Elders Orval Scully of the Spanish church in Berrien Springs; Raul Gonzalez of the Spanish group in Detroit; and Jose M. Guillen of the Spanish group of Grand Rapids are interviewed by reporter Alice Cappolo of Channel 56, Detroit, for the Spanish telecast "Para Mi Pueblo."

Security, Love, and Happiness Today

A series of administrative, pastoral, and publicity steps have been taken in the metropolitan area of Detroit in laying the groundwork for the beginning of the large evangelistic effort in that city which will be held during the months of August and September for the Spanish-speaking population.

Elders Orval Scully, Raul Gonzalez, and Jose M. Guillen have been making contacts with authorities and different influential persons in the Spanish section of Detroit as well as with the press, radio, and television outlets which have been used to alert the public about the coming program.

The most recent of these contacts led to the appearance of Pastors Scully, Gonzalez, and Guillen on Channel 56 of Detroit, Monday, June 23. They were interviewed by reporter Alice Cappolo for the Spanish telecast "Para Mi Pueblo." During the 16 minutes of the interview questions were answered concerning "Security, Love and Happiness Today," the title by which the effort is being announced.

Several newspaper articles have been published and radio announcements made free of charge. Meanwhile the Bible instructors with the help of laymen from Detroit, Berrien Springs, and Grand Rapids are giving Bible studies to nearly two hundred people regularly. The weekly La Voz de la Esperanza, Spanish version of the Voice of Prophecy radio program is being aired through a local radio station.

The group of Spanish-speaking members of the Detroit area have been praying for years that God would raise a church for them to attend where they can worship in their own tongue. Pastor Raul Gonzalez, who is in charge of the group in Detroit, has just been notified that a very fine Lutheran church building will be rented to the group for a reasonable sum.

Besides the pastors already mentioned, the following Bible instructors are working eight to twelve hours a day going from door to door: Norma Barraza, Frank Molina, and David Chavez. Around 20 persons have signified their desire to start keeping the Sabbath and attend church services.

The effort will begin August 4 with the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking. Pastor Salim Japas has been organizing the details and Pastor Antonio Arteaga will be the speaker. There will be a field school for students from the college and seminary of Andrews University which will be held in connection with this effort. Eight students have already signed up.

Please pray for the success of these meetings. God has opened many doors and "the harvest is truly ripe" among the Spanish-speaking people of this big city.

MINNESOTA HOUSE PASSES $12 MILLION NONPUBLIC SCHOOL PROGRAM

A $12-million-per-year Minnesota plan to cover textbook and auxiliary education costs for children attending nonpublic schools has been approved. The Minnesota House of Representatives voted approval 115 to 16. The measure has the support of Governor Wendell Anderson. Representative Victor Schulze of Goodhue, Minnesota, charged that the bill is unconstitutional, because it promotes religious education "in a roundabout way." The legislation was patterned after a Pennsylvania law found constitutional by a U.S. district court but currently on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

COURT AWARDS KRISHNA DEVOTEES RIGHT TO PERFORM "SANKIRTAN"

A U.S. District Court has awarded Krishna devotees the right to perform "sankirtan," their religious rituals in public areas without police interference. Sankirtan includes dancing, chanting, beating drums and cymbals, distributing sanctified foodstuffs and flowers in city streets, and soliciting for funds. The order restrains police from "arresting, prosecuting, or detaining and searching devotees and members because of their unconventional appearance, manner, lifestyle, or religious activities."

DISCRIMINATION MAY JEOPARDIZE TAX-EXEMPT STATUS

Church-related primary and secondary schools that refuse to admit students of any racial or ethnic group will lose their federal tax exemptions. The Internal Revenue Service says tax-exempt status will be denied even in situations where racially exclusive policies are required by religious beliefs. The ruling was based on interpretations of sections of the tax code dealing with deductions and exemptions for "charitable" organizations. Contributors to affected schools may not claim tax deductions for gifts.

