Some Observations

This number of the HERALD speaks for our own schools in our own Union. It is not an attack on the public schools. It is not a criticism of any far-away schools or others. It is an appeal to our people to give their children a Christian training and to support the educational institutions right in our midst. How can parents send their children to worldly schools when they may have a school of their own if they will? Why should our youth of academy age leave Wisconsin, for instance, when we have two excellent academies in ence. Last year we had 132 church schools, one-third as many schools as churches. There are churches so small that they have not children for a school. A few churches are so scattered that the children cannot possibly meet in one school. But these are the exceptions. We ought to have at least twice as many church schools in this Union as we have. Some churches that have schools are poorer than those that have no schools.

Compulsory military training is becoming more and more common in every state. It is but a question of that state? Why should anyone desiring a college education go outside of this field when our own College is fully equal to the best college on earth?

"True education means more than the perusal of a certain course of study. It means more than a preparation for the life that now is. It has to do with the whole being, and with the whole period of existence possible to man. It is the harmonious development of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual powers. It prepares the student for the joy of service in this world, and for the higher joy of wider service in the world to come. Our ideas of education take too narrow and too low a range. There is need of a broader scope, a higher aim." This "higher aim" is the one purpose of our schools.

There are 384 churches in the Lake Union Confer-a few years at the most till we will have it everywhere. The Board of Education in Chicago has unanimously adopted the plan, and 175,000 boys and young men will receive some kind of military training in the Chicago high schools this coming year. Can Adventist parents send their children to high schools or other schools where they are compelled to drill as soldiers? Is this the way we should prepare for Armageddon?

Last year we had 145 church school teachers in this Union. Nearly all of these did faithful, efficient work. Now at the beginning of another school year we are greatly in need of more teachers. There are nearly forty churches in this Union that would establish a church school for the first time. We lack the teachers. Do you realize that this means that between 400 and 500 children will attend the public schools because we are short of church school teachers? Our church school teachers are better paid now than ever before. Nearly all our schools teach nine months. We appeal to our young men and women who teach in the world to enlist as Christian teachers.

The Emmanuel Missionary College at Berrien Springs stands for Christian education in true gospel simplicity. The school has an ideal location out in the country, but on a good trolley line. It owns a large farm and is strong in manual training. We know of no other college where young men and women with limited means have as good opportunity to gain a Christian education as at Berrien Springs. Last year the school gave nearly $20,000 worth of work to the students. The Christian education which the College gives is not an inferior training. The school is recognized by the Michigan University at Ann Arbor. This university which is one of the best in the world accepts the work and credits of our College.

ACADEMY PRINCIPALS AND OTHER EDUCATIONAL WORKERS

It is a large and costly task that of giving all our children a thorough training in our own schools. We never can succeed in this unless parents and other patrons are honest in paying their bills to the schools. It is just as much the duty of a man to pay for his child's education as it is to pay his bills at the store or any other account. If any bills should be settled promptly month by month it is the tuition for our children. We believe that even those who have no children should pay toward our schools. Every member of the church should contribute toward the church schools. Some have held that those who have no children of their own should pay more than those who have children.

The other evening when buying a ticket, I noticed that the agent was a young man whom I knew as a boy. Some years ago a certain brother in this Union had a great deal to say about the many neglected children who could not go to our own schools. Contrary to the advice of his brethren, he began a private school on a farm which he had bought or rented. He invited young men and women to come and work for an education. We advised against it. But some people had little faith in our own schools so they supported this private enterprise. After a short time they found that the young people were working for this man rather than getting an education for themselves. In the course of time the school broke up. The young people scattered, and, as far as I know, all but one left the truth. The man who started the school is today a confirmed critic. I do not know why. He made money out of the enterprise. Seeing the ticket agent made me think of the school as he was one of the students. Our people should never send their children to an independent, private Adventist school.

Preparedness

"With such an army as our youth rightly trained might furnish, how soon the message of a crucified, risen, and soon-coming Saviour might be carried to all the world."

Probably no statement from the spirit of prophecy is more often quoted by speaker and writer than the paragraph just read. I have placed the emphasis upon the words "rightly trained." I believe it belongs there. It is our youth who have been rightly trained who in the strength of Israel's God are to volunteer for enlistment in the army of Prince Emmanuel, taking their marching orders from their Captain, and pressing the battle on to victory.

Preparedness is in the air. Platform, press, and pulpit vie with each other in proclaiming the doctrine. Both of the great political parties have espoused the cause. The nation is positively committed to the propaganda. This sentiment is found not alone in America. It is world wide. The nations at peace are preparing for war, while the nations at war are preparing for more war. The inevitable struggle is before the nations—Armageddon. They must prepare.

The children of this world are wiser than the children of light. Little do we sense the cataclysm into which even this nation will be plunged. But, unconsciously, perhaps, the nation is preparing.

God's mighty appeal to His church at this time is to prepare. "Prepare to meet thy God, O Israel." This is the bugle call which should stir every believer. Every church should be a recruiting station; every school a training center; every camp ground a military camp where the soldiers of the King are inspired to deeds of valor.

"There are two ways for travelers"; two motives, two standards, two kinds of training, two objects in life, two rewards. An eternity will be spent some where. Where your boy and your girl spend eternity depends in large degree upon where they train. Military training is coming into the public schools. It is a part of the program of preparedness. It is significant that while the National Educational Association one year ago turned down the proposition, the same assembly of teachers this year by a large majority expressed itself in favor of military training in the public schools. Where do you want your boy? Taking a course of training which will prepare him to perform his part in the battle of Armageddon, or training in one of our Christian training schools—church school, academy, college—to fight the battles of the Lord and to win the sure victory which is to come to Him that rideth upon the white horse having a name written, "King of kings and Lord of lords?"

Never was there manifested a keener interest in the cause of Christian education than today. Never were there more of our children and young people in our own schools than today. Never were there so many calls for consecrated church school teachers as today. But we are only half awake.

Our eyes are only half open. Satan is stealing a march on us in spite of our watchfulness. Almost one-half of our boys and girls in the Lake Union Conference are preparing for the world's work and to fight its battles. It is only the youth who are "rightly trained" who can successfully carry this message.

