Dr. H. M. S. Richards accepts a copy of the new souvenir edition of the old hymnal Christ in Song from Wayne Hooper, music director at the Voice of Prophecy. "Now that we have this wonderful old hymnbook again," said Dr. Richards, "let us sing these blessed songs. When we read and memorize the words, we will find help for every day."

CHRIST IN SONG Hymnal Reprinted

After 25 years out of print, the treasured Adventist hymnal, Christ in Song, is again available—as a souvenir edition from the Voice of Prophecy.

The facsimile reproduction duplicates each page of the original book. The maroon linen binding is identical to the most popular of the many different covers used on the book during four decades of use by churches across North America.

Containing 949 hymns and songs, Christ in Song was first printed in 1908. H. M. S. Richards, founder and speaker emeritus of the Voice of Prophecy, recalls he sang from the book as a teenager and later used it in many of his evangelistic meetings.

"It was at a young people's meeting while they were singing No. 91, 'The Gate Ajar,' that I was converted at the age of 13," recalls Pastor Richards.

"At the beginning and ending of every Sabbath in our home, we always sang No. 339, 'Day is Dying in the West,'" he continues. "To me Christ in Song is a book of memories and blessing."

Among the old songs contained in the book are "Seeking the Lost," "Sweeping Through the Gates," "Keep on the Sunny Side of Life," and "There's a Great Day Coming."

"This new souvenir edition will make it possible for persons of this generation to sing some of the old sacred songs," says Wayne Hooper, director of music for the V.O.P. "Young people today can see many of the songs their parents and grandparents knew and loved."

The books are available at $6.25 each, postpaid, by writing: Hosanna House, The Voice of Prophecy, Box 1700, Glendale, California 91209.

UNACCREDITED CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS RECEIVE DIFFERENT OPINIONS

"Unaccredited" Christian schools received different opinions in Ohio and in Vermont. In the Ohio case, Presiding Judge Joseph Kerns of the Second District Court of Appeals in Dayton ruled against parents' right to send their children to unaccredited Christian schools. The Vermont case won a favorable ruling in the state district court in Hyde Park. In Ohio schools must conform to a very large mass of state regulations. Vermont statutes merely say children in private schools must be furnished "equivalent education" to that in public schools.

SCOTTISH PRESBYTERIANS AND METHODISTS PLAN FOR UNION

Projections call for a basis and plan of union between the Presbyterian Church of Scotland and the Methodists of Scotland and northern Shetland in 1976. The Church of Scotland has more than a million members. There are 40,000 Methodists in Scotland and the Shetlands. In 1975 panels were appointed to draw up unity proposals. Some fear that Methodism will lose its distinctive existence if the merger goes through.

Four missionaries are of the Wycliffe Bible Translators group and three represent the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

The Afro-Mideast Division has announced that a newly equipped studio in Tanzania is ready to produce programs as soon as funds are available to buy air time which by station contract must be purchased on a daily basis at $400 per hour.

In other action the General Conference Kasai Project committee has recommended that A.W.R. broadcast programs to Western Zaire from the Kigali station. At the same time the Swedish Union committee has voted to increase by 15 minutes their Sunday evening program from Sines, Portugal. A.W.R. also announces that Italian will again be broadcast when programs begin from Malta, July 1.

V.O.P. APPOINTS STATION RELATIONS HEAD

David N. Hartman

Recently appointed by the Voice of Prophecy Board of Directors to serve as director of station relations is David N. Hartman, who for the past 17 years has served as treasurer. His new position makes him responsible for close liaison with the approximately 850 radio stations that air V.O.P. programs.

Hartman's contacts will involve him with the complex world of radio industry officials and radio stations. He will also work with conference communication secretaries, pastors, and others concerned with sustaining and extending the V.O.P. broadcast ministry through public service broadcasting.

The station relations department will also attempt through the use of modern advertising techniques to promote the V.O.P. broadcasts to potential listeners as well as to radio stations.

