RECENTLY the Far Eastern Division sent me as their representative to visit Asians from our territory who are studying and residing in Australia. It was a real privilege to visit with them and to present to them the needs of this great Division for more trained and consecrated young people to return to their homelands to help finish the work of God on earth.

K. T. Kong

At the Sydney airport to meet me on Monday morning, April 3, were Pastor and Mrs. E. J. Johanson and my nephew, John Kong. It was Pastor Johanson who was responsible for calling me into the Lord's work 39 years ago, when he served as Secretary-Treasurer of the Malaysian Union Mission, now named Southeast Asia Union. I left almost immediately for Brisbane where we have six young people studying in high schools and universities.

My next stop was back in Sydney where I arrived on Tuesday, April 4, and was met by Pastor Edward Ho. Pastor and Mrs. Johanson took us in their car to the Avondale College on April 6 immediately after my wife arrived from the U.S.A. where she had spent several months visiting our two children and their families. There are not too many Asian young people at the Avondale College now but those who are there are happy and doing well in their school work. The evening was spent showing them pictures of our work and in informal discussions of their studies and future plans.

We spent Friday evening and Sabbath, April 7 and 8, with our Chinese congregation in Sydney. Many from this congregation are young people studying in schools and universities in and around Sydney. Pastor Edward Ho is doing a good work in the Chinese Church under the blessing of the Lord. The membership increases steadily each year.

It was also our happy privilege during our stay in Sydney to visit

Pastor and Mrs. L. E. A. Fox, who worked for many years in the Southeast Asia Union, but have now made their home in Australia after their retirement. Also living there are Dr. and Mrs. G. H. A. McClaren and Miss Marjorie Grieve, who served as medical director and director of nursing services respectively at the Youngberg Memorial Hospital.

We left for Melbourne on April 13 and spent Sabbath with our people in one of the larger churches of that city. There are a few young people studying in outside educational institutions. We were happy to learn that they are faithful in attending church and taking an active part in church activities.

Adelaide was our next stop. We arrived there Sunday evening, April 16, and were taken immediately to one of the city halls to meet with our young people from all the churches in that city. As far as we know we have only one student in this city, and he is from Sabah on a government scholarship. He is the son of Pastor Mandatang Gaban who was the first ordained minister from among the nationals of Sabah.

We were really thrilled to land in Perth on April 18 and to be met by Pastor A. Peterson, Public Relations Secretary of the West Australian Conference, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Johanson, Jr., and by TV and newspaper cameramen and reporters. Johanson serves as Assistant Business Manager of the West Australian Missionary College and is an old friend of mine. Our pictures appeared on TV the next morning and there was an article in the newspaper about the objective of our visit to Australia. Choo Piang Fong, a former teacher of the Sunny Hill School, Kuching, Sarawak, is the only Adventist studying at the University of Perth toward a B.A. in education.

It was possible in each city that we visited to have a social gathering and meal with our young people and invited guests. These happy occasions were made possible through the assistance and cooperation of Pastors W. G. Dowling in Brisbane, Edward Ho in Sydney, L. Jones in

Aaby Reunion in California; Five Brothers, No Sisters

EVENT. Five Aaby brothers, one of them from the Far East, had a reunion recently in California at the time of their parents' wedding anniversary. Ogden, right, is business manager of the Youngberg Memorial Hospital in Singapore. The others are, left to right, Carlyle, Clovis, Maynard, and Gene. Gene will be in Vietnam with the United States Army from August 15, 1967 to August, 1968. All of the brothers graduated from Adventist schools, married Adventist girls, and all are members of the Adventist church. The father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Aaby, are caretakers of the Elmshaven Estate, Mrs. Ellen G. White's last home near St. Helena Sanitarium in California.

A New Course in Comparative Religions by Home Study

A CAREFUL study of the world's major religions ranging from Animism through Buddhism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism, and Christianity are included in Home Study Institute's new course in Comparative Religions. While the new course is designed for college credit (two hours) it is specifically aimed at the intellectually curious church layman. It provides a very useful "elective course" for college students and a thoroughly stimulating study for church members who are searching for ways to keep mentally alive and growing.

A careful study of world religions can provide a sympathetic understanding of other faiths; if you are anxious about avoiding mental stagnation; if you are serious about sharing your faith; if you hope to serve the church overseas; or if you need two stimulating hours of college credit. Write to Home Study Institute, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C., U.S.A. for further details.

Melbourne, O. K. Anderson in Adelaide, and E. J. Johanson in Perth. These fine workers take a great interest in the welfare of our young people from the Far East for which we are grateful. Our largest gathering was in Sydney when around 130 invited guests and children met. Although some have made their home in Australia, they are still interested in the onward program of the Lord's work in their homelands and doubtless will remember the unfinished task in their daily devotions.

LEADERS. Pastor Virgil Robinson, Senior Editor of the Home Study Institute, checks a test with Dr. D. W. Holbrook, President of the Institute and author of the Comparative Religions course. The new course has been especially written for the interested layman.

Carrie Marie Lee 1883 - 1967

CARRIE Marie Scott Lee was born in Geneva, N. Y., on November 13, 1883, and laid to rest on May 1, 1967, at Loma Linda, Calif. With her parents and older sister, Helen May, she was baptized in 1901 in Lake Ontario while attending the New York camp meeting held at Oswego. She attended South Lancaster Academy in Massachusetts, graduating in 1904. The following year she continued her education at Washington Missionary College in Takoma Park, Maryland, and then did Bible work in Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia, Pa.

In 1906, with her parents and two sisters, Helen May and Minnie Belle, she came to California where her father, James R. Scott, became the Business Manager of the Paradise Valley Sanitarium.

In 1909 she accompanied her parents back to Takoma Park to attend the General Conference session. While there she renewed her acquaintance with Howard M. Lee, with whom she had graduated, and they were married on February 2, 1910. The following week they left for Korea to engage in education work for almost 30 years. Their four children were born there—the eldest of whom, Lillian Lucy, was laid to rest in February, 1914, at the age of three. For the last 15 years the Lees have resided in the Loma Linda area.

Surviving are her husband, Pastor Howard M. Lee; three sons, James of Loma Linda, John of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Donald of Berrien Springs, Mich.; three grandsons, Elfred of Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., David of Loma Linda, and Paul of Hamburg, Pa.; two granddaughters, Cheryle Morrison and Sandra Lee of Takoma Park, Md.; one great-granddaughter, Joanna Lee, of Loma Linda; and one sister, Mrs. Minnie Belle Nary, of Calimesa, Calif.