DECLINING U.S. MORAL CLIMATE

Top educators blame the declining moral climate of the nation as a whole for rising violence in American schools. Last year violence and vandalism cost as much as school books—one-half million dollars. More than 100 murders were committed in the schools, and at least 70,000 assaults on teachers occurred. For whatever reason, Senator Birch Bayh said the escalating crisis of violence and vandalism is seriously threatening to destroy the ability of many institutions to educate our children.

AUXILIARY SERVICES DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Pennsylvania's program of "auxiliary services" for private and parochial schools was dealt a blow by the U.S. Supreme Court. That decision is expected to overturn aid programs in Ohio, Iowa, and Michigan. Although the court ruled "auxiliary services" unconstitutional, it ruled in favor of textbook loans to private and parochial schools. Americans United for Separation of Church and State says it will probably bring another textbook suit against the state.

ALASKA METHODIST UNIVERSITY PRESERVED BY STATE

Alaska Methodist University, which was on the verge of financial collapse a few months ago, now has at least a two-year lease on life. On May 31, the Alaskan legislature passed two bills that will forestall the closing of the university. They provided a two-year $2.3 million lease-option agreement and raise tuition assistance to students. If the university can get on its financial feet in two years the money will be considered a gift from the state. If not, it will be deducted from the sale price of the campus.

SOYBEANS AND THE INNER CITY

A program to encourage Americans to accept the soybean as a major source of protein was aired in Washington on February 19. "Soybeans must be seen as the primary source of protein and flesh foods as the secondary source," according to Ivy S. Neblett, an employee of the CAP Agency for Poverty Programs.

"It's going to take a lot of education to make Americans change their life style to accept the soybean," said Mrs. Neblett, "but economics and land usage are on the side of the bean. One pound of protein from soybeans can cost as little as 33 cents while a pound of animal protein in the form of beef may cost $13.32. One acre produces enough soybeans annually to feed a man for 2,220 days."

Mrs. Neblett was addressing a National Conference on Inner City Affairs at the General Conference. The purpose of the conference was to find and develop programs that will help lower income families.

In another statement released to the conference by Thomasine Wright of the Marion County Department of Public Welfare in Indianapolis, 12 specific areas of poverty were listed. These range all the way from being poor in information, to poverty in employment skills and in health habits.

"The plight of the inner city relates to the physical and mental environment," said Wright. "Every individual is born into a social heritage, a human and technological environment, which is the product of man's efforts and human society."

A typical inner-city family lacks the social, mental, and physical skills or motivations to break out of the poverty cycle, declared Wright. "Without strong motivation from within and without, the poverty experience becomes a vicious circle from one generation to another."

Walter Fordham, chairman of the conference and director of Inner City Affairs for the church, reported that church inner-city activities include mobile health vans, clothing distribution, education programs, and Christian "coffee shops" for young people.

Lansing Adventists Make History

After inspecting the new CSC building Dr. and Mrs. Leffler, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Kresge take time for a short friendly visit. Dr. Leffler, dean emeritus of Andrews University, contacted Mr. Kresge seeking financial help for small private colleges in Michigan many years ago. It was this original contact which put Mr. Kresge in touch with Adventists and helped to make him willing to suggest that financial aid be given to Adventist projects.

Two historical events for Lansing Adventists took place recently when their six-year-old church seating 700 was dedicated and their new spacious Community Services Center opened.

First service for the new church at 5400 West St. Joseph Street was held Friday evening, February 21, 1969. Six years, one month, and one week later, the special two-day dedication celebration took place. These services too began on Friday evening with a choral presentation of the oratorio Elijah. The Sabbath school featured a mission story by Brooke Sadler, principal of the Lakpahana Adventist Seminary, Sri Lanka (Ceylon). The Sabbath morning sermon, "A Tabernacle for Elijah," was presented by Elder Frederick C. Webster, administrative assistant to Elder Robert Pierson, president of the General Conference. Elder Webster is a brother to a Lansing church member, Mrs. Alan F. Bush.

