CATHOLIC IMPRIMATUR ON ADVENTIST RESEARCH

Dr. Samuele Bacchiocchi

A chapter of the doctoral dissertation of Samuele Bacchiocchi, presently an assistant professor of religion at Andrews University, dealing with the origin of Sunday observance, has just been published by the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, with the official Roman Catholic imprimatur (i.e. approval). The book of 141 pages, entitled Anti-Judaism and the Origin of Sunday, is a translation of the fifth chapter of the original Italian dissertation and has been published as a partial fulfillment of the requirements of the doctoral degree of the Pontifical Gregorian University. Apparently it is the first time that a research done by a non-Catholic, and which holds a thesis differing substantially from recent Catholic scholarship, is being published with the official approval of the Roman Catholic Church. In fact, in accordance with the Roman Catholic Canon Law, the book bears the approval of two University censors, of the Rector Universitatis and of the Vicariate of Rome.

While the book represents only a partial analysis of the complex problem of the origin of Sunday observance—since it is only an excerpt of the dissertation—its significance, according to Bacchiocchi, lies in the fact that it focuses on the role played by the Church of Rome in inducing the abandonment of the Sabbath and the adoption of Sunday observance by the majority of Christendom.

Dr. Bacchiocchi regrets to have been unable to reply to the scores of letters received from enthusiastic readers of his articles which appeared recently in the Review. It should be pointed out on the other hand, that the many requests for a copy of the dissertation could not be satisfied prior to this time, since the study was not available in English. Those interested in purchasing a copy of the book available now (notice that only 1,000 copies have been printed) are invited to rush in their order with a check for $5.50 which includes the mailing expenses. Write for your copy to: Dr. Samuele Bacchiocchi, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

INFANT BAPTISMS OUT IN MOZAMBIQUE

Mozambique's President Samora Machel has banned infant baptism in that country. The move is seen as directed particularly against the Roman Catholic church. Baptizing an infant, President Machel said, interferes with the fundamental principle of freedom of belief. Parents were directed to refrain from presenting children for the sacrament.

BILL TO CLARIFY SOCIAL SECURITY POSITION OF PROTESTANT MISSIONARIES

A bill has been introduced in the U.S. Senate, designed to place all nonordained Protestant missionaries in the same category as "self-employed" individuals. The designation would be for purposes of U.S. Social Security taxation and coverage. Section 3121 of the Internal Revenue code already exempts Roman Catholic religious orders and Christian Science practitioners from the payroll deduction. Protestant mission groups have been unclear whether they qualified for the same privileges. Senator Mark Hatfield's bill would specify nonordained Protestant missionaries as equal to religious orders already covered in section 3121.

F.C.C. PETITION DRAWS UNPRECEDENTED RESPONSE—MISUNDERSTANDINGS SURFACE

More than 100,000 letters have reached the Federal Communication Commission opposing a petition seeking to freeze construction permits for educational stations owned by sectarian and governmental institutions. Although the "deluge" is one of the largest outpouring of citizen response to a single F.C.C. issue, many of the letters betray a lack of understanding by senders of the aim of the petition, according to one F.C.C. official. A number of letters protest what the writers erroneously believe to be the petition's attempt to ban religion from the airwaves.

UPHOLDS SUNDAY LAWS

The New York Court of Appeals has upheld the state's Sabbath closing laws, but at the same time reversed the convictions of a group of supermarkets for "uneven enforcement" of the laws. Four of the seven judges ruled that the law itself was constitutional. In minority opinions, three judges criticized the "wholly irrational" maze of Sunday closing laws which they said were therefore unconstitutional.

CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OFFERING SCHOLARSHIPS FOR REFUGEES

Scholarships for Vietnamese refugees will be offered by the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., beginning in the fall. As many as 25 persons may be given financial help in a program of cooperation with government and such private agencies as Catholic Relief Services. Tuition assistance will be offered to each Vietnamese student according to his or her need. The scholarship will be renewable each year, a university aide said.

ACCESS IN THE INDEX

Ministers, teachers, students, laymen, historians, and church officers will find ready access to needed information in the S.D.A. Periodical Index. The Index covers more than 4,000 articles, book reviews, children's stories, editorials, inspirational short stories, sermons, and items of church interest appearing annually in more than 40 denominational publications.

