Five ~ Day Plan Held In Portland

A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, held recently in Portland, Indiana, was successful not only in helping 23 individuals stop smoking, but it produced much good will for the local Adventist church.

Dr. Eugene Gillum, Jay County Health Officer, presented smoking's effect on the respiratory and cardiovascular systems, and Dr. Tom Dunn, a local dentist, stressed the harmful effects of smoking on the oral cavity. Dr. Frank Wrestler, a Ball State University professor, explained the neurological physiology of establishing new habits, and how to control weight gain.

The victorious participants are still talking about what the Five-Day Plan did for them, and there is demand for another in the immediate future.

Loma Linda University Acquires ADVENTIST HERITAGE

Loma Linda University has recently acquired Adventist Heritage, a magazine devoted to the history of Adventism.

Adventist Heritage is an illustrated history journal that is published twice yearly. Earlier copies have been well received by church administrators, Adventist historians, academy Bible teachers, and others who have seen the magazine. Edited in an easy reading style with many illustrations, the magazine has articles on many previously little-known aspects of Adventist history.

Adventist Heritage will be produced by the University Library's department of archives and research in cooperation with Adventist historians and theologians. The department of archives and research also operates Heritage Rooms in the libraries on both campuses of the university.

Subscriptions are available for $4 a year. Write to Adventist Heritage, Loma Linda University Library, Loma Linda, California 92354. Copies of the first two issues are still available at the original price of $4.

SOME CHURCHES GAIN MEMBERS

While most churches showed a loss in membership for last year, a few churches showed sizable gains. According to the 1975 Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches the largest increase was recorded by the Church of God (Cleveland, Tennessee), which rose 5.5 percent to 313,000 members. The Church of the Nazarene, the Jehovah's Witnesses, the Seventh-day Adventists, and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) all cited excellent gains. Except for the Southern Baptist Convention, all other large Protestant denominations lost members during the same time period.

RELIGIOUS GROUPS TO BE USED IN RESETTLING REFUGEES

Religious and other voluntary agencies will handle the resettlement of Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees in the United States. The seven groups which to date have volunteered to resettle the Asians are the U.S. Catholic Conference, the National Council of Churches, the Lutheran Council in the U.S.A., United H.I.A.S. (which is Jewish), International Rescue, the American Fund for Czechoslovak Refugees, and the Tolstoy Foundation. Much of the resettling will be done through local congregations. Areas of high unemployment will be avoided in resettlement.

NEW HEAD FOR MERGING DEPARTMENTS

Paul M. Weichert

Newly appointed to serve as associate director of International Audio Visual Service (I.A.V.S.) is Paul M. Weichert. Merging with I.A.V.S. is the Review and Herald Audio-Visual Department.

In charge of Review and Herald Audio Visuals up to this time, Weichert brings a broad background of experience to I.A.V.S. He will help in launching new audio-visual projects to meet the constantly growing demand from the world field. Currently being prepared are new feature slide sets and audio-visual approaches.

HIGH RESPONSE FROM NEW SPOTS

Approximately 50 percent of all radio stations in the U.S. and Canada have carried one or more of the Voice of Prophecy's new Aware spots aimed at the secular man. The continuing series of 30- and 60-second radio messages are aired on a public service basis. Total cash value of donated air time is already in excess of $2 million. Response from listeners and radio stations was so overwhelming that during the initial three months of the project, it exceeded the numerical goal that had been set for the year, according to John Robertson, director of the Aware series. Since the project began last fall, responses have averaged more than 200 per week.

SPEECH AND HEARING ASSOCIATION FORMED

The Speech and Hearing Association of Seventh-day Adventists was formed in 1972 to provide a professional organization for the Seventh-day Adventist members of the speech pathology and audiology professions. The purposes of the Association are as follows: A) to promote information about available S.D.A. training programs to students interested in these programs, B) to assist S.D.A. colleges in recruitment of qualified students, C) to provide continuing information to S.D.A. colleges and other institutions about qualified professionals who might be available for employment, D) to encourage and devise ways to extend appropriate services to speech and hearing handicapped S.D.A. members and their families, E) to promote research in appropriate areas of speech pathology and audiology in S.D.A. institutions, F) to provide Christian fellowship for S.D.A. students majoring in these professions at nondenominational colleges and universities.

Regular membership is open to Seventh-day Adventist individuals in the professions of speech pathology and/or audiology. Student membership is open to individuals registered as majors in speech and pathology and/or audiology undergraduate or graduate training programs. Affiliate membership is also available to members of the Seventh-day Adventist church in allied professions such as the education of the deaf, learning disabilities, physical therapy, etc., and to parents or others responsible for the care of handicapped persons.