One day the trilling question will be heard, "Where is thy flock that was given thee, thy beautiful flock?" May the answer be of each father, mother, teacher, who reads these lines, "Here am I and the children whom Thou hast given me."

Emmanuel Missionary College

Questions and Answers

1. Is Emmanuel Missionary College well located?

The school is most beautifully located on a large farm in the fruit belt of Michigan, twelve miles from Lake Michigan, and about one hundred miles from Chicago.

A navigable river, a beautiful brook, constantly flowing springs, extensive orchards, fields of grain, and shady woods are to be found on the College farm, and help to make Emmanuel Missionary College a delightful place for the lover of nature and nature's God.

2. Is the school equipped to do good college work?

The College library contains over 6,000 volumes, and the laboratories have passed the requirements for a standard college.

3. Are the teachers men and women of experience?

The teachers are not only well qualified to do good thorough work, but have had broad experience in educational work both in this country and in foreign fields. They have spent, on an average, thirteen years as teachers.

4. Does the school offer liberal scholarship rates?

Sale of $275 worth of books gives $168.43 credit on school expenses.

Sale of $235 worth of books gives $144.00 credit on school expenses.

Sale of $200 worth of books gives $122.50 credit on school expenses.

5. Is the College free from debt so that it can use its surplus funds in strengthening the school instead of paying interest?

The $45,000 debt was paid during the past two years as the result of a movement started by the students, and hereafter $1,800 a year formerly paid for interest can be used in strengthening and better equipping the school.

6. Is the school in position to offer students opportunity to work part of their way through school?

From $10,000 to $15,000 worth of work is given to students each year.

7. Is there a missionary spirit in the school?

The students and teachers engage in various kinds of missionary work. Among others, meetings are being held in surrounding schoolhouses and churches. A number of people have accepted the truth as the result of this work.

Nearly one-half of the school are volunteers for work in foreign lands.

8. Is the school accredited.

Emmanuel Missionary College has recently been inspected and investigated by the officials of the University of Michigan, and both its academic and college work has been accredited with that institution.

While we very much appreciate having our work recognized as up to standard, we realize that it is of first importance to be accredited of God, and that all our work and activities may be in harmony with His will.

The Efficient Minister

The world today is calling for and following the specialist, the man of efficiency, the "plusman." There is an insistent demand for the best in everything. The days are gone when men were satisfied with half-trained service.

In our work of preaching the gospel, we must meet this demand and answer the challenge of progress. We cannot afford to let the world be wiser in its gen-the experience gained in actual practice in the Young Men's Seminar, the Ministerial Band, and the Bible Worker's Band. It is planned to give credits in the ministerial courses for acceptable field work. Order and system will enter into all this line of work, but not to a degree to deaden the voice of the divine call to the ministry.

Young men, whom God is calling to minister in word, do not answer the call in a haphazard way. Determine to do the best you can do, and that is the best anyone can do. Just as sure as the call is yours for the answering, the preparation is yours for the getting. E. M. C. is looking for you.

How Meet This Need?

Often, as those who are watching the growth of the church school work and carrying the burden of the salvation of the children upon their hearts meet to talk over plans, this question has been asked, "How can we meet this need?"

The Lord has told us that we should work for the children as for their lives, and the salvation of the children is worth infinitely more than saving their lives for this world. What parent if he saw his child in danger would not willingly risk his own life that he might save his boy.

Many parents who are burdened for their children and are doing their best to place them in Christian schools, are told there are not enough teachers to supply the demand for schools already established, to say nothing of supplying them for new ones. But, must the children be lost?

Parents, are there not young people in your church, consecrated Christian young people, who should enter this most important branch of the Lord's work? Can you not help them to get the necessary training? Do they need words of encouragement? Surely you can help. Do they need financial aid? The Lord has said concerning the duty of the church,—"When they see those in the church who give promise of making useful workers, but who are unable to support themselves in the school, they should assume the responsibility of sending them to one of our training schools."—"Counsels to Teachers," page 69.

"God requires that the church arouse from her lethargy and see what is the manner of service demanded of her at this time of peril. The lambs of the flock must be fed. The Lord of heaven is looking on to see who is doing the work He would have done for the children and youth."—Id., page 42. Page 44, "Many should fit themselves as teachers that others may be eration than the children of light. If ever it could be done, the time is now past when a minister could use his English carelessly, preach dry-as-dust sermons, forget to brush his clothes, and still expect to make a success.

The ministry, the first and most important of the gifts to the church of God, is in crying need of many more able speakers and all-round apostles. Our schools provide extension courses of the best theological seminary this world has ever seen, that of Christ, the only Doctor of Divinity, and His disciples as students. As schools of the prophets of the last days, they provide the training place and the tarrying time of preparedness for the latter rain.

Emmanuel Missionary College is especially fitted for the development of ministerial talent. Beginning this year, a special department of the school will be devoted to this work. The training in the Bible and public speaking classes is to be closely correlated with trained and disciplined for the great work of the future."

Young men and women, does not this call appeal to you? Will you not respond if the Lord has bestowed upon you the gift of teaching?

As we are looking forward making plans for the coming year's work, the Normal Department of E. M. C. invites you and a hearty welcome awaits you.

Rebuilding Zion

What are you doing, dear reader, to entitle you to be called "a repairer of the breach, a restorer of paths to dwell in"? Did you ever stop to think that as a member of Christ's church you are a part of Zion? Did it ever come to your mind that every family of believers goes to make up that mighty city of God, and that He has committed to His people on earth the duty of keeping the walls and bulwarks of Zion and making them secure? What are you doing, dear parents, to make the walls and bulwarks secure about your children and youth? Are you perfectly content to let them wander in and out as it seems good to them, never having much care if they make their associates the people of the world, their schoolmates the children of the world, their teachers the teachers of the world? not only belonging to the world, but teaching worldly things as opposed to righteous things.