This author-and-subject index is the single most useful and comprehensive source for access to the denominational publications most ministers and laymen receive. The Index begins with January, 1971. The current annual price to individual subscribers has been reduced to $5. Back copies of previous semi-annual issues of the Index are available for $2.50 each. Institutional subscription rates remain at $25 per year.

An important and convenient service complements all subscriptions to the Index. Photocopies of articles may be ordered at the cost of 10 cents per page plus postage. Subscribers who have misplaced back copies containing important articles or those who may not have easy access to certain periodicals will find this a valuable service.

Maranatha
FLIGHTS INTERNATIONAL

Builds Valley Vista Lodge

by Charles R. Beeler, Editor
Columbia Union Visitor

Mrs. Cloey Walls, left, of Bloomfield, Indiana, and Mrs. Mary Fleming, of Morgantown, West Virginia, install insulation material.

Mrs. Dorothy Gates of West Newbury, Massachusetts, left, and Mrs. Myrtle Randall of Berrien Springs, Michigan, wash dishes in a temporary kitchen.

The people had a mind to work." Applied originally to Nehemiah's people rebuilding Jerusalem, this describes the dedication and cooperation of the 90 volunteers building the lodge and dining hall at the Valley Vista Center, near Huttonsville, West Virginia.

The center is being developed by the Mountain View Conference for its youth camping program and for various other meetings and retreats.

The volunteers gave their services without hire in response to a call from Maranatha Flights International for help to erect the building in two weeks as a gift to the conference. Those who responded included artisans of the various building trades and others whose main skills were willingness and initiative. Some were veterans of previous Maranatha projects.

Dean Van Tassel, Mountain View Conference Youth Department director, was general overseer of the project. F. H. Vanden Heuvel was the organizer of the project for Maranatha.

Vanden Heuvel has directed Maranatha projects since the large one at Yellowknife, Canada, two years ago. He retired at that time from his plumbing, heating, air conditioning, and development business in Phoenix, Arizona. His wife, who accompanies him, says he is working harder than before his retirement, but enjoying it more.

Maranatha enthusiasts came from Arizona, California, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, Tennessee, and Washington. Helpers also came from nearby places in West Virginia, and from most of the states in the Columbia Union. Although many of these were attracted by this project in their own territory, a few were regular members of Maranatha. Among the latter are: Marvin Drew, a dentist, and Hersey Hinson, both from Maryland.

A serious accident marred the beginning of the project. Don Reed, a young Adventist framing contractor of New Albany, Ohio, had pledged the services of his five-man crew for the Valley Vista project. They had participated in the previous Maranatha project in Mexico, and were eager to participate in this one.

As Reed was nearing Huttonsville, driving his pickup and pulling a heavy trailer loaded with the machinery and equipment of his trade, his truck grazed a large truck in passing, and went out of control on a hill. He was thrown from the cab, and then the truck rolled over on him. Critically injured, he was taken to the hospital. He lost his right arm, and remained in the hospital in doubtful condition during the whole two weeks of the Valley Vista project. The workers on the project kept in daily touch with the hospital, and prayed much for Reed's recovery. He has now returned home, and shows encouraging signs of a good recovery. He says that when he gets his artificial arm and learns to use it, he wants to go on another Maranatha project.

Bill Randall of Berrien Springs, Michigan, works with electrical installation on construction of the lodge at Valley Vista Center.

Reed pays his employees, thus donating the service of his entire crew. His brother Duane, and three non-Adventist boys went ahead and worked at Valley Vista, in spite of the accident. Marty Loehle, David Borders, and Jim Cunkle worked energetically, showing as much interest as any of the rest in the work and its progress.

Valley Vista Center has been used for the past three summer camping seasons, with tents and other primitive, temporary facilities. The lodge is the first permanent building. It is a two-story structure with a total floor area of 7,000 square feet. In addition to the dining room, which is 70 feet by 30 feet, and the kitchen, it houses the center office, quarters for the director, the cook, and other staff members. For meetings other than youth camps, its 22 rooms will accommodate quite a number of people. The value of the building is estimated at more than $100,000.