For further information and membership applications, individuals should address their inquiries to the Speech and Hearing Association of Seventh-day Adventists, Pacific Union College, Angwin, California 94508.

Italy

Thirteenth Se Euro-Afr

In every hall, on and under staircases, in every available space, paper and inventory are stacked high. Because there is no more space available in the publishing house, paper is also stored in workers' garages, and cars remain on the street.

In a space that should accommodate no more than two presses there are five. This makes it difficult to carry the paper to each of the machines as it is needed.

Italy is a land whose history is colored by the development of the Christian church. Nearly two thousand years ago, Paul answered for his belief in Jesus before the emperor of ancient Rome. When the papal powers arose, God's followers still had to answer for their faith. The centuries took their toll in Italy.

But today Christian Rome is losing her impact. Many Italians are questioning recent developments in their church, and are neglecting mass and leaving the faith of their fathers. Many are searching for answers to their perplexities. The Seventh-day Adventist Church has these answers. Moreover, there is unprecedented freedom to proclaim the good news in Italy. But Seventh-day Adventists in Italy are few in number to evangelize 55 million.

Literature evangelists play a vital role in carrying God's last day message to the people of Italy. They go from door to door with two excellent journals, Vita e Salute ("Life and Health"), which enjoys a monthly circulation of 55,000 copies, and Segni dei Tempi ("Signs of the Times"), with 5,000 copies. There are also 30 subscription books for the book evangelists and nine Spirit of Prophecy volumes.

This literature is published at Casa Editrice "L'Araldo della Verita," in Florence. This publishing house was opened 50 years ago. Still housed in the original building, although offices and rooms have been added, Casa Editrice now appears more like a warehouse or depot than a printing establishment. Book signatures, paper stock, magazines, and inventory are stacked in every available space, making actual press work difficult. But there is no more room for expansion.

Our books and magazines are imperative to the work of the church in Italy. To supply our colporteurs and members with the literature they need, a more functional building is essential. No one knows how long doors will remain open in the seat of the great power that is to play a decisive role in closing events of this world's history. Now is the time to provide the help so urgently needed.

Mozambique

Munguluni students must cook their own meals in the school kitchen, a lean-to attached to the main building.

This is the day of opportunity in Mozambique. The people there are calling for someone to teach them the Bible truths, but there are no workers to send.

The Munguluni Training School has only one teacher for the entire ministerial course. Funds do not permit the hiring of a second. According to law, our teachers could be barred from continuing, unless they receive more training. The entire curriculum offers only four years of primary school and three years of Bible study.

The whole plant needs to be improved. Classrooms are not large enough. Dormitories are not adequate. Students eat only at noon and in the evening, and must cook their own cassava in oil drums on the ground outdoors, in their free time. The students pay a token matriculation fee, but it does not cover even their writing materials. They do not have any money nor a way of earning any.

If tuition were raised, the students would not be able to pay it. They would be happy to work to cover part of their expenses, but school industries are impracticable, because Munguluni is too isolated, too far from a market for student products.

In Mozambique there are over 6,000 children in schools like this, most of them taught by teachers with only four years of formal education.

As anxious students look on, Henrique Berg, president of the Mozambique Union, and Alberto Nunes, president of the Central Mission, lay the first stone for the dispensary, which is part of the proposed Adventist educational center in Mozambique.

Since the reorganization of the field in 1972, the new union has dedicated its efforts to finding a solution to these very real and urgent problems. All agree that the only way to meet the emergency is to build a new Adventist educational institution in a more accessible location. The site chosen for the school is 15 kilometers from Beira, geographical center of the country.

Beira will provide a ready market for products of school industries, and offer an excellent territory for literature evangelists. Plans are also underway for adding a secondary course to the curriculum and to upgrade the ministerial training for future workers.

Cost of this project will be about $320,000. The people of Mozambique have faith that God will provide the means to build this urgently needed institution. The future of the church in Mozambique depends on it.

GALESBURG COMMUNITY SERVICES CENTER PURCHASES VAN

The Galesburg Community Services Center has purchased a 1973 Chevrolet van, expanding their services to the community. The center, located at 411 North Hebard in Knoxville, plans to use this vehicle for transporting clothing and food to people in need; for disaster emergencies; and for transportation for people coming to the public service programs sponsored by the center—such as Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking, Neighborhood Bible Clubs, etc. The van can seat up to 11 adults comfortably or its seats can be removed for hauling supplies.

