"Fishers of Men" by Radio

They knew it was useless, but they volunteered to do it just because they revered the One who asked them to do it. They knew their profession well. They had grown up as fishermen. They knew the time and the place where the fish were to be found. The night had been a hard and disappointing one. They hadn't caught a single fish and this, too, was unusual. To come up with nothing was evidence to them that the fish were not running in the area that had previously been fruitful—two ships without a catch. What a night!

Peter, James, and John, partners in the fishing business, were dejectedly washing their nets of seaweed and foreign materials. It was then that Jesus asked for the use of their boat that He might speak to the people.

Their attention was divided between the task at hand, and listening to the words of the Teacher. Soon they were totally absorbed in His wonderful words of truth. When He had finished His words of spiritual instruction, they felt a sense of inward peace and comfort. How they loved to hear Him speak!

They were surprised and astonished to hear Jesus address them personally, saying, "Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught." They were fishermen, they knew their business well. They knew they had been fishing at the right time—the night hours. They had spent the whole night without catching a single fish in the net. The fish weren't there. They knew it!

Peter's remonstrance was brief. Because Jesus gave the words of command, "Let down your nets," Peter consented to comply, but he must have done this with the inward conviction that "He'll soon see there are no fish here."

Peter was filled with instant surprise, astonishment, and wonder as he felt the tug on the nets. Help was secured, and two ships were filled to near sinking. All of the fishermen were filled with astonishment and fear. What kind of a man is this! It was an experience that changed their lives. Jesus said to Peter, "Fear not; from henceforth thou shalt catch men."

Here is our assignment. Jesus would make us "fishers of men." Every energy is to be spent in the fulfillment of this command. In its fulfillment, there are many and varied activities—one is to give of our means to the support of our mass medium of communication, the Voice of Prophecy. New projects are opening up to us to reach more than 30,000,000 night workers. These, too, need the gospel story.

Your liberal offering to the Voice of Prophecy, October 8, will in part determine how willing you are to become a "fisher of men" as commanded by Jesus.

One Heart Rhythm Is Quite Enough

"The good old Review," as W. A. Spicer of sainted memory used to call it, is the continuing heart rhythm of the remnant church. Thank God we do not have nor do we need two.

For one thing it reminds us all that we are very much together in Jesus, and also together on His errands of message and mercy.

For another, it is a printed expression of "in depth" Adventism at work for God around the world, giving that unmistakable certain sound, the equivalent of "The Remnant Call."

Very likely there will be no Review in heaven, although it may very well have its kingdom counterpart, or successor.

If you know a "remnant" who for some reason or excuse is "getting along" without the Review, will you covenant with God to set about to see to it that he gets a free subscription, which will prove to him that he really can't? This could be your finest hour.

Why? Because:

The Review has it. Here is the finest in scholarship. It is good looking, easy to read, well worth reading. And you will have difficulty trying to recall the last time you saw a misspelled word.

The Review says it. Not because it is the voice of the "leading brethren," who are men like the rest of us, but because it squares, and consistently, with the heartline of the message to which we all subscribe.

The Review does it. It gets around over the face of this orb, and keeps us in touch with the rest of the family near and far.

The Review will do it. And you and those for whom you subscribe will be the beneficiaries as it has kept on doing it with such a flare for so long.

The Review is not infallible, of course, nor does it claim to be. But it is family—your family—and you need it,

OCTOBER 1 —
YOICHI HIRAOKA

Yoichi Hiraoka, the foremost xylophone virtuoso is one among few musicians who has the power to arouse the heart of everyone who hears him playing.

H. Howard Taubman of the New York Times has written, "... His touch was so delicate, his sense of style so penetrating and his command of color and nuance so subtle that he caused the xylophone to sing with the variety of one of the lordlier members of the instrumental family."

OCTOBER 15 — STAN MIDGLEY

Stan Midgley returns again, this time presenting the Yellowstone Tetons and Glacier Park." In the wonderful northwest corner of Wyoming you can see spectacular mountains, beautiful lakes, canyons, waterfalls, wild animals and more natural wonders than a tourist can see in a month. There are superb pictures of most of the world's greatest geysers and the changes made by the great 1959 earthquake with before and after pictures.

There is Earthquake Lake and its notorious landslide. The Cooke City Red Lodge Highway over the Beartooth Mountains—Ghost Towns and modern towns of Western Montana—Glacier Park, beautiful from the highway, incomparable from the wilderness trail. The ending comes in the golden glory of autumn.