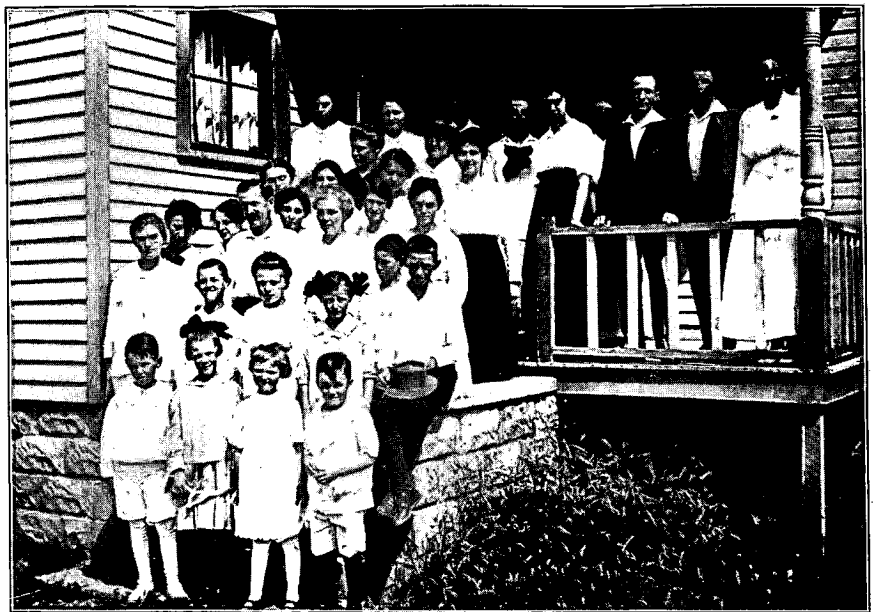

Have you built that section of the wall of Jerusalem which is opposite your house? Is there a breach in the wall near your door, or have you closed up the avenues and openings where the enemy can get in and spoil your loved ones?

Parents, what do you figure you are going to do with that boy, anyhow? Going to give him an education so he can take a portion of your farm or buy the forty next to you and settle down where you can enjoy his society for the next twenty-five or fifty years? What are you calculating on that girl of yours? Going to fix her up for some Gentile to come along sometime and lug off to some near-by farm or a far-off city with no God given plan that embraces the future world?

God calls upon you to help build again the waste places. He requires us to keep watch and ward over His heritage, the children. Are we doing so unless we build every hedge about them that lies in our power? But you say it costs money to send the children to school. Does it cost as much as the tears and heartaches and sadness of losing them from Zion? "We must sacrifice so much if we send our children to school," say you? Would you sacrifice if they had typhoid fever, or a broken leg? Of course you would. How about it if they have a broken view of life, or feverish ambitions that will lead them away from the city of God just as surely as water flows down hill? Death in this case may be for some time deferred, but it will come, and the horrible part of it is that this is the second death. Not all who get into our schools escape from their lost condition, not all learn to even desire to escape; but if you place your children in our schools it is one more of the gaps that parents can build up in the wall about their children, one more effort that God delights to honor in trying to raise your children for Him.

By the way, do you believe that God really ever told us to build these schools? What for? to stand empty? For whose children were men moved to erect these building; for those who know not the message and do not desire to know it? No indeed, but for your boys and your girls, that He has asked you to train for Him.

We talk of the second year of the great war, and the third year of the war and so on. God is warning us by the waxing old of this old world, by calamity and distress, by untold and increasing wickedness on every hand, that we are soon to enter the very last year of our war in the army of Emmanuel. Shall we rally for the struggle? Shall we leave no stone unturned that might build up the wall about our youth? Shall we place our all upon the altar of sacrifice and above all shall we endeavor by every opportunity within our grasp to place our children under the most favorable conditions for advancement in the Christian life? God wants them all for His army. He will never "draft" them. All must be "volunteers" or nothing. Parents, some of those boys and girls would be volunteers but you are holding them back. "Mamma would be lonesome without daughter," and "Papa never could run the farm without son."

Just go on in the old way a little longer and mamma will get on without daughter and father without son, in a combination and partnership wholly foreign to any plan God ever had for your children. Better trade off a horse or a chunk of ground or a couple of steers; better go without that new car or harvester if necessary and send the lad or the lassie to school. May God arouse our people to their duty now.

INDIANA TEACHERS

Indiana Educational Work

The educational work in Indiana was encouraging in many ways the past year. The advancement was due to the hearty cooperation of the parents and the work of our faithful teachers. The school board and patrons of nearly every school have asked for the same teacher to return this fall.

Two new schools were established. One in Terre Haute and the other in Maxwell. Both churches were highly pleased with the success of these schools during the past year, and are planning to continue them.

A large number finished the eighth grade last year. We hope these young people will go to Beechwood this fall.

The Lord has blessed our work in a remarkable way. From one Junior Society thirteen boys and girls were buried with their Lord in baptism. This will be an encouragement to parents who send their children to a Christian school. The Lord does work mightily when we obey Him.

CAROLYN RASMUSSEN

Important Notice

Due to a misunderstanding in our negotiations with the Indianapolis Park Board, the wrong information was given out as to the location of our camp ground. We were granted the same portion of Brookside Park we had last year and not the park proper. In one way this is disappointing, as we shall be several blocks from the car line, but the grounds will be much more pleasant, as you will remember there is plenty of shade whereas in the park proper there is very little if any.

We are also making an entire change in the arrangement of the camp this year, and one which will afford many more advantages to the brethren and sisters than were to be had at our last meeting. The young people will be delighted with the location of their tent. We trust all will be present for the meeting of welcome, Friday at 6 A. M.

To reach the camp, take an East Tenth Street car, get off at Oakland Avenue, and walk three blocks north, which will bring you right to the grounds.

Remember we have the same grounds as last year, and that you get off the car at Oakland Avenue, and do not ride to the end of the line.

Fourteenth Sabbath

We have the unusual occurrence of having a fourteenth Sabbath this quarter and an unusual object for which our Sabbath schools are to contribute on that day. Twenty-five thousand dollars is wanted to send the missionaries who are under appointment for distant fields.

The missions quarterly is a unique one containing as it does the large list of more than one hundred twenty-five workers bound for Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, and the islands of the sea. The back cover page and the red line map accompanying the quarterly, are indeed thrilling, indicating the departure of these workers, and the various courses they take to help finish God's closing work.

But this must be a matter of more than sentiment. Doubtless it has been with the dear brethren and sisters who have answered the calls—"Come over and help us."

Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Patchett, teachers from Beechwood Academy, are appointed to South Africa, to continue school work.

