Mono and Diglycerides

by G.D. Strunk, Adventist Health Ministries.

In many baked goods and in edible oil products the ingredients mono and diglycerides is found. To some these sound strange or foreboding. They sound like the additives that might be baditives. But they're really quite normal and harmless. But where do they come from?

Chemistry Lesson

All fats, whether beef or tallow, lard or vegetable oil, are primarily triglycerides. Triglycerides is a technical name for true fat. Yes, it's the same word, triglycerides, that is reported when your blood sample is taken. We are interested in a person's cholesterol and triglyceride levels. But triglycerides in the blood don't come from eating triglycerides in the diet. They come from eating sugar, which causes the body to manufacture and carry excess triglycerides in the blood.

Triglycerides are composed of one glycerin radical and three long chain fatty acids. When three (tri) of these fatty acids are connected to glycerin it is called a triglyceride. When two (di) fatty acid chains are connected to glycerin leaving one empty bonding site it is called a diglyceride. And when one (mono) fatty acid is connected to glycerin leaving two empty bonding sites it is called a monoglyceride.

As the body enzymatically digests or metabolizes triglycerides it clips off one fatty acid at a time reducing it from a tri to a diglyceride to a monoglyceride and uses them for fuel. Thus, mono and di, as well as triglycerides are normal substances in the body.

Mono and diglycerides are prepared for commercial use by taking fats or oils from either lard, fully hydrogenated tallow, or fully hydrogenated vegetable oil, all of which are triglyercides, and simply adding glycerin to them. The glycerin interacts with the triglycerides taking off either one or two of the fatty acid chains, leaving a balance between mono and diglycerides. That's why one always sees on the label mono and diglycerides. These may then be sold directly to shortening producers to produce a preemulsified form of shortening, or they may be sold to food processors who will mix the mono and diglycerides into the complete mix of substances including shortening as an emulsifier and texturizer. This increases shelf life and affects the taste.

Quantity

A person wonders just how much of a particular ingredient is added in the food he eats when it's listed on the package. In the case of mono and diglycerides, it is very small. An example of a typical proportion in the case of baked goods such as pastry or breads is 3 ounces of mono and/or diglycerides per 100 pounds of flour. There are 16 ounces in a pound, therefore, we have 3 ounces of mono and diglycerides to 1600 ounces of flour. This a ratio of 0.001875, an extremely small amount. It takes a long time to eat that much bread. Besides which, the mono and diglycerides are not harmful.

Compatibility

The most reassuring news is in the concept of compatibility. The fats or triglycerides from which mono and diglycerides are produced is selected from a source to be compatible with the kind of shortening that is used in the final product. For example, if the shortening to be used in making bread was soybean oil, then the mono and diglycerides to be added would come from soybean triglycerides originally. Mono and diglycerides made with lard blend more compatibly with lard then they do with beef tallow or vegetable oil. Mono and diglycerides made from cotton seed oil blend with cotton seed oil more compatibly than they do with beef tallow. Therefore, we can be reasonably assured that a product which is 100% vegetable oil or shortening will have mono and diglycerides, if present at all, from the same or very compatible source of oil.

Most commercial breads use a blend of shortenings; a proportion of lard to tallow to vegetable oil. Only if it says 100% vegetable shortening can a person be assured that mono and diglycerides included are also from vegetable sources.

It's interesting, isn't it, that even though lard, beef tallow, and vegetable oils are all called triglycerides there is enough difference between them that when attempting to mix mono and diglyceride derivatives one with the other an incompatibility is seen if they are not from the same source. There is a difference then in the chemical nature among these various triglycerides, just as there is a difference between the protein which makes up the flesh of a pig, from a cow, to a horse, to a dog, to a human. There is probably much more behind the distinctions of clean and unclean, what is appropriate to our bodies and more especially to our brains, and therefore to our characters, than what we are fully aware. Certainly there is more to dietary selections than simply the avoidance of heart disease or cancer. We are more concerned about the effects of substances upon the epithelial lining of the various organs of the body, upon the nervous system, the brain stem, and the glands that affect emotions and ultimately spirituality.