Funeral services were conducted by Pastor Roy C. Cottrell.

Served Far East Since 1929

Dr. George Rue, Veteran Medical Missionary in Korea, Retires from Active Service

DR. George Rue, one of two veteran medical missionaries of the Far Eastern Division, retired July 1 from active service at the Seoul Sanitarium and Hospital in Korea.

His departure from the medical scene in the Far East leaves only one other longtime missionary physician in this Division, 88-year old Dr. Harry Miller, of Hong Kong.

Unlike Dr. Miller the retiring physician served all of his missionary years in one country, Korea. His entire professional life has been wrapped up in the founding, development, and operation of the Seoul Sanitarium and Hospital. He departs Korea with a long string of laurels and the devotion of thousands of Koreans.

Both the Far Eastern Division and the General Conference executive committees voted special actions expressing appreciation to Dr. and Mrs. Rue for their thirty-two years of service to the medical work of the Adventist denomination.

In the action taken by the General Conference, it said, "Dr. Rue has given outstanding service to the denomination." The members present at this particular meeting stood in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Rue.

Dr. Rue first went to Korea in the year 1929 to join his friend, Dr. Riley Russell, who operated a clinic in the city of Sunan in north Korea. Thus began the overseas career of this 68-year old Adventist medical missionary who was born June 27, 1899 in Oakland, Calif.

He spent two years in Sunan learning the language and customs of the people. Then he and his wife and two children transferred to Seoul in 1931 to open a clinic.

In 1932 Dr. Rue rented an eight-bed hospital. Two years later he began building his own hospital and clinic. When the depression of the 1930's cut off mission funds from the United States, Dr. Rue added money-raising to his other duties and completed the hospital by the end of 1935.

The year 1936 opened with a flourish of triumph for Dr. Rue, but it closed in tragedy. Early in the spring the Seoul Sanitarium and Hospital was officially opened and a school of nursing established with ten students in the first class. In December, a few days before Christmas, Dr. Rue buried his wife, May in the foreign cemetery of Seoul.

From 1936 to 1941 Dr. Rue all but buried himself at the hospital, working 12 to 16 hours a day, giving penniless peasants the same careful treatment received by rich merchants and government officials. He also served personnel of the American Embassy.

In 1941 conditions in the Far East forced Americans to leave Korea, which was then under Japanese control. He left the hospital in charge of Dr. S. Y. Chung. During the war years the Japanese ran the hospital while Dr. Rue returned to California and practiced medicine in Montebello, a suburb of Los Angeles.

In the year 1946 he married Grace Lea, a nurse, and the next spring he returned to Korea. When he returned he found that the Japanese had stripped the hospital of all its equipment and medical supplies. Nothing was left in the laboratories. Four towels and a pair of surgeon's gloves were all that remained in what was once one of the most modern and best-equipped hospitals in Seoul. He also found Dr. Chung and his faithful band of Korean medical workers.

A week after he arrived Dr. Rue's supplies reached the hospital and the medical unit was back in operation. In a few months the Seoul Sanitarium and Hospital was in full service as a 135-bed facility and the clinic was also in service once again.

By the end of 1947 the hospital was operating at more than capacity and Dr. Rue averaged 16 hours a day seeing patients and performing surgery. Patients came at the rate of about 250 each day, suffering from tuberculosis, malnutrition, intestinal parasites, and other diseases common to masses of people living under extreme hardships.

In 1948 the country started to have trouble with communists from North Korea. In 1949 the United States government asked Dr. Rue to provide medical care for 2,000 State Department and other American personnel and in that year also Dr. Rue became personal physician to then-president, Syngman Rhee.

In June 1950, Dr. Rue flew to the United States on a business trip, expecting to return to Seoul in two weeks. Four days after he left, South Korea was invaded and Seoul overrun, forcing abandonment of the hospital. Mrs. Rue and all American employees were evacuated to Japan and a few days later she rejoined Dr. Rue in America.

In October of the same year the United States Ambassador in Korea requested that the Adventist mission board arrange for Dr. Rue to return to Korea. The Ambassador himself joined him in Japan and traveled to Korea in the same plane.

For the second time Dr. Rue found his hospital in a shambles. The windows were shattered, but the building itself was in good shape. The North Koreans had taken all the medical supplies and surgical instruments and had attempted to haul away the heavy equipment, but the American counterattack had driven them back so rapidly that they were not able to do so. Dr. Rue later learned that the hospital itself had been spared from being blown up, as were many other buildings, on the orders of the ranking North Korean officer who had once been a patient there and who held Dr. Rue in high esteem.

Several hospital workers were killed, however, and thirty, including a number of nurses, were taken as captives by the Communists. A few of the nurses were able to escape, but most of them were never heard of again.

Dr. Rue barely got the hospital back in operation when Seoul was captured a second time by the Communists. Everyone was sent south to Pusan. President Rhee asked Dr. Rue to start a hospital in a school building on Cheju Island where some 250,000 refugees had been sent. Later President Rhee asked Dr. Rue to start a new hospital in Pusan in a warehouse, the only available building. In June, 1951, he and his staff returned to liberated Seoul. Again the hospital had been stripped of all its supplies. This time the heavy equipment was gone too.

American authorities helped him obtain what he needed to care for the flood of refugees. The churches of North America raised $100,000 in a single offering to help reequip the hospital. Dr. Rue kept the hospital on Cheju Island going until late 1952. He then moved the Pusan hospital into its own building where it is still in operation.

In addition to keeping three hospitals in operation in Korea, Dr. Rue and his wife started an orphanage to care for some of the thousands of abandoned children of all ages who roamed the countryside. Mrs. Rue arranged for many of the children to be adopted in the United States.

Early in 1954 the Rues returned to the United States for their first furlough in many years. But before they left Korea they were guests of honor at a presidential party at which President Rhee presented to Dr. Rue the Republic of Korea Medal, highest honor the nation can bestow for devoted service to the people of Korea.

All Photos for the Dr. George Rue story are by Robert Sheldon.

They were also honored by the mayor of Seoul and the Minister of Social Affairs for Korea in recognition of their great work for orphans. But the Rues consider their greatest reward to be the satisfaction of knowing they are following in the steps of Jesus.

For their work in both Seoul and Pusan during the Korean conflict, Dr. Rue was awarded the honorary Doctor of Laws degree by the Chung-ang University in Seoul in 1963.

Near the close of his illustrious overseas medical missionary career, Dr. Rue once said, "I have dedicated my life to the people of Korea. Healing the sick and caring for those who are less fortunate is part of the gospel. As a Christian, it is my duty to follow the example of Christ, who was also a missionary."