The van has the community services name printed on it. The local center works cooperatively with the statewide organization in fulfilling the needs of the area. Packets containing basic essentials of clothing, toilet articles, etc., are being prepared to be given to disaster victims in the event of a crisis.

The first donation for the van was given by a retired senior citizen sacrificially. She gave $50. Other generous gifts have been given, and fund-raising projects have been carried out. A garage sale brought in about $250 and selling popcorn has expanded the amount. Funds are still being raised to complete the payment.

So far the Galesburg van has been delivering clothing and food from the center as well as visitation to assess family needs. Each week the van has provided transportation for 20 to 30 children to come to a Neighborhood Bible Club.

The new South Suburban church in Flossmoor, Illinois.

Reed of Flossmoor gave a short welcome speech. Special music was provided by the Blessed Hope Singers.

The South Suburban congregation has been increasing, and the facility in Chicago Heights was too small. Plans to expand or build have often been discussed, but nothing concrete came about. Then Elder John Holstein was notified by the owners of the Church of the Master that it was for sale. The building was being renovated after a fire which occurred a year ago.

The congregation united in prayer to seek the Lord's will in the matter. They seemed to find favor with the owners of the church, and felt this was a direct answer to their prayer. The beautiful sanctuary, purchased January 24, 1975, is located at the corner of Kedzie Avenue and Flossmoor Road in Flossmoor, Illinois.

As one enters the sanctuary, one is impressed with the elegant simplicity and the cathedral-like acoustics and decor. The sanctuary seats 400, with mothers' rooms and plans for a baptistry now under way. Sabbath School rooms, a large fellowship hall, and a complete kitchen are located on the lower level.

"Onward and upward" was the challenge given to the graduates of a seminar entitled Adventures in Attitudes recently presented at Broadview Academy.

enthusiasm of the group interactions." Instead of listening to lectures, the class participated in discussion groups of four to six people. There were 74 different projects to work on with supplemental materials.

Some of the subjects covered were effective communications, positive attitudes, turning weakness into strength, understanding people, expanding your tolerance, good human relations, attitudes and leadership, how to motivate yourself, goals and self-management, developing self-confidence.

The basis for this program is taken from I Corinthians 13, emphasizing humility, empathy, and understanding.

Graduates said, "As a result of taking Adventures in Attitudes my life will be more productive, and social relationships will offer more opportunities for spiritual growth."

"I feel that many of the basic principles can very profitably be incorporated into the needs of our church congregation—such as goal setting, motivations, and listening."

"Somehow I wish that all of our church officers and school teachers had the opportunity to take this course. It would be of tremendous value to a moving church program."

All participants expressed their appreciation for the informative program and consideration is being given to having more of the same seminars at a later date.

36-MEMBER CHURCH HOLDS SERIES

Can a small church hold evangelistic meetings profitably? Ingall's Seventh-day Adventist Church of 36 members held an evangelistic series of meetings April 4 to May 11. The church members supported the meetings very well. Frequently there were more in attendance than in an average Sabbath service.

God blessed each one involved in the meetings. Several visitors attended the meetings regularly and one is presently preparing to unite with God's remnant people. This one lady came as a result of a personal invitation from the Faith for Today TV program. She had been studying earnestly their Bible correspondence course.

So, little church, where you may be, Have "your loins girt about with truth... and your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace." (Eph. 6:14, 15) God will reward your efforts.

Zora Heltzel was honored at a special Mother's Day program in Kokomo.

OLDEST MEMBER HONORED ON MOTHER'S DAY

Zora Heltzel, who was 84 on Sabbath, May 3, was honored at the Mother's Day service held during Sabbath School on May 10. She is the oldest living member in the Kokomo church.

The following tribute was read by Mrs. Susan Zarsynka, Sabbath School secretary:

"As I sat and visited with this wonderful woman yesterday afternoon, my faith was certainly strengthened.

"Sister Heltzel has been a Seventh-day Adventist Christian for 58 years. Her marriage of almost 62 years was a 'till death do us part,' and if some of you sisters panic when your automatic washer breaks down, this remarkable woman reared seven children without one, and the sheets on their beds were always ironed.

"She worked for the family store on the Friday before her daughter Ilene was born on the following Sabbath morning. Today, she still audits the daily sales slips of her business to make sure of their correctness.

"I asked Sister Heltzel how she became an Adventist. She said the family was living in Marion, Indiana, at the time, and she caught one of her boys burning a book. She recovered the partly burned book from the fire, instructing her son to never burn books again. She read what was left of the book, a copy of The Great Controversy. She became very interested. Not long thereafter she visited her brother-in-law in Michigan and was able to complete the reading of the book of which her brother had a copy. Her husband became interested in the book and its contents and looked around for a Seventh-day Adventist church. He found the old church on Teller Street in Berrien Springs, Michigan, where they first attended.