'God Loves You" Help Say It Loud and Clear

by Kim Peckham

God loves you. It's a message you wish to share-every Christian does. You can share it with a bumper sticker, a frisbee, or a Tshirt. Or you can share it with the Voice of Prophecy.

"There are millions of people who see that message and yet don't realize what it can mean to them," says the director-speaker of the VOP, H.M.S. Richards, Jr. "In each of the broadcasts, with the help of the Holy Spirit, we endeavour to impress the listener with how real God's love is for them."

A resident of Guelph, Ontario, writes, "Your program was very inspiring to hear. I feel if more people could hear such moments of truth, psychiatrists would be visited less often. Today it seems as though people are searching too far for the real meaning of love."

The Voice continually finds new methods for telling people where their need for love can be fulfilled forever. This coming year, TV spots and newspaper ads will encourage the public to tune in to the broadcast. Those with little inclination to listen to religious radio will see advertisements promoting Focus on Living Bible guides and books on prophecy and health in high-readership magazines such as National Enquirer and

These programs are intended to break barriers that have kept people from hearing the Advent message of "God loves you enough to come back for you."

Many feel separated from God by lack of knowledge of Him and His law. The Voice of Prophecy Bible courses respond to this need. "I was spiritually starving," says one lady from Edmonton, Alberta, explaining why she sent for the New Life study guides.

A lesson returned for grading from Halifax, Nova Scotia, had this note written on it: "Before I took this course I was living like an ostrich with my head buried in the sand. I thought what I didn't know couldn't hurt me, but I was wrong. Now I want to know everything there is to know about my Saviour.'

A correspondent from Winnipeg said, "I feel God has been talking to me through these lessons.'

Last year 1,850 Canadians enrolled in Bible courses. Aiming to attract more people, the VOP is developing three new courses: one for juniors, one for adults, and a more timely Daniel and Revelation course.

Having the broadcast on the air everyday and everywhere in Canada is a goal vigorously strived for. In the past two years, Canadian stations carrying the daily broadcasts have nearly tripled. Listener response proves the daily programs can communicate "God loves you" loudly and clearly.

Every Adventist family can join with the Voice of Prophecy in sharing that exceptional message. The average cost of broadcasting a daily program on one station is $40. For every program sponsored by an Adventist in Canada, that much more of the country will hear the Good News.

Prayers break down barriers and the VOP staff sincerely asks to be remembered in yours. "How I pray that your prayers come true in regards to new radio stations," writes a man from Grand Centre, Alberta.

With this kind of support, barriers separating man from God's love will be shattered.

Voice of Prophecy Offering is on October 10

The Voice of Prophecy Canadian Foundation, which finances the air time on Canadian stations, has been critically curtailed by the mail strike. The major financial support of the Voice of Prophecy is received through the mail, and approximately $1,000.00 a day was lost during the lengthy month-and-a-half mail strike.

We appreciate your continued help, and this year appeal to you for an even greater offering to meet the financial problem created by the strike, so that no stations will need to be dropped.

Thank you for your support on October 10.

Sechelt Church Built in Two Weeks by Maranatha

"In the tradition of an old barn-raising, a group of Seventh-day Adventist volunteers, from all over the province, rallied to help their fellow church members in the Sechelt area, in a church-raising project, unique for this day and age!" so ran part of the front page in the local newspaper.

Under the banner of the Master Builder, the B.C. Chapter of Maranatha Flights International, steered by Charles Brousson of Victoria and the British Columbia Conference, undertook to make a reality of the hope that members of the Sechelt church and their Pastor, Cliff Drieberg, envisioned for a church and Better Living Centre, in the isolated district.

Donated building materials were freighted in advance. Land clearing, foundation excavation and concreting were done locally, water and electricity installed, a kitchen facility constructed and equipped for meals on site, and finally on May 3, Maranatha's shock troops arrived.

Battling perhaps the worst weather in years, rain and high winds, working and living in slush and soggy conditions, they toiled valiantly from dawn to anytime from dusk to midnight. Morning and evening devotions were conducted and a spirit of oneness prevailed.