The actual service of dedication took place Sabbath afternoon with Elder Robert D. Moon, conference president presenting the sermon and Elder Webster the prayer of dedication.

A carefully planned musical vespers with a meditation by assistant pastor Ron Ruskjer and a reception in the fellowship room completed the two-day period of celebration.

Located behind the modern stone church is the spacious brick-faced Community Services Center, which cost $125,000 to construct. Since the sale of the former church property in early 1968, with its attached welfare building, Lansing welfare workers have been laboring under severe handicaps in a small portion of the new church building. Attempts to build a suitable place were periodically thwarted by zoning regulations and other local statutory problems. Finally the decision to build behind the church was made and construction started.

Helping to make the modern and well-planned center possible were three grants totaling $92,000 from the Kresge, the Ransom Fidelity, and the Frank S. and Mollie S. VanDervoort Foundations. These grants were received because of the efforts of Elder W. M. Buckman, director of community services for the Michigan Conference.

It was Sunday afternoon, April 13, when a number of interested persons, including representatives of many civic organizations met in the sanctuary of the church to honor those who had given and worked to make the "magnificent" center possible. Elder Coleridge D. Henri, a vice president of the General Conference made a short but impressive opening address stressing the willingness of the church to assist those who were less fortunate. This was followed by words of commendation from Elders C. C. Weis and A. W. Bauer of the General Conference and Union Lay Activities Departments, respectively.

Lansing's mayor, the Honorable Gerald Graves made additional fitting remarks as he thanked Adventists for their spirit of brotherhood and service to all.

Special plaques of appreciation were presented to representatives of the foundations, who made the large donations, by Elders Moon and Buckman. Mention was also made of the many other organizations of the area that had a part in making the building possible. Then the entire group moved to the center building for the formal ribbon-cutting ceremonies and inspection of the facilities.

In a formal letter of appreciation to Elder Buckman for the kind reception given to him and his wife, Stanley Kresge wrote: "I particularly like your fine work among the people who have had misfortunes one way or another. . . . I think this is a great work, and I am sure that you and your people like the verse from James 1:22, are "doers of the word, and not hearers only."

Center officials have a well-rounded program of service to the community already in operation which includes, besides emergency relief, health and educational services for the community.

Elder Oliver S. Johnston is the present pastor of the Lansing church and Mrs. Sylvia Buckman the center's director.

imagined Him, and then transformed the wet clay into still another face of Christ in the traditional likeness originally created by the Renaissance artists. In word and sculpture Amelio unfolded the story of the sufferings of Christ.

It was Amelio's first visit to Rockford. He was impressed by the warm friendliness of our people—and our people were very much impressed by Amelio.

He visited the Seventh-day Adventist school on Friday and was delighted when the children presented him with the gift of a Bicentennial pillow. Angie Bevins stressed that the children and the artist shared a common, mutual pride in a wonderful country.

On Sunday Amelio moved on to view the Blackhawk statue at Oregon, Illinois, where he paid a surprise visit to a fellow-artist, Gene de L'horbe. Though the two had never met, they found immediate rapport and the Sunday afternoon slipped away all too quickly.

As Amelio journeys on with his words and skill in behalf of Christ, the roads lead to many places and many listeners. On May 25, he presented the "Face of Christ" at a prayer breakfast in the White House. Later, in October, the road leads to Rome where he will deliver his message to the Pope.

Those of us who saw and heard "Face of Christ" consider ourselves enriched by the experience. Thank you, Gilbert Neil Amelio.

ROCKFORD SCHOOL HONORS NELLIE VANDEMAN

After sponsoring Elder George Vandeman's It Is Written TV program for two years, the Vandemans seem like part of the Rockford church family. When it was learned that Mrs. Vandeman would be in the area, a "Nellie Vandeman Day" was planned for April 26 complete with special music, special welcome, and a special fellowship Sabbath dinner at the church.