Mountain View Conference workers had worked at the center a day or two at a time for two months or more, getting the site in readiness for the Maranatha Project. Several conference workers joined the Maranatha volunteers, as they were able. A few of them, being skilled tradesmen, carried major responsibilities for such work as roofing, and electrical and plumbing installation.

Most of the building was completed in the two weeks. Only some interior finishing and painting remained to be done. It will be ready for this summer's camp.

over 11,000 calls. Inspiration Dial received a total of 3,705 calls during the six-month period.

The fourth dial, which was established two years ago on a temporary basis as Dial Meatless, received a total of 548 calls, although the service is not being promoted by the hospital at this time.

A new dial service for general nutritional information is currently being prepared and will replace Dial Meatless as soon as it is ready. At work on this project are Donna Meyer, health educator and Ben Chilson, director of food service for the hospital.

The dials are written, narrated, produced, and maintained entirely by the hospital staff.

GLEN ELLYN COMMUNITY SERVICES IN ACTION

The Violet Chapter of the Glen Ellyn Community Services has been meeting in the members' homes once a month. Their objective is to bring to the church family an opportunity to reach out in the community as a witness of what Adventists believe.

Each quarter has a special theme. The first quarter pertained to nutrition and healthful living with food demonstrations. The second quarter's theme was "Creativity in the Home" with a quilt workshop being conducted by Mrs. Mary Lieblich. The third quarter was dedicated to gardening and wild edible plants were shown on a screen. Plants were brought in by Mrs. Kay Zweig, the sale of which is her Investment project.

Community services has had a number of projects. Meals on Wheels sponsored desserts for shut-ins prepared by the youth group known as the Tabithas. Two Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking were conducted. Verne Heller reports that over 75 percent of the participants were successful in overcoming the habit.

Another project is the Zace Nursing Home in Winfield,

DIAL SERVICES RECEIVE 30,830 CALLS

A six-month report shows that a total of 30,830 people called one of the hospital's four dial services between January 1 and June 30 of this year.

Of the total, more than half were for Smoker's Dial. Second most popular dial service was Slim Line with where recently the residents were delighted to receive lap robes, knitted socks, shoulder capes, and bibs. One of the faithful workers is Mrs. Christine Lippi, who has made 48 pairs of socks, 20 lap robes, and 18 shoulder wraps.

One of the recipients was Mrs. Lillian West, who had been an employee of Mandel Brothers for 50 years and then became a cashier for the Arlington Race Track for 15 years.

The members of the Zace Home greatly appreciate the work done by the community services group.

NEW CHURCH BEING BUILT IN FREEPORT

Elder Leonard Marsa, pastor of the Freeport church, reports that the new sanctuary is progressing. The building will have already been enclosed at the printing of this story. The congregation along with the pastor are working hard, hoping to be in the church some time this fall. Seating capacity will be approximately 200.

KEWANEE HOSTS EDUCATION DAY

On May 22, the Kewanee Seventh-day Adventist school, under the leadership of the teacher, Mrs. Bonnie Martin, hosted seven schools of western Illinois at the first Seventh-day Adventist Education Day. About 110 children, parents, and friends of Christian education were present.

Excellence in reading, spelling, math, art, music, and physical fitness was rewarded with blue ribbons. A trophy for the school with the highest percentage of pupils scoring was also given.

A local newspaper sent a reporter to take pictures and write up a story.

Charles Winans, of the Monmouth-Galesburg S.D.A. school, led the children in the worship service.

After a potluck dinner the physical fitness events were held—broad jump, 50-yard dash, softball throw, cartwheels, and a ball game.

Each school gave a musical selection and brought art work to display.

It is hoped that as the youth meet and see and hear what others in S.D.A. schools very similar to their own are doing, they will be inspired to excel and persevere in their school work.

Rock Falls and Monmouth tied for the math, reading, and spelling events. The Peoria school took home the trophy.

IN MEMORY

Helen Mae Van Blaricom

A dedicated life of Christian ministry ended suddenly on July 16, 1975, as Helen Mae Smith-Van Blaricom died in a tragic car accident in Portland, Tennessee.