HISTORY OF V.O.P. AVAILABLE ON CASSETTE

Highlights of 45 years of broadcasting the gospel, portrayed against a backdrop of U.S. history, are featured in a new 60-minute cassette recording entitled "History of the Voice of Prophecy." The cassette is available at the production cost of $2.00 (overseas, $3.25) by writing the V.O.P. at Box 55, Los Angeles, California 90053.

Pathfinder Fair Successful

Story and photos by Ernie Wendth

There was a lot of lashing going on at the recent "exciting, fun-filled, and colorful" Pathfinder Fair held again in Lansing's Civic Center.

Forty-eight of the Pathfinder clubs from around the state had gathered for their annual event in even larger numbers than before. Besides the regular events, six clubs (Bauer, Berrien Springs, Grand Ledge, Midland, Owosso, and South Flint) participated in a camping extravaganza which called for, among other things, the erection of a bridge and two 15-foot-high signal towers. These were constructed of pre-cut poles and lashed or roped together with diagonal and square lashing.

When the bridge was completed, Pathfinders and spectators, including conference president Elder Robert D. Moon, walked across it to prove its strength and stability. The two towers were assembled on the auditorium's floor and then raised into position at either end of the auditorium. Then a selected Pathfinder climbed to the tower's platform to signal messages with semaphore flags.

The camping theme was also carried out in many of the 44 booths set up by individual clubs and in some of the Olympic events, such as the preparation of slumgullion, a tasty stew easy to prepare on the trail.

The fair officially started at 8 a.m. and continued until 4 p.m. This was a full day for a number of clubs who travelled many miles to participate. Two of them, the Munising and the Wilson clubs travelled over 800 miles round trip.

It was worth all the planning and effort, Pathfinders said, because of the excitement of the various events and the interest and help of the camping demonstrations. There was fun and benefit in meeting other club members and learning of their activities. This is why entire clubs look forward all year to the fair. "We need the challenge of this great day," one leader said, "for it sparks enthusiasm and encourages us to do better during the coming year."

Of the clubs attending, 20 were honored for earning 200 points for their year long activities including the points earned by successful participation in the events of the fair.

Five clubs achieving the highest number of points received special recognition. They were Midland and South Flint with 240 points each, Wilson with 239, and Bauer and Owosso, each with 236 points.

Elders Merrill Fleming, conference Pathfinder director, and Lester Rilea, conference youth director, said the spirit this year was "great." They were echoed in this by local Pathfinder directors who said that "of the past dozen or so fairs this was one of the most memorable of all."

Some of the younger clubs found that the various projects displayed at the booths and the participation in the events helped them gather new ideas on which they could build better clubs. They added that they look forward to doing more camping because of what they had seen, heard, and learned. The booths displayed handiwork, crafts, and honors worked on by the Pathfinders during the year.

The Pathfinder Fair gets bigger and better every year and the fellowship at the fair is inspiring. But the greater thing is, as one leader put it, "how wonderful that we can have such enjoyment in Christ."

PATIENT FINDS THE WAY BACK

This man may hold the record for the longest program of extensive physical therapy in the history of the hospital. His name is Ed Beaudoin, and he started making regular visits to the hospital's physical therapy department in 1956, a year after he was stricken with polio. Beaudoin still comes to the hospital once a week to exercise in the pool and work out in the physical therapy gym, but now he can drive there himself with a specially designed van that can accommodate a wheelchair. Beaudoin completed college by correspondence while an invalid and now runs a successful accounting service.

SPANISH PASTOR BIDS FAREWELL

After eight years of serving the Lord in the area of Chicago, it is our privilege to say a few parting words to the Spanish membership of this conference as we leave to take up the Lord's work in another area.

Although we have been associated with the South and Aurora churches, which we have seen grow and progress under the hand of the Lord, we have learned to love all the members of the Spanish churches.

Our greatest desire is that the Lord may keep His children under His hand and that every one through His grace and love might be in His kingdom when He comes.

It will be our privilege to hear from you or to be your host at the following address: 714 South Preston Drive, Calexico, California 92231.

Pastor Colburn pastors the Centralia district which includes the Centralia, Mount Vernon, and Noble churches.

Phil and his wife Beverly have one son, Douglas Ray.

Richard and his wife Cherry have a daughter, Lisa.

