Why Women Need Wills

Women need wills more than men because they live longer. On an average, women live seven years longer than men. For this reason, a married woman is in greater need of a will than her husband.

If a woman has minor children who would be orphaned by her death, she needs a will to name the person or persons she would choose to have act as their guardian as well as to name the executor for her estate. It makes good sense for her to name the person that she would like to care for her children in the event of her death rather than to leave this responsibility to an impersonal court.

When a woman dies intestate (without a will), the court must distribute the property according to the statutory provisions of the laws of descent and distribution in the state where she was a resident at the time of her death. A will can save money by making the request that her executor may not be required to furnish bond, or if a bond is required that it be for a nominal amount.

Some women feel that they have too little property to bother with a will. The smaller the estate the more important it is to protect it against unnecessary expenses and administrative fees. A properly drawn will saves money. Almost all individuals have articles which are of sentimental value to a friend or relative. It is satisfying to know that these keepsakes and treasures will be cherished and valued by those who will receive them. It is best to name the person you desire to receive such items in your will or dispose of them before your death.

As a Christian steward, it is a privilege to leave the money to the Lord's work. Your will is your last opportunity to bear testimony to your love and faith in Jesus Christ and to extend your usefulness beyond this life. A Christian woman's will should express support for the same interests and causes which she has supported during her life. It is satisfying to know that one's material possessions can be a blessing to the work of God even after death.

By making a charitable bequest in your will, you can help reduce the estate taxes that might be due if your estate should exceed the $60,000 exemption. Gifts to charity help reduce these taxes and also benefit the cause of God.

When a woman is widowed she is well advised to seek financial and legal advice immediately. There are numerous cases where unwise investments have been made to the lasting sorrow of the widow. In time of need do not hesitate to call upon the officers of your Conference Association for assistance in these important matters. Their service is free and you do not obligate yourself in any way by asking them for help.

MERCHANT COVERS ADVERTISEMENT ON SABBATH

Claiming religious conviction, a local Charleston, West Virginia, merchant is paying to have his advertisement covered up on his Sabbath. Michael Halstead paid $750 to put up an advertisement for his health food store on an outfield fence at the Charleston Charlies Ballpark. But the Seventh-day Adventist businessman feels that it would violate the Sabbath if baseball fans were able to see the sign between sundown Fridays and sundown Saturdays. So he's paying $285 for a sign cover to be installed each week. He says the Bible says Saturday, the seventh day, is when the Lord rested. "I don't work on Saturday and I don't want my business advertised then." General manager of the Charleston Charlies is amazed. "Our weekend crowds are the biggest," he points out. "Saturday afternoon and Friday night are lucrative dates." But Halstead feels that Sabbathkeeping is more important than store advertising. And he's willing to pay $285 to prove it.

CURRENT I.R.S. PROPOSAL CALLS FOR PROOF OF NONDISCRIMINATION

Private and parochial schools may be required to submit annual proof of racial nondiscrimination under a new Internal Revenue proposal. The proof would qualify them for federal income tax exemptions. While the proposed procedures concentrate on admissions and treatment of students, they also could affect the racial composition of faculty and staff of private elementary and secondary schools.

CATHOLIC CHARISMATIC RENEWAL DRAWS 6,000 IN DALLAS

Six thousand persons participated in the Catholic charismatic renewal in Moody Coliseum in Dallas. There are an estimated 500,000 U.S. Catholics involved in the charismatic renewal. The movement focuses on the use of the gifts, or "charisms," of Holy Spirit promised by Jesus Christ to His followers and bestowed upon them first on Pentecost. The conference offered workshops on healing, community, family relationships, and ministry to the poor.

CONCERN OVER JEWISH YOUTH CONVERTING TO EASTERN RELIGIONS

Special concern was expressed by the National Jewish Conference for the loss of young Jews to Eastern religions. Jews reportedly comprise 25 to 50 percent of the membership of some Eastern monasteries and are prominent in leadership roles. Two young Jewish panelists at the conference told the seminar how their disillusionment with the lack of religious emphasis in the Jewish community had led them to Eastern mysticism.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS DYING

While Sunday school remains strong in evangelical churches and sects, it is declining in mainline denominations. To find out why, the United Methodist Christian Educators Fellowship held a consultation known as "Confrontation Sunday School." Since 1959 United Methodist Sunday school attendance has dropped by nearly a fourth. Over three fourths of all the schools in the 10-million-member church have less than 100 active persons. Two reasons were suggested for the decline: Sunday schools trying to become modern church schools, and a lack of emphasis by professional church educators on Sunday schools.