There is a great vacuum in Korea now that the Rues have returned to their homeland. It is being taken up by new and younger medical workers, just as eager to serve as Dr. Rue. But the Korean people will never forget Dr. and Mrs. George Rue, true pioneers and unselfish medical missionaries for the church, their God, and humanity.

The Far Eastern Division salutes Dr. Rue for his years of serving to the people of Korea!

GREETINGS. This is a familiar spot for Dr. George Rue, the front entrance of the Seoul Sanitarium and Hospital. He is shown here greeting workers and others who have congregated around the front of the building.

Literature Evangelism in Korea

RECENTLY I received a letter from one of our literature evangelists in the southern part of Korea stating his earnest desire to see more souls won to Christ as a result of his efforts. He mentioned the outstanding success he had had some time before going into villages and holding cottage meetings in the evening using a borrowed projector and slides prepared by the Korean Union for this purpose. During the day he would canvass these people with outstanding success.

Because there is no electricity in most of these villages, he had to use a candle for a lamp in the projector. You can imagine how dim the projection was. Nevertheless the people enjoyed the pictures very much.

For sometime a projector and slides had not been available for his use. Seeing the soul-winning possibilities of a program like this we decided to provide a projector for him to use. A happier literature evangelist I have never seen than when we presented this projector for his use.

He and two other literature evangelists are going to unite their ef-

Lay Training Schools Held in Korea

By C. A. Williams, President, Korean Union

JUST recently it was my privilege to attend three large Lay Instructors' Training Schools here in our Union conducted by Pastor Lyu, our local Lay Activities Secretary, with the help of Pastor L. A. Shipowick, the Lay Activities Secretary from the Far Eastern Division.

These schools were not ordinary Laymen's Training Schools, but are a special type of consecrated training program. These schools are geared to teach men and women not only how to give Bible studies but how to open new opportunities for giving Bible studies, methods of approach which have proven to be successful in other areas. This is the first time that these schools have been conducted in this union. As an observer and participant in these schools, I feel that they have done something that no other program has been able to do in unifying the workers and laymen for a finished work in Korea.

Our laymen have resolved to do more for the Lord than they have ever done before. For example, in years past our laymen on the average would resolve to win one or two souls to Christ. After these schools, they resolved to win on the average of five souls per person. Those in attendance also pledged to give more Bible studies than they have ever given before. They also pledged to give out more

With 400 evangelistic efforts throughout our Union this year, plus approximately another 400 efforts held by our faithful laymen, surely the good news of salvation will spread like fire in the stubble throughout the land. We praise the Lord for the consecrated efforts of our workers and laymen and we are looking forward to a rich harvest of souls this year.

Spot Reports from Korean Union College

- KOREAN Union College has opened a Business Administration Department and will offer a major in this new area. Manager Lee Chai Chan has been appointed head of the new department. Because of government limitations, students may choose this area as their second major and will be required to complete their regular requirements in their basic major.

One of the programs will be a summer and mid-winter school program leading to a diploma in religion for teachers, pastoral evangelism, business administration, lay evangelism, and an advanced diploma in leadership studies.

- Mrs. Cecil Williams has joined the faculty as part-time instructor of child evangelism at the KUC Higher Technical school. Her practically-oriented teaching has been much appreciated.

- A book by Dr. Rudy Klimes, President, was recently published by the American-Korean Foundation and the Korean Association of Voluntary Agencies. Entitled Ko-

KUC Opens Higher Technical School

A new school joined the Far Eastern Division educational family this spring. Housed on the campus of KUC, the government-accredited Samyuk Higher Technical School offers a one-year program in sewing and knitting. Actually a "school of technical evangelists," it endeavors to train self-supporting workers so that they can earn a living while evangelizing.

Classes are offered in Child Evangelism, Personal Evangelism, Christian Home, Health and Hygiene, Christian Beliefs, and technical areas.

News from Negros Mission General Meeting

By F. M. Arrogante, President, Negros Mission

RADIO and newspaper facilities were very lavish in newscasting and publishing the activities of the first general meeting and fifth anniversary of Negros Mission, April 18-22, 1967. Radio Stations DYRS, San Carlos; DYSR, Voice of Christian Brotherhood, Dumaguete City; DYAG, Cadiz; DYRL, DYRH, and DYOL of Bacolod City aired the news of our meetings many times every day during the duration of the general meeting. A 45-minute radio interview in the afternoon of April 18 was arranged with Sampaguita Broadcasting system, Bacolod City, featuring Pastors W. M. Adams, R. C. Williams, and P. C. Banaag of the General Conference, Far Eastern Division, and Philippine Religious Liberty Associations respectively. The Manila Daily Bulletin of April 17 published a long article announcing the general meeting. The Negros Clarion, the most widely circulated weekly of Bacolod City, issued a two-page supplement featuring "Meet Your Friends, the Adventists" by Isaac Yap of San Carlos City.

The grand opening night was keynoted by Pastor W. M. Adams of the General Conference right after the short speeches of welcome by Romeo Guanzon, Bacolod City Mayor, and the Provincial Governor, Benjamin Gomez. This meeting of leaders ripened into a closer intimacy at a banquet later tendered by Governor Gomez solely for the Adventist dignitaries at the Sea Breeze Hotel.

One hundred and four persons publicly testified their acceptance of the faith at their baptism on Sabbath afternoon. Five ministers helped in the baptism of the candidates.

Following the baptismal rites a very solemn ordination service was held in recognition of the church of the call of Oscar L. Alolor to the sacred office of the ministry. Pastor and Mrs. D. B. Ladion served as the sponsors. The Division president, Pastor P. H. Eldridge, gave a brief sermon and led in the ordination prayer and the laying on of hands. The union president, Pastor E. A. Capobres, gave the ordination charge and the mission president welcomed Pastor Alolor to the ranks of the gospel ministry.

The Philippine Independent Church, the Assemblies of God, the Cosmopolitan Evangelical Church, the Bacolod Evangelical Church, the Convention Baptist Institute, the Provincial High School, the Tay Tung Chinese High School and several other churches, including the surrounding Adventist churches, provided their pews, benches and chairs very willingly for the seating needs of more than 3,000 delegates, friends and visitors. The church pews and benches were returned right after sundown Saturday for the needs of the churches for their Sunday dawn services and masses. The government cots and Boy Scout tents were made available to us by the La Castellana District.