Helen Mae spent 44 years of her life in service to young people. She was an outstanding educator, spending some of those years in the classroom as a teacher, and others as educational supervisor of the Illinois Conference. For more than 20 years her Christian influence was felt in the schools throughout Illinois, and countless young people found strength in her counsel.

She loved the Seventh-day Adventist church and its teachings, and the stories of the pioneers of the church were especially dear to her. Throughout her life her abiding faith in God did not waver.

On May 23, 1971, she was married to Phillip Raymond Van Blaricom. He joined with her in her interest in young people and helped in many ways to lighten her work load. About a year ago the Van Blaricoms moved to Oregon.

It was while they were on vacation, visiting relatives and friends in the midwest and south, that the accident occurred. Helen Mae's work on this earth is finished, but she will awaken to new life on the resurrection day. One of her favorite quotations was, "God never leads His children otherwise than they would choose to be led, if they could see the end from the beginning, and discern the glory of the purpose which they are fulfilling as coworkers with Him."—Desire of Ages, page 224.

The memory of Helen Mae's consistent Christian living and service will live on in the hearts of many who came under her influence during her lifetime.

THE MIRACLE VAN

What a blessing it was to have Elder Frazee at the Illinois camp meeting this year. A miracle made it possible.

On a break from a busy camp meeting schedule, Elder Frazee stopped for a short visit at Oak Haven Inc., a self-supporting S.D.A. training school in Pullman, Michigan.

Elder Frazee gets the key to his miracle van.

While presenting the sanctuary message at Oak Haven, students discovered his 1968 Rambler which was in poor condition. It had 120,000 miles, two tires with little tread, a bad exhaust pipe, and was hard to start. So students corrected these problems, but it was still a 1968 Rambler with 120,000 miles. By the grace of God and many prayers from the Oak Haven family, Elder Frazee arrived safely at Broadview campus although other problems were developing.

As the students at Oak Haven prayed, different ones were impressed to do something more so that others wouldn't miss the blessing of these meetings. Offerings were taken up at Oak Haven and at Cave Springs Home School in Pegram, Tennessee, and $1,200 was raised. The local Dodge dealer offered a new car at his cost. A 1975 Dodge van was chosen and purchased. The van was delivered at the Illinois camp meeting where Elder Hayward took up an offering to help with this faith project. Another $1,200 was collected. Elder Frazee was thrilled and thankful to God for his miracle van.

As he told his story at Wildwood Medical Missionary Institute, a woman said, "That is a miracle van and I would like to pay the balance."

By the way, the 1968 Rambler rolled down a hill at Broadview Academy and smashed into a tree. "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taketh away; blessed be the name of the Lord" (Job 1:21).

YOUNG ELMHURST CHURCH MEMBER WINS THREE AWARDS

The Elmhurst church can well be proud of one of its younger members. Albert Tarrillo, age 12, is so impressed by the health message that he decided to pass it on to others his age.

Last year Albert attended some of the Heartbeat programs given by Dr. Robert Hirst, pastor of his church. He became interested enough to put seven long, hard months of research into his project, called "Smoking and How It Affects You." Encouraged and helped by his sponsor, Morton Lesser, Albert entered the school fair held at the Blaine Public school he attends. Not only did he bring this vital message to other young people but he also brought honor and recognition to his school by winning first place at his school and first place at the Third District Science Fair at the Hawthorne Public School.

Now he was ready to enter the Science Fair at the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, where he won second place.

Thousands viewed his colorful exhibit and thrilled to the explanations given by this young man.

He is the youngest student to ever win three such coveted honors. God has surely spoken through this young man.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thornburg recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house in Cassville, at the home of their only daughter, Mrs. Lois Kopitzke.

They were married July 11, 1925, in Muncie, Indiana, by Pastor Detamore.

Bible Commentary set, Bibles, and various Bible research books. She solicited and gave the money needed for the purchase of the books. Admiring the natural cherry banister and railing are Norma Austin, church treasurer; Wayne Austin, chairman of remodeling committee; and Elder Daniel Wandersleben, pastor.