Now Indiana has set its stake to send this couple, which will require about one thousand dollars to land them at Cape Town. We trust that all our Sabbath schools will take hold of this enterprise with commendable energy which knows no defeat. It should be no task to the Indiana Sabbath schools to raise the amount needed. If the more than two hundred isolated people will also contribute their portion, just think what a small undertaking, yet how splendid! Some of our schools are zealous in this sort of work. The four here in Indianapolis, give about four hundred dollars each thirteenth Sabbath, and two of them are small schools. Surely the other fifty or more could easily raise the other six hundred. Quite a number of our Indianapolis children earned more than a dollar each, for last thirteenth Sabbath, and they are in their campaign again, saving gifts and earning money for September thirty.

Indiana has done well having reached the "honorable mention" list, her Sabbath school gifts averaging ten cents per member, but "there is more beyond." We must reach fifteen cents if we attain the desired height, which is the "honor roll." There is no dizzy plain in this sort of climbing. May God move upon each heart to decide early what he shall give and lay plans accordingly. There will be need of some large gifts, and all the small ones as well.

Why Is It?

Why did one hundred twenty young men and young women enroll in our academy last year? Why is it that whereas the enrollment of 1912-13 was eighty seven, which at that time was considered higher than we could expect regularly, that the following year there were ninety-five students enrolled in spite of the curtailment of the commercial department, and the next year one hundred ten, which during the past year was increased to one hundred twenty? Why is it that during this same period the people of East Michigan spent considerable money in providing additional equipment, and at the same time raised the $14,000 debt which had rested on the institution since its origin? Why is it that whereas comparatively few of the earlier graduating classes went on to take advanced work that now practically every one finishing the work offered at the Adelpian Academy either enters directly into our organized work, or goes to the College and takes advanced work? Why is it that our young men eagerly organize themselves into a ministerial band and a canvassers' band, and the young ladies into Bible workers' and literature bands?

We shall leave these questions with the reader for full answer, with this suggestion: The growth of this school is but one evidence of the change that is coming in the attitude of our parents and young people toward our work. The time has passed when loyal Seventh-day Adventists believe that it is right for our young people to settle down on farms and in shops and spend their talents in doing the world's work. The truth is breaking upon our understandings that our young people must work to save others if they are to save themselves. The world and its work will go on—on to final destruction—regardless of whether or not we assist. The fact that we know the present truth places us under solemn obligation to make the giving of that message our business, and our whole business.

When God has moved upon His people to rally to the support of His school and to equip it and free it from debt; when He has brought together a band of consecrated and efficient instructors to properly man it; when He has heralded a call far and wide for our young people to volunteer for service,—when God has thus moved out before us, shall we longer delay to follow?

The Adelpian Academy offers splendid opportunities at a cost within the reach of all. To those interested we will promptly mail a copy of the illustrated calendar, explaining the work of the next school year, which opens September 5, 1916.

EAST MICHIGAN TEACHERS

Educational Work

"When children fail, it is the older generation who are responsible." Couple with this "The youth placed under your care you must meet again around the great white throne. You must at that day meet the great consequences of your work." What a privilege to be connected with a work in which all heaven is interested. The burden should roll upon us until we know no rest, until every boy and girl in the church has his plans directed safely toward the goal.

The great world-wide commission, "The advent message to all the world in this generation," suggests the greatest, grandest enterprise in which to enlist the boys and girls of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The East Michigan young people have never failed in reaching their goals set for them by the General Department, but the Lord has higher standards to which they may aspire; for we learn, "Higher than the highest human thought can reach is God's ideal for His children."

A woman not long ago said to me, "How does it happen that so many of your young people enter Christian work? Do you have them sign a contract when they enter school?" "Far from that," I replied, "you see we teach them the Bible, including the gospel to be preached to all the world in this generation and we leave the compelling power and influence of this message to do the work. When the call comes there is always some one to say 'Here am I, send me.'"

We are glad to know that in East Michigan there is a sentiment sweeping over the young people to enter gospel work, and we feel that our Christian schools have a great influence in bringing about these conditions. At one time we had more young people dedicating their lives to public school teaching than any other one conference in the United States. Today the tide is turned, and these young people are catching the spirit of service and sacrifice which is making it possible for us to extend our influence and do aggressive work in new centers. In the older schools, better work is being planned, better buildings constructed, and better equipment installed.

Another school year has passed into eternity, another balance sheet will soon be disclosed in the books of heaven; a new year is before us when new records will be made. The Lord has dealt bountifully with us in East Michigan, it has been a year of growth and progress. May the coming year be one of heart searching, a turning of the children's hearts to the parents, and the hearts of parents to the children. We who labor with the young have no other business than to turn the souls of the younger ones toward right standards.

"One ship goes east and another west
By the selfsame winds that blow,
'Tis the set of the sail and not the gale
That determines the way they go.
Like the winds of the sea are the ways of fate
As we voyage along through life,
'Tis the set of the soul that decides the goal
And not the calm or the strife."

Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, for several years one of our faithful Bible workers, left Holly, the 10th for New York City, whence she sailed two days later for Porto Rico, to engage in missionary work. The best wishes of all the laborers and her many other friends go with Sister Wright as she goes to take up work in a mission field.

Mr. H. W. Johnson, the secretary-treasurer of the newly-organized North Wisconsin Conference, is in Holly for a few days, packing his household goods and preparing to move to his new field of labor. It will seem strange not to have Brother Johnson and family with us, but we doubt not that they will enjoy labor in Wisconsin again.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Goff are leaving this week for Berrien Springs. Brother Goff expects to attend E. M. College this year.

Our student canvassers are sending in their orders for books and preparing to close up their work for this year. Their efforts have been appreciated, and we trust they may have successful deliveries.

We are glad to learn of several of mature years who are planning to enter the canvassing field just about the time the students leave for school. People are fairly prosperous at present, and, even if they were not, they need our literature; so we hope to see much of it distributed in the conference.

Elder Clark speaks in the Park here at Holly, Wednesday of this week under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. A special meeting is being held, and we trust much good may be done.

Body, Mind, and Soul

"Lo, children are an heritage of the Lord." Psa. 127:3. He has given them to us to rear and train for Him. He expects us to care for body and mind and soul. We are to make good use of every opportunity He gives us, and seek to cooperate with Him in making more opportunities for their betterment. Here, more perhaps than anywhere else, is it important that we "make first things first." Our children must be prepared for heavenly citizenship and incidentally they are to be the truest and noblest citizens of our earthly country.