"Of her seven children, three are Adventists. All her children attended S.D.A. church schools, and five attended S.D.A. academies. She has 14 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

"She is a firm example of the health teachings of our church and has been a vegetarian for 41 years.

"This woman of faith is a rich heritage of living history—her life has encompassed the horse and buggy days and these days when men walk on the moon."

A floral tribute was presented by Mrs. Chelsea Julian, Sabbath School superintendent, and Mrs. Heltzel was surprised by 14 of her descendants, who came forward and occupied the first rows of the church with her for the remainder of the service.

C.S.C. OUTREACH

Sunday, April 20, at the Glendale Seventh-day Adventist Church, over 100 people attended a Community Services Outreach Seminar. Elder Harry Sackett, conference lay activities secretary, organized the day's activities.

Elder Richard Barron, youth director for the Lake Union, was the keynote speaker. He presented the challenge of getting out where the people are and reaching their needs.

The rest of the program was devoted to three different workshops. The people were divided up into three groups and after each session the groups rotated to another workshop. By the day's end, each person had attended each workshop.

Mrs. Betty Ahnberg, a very successful community service director from Medina, Ohio, had a most interesting workshop on how to love people as you work with them and how to involve the non-Adventist in your Community Service Center.

Elder A. W. Bauer, union lay activities secretary, and Elder Sackett had a workshop on soul-winning outreach and they presented the latest material available.

Elders Barron and Hoffman had the third workshop on how to reach our communities with our temperance Better Living message. At this workshop, information was given on temperance exhibits, first-day church temperance programs, and public school temperance programs.

The Indianapolis Junior Academy tenth-grade class prepared a delicious noon meal under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Ruby Longfellow.

WARREN SCHOOL EARNS SPELLING BEE TROPHY

The annual Lake Region Conference spelling bee, sponsored by the Semper Paratus Club of the City Temple church, Detroit, was held at the Burns Avenue church recently. Two students from grades five through eight from each of our seven schools participated in the contest.

The first- and second-place winners were Andre L. Pierce and Donald Wright, respectively. They are both eighth-grade students from the Clinton Warren school in Detroit and students of Mr. Gilbert Cooper. The third-place winner was Nancy Moore of the Frank L. Peterson school in Inkster. Mrs. Inez Shelton is her teacher.

The 1974 trophy was won by Carlton Pierce, an older brother of Andre and a student at the Warren school. The trophy is now retained by the Warren school. It has to be won for two consecutive years before it can become the permanent possession of the school.

CONGREGATION DESIRES A CHURCH HOME

Members of the Beacon of Joy church are anxious to get their own church home. Having been organized for less than one year, the congregation is worshipping in a rented church.

To make a new church home a reality, the church board, along with Elder J. D. Simons, pastor, decided to choose seven women to act as building fund committee leaders. The church membership was divided seven ways so that each member was on a committee.

To climax a special six-week building fund drive, the church decided to have a musical with the various sister churches participating. During this time, the members were to solicit patrons, get ads, and give one's own individual goal. The church fasted one day a week and prayed earnestly for the success of their project.

On May 3 the musical was held. The church rejoices and praises God for $1,607.70 reported on that date. Additional donations and personal commitments have been received by the treasurer since that date. A special word of thanks is extended to all the area churches for their cooperation and donations.

Although the membership is small, the members have faith. With Bible assurances and the spirit-filled sermons by assistant pastor Barry Brandon, the church is looking forward to a church home very soon.

METROPOLITAN BIBLE INSTITUTE ACTIVE

The Burns Avenue church recently formed the Metropolitan Bible Institute with Elder T. M. Kelly, pastor; Lane Todd, lay activities leader; Georgia Slater, Bible instructor; and Robert Gardner, assistant lay activities and Mission '75 leader. The purpose of the Mission '75 program is soul winning.

Members of the church made personal contacts with individuals of the neighborhood for Bible studies. The lessons were delivered weekly by the same individuals from the church until they were completed.

Graduation exercises were held at the Burns Avenue church for those who completed the Bible lessons. Each graduate received a copy of the book Bible Readings for the Home.

Elder S. J. Jackson, pastor of the Better Living Center and Covant Gardens churches in Detroit, was the speaker. He admonished the graduates to continue their search for the truth.

EMMANUEL CHURCH HOLDS YOUTH DAY PROGRAM

The youth department, along with the building committee of the Emmanuel church in Chicago Heights, held a youth day program on May 3 at the community center of that city.