On Sabbath, May 16, two weeks later, the first worship service was held in the fully completed upper floor sanctuary, at which time, W.W. Rogers, Conference ministerial Director, was speaker.

Helping with the construction were the three pioneer Adventist families, namely, the Wickwires, Talentos and Birks, as they saw their hopes and dreams take form and shape. In their hearts ring the message of the early pioneers—Jesus is coming again, and by His grace, we want to make it known!

Conference News in Brief

A successful V.B.S. was conducted by Ruth Wirtz and her helpers from July 6 to 10 inclusive. This is the second year for V.B.S. in Kelowna and a real effort was made to acquaint the community with this project. A goodly number of children registered the first day and one or two more came every day until the total count was 35.

The home of every child who came to V.B.S. is going to be visited. The goal is to continue to foster friendly contact with the home and wherever possible to acquaint the parents with the love of God and Bible truth. As a result of coming to V.B.S., two children are coming to Sabbath School.

July 6-11 was a successful Vacation Bible School week at Squamish as 40 children registered for the program.

What made the program so enjoyable was the degree of participation and cooperation on the part of all members. The potential for active follow-up work is most encouraging. The above is just another community outreach program made available to the residents of Squamish.

Pastor Glen Hanson, who was with the Kelowna church during the absence of Pastor Ellis, has been called to work with the Radiant Living Team for five months, after which he will pastor the work in the Quesnel area.

To convey their appreciation for his faithful work here, a gift of money was made to the family at a fellowship dinner on June 6. We wish him and his family God's rich blessing as they leave us to serve in other fields.

Pastor and Mrs. Glen Hanson accept farewell gift from V. Sakala.

One hundred and fifteen children registered for Hazelton, B.C.'s 2-week V.B.S. in July. Bonnie Jane McCreery led out with helpers too numerous to mention here, a varied program of singing, stories, crafts, etc.

The Salmon Arm Seventh-day Adventist Church was dedicated to the honour of God on Sabbath, July 18, 1981. Pastor David Ellis had the opening prayer, Pastor Pat Scott welcomed the congregation. Mrs. Mabel Suelzle told the history of the church and Keith Phare blessed us with an organ solo. Pastor L.L. Reile had the sermon and, Pastor G.E. Maxson the Act of Dedication. Pastor W.W. Rogers offered the dedicatory prayer. Also present were Pastor and Mrs. Desmond Tinkler who helped when the group first started and Pastor and Mrs. Charles Cooper who are now active members though "retired."

Kitwanga Baptism

After many years, Maple Ridge, B.C. again has a Seventh-day Adventist church. There was one in the area between 1910 and 1918 and again around 1935.

June 30, 1981 was a special day for the twenty-eight charter members of the Maple Ridge Company when they had their organization service which made them a church. The service was conducted by Pastor W.W. Rogers and Gary DeBoer of the B.C. Conference and Pastor Howard Homenchuk who pastors both Maple Ridge and Mission churches.

The Maple Ridge Company was formed in September 1978.

A baptism was held December 13, 1980 by Pastor Homenchuk and Mark Hemrich and Mrs. Stella Russell were welcomed into the church fellowship.

Immediately after the formation of the Company a building fund was started and it is the desire of the membership to have their own church as the Lord leads.

McBride SDA church is concluding a Wa-Rite class which had 25 enrollees, with 20 completing the course.

Wa-Rite was the last of the classes which came as a follow-up to a Lifeline evaluation under the direction of Dr. Ron Ruskjer, Conference Health Educator, last fall.

Something to Celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Snowden celebrate their wedding jubilee.

A family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Snowden in Rosedale, B.C. on June 14, for an early celebration of their 50th anniversary.

The couple were married in Vancouver on July 2, 1931 and have resided in Chilliwack since 1947.

The Snowdens have two children, Art and Joy (Mrs. N.L. Chapman), sixteen grand-children and 12 great-grandchildren.

Edmonton's Philosda — Active and Growing

The Edmonton Philosda Club now has twenth-one International Philosda Club members, and looks forward to greater growth in the future. At the Missions Banquet, John and Millie Howard shared their experiences from Africa. John showed the latest film from S.A.W.S. which left a lasting impression on the seventy in attendance.