An everyday training in the things of God, not only in the school but also in the home, is of vital importance. The training of each should supplement the other. Because parents do not, and perhaps cannot, give this training alone, and because the state should not give it, we must have the Christian school for, "All thy children shall be taught of the Lord" and the happy result is, "Great shall be the peace of thy children."

We must not only develop their minds and souls but we must not forget their bodies. Bodies do not take care of themselves. The world has a right to expect in our children not only the cleanest and brightest minds but the healthiest bodies. Our children themselves have a right to expect this for we have advanced light on the subject of health. They must be taught to cooperate in the means used to maintain health. We have instruction on how to properly nourish the body. Since God has taken the pains to "number the hairs of our head" He must have a great deal of interest in these bodies of ours. He has told us they are His "temple" or dwelling place.

We take great pains in having our rooms clean and bright to receive some distinguished guest. How much more should this be true of the dwelling place of God! How important that children be taught both by precept and example to deny themselves hurtful indulgences! If an article of food or combination of foods has proved to be injurious to a child, he should be instructed to have the principle and self-control to let it alone, but this self-control does not come by one lesson, it takes many, "precept upon precept."

It is sometimes forgotten that we not only have instruction with reference to how to feed the body but also how to clothe it. We are taught the proper distribution of the clothing and where to put its weight, and that no part of the body should be over heated with garments, and that no part should be under clothed, no matter what may be the freaks and demands of fashion. The extremities are to be kept warm. Especially should care be bestowed on the feet of a child that they be kept dry. One fine May morning the writer entered a schoolroom and noticing the feet of two or three children judged by their appearance that they were wet. It was suggested to the teacher that a fire be built and those children be placed by it. The reply was given, "There is not a child here who has dry feet." Upon a little investigation, we found that this was true. The grass was covered with dew, and the children had not been taught to be careful. Why this waste in health? God has told us, "Health should be as sacredly guarded as the character." If this is true, and we know it is, we have much to teach our children along this line. How important that the example of both parent and teacher be right in this respect. The parent may have very good ideas, but if the loved and respected teacher comes to school on a damp, cold morning with thin hose and low shoes, or with arms clad only in one thin layer of some gauzy material, how is the parent to give the instruction that he knows God requires him to give without crippling the influence of that teacher? Or how can a teacher who by correct example and precept seeks to impress the children with the importance of properly clothing the body make a deep and lasting impression on the child whose parents give these matters no thought, or regard them very lightly? A good pair of rubbers is vastly more important than some furbelow.

Shall we not care for the bodies God has given that there may be "a sound mind in a sound body"? Let us study the instruction given us. "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."

Kalamazoo

I began my work as pastor of the church here in January, and have conducted district quarterly meetings with the churches near. The first quarterly service was held in Otsego on the first Sabbath in February, and we had a good meeting. On the first Sabbath in May a large number attended the meeting held at Kalamazoo. We were greatly favored by having Elder G. E. Langdon of Battle Creek with us.

The next quarterly meeting was held at Hopkins, and the Monterey and Allegan churches were well represented. This meeting was held August 5 in the tent used this summer by Brethern Lee and Shepard.

These quarterly meetings have served as a stimulus to the churches and have greatly encouraged our brethren.

In June Brother O. S. Thompson and I pitched our tent in Kalamazoo and have held a series of meetings here. At first the attendance was fairly good, but the intensely hot weather caused a large decrease. Our Bible workers, Miss Mapes and Miss Smalley, are giving readings to some interested ones, and we believe that another effort would bring a goodly number into the truth.

The church here in Kalamazoo was made sad by the death of Elder A. C. Bourdeau, a former pastor of the church, who passed away in Battle Creek, July 7. He was a faithful and hard working servant of the Lord.

Memorial exercises were conducted here July 15, at which members of the family, including his widow, Mrs. A. C. Bourdeau, were present.

My Work Is Best for Me

Let me but find in my heart to say,
This is my work, my blessing; not my doom;
Of all who live, I am the only one by whom
This work can best be done in the right way.

Then shall I see it not too great or small
To suit my spirit and prove my powers;
Then shall I, cheerful, greet the laboring hours,
And cheerful, turn, when the long shadows fall
At eventide, to play, and love, and rest;
Because I know for me, my work is best.

Bethel Academy

At the time of the establishment of one of our schools the following pointed counsel was given to those in charge:

"Boast neither of the branches of study you expect to teach nor of the industrial work you hope to do; but tell every one who inquires, that you intend to do the best you can to give your students a physical, mental, and spiritual training that will fit them for usefulness in this life, and prepare them for the future immortal life."—"Counsels to Teachers," page 206.

In these words are bound up the fundamental principles of education. The prime object of training

In the training given at Bethel Academy, it has been the aim of the teachers to hold these fundamental objects foremost. It is the aim of the management to make the school, under God's guidance, a place where the influences that prevail will bring those who attend nearer to the Perfect Pattern of heaven.

Faculty

In addition to the force of teachers which we had last year, we will have this year Elder P. E. Berthelsen, a teacher of long experience, having been fourteen years with Union College and six years with the Danish-Norwegian Seminary, besides having spent several years abroad. The other teachers, who have been with us before, are well known. They are Mr. P. L. Thompson, Mr. G. H. Straight, Mr. W. H. Wohlers, Mrs. W. H. Wohlers, Miss Gladys McDill, Miss Grace M. Wright, and Mr. H. T. Elliott.

Twelve Grades

The plan of making Bethel Academy a school of twelve grades has been under consideration for some time. In accordance with a vote of the North American Division Conference made to concur with the recommendation of the Lake Union Conference Executive Committee the following plans for the school were adopted:

"That Bethel Academy be allowed to teach eleven grades during the year 1916-1917, with the understanding that the academy debt be paid by the close of the year 1916; that the plans be laid to raise the school to twelve grades the following year, but not unless the debt is paid."

In accordance with these plans the eleventh grade will be offered during the year 1916-1917, and the twelfth grade as soon as the plans can be fulfilled, probably the year following.