The Sabbath School members were thrilled with Nellie's report of the success of the new It Is Written seminar outreach that gets enthusiastic response wherever it is held.

"FACE OF CHRIST" SCULPTOR VISITS WHITE HOUSE, ROME

It seemed too intimate, too personal a thing for a church of 500, yet the "Face of Christ" was presented to a filled church and everyone sat in rapt attention as artist-lecturer Gilbert Neil Amelio, in 70 minutes, went from bits of humor into the highly emotional plea to "live like Christ." It happened on a Saturday night at the Rockford Seventh-day Adventist Church.

FOCUS ON LIVING COMES TO SALEM

The elderly gentleman said, "Get off my porch and go on down the street. I don't want anything you've got." His wife later said, "Give me that envelope, I want it."

Elder and Mrs. J. W. Proctor were talking to the receptionist in a doctor's office about the program. The doctor stuck his head around the door and said, "Leave one of those envelopes for me, it sounds like a good thing you're doing."

Twenty literature evangelists of the Indiana Conference along with laymen from four southern Indiana

Project: Steps to Christ

The greatest mail evangelism program ever undertaken by members of the Seventh-day Adventist church. This plan can place Steps to Christ and other soul-saving literature in millions-upon-millions of American homes. This is your invitation to be a part of this great new program. Here's how it works:

Large commercial mailing services will be used to address and mail the envelopes containing copies of Steps to Christ, Junior and Senior Bible study enrollment form cards and health literature — a million at a time. Thousands of test mailings have already gone out. People are beginning to respond. Funds have been allocated by the General Conference, the Lake Union Conference, and by the Illinois Conference. These will help with initial expenses, but your help is needed now as we get ready for the first million mailing in the history of the denomination.

The cost per mailing is an unbelievably low 15¢. Not 15¢ for the postage, but 15¢ for the entire mailing . . . for the copy of Steps to Christ, for all of the other literature enclosed . . . for the envelope, the mailing list, for the handling, processing and mailing. All for just 15¢ per home. (Materials are placed in envelopes by local church members).

This means that you personally can be responsible for bringing Christ into a hundred homes for only $15.00. A pledge of $5.00 per month will reach 400 homes a year. A gift of $150 will carry the gospel message to 1,000 families, while a $1,500 gift will place a personal copy of Steps to Christ to 10,000 American homes.

This is truly the evangelistic opportunity of a lifetime. Never before has such a program been available. Never before has it been possible to harness giant computers and modern mail-handling machinery to place soul-winning Seventh-day Adventist literature in American homes a million at a time.

Your pledge or donation is urgently needed now. Read what our church leaders say about this project. Read the clear counsel from the Spirit of Prophecy. Pray for guidance in your giving, then use the attached coupon to send us your contribution or pledge. Please take time right now to consider this great Christ-centered evangelistic effort. This is your opportunity to have a personal part in the finishing of God's work. One of our first goals is to reach a million homes in the almost untouched Chicago metropolitan area. Please pray for the success of this program . . . and please help!

THELMA HARRIS SELECTED ALUMNUS OF THE YEAR

Thelma Brunner Harris

Thelma Brunner Harris has been selected the Nutrition and Dietetics Alumni Association's Alumnus of the Year by Loma Linda School of Dietetics in Loma Linda, California.

Born the youngest of four children to Charles and Katherine Brunner in Burkettsville, Maryland, she, along with her parents, two brothers and a sister, moved to Washington, D.C., where they attended high school.

It was in high school during the depression that she became a Seventh-day Adventist. Upon graduating from high school she attended Oakwood Junior College. She was encouraged by the late Harry E. Ford to take dietetics with the plan in mind to fill a position in the newly-opened Riverside Sanitarium in Nashville, Tennessee.