All homes in Taculing and in surrounding areas, including the Catholic and Protestant chapels and the public school buildings, were occupied by the delegates exceeding the capacity of the barracks, tents and huts provided in the conference compound. Every inch of space and all pews and benches at the auditorium were utilized by the delegates for their beds.

Ingathering Priority in Negros Mission

SINCE the introduction of the Ingathering campaign by Jasper Wayne in 1903, Ingathering has become a world-wide endeavor and has established its priority in the program of the church. Our church is keeping this priority with a clear and distinct conviction.

In the Philippines our campaign period used to be on different dates of every year as could be arranged. Sensing the effectiveness and regularity of our campaign and realizing the benefits derived and the contribution rendered for the educational, medical, moral, and welfare uplift development of the Philippine Republic, our campaign date now is being fixed by the Social Welfare Commission from October 1 to November 15 every year. In the eyes of the people the Seventh-day Adventist Ingathering program is now on level with the national campaigns such as the Philippine National Red Cross, the Anti-TB National Fund Drive, the Boys Scout and the Girls Scout Fund Drives and other campaigns of national category.

Every ingathering season of every year all workers in every place, church leaders and the laity are called upon to give priority attention to the ingathering of funds for the salvation of souls.

Let us all again rally together in this great ingathering program this year 1967.

EVANGELISM. This is the "airotorium" which Pastor J. E. Christensen purchased from the Arizona Conference in the United States for $1,000. It is being used now for the first time in Taiwan where the "Signs Bible Lectures" are presented nightly by Pastor Milton Lee, Ministerial Secretary of the South China Island Union.

past the gale that meets him as he enters the door, he finds that it is surprisingly large and quiet in the interior of this 30' x 60' dome-shaped tent. It can seat 600 people.

Opening night found the "airotorium" filled to capacity by an audience composed mostly of male adults. The second night was practically as full as the first. It has been surprising to note how the audience has not slumped during the week nights. In fact, the largest crowd to date came out on a Monday night, the ninth night of our scheduled 22 nights of lectures. That was the night that the Bibles were passed out to begin Bible marking. Every seat was taken and many had to either stand or go home for lack of seats.

Our location is perfect for a good effort—the same lot on which we erected a bamboo mat shed for an effort ten years ago, just two blocks nearer town on the same street as our church. It is easy to reach by those who must come by public transportation, but far enough from congested living centers to discourage unattended youngsters from flocking in and playing around.

When on his last furlough, Pastor J. E. Christensen, President of the South Taiwan Mission, purchased this "airotorium" from the Arizona Conference at the giveaway price of U.S. $1,000, donated by a friend. Without his know-how and hours of hard labor no one could have made the tent work. Despite his gasoline motor standing by in case of an electric power failure, I must confess to being a bit nervous the first few nights. This has worn off as night after night things have gone smoothly.

We ask an interest in your prayers that many may be brought to a saving knowledge of Christ during these meetings.

Week of Prayer Conducted at TMC by Pastor J. R. Bailey

TAIWAN Missionary College recently participated in the Spring Week of Prayer with Pastor J. R. Bailey as the guest speaker. It was a time when many young people made important decisions for Christ and His kingdom.

The theme of the week was "Christ is the Answer." During the sermons, discussions, and prayer bands this theme was ever kept before the minds of the young people.

At the close of the week 38 students let Christ be the answer to their every need, and joined the baptismal class in preparation for baptism before school closes.

Ministerial Training Program Held at Taipei

DURING the months of January and February, a ministerial training program was conducted in the North Taiwan Mission.

Nineteen workers participated, with class instruction, group discussions, and field demonstrations. It was intended to stimulate the minister in his responsibility to the church, his people, and to prepare him for more active evangelism.

Taiwan's First "Airotorium" Effort

By Mrs. Milton Lee

AS the "Signs Bible Lectures" began in Kaohsiung, Taiwan, on May 7, the people of this city were seeing something new, an "airotorium" in use. Located as it is on one of the city's large thoroughfares, this windowless canvas structure held up entirely by having air blown into it has attracted much attention. The double doors, which of necessity must swing inward, close automatically due to the air pressure inside. Once a person gets

The group pictured joined in an evangelistic crusade in the Taipei Central Church. At the close 15 joined the baptismal class, and are preparing for baptism.

We pray that this is only the beginning of what the ministers of South China Island Union plan for the future, and that a large harvest of souls will be gathered in.

Japan Missionary College Appoints a Student Missionary to Taiwan

THE student missionary program in our North American colleges has been in operation for several years. Now nearly every one of our senior colleges are sending out students to overseas areas.

The program has now spread across the seas. Japan Missionary College, Chiba-ken, Japan, has appointed a student missionary to Taiwan!

He is Kazu Higa, an upper division student in the Department of Theology. His home is on the island of Okinawa.

C. B. Miller, President of the South China Island Union, says that the Japanese student will be assigned to assist in a major evangelistic campaign being conducted at Kao Shiung, Taiwan, by Pastor

Milton Lee, Ministerial Secretary of the Union. After that he will be sent into the mountain areas to work with people who can speak the Japanese language. For many years Japanese occupied the island of Formosa (now Taiwan), so many people speak the Japanese language.

Dr. T. Yamagata, President of Japan Missionary College, says, "We are very happy about the ap-

The soldier had attended church in San Diego, Calif. and studied the "Voice of Prophecy" lessons before he came to the Far East. He was a Navy corpsman attached to the Marines and was soon sent to Vietnam. He was wounded in action, so he was sent to Okinawa for "Rest and Recreation." He made an effort to contact our Adventist office on Okinawa and expressed a desire to be baptized before he returned to Vietnam. Pastor Watts studied with him and readied him for baptism. After he returned to Vietnam he was again wounded and now he is at the Naval Hospital in Japan. He was the first serviceman to be baptized this year on Okinawa.

Generator Given to Clinic on Guam

ON Sunday, April 16 two large red trucks pulled up in front of the Seventh-day Adventist Mission Clinic on Guam. Loaded on one of the trucks was a newly-painted and reconditioned generator. It was being given without cost to our clinic by H and G International on Guam. Not only were they giving us the generator but they had brought with them a crew of men to install the generator. By the end of the day the emergency generator was installed and ready for use. A double-throw switch makes it very easy to get electricity when there is an emergency. This service was also free to us.

There are two factors we feel were involved in making it possible for us to receive this very generous gift. The manager and his family come to our clinic for their medical care, and appreciated what was done for them. There are some faithful Adventists who work for this firm and their service is very much appreciated by the management.

