma Linda University to encourage family togetherness.

A quarterly newsletter known as The Parent Scene is a project of LLU's School of Health and gives timely hints on how parents can be most effective in making their family "a winning team." It is available at no charge.

Edited by child development specialist Kay Kuzma, Ed.D. (and mother of three), the publication includes regular features such as "Parent Participation," "Staff Agenda," "Devote a Day: DAD" and "Bookworm Sr. and Jr."

"Parent Participation" is a column where parents share ideas such as creative ways they have been able to solve parenting problems, innovative ideas they have for teaching children, or amusing parenting anecdotes.

"S.T.A.F.F. Agenda" is an acronym standing for "Steps to Active Family Fun," or else, "Steps to Airing Family Feelings," depending on the need. Through this section, The Parent Scene advocates dedicating one evening a week to the family and calling it a staff meeting. Suggestions are given for ways to spend this type of evening in each issue.

"Devote a Day: DAD" is a column presenting a concept whereby parents spend eight hours a week with their child. Dr. Kuzma says "that's really not much. Most parents devote at least 40 hours to working, 56 hours to sleeping, and 14 hours to eating. Don't you think children deserve at least eight?

"Time doesn't have to be dished out in eight-hour pieces. Just concentrate on filling little pockets of your child's time with your love and attention," says Dr. Kuzma.

This section gives personal accounts of innovative ways parents have found to spend more time with their children.

The "Bookworm Sr. and Jr." sections give synopses of books for parents and children.

In addition to other features, The Parent Scene lists materials available through LLU's division of Parenting Seminars, and a schedule of seminars and instructor's workshops throughout the country.

The Parent Scene has a staff of consultants from the University and may be obtained by writing to the School of Health, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, CA 92350. Persons asking for a subscription are requested to submit their name, address, occupation, and ages of their children.