After leaving Oakwood, she attended Pacific Union College and finished the required courses needed to enroll in the School of Dietetics at Loma Linda. In 1937, she enrolled in Loma Linda University.

Remembering the lack of education particularly among her people on how to eat properly and how to keep well, she wrote an article entitled "Balancing Your Bill-O-Fare" and sent it to the Message Magazine. To her surprise it was published.

It was her dream to travel and lecture to help her people. This dream did not materialize, for after graduation in 1941, she married Cornelius Harris and moved to Chicago where she became the mother of three children—a daughter born prematurely and surviving only 17 hours, and two sons, James and Carl.

Thelma's health was affected at the birth of her daughter and while trying to regain it, the young woman who was writing the column "Food for Health" on the Message Magazine staff became ill and passed away. Thelma was asked to continue this column which she did for 19 years at the same time conducting health cooking schools for her church as time permitted.

In the late sixties, she was requested by the book editor of the Southern Publishing Association to have the material from the "Food for Health" column put in book form.

It was during this time that her two sons were in college and she was working in the Shiloh school office helping to start a home economics class for the many young ladies who would not go on to college. She left Shiloh for a year and compiled the materials for this book. The book Good Food for Good Health was published and is available from Adventist Book Centers.

Presently she is working at Shiloh Academy as clerk cashier. Also she teaches health classes to the high school boys and girls to help them develop strong bodies to finish the work in these last days.

NEWS NOTES

• The summer months will see the completion of the building project of the Grand Rapids Central church. The valuable and beautiful sandstone of the building's exterior will be cleaned. The project will cost between $15,000 and $20,000 according to current estimates.

• Literature evangelists from Western Michigan joined in a rally June 21, at the Grand Rapids Central church. The rally was under the direction of Paul Adams and included a sharing time for experiences in the afternoon.

• About 20 persons took part in a 50-mile bike-a-thon to raise funds for the Investment program of the junior division at Bauer. All but one was reported to have completed the full 50 miles and that party had reached the 41-mile mark before being forced to drop out. A total of $600 was raised according to Larry Brower, the Investment leader.

• The Bauer church is the only church in the conference without a church school that has a Pathfinder Club. At the recent spring investiture service 17 were invested with 20 Pathfinders receiving honor tokens. Five pre-JMV's were also invested. After Frank DeWind had been invested as a Master Guide, he invested his daughter Natalie. This is the fourth year in a row that the Bauer club has had an investiture service.

• Every week a gallon jug has been passed down the rows of the 26 junior boys and girls of the Kalamazoo church. And each week the jug got heavier and heavier. On a Sunday early in May, when the jar was so heavy leaders were afraid of it being dropped, the coins were counted, wrapped, and turned in. The $105 collected is not the grand total, however, for Jo Ann Botimer, the leader of the junior division says the boys and girls are again bringing their coins by the handfuls anxious to fill the jar at least once more.

• Students of Tom Turner's art class at Cedar Lake Academy recently held an exhibit of their work in the township library at Lakeview. For the past three years Turner has been teaching classes in fine arts, advertising art, crafts, and photography. The work of the students was on display from May 12 to 23.

• Elder Clarence E. Larsen, of the Midland church was the recent guest writer for the church column of the Midland Daily News. His well-written article dealt with the need for Christian homes to insure a sound nation. He stressed a number of points which parents should take to train a child "to be a responsible citizen on this earth, and eventually a citizen of the heavenly country."

• Forty persons have been baptized during the first five months of 1975 in the Pioneer Memorial church. The goal of the pastoral staff for the year is 100. Total baptisms for 1974 was 73.

• The Pioneer Memorial church is halfway toward its mark of raising $300,000 for the proposed new academy building on Andrews University's campus. Plans are now on the drawing board and construction may begin in 1976.

• New carpeting has been voted for the Pioneer Memorial church with installation scheduled for this summer. The aisles and chancel of the sanctuary will be covered plus wall-to-wall carpeting at all entrances and stairways of the building.