"Lumberjack in Alaska"
NOVEMBER 5 — DON COOPER

Don Cooper presents "Lumberjack in Alaska." Coop's experiences—sometimes hazardous, often hilarious, and always captivating—were filmed in one of the least known, and most enchanting areas on earth—the homeland of the Alaskan Indian.

When Coop went north he expected to be rubbing elbows with Eskimos and polar bears. Now, after 12 years in Alaska, he still hasn't seen a polar bear, and didn't see an Eskimo until last fall when he got off the plane in Seattle. But what he did see—and film—makes one of the most intriguing films ever to come out of the North.

JANUARY 14 — COL. JOHN D. CRAIG

Hollywood's Adventure Television Producer, Col. John D. Craig, presents an unusual color-film ADVENTURE STORY about the delightful island-studded water-world that sleeps in the sun just below our southern doorstep.

Colonel Craig escorts his audience on an adventurous exploration to little-known Grand Caymen, Grand Cayman, colorful Haiti, the charming Virgin Islands and that fisherman's paradise, Bimini in the Outer Bahamas. It starts as a travelogue-treasure-hunt and ends when John Craig and his fabulous crew of SCUBA DIVERS film navy submarines underwater, feed sharks by hand and help four ex-Marines recover $7,000,000.

KANSAS

New Appointments

The conference committee met recently and gave consideration to the needs of our districts and field as a whole, and the following changes are a result of this study.

We asked Elder J. V. Schnell to move from the Garden City district to the Pittsburg district. We created a new district with four churches, consisting of Eureka, El Dorado, Fredonia and Winfield, and have asked Brother James Van Horn to move to Eureka from Wichita, where he has been serving briefly as assistant pastor, to give leadership to this new area. It is now possible, with the creation of this new district, to reduce the number of churches in the Pittsburg, Iola, and Wellington districts to four churches per district, which will enable our pastors to give more concentrated service to the churches and territory under their charge.

Elder V. L. Heglund, who has put in 14 good years in the Central Union territory, a number of which were here in Kansas, had accepted a call to Illinois. We asked Elder Fred Schultz, who has been leader in the Enterprise district for five years, to move to Topeka, and take charge of the Topeka, Lawrence and Emporia churches.

Elder I. J. Dennison, who has spent his full ministry in Kansas has accepted a call to Nebraska. We have placed Brother Frederick S. Sanburn in charge of the Salina district where Brother Dennison has been serving.

We have placed a call for Elder Robert Beck of the Texico Conference to serve as leader of the Enterprise district. We have also placed a call for Elder Wilbur C. Neff of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as leader of the Kansas City district. He had his first service in our field on Sabbath, September 17. We have also placed a call for Roy Day, III, to serve as assistant pastor in the Wichita district on an internship basis. He will be arriving in the field shortly after October 10.

This leaves only one appointment to be filled, which is the Garden City district, and perhaps by the time this article appears in print, that district also will be filled.

We are grateful for the strong force of workers in Kansas and appreciate the prayers of our people. We would urge all to give the district leaders total support.

S. S. WILL, President

News Briefs

✓ The Larned company, though small in number, is busy and active. Thirty knitted bandages have been sent to the leper hospital in Africa. A total of 1,869 pounds of clothing have been sent to the Navajo Indians, which included 26 large comforts and 39 small ones for the babies. They also sent bedding to the conference office to be used by people whose homes had been destroyed in the Topeka tornado. Their goal is to donate 100 comforts in 1966.

✓ A baby daughter, Pamela Kay, was born into the home of Elder and Mrs. J. V. Schnell of Garden City the first of August.

✓ Several hundred copies of Elder Vandeman's new paperback Destination Life are being distributed by our laymen around the state.

✓ Mrs. Agnes Chewing of the Larned company has interested the ladies who work with her at the Larned State Hospital in knitting leper bandages. Over 120 feet of bandages have been sent in.

not to keep in step, though that is wonderfully important and also rewarding in too many ways to list here, most of which you can sense without the listing, but just because you have elected to go with this movement, and for God.

As we go a-marching through Immanuel's land to fairer worlds on high we must press ever together in worship and fellowship. So, give the Review a try, will you? Free, if you must (your church has ways and means to meet this need), or on a contributing basis if you will and can.