The speaker was John McFarland, ministerial student from Oakwood College. His sermon title was "On This Rock I Build My Church."

Also on this day, ten students graduated from the Bible class that had been conducted by the church. Morris L. Wren, pastor, presented a baptismal certificate to a new member.

The afternoon musical featured the Blessed Hope Singers from Indiana and representation from six Chicagoland churches. The purpose of the program was to add funds toward the purchase of a new church home. Over $1,000 was reported for that purpose. Patricia Davis was coordinator of the program.

ECORSE HOSTS COMMUNITY SERVICE FEDERATION

The spring meeting of the community service federation of the Detroit area met at the Ecorse church. There was representation from all 13 churches, filling the church. A hearty welcome was extended to those who are working with our church societies but are not members of the Adventist church.

Elder Norman Miles, pastor of the Ecorse church, gave a most inspiring message on the "Different Kinds of Love," after which Mrs. Ethel Hill presented a beautiful solo.

The meeting gave pointers on how to help others in our centers and what to do in times of disaster. Nellie Blanks and Marjorie Andrews gave a skit showing the do's and don'ts when interviewing a client and giving a helping hand in times of disaster.

An interesting skit was given by 12 girls from the North Street church in Flint, Michigan, who call themselves the "Health and Hand Club." They showed how other youth can help in physical and spiritual needs. The aim of the Detroit area is to have such a group working for the Lord in every church.

The meeting closed with a happy and determined spirit to go forward working hand in hand with the Master.

NEWS NOTES

• Mrs. Mildred Nelson, of the Grand Rapids church, was recently named Volunteer of the Year by the Rockford board of education. She has served as a volunteer in an area elementary school helping the principal, teachers, and students in a variety of ways. A special award was presented to her at a reception in Grand Rapids.

• A Voice of Prophecy Bible student from Michigan has written to the broadcast's Bible school to say, "I became interested in your Bible course through a close friend who wanted to help me with my problems. I've learned so much, thanks to you. For some time I've tried several times to kill myself, but since studying your lessons have found life worth living."

• A special medical-ministerial retreat was held at Au Sable on the weekend of May 17. Doctors and ministers gathered together for fellowship and to learn ways of working together in programs of medical evangelism. Over three hundred people were on hand for Sabbath services.

• The Life Line Center in Grand Rapids has been destroyed by fire. The center, run by Adventists of Oak Haven at Pullman, has been serving vegetarian meals to the public for a number of years. It also served as a health education center.

• Even before Ironwood's Vacation Bible School started, its influence had brought two young boys to Sabbath School. Pastor Phil Hopkins stopped at a farm seeking a wagon to use in picking up children for the V.B.S. A family of former Adventists from Pennsylvania had been living on the farm for about two years. During the visit the 14-year-old son asked if he could come to Sabbath School. He came and brought one of his step-brothers with him. The older boy also attended the Thursday afternoon youth Bible discussion held by the church.

• The Jackson Citizen Patriot recently ran a feature story with a large picture on the ordinance of humility as celebrated by the local church. An article by the paper's religion writer quotes Pastor Ola Robinson as saying the foot washing ceremony can be seen "as symbolic of the day-to-day confession of personal sin." The practice can also have practical aspects, the article points out, as it reports that "this ordinance of the church can restore friendships" that were broken because of "little rifts."

• A report from the conference ministerial department shows the following evangelistic programs just completed or in progress: Eaton Rapids with 15 decisions; Lapeer, 7; Holland, 26; Saginaw, 15; Livonia, 4; and Houghton-Calumet, 25. This makes 92 decisions, with 26 of them from the Holland series having been already baptized at the time Elder Loor released this report. The report also showed that during the first quarter of this year, 101 persons joined the church by baptism or profession of faith, a slight increase over the first quarter of last year.

• Elder G. W. Morgan, president of the Indiana Conference, has been named trustee of the Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital to replace Elder Robert Dale, formerly of Indiana but now Wisconsin Conference President.

ESCANABA HOSTS MEATLESS CLASSES

"Fun with Vegetarian Cooking" was the theme of two special classes held May 13 and 14 in the Escanaba church. The pastor's wife, Mrs. Evelyn Howell was the director with Mrs. Celia Turner of the Delta County Cooperative Extension Department as coleader. According to Pastor Howell, this was the first such class for a number of years and about 45 persons (one-third of them nonchurch members) attended. Above, Marlene Rawls, Ella Turner, Ladene Snowden, Darlene Mattson, and Evelyn Howell sample their handiwork, dressed in their community services uniforms which they wore for the classes.