The profit gained was used to help support S.A.W.S., I.P.C. missionary projects, and the local Philosda club. The club also plans to support the building of the new South Side SDA church.

Vegreville Welcomes Newcomers

The Vegreville church members rejoiced greatly as several more families came to live and worship with them. Pictured left to right are Larry and Elvira Gascoyne with daughter Lorisa; Alice Broadhead, Venita Culy, Fred and Ruth Sanjenko. Not pictured are Cameron and Myrne Koronko and Carol Neptune who has joined the Innisfree Church. Pastor Ron Dorchuk and church members welcome these new families in the area.

Alberta Conference Office Officially Opens

by H.S. Larsen, President, Alberta Conference

On a beatiful, clear, warm day at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, August 9, a number of church members and friends met on the front lawn of the office property for a special service officially opening the new Conference office.

Mr. C. Hood, representing the mayor of Red Deer City, brought words of welcome and congratulations to the church. The Honourable Nigel Pengelly, MLA from the Riding of Innisfail, brought greetings from the premier, the Honourable Peter Loughheed.

Elder Jim Wilson, president of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Canada, presented a message of challenges and a call to commitment. He said, "We don't need to work harder, but we need to work smarter." Elder Wilson was president and Norman Klam secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Conference when the old property in Calgary was sold and the new site purchased in Red Deer.

The official ribbon cutting was performed by Nigel Pengelly and assisted by Norman Klam, and Philip Lemon, treasurer and secretary respectively of the Canadian Union Conference.

Following the ribbon cutting, all guests were taken on guided tours of the new office by the departmental directors. At the close of the tour light refreshment was served and time for good fellowship.

The original Conference office was established in Red Deer in 1906, then moved to Edmonton and to Calgary and now back to Red Deer. Red Deer is a very beatiful city, centrally located in the province, making it the central business hub for Alberta. It also proves to be a great blessing to the office workers in that their travel and overnight stays will be cut by a third.

The building is built in good taste with adequate room for expansion in the future. The building contractor, Vern Langill, and his wife donated and built a beautiful miniature waterfall and pond in the lobby of the office.

The office is located on 2.3 beautiful treed and landscaped acres on the south end of Red Deer with close and easy access to No. 2 Freeway.

When the history of the Toronto East S.D.A. Church is written, the 1981 Spring Crusade will be remembered as one of its highest points. The evangelistic meetings, which were held six nights a week for five weeks, came to a grand climax on May 23. As a result of the meetings, as many as one hundred and nineteen individuals committed themselves to Christ and were baptized.

The success of this crusade is however, not to be measured only in terms of baptisms. Crusade Evangelist, Pastor Fitzroy Maitland elicited a response to the gospel that is clearly without precedent for the Toronto East Church. Especially at the weekend meetings, the more than 800 people who assembled themselves left little standing room in this church that seats about 600 people.

The support rendered by church members at Toronto East and sister churches was a significant factor in the success of the meetings. Audrey Christian, a youthful member of this church, took as many as 25 of her friends to the meetings on a single night.

If the missionary spirit demonstrated at this crusade is extended to future missionary endeavours, the work of evangelism in Toronto will be greatly advanced.

Welcome to the Maitlands

Elder Fitzroy Maitland is the new pastor of the Toronto East and Agincourt Churches. He has served in the South and East Caribbean Conferences as pastor and youth director. Prior to arriving in Ontario, Pastor Maitland earned his Masters Degree in Religion at Andrews University.

Pastor and Mrs. Maitland are graduates of Caribbean Union College in Trinidad. Mrs. Maitland (nee Janice Roberts) has been a secretary and teacher at Caribbean Union College and taught at the Barbados Seventhday Adventist Secondary School.

The Maitlands have three children -Ronald, 12; Karlene, 9 and Rudy, 8.

Already God has richly blessed Pastor Maitland's ministry in Toronto with an evangelistic campaign resulting in well over one hundred decisions for Christ and church membership.

We are happy to welcome this family to Ontario and extend our wishes for God's continued blessings in their work.