You will get every dime of it back, and more, in that soft warm glow of satisfaction which comes from the assurance that you are all the way in, and that this includes your church family paper, for better every time, and never for worse.

Not as a substitute for God, or the Bible, or the church, or the pastor, but always an indispensable assist for your membership awareness and involvement, and also that good feeling that comes unbidden every time you say, "This is my church, and I am glad."

Here's to the "Good Old Review," my Review, and yours. DONALD F. HAYNES, Minister of Evangelism

Pine Bluff News

The Pine Bluffs church held its third Vacation Bible School but instead of just one week, it was held for ten days. The last day was a picnic for all the students. Mrs. Marvin Glantz was the director, with one hundred per cent participation of the church members, including the men who had to have late dinners and help set up signs. A total of 43 students were enrolled, of which 29 were non-Adventists. The teen class was new this year and there were nine girls enrolled. One of our ladies had to travel quite a distance each day. Mrs. Ronald Snyder of Carpenter started out each morning at 8:00 a.m. and loaded her camper with 10 of the children. She also gave of her time helping in the kindergarten. The crafts made during the ten day sessions were: TEENS: shell vases and shell sweater guards; JUNIOR and PRIMARY: Year Dusters, drift wood center pieces, pillows and parchment paper; KINDERGARTEN: cookie boxes, button jars, flower cages, macaroni pictures and plastic bottle banks. One of the junior boys attended our junior camp and requested baptism. Story Hour followed our Bible School, with an average attendance of 11, five being non-Adventist.

Are you looking for a real thrill in placing the most wonderful literature to be had in the hands of the public? Listen, while I tell you of the experience that has been ours by putting one of our missionary books in a local motel. In August of 1965 we were granted permission to place the book, Your Bible and You in the most up-to-date motel in Buffalo, and since that time we have been continually replacing the books. Letters have come to us with dollars in them as we are asking $1.00 for the book if they wish to take it with them. Letters have come from as far away as Florida and California. Letters have come from Michigan and Minnesota requesting additional books. An accurate check was made for a period of one month this past summer and 54 books were replaced in less than one month's time. If you are really looking for a way to help spread our truth filled literature, why don't you place a missionary book in motels in your city? The motel manager's wife said to me, "What a wonderful way to get your message to the people!" Try it and see if you don't get a real joy from your efforts.

Listened Every Sunday

"We liked the music and the message. We liked the way Elder Richards quoted Scripture, and so we made it a point to listen every Sunday at 8:45," said Henry Schmidt of Lander, Wyoming. Henry, along with his sister, Katherine, and their parents, Jacob and Elizabeth Schmidt, are tangible evidence of the saving work of the Voice of Prophecy Radio Broadcast.

This family first heard the Voice of Prophecy program three or four years ago over station KOVE, at Lander. When Elder Ben George, Wyoming Conference evangelist, held a series of meetings in the fall of 1965 at Riverton, Standing beside the new Riverton church, now under construction, are, left to right, Katherine and Henry Schmidt, and Lavell Ford, pastor of the Lander-Riverton district. The Schmidts, along with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schmidt (not in picture), are new members of the Riverton church, as the result of interest awakened through the Voice of Prophecy radio broadcast.

the Schmidt family attended the meetings because the advertising identified them with the VOP. They were baptized at the conclusion of the evangelistic series, and are happy in their acceptance of Bible truth for these last days.

There are thousands of other persons who can be reached when the funds come in to buy more time on powerful stations for late-night broadcasting, which will reach an entirely different audience, numbered in the millions. The Voice of Prophecy now can buy time on several powerhouse stations that can blanket all of North America. Such people as truck drivers, restaurant people, maintenance folk in public buildings, vacationers, salesmen, and a multitude of nervous insomniacs will have opportunity to hear the message between 11:00 p.m. and 2:00 a.m.

Please plan to give an unprecedented offering on October 8! Help swell an overflow that will bring the light of truth to Wyoming's late-night radio listeners.

Falls City Vacation Bible School

The children who attended the Vacation Bible School at the Falls City church, August 15-19, will long remember the wonderful time they experienced. There was a total enrollment of 23 children and 20 of these were from non-Adventist homes.

The Bible school was under the direction of Mrs. Russell Shaffer. Mrs. Charles Thorpe assisted by Mrs. Mae Corn were counselors and teachers for the primary division. Mrs. Alice Shaffer assisted by Mrs. Barbara Tosh were teachers for the kindergarten.