EMPLOYEES HONORED FOR SERVICE

Thirty-seven employees were honored for their years of service at the annual award and recognition dinner held recently by the Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital.

Special honors for the longest number of years went to Blanche Van Atta, R.N., a 1932 graduate of the sanitarium's school of nursing. In addition to a 45-year pin, Miss Van Atta also received a doll dressed in the same style as her own nursing uniforms, plus an "IV" bottle filled with silver dollars, one for each year she has worked at the hospital.

Representing the medical staff, L. Harold Caviness, M.D., staff psychiatrist, gave Miss Van Atta a large bouquet of red and white roses, saying she was one of those special persons who really cares for people.

Handing out the recognition pins to each employee was Administrator Vernon L. Small, assisted by William H. Murrill, treasurer of the Lake Union Conference, who attended on behalf of the board of trustees.

Other persons honored were Elizabeth Ingle, R.N., head nurse, who also helped to set up the mental health unit in 1958, and Esther Robbins, housekeeper, for 30 years of service; Marion Knights, R.N., and Edith Rice, R.N., for 20 years; and Theron Avery, nursing assistant, for 15 years.

Eight employees received 10-year awards and 23 received 5-year pins.

Included as a part of this year's awards program was a special presentation to four employees, either retired or near retirement, recognizing their outstanding service to the hospital. Receiving plaques with a message of appreciation and gratitude were Alice Werstein, for 60 years; Miss Van Atta, for 45 years; Leonard Stover, R.T., for 41 years; and Ida Hoag, R.P.T., with 29 years.

Giving an assist in the ground-breaking services for the new Burlington-Coldwater church school were three young pupils. Working the shovel with his dad, "Bob" Cook, school board chairman, left, is Ricky; assisting Pastor Boggess is his daughter Darla; and giving a hand—and a foot—to assist Elder Moon is Cook's daughter Sandy. Ricky and Sandy are already attending school while Darla will start her formal education this fall.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING UNDER CONSTRUCTION

A simple ground-breaking ceremony took place on May 15 to mark the beginning of a new 64,000 square foot school building for the Burlington and Coldwater churches.

According to Pastor Ben Boggess, the plans call for two class rooms and an all purpose room to accommodate 50 students. Provisions for expansion when needed are also included, he added.

Speaking for the conference administration, Elder R. D. Moon, president, revealed his great admiration for our teachers and indicated that church members should recognize that the teaching ministry of the church is a definite part of its evangelistic thrust.

"Education, even more than preaching," Moon added, "is most important, for the young growing generation must be shaped to become future trustworthy leaders of our country." He also praised parents and other church members who are willing to sacrifice to make Christian education for the youth possible.

Also present for the ground breaking were Elders Kenneth Hutchins, conference educational superintendent; Charles Keymer, conference secretary; and James Hayward, superintendent of the Battle Creek district.

The new building site is located on Barnhard Road, Coldwater, in a spot convenient for both the Burlington and Coldwater congregations.

The new $90,000 school will replace the present classrooms located in the basement of the Rayborn Memorial church in Coldwater. It will be fully accredited and will accept a limited number of non-Adventist children from the community. Present plans call for the metal and brick structure to be completed in time for the 1975-76 school year.

OUTDOOR BAPTISM AT CEDAR LAKE

Doug Mattson and Leonard Hall, Cedar Lake Academy students, were recently baptized in an outdoor service by Pastor Don Eckenroth. They were two of eight who proclaimed publicly their love for Christ in this manner. A number of these students made their decision during the recent Week of Prayer meetings held by Elder Richard Barron, Lake Union youth leader. Other students baptized were Karen Collins, June Smith, Brent Braddock, Perry Baddor, Dawn Clear, and Marsha Keeney.

A. K. PHILLIPS DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Elder Alva Kenneth Phillips

A well-known former Michigan Conference worker passed to his rest recently in California.

Elder Alva Kenneth Phillips died on April 28, 1975, in Santa Cruz after being bedridden for a number of years. For 43 years he had served the church as a pastor and departmental worker.

After graduating from Enterprise Academy, "A. K." worked his entire way through Union College, Lincoln, Nebraska, as a literature evangelist. Even during the depression era he earned from two to three scholarships per summer.

Immediately after graduation Phillips began graduate studies at Friends University, Wichita, Kansas. During this time he also earned his life-time teaching credentials and taught in Missouri and Kansas before becoming principal of Jefferson Academy in Texas.