• Accommodating overflow services at Pioneer Memorial church during the past school year necessitated the innovation of alternate worship services on most Sabbaths. Lamson Hall, Nethery Hall, and the Seminary Chapel were utilized for specialized college, academy, and earliteen worship services.

• Pastors John Kroncke and Irvin Kurtz teamed together with Dr. Robert Williams to teach the seminary class, pastoral counseling, with 103 students, during the spring quarter.

• Earlier this year, Elder Roscoe Nelson, pastor of the Reed City church, was invited by the minister of the local Congregational church to hold a cooking school in his church. Mrs. Nelson, and a number of the Adventist ladies, picked up the challenge and held a four-day school during the later part of May to the enjoyment and benefit of the Congregationalists.

Olenda Wilson, her guitar, and friends join in a sing-along to close the late April Ingathering victory banquet at Munising.

INGATHERING VICTORY CELEBRATED LATE

An Ingathering victory celebration in late April? Yes, and it happened at Munising where the annual banquet was postponed until Dr. Eugene Hilderbrand and family could be present. The church was willing to wait until the Hilderbrands, active Ingatherers, returned from Vietnam, where the doctor was serving on a short-term temporary basis.

A "spring round-up" theme featured a wooden corral fence, bales of hay, horse saddles, and a flickering "campfire." To complete the theme, church members were asked to dress western style.

The celebration also served to officially start the campaign to raise funds for a church sanctuary. The 72-member congregation is currently meeting in the gymnasium of the modern school building to which the sanctuary will be attached.

PORT HURON FOOD FAIR

Many Port Huron residents were surprised to discover, early in June, that it is possible to prepare lasagna, spaghetti and meatballs, sukiyaki, and even sloppy joes without resorting to ground beef.

This was the approach of a feature writer of the Port Huron Times Herald who reported on a vegetarian food fair sponsored by area Seventh-day Adventists. The full three-quarters of a page spread delved into the food standards of the church, printed a number of vegetarian recipes, and featured two large pictures of attendants at the fair.

Over three hundred tickets to the event were sold, which was the climax to a four-week, one-day-a-week class in vegetarian food preparation. These classes were under the direction of Mrs. Blossom Foster, a dietetic supervisor at a nearby hospital and a member of the Port Huron Adventist congregation. The food fair was organized by Mrs. Lo Ann Whiting with a number of ladies assisting. Both the classes and the food fair were held at the local Y.M.C.A.

Profits resulting from the event go to the new church building fund. The church plans to start work on their new edifice in July.

SPRING FEDERATION MEETINGS HELD

Timely, practical, and inspirational messages were brought to Michigan's community service workers at their Spring Federation meetings by the world director of the church's welfare services.

Elder C. E. Guenther of the General Conference Lay Activities Department presented instruction, ideas, and suggestions in a ten-day swing through the conference. He was accompanied by Elder W. M. Buckman of the local conference office, Mrs. Edna Garrison, and Mrs.

Elder C. E. Guenther illustrates the five important steps that Christ used in reaching the people of His day to emphasize their importance for the work of the church today.

Lucinda Jablonski, the conference federation president and secretary-treasurer.

Methods and procedures of the art of interviewing clients were stressed plus instruction in effective follow-up in clients' homes to help them achieve a spiritual renewal. The principles presented were based on the life and teachings of Jesus who is the "pattern and guide," for community service workers in "helping others, both rich and poor."

Federation leaders thank God for the "continued support, dedication, and loyal service given by officers, workers, and church members to this important phase of the work of the remnant church."

KEYMER MAKES THE ROUNDS

For the first time in many years a member of the conference office staff has preached a regular Sabbath sermon in all of the churches of Michigan. On June 7, Elder Charles Keymer, secretary of the conference, was at the Jackson church to complete his round of church speaking appointments. After the service he checked Jackson off his list in the presence of Pastor Ola Robinson. Since becoming secretary of the conference in April, 1971, Keymer has consistently worked to get acquainted with the churches by having speaking appointments in all 156 of them.