Mrs. Russell Shaffer directed the crafts, assisted by all the teachers. Many interesting things were made by the children and a cooperative spirit was manifest by each one present. Games were enjoyed during play period ending each day with a delightful treat.

Most of the children are in attendance each Sabbath and eagerly look forward to the Sabbath school class of Mrs. Russell Shaffer and her assistants. A Bible Story Hour is planned to follow up the work of the Vacation Bible School.

McCook Special

September 10 was a special day for McCook and the surrounding churches as the members met together at the annual Regional Meeting.

The outstanding features of the day were presented by Elder R. C. Thomas and his family as they brought stories fresh from the land of Korea.

Elder L. G. Barker was the speaker for the worship service and Elder B. Y. Baughman conducted the lesson study. Although the Platte Valley Academy students were camped out at the new site for the Nebraska youth camp, several students and faculty members were on hand to give some very fine special music.

The carry-in lunch gave the members an opportunity

Expanding the VOP

For many years The Voice of Prophecy has been a voice crying in the wilderness. Its messages have cheered the hearts of many, and through its ministry thousands have been won to Christ. Only in the earth made new will we see the full impact that The Voice of Prophecy has had upon the salvation of souls.

A strong effort is now being made to expand this soul-winning ministry. The hours between 11:00 p.m. and 2:00 a.m. are hours in which a large mass of people are moving about. Some are restless and sleepless; some engaged in various endeavors; some traveling the treacherous highways; others given over to lust and revelry. These people often have their radios on and I can witness that at that hour it is rather difficult to find anything decent on the air waves.

I believe that it would be a wonderful thing if The Voice of Prophecy could engage some of those powerful 50,000-watt stations and blanket the nation with a strong appeal for Christ. Thousands of souls would be reached and many lives changed. When The Voice of Prophecy offering is taken in your church please give liberally and become a part of this expanding evangelism.

MISSOURI

Twenty-five Years of Miracles

It is our privilege to review 25 years of miracles. The Voice of Prophecy was heard on 89 stations in 1942 but is being heard on 637 stations in 1966. During this period, 1,067,641 persons have enrolled in the Bible courses offered. There have been 648,951 students graduated; of these 30,864 have been baptized. Today 70 Bible Cor-correspondence School Courses replace the one course offered in 1942. Listeners have given $3,403,915.23 to support this soul-saving agency during these 25 years.

All of us are pleased with this wonderful advance. We are all grateful for the part that we have had in this advance. We are thankful that there are ever-increasing openings for far greater advances than ever before.

The latest planned advance is to reach the late night crowd—from 11:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. This is a real forward-looking move to reach millions who might never hear the message under other circumstances.

To accomplish this goal will call for a sacrificial gift on the part of all of us. But where could we put a sacrificial gift that is more rewarding? With one out of every 21 correspondence school enrollees being baptized we are really putting our funds in the profitable place.

This new venture, plus carrying all of the established work, will mark 1967 the greatest of all years for our Voice of Prophecy.

Sabbath, OCTOBER 8, is the date for the offering. Make your offering a large one representing your faith and hope for and in the Voice of Prophecy.

Daily Voice of Prophecy Broadcast

For six months the Voice of Prophecy has been heard in a daily broadcast from KTUI at Sullivan, Missouri.

Recently the membership of the Bourbon church has been making a house-to-house survey to determine the listening audience. On two Sabbath afternoons 52 families enrolled in Voice of Prophecy correspondence school courses. Six of these were for the junior course. The rest were senior enrollments. Additional survey work is continuing.

It is obvious that there is a strong interest in the Voice of Prophecy in this area.

Early in November Elder H. G. Crowson and Pastor James Hoover will begin a series of meetings in Sullivan, Missouri. By this time nine months of daily broadcast will be completed. Many persons will be prepared to take their stand for the three angels' messages by this time.

Persons having friends or relatives in the Bourbon-Sullivan area might send names and addresses to Pastor James Hoover, Box 296, Bourbon, Missouri 65441.

Hancock Featured At Leadercraft Conference

Elder John Hancock, associate Missionary Volunteer secretary of the General Conference and World Pathfinder leader, inspired approximately 50 people who were present at Camp Heritage, Missouri's junior camp.