The clinic has had a large expansion program under way for the last year and funds have been depleted, but God opened the way for us to receive this generator without cost. This is just one of the thousand ways God has of helping us to finish His work in the earth. This experience has reminded us again the value of a good name.

Progress of Mt. Klabat College

By A. M. Bartlett, President, East Indonesia Union

THE afternoon of May 18, 1967 made history for the East Indonesia Union and for Mt. Klabat College as the wife of the governor of the Sulawesi Utara Province cut the ribbon and officially opened the campus of the new junior college at Airmedidi. The occasion was the completion and dedication of the first major building on the campus. His Excellency, the Governor, addressed the faculty and student body together with many friends who had gathered for the occasion. In his address he quoted from the writings of Mrs. E. G. White concerning Christian education and urged the Seventh-day Adventist Church and the Mt. Klabat college to fulfill these high objectives.

Other speakers on the program were Pastor E. W. Higgins, President, who gave a general history of the Adventist educational system and the development of Mt. Klabat College, and Pastor A. M. Bartlett, President of the East Indonesia Union. Tribute was paid to the faithful workmen and building supervisors, as well as to several of the local citizens who had sold their lands to make this project possible.

After light refreshments were served the college students presented a musical program composed of folk songs from the various parts of Indonesia.

New Treasurer Appointed for East Indonesia Union

FINANCIER. The newly-appointed treasurer of the East Indonesia Union is L. R. Templeton, formerly cashier of the Far Eastern Division in Singapore. He is shown in the photo above with his family. They are now on a furlough in the United States and are expected to take up their new work in Menado, Celebes, about the end of the year. Before coming to the Far East four years ago Mr. Templeton was connected with the business office of the Loma Linda Food Co. in California.

The newly-dedicated building will temporarily serve as offices, classrooms, and chapel until a permanent administration building can be constructed. It will eventually be used for maintenance and vocational arts instruction.

SPEAKER. His Excellency, the Governor of the Sulawesi Utara Province, is shown addressing the faculty and student body of Mt. Klabat College in the newly-erected East Hall.

Classes were first opened at Mt. Klabat College in October 1965. A large house was rented and served as offices, classrooms, boys' dormitory, girls' dormitory, and living quarters for one of the teachers. This place served the first class of 27 students for one school year. During this time land was secured and construction started on three homes for teachers and the maintenance building.

When the new school year opened with a second class being offered, the enrollment went up to 65 with several new teachers added to the staff. The old house was completely inadequate, and temporary dormitories and classrooms were erected on the new land.

The completion of this new building, called East Hall, and the three teachers' homes has marked a new day, not only for Mt. Klabat College, but for the entire Seventh-day Adventist mission program in East Indonesia. The successful completion of these four beautiful new buildings is an indication of the strength of this new college. Adventist young people from all over East Indonesia are looking forward to receiving a Christian education on this campus.

It is not only our own members, however, who are noticing the progress of Mt. Klabat College. The government of the province, as well as the local governments in the area, are taking notice of what is being done and they have openly expressed satisfaction and even pride of accomplishment and progress for this area.

We thank the Lord for what has already been accomplished at Airmedidi, and we pray for His guiding hand as we face the future.

West Indonesia

New Academies in West Indonesia Union

SEVERAL new Academies were opened and put into operation the first part of 1967 in the West Indonesia Union. The need for these institutions was becoming very acute as thousands of new believers throughout Indonesia flocked into our already overcrowded churches. Until the end of 1966 there was only one senior academy outside of Indonesia Union College. This Academy was located in our North Sumatra Mission, and this year it has an enrollment of some 280 young people.

It was early in the year that an academy was opened on the island of Timor to serve the young people of the Nusa Tenggara Mission. For many months we searched for land that would be ideal for such a school. Finally two pieces of property were offered to us as a gift from the Indonesian government if we would only establish a school on them.

GROUP. Here is the East Java Mission Committee and government officials at the site where the new Academy is to be erected. About 25 acres of land has been purchased.

One piece of about 35 acres of land is located in the mountains of Timor on which are located two beautiful springs. It is on this property that our Adventist school is now being built. All the buildings are of a temporary nature, for we have no funds with which to establish permanent structures.

The more than 500 Adventist church members around the area where the school is located came to the school property a few days ago and are now putting up two dormitories, five teacher homes, a dining room and kitchen, and administration building—all for US$ 200.00. At present more than 50 young people are receiving a Christian education at our Timor Academy.

These youth are full of courage and a desire to share their faith. Nootje Sasela, Principal, recently organized the students for evangelistic meetings in the village of Nasikow not far from the school. A bamboo-like tent was erected in which to hold the meetings. Shortly after the series began a crowd of people who did not want the message to be preached in that village tore the building down. Immediately the students were recruited and a larger hall was put up. The meetings continued as scheduled.

The Nusa Tenggara Mission now has almost 1,000 baptized members with some 2,000 Sabbath School members. The need for an academy in this mission has been very acute. We are thankful that this institution has been established and is now operating.

Another new school established February 1, 1967 is the East Java Academy. This school was opened in temporary buildings in Sukeredjo about 50 miles south of Surabaya. Because of the problems involved it was with difficulty that the East Java Mission was able to start the academy this year. Already 24 young people are now receiving a Christian education here.

A few weeks ago we were able to purchase about 25 acres of land three miles north of Lawang in East Java on which to build a permanent academy for our young people of that large mission. Already many more young people are planning to enroll here this coming school year. A master plan is now being drawn up with the hope that a building program can soon begin at this beautiful location.

The East Java Academy, which will be serving some 3,500 church members, is being established in the most populated mission of the West Indonesia Union. Some 40 million people live in this large area. It is our hope that the academy will prove a great help in evangelizing the Javanese people.

The Dojo Baru Academy in West

New Guinea just this year took the first step in becoming a full senior Academy. For the first time the 10th grade was offered with the aim that by 1969 we would have a full senior academy for our young of this huge area of our union field.

This school however is unique in that it does not only offer the regular school subjects, but is also a training ground for ministers and teachers from which the mission must draw their workers. Many young people have already gone into the work from this academy and are proving to be dedicated workers for God.

It is with a great deal of joy and satisfaction that we have seen these new academies established in the West Indonesia Union. We believe they will prove a great blessing to the finishing of the work of God in this land.

