Shall I Give It Or Leave It?

One of the persons who attended the recent Estate Planning Workshop at Andrews University asked a thought provoking question: "Is it more helpful to the church for me to give higher percentages of my income through the offerings of the church, such as Sabbath School offerings and others, than to give a donation to a Seventh-day Adventist institution and reduce the percentage given in offerings?"

As I understand it, the Seventh-day Adventist Church has established the trust services program for the mutual benefit of the individual member and to assist the church in fulfilling its mission of a finished work before the return of our Lord. Both the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy teach that the purpose of the plan of salvation is to make us "Godlike" in character. The goal of every Christian should be to become like his Creator—loving, unselfish, trusting, and benevolent.

God's plan for the church is for every disciple to be a fully committed, sacrificial follower of Jesus Christ. He gave us an example of what pure love will do when "he so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son." (John 3:16) Our Heavenly Father did not give second best; He gave the choicest and best gift heaven could bestow upon the lost human race.

True Christianity is a giving relationship. We give our lives, our sins, our hearts, our wills, and God gives Himself in the person of His Son. He took our sins, suffered the penalty of our transgressions. It is only as we learn to give from pure, unselfish love such as He gave that we will be like Him and become the persons He wants us to be.

When gratitude and love fill the soul, no one will ask how little he can give, but how much he can save in order to be able to give more for the work of the Master who gave His all for us.

"God permits us to show our appreciation of His mercies by self-sacrificing efforts to extend the same to others. This is the only way in which it is possible for us to manifest our gratitude and love to God. He has provided no other."—Counsels on Stewardship, pages 18, 19.

The answer to the question posed above is clearly answered in Counsels on Stewardship, page 326, which says: "Dying legacies are a miserable substitute for living benevolence." God's plan is for us to give while we live. What is assigned to the Lord's work after death requires no sacrifice, no self-denial. We have no more use for it. Whether we leave much or little, it is all left behind. No one is able to take it with him.

But we can send it on ahead. Jesus advised that we "lay up treasure in heaven." In ministering to our hungry neighbor, we minister to Him. Giving when we could use it ourselves develops character and helps to make us less self-centered, more "others-centered." When giving is done in the spirit of Christ it makes us more Christlike.

Salvation was laid in sacrifice and will be finished in the same way it began. God has no other plan. May His work be finished in our hearts as well as in the earth; our destiny depends on it.

FINAL LAKE UNION INGATHERING REPORT

CONFERENCE (Membership)	GOAL	REPORTED
		THIS YEAR TO DATE	PERCENT
Illinois (7,969)	$199,255	$222,895.89	112%
Indiana (5,785)	144,000	135,598.51	94%
Lake Region (10,819)	100,000	100,756.31	101%

Wisconsin (5,558)	86,200	96,706.52	112%
TOTAL (50,252)	$924,425	$951,146.23	103%

Our 1975 Ingathering crusade is now history. Our final total is $951,146.23. This is $27,746.20 less than last year.

The Lake Region Conference is the only conference that has a gain. Illinois is our only vanguard conference. Michigan has almost $400,000, which is the largest total for any one conference in the world.

We are thankful to God for what has been accomplished in spite of the economic conditions. Hundreds of thousands are unemployed in the automobile industry in our area.

Our rejoicing comes especially from the evangelistic and spiritual impact made through the thousands of Ingathering contacts: Over 1,300 coupons have been received requesting Bible study guides. These are being followed up and souls will be brought to Christ.

A number of persons are already attending our churches as a result of the 1975 crusade.

Thanks to every one for the loyal support of our world mission.

NO BARRIER TO RECONCILIATION IN PRIMACY OF POPE

U.S. Lutheran and Roman Catholic theologians say the primacy of the Pope need not be a barrier to reconciliation. That statement was undergirded with the phrase "renewed in the light of the Gospel." It comes at the beginning of eleven years of dialogues between the two groups. Ten Lutheran and ten Catholic representatives took part in a meeting in which six papers were read and discussed. The unified statement on Papal primacy came at the conclusion of the study.