In the fall of 1940, the Texas Conference called Elder Phillips into the gospel ministry, where he served for ten years in pastorates located in the Rio Grande valley, Austin, and San Antonio. He then responded to the Michigan Conference to pastor the Jackson church, and the Battle Creek Tabernacle. After serving at the Tabernacle he was called to head the conference lay activities department. He later served the departments of temperance, radio-television, and religious liberty. For many years Elder Phillips was a well-known figure at the state capitol in Lansing, developing close relationships with many legislators and instilling in their minds principles of true freedom of religion.

Often these men, as well as the governors, called him personally for counsel before making final decisions on bills pertaining to the Adventist stand on church-state or temperance issues.

During these years, Elder Phillips was instrumental in helping to eliminate antiquated and oppressive Sunday Blue Laws on the statute books in Michigan. He also participated actively with Americans United for the Separation of Church and State. Next to his great love for the many souls he had baptized during his ministry, came his devotion to the cause of religious liberty.

In January of 1970, Elder Phillips answered a call to the Central California Conference to serve as chaplain of the Santa Cruz Community Hospital, where he served until a stroke forced him into full retirement.

EVANGELISTIC PROGRAM PLANNED FOR DETROIT

Mrs. Amelia Reinhardt has stitched 1,020 quilts for the Berrien Springs Community Service Center.

1,020 QUILTS STITCHED BY COMMUNITY SERVICE CENTER WORKER

Only those who have personally experienced the terrifying sensation of being awakened out of a sound sleep by the cry of "FIRE" and have been choked by acrid smoke can fully appreciate what it all means.

Fortunate are those who escape without the loss of loved ones and who are not called upon to suffer the painful aftermath of serious burns. But few escape without the loss of personal and family effects. To stand in the midst of the charred ruins of what was one's home is enough to crush the stoutest heart, especially if there is no insurance with which to replace the efforts of years. Fortunate is such a family if it is located where there is an active Adventist community service center.

A recent fire in the Berrien Springs area left four families of 24 individuals facing the loss of everything except the clothes on their backs. The local center went into action immediately and took nearly 500 items of clothing and furnishings to rehabilitate the families.

What made it possible for the center to meet these needs? Literally thousands of hours of volunteer service, restoring donated items to further usefulness, and new items purchased with funds supplied by the sponsoring churches of the center.

One of the faithful workers who gives so generously of time and talents is Mrs. Amelia Reinhardt of Berrien Springs. She is 85 years old this month, lives alone, and has a large garden which she generously shares with her friends. Each Tuesday finds her in the sewing department at the center; then she takes home quilt tops that have been prepared, and sews them together during the week on an old-fashioned treadle machine.

In the past ten years she has stitched 1,020 quilts, which must be a record of sorts. Each top consists of from 99 to 221 pieces. Some quilts can take as much as four hours to stitch. Most people would consider such work too monotonous and time consuming, but not Mrs. Reinhardt. She finds happiness and satisfaction in it, and many people have slept warmed and more comfortable for her ministry of love.

The Berrien Springs Community Service Center is proud of Mrs. Reinhardt, as is the Pioneer Memorial church, where she is an active member.

EVERYONE HELPS IN WAUSAU EVANGELISTIC SERIES

When the members of the Wausau Seventh-day Adventist Church decided to invite everyone to their evangelistic meetings, that's exactly what they did!

April 4 and 5 found many members hunched over 22,000 envelopes and over 700 pounds of invitations, flyers, and tickets. The goal was to send a personally addressed envelope and invitation to every family in the Wausau, Mosinee, Schofield, Rothschild, Brokaw, and Marathon area, a total of about 66,000 people.

Each family addressed 500 to 1,000 envelopes which were then ready to sort, count, stuff, stamp, lick, alphabetize, and categorize. "The scene was beautiful as the members faithfully worked toward the goal and what a blessing to see even the children involved," said Althea Krassin, a member who participated.

Elder Art Bushnell, conference evangelist, spoke to an overflow crowd opening night in the Wausau crusade.

The blanketing of an area with direct mail has not been used previously in Wausau. The invitation consisted of a flyer, which listed the Bible study topic for each meeting, four tickets, which upon presentation entitled each individual to their choice of a picture of Christ, and a R.S.V.P. card. For those who had previous contacts with the S.D.A.'s through It Is Written, Faith for Today, or Ingathering, an additional invitational letter was enclosed.

Opening night resulted in a blessing far greater than imagined. Fifty nonmembers attended, 20 of whom came as a result of the direct mail method.

A gift Bible was given each one attending to use during the Bible study and became his by attending nine meetings.