During the week end of September 9-11 over 15 hours were spent giving instruction in a double-header course of lectures and field work. This week end was unique in that we were able to offer simultaneously both a Leadercraft Course and Pathfinder Staff Training Course. This was made possible by the four instructors present. Aably assisting Elder Hancock were Paul M. De Booy, Central Union Missionary Volunteer secretary, Don Wright, Missouri Conference Missionary Volunteer secretary and William Iverson, instructor in campcraft and outdoor skills.

The week-end program was concluded by an inspiring commitment program conducted by Elder Hancock. There were 20 Pathfinder Training Course and eight Top to bottom: Elder John Hancock, World Pathfinder leader, presenting a topic to those enrolled in the Pathfinder Training Course at Camp Heritage. A cross section of the attentive listeners to one of the lectures being given jointly to both Leadercraft and Pathfinder enrollees. Elder Don Wright, enjoying his audience participation during the course of his lecture to those participating in the Leadercraft Course. Elder Paul M. De Booy, Central Union MY secretary, informally discussing his subject with Pathfinder leaders of the Missouri Conference at their camp on the beautiful Lake of the Ozarks. Dr. Robert Wolfe giving one of the high lights of the week end which was his topic "The Thrill of Discovery." His presentation and topic will long be remembered by all those present.

Leadercraft Certificates awarded to those who fulfilled the necessary requirements.

One of the interesting high lights of the week end was the unveiling of the new MV Silver Medallion for the first time anywhere in the North American Division. It is imbedded in beautiful Italian marble with a name plate below it for inscription of the recipients name. We felt highly honored to be the first ones to behold this lovely new plaque. A gold medallion mounted in black marble is being prepared as a Gold Award for college age youth.

As another first, we were also privileged to be the first group in the Central Union to study from the new revised Leadercraft Course Manual which has taken a new style and format.

The next Leadercraft Course for the Missouri Conference will be held at Sunnydale Academy on October 28 and 29. Any who need this course are invited to be present at that time. D. E. WRIGHT, MV Secretary

Church Schools

To organize and support a church school is both a privilege and a responsibility of the church. There are blessings as well as burdens which result from the operations of the church school.

In order that the field might have a composite picture of our Missouri church schools we asked our teachers to give us some specific information with the opening of the school year.

Cedarvale Junior Academy, serving the Kansas City area, is located in Raytown. Ten grades are taught to 124 students by six full-time teachers and one half-time teacher. Band, chorus, and private music lessons are offered. A printing class is taught for secondary students. Earl Spaulding, reporter.

The Columbia school has eight grades with a total of 41 students. Two full-time teachers carry the teaching load. Seven students come from non-Seventh-day Adventist homes. The enrollment has increased by nine over last year. Fifteen new student desks, one teacher's desk and chair, twenty-four feet of new slate blackboard and tack board have been installed. New playground equipment has been installed. Mrs. Earl Gibb, reporter.

The Fredericktown school has six grades with a total of 14 students. One teacher has charge of this school. Martha Williams, reporter.

The Hillcrest Junior Academy has ten grades, a total of 77 students, with four teachers carrying the teaching load. A part-time teacher teaches art. Harold Cornell, reporter.

The Joplin school is a one-teacher school of seven grades with a total enrollment of 14. One non-Seventh-day Adventist child attends this school. One child lives 80 miles away and his father drives 320 miles each week to keep his boy in church school. Mrs. Weaver Wilson, reporter.

The Macon school is a one-teacher school with seven grades and nine pupils. Mrs. Irene Taylor, reporter.

The Neosho school is a one-teacher school with seven students in six grades. This is a new school beginning this year. Its location borders a city park which affords a fine playground with equipment. Don Wright, reporter.

The Oak Grove Heights school has eight grades with 22 students taught by two teachers. Eight of the 22 students are first graders.

The Poplar Bluff school has eight grades, 15 pupils, and one teacher. At one time during the summer it appeared that this school would not open this fall due to a lack of students.

Four children of one family started at the opening of school but it was uncertain whether they would continue to come when the public school opened after Labor Day. The father was opposed and insisted that they would have to attend public school. Then on Sabbath, September 3, something happened and he is letting the children continue in church school. Prayer changes things!

The church is conducting a missionary project in providing church school privileges for four girls whose father had deserted the family. Mrs. J. Kohler, reporter.