SOUTHERN SUDAN REOPENING ITS DOORS TO MISSIONARIES

Southern Sudan appears to be opening its door to a new phase of work by the Sudan Interior Mission. During the 1964 civil war the country expelled all its missionaries. Up to six Sudan Interior Mission missionaries have been permitted to enter Sudan during the last two years to work on relief and rehabilitation. The Sudanese government has asked the missionaries to build, equip, and staff clinics in the southern province.

Checking over artwork for exciting covers on the Voice of Prophecy News are Mrs. Kathy Momb, editorial secretary; Eldyn Karr, associate director of public relations; and Pastor Gordon F. Dalrymple, director of public relations. Recent covers have featured the signs of Christ's coming, Armageddon, the millennium, Daniel 2, and other prophetic topics of vital importance. The all new public relations staff at Voice of Prophecy is seeking new means of strengthening the radio ministry.

V.O.P. HAS ALL NEW P.R. STAFF

The all new public relations staff at Voice of Prophecy offices includes Pastor Gordon F. Dalrymple, director of public relations and editor of the Voice of Prophecy News; Eldyn Karr, associate public relations director and managing editor of the News; and Mrs. Kathy Momb, editorial secretary.

Pastor Dalrymple served for ten years at Faith for Today as director of publications, director of public relations, editor of publications, and Bible School director.

Eldyn Karr served as public information officer at Andrews University the last five years.

Mrs. Momb has previous secretarial experience including several years at the Voice of Prophecy a short time ago.

The new staff replaces Pastor Herbert Ford, who is now serving as a professor of journalism at Pacific Union College; Elwyn Platner, who is public information director at Walla Walla College; and Mrs. Viola Sayles.

"Our object is to work closely with church members and leaders throughout North America in highlighting the gospel of Christ and His soon coming, in newspapers and magazines as well as on radio," Pastor Dalrymple explains.

Nature Center Gets Rave Reviews

by Ernie Wendth

The "Please Touch" table is an open display where signs encourage touching and handling of a variety of nature specimens.

"Wow!"

This has been the reaction of many who, during the fall and winter season have visited Au Sable's new nature center for the first time.

It was the reaction of Michigan's new conference youth leader, Elder Lester Rilea, who even though he had heard a great deal about the center, admitted he "was in for a surprise." He exclaimed, "Wow!" when he first entered the spacious and attractive three-level building. Others have stated that the center was "more beautiful" than they had imagined, "larger than they had dreamed," etc.

This 28- by 72-foot building is a far cry from the previous center which measured only 10 by 20 feet. It has a full first floor with exhibits and a picture window looking approximately north to the lake. Above this is a second level which extends over two-thirds of the first floor. The basement area is currently in the process of being completed for additional study areas and exhibits.

Elder Merrill Fleming, conference director of Pathfinding, is happy with this "stronger center where nature, God's second book, can be more adequately presented" to Michigan's young people. However, a number of exhibits have yet to be prepared, Fleming reports and additional exhibit pieces are needed.

Current plans call for the construction of a number of diaramas to show members of the animal world in their natural habitat. Additional museum type items are still being sought and readers of the Lake Union Herald are urged to contact the conference youth or Pathfinder departments if they have such material or know of others who do.

The Pontiac Pathfinder Club did just this. They heard of a sheep which had been born with two heads and six feet which made Ripley's "Believe It or Not" column. Because local Pathfinder leaders contacted the owners who lived in the area they were able to have it donated for the museum.

The accompanying pictures taken during a recent weekend at Au Sable will help to show what has been accomplished because of your support of the drive to raise funds for the building. If you are one of those who hasn't seen the building as yet, do your best to do so at an early opportunity. You'll be glad you did.

SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Joyce Griffith, Correspondent

NEWS NOTES

• A ten-minute slide show developed by the public relations office on hospital costs was shown to officials of the American Hospital Association at their request February 19. After the showing, A.H.A. representatives said the program was a good example of how a national issue can be localized and made meaningful to members of the communities served by the hospital. The program has been scheduled for such local groups as the Committee of 100, the Rotary, and the Civic Advisory Board.

• Twenty Adventists who have been on a vegetarian diet for at least 15 years are participating in a research project to help determine why Adventists experience 40 percent less cancer of the colon than the general population. The study is being conducted by a teaching physician at the University of Illinois department of surgery with the cooperation of the hospital's health education department.