Farewell at Bowmanville

The Bowmanville Church said goodbye to two families at a farewell dinner on June 13.

Elder Lewis Shipowick, his wife Eugenia and two children, Brian and Laura Greenlaw, were charter members of the Bowman-ville congregation when it formed in 1976. Lay activities and Sabbath School leader of the Canadian Union Conference, Brother Shipowick gave unstintingly of his expertise in the lay activities of his home church. Eugenia served at various times as deaconess, lay activities and communications secretary and taught in children's divisions. The Shipowicks have moved to Oregon where Elder Shipowick is serving in the same capacity of the North Pacific Union Conference.

Brother and Sister Mel Bush and their son

Raymond are leaving the Bowmanville area for Alberta. Mel has been a nurse assistant in the Toronto East General Hospital and has served the church faithfully as deacon, while Marion has been active in the children's divisions of the church. They will be living in Medicine Hat.

We wish these families Godspeed as they move to new areas to continue their Christian service.

Conference News in Brief

The Elliot Lake Company received with joy Gerry and Sheila Chevrier into the fellowship of their church on February 21, 1981. The Chevrier's had been studying their Bibles at home when George Mainville and John Fournier came to their door doing surveys. They left them an "Amazing Facts" about the Sabbath and soon the Chevriers ordered the remaining pamphlets in the set and later Bible studies.

It was a beautiful experience to see two couples present their little ones to Jesus in dedication recently. On May 16, Erol and Hortensia Bryce presented little Jodine to the Lord during the Sabbath Service. A few weeks later Ed and Ruth Ritsema also presented little Pamela Jeanette in dedication. Pastor Hiebert officiated.

On Sabbath, June 6, on the occasion of a church camping weekend, Ivan Mikkelsen was baptized by Pastor Dennis Heintz. Ivan first became interested through the witness of a fellow worker Ray Mongrain. Soon Bible studies with John Fournier followed. After several months of Bible study and faithful attendance at Sabbath School and church he decided to join the church.

Farewell to Sparenbergs and Welcome to Newmans

Members of the Downsview congregation met recently to bid farewell to Pastor and Mrs. Bob Sparenberg and family. Their new location is the province of Newfoundland where Pastor Sparenberg will be conference evangelist. The first pastor of the Downsview church, Elder Sparenberg will be remembered for his loving ministry and friendship to everyone. Following appropriate speeches, the Sparenberg family was presented with a plaque and a money tree. A farewell gift and best wishes were also presented to Alise Schram, church organist and soloist who likewise departed to Canada's eastern province.

Downsview members welcome Elder and Mrs. C.A. Newman who come from Toronto's Parkdale Church, and join hands with them in finishing the work in the Downsview area.

Kitchener Has Baptism Despite Dry Well

Sabbath, April 18, 1981 at 4 p.m. the Kitchener Seventh-day Adventist Church was the scene of a beautiful baptism where two precious souls made their public decision to follow their Saviour all the way. However Satan tried his best to cancel the baptismal plans.

Since a baptistry heater was not available, the deacons decided to fill the baptistry as close to the time of the baptism as possible with the available hot water. To their disappointment the water stopped running after a few minutes and it was discovered that the well had run dry. Quickly the pastor was contacted and every possible solution to the problem was investigated. It was only an hour before the time of scheduled baptism. The members of all three churches in the district were invited and it was now impossible to contact them and change the baptism. We had special prayer that the Lord would not permit the devil to triumph. The Lord answered our prayers in a way that we had least expected.

Brother Ed Ritsema and Pastor Hiebert contacted the local fire department and requested them to fill the baptistry with water. In a few minutes the large fire truck was backed up to the front entrance of the church with the large hose in the front door, up the aisle to the baptistry. In just a minute the baptistry was filled with clean water.

It was even better than expected for the water had been in the tank truck for several days in a heated area so that the water was not icy cold as from the tap. As the fire truck left the church property, church members were already driving into the parking lot to attend the baptismal service. It was now only twenty minutes before the service was to begin.

God still answers prayer today. A beautiful service preceded the baptism of Eric James and Marlene Lyn Cook. Eric became a member of the Kitchener church and Marlene joined the Guelph church. It was a high day for all in attendance and we give God the glory.