Students' Debt Goal

The students of the academy have been vitally interested in the campaign to make the school free from debt in order that the plans mentioned above may be carried out. At the camp meeting they went to work with a will and received over $1,000 in cash and pledges. Although these are not due till December 15, yet a goodly sum has already been paid. It is the earnest prayer of all that the school may be out of debt in time so that there will be no delay in building up the equipment and grades.

Library

Simultaneously with the Students' Debt Campaign has been the campaign to increase the number of volumes in the library. Ninety-seven good books have been received already. We are hoping for many more. Surely we have reason to be glad for the excellent spirit of strengthening the school which has been manifested.

SOUTH WISCONSIN TEACHERS

is here clearly laid before those who would be teachers. It is a principle, more emphasized now than heretofore, that education has to do with the developing child more than it has to do with the development of a particular branch of learning. We need to recognize, more than ever as the end of all things draws near, that our interest should center, not so much in the subjects or the work to be taught, as in the boy or the girl. All of our hobbies about the proper sort of education to be given, or the special lines we have followed with a view to teaching, are valueless if they do not have the souls of the children at heart.

The following definite and emphatic testimony shows clearly what should interest us most in the training we give to our boys and girls. And, it seems to me, that our hearts would cringe with shame if we had thought to be neglectful of these things. Speaking of the young people among us, the spirit of prophecy says:

"The company they keep, the principles they adopt, the habits they form, will decide the question of their usefulness here, and of their future destiny."—Id., page 220.

Last Year

Last year was one of the best years in the history of the academy. From the very first there was an earnest endeavor on the part of all to get as much as possible from their associations at Bethel. From the time of the opening in the fall till the close the students were enjoying a good experience. The spirit of brotherly helpfulness was an encouragement to all concerned. At the close of school twelve were baptized.

Outlook

We are looking forward to the best year that Bethel Academy has ever had. There is every reason to think that the school will be better than it has been before. We have the promise of forty of the old students back and others will no doubt come. Three years ago there were only four students that returned.

For calendar and additional information write the principal, Mr. H. T. Elliott, Bethel, Wisconsin.

H. T. ELLIOTT

Where Are Your Children?

September is nearly here and there are still in the state of Wisconsin over half a thousand boys, girls, and young people who will have no opportunity for a Christian education this year unless some one does something and does it quickly. What are you planning for those whom you are responsible for, parents? And what are you doing for yourselves, young people, in laying educational plans for next winter?

Word comes to us from the spirit of prophecy—"In every church where there are young people, a school should be organized where they can receive a Christian training." The Lord tells our young people that He will use those who will consecrate their lives for the finishing up of the gospel. Wisconsin needs to give more serious thought to the training of its young people than it has given. Our academy should be full next year. Our church schools should be filled. All our churches, where there are no school privileges offered, should plan for schools. If we fail in this we will not live up to the light which has come to us, and in turning away from light, we must certainly grope in darkness. "Knowing the time, it is high time that we wake out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when we first believed." Let us arouse ourselves, parents and young people. "The night is far spent the day is at hand." Let this department know if it can be of any service to you in planning for educational work for this year. If you have not secured an academy calendar, write for one immediately. If you have not thought of attending school, begin to plan. If you are a parent and have made no arrangement for a Christian education for your children, begin to do so at once. May the Lord bless you and help you in following His counsel in these things.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT,

South Wisconsin Conference

Delay No Longer

We have passed the first six months of 1916. The matter of raising our quota for missions should have our undivided attention. You will see by the reports that we have failed as a conference in raising the required amount for this time. You may say we have time enough left to make up this deficit. This may be; we hope it will be so, but it is hardly the safe thing to do, to say we will do tomorrow what should be done today. We have no assurance that we shall be alive tomorrow, and, reverses may come to some of us that would positively place us where we could not do as we had planned. The Mission Board is much in need of funds to supply the missionaries in the field and to send still others.

We are glad to tell you that we are gaining some on our shortage. In July the South Wisconsin Conference raised $2,239.53 for missions. The membership of the conference is figured at 1915. The amount to be raised to equal the twenty cents per week per member is $1,915, giving us a surplus of $324.53; we therefore reduced our deficit by this amount. When we receive the reports for the Midsummer Offering, we hope to reduce the deficit much more. Only a small sum has been turned in as yet from this offering. Our deficit for the first seven months on mission funds is $4,300.92. Now you can see what we must do in the time that remains. For a long time Wisconsin has had a deficit at the end of the year on mission funds. Now shall we all put forth a desperate effort to make up the deficit and for once sing the jubilee? There will be rejoicing in the camp of Israel.

A thermometer will be furnished each church to register the amount each church raises for missions during the Harvest Ingathering campaign. You should fix a goal, and then how nice it would be to burst the thermometer! We would file our claim for better ones, asking for the next time one that will register higher. Why not? It will be interesting to watch the mercury rise higher and still higher in the thermometer until it will be necessary to lengthen the thermometer. Hurry! We have no time to lose. Papers for the Harvest Ingathering are being sent to each church. Those who are members of the Conference church or are isolated will be furnished with the papers. These papers are furnished you without cost, but be just as careful in using them as though you had paid for them.

It was voted at the camp meeting to fix the goal for the conference at $2 per member. This would mean $3,830. What do you say about making it $5,000? This will mean about $2.75 per capita. The General Conference suggested a much larger amount than even this.

May God send His angels before us that the hearts and minds of the people may be ready to respond to the needs of the hour.

Educational Work in North Wisconsin

The educational work of the North Wisconsin Conference cannot boast of great development, as our conference is only a few weeks old, but we hope that it will grow, and a lively interest be manifested. We are planning for nine primary schools, one home school, and the Walderly Academy. This summer five of our teachers have attended the summer school at Berrien Springs and three at Hutchinson, Minn. Can we not double this number next summer?

NORTH WISCONSIN TEACHERS

Walderly Academy

When the North Wisconsin Conference was organized this summer, the Walderly Academy and property was turned over to it, and now is the only institution owned by the conference. We hope that all of our people of North Wisconsin will learn to love their academy and help to make it one of the best.

Faculty

The following named teachers have been secured for the academy and will manifest deep interest in developing our boys and girls for all lines of denominational work: E. A. von Pohle, principal and manager; H. M. Colburn and wife have the welfare of the boys at heart; Miss Kathrine Adams, a graduate nurse, has direct charge of the girls in position as preceptress and matron; J. L. Vollmer will build up the garden and farm; C. W. Hess is still foreman of the saw mill; Miss Gertrude Holmes is primary teacher.