• Twice a month Explorers from the Hinsdale High School attend a special program on health careers conducted by Earl Gable, training director for the hospital. The group of 32 high school seniors visit various departments of the hospital and obtain practical instruction about health careers.

CIVIC ADVISORY BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

The Civic Advisory Board of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital elected a new slate of officers at their January 23 meeting.

New president of the Advisory Board is Corlandt (Pat) Symonds, Hinsdale, product manager, Engineered Products Division, Railroad Products, Abex Corporation. Symonds has been a member of the Civic Advisory Board since 1969 and served as one of three co-chairmen for the current fund development program responsible for raising more than $1.5 million toward the building program at the hospital.

Vice-president is N. Hall Layman, Hinsdale, vice-president, Banking Department, Northern Trust Company. Layman has served continuously on the Civic Advisory Board since 1965.

Newly elected secretary-treasurer is Norman F. Clarke, Hinsdale, second vice-president, Northern Trust Company. Clarke joined the Civic Advisory Board in 1961 and has served as secretary-treasurer of the organization as well as one of the three co-chairman of the recent fund development program.

Two new members were appointed to the board. Frederick C. Meyers, Hinsdale, vice-president, Central National Bank, Chicago, and the vacancy created by the death of William F. Etz was filled by Robert T. Mortimer, Hinsdale vice-president of Blunt, Ellis and Simmons, Oak Brook.

The Civic Advisory Board also approved of a resolution of appreciation to the family of William F. Etz for his many years of service to the hospital as a member of the Civic Advisory Board and, for five years, as its president. A plaque will be erected in the hospital in his memory.

The Civic Advisory Board, composed of civic leaders interested in the progress of the hospital, serve an advisory capacity to hospital administration. The board was formed in 1949.

WAUKEGAN CELEBRATES INGATHERING VICTORY

Spaghetti was the main course at the Waukegan Ingathering banquet. Each diner was furnished with a spaghetti bib. The kitchen crew was kept busy filling orders for the first, second, and in some instances, the third time. It is a grand occasion for the Waukegan Church family to celebrate their Ingathering victory each year.

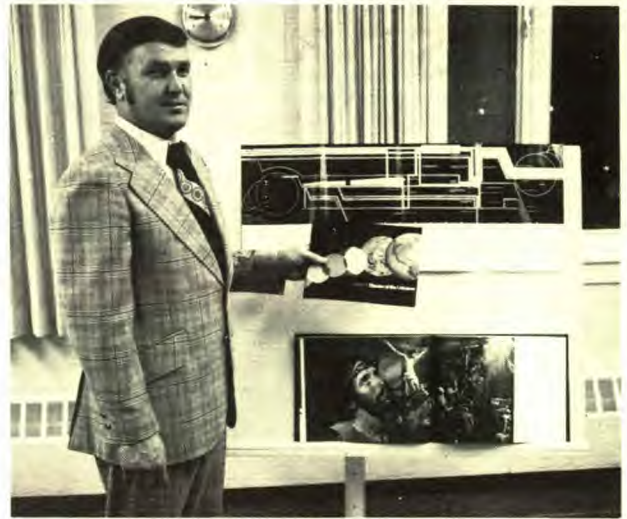

DELKER-TAYLOR DUO COMING TO HINSDALE

Del Delker

Del Delker, contralto soloist at the Voice of Prophecy, will be at the Hinsdale Church, March 14 and 15. She, along with Calvin Taylor, pianist, will present the MV program Friday evening, 7:30 p.m. and a sacred concert Sabbath afternoon at 6 p.m.

Miss Delker has been with the Voice of Prophecy since September of 1947, just six months after she accepted Christ as her Saviour. With the dedication of her voice to God, the study of the message of the words and the "feel" of the melody, she has helped lead many to accept Christ around the world. Del has sung in more than twelve languages.

restored. Other parts of the kit are: charts, slides, tapes with music and narration, general articles, an excellent cross reference index, and personal witnessing in "Let's Talk About Jesus."