Indonesian Government Gives Land for Djakarta Hospital

By Wendell Wilcox, President,
West Indonesian Union

A FEW weeks ago the elder of our Djatinegara Church in Djakarta came into our Union Office with a very unusual proposal from the Indonesian government. The Minister of Health had requested Bro. Manuhutu to contact the Adventist church about the possibility of building a hospital in Djakarta on land along the main boulevard of the city. Bro. Manuhutu, the chairman of the Public Works Department for the city of Djakarta, is acquainted with many of the high officials in the Indonesian government.

One of these acquaintances is the Minister of Health, Dr. G. A. Siwabessy. Dr. Siwabessy had a light heart attack and was in the hospital. Bro. Manuhutu went to visit him and before leaving prayed for the Minister. At the time of this visit something was said about the property along Djalan Thamrin that had been set aside by the government on which a 14-story hospital was supposed to be constructed.

For a number of years nothing had been done on the project since the economic situation did not permit the completion of the hospital building. Now the government felt it was time that something must be done. They decided to turn this project over to some responsible organization that could build and operate a first class medical institution for the capital city of Indonesia.

Dr. Siwabessy had also become acquainted with our medical work through our Bandung Sanitarium and Hospital. He also had heard of our medical work throughout the Far East. Even though several other organizations requested this property along the most traveled highway between the city center and the best residential area of Djakarta, the Minister of Health was determined the property should go to the Adventist church.

Thus after several preliminary visits with the Minister of Health, as well as other government officials and the leader of our work in Indonesia, we were called to Dr. Siwabessy's home on May 1, 1967. Pastor S. F. Sitompul, Secretary of the West Indonesia Union and chairman of our legal association, Frits Ruus, Assistant Treasurer of the West Indonesia Union, and secretary of our legal association and Staa, Director General, Department of Health; Soeripto Soetjodi, Head of the Technical Bureau of the Department of Health.

DELIVERED. Adventist church leaders are shown here signing documents as hospital land in Djakarta, Indonesia becomes church property. Left to right, Bro. the writer with Bro. Manuhutu responded to the request of Dr. Siwabessy. The legal papers were read, explained and signed, making the land legally the property of the Adventist church.

Among those signing the papers on the behalf of the Indonesian Government were Dr. Siwabessy, Minister of Health of the Republic of Indonesia; Major General Dr. Sjarif Thajeb, who is not only a pediatrician, having received his training at Harvard University in the United States, but who is also the vice president of the People's Congress in Indonesia; Dr. K. A. Staa who is the director general of the health department of Indonesia; and Soeripto Soetjodi, the head of the technical bureau of the department of health.

After the papers were signed Pastor S. F. Sitompul, on behalf of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, expressed his appreciation to the government authorities for this most wonderful gift. He also thanked the government for their confidence in the Adventist organization to carry out the desire of the health department. Plans are now being drawn up for a hospital building to be located on this eight acre piece of property 1½ miles from the Djakarta Center on the same beautiful boulevard connecting the residential area at Kebajoran Baru with the city center.

The original hospital project of the government was called "Sari Asih", or "Essence of Love." If it is God's plan let us pray that God will help us build a monument to glorify His name that will reveal the love of Christ to the four million people living in Djakarta.

SEALED. Dr. Siwabessy, Minister of Health of the Indonesian Government, shakes hands with Bro. Monuhutu after signing of land papers.

PUC Band and a Capella Choir Visits Bicolandia

THE Philippine Union College Band and A Capella Choir under the direction of Nestor I. Zamora, Chairman of the Music Department of Philippine Union College, was featured in a very special program to honor those who "showered" the Legaspi Elementary School. This elementary school is now well equipped with new pieces of equipment including dao individual pupil's desks, teacher's tables, chairs, bookcases, Home Economics equipment, playground equipment, and many others. Mrs. A. S. Barizo, chairman of the Shower Committee, worked hard with her committee to obtain this equipment.

The PUC musicians came to Southern Luzon Mission via the Manila South Road, a distance of more than 500 kilometers from Manila, on the two college buses. They stopped at Naga View Academy in Naga City to invite the seniors to attend PUC next school year. They also rendered a special program in behalf of the Academy family.

On Sabbath afternoon, they had a musical-educational rally in Legaspi under the leadership of Prof. A. P. Roda, president of PUC, promoting Christian education and PUC. Several students, including some foreigners from Africa, encouraged our young people to attend PUC. There were many Catholic and Protestant friends who attended the musical which was rendered by the Band and the A Capella Choir.

On Sunday, April 23, the A Capella Choir and PUC Jubilee quartet were featured in a special radio broadcast at Station DZRC in Legaspi City from 8:00—8:30 in the morning. President Roda introduced to the radio audience Nestor I. Zamora, the A Capella Choir, and the PUC Jubilee quartet.

Part of Sunday was used by the group in visiting the tourist spots of Albay including the Buried Church, Mount Mayon Rest House, Tiwi Hot Springs, and other places. This historical trip of the College will not be easily forgotten.

First Graduation at Naga View Academy

By B. B. Alsaybar

THE Naga View Academy, the only Union academy in the Philippines, had its first commencement exercises April 28 to 30. Fourteen seniors received the high school diploma from Pastor A. A. Poblete, Principal.

A boarding school where literally everybody works, it is located on a 261-acre site 850 feet high on the slope of Mt. Isarog 15 kilometers from Naga City. It is the school in the Philippines that comes closest to the Adventist ideal for a school as outlined in the writings of E. G. White. A month's expense is Ps. 55.00 (US$14.10), Ps.45.00 of which is paid in cash and Ps.10.00 in labor credit. This takes care of dormitory rent, tuition, and board. Every student works at least 10 hours a week.

When the doors were opened in July, 1965 to the first three years of high school a total of 62 students enrolled. Last year there were 103. Principal Poblete and his faculty are looking forward to a much bigger enrollment next year.

PUC Celebrates Golden Anniversary

By B. B. Alsaybar, Public Relations Secretary, North Philippine Union

PROGRESS through Unity and Consecration — this was the theme of the golden anniversary celebration of the Philippine Union College which was held from April 11 to 13.

Progress indeed has been achieved in many ways since the school opened its doors as the Philippine Seventh-day Adventist Academy in Pasay, Rizal on June 12, 1917 to 36 students, the boys outnumbering the girls two to one. The school then was a frame building on a 5-acre lot made of secondhand lumber which had been used in a government carnival. Oddly enough, the flooring of the school came from a large dance hall which had closed shop.

VISITOR. Dr. L. M. Stump, first president of the school as Philippine Union College, flew in with his wife from the United States to attend the 50th anniversary celebration. Here he is addressing the opening convocation on April 11.