One Hundred and One Birthdays

On June 29, 1981 Sister Agnes Stewart Pangburn celebrated her 101st birthday. Though her eyesight is diminishing and hearing poor, her memory is acute.

One area of highlight to Sister Pangburn was her years in Battle Creek. While there she had the privilege of seeing and hearing such well known personalities in Adventist history as A.G. Daniells, S.N. Haskell, A.T. Jones, J.N. Loughborough, Uriah Smith, W.A. Spicer, J.H. Waggoner and W.C. White. While a child, she remembers seeing Ellen White preach in the Dime Tabernacle.

Sister Pangburn longs for the Lord's return when sin and suffering will be replaced with our wonderful Saviour.

Highlights of Quebec Camp Meeting by L. Marcel Abel

Friday afternoon, July 17, hundreds of church members along with their pastors, as well as guests from the General Conference, the Canadian Union and overseas divisions converged toward Camp Coureur de Bois on the tree-covered slopes of the Laurentian Mountains near St. Damien-de Brandon.

At 7:30 p.m. after a brief song service led by Pastor W. Shaw, the meeting began under the direction of the President of the Quebec Association, Pastor Claude Sabot, who welcomed everyone to the meetings and set out the theme and the program for the week.

The highlight of the opening meeting was an audio-visual presentation by Pastor Krenzler, Communication Director for the Canadian Union. This presentation illustrated the progress of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Canada and its institutions during the last five years.

The first Sabbath at the camp meeting was filled with activities. Pastor Lemon held our first meeting at 8:30 a.m. Then came the Sabbath School program under the leadership of Pastor Whalley, Sabbath School Director for the Quebec Association.

Pastor Vandenvelde, who was visiting us from Belgium, presented the Sabbath morning message in harmony with our theme "Thy Kingdom Come."

In the afternoon an ordination service was held in which four men with their families were set apart for the gospel ministry. The ordination sermon was delivered by Pastor P.F. Lemon of the Canadian Union, and former President of the Ouebec Association. The candidates for ordination, Job Fleurimond, Matthieu Fleurimond, Eddy Johnson and Donn Leatherman, were respectively presented by their sponsors, Pastors R. Sams, M. Abel, L. Johnson and W. Shaw. The ordination prayer was offered by Pastor G. Hermans; the charge to the newly ordained ministers was given by Pastor J. Espinoza of the General Conference; Pastor Claude Sabot, President of the Quebec Association, welcomed the new ministers and presented their ordination certificates. The welcome to the wives was given by Mrs. F. Abel, translated by C. Staples. Special music was presented by Mireille Metelus, a group from Kingsway College and a final special selection was sung by Pastor and Mrs. L. Johnson in honour of their son's ordination.

Beginning on Sunday morning, we had meetings the whole day with various speakers such as Pastor Espinoza who gave us a new understanding of the sanctuary and the meaning of the service.

Pastor Vandenvelde held the attention at the evening meetings and other features at our camp meeting were given by Pastor Parks regarding Stewardship and Pastor Strunk's talks on the judgement.

This year, the young people had new, attractive places of worship and with the newly acquired pianos, music could play an important part in their program. Elder Malcolm Graham from the Canadian Union Conference, who has a way to reach children's hearts, and Sister Burgin who created an excellent atmosphere to teach the children the love of Jesus, and Mr. John Guenin from Kingsway College who explained in a very simple way how boys and girls can talk and walk with Jesus, made these children's meetings a very special blessing.

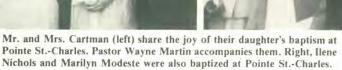

We were also happy to have Pastors Banfield and Martinez from the General Conference.

The last Sabbath service was taken by Pastor Meyers and and in the afternoon four precious souls were baptized by the newly ordained ministers.

After ten days on the mountain with God, we had to come down to take care of the needs of the people. We left St. Damiens with a new concept about what Jesus can do for us when we let Him take possession of our, hearts and mind. We left with the aim to have God's Kingdom in us so when people see us they may see Him in the beauty of His Holiness.