REDECORATION OF THE LOGANSPORT CHURCH

The church was built in 1863. After more than a century of service the interior of the church needed a good overhaul.

In a business meeting it was voted to do the work. Two committees were elected—remodeling and financing.

The first phase included the paneling of the walls of the downstairs rooms and the foyer on the second floor.

New ceilings and lightings were also installed complemented by wall-to-wall carpeting.

Evergreen shrubs were planted in front of the church making the entrance more attractive.

The members of the church donated many hours of hard labor besides supporting the program financially.

One individual, a nonmember, gave $1,500 toward the purchase of a new organ in memory of an uncle.

The total investment to date is $19,844.95.

Phase two will include the remodeling of the sanctuary. The Logansport members are thankful for a better place to worship and to serve the community.

INVESTMENT AT MARION

What are you doing for Sabbath school Investment? Some would say Eddie Packard is too old to be Investment leader. Last year he spent the entire year collecting newspapers, magazines, bottles, etc., and turned in $693.09 for the Marion church Investment project while leading the church to raise $1,531.63. Wouldn't you like to follow his example in 1975 and do something extra for God through Investment for missions around the world?

GOLDENAIRES CELEBRATE 13TH ANNIVERSARY

The Goldenaires recently celebrated their 13th anniversary by giving a benefit concert in their home church in East St. Louis. Proceeds from the concert went toward the proposed church school which hopefully will open in September.

Bettye Brantley gave a brief account of the travel and singing experiences of the Goldenaires since they began singing professionally in Jackson, Tennessee, in 1962.

The group began singing as a trio composed of Debbie, Dana, and Janice Higgins. They were accompanied on the piano by their mother Carlotta Higgins. About two years ago Myron Jenkins, tenor and guitarist, was added to the group.

Performing at the concert along with the Goldenaires were Doris Wright, soloist, and the Reid Memorial adult choir.

The Goldenaires sang several old favorites, three selections composed and arranged by their mother, and one song from their album "I Come to the Garden Alone."

This program was one of the many endeavors sponsored by the Home and School Association. It is hoped that a school will open in East St. Louis this fall. The prayers and support of our fellow believers are requested to make this goal a reality.

OPERATION CLEAN UP

More than 120 students from grades four to twelve recently volunteered two hours in a drive to clean up the neighborhood around the school. The students were separated into small groups with teachers and academy students as supervisors. They raked up leaves, picked up paper and many small items on the lawns and sidewalks.

Neighborhood residents were pleased with the work and offered many encouraging comments.

12 GRADUATE WITH HONORS

On Sunday, June 1, 12 members of the graduating class of 1975 graduated with honors from Adelphian Academy. The 12 students maintained a G.P.A. of at least 3.25 during their four years of secondary education. Dietmar Grentz, president of the Student Association, graduated with a G.P.A. of 4.00.

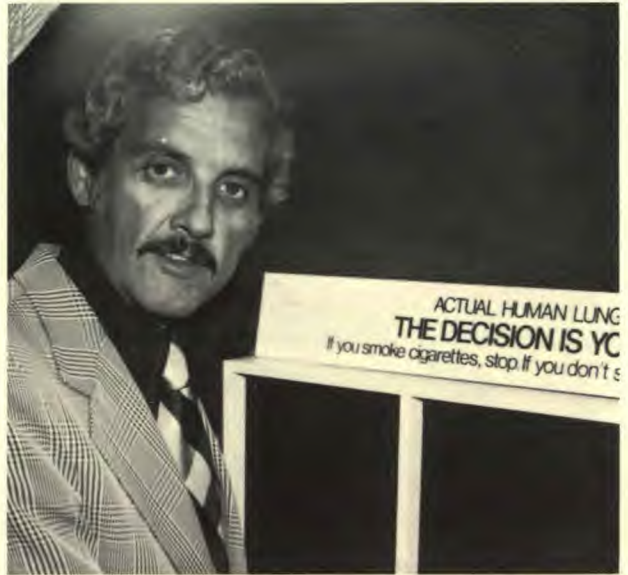

LANSING FLOOD VICTIMS HELPED

Over $13,000 of assistance was given to victims of the recent floods in Lansing, a report just released by the conference office reveals. Hundreds of articles of clothing were made available by Lansingites which were put into shape by the workers at the new Community Service Center. The above picture shows part of the boxes of clothing which volunteer workers processed. According to the report log, 2,900 articles of clothing were donated to flood victims plus hundreds of blankets, sheets, and towels. During the emergency period, Lansing area Adventists put in 1,645 hours of work at the center to serve those in need.