L. V. Finster, an American missionary who came to the islands on December 17, 1908, is credited for having conceived the idea of establishing a school which is now Philippine Union College, the denomination's largest school outside of North America. After several years of evangelistic labors in Manila a total of 16 converts were organized into the first Seventh-day Adventist Church in the country. That was in Santa Ana, Manila in 1911. As the years went by more converts were being won, the majority of them young people. In 1914, A. G. Daniells, President of the General Conference, paid a visit to the Philippines, giving Pastor Finster opportunity to present the need for a school. Not long after his return to the United States, Pastor Daniells sent word that the amount of $6,500 had been appropriated for a school. This news was received with much rejoicing.

The first principal of the school was Professor Irwin Steinel. In 1925 the academy was upgraded to Philippine Junior College with Professor Oliver Fisk Sevrens as president. In 1933 it gained senior college status. In 1957 it was authorized to open up a school of graduate studies. Today 1,800 students, not only from the Philippines but also from some 15 other countries including the United States and three nations in Africa, are enrolled from the first grade to the graduate school in the present 64-acre campus in Baesa, Caloocan City.

CEREMONY. A golden anniversary tree was planted by Mrs. Lydia F. Roda, with President A. P. Roda and Elizabeth Granada looking on, surrounded by a group of students.

INTERVIEW. Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Stump and daughter Betty were interviewed on Channel 7 by Leon O. Ty, a local radio-TV man, on the golden anniversary celebration. He also asked many questions on fundamental beliefs and world-wide activities of the Adventist church.

Some 1,600 graduates have gone out of the portals of PUC. More than 120 have gone out as foreign missionary teachers, treasurers, nurses, doctors, medical technologists, and evangelists to such places as Hong Kong, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia, Pakistan, Taiwan, Japan, and even as far as Libya in Africa.

today) has been regarded in denominational circles as a phenomenon and this is credited largely to the system of schools we maintain, the capstone of which is PUC. The staffs of the five Adventist hospitals in the Philippines are composed mostly of PUC graduates. It is the same with one other college, 14 high schools, and some 150 elementary and church schools. Her role in the promotion of world missions is bound to increase as the membership in the school's "United Nations" is increasing every year.

"A distinct asset to the nation," a visiting senator said once of PUC. The school leaders are determined not only to live up to this accolade but also to have her play a greater role in the realization of a finished task, aware of the shortness of time and that there'll be no more second golden anniversaries to celebrate.

INTERVIEW. President A. P. Roda, President of Philippine Union College, was interviewed in his office by Leony de Guzman of Delta Broadcasting Co. It was a live interview by telephone and lasted for 30 minutes.

Philippine Union College Marks Golden Jubilee with Dedication of Nursing Education Building

By P. G. Miller, former Dean of Faculties

THE year 1967 marks an important milestone in the history of Philippine Union College. It was in the year 1917 that the Pasay Academy, the forerunner of Philippine Union College, was founded. The fifty years that have ensued have witnessed great growth in "The School that Trains for Service."

The year 1967 has been set aside for special services to commemorate the Golden Jubilee of Philippine Union College. One chapel period is designated each month for the presentation of some phase of the college's growth and development. The main celebration of the Golden Jubilee theme occurred April 11-13. One of the highlights of this three-day celebration was the dedication of the new Nursing Education Building. The financing of the construction of this newest building on the campus of Philippine Union College was a joint undertaking of the nurses' alumni and the college. This two-story building provides offices for the School of Nursing, a lecture room, a nursing arts laboratory, as well as other needed facilities.

SOON to join the increasing number of foreign missionaries from the Philippines are five young nurses at the Manila Sanitarium and Hospital. Three of them are pictured above. They are Ruth Abejar and Aurora Bobila, who will connect with the Youngberg Memorial Hospital, and Myrna Lagonera, who will join the Far Eastern Island Medical Clinic on Guam. Not in the picture are Consolacion Barruga and Feliza Tortal, both going to the Youngberg Memorial Hospital.

The nursing students constitute the largest single group on the campus, and it is only fitting that their contribution to all phases of campus life should be recognized in this way. D. B. Salmin, Dean of the School of Nursing, led out in the fund-raising drive. The ribbon-cutting ceremony was preceded by a dedication message delivered by Dr. Gottfried Oosterwal. To conclude the program a shower for the new building yielded many useful gifts.

Mountain View College Grows

By Bien Capule, Assistant
Business Manager

THE tragic fire at Mountain View College in 1962 which destroyed the engineering department, the corn and rice mill, the food factory, and warehouse, gave birth to a new day in the building program of the school.

During the pioneering days lumber was readily available, since adjacent to the 1,324 hectares of school property is the forest concession of 8,000 hectares. A saw mill was constructed, due largely to the ingenuity of Dr. William Richli, which provided a daily capacity of 3,000 or 4,000 board feet of lumber for college use. Thus all of the buildings were constructed of wood. However, since that time a hollow block machine has been purchased and a regular crew assigned to this industry. Their production capacity is 700 to 1,000 blocks per day, thus all new buildings are of a more permanent nature.

There is a very active building program going on which includes a new engineering building that takes care of all maintenance—automotive, electrical, metal, mechanical, etc. This building houses a machine shop, a stand-by generator, a drafting room, a spacious classroom, and commodious working space. Just opposite from this is a new garage with seven compartments for vehicles. The repair and maintenance of equipment is handled very efficiently because of the location. Immediately adjacent to the engineering building is a large stockroom and storage building which accommodates all tools, construction, and miscellaneous supplies. The needs of all industrial departments can be taken care of in a systematic way from this central distribution center.

Another building is nearing completion—the food factory. Inspired by one of the most respected veteran workers of the denomination, Dr. Harry W. Miller, this building has been constructed to be a center for the production of health foods in the Philippines. A thirty horsepower boiler for this plant is now being installed. It is our aim to inaugurate this important industry in the near future when Dr. Miller expects to visit the college.

The most important part of any school is its dedicated faculty and staff. The housing problem at Mountain View College has never been so acute as it is today. Even garages and condemned buildings are presently occupied by staff members. In view of the extreme shortage of housing facilities to provide adequate accommodations for our ever-growing teaching force, plans have been made for at least two more housing units, thanks to the Far Eastern Division. The first house will be ready for occupancy by the middle of March when the newly elected Academic Dean and his family arrive.