Mrs. Hope Bushnell demonstrated vegetarian products and recipes each weekend.

Elder Art Bushnell, the speaker for the series, kept everyone thinking with a Bible quiz before each study. "The Abundant Life—What Is It? Where Is It?" was the study on the opening night as Elder Bushnell unfolded many Bible truths and promises.

Weekends were extra special with Mrs. Hope Bushnell conducting vegetarian cookery classes, acquainting the public with a new, better, healthier diet.

Initial results included seven additions to the church the final weekend of the meetings. A second baptism is scheduled.

PERSONNEL CHANGES IN WISCONSIN CONFERENCE

At the last conference committee, much attention was given to our departmental needs, due to the vacancy created when Elder Glenn Aufderhar transferred from the trust services department to president of our Mid-American Nursing Home chain.

During the past five years, Elder Aufderhar had attained outstanding results in the trust area; therefore this opening was of prime consideration.

Due to the increased emphasis on lay participation and the added impetus that It Is Written is producing in the field, it was deemed prudent to consider the lay activities area as a prime need also.

Elder Robert Thompson has carried the lay activities department as well as the ministerial association, but with the increased need in this area, it was felt best to divide these responsibilities, with him spending his full time with the ministerial-evangelistic needs of the conference.

Because of these two prime areas of concern, it was voted to ask Elder Mart Mooers, who had been carrying the stewardship department and assisting in the trust department, to continue to carry these two responsibilities, with his major area of concern in the trust service department. Elder Ernie Wheeler has been invited to accept the lay activities department and to be associate stewardship secretary.

It is the prayer of your conference committee that these changes will further enhance the Lord's work in Wisconsin and that it will not be long until the Lord will come.

Dr. Arvil N. Bunch, director of the Army Education program, was the commencement speaker at Andrews University on Sunday, June 8.

341 STUDENTS GRADUATED AT A.U.

Andrews University conferred 343 degrees, including two honorary doctorates, during spring commencement on Sunday, June 8.

Twelve students constituted the first graduating class of A.U.'s new College of Technology. Others graduated included 28 from the Theological Seminary, 85 from the School of Graduate Studies, and 216 from the College of Arts and Sciences.

Commencement speaker, Dr. Arvil N. Bunch, received an honorary doctor of laws degree. He is director of the world-wide Army Education program, which has an enrollment of 250,000 and an administrative and teaching staff of over 3,000.

The other honorary degree, doctor of divinity, was awarded Pastor Enoch de Oliveira, secretary of the South American Division, and baccalaureate speaker on Sabbath morning.

Oliveira is chairman of the Brazil Publishing House, the largest Adventist publishing establishment outside of the U.S. For 12 years he was editor of the Spanish edition of the Adventist church publication, The Ministry.

University President Richard Hammill awarded a special citation to Clinton Wall, director of A.U.'s Food Systems Consultants, for voluntarily developing a system of scenic trails on school property near the St. Joseph River.

A.U. OFFERS NEW HEALTH MAJOR

Andrews University has begun a new bachelor of science degree in health. The degree is being sponsored by five departments: nursing, biology, physical education, chemistry, and education.

The new program can be weighted toward any of the sponsoring departments except nursing.

Courses for the degree can be selected to meet pre-professional requirements for medicine, dentistry, and a master's degree in public health. Anyone taking the major may also qualify for the Michigan state teaching certificate.

Preventive medicine to the core, the health major places a strong emphasis on both scientific health findings and the writings of Ellen White, according to Alice Smith, chairman of the nursing department and the committee directing the new degree.

She said, moreover, that in training students to motivate people to change their lifestyles, teachers for the program suggest that only the direct power of God can be effective, not mere self-discipline.

Job opportunities for those with the degree are steadily increasing, she said. The U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, said Miss Smith, will be hiring more people skilled in preventive medicine. She said that national health insurance, now expected in only a matter of time, will also open up jobs for health majors.

The health degree will also be valuable preparation for some types of mission service. It is the only such program offered to undergraduates in the Adventist denomination.

PROFESSOR TO JOIN LAW FIRM

Robert A. Yingst, assistant professor and acting chairman of the communication department at Andrews University, will begin full-time law practice in St. Joseph in June when William Garber will become chairman of the department.

Yingst joined the A.U. faculty in 1970. He will continue to teach one class per quarter in the history or communication department. The classes he will teach include constitutional development and debate and persuasion.

Before joining the Andrews faculty, he was a legal assistant for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He earned his doctor of law degree from Howard University, Washington, D.C., in 1969, and a bachelor of arts degree from Columbia Union College, Maryland, in 1966.