MRS. KUERBITZ, THIS IS YOUR LIFE

Mrs. Agnes Kuerbitz of the Long Lake church was the recent guest of honor at a "This is Your Life" program. Mrs. Kuerbitz has been a loyal Adventist for many years and has brought numerous persons into the church through her efforts as a literature evangelist. More lately she and her husband Carl have devoted much time and effort to Harvest Ingathering. The special program was sponsored by the Long Lake and Glennie churches.

GREEN BAY STOP SMOKING CLINIC

A dramatic illustration of a human lung diseased with emphysema, another with cancer, and a comparison of a healthy lung was used by Dr. Wesley McNeal during a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking held at Green Bay's Bellin Memorial Hospital with 145 participants. The display, borrowed from the American Cancer Society, demonstrated the lungs in a vivid, colorful, three-dimensional, pulsating life-size form.

FEWER SMOKERS IN APPLETON

The Appleton church received some fine television coverage June 28, by Green Bay Channel 5 Eyewitness News when they aired their coverage of the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking.

Jan Giese, correspondent for Channel 5, followed the smoking clinic from start to finish. She reported to her viewers:

"By 1972 there were over a million deaths from emphysema; 300,000 unnecessary heart attacks. These are some of the statistics that Dr. Paul Conner gave to 20-some people gathered last Sunday night to kick the cigarette habit. The no-smoking plan sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist church involved a combination of willpower, exercise, diet, and peer support.

"By Tuesday John Dokkle admitted he was hungry from drinking only fruit juices. On Monday he was tired and a little tense. He said he tended to blow up for no good reason. On his desk was a glass tube which said, 'In an emergency, break glass.' Inside was a cigarette and a match. But his ashtray was filled only with fruit.

"By Wednesday Peggy Smith was doing alright. On Tuesday Peggy's daughter broke her arm, and Peggy even managed to get through that without a cigarette.

"On Thursday night the whole group got together for its last session. Only one person had dropped out and

TEMPERANCE POSTER CONTEST

A recent week at the conference office looked like an art fair as temperance posters were displayed on the walls of the second floor. Conference office workers and visitors examined them and voted for their choice for first place. Mrs. Pat Hutchinson, office secretary of the Temperance Department, is shown talking about the winning poster with its creator Lyndi Ivey of Lansing. The 32 posters, each selected as the best from their school, were displayed with no identification so voting could be strictly on merit. Since they were the work of grade school children, uniqueness, rather than artistic ability, was the main factor in the judging. Lyndi created her poster out of actual denim material which helped to give her theme a special effect.

Dr. Paul Conner, D.D.S., director of the Appleton Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, was filmed by Jan Giese of Green Bay Channel 5 Eyewitness News.

only a few were still smoking. They wanted to quit so they tried, and if they can hang onto the willpower they've developed during the course, they'll probably do it. The Appleton Seventh-day Adventist church is planning to sponsor future no-smoking clinics."

BLESSING LEAVES WISCONSIN

Richard H. Blessing

A long-time worker in the Lake Union Conference ended a 14-year association with the Christian Record Braille Foundation on August 1.

Richard H. Blessing of Arpin became director of Nosoca Pines Ranch, Liberty Hill, South Carolina, on that date. Nosoca Pines is a year-round camp operated by the North and South Carolina conferences. Blessing also pastors a new 15-member church in Manning, while Mrs. Blessing is a cook at the camp.

Prior to working for Christian Record, the General Conference publishing house for blind persons, Blessing spent 17 years in the publishing work in Wisconsin, Illinois, and Nebraska. He was the West Lake Division director for Christian Record with a territory covering Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, and Wisconsin. His job involved recruiting, training, and assisting Christian Record's 15 field representatives in his territory.