Elder Arthur L. Nelson is the principal at Broadview Academy. Elder Nelson served as principal and business manager of Gem State Academy in Idaho for five years before coming to Illinois. His strong leadership is greatly appreciated.

The Nelsons have two teenage children, Jere Lee and Denise Marie.

Elder Stoy Proctor, a theology major from Andrews University continued his study in the seminary where he received a master of divinity degree. He then attended the School of Health, Loma Linda University, where he obtained a master of public health degree.

These and many other questions are asked daily in the Child Evangelism Center at the Illinois Conference office. And Elder Eston Allen has an answer for each question and materials to fit every need.

Those who visited the center at camp meeting, are aware of the many possibilities offered for evangelism among boys and girls. Seventh-day Adventists are blessed with materials far and above any others on the market today. Beautifully-colored felts and interesting devices are designed to hold the attention of Adventist children and non-Adventists alike, and to direct their minds to Jesus.

All of the materials displayed at camp meeting may be obtained at the Child Evangelism Center at the conference office. Those working with children in any capacity, should be sure to visit the center to see the full stock of materials before looking elsewhere. You will not be disappointed.

The children in our churches and the children around our churches are all precious in the Lord's sight. It is our responsibility to lead them toward the kingdom of heaven. Three hundred Pathfinders and staff enjoy the Sabbath School program at Timber Ridge.

CONFERENCE WIDE PATHFINDER CAMPOUT HELD

Some 300 Pathfinders and staff made their way to Timber Ridge Camp on Friday, May 16, to participate in a statewide campout. The weather was perfect and the campers' spirits matched the weather.

After getting all their camping equipment set up, the Pathfinders made their way over the campfire area for vespers. Elder Arthur Robinson, principal of Southeastern Junior Academy in New Albany, presented a very inspirational slide program sharing his and his wife's mission experiences in Sri Lanka (Ceylon).

Pathfinders participate in a compass board field event.

The Columbus Pathfinders, under the direction of Mrs. Jerre St. Clair, were in charge of the Sabbath School program.

Elder Dick Barron, union youth director, brought a challenging message to the boys and girls during the 11 o'clock service.

Sunday was the regular Pathfinder Fair which included craft display, grand parade, and field events. This year a new plan was put into operation for the field events. Brother Hilman Culp, Irvington club director, organized the field events so every Pathfinder could participate in all six field events.

At the end of the day's activities Elder Cliff Hoffman, Indiana youth director, and Miss Lois Nelson, office secretary, passed out trophies and ribbons at the award presentation. The trophy club winners for 1974-75 were: Anderson, Cicero, Gle-Vin-Wah, Irvington, and Monticello clubs. The Columbus Pathfinder Club received the trophy for the "Most Improved Club" for 1974-75.

VIC WEAVER RECEIVES AWARD

Sabbath afternoon, June 14, at the Indiana camp meeting, Vic Weaver, communication director for the Kokomo church, was awarded the General Conference Communication Award for Excellence. Elder Cliff Hoffman, the conference communication director, told the audience about the contribution Mr. Weaver had made to the church and to his community. The award was then presented by Elder G. W. Morgan, conference president, left. Elder David Bissell, pastor of the Kokomo district, told the camp meeting audience what a blessing Vic had been to him personally and to the Kokomo church. In accepting the award, Weaver stated that if his church had not been doing its job he would never have received the award.

EVANGELISM IN SOUTH BEND

The members and pastoral staff of the South Bend S.D.A. Church are to be commended for their excellent support of the spring evangelistic meetings held in the church April 12 to May 17 by the conference ministerial secretary, Elder William L. Woodruff.

The nightly attendance averaged between 300 and 400 per night. As calls were made on the closing weekend, 67 individuals responded. Of this group 41 requested baptism and are making plans for that important step. The other 26 indicated a need for recommitment with some requesting rebaptism.

As we see the Holy Spirit work on the hearts of men and women we praise God for their decisions in behalf of His remnant message.