The Rolla school has five grades with one teacher and 11 pupils. One child is a non-Seventh-day Adventist. We are happy with the many physical improvements made in our school building and grounds. Mrs. Virginia Baker, reporter.

The St. Joseph school has seven grades, 16 students, and two teachers. Glenn C. Clark, reporter.

The Springfield school has six grades, 13 students with one teacher. Mary Robinette, reporter.

The Sunnydale elementary school has eight grades, 22 pupils, and two teachers. Paul Priest, reporter.

The Willow Springs school has six grades, 13 students with one teacher. Lawrence Hunt, reporter.

The Bourbon Junior Academy has nine grades. The tenth grade is being offered this year. Three teachers are caring for 36 students. This is an increase of 12 over last year. Because of a lack of room, other students had to be turned away. Mrs. Dale Wagner, reporter.

One home school at Spring Haven is being taught by Hazel Rouse.

Three junior academies, twelve elementary schools, and one home school, employing twenty-nine teachers teaching four hundred and thirty-four children. This speaks well of the provision being made by our churches to provide for the Christian education of their children.

From 11 to 12

Did you know that there are 30,000,000 people awake all or most of the night here in the United States and Canada? These millions are made up of restaurant people; maintenance folk in public buildings; truck drivers, industrial plant employees; vacationers; salesmen, yes, and a multitude of nervous insomniacs. A great many of these people listen to their radios to while away the night hours. Right now there are openings for the Voice of Prophecy to begin late-nite broadcasting, reaching a brand-new audience numbering in the millions. A few key 50,000 watt "powerhouse" stations will cover all of the United States and Canada.

For 25 years the Voice of Prophecy has been bringing the message to millions over the airwaves. Back in 1952 there were only 89 stations, this year 637. Through the years 1,067,641 persons have enrolled in Bible courses—648,951 students have been graduated. Baptisms to date number 30,864—more than the membership in the Central Union. Many of you who are reading this article will attest that the Voice of Prophecy broadcasts and correspondence courses played a major role in your decision to unite with God's remnant church. Many of you have been loyal supporters of the Voice of Prophecy down through the years.

Now comes this unprecedented opportunity to go on late-night radio to reach millions yet untouched by our message. The Voice of Prophecy needs your support to make this possible. On October 8 the Voice of Prophecy Silver Anniversary Offering will be taken in our churches. The overflow above last year's $342,000 will go to buy time on several power-house stations that can blanket all of North America.

The goal for the North American Division is $400,000. Last year our Central Union membership gave $24,110. Elder H.M.S. Richards writes, "Your union conference offering increase over 1964 helped give the Voice of Prophecy its finest year in '65. If we will not drop below what we gave last year, but instead will add to that amount, our radio arm will be strengthened so we may launch out to other important places. It makes me very thankful to know that we have friends who are as anxious as we are at the Voice of Prophecy to send God's message to more of the cities of North America."

Sterling Church School Re-opens With Miss Barbieri As Teacher

After having been closed for two years because a teacher was not available, the Sterling church school has re-opened with an enrollment of 13.

We're all ready for the teacher

Adventist for two and one-half years.

We feel very fortunate to have secured the services of Miss Barbieri, as she was chosen one of nine teachers in the State of Colorado to receive the National Award from the National Education Association for outstanding service to her profession. Quoting from the Denver Post:

"Several sessions were held with state school principals and superintendents, looking for the quiet burden-bearers of the school system who hitherto had been unrewarded for their services.

"Some recommended were simply for discipline. Others were for self-sacrificing service in rural districts.

"After a careful weighing of qualifications the following were cited: MISS JENNIE RUTH BARBIERI—'She rules by love. Discipline of any other kind is unknown to her.'"

Before Miss Barbieri's arrival to Sterling, several of the ladies of the church did a thorough housecleaning job on her house to have it in readiness for her. After her arrival, the members met at the church and then drove to her home, presenting her with a large box of groceries they all had a part in donating. The box was decorated with apples—"An apple for the teacher."

Miss Barbieri states, "My ultimate purpose in teaching these boys and girls is to prepare and inspire each of them to go into some phase of the Lord's work." Already she has a church school teacher, a nurse, and two ministers in the making. A little second grader informed her the other day that Pastor Westerberg would have to stay here long enough until he got old enough to take his place as pastor.

Sterling is indeed fortunate to have such a dedicated teacher.