V.O.P. BOARD MEETS TO MAKE PLANS

Officers of the Voice of Prophecy Board of Counselors discuss ideas with Dr. H.M.S. Richards and H.M.S. Richards, Jr., following a two-day session devoted to strengthening and expanding the outreach of the radio-broadcast. Approximately 30 persons, almost all laymen, attended this year's meetings in Glendale, traveling to the session at their own expense. The Board includes business and professional people who are intensely interested in the task of proclaiming the gospel of Christ to the world. From left are Dr. H.M.S. Richards; Frank Gaspar, M.D., assistant secretary of the counselors group; Harry G. Willis, an advertising executive and the executive secretary of the counselors; Harry P. Hartsock, an executive of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company and chairman of the Board of Counselors; and H.M.S. Richards, Jr.

NEW DEAN CHOSEN FOR L.L.U. SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

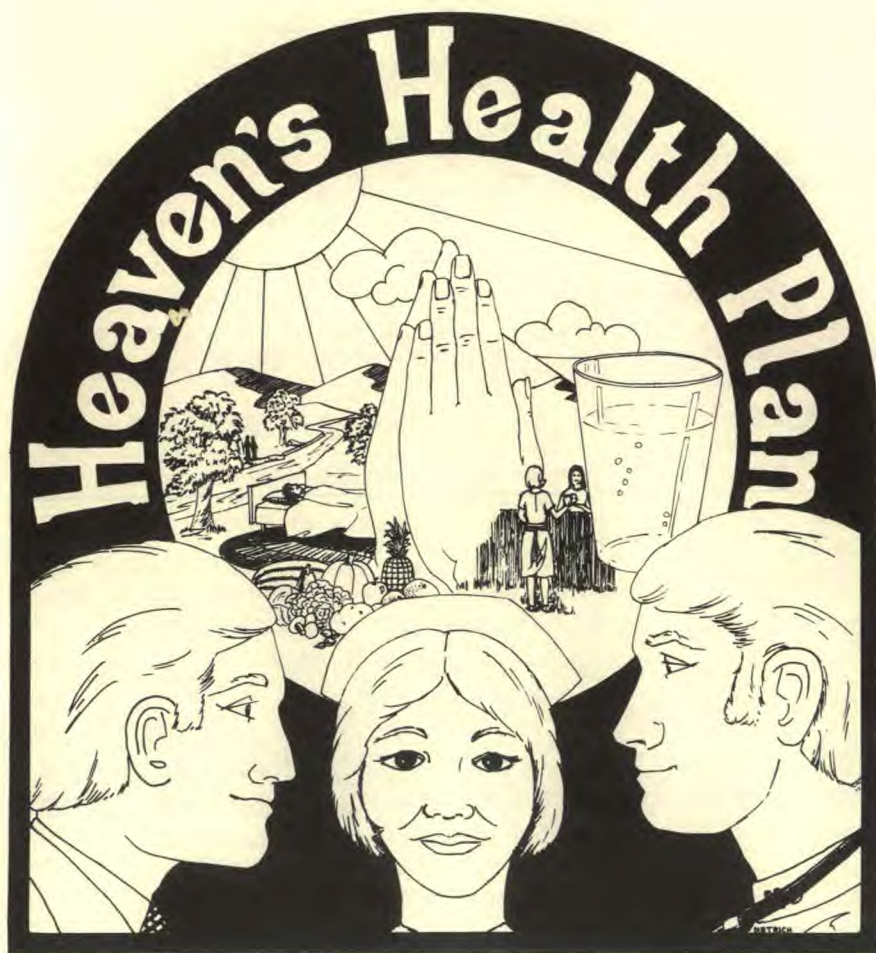

The Loma Linda University Trustees named Dr. Harrison S. Evans, chairman and professor of the department of psychiatry at Loma Linda University, the new dean of the School of Medicine, according to Dr. V. Norskov Olsen, president of the University.