DAN SNIDER ORDAINED AT INDIANA CAMP MEETING

The opening meeting of the 1975 Indiana camp meeting was devoted to the ordination service for Pastor Dan Snider. Elder F. W. Wernick, president of the Lake Union Conference, preached the sermon for the special service held Friday evening, June 13, in the Indiana Academy gymnasium. Elder Wernick's message drew on the experience of ancient Israel to illustrate the fact that personal and natural spiritual prosperity comes from "looking unto Jesus."

At the time of his ordination, Pastor Snider was the pastor in the Marion district. His first assignment in Indiana was the Paoli-Livonia district where he began his work in Indiana after completing the master of divinity program at the Andrews University Theological Seminary in 1972. Pastor Snider, his wife Kathleen, and Elder Snider is a graduate of Columbia Union College. He served as a ministerial intern in Ohio for a time before returning to the seminary. He also has served as a student volunteer missionary.

Assisting in the ordination service were Elder R. R. Bietz, retired vice president of the General Conference, who gave the ordination prayer; Elder W. L. Murrill, treasurer of the Lake Union Conference, who gave the charge; Elder G. W. Morgan, president of the Indiana Conference, who gave the welcome; and Elder W. L. Woodruff, ministerial secretary of the Indiana Conference, who presented the candidate.

Our prayers and best wishes go with the Sniders as they heed the Master's call to mission service.

FOOD DRIVE FOR THE NEEDY

Mrs. Iris Allen, leader of the earliteen division of the Sabbath School of the City Temple church, felt the need to do something for Detroit's hungry families. She spoke to Mrs. Bernice Moseley who worked diligently with her in coordinating "A Cup of Love" food drive.

The food was packed into huge cups of cardboard approximately one-half the size of a bushel basket and distributed by the earliteens to needy families. Over 100 cans of food plus cash donations were received for this drive.

Every member who turns in his goal engraves his or her name on the cross with an electric engraving pencil.

In the kindergarten and primary divisions, miniature wooden churches were constructed. Every child who reaches his goal engraves his name on a brick to be attached to the church.

Rentie hopes that the act of engraving the names on the cross and the bricks will inspire the love of God in the hearts of the believers.

This year each division of the Sabbath School has an Investment secretary to aid the division leaders.

PERSONAL REPORT FROM GENERAL CONFERENCE SESSION

Duncan Eva

Michigan Adventists will be getting reports of the General Conference Session in a number of ways. Those who subscribe to the Review and Herald will receive special "session" issues. Many will be able to hear reports over local radio stations as announced in the June 17 issue of the Lake Union Herald. (The same list appears at the end of this article.)

However, some of the most interesting reports may be among those presented in person during camp meeting to those attending the evening programs when Elder Duncan Eva, a general vice president from our world headquarters, will be the speaker. He is scheduled to speak Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings, August 10 to 13, and will bring firsthand reports of what took place in Vienna.

Another report of interest will be the Thursday evening keynote message of Elder R. D. Moon, conference president. He will be presenting his report to the constituency to show progress made and suggest directions for the future.

Other visitors from out of the conference scheduled for speaking appointments will be B. A. Aaen, missionary from the Far Eastern Division; Dr. Wayne McFarland, co-ordinator of the world famous Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, now an associate secretary of the General Conference Department of Health; and Elders H. M. S. Richards, Sr., and William A. Fagal of the Voice of Prophecy and Faith for Today programs.

A series of four sermons on righteousness by faith will be presented by Elder Carl Coffman, the new chairman of the department of religion at Andrews University. Dr. Coffman has been a professor at Pacific Union College until this summer. He will also have special meetings with the youth as will another Andrews professor, Elder Don Jacobsen, who will be presenting a Christian family workshop series entitled "Toward Understanding."

ATTEND SCHOOL AT CAMP MEETING

Many Michigan Adventists attending their annual camp meeting, August 7 to 16, will in effect be going to school.

They can take enrichment courses to improve their knowledge of healthful living, they can learn leadership techniques in various church endeavors, and they can develop their talents in music, art, and writing.

Since cooking and eating involves each individual, it is expected that the largest class will be that one presenting improved knowledge in healthful living.