The program was developed by Elder Richard Lange, a minister in the Texico Conference.

Other segments of the church's lay activities program include showing of films and slides on how to approach people and follow-up leads for prospective Bible studies at the prayer meeting and vespers. Two hours on Monday nights have been reserved to visit and give Bible studies. Tapes and cassettes are being distributed to individual homes to provide a better spiritual atmosphere. Lay activities committee members are calling members to inspire them to go out and witness.

DARK TERRITORIES ENTERED WITH BIBLE STUDIES

Three men, from left, back row, Imre Petrik of the Yugoslavian Church, Donald Wing from the Brookfield Church, and Clinton Youngman of the Danville Church have been selected by the Illinois Conference to spend at least 20 hours per week in visitation and giving Bible studies in unentered territory within the conference. Three pastors are in charge of these workers: Elder Zivko Maras, Elder Nicholas Leftrook, front row, and Elder Richard Hirst, not pictured. These dedicated workers are already involved in giving Bible studies and are proving a great blessing to these districts.

NORTHEASTERN INDIANA YOUTH LEADERS MEET

The Fort Wayne S.D.A. Church hosted the youth leaders from the northeastern part of the state on Sabbath, February 8. Also invited were the youth Sabbath School leaders and youth Sabbath School teachers.

Elder Dick Barron, Lake Union youth director, was the main speaker. In his message he challenged everyone to work for the salvation of our youth. The church provided a lovely "pitch-in" dinner for all the guests.

The afternoon seminar was broken up into two sections. In the first section Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Lund and Warren Broglin, youth leaders in the Indianapolis Glendale Church, presented the story of how their youth group got started, and what they did when the youth met in their homes. A number of the Glendale youth then individually expressed what wonderful things had happened in their lives since the youth group became active over a year ago.

The second section of the afternoon program was devoted to youth Sabbath School work. Elder Harry Sackett, Indiana Conference Sabbath School director, presented many materials to liven the youth Sabbath School and to enrich the teaching of the Sabbath School classes.

Time was given for the youth leaders to ask questions.

Elder Cliff Hoffman and Elder Dick Barron challenged the people present to give special attention to the teenage youth in the churches who are so often neglected. If they are going to be saved, church members must demonstrate love for them by providing activities that will interest and hold them in the church.

CICERO SABBATH SCHOOL FEATURES YOUNG PEOPLE

February 1, the Cicero Sabbath School enjoyed another outstanding program that Mrs. Naomi Sigler plans regularly for the members.

Using the theme "Little Children Follow Adults' Examples," Mrs. Sigler held her new grandson, Christopher Sigler visiting from Wisconsin Academy, and read a challenge to parents on training their little ones. Scott and Pat Houghton sang a musical selection accompanied by their big brother Robin.

From Entro Educational Adventista School in Honduras, Mike Lunch and one of his students, Carlos Ortiz, who were visiting in the area, presented the mission story and a song in Spanish.

Such interesting Sabbath Schools inspire the members for regular attendance and support of the program.

MID-YEAR WORKSHOPS HELD

The first three Sundays in February 1975, were for area in-service meetings by the teachers of the Indiana Conference.

These in-service days were used as a mid-year follow-up of the annual convention held in September 1974.

Time was spent in spirited emphasis in study on pre-designated curriculum areas, and in specific planning for second semester activities.

PORTLAND PARENTS DEDICATE CHILDREN

Four Portland parents, following the example of the parents of Jesus, presented their children to the Lord for dedication.

We commend parents who are wise enough to realize that they need divine assistance in the grand task of shaping characters for eternity. Only the Lord can protect their children from the devil's devices and make them ready for a home in heaven. Thus both children and parents were dedicated to God with the prayer that the family would be unbroken in the coming kingdom of God.

PRISON BANDS BRING CHEER TO INMATES

The above group of young people represent a portion of the Menard State Prison band that recently visited the inmates at Chester, Illinois. The inmates welcomed the return of the Reid Memorial Church as it had been over a year since they had been permitted to visit. The youth sang and gave testimony to the glory of God. The pastor, Elder Vern Joyner, spoke on the love of God toward all men and pointed them to Christ, the Source of everyone's strength. Elder Joyner is endeavoring to resume the church's visitation program to the prison on a regular quarterly basis.