Dr. Evans will be replacing Dr. David B. Hinshaw who will be returning to the department of surgery as chairman effective July 1.

ADVENTIST CHURCH GIVING INCREASED

In spite of a troubled economy, mission giving among Seventh-day Adventists during 1974 was up by 11 percent and tithe by 11.5 percent, reports Martin E. Kemmerer, undertreasurer of the General Conference.

According to his report, members in the United States and Canada gave $17,536,385 for missions last year, while the tithe amounted to $29,359,209. These figures do not reflect contributions made to local church building funds, parochial school support, the disaster aid program, or other projects of local nature.

The department of nursing of Andrews University is sponsoring a workshop for leaders in the Seventh-day Adventist Church on health and risk evaluation. The dates are September 5 to 11. Two quarter hours of graduate general workshop credit are available to those who desire it.

Physicians, ministers, nurses, dietitians, and other health professionals are invited to register for the course. Brochures and pre-registration forms are available from: The Dean, School of Graduate Studies, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

Those helping with the workshop will be Herald Habenicht, M.D.; Daniel Klein, Ph.D., physical fitness; Patricia Mutch, Ph.D., nutrition; Elder Richard Barron, alcohol and drugs; Elder Stoy Proctor, the minister's role in health education; Roy R. Wightman, assistant administrator of health education and rehabilitation at Hinsdale Sanitarium, plus others from the staff and faculty of Andrews University.

The workshop will include ways to organize and carry out a risk evaluation and a continuing educational program. Participants will do a screening for the general public and will also assist in the evening programs giving lectures and providing illustrations in order to teach the people of the surrounding community how to lower their risk factors. Study materials will be given out, and lab time will be available for preparation.

Those desiring to attend must pre-register by July 1, 1975. The workshop is restricted to 40 participants. Costs include tuition, $82; reference book, $12; room, $28; meals, $30. Meals may be paid for individually; meal tickets will also be available.

The reference book contains 530 pages of documented evidence for teaching health, and details the steps to be followed in planning and implementing a risk evaluation program with follow-up classes.

Ellen White states in Councils on Health, page 323, that "there are many ways of practicing the healing art, but there is only one way that Heaven approves. . . . Pure air and water, cleanliness, a proper diet, purity of life, and a firm trust in God, are remedies for the want of which thousands are dying." Ministry of Healing, page 127, adds sunlight, abstemiousness, rest, and exercise to the list of remedies in Heaven's health plan. On page 128 of the same book, Ellen White states, "Too little attention is generally given to the prevention of health. It is far better to prevent disease than to know how to treat it when contracted."

"We shall see the medical missionary work broadening and deepening at every point of its progress, because of the inflowing of hundreds and thousands of streams, until the whole earth is covered as the waters cover the sea."—Medical Ministry, p. 317.

Our objective is to encourage leaders to serve as resource persons for the many streams (lay activities) that shall cover the earth, so that all men shall know Heaven's plan to make man whole.

PREVIEW OF 1975 ILLINOIS CAMP MEETING

Elder W. D. Frazee

The Illinois camp meeting scheduled for June 13 to 21 with its varied programs should be one where every member would gain a real spiritual blessing.

The theme pictured at the back of the auditorium depicts a huge world with three angels flying over the world and people facing the unfinished task of taking the message to the State of Illinois and all the world.

Elder W. D. Frazee, who is recognized as one of the denomination's foremost authorities on the sanctuary, will give a valuable series on this subject.

Camp meeting is a good place to meet your friends who will be attending. The times demand you being in the picture for 1975.

H.M.S. Richards, Jr., and the King's Heralds Quartet of the Voice of Prophecy and Elder E. E. Duncan from Faith for Today will be with us.

A special ordination service will be held the first Sabbath, June 14.

Sabbath afternoon the Sabbath School Department will feature a Mission Spectacular which is a must for everyone to see.

Each day an open discussion on varied subjects of the Spirit of Prophecy featuring Elder James Hayward will be one of the outstanding programs. Elder Hayward has compiled his own personal index on the Spirit of Prophecy and is well able to answer questions on the spot concerning the inspired writings.