"The Ideal Way to Nutrition and Physical Fitness" classes will be taught mornings and afternoons in the academy gymnasium by Elder and Mrs. Stoy Proctor of the Illinois Conference. Elder Proctor, a graduate of Loma Linda's School of Health, is currently the director of health services for the Illinois Conference. His wife

Leilani, also a professional, assists him in these programs. Scientific nutrition principles will be presented with educational and entertaining slide and movie productions. Food demonstrations will show scores of attractive, delicious, and nutritious recipes. Proctor promises a spread of many different dishes presenting nature's best foods in a "kaleidoscope of color and form."

These presentations have been enjoyed by men and women with equal enthusiasm. Grade school children as well as teenagers have watched intently and have learned the value of proper nutrition for good health. It has been reported that many of these young people have taken this information home and encouraged parents to make nutritional improvements at home.

Other classes expecting good attendance will be the lay training and Sabbath School workshops.

The Lay Activities Department this year will feature as "visiting professor," Pauline Hart of Colorado. For many years Mrs. Hart worked for civic and governmental social service groups. Now retired she is considered by Adventist church leaders as "tops" among community service workers.

The Sabbath School Department will also feature guest lecturers for their continuing training program for Sabbath School lay workers. These will include workshops as well as classes in Sabbath School art.

Another regular class will help to train better church musicians. Eight different periods have been set aside for open discussions, workshops, and demonstrations. Help in building junior as well as regular choirs will be presented. A discussion on music for worship will include a demonstration of the proper use of music in a church service. A special pipe organ recital is also

SAN GETS NEW HEAD NURSE

Taking over as head nurse of the surgical and intensive care units at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital is Dorothy Hubbard, R.N. After five years of medical and surgical nursing at Lakeview General Hospital, Battle Creek, Mrs. Hubbard worked for Dr. Clayton E. Whetmore during the last year and a half.

As head nurse on the hospital's surgical floor, Mrs. Hubbard has the 24-hour responsibility for patient care on that floor as well as for the intensive care unit, according to Velma Mixon, director of nursing service. A native of Battle Creek, Mrs. Hubbard earned her nursing degree at Kellogg Community College. She and her husband Clyde have four children—three attending Battle Creek Academy and a two-year-old still at home.

SOUL WINNERS FELLOWSHIP TO BE FORMED

A Soul Winners Fellowship group will be formed at camp meeting time according to an announcement from Elder W. M. Buckman, Michigan's director of lay activities.

The plan calls for honoring those laymen who during the past five years, have been influential in leading a soul to Christ. Those who have been the recipients of the leading will also be recognized. The two groups of laymen are being asked to register at the lay activities booth when they arrive at the campground to receive a button identifying them as partners in soul winning.

Hundreds of laymen in Michigan during the last five years will have had experiences to qualify themselves for this Soul Winners Fellowship, and it is hoped that all of them will register and wear their special button proudly.

SISTERS GIVE PROGRAM

Inclement weather almost forced cancellation of Sault St. Marie's recent Thirteenth Sabbath program. However, two children of the kindergarten program, Noel and Bonni LaRue, did make it to church and they joined in singing a special number.

Now a united family in the church: Mrs. Evelyn Meehan, grandmother; Mrs. Sally Brown, mother; Mr. Hjalmer Brown, father; Terri Brown; and Mrs. Sara Furlott, great-grandmother.

MILTON JUNCTION BAPTISM

A baptism held recently by Elder Wesley Jaster, pastor of the Milton church, was a joyful occasion for the church and Mrs. Sara Furlott, great-grandmother of Terri Brown.

Terri went to Sabbath School faithfully for one and a half years. She learned that Elder Jaster was going to hold a series of meetings, so she persuaded her mother, dad, brother, and grandmother to attend. The end result—her mother and grandmother were baptized last spring.

Terri started her eighth grade in public school, but after one week, she decided she wanted to attend church school. She finished her eighth grade at Woodland Adventist school in Milton, and this spring Terri and her dad were baptized together.

There are now four generations in the Milton church. Terri's great-grandmother has been a member of this church since 1926. Before coming to Milton she was a member of the Antigo church.