WORKERS GATHER FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Lake Region Conference workers gathered in Chicago January 26 to 29 for their annual workers meeting.

A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM

Eight-year-old Eddie Allen was baptized by Elder Joseph Lewis into the Eastside Church in Indianapolis in August of 1974. Now Eddie is sharing his faith with his friends in the neighborhood. Eddie borrowed two of his mother's books, Triumph of God's Love and Daniel and the Revelation, and on different occasions showed his friends all the pictures in these books and told them all he knew about God's love and His second coming. The last time he returned home from showing his books, he commented to his mother, "Mother, I have told them all I know." Ruby Allen, deaconess and Investment secretary of Eastside Church, thought to herself, "A little child shall lead them."

emphasis on stewardship. Elder Eric S. Dillett received a plaque for church building dedication. Dr. Walter C. Thompson, who has worked with the Better Living Center in Chicago for one and a half years, received a plaque for his dedication to the needs of humanity.

The workers meeting continued Monday through Wednesday at the Straford Church. Elder F. W. Wernick, union president, brought a brief devotional to encourage those gathered. Elder E. E. Cleveland, associate ministerial secretary of the General Conference, challenged the pastors and Bible workers to lead their people to greater heights in church involvement through soul winning.

As usual a high spiritual tone prevailed as men and women alike accepted the challenge to do more in '75 to hasten the return of Christ.

Elder Richard Broome, standing, and "Dave" Orienti check the taping for the Adventist broadcast over Adrian's radio station.

S.D.A. PROGRAM GETS PROFESSIONAL ASSISTANCE

Free professional help is being given Elder Richard Broome for his Focus on Life broadcast over WLEN, Adrian.

The program which started last April was first taped in the pastor's home. Mrs. Broome and Jerry Wolfe, D.D.S., assisted in the taping sessions which proved to be "interesting, but at times frustrating," according to Broome.

While doing dental work on a patient, Dr. Wolfe mentioned the program and their taping problems. His patient, a former disc jockey, is currently a broadcasting engineer who sets up and maintains radio stations. "Dave" Orienti was interested in what the Adventist preacher was trying to do in his home. His professional curiosity was heightened by his contact with Adventists while helping to set up WAUS, the radio station for Andrews University.

Since Orienti lived only three houses away it was easy to drop over to the preacher's house for the next taping session. What he heard was not good enough to his trained ears so he invited Broome to do the broadcast in the private studio he had built in his basement "just for the fun of it."

So now, thanks to the broadcasting technician, instead of three persons spending all evening to tape a 15-minute broadcast, Broome and Orienti do it in half an hour with the former disc jockey doing the announcing.

The 15-minute Focus on Life broadcast is aired each Saturday following the 6 p.m. newscast.

Mrs. Catherine Walden coordinated the weekend activities which featured a discussion of the concept of sanctification and righteousness by faith conducted by Elder Dave Masterjohn, Wisconsin Conference youth director, used a clay gift made by his son Scott to illustrate Christ's acceptance of our efforts to serve him. Scott's clay sculpturing would be discarded by most strangers but not by a parent who recognizes it as the best possible achievement presented from a heart filled with love. "Even the imperfections in the work awaken love in the parent's heart," Masterjohn said.

In arranging for the weekend, Catherine Walden engaged speakers but also with the help of her husband Dr. Richard T. Walden and son John, prepared and served much of the food for Friday evening and Sabbath dinner.

2 cups water	1/4 cup milk
3/4 cup rice	1/4 cup cornflake crumbs
1/3 cup raisins	1 tablespoon sesame seeds
1 tablespoon margarine	Raisin Sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt	2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons sliced almonds	2 tablespoons flour
Soyameat	1/2 cup pineapple juice
1 can Soyameat Fried Chicken Style (13 oz.) drained	3/4 cup water
1/2 cup flour	1 tablespoon sugar
	1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
	1/2 cup raisins

Giving Is A Reflex Of Love

new releases

GETTING IT ALL TOGETHER, by Don Hawley, Review and Herald Publishing Association, Washington, D.C.