Course of Study

The academy offers a strong course of study, in harmony with our other academies and the College. The course is planned for the best development of our young people. The Bible receives first attention, and every subject will be taught as related to our Christian experiences. Attention will be given to the individual needs of each student in planning his work, and his aims and purposes will always be given consideration.

Industries

The conference committee is united in the belief that the spirit of prophecy should be followed in its instruction concerning industrial studies and work in our schools, therefore, strong plans are made for the rapid development of the industrial features of Walderly Academy. "Study in agricultural lines should be the A, B, and C of the education given in our schools." The farm and garden will receive first attention in the future. The mill and building work will be continued. Plumbing and mechanical work will be taught as the work demands. The girls will be taught all lines of domestic science, also dress making, carpet and rug weaving, and knitting. Chair caning and basket weaving will be taught this year as opportunity affords. Our teachers are skilled in these lines. These industries are offered for their educational value, therefore, credits will be given in them the same as in literary lines. Opportunity is offered for a number of students to help themselves financially in the school. We would appreciate it if some of our people would send us donations of carpet rags. Please write to the principal before sending them.

Opportunities at Walderly

We hope that many young people may have the privilege of attending Walderly Academy. The value of such an opportunity cannot be measured in dollars and cents, but by the impressions made for eternity. We call upon the parents of the North Wisconsin Conference to send their boys and girls to this school. It will be the means of their salvation, and the Lord needs our young people for positions of trust and responsibility in His work. "There is scarcely any salvation for our youth outside of our schools." If there are worthy young people who are anxious to attend school, but have not the means, we would be glad to correspond with such.

Location

Walderly Academy is located at Hines, Wis. This is only about sixteen miles from Superior and easily accessible to all parts of the North Wisconsin Conference, as trains run directly to Superior from all parts of Wisconsin and North Michigan. The principal's address is E. A. von Pohle, South Range, Wis.

Fox River Academy

Fox River Academy was established in the year 1900. For sixteen years it has been training young men and women for places of usefulness and trust in the Lord's vineyard. A survey of the field today brings to view many former F. R. A. students among the laborers.

The school is located near the village of Sheridan on a branch of the Burlington Railroad, within about two hours ride from Chicago. It is of easy access from all parts of the state.

The natural beauty of the school's surroundings is a pleasing change to the one who has been compelled to dwell in the hurry, dust, and smoke-filled atmosphere of a large city. Pretty little Mission Creek winds its way with ripples and pools through the school property to join the Fox River, less than a mile distant. Shady groves and grassy pastures are on either side.

Amid such pleasing natural surroundings the mind of the youth is turned from the handiwork of man to contemplate the workmanship of God. Here the school has been established that the minds of the youth might be systematically trained.

The academy has a better building equipment than many of our secondary schools. The buildings had reached that point where they were much in need of repairs, and during the past summer a force of men have been at work painting the buildings, papering the rooms, overhauling the heating plant, and in other ways putting the place in comfortable shape for the opening of the school year. But more important is the teaching provided, for, after all, it is the teachers and students that make the school.

The management has secured the services, for the coming year, of trained teachers of experience, whose purpose is unselfish service for their students. The parents can entrust their boys and girls to the care of these men and women with confidence that they will be cared for.

Some suggest that it is a large expense to send the boy or girl away from home when they have a good public school near home. It is true that it will mean the expenditure of something in dollars and cents, but the cost would be far more to be trained for this world and lost for eternity.

The home life of the school is planned that there may be a wholesome Christian atmosphere in which the youth may live. There they may have the counsel and advice of those in charge, and the daily association with other earnest young people is a constant inspiration.

The school is manned and maintained for the benefit of the young people of Illinois, and it is the desire of the management to be all the help possible to such. Will you not come and share its advantages the coming year?

W. L. AVERY, Principal

Educational Work in Northern Illinois

During the past school year, Northern Illinois has been conducting seventeen schools which were taught by nineteen teachers. In a number of ways our schools have made advancement. This is due to the regular school board meetings, monthly school meetings, cooperation on the part of the patrons, and faithful work done by our teachers.

Ten of the schools have splendid sets of wall maps and a globe. All are building up their libraries. Three schools expect to start this fall with a library of one hundred volumes, and others will reach this standard before 1917.

We are looking for marked improvements along the lines of manual training, school gardening, physical culture, etc.

I have enjoyed working with our school boards, teachers, and church school boys and girls during the past four and one-half years. In leaving the field, my deepest regret is that some of the dear children have not given themselves fully to Jesus, but I am still praying for them, and believe that some day soon I shall hear the glad news of their surrender to the Master.

EDITH SHEPARD

NORTHERN ILLINOIS TEACHERS

Northern Illinois Conference

The work in our conference is progressing encouragingly. At our weekly workers' meeting yesterday morning (Monday, August 14), the leaders of our six tent efforts held here in Chicago reported a greater interest during the week just ended than during the previous weeks this summer. Some have already decided for the truth, and many more are thinking of taking their stand in the very near future. We are truly glad for what the Lord is doing in Chicago this summer, and may He lead His work to a finish with a harvest of hundred of souls as a result. Chicago needs it.

The efforts outside of Chicago are doing well too. In Moline about twelve have already taken their stand and many more are in the valley of decision. The attendance is very good notwithstanding the fact that all the people know it is a Seventh-day Adventist tent. Let us pray for Elder Hubbard that the Lord will bless him in health so that he may be able to round off his effort well.

In Joliet, Elder Lauda and his helpers have their hands more than full even though the meetings were not so well attended in the neighborhood where the tent stood first. The interest was considerably better than the attendance, hence a large number of souls are expected to accept the truth. Last week they pitched their tent in a neighborhood where there are more Protestants and the attendance is very much larger, for which we are certainly glad. The facts in the case are that the Lord is with us. Our workers are working in the strength and power of the Almighty and so nothing else but an abundant harvest of souls can be expected. Our goal is high and by God's help we will reach it.