MADISON SCHOOL BAND MAKES A BIG BANG

Even though the Madison church school band has no uniforms and only one of the band members had had previous instruction on the instrument he or she played in the band, still by the close of school they sounded like a band. Students did not receive their instruments until several weeks of school had passed and some instruments usually included in a band never were acquired. Still the band gave two concerts during the school year and as one parent kept repeating in astonishment, "They sounded like a band." This accomplishment was made possible by much practice and the skilled tutelage of the school principal, W. Sidney Mills, who himself plays most instruments.

STUDENTS CANVASSING IN WISCONSIN

Among the nine student literature evangelists in Wisconsin this summer are two sisters and a brother-sister team.

Dan Thompson, a sophomore ministerial student at Andrews University, has had one week with deliveries in excess of $500.

Art King, a recent graduate of Mount Ellis Academy, Bozeman, Montana, has been both the soul winner and sales leader of the week.

Lana McLouth of Illinois has also been honored as soul winner of the week based on the number of pieces of free literature, Bible course enrollment, and prayers offered in homes. This is Lana's second year canvassing.

"She must be good at selling," observed Harry Hartman, publishing director, "for she convinced her sister Janean to enter the literature ministry for the first time this summer."

Numerically the Cinquemani's make up one-third of the student force. Bonnie's and Jeff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vince Cinquemani attend the Raymond church. Their cousin Rick's mother, Mrs. Paul Cinquemani, attends Waukesha church. He is the first student to report a Bible study.

Jim Dick and Gaylan Herr both of Madison, complete the student team. Each student will appreciate your prayers that God will help them reach homes and hearts with the message while they earn a scholarship this summer.

BETHEL RECEIVES PLAQUE

Jack Allen, left, presents a Ten Commandment plaque to Pastor Larry Grahn. Grahn accepts the plaque on the behalf of the Bethel church, Arpin, Wisconsin. Allen explains how he spent long hours perfecting it. The lettering is gold on a black background and it hangs in the foyer of the church.

ABSENCE OF PORK HITS A.P. WIRE

Mid-American Nursing Homes serve a balanced diet which does not include pork.

Several agencies and individuals have recently requested information on the reasons why Mid-American follows this policy hoping to have the church-controlled company alter its policy.

Crawford County Board chairman, Robert Dillman, and a county supervisor, Mrs. Wolf, received inquiries concerning the Prairie du Chien Convalescent Center.

Fred Adams, business manager, arranged for a meeting with Dillman and Wolf and Mid-American president and vice president, Glenn Aufderhar and Harold Howard.

Following the meeting Dillman invited Aufderhar to join him on a broadcast of county board issues and concluded the broadcast by saying, "Crawford County will not pursue the matter further."

The next day Howard and Aufderhar met with the administrative assistant for the Wisconsin Senate, majority leader Dave Helbach and a representative from the governor's ombudsman office, Judy Zitzke. In this visit a real interest in vegetarianism came to light and assurances were given that the pork issue would not prevent Mid-American from receiving grants in the development of new forms of service.

"We do not want to create differences," said Aufderhar, "but what appears to be forboding obstacles frequently become golden opportunities to share a facet of our faith in a positive way."

This story made A.P. wire service and caused several other independent interviews with the media.

A.U. ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NAMED AFTER RUTH MURDOCH

The Andrews University elementary school was officially named The Ruth Murdoch Elementary School at ceremonies on Sunday, May 25, at 3 p.m. in the school cafetorium.

At the naming ceremony, A.U. President Richard Hammill gave a dedicatory address for an official dedication of the building housing both the elementary school and junior academy.

When the school board voted the name change last year, it also voted to alter the names of the junior high and high school and the collective name for all three schools.

The collective name was changed from Andrews University Laboratory School to University School. Andrews University Academy (high school) became Andrews Academy, and Andrews University Junior Academy was changed to Andrews Junior Academy (grades 7 and 8).

Dr. Ruth Murdoch, A.U. professor of education, has taught at Andrews since 1958. She is regarded as one of the top authorities on developmental psychology and character development in the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Dr. Richard Orrison, director of the University School, said Dr. Murdoch was chosen for the school name for her "contribution to Adventist education around the world, her love for children, and her teaching in character development."