A thin little volume printed by the Review and Herald Publishing Association is refusing to conform to normal sales patterns, according to Hugh Forquer, book department manager.

"Getting It All Together, by Don Hawley, is one of the most popular books we've produced lately," says Forquer. "Ordinarily the sales life of a book is quite predictable. If it is going to be a well-accepted volume, sales build rather rapidly and then fall off abruptly as the market becomes saturated.

"But with Getting It All Together," continues the book department manager, "things are working somewhat in reverse. The original 20,000 copies of this book began to move quite well as soon as they hit the market, about the middle of 1974. By the end of the year, a little more than three-fourths of the printing were sold. Then, instead of the usual drop-off, the remaining 4,000 copies disappeared during the first 30 days of 1975.

"We had already realized a second printing was indicated, but unfortunately didn't anticipate the increasing demand for this particular volume. It is a good thing as we now have more than a thousand back orders with more coming in daily." The new printing will be available very soon.

Forquer's associate, Bob Kinney, believes he knows the reason why Getting It All Together has been so successful. He cites six basic factors:

1. The book deals with a subject many church members are particularly interested in today; living a daily life of victory in Jesus Christ.
2. The very heart of the gospel is presented in simple terms, using an easy-to-read style.
3. Young people relate to the straightforward approach. An Andrews University professor writes that the message is having a real impact with students.
4. Only 79 pages in length, the book can be read quite easily in one sitting. This gives the reader an overview of the subject that might not be apparent with a much larger volume.
5. Because of its brevity, and because Spirit of Prophecy quotations are printed in a second color, readers find it an easy book to refer back to. Some report having read certain sections of the work several times.
6. The inexpensiveness of the volume encourages readers to purchase copies for loved ones and friends. One layman reports having given away over 200 copies.

Forquer predicts Getting It All Together will continue to be in demand for some time. "We have a whole drawer full of letters praising the message contained in this small book. Many indicate their entire life has been changed by its challenge and encouragement. Each reader tends to become a sales person, and nothing is more effective than word-of-mouth promotion stemming from personal conviction."

A.U. OFFERS SUMMER STUDY TOURS IN EUROPE

Andrews University is offering students planning to study art, history, Spanish, German, or French a chance to earn up to eight hours of credit in Europe this summer, from June 9 to August 9.

With art and history combined into one tour, there will be four tours in all, costing from $1,375 to $1,712 depending on the tour and course selection. This includes the cost of tuition, transportation, hotels, meals, and entrance fees.

The history-art tour will take in France, Spain, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany, the Netherlands, and particularly Italy with its Renaissance art.

During the tour, Greg Constantine, chairman of the art department, and Erwin Sicher, associate professor of history, will direct such courses as renaissance and reformation, world civilizations, and art in world history.

There will be opportunity to explore the remains of ancient civilizations, monuments of medieval and reformation piety, and the works of the greatest artists of Western civilization, said Constantine.

French students will spend most of their time at Collonges, France, which overlooks the Swiss city of Geneva and Lac Leman. Short excursions within France and to neighboring countries are also planned. Professor Andre L. Rochat will direct this study tour.

The German tour will include three weeks of classes in both Darmstadt, Germany, and Bogenhofen, Austria, with field trips to castles, walled medieval towns, and major cities in both countries. Professor Wolfgang Kunze of the A.U. modern language department will head the German tour.

Classes for persons on the Spanish tour will be held in seven cities in Spain: Santander, Salamanca, Madrid, Cordoba, Granada, Valencia, and Barcelona. Field trips will include other Spanish cities. The tour director, Humberto Rasi, is chairman of A.U.'s department of modern languages.

The language tours each offer three courses: intermediate language class for persons with one year of college credit in the language; a modern language field conference, involving travel to places of cultural interest, lectures, readings, and reports; and for persons qualified, independent readings for special problems in the language under study.

The transatlantic flight for all tours will begin at Chicago on a DC-8, chartered by the Council on International Education Exchange. In Europe, nine-passenger VW buses will be used on all tours.

Applicants should pay a $100 deposit immediately. The balance is due May 15. Courses may be audited. Direct questions to the appropriate tour director, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.