J. H. SCHILLING

work of this earth, children who have been rightly educated will in their sympathy speak words which will be an astonishment to men who now talk of 'higher education'. . . . In the last days children's voices will be raised to give the last message of warning to a perishing world." What higher calling or greater honor could we ask for our boys and girls?

What a heavy responsibility rests upon us if we do not avail ourselves of the means that God has placed in our midst for the saving of our children—our church schools.

We should be far more concerned over the work and salvation of our children than over the number of acres of this old earth that we might own, for a portion in the earth made new with all of our children with us will far out value all that we might hope to achieve here.

As many of the people of the North and West Michigan Conferences know, we have a school located in Montcalm County which is endeavoring to carry out the instruction that God has given us in regard to Christian education. Many who are now active in the work of the Master have received a portion of their training at Cedar Lake Academy, and they look back with pleasure to the days spent there.

As a faculty, we not only want to keep up the high standard of the school, but we are endeavoring to make it of greater efficiency for the training of our young people for their heaven-appointed work.

Several important improvements have recently been made at the academy. All the buildings are lighted by electricity, thus reducing the danger of fire. A new gasoline engine and pump house have been installed to furnish water for the dormitory. The dormitory rooms are being painted and papered and new matting put into nearly all the halls, so every thing will have a homelike appearance when the students arrive this fall.

Let all who desire an education begin to plan now to be present at the opening of school September 13. If you have not received one of our new calendars, send a card to the principal with your name and address and you will receive one by return mail.

Yours for a Christian education and therefore preparedness for the work of the Master,

Preparation Necessary

We are living in a wonderful period of this world's history. Every thing around us points to the fulfilling of the prophecies. We have been passing through a great peace movement, but now the slogan is "Preparedness." We hear it on every hand. Young men must be drilled in the tactics of war, boys must be trained in the Boy Scout Movement and even young ladies are meeting in preparedness camps for military drill. The question before us as a people is, What part are we to take in this great preparedness campaign?

We ought to arouse and prepare for the times that are just before us. "Prepare to meet thy God, O Israel." Amos 4:12. If ever there was a time when our young people ought to be prepared it is now. Every one should be mustered into the ranks.

In Volume VI, page 203 we read: "Our schools are ordained by God to prepare the children for this great work," and on page 202, "Children who are receiving a Christian education will be witnesses for Christ. As Jesus in the temple solved the mysteries which priests and rulers had not discerned, so in the closing

God's "Helping Hand"

"The Lord has appointed the youth to be His helping hand."—Volume VII, page 64. What an honor! What a privilege to be among the chosen vessels that the God of the universe, the creator and upholder of all things has chosen to be His instruments in carrying the wonderful message of salvation to the world!

In planning the future of any enterprise the one that is to hold responsible office in connection with it is put into the most rigorous training that will fit him for the place. The training must precede the accepting of the call. Even so the Lord has under appointment all our youth, and has planned and established a system of Christian education to fit them for the service. He has then asked the parents and church members to see to it that these children and youth have the opportunity. He has planned for them to be rightly prepared to take up the serious work of being "His helping hand" in finishing the work.

What a responsibility is this that rests with those directly responsible for the educational advantages of a boy or girl. Mother, father, church elder, where are the children of your flocks getting their training? Is it in the divinely appointed school that will fit these children and youth for the task of being "His helping hand"? or are they where everything tends toward their being the world's helping hand when their training is finished? If you are responsible for where the child gets this training then you are responsible for where he throws his energies when his training is finished.

"The carrying capacity of the bridge is not greater than that of the span first made for it." So the carrying capacity of the man, his capacity for carrying responsibility in the Lord's work, is not greater than the span of the preparation made in his youth.

The people as a rule in the North Michigan Conference are realizing the need of a Christian education for the children and youth, that their children are dearer to the Lord than their time or money can possibly be, and they are providing church schools for their children in a commendable way, but to the few parents, and church members who are not doing so, I would repeat those truth freighted words from the servant of the Lord, "The youth placed under your care, you must meet again around the great white throne."

ligious principle is held paramount, every advance step taken in acquirement of knowledge or in the culture of the intellect, is a step toward the assimilation of the human with the divine, the finite with the infinite."—"Counsels to Teachers," page 252.

Many of our youth are in public high schools receiving an education which only fits them for a worldly position. Others are not in school at all. Doubtless a large number of these under proper encouragement would put forth an effort to enter our schools. It is the duty of every church member to concern himself in a definite way about the education of the younger members of the Lord's family for we are told in the spirit of prophecy that "The duty that lies next to the church member is to care for the youth and children."

Here we have placed before us a God-given responsibility and one that it is evident is not being fully discharged. Let us not draw our children about us but presenting them to the Lord as did Hannah of old be willing to say, "I have lent them to the Lord; as long as they live they shall be lent to the Lord."

The Chicago Training School

This school has had two very successful terms, so is not an entire stranger to the people of the Lake Union Conference. Some have written me concerning the school and announcements have been sent them; but for the information of others I will give in the HERALD a further statement of its work.

The next term will begin September 18 and continue four months; and another four-months' term will follow, beginning January 22. There will be three classes each day for five days a week, from 9 to 12 A. M., the remainder of the day and evening will be spent in actual work and study. The course consists of Bible Doctrines, taught by the principal of the school, Elder E. W. Webster; Methods in Study and Work, by Mrs. Cleora Webster; Church and Denominational History, by Elder J. H. Schilling; Church and Conference Organization, by Elder A. Johnson; Scripture Reading and Expression and Difficult Texts, by Elder M. H. St. John; and Hygiene and Accidents, by a doctor and nurses from the Hinsdale Sanitarium.

The school will be held at 120 N. California Ave., in connection with the mission home and the conference offices. Already a number have made arrangements to attend the next term, or the one following, and we are anxious to know as soon as possible who else will come. Here is a splendid chance for earnest, consecrated believers in the third angel's message to secure a fitting up for a place in this closing work for God on earth. A number have already gone out from the school into the Bible work in different conferences. We cannot assure every one who attends that he or she will turn out a good Bible worker, or that some conference will immediately give him or her employment. But we will do our part to fit all for service.

Any who may be interested and want further information as to accommodations and expenses can secure the same by writing to the undersigned; and as it is only about a month before the next term opens it will be necessary for you to write and plan at once. Address me at 120 N. California Ave., Chicago, Ill.