None will want to miss this part of the camp meeting program.

Other features will include a lay witnessing training class, Sabbath School workshop, Living Temple classes which present a study on human psychology as it relates to the physical, mental, and spiritual well-being of God's people, and a family-life series presented by Margaret Best, conference education supervisor.

Plan now to come and stay the entire week and enjoy a real spiritual feast.

He preached for 15 nights. The attendance was good, the commitment deepened, and the results were gratifying.

To date eight baptisms have resulted and others are contemplating that step. The meetings spawned a weekly pastor's Bible class in the little town of Hinckly. Attending are individuals and friends of those who heard the message for the first time during the January series in Aurora.

God has blessed the Aurora congregation throughout the years. As the congregation's commitment to God's service is deepening, it appears that even greater blessings are in store for it during 1975.

SOUTH BEND'S YOUTH CHOIR

The enthusiasm of youth has been apparent at the South Bend Church during the last few months. What started as a group of teenagers singing at a local nursing home on Sabbath afternoon, has resulted in the formation of a happy sounding youth choir.

Using the talents given to them by God, the young people have organized the group themselves. They have chosen the music, learned the parts, and planned their programs. The group meets each Sabbath afternoon after their regularly scheduled appearance at the nursing home and again on Wednesday evening after their own youth prayer meeting.

The South Bend members have enjoyed their performances at church services, Sabbath School programs, a Home and School meeting, and a recent spring banquet. Future plans include the presentation of a cantata, "The Three Angels' Messages," written by one of the members. The choir also plans to perform at the evangelistic meetings to be held April 12 to May 10 at the South Bend Church.

GARY GLEN PARK CHURCH WELCOMES NEWCOMERS

The Gary Glen Park S.D.A. Church joyfully welcome a new young couple to their church as a result of the colporteur workers in the area.

On January 18, Mr. and Mrs. James Stockstill were baptized in the Hammond Church since the Gary Glen Park Church is being renovated.

The Stockstills were first contacted approximately two years ago by John Hope, a literature evangelist in our area, who sold them a set of Bible Stories. Recognizing an interest in spiritual things he began studies with them.

The Stockstills, who make their home in nearby Merrillville, have two children—Tamara Jo, 7, and Richard Lee, 6. Mr. Stockstill makes his living as a landscape contractor.

THE MIDDLE EAST COMES ALIVE

James Stephan, principal of the Cicero church school, appeared in an original Middle East costume as he presented a series of mission stories to the Cicero Church of the adventures of the Stephan family as they served as teachers in Beirut, Lebanon. Beginning with their memorable journey on a freighter boat, he told of the unloading of their furniture by a dump truck in the middle of the street in front of their home, visiting Bethlehem on Christmas eve, and teaching in a small, dark, unequipped little school. The latest chapter was the story of how the Middle East celebrates Easter.

40-YEAR WISH COME TRUE

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Bruce of Elizabethtown, Indiana, recently celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary in a very special way—they renewed their marriage vows in the church wedding which the bride had always dreamed of having. The ceremony was conducted by Elder William F. Hawkes in the Columbus, Indiana, S.D.A. Church.

The Bruces, recent converts to the Adventist Church, were married in a minister's home in Madison, Indiana, on January 23, 1935. The home was destroyed last year in the April 3 tornado.

There was a reception, complete with three-tiered wedding cake, flowers, candles, and a punch bowl.

It was a festive occasion with the bride shedding a few tears of happiness for the wish of 40 years come true.

BIBLE STUDIES LEAD TO BAPTISM

Mrs. Janet Harris was baptized into the Kokomo church membership by Elder David Bissell on February 22, 1975.

Elder Merle Tyler, Kokomo's previous pastor, first contacted Mrs. Harris and encouraged her to join her husband and his family in the faith. Studies began.

The studies were continued by Elder Bissell, and Mrs. Harris became convinced to give her heart to the Lord and request baptism.

Bible studies continue to be given to interested individuals to prepare them for a future baptism into the membership of the Kokomo church.