The largest of all the new projects is the cafeteria building now under construction. The dining area with a floor space of 6,000 square feet is designed to accommodate as many as 600 students at one time. Ordinarily a dining room such as this is used only three times a day. This building, however, has a dual purpose. In order to use this hall to maximum advantage, a modern library will be constructed adjacent to the dining hall with adjoining doors between. The dining hall, with its tables, and chairs, will be converted to a library study room between mealtimes. The college is deeply grateful to the Division for making a large appropriation so we might have this much needed building.

Thank God for all who have had a part in the growth of the work on the hilltop and in making this school truly a "School of the Light."

Davao Mission President Reports at First General Meeting

WE ascribe to God the honor and glory for what He has wrought in the Davao Mission during its first and second years of operation. The Lord blessed the workers and laymen in a very special manner during the past two years.

Shortly after the division of the old Southern Mindanao Mission the new Davao Mission came into existence. Our brief history records a phenomenal increase in membership, a wonderful growth of church-

Addition to Miller Sanitarium and Hospital

BUILDING. The picture here shows another important addition to the ever-expanding program of the Miller Sanitarium and Hospital, Cebu City, Philippines. It is named Mary Miller Hall in honor of Mrs. Harry W. Miller, after whom the hospital is named. The addition of the new building will help solve much of the hospital's acute need for housing and space for other activities. The second floor provides two apartments for families and four spacious rooms to accommodate at least 18 single ladies and a guest room. The first floor is used for services such as sewing and linen, duplicating and office of the hospital publications, stockroom for supplies, carpentry, and maintenance. Two rest room facilities are provided on the first floor for interns and young men. This new building is made possible through funds of the hospital, a donation of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Miller, and from public solicitation.

es and companies, very encouraging financial receipts, a very short drive in reaching the Ingathering goals, a marvelous sale of literature, and providential dealings of the Almighty God in sparing us from much suffering and calamity brought about by the cruel visitations of the elements.

At the start of January, 1965 there were 54 organized churches and 63 companies with a total membership of 5,421. As of December, 1966, with God's hand upon the work, we have a total baptized membership of 6,732. To answer the need of these believers in the Davao Mission, we have 10 district leaders in our mission fields and 14 in our mission headquarters. We have also 16 teachers in our church schools and 17 in the secondary level. We have 44 literature evangelists. Of the 125 churches and companies under our supervision, we have organized four companies into churches last year, making a total of 58 organized churches.

As a result of the joint efforts of our workers and lay members, we have conducted one major effort, 10 longer evangelistic efforts, 13 short evangelistic meetings and 59 spearhead meetings. We baptized 433 as a direct result of these efforts. With all the departments of our work and the laity working together, we baptized 1,363 souls during the two-year period.

The tithe income as of December, 1966 was Ps.189,973.40, an increase of Ps.16,915.11 over the year 1965. Surely the Lord is blessing our people in spite of economic problems and different natural calamities which have visited some parts of our mission territory.

The liberality of our Sabbath School members was measured by their love in giving Sabbath School offerings which amounted to Ps. 34,918.51 in 1966, an increase of Ps.3,813.74 over 1965.

The years 1965 and 1966 began and ended with series of especially planned and organized Laymen's Training Institutes with the able assistance of Pastor J. A. Corpus, our local Lay Activities Secretary. Nine successful institutes were conducted in the entire mission. More than 300 laymen attended the institutes and 270 were awarded certificates. The special emphasis in these pilot schools was on the "how" of soul-winning.

It is interesting to see that the Davao Mission raised Ps.22,600.52 during one week in 1965, an overflow of Ps.5,600.52, the highest in the history of the South Philippine Union. In 1966 we raised Ps. 25,540.56 in less than one week. This gain of Ps.5,540.56 was the largest in the Union.

Because of our love for our children and youth, we did our best to maintain our schools and establish more. In 1965 we had 12 church schools with an enrollment of 586; in 1966 we had 14 schools with an enrollment of 770. Three of these are accredited. During this two-year period 167 precious children have been baptized.

Our publishing department showed a very interesting trend during this period. The total deliveries for 1965 was Ps.81,040.56, and in 1966 Ps.103,974.54. Our hearts are made glad to know that the angels of the Lord are guiding and watching our colporteurs.

The following will be our plans for the future:

1. To evangelize towns and barrios in our territory.

2. To train members for active participation in missionary exploits.
3. Introduce effective means to increase tithes and offerings.
4. To hold revival meetings and communion services in every church possible.

—A. A. Villarin

Added to this was the fact that there were only 12 weeks in which to work. But they reckoned without God.

To inspire the other classes to greater effort the officers' class set a personal goal of 200 pesos. Suggestion of projects, encouragements, and challenges to greater effort were given to the classes.

Different projects were begun. Bread and other tasty delights were baked, fruit and vegetables set apart, eggs laid on the Sabbath dedicated, a purebred dog given, shoes shined, hair cut, member's time offered for work, and many

Mountain View Raises Record Amounts For 13th Sabbath Offering

THE Mountain View College Sabbath School members felt a special burden to do their best in promoting the first quarter, 1967, Thirteenth Sabbath Overflow offering. A portion of this offering will be used by the college to construct and equip a much-needed science building. They felt convicted that unless the members gave unreservedly of themselves and their means, they would be neglecting their duty to uphold the world-wide work. Without this dedication it was believed that they could not expect God's Spirit to touch the hearts of Sabbath School members around the world to rally their support behind the quarter's projects.

Sensing a challenge from the children's divisions, the officers of the senior division decided to set a goal of 1,000 pesos. When this plan was revealed to the teachers, and it was realized that each class would have to reach 50 pesos, the response was unanimous—"It's impossible!" This was only a reasonable human reaction, especially when it was remembered that the senior division goal was much more than was ever reached by the entire Sabbath School in one quarter.

FLOAT. During a Pathfinder Parade on the campus of Mountain View College the Sabbath School presented a float featuring the Sabbath School program around the world. It won first prize. Notice the appeal for a strong 13th Sabbath Overflow offering on March 25.

more. Typical was the experience of Lenna Diaz, a member of the junior division who made and sold ice candy, helped prepare halo-halo (a sweetened chipped-ice, fruit and vegetable treat) and earned money doing odd jobs.

When the final tally was taken on March 25, what a victory was wrought! Prayers of thanksgiving ascended to God for His blessings. The total overflow offering amounted to 3,045 pesos—over five pesos a member! (It is especially worth noting that five pesos is much more than the average daily wage of Filipinos.)

It is our hope that around the world God's people were moved, as were the members of our Sabbath School, that the work of the Gospel can be strengthened in this corner of the world and the coming of our Saviour hastened.

—Dr. Allan R. Magie, Sabbath School Superintendent, Mountain View Church