NEWS NOTES

• Elder and Mrs. R. E. Finney reported on events in Southeast Asia at the conference office morning worship in Madison, June 16. The Finneys were just arriving in the States for a three-month furlough and will be returning to Singapore this fall for their third three-year mission term. Finney served as Wisconsin Conference president from 1957 to 1969.

• Wisconsin Conference delegates to General Conference in Vienna, July 10 to 19, are Robert L. Dale, president; Rudy Dolinsky, Milwaukee pastor; and Harold J. Howard, executive vice president of Mid-American Nursing Homes.

• Dave Masterjohn indicates 62 campers enrolled in the nine- and ten-year-old camp. Masterjohn started a new program using ten junior counselors who donate their time to assist with the camping program. "We want to get them involved with kids at a younger age," Masterjohn said, "so they develop the habit of caring for others."

FIRST BAPTISM IN POUND CHURCH

CAMP MEETING MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

A Heartbeat risk screening program will be available at camp meeting, August 1 and 3. Screenings will continue Monday, August 4, if they are not completed in the first two days.

For a small fraction of the usual cost for a comparable medical examination, your exposure to possible risks of a heart attack will be detailed for you.

From tests taken the first weekend you can know such details about your physical condition as blood pressure, serum cholesterol level and triglycerides present in your blood stream.

Richard T. Walden, M.D., conference medical secretary and board certified internist; Evert Witzel, M.D., director of medical education at Hinsdale; Roy Wightman, M.P.H., R.P.T. are conducting the program with the help of other physicians and nurses from Wisconsin.

Through the week explanations of the facts gleaned and what you may do to reduce the risks of heart attack will be shared.

Times for personal consultation will be available for those whose questions are not answered in the general discussions.

Portage residents who are not members of the church will be invited to participate in the screening and the explanations.

NEW ASSISTANT TREASURER FOR WISCONSIN

The J. Dan Toms Family

J. Dan Toms has come to Wisconsin from Pennsylvania to be the assistant conference treasurer, filling a vacancy created when Lyle Litzenberger became A.B.C. manager in Pennsylvania.

Toms attended Maplewood Academy in Minnesota and was graduated from Columbia Union College in 1971 with degrees in theology and business administration.

From 1971 to 1975 he worked as assistant manager at Pennsylvania's Adventist Book Center. Dan's wife, Sharon Bailey Toms, was born in Minnesota, attended Thunderbird Academy in Arizona and worked as a secretary and dental assistant. They have a one-year-old son, Jeremy.

Dan's father is a minister in the Potomac Conference.

Warren H. Dick, conference treasurer said, "Our assistant treasurer carries a heavy responsibility in office procedure. We feel fortunate the Lord has brought this capable couple to our field."

"On the lighter side," Dick continued, "they help streamline our office which used to be burdened with such names as Litzenberger, Mittleider, and Aufderhar. Consider the savings of being able to write Toms, Dick, and Dale."

new releases

Week of Prayer on Tape

Again this year the Week of Prayer readings, to appear in the October 16 issue of the Review for reading November 1 to 8, will be available on tape. Speakers and titles are: R. H. Pierson, "The Challenge of Renewal"; F. W. Wernick, "Impelled by Love"; B. B. Beach, "The Relevance of the Advent Message"; Robert R. Frame, "Dimensions of Stewardship"; David H. Baasch, "Our Time and Our Mission"; M. S. Nigri, "Revival Through Bible Study"; Calvin B. Rock, "Is the Young Man Absalom Safe?"; Ellen G. White, "The Church in the Last Days."