EIGHTH GRADE CLASS RAISES FUNDS

The Cicero church school's eighth grade class is busy as they work toward graduation and raise funds for that and for their trip to Detroit in April. All eleven of them have shared in the work of planning, phoning, and serving at bake sales, hot school lunches, and sweating together as they clean yards and garages for church members to ensure funds for an educational and enjoyable trip.

James Stephan, Jeff Morgan, Annette Trubey, and Amy Huyck dish out the cakes and pies of the eighth grade bake sale to Mrs. Carol Brewer and Wayne Mays.

The class organized in January and chose their officers as follows: President, Annette Trubey; vice president, Larry Ward; treasurer, Wayne Mays; secretary, Lisa Warren; and pastor, Steve Nash.

MISSISSIPPI TO MICHIGAN NONSTOP

A few months ago Elder Sylister J. Jackson left the warm delta breezes of Mississippi and arrived here in the midst of a cold and bleak Michigan winter with his sleeves still rolled up.

Awaiting him in the Detroit area was a program already set a full go: the administrative duties of the Better Living Center, harvest Ingathering, election of officers, a pending evangelistic program, and the unexpected responsibility as interim pastor to the newly formed Conant Gardens church. Elder Jackson took all this in stride and the pace shows no signs of a let up in the foreseeable future.

More recently he organized the distribution of Amazing Facts followed by a three-week effort that added seven persons to the Detroit Center membership. In midsummer he will conduct a six-week tent effort on Detroit's east side. In the meantime there are home visitations, Bible studies, and new programs in the making that demand his attention.

In the South Central Conference Elder Jackson was just as fully committed. He pastored in three pulpits: the Canton, Lintonia, and Berean churches. He brings the same zeal for souls to Detroit Center. "Nothing is more important than soul winning," he often remarks. "In 1975 we will accomplish great things for the Lord." And somehow you know he means what he says.

Jackson is a serious and sensitive human being. Even casual observation reveals an extremely kind man whose character bears a noticeable resemblance to the Pattern. He and his wife Ivory are the parents of five children: Deidre, Audrey, Kitt, Patrick, and Monica ranging in age from 13 years to 21 months.

NEARLY 300 WORSHIP ON VISITOR'S DAY

The Bethel church in East Chicago, Indiana, celebrated Visitor's Day on March 15. Each had done well in planning for this special day. Nearly 300 persons filled the church to capacity.

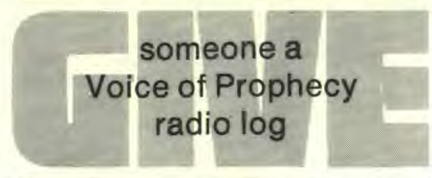

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Anosike, dressed in their native attire of Nigeria, pinpointed that country and carried the audience on an imaginary trip to that area for the mission appeal.

Mr. Anosike mentioned effective methods to reach out and help others in the mission field. Some of these methods include being a missionary, being an exchange student, subscribing to the Advent Messenger, and freely giving of your means.

The divine worship speaker for this occasion was Elder Richard Barron, youth and temperance director for the Lake Union Conference. His sermon expressed a need for the permanent, heavenly power of Jesus to enable us to live successfully in times like these.

Special music was provided by the Gordon McNicholson singers from Andrews University and the Mello Tones from the Chicagoland area. Elder Edward Avinger is the pastor.

NEWS NOTES

• Twenty-eight children from the Edenville church school on April 29 walked ten to fifteen miles to raise money for Faith for Today. Close to $600 was realized as a result. Near the journey's end some of the older children carried their little schoolmates over the goal. One grandmother, who sponsored her granddaughter at one dollar per mile, paid out $14 then bought the eight-year-old a new pair of shoes.

• A recent letter from a young Michigan enrollee in the Voice of Prophecy's Way Out program contained the following: "I think your pamphlets are great. They really are a lift to my spirits. I've really been messed up lately with all my problems, but not somehow it seems all straightened out. I hope that the pamphlets are as much a blessing to other messed up people as they are to me."

• The first follow-up meeting of a successful Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking held in Ironwood had to be cancelled because of a bomb scare at the community college where the meeting was to be held. Phil Hopkins, the local pastor, called those who had attended the clinic and found most "coming along beautifully." The group was looking forward to getting together for three follow-up meetings.

• Fire completely destroyed the old Boyne City Adventist church early Sabbath morning, April 26. The building had been used as a community service center and was filled with clothing, blankets, and bedding. The bulk of the material had been packaged for the spring clothing drive and shipment to the New York City clothing depot.

• An invaluable collection of photographs and letters concerning Adventist personalities and pioneers has been presented to the Battle Creek Tabernacle by Mrs. Mary Ester Nicola Hauck of California, daughter of its collector, the late Elder Leroy T. Nicola.

• A united church service of the South Haven, Covert, and Bangor churches was held April 19 in Bangor. Each of these three churches hosts such a gathering once a year. A potluck meal followed the morning service and at 2 p.m. a special musical program was presented. Elder Stuart Snyder is pastor of these churches.

• The month of April saw the completion of a painting project at the Owosso church school. The interior of the classrooms, the hallways, and lavatories now have a brightened appearance thanks to the concerted efforts of Mrs. Don Rowden and her helpers.

• At the investiture service May 3 for Battle Creek Pathfinders, 75 swimming honors were awarded. Elder Glenn Hill of the Urbandale church directed eight swimming sessions which resulted in awards for 25 beginners, 18 advanced beginners, 11 intermediates, 10 swimmers, and 11 lifesavers.

• Some first semester eighth-grade history projects of students at Battle Creek Academy were recently entered in the Battle Creek Youth Talent Exhibit. Gerald Curtis and Chuck Bradley earned "Best of Class" and "First Place" awards for models they had made.

• A four-night series of cooking classes was held in April in Detroit's Downriver Better Living Center in Melvindale. This was the first time in the Downriver area that such a course had been offered, according to a local newspaper. It was sponsored by the Oakwood church and taught by the pastor's wife, Mrs. Stuart Harrison.

• The South Flint Pathfinder Club, the Adventurers, raised $1,260 in a walkathon for camping equipment and then used it on a backpacking adventure to the Adirondack Mountains of New York.

• Ironwood church members took a tour of a local mortuary to learn more of the facts concerning funerals at a time when they were not bereaved. In addition, the church received one dollar for each member who took the tour.

• The Grand Rapids Central church, early in April, hosted a number of church leaders of the Trans-Africa Division. In the afternoon a mission "extravaganza" was held with costumes, slides and stories directly from the lands of Solusi, Malamulo, Kenya, and the Congo. Elder Victor R. Brown, the local pastor, is a former worker in that overseas division and arranged for these leaders who are taking advanced studies at Andrews to plan this special program.

• Each local elder of the Grand Rapids Central church is being asked to be on call as a "crisis chaplain" one week at a time. They are to be available for crises and special needs among the church members and friends of the church. A number of occasions have already arisen where this plan has proved helpful. The chaplain of the week is announced in the church's Sabbath bulletin.

• Lansing's "over eighties" were honored guests recently at a candlelight dinner. Hosting the nine "very special people" were the pre-retirement and retirement discussion groups.

• Pastors Earl Zager and William Dennis, assisted by Gerald S. Buchanan, M.D., have been using the General Conference's medical-oriented Century 21 material for evangelistic meetings. Health and happiness are the focal points of this Institute for Better Living. A stop-smoking clinic and cooking school were also held as part of the overall program.

• Visitors and members of the Niles Westside church socialize over the dinner plates and then divide for group activities every second Sabbath of each month. Some visit member shut-ins or absentees, some sing at the Skilled Care Center and nursing homes, others pass out literature from door to door, and still others address and enclose literature in envelopes for mailing. Two large mailings have invited people to indicate interest in stop-smoking clinics, vegetarian cooking school dates, and a choice of books—Steps to Christ or Great Controversy.

• An average of 24 nonchurch members attended each of the four cooking-nutrition classes recently held by the Marshall church. Participants seemed very interested and asked searching questions, according to one observer. A once-a-month follow-up was requested and is being planned by the church. Coordinators of the classes were Irma Krusac and Dorothy Mackintosh, both licensed home nutrition instructors.