These tapes may be used in a variety of ways to increase and sustain the blessings of the coming Week of Prayer. The price is very reasonable so that members may secure the tapes for their personal use, either on cassettes or on reel-to-reel. The eight messages on two C-90 cassettes are only $4.25. The same material on one five-inch reel, 1 7/8 ips, is $2.75. Orders should be placed at once. Send orders with check, or if through a conference, then by purchase order, to Tape Service, Ministerial Association, General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, 6840 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20012.

BIOLOGY PROFESSOR TO REPORT RESEARCH IN RUSSIA

Gerald Snow

Russian botanists invited Dr. Gerald Snow, Andrews assistant professor of biology, to present his research on the St. Joseph and Paw Paw Rivers at the 12th International Botanical Congress in Leningrad, July 3 to 10.

Snow's study, done with the help of his research assistant, Norbert Jaeger, contrasts the chemical, physical, and biological interrelationships of the two rivers. One purpose of the study is to measure the effects of pollution on the two rivers and the effectiveness of current anti-pollution measures.

SUMMER TRAVELOGUE SERIES AT A.U. HAS 4 MORE PROGRAMS

July 13—A film on England, Wales, and Scotland by Ted Bumiller. Scenes include prehistoric Stonehenge, ruins of King Arthur's legendary castle, old world villages, Wells Cathedral, Roman baths, Shakespeare country, and Cambridge.

July 20—Jonathan Hagar's "Pulse of Portugal." Scenes include Fado singer Amalia Rodrigues, Prince Henry the Navigator, the story of cork, Lisbon, making gold leaf, and luxury living at $7 a day.

July 27—Neil Douglas's "Magnificent Fury of Alaska." An 85-foot yacht is almost inundated by 10,000 tons of ice while struggling to get free from an uncharted reef. Other scenes: inside passage squeezed dangerously close by 5,000-foot mountains, bears, Alaska Highway, mountain goats, and giant salmon.

August 3—"Arizona Adventure" by Robert Davis. It includes Kitt Peak National Observatory, Indian rodeo, surfing in the desert, mountain climbing, and a helicopter ride through the Grand Canyon.

EUROPEAN STUDY TOUR SPONSORED BY HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

A unique study tour in Europe is being coordinated by Ruth Nielsen, instructor in clothing, textiles, and related arts, and by Robert Carr, instructor in history of architecture and interior design. The tour, first of its kind, sponsored by the home economics department will include many areas of interest and is scheduled from June 13 to August 25, 1976.

The purpose of the study tour is to enrich participants' knowledge of various European cultures—their family life, fashion, architecture, interior design, and foods. Credits are available in the areas of history of architecture and interiors, history of dress, dress culture and society, art in life; or independent study credit or electives may be obtained in such topics as food, clothing, and shelter.

Some of the highlights of the 74-day tour of ten countries will include: famous manor houses of England and Scotland; nearly one week each in London and Paris; professional visits to fashion boutiques and shows; the interiors of Versailles; famous food factories, restaurants, and markets; live-in experiences in Holland and Denmark; music festival in Salzburg; a marble quarry in Carrara; a Venetian glass factory; textile mills; a Rhine River tour of castles; the French chateaux along the Loire River; the romantic art and architecture of Florence, Rome, and Venice; famous cathedrals such as Notre Dame; the Victoria and Albert Museum and others; the furniture of Denmark; the excitement of Tivoli Gardens; and many other interests.

This unusual study experience will include lectures and discussions, all transportation, hotels, two meals daily, all excursions and guide fees at an approximate cost of $2,000. For more information about this tour, contact: Ruth Nielsen or Robert Carr, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

A.U. COUNSELING AND TESTING CENTER RECEIVES ACCREDITATION

The Counseling and Testing Center at Andrews University has received accreditation from the International Association of Counseling Services, Washington, D.C., the only accrediting agency in the U.S.

The accreditation came after a two-year probation period, a one-year self-study, and an on-sight inspection by the accrediting association, said Herman Johnson, the center director.