• The 15 Twindale Pathfinders of the Twin Cities church in Alma sponsored vegetarian dinners in December and April as a fundraising project for their church family and community friends. A total of $206 for a camping trip to the Smokey Mountains in August resulted. Mrs. Marian Grandy, wife of the club director, planned and supervised the project. Friends of the Pathfinders were pleased with the tasty balanced meal.

75 ATTEND VEG-A-WEIGH

Four wheels in the ride to a successful weight control program are explained by Donna Patt, coordinator of the recent health education series sponsored by Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital, Veg-A-Weigh Control Program, and the Battle Creek area Seventh-day Adventist churches. Seventy-five persons attended the opening session of the weight control clinic for members of the community. The classes helped to pinpoint and control emotional factors leading to overweight and its accompanying health problems.

ACCIDENTS BOOST LITERATURE EVANGELIST'S SALES

While literature evangelist Mark Sherman was driving home after a successful day of $400 in sales recently, he little understood that God had more financial blessings in store.

He suddenly found himself cruising through a red light into the path of an oncoming car. When the vehicles came to a stop, he jumped out and ran to calm the irate driver, only to be greeted by a smile. Neither car was damaged. When he produced his "The Bible Story" calling card as identification, she questioned him about the set and wrote out a down payment check for $30.

"I didn't even get a mile from the scene of the accident when a flat tire forced me to the side of the road," Sherman relates. "Discovering that I had a spare but no jack, I bravely headed toward the nearest house." When the lady answered the door and refused to let Sherman use the phone, he blurted out, "Pardon me, lady, but I'm just a humble Bible Story representative." That opened the door.

He made his phone call but was unable to reach anyone to help him. On his way toward the door his unwilling hostess asked, "What was this about the Bible Story?" Another set sold!

Still needed help with his flat tire, the literature evangelist knocked next door and was assisted by the man there. This good neighbor noticed the books in the trunk of Sherman's car and—you guessed it!—bought a set.

One day's work; $1,000 in sales!

EDITION

Thomas K. Williams, Ed.D.

In response to a recent request by the Review and Herald Publishing Association, Thomas K. Williams, Ed.D., director of special services for substance abuse at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital, gave permission to have his book, Thy God Is with Thee, translated into Afrikaans.

Published in 1963 during the period when Dr. Williams was the hospital chaplain, the booklet was written especially for San patients but has since been used in many other hospitals across the country. Discussing 14 different topics, the booklet covers such areas as pain, loneliness, and fear. A number of texts are quoted from the Bible on each subject with a corresponding prayer on the facing page.

Requesting permission for the translation, D. H. Swanepoel, president of the Transvaal Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in Johannesburg, South Africa, said, "It [the booklet] has been a tremendous blessing to those who have had the privilege and opportunity of reading it during their period of illness."

CHURCH TO BE CONSTRUCTED BY MEMBERS

A new church is under construction in Glenwood.

Soon after the merging of the congregations of the Decatur and Glenwood Seventh-day Adventist churches in 1970, plans for a new sanctuary began to formulate. In the spring of 1974 the members began a new building to replace their present meeting place.

The exterior will be of Indiana limestone and aluminum siding. Each of the two large sanctuary windows will have a chevron of color glazing at the top.

The sanctuary will set 200 people while the balcony will accommodate another 75. Provisions have been made for division rooms for each age group, a mothers' room with a window on the sanctuary, several classrooms for adults, a church office, and a pastor's study. A covered walkway along each side of the building provides access to all division rooms from the spacious foyer.

A community services center will be located at the rear of the building, complete with storage and work areas and kitchen and laundry facilities. By opening the folding wall between this center and the junior room a large room will be available for fellowship dinners, receptions, etc.

This is a do-it-yourself project with all labor donated and members of all age groups have joined in the work. While the younger and stronger men mixed and poured the concrete, older men and women (nearly 80), teenagers and children as young as seven helped assemble the 192 glued-nailed trusses for the roof structure.

Pews and light fixtures will be constructed by the members. Total estimated cost of the completed building is between $50,000 and $60,000, including furniture.

The old church, built during 1901 and 1902 on the corner of what is now Dewey Lake Street and Glenwood Road, has served the community well. The new building stands just south of it, facing Glenwood Road.

"Death to the killers" is the motto as packs of cigarettes go in the coffin at the start of the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking held at Michigan State University.

STOP SMOKING, COOKING CLASSES HELD AT UNIVERSITY

A recent Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking conducted at Michigan State University by the East Lansing church was attended by an average of 40 "quitters," both students and local residents. Robert Lutz, D.O.; Jonathan Hamrick, J.D.; Tom Burns, M.D.; Dave Martin, M.D.; and Pastor Warren Johns led out in the lectures coordinated by laymember Mr. Viv Shull. Participants were given a vital lung capacity test to see how smoking had cut their breath before they began the program.

A cooking school held the next week in the church brought another audience of 40 comprised of bearded young men, well-dressed housewives, older women, and newspaper reporters. The four consecutive classes were coordinated by Mrs. Evonne Richards.

After a newspaper article on the classes appeared, the vice-president of the Foods and Nutrition Club at M.S.U. requested an evening demonstration to students there. Pastor Ron Ruskjer, M.S.P.H., of the Lansing church and Mrs. Sharon Anderson of the Williamston church assisted Mrs. Richards in the presentation to 30 people.

LANSING YOUTH HOLD CAMPAIGN

Five Lansing young people between the ages of 16 and 23 conducted a successful Voice of Youth campaign during April. The program was coordinated by Ron Ruskjer, assistant pastor of the Lansing church.

The five speakers for the campaign were Nancy Neveau, Bill Ivey, Al Ivey, Lorri Dudley, and Roger Randall. They were backed by a score of other young persons who made sure that the whole operation ran smoothly.

The series was "designed to enrich the whole person by sharing principles of physical, mental, social, and spiritual health." For ten consecutive nights the young people presented their messages in an evangelistic frame. A health lecture preceded each service except for the final night when the health presentation came after the meeting in the form of a vegetarian meal.

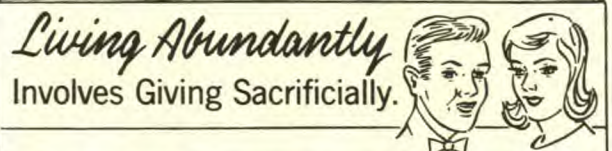

Attendance of non-Adventists was good throughout the whole series, Ruskjer reports.

B.C. HOSPITAL GETS NEW TREATMENT

No heavy machinery has moved onto the premises at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital, but improvements are nevertheless underway.

A redecorated, windowed office is now the new headquarters for outpatient admitting. The vacated room has been refurnished as an office for the hospital's radiologists.

Current building plans for the fourth floor of the Jeffrey Building show 43 additional beds; a treatment room; dining, recreational therapy and nurses' conference areas; and two lounges, one for smokers and one for nonsmokers. Along with the additional beds will be an expansion of the substance abuse program.

FAMILY-LIFE WORKSHOP SCHEDULED JUNE 30 TO JULY 11

A family-life workshop will be held this summer at A.U., June 30 to July 11. The objective of this workshop is to train teams (preferably husbands and wives), pastors, family-life educators, or those preparing for ministerial or religious education careers, in concepts and methods of organizing a church-centered, family-life education program.

Field-tested models will be presented, including Dr. and Mrs. Don Jacobsen's Seminar in Christian Growth, Elder and Mrs. Irvin Kurtz' Marriage Enrichment Seminar, and the Drs. John and Millie Youngberg's Operation Family program based on family leadership principles. The various approaches will be presented by their respective originators. Participants will have opportunity to develop their own audience-ready materials (strategies, overhead transparencies, etc.)

Three quarter credits (graduate or undergraduate) are allowed for the course. Tuition will be $123. Also there will be a workshop fee of $10, not required of participants with regular status in one of the colleges or schools of Andrews University. A packet of supplies will cost approximately $10; and audience-ready materials, including overhead transparencies, will vary from $10 to $30, depending upon what is made by the participant. To encourage the attendance of husband/wife teams, spouses of tuition-paying participants may attend on a non-credit basis by paying a minimal registration fee of $25.

Registration will be at 9 a.m., June 30. Direct all inquiries to the Dean, School of Graduate Studies, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.