With Blessing's assistance, camps for blind children were established in the Lake Union. After attending the first Seventh-day Adventist camp for the blind in Florida in 1967, he helped with similar efforts throughout the West Lake Division. So far, he has participated in 25 camps, including three in Wisconsin.

"My greatest satisfaction in these camps was in seeing the kids do things for the first time," Blessing said.

"We had a 12-year-old who was scared to death of horses. We helped her learn about a horse and took her for a half-hour ride. The next morning she wanted to get on by herself. She has discovered that she didn't get kicked or bit."

The Wisconsin blind camp attracts about 55 to 60 youngsters mostly from larger population areas. Very few, if any, are Seventh-day Adventists.

Part of Blessing's work at the blind camp was orientation of counselors.

"We emphasized the need for counselors to stay with the children, to treat them as normal persons. Most blind children are sharp. The only thing wrong with them is their lack of sight," Blessing said. During blind camps, there is a counselor for every four children as compared to one for every eight children during a regular camp.

Prior to moving to Bethel two years ago, the Blessings lived for eight years in Berrien Springs. At Bethel, besides his heavy Christian Record work schedule and many miles of travel, Blessing assisted local pastors in their churches.

"I considered him a great help," said Elmer Rasmussen, former pastor at Bethel, who is now at Racine. "He was always willing to help whenever he could. He helped build our new church. He was always glad to preach in the other three churches in that district."

In May, the Bethel and Marshfield churches held a special dinner in honor of the Blessings. Everyone present signed a guest book which was given to them as a remembrance.

"We're sorry to be leaving the Lake Union," said Blessing, "but as we grow older, it becomes harder to keep up with the hours and travel necessary."

"KICK THE HABIT" ON TV

Peggy Wandtke, program moderator for the Channel 11 TV show "Summertime Folks," featured "Kick the Habit," July 15.

Her guests were Pastor Ralph Wendt and Dr. Wesley McNeal, Green Bay's Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking team, and Mrs. Marlene Zeller, wife, mother, and graduate of the Five-Day Plan. These three answered questions which were phoned in by viewers.

Mrs. Zeller had smoked for 15 years. Because of emphysema, she tried unsuccessfully to stop smoking several times. Last March she saw a Five-Day Plan advertisement in the local paper and enrolled in the clinic with her husband. To date she has been successful in not smoking and gives the Five-Day Plan format the credit. She stated she feels better, food tastes better, and her sense of smell has improved.

DOCTORAL DISSERTATION EXAMINES SEMINARY STUDIES

Dr. Don Jacobsen

In a doctoral dissertation entitled "Preparation for Ministry," Don Jacobsen, associate professor at the seminary at Andrews University, examines the studies offered at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary.

For the paper, Jacobsen polled some 300 seminary graduates for their opinions on how adequately their theological training prepared them for the ministry.

On the whole, graduates responding indicated a strong preference for the type of training that could be applied to specific needs and problems.

Accordingly, Jacobsen recommends at the conclusion of his paper that seminarians be required to spend an entire year in the field between college and seminary. Presently, only half of those who register have had such experience.

He also suggests that the curriculum be tailored more to the particular needs of individual students. Weaknesses should be supplemented, and special competence in a given subject should enable a student to omit certain required courses. Duplication of college work should be minimized, he says.

Furthermore, the seminary should work more closely with pastors of the nearby churches, which he designates as "laboratories" for second-year students.

Those churches are where their real competence or incompetence will show.

DR. ROCHAT PUBLISHED IN PROFESSIONAL JOURNALS

Dr. Joyce Hamilton Rochat, associate professor of English, has recently had three articles accepted and printed in professional English journals.

"T.S. Eliot's 'Gerontion': Wisdom Literature of the Twentieth Century" has appeared in the February 1975, issue of The Cresset, a professional review of literature, the arts, and public affairs, where Eliot's "Gerontion" is compared with the poem of the Old Testament book of Ecclesiastes.

In the May 1975, issue of The Contemporary Review printed in London, England, will appear another article on Eliot entitled "T.S. Eliot's 'Companion' Poems:

Eternal Question, Temporal Response." The Cresset will print another article, "The Significance of the 'Word' in T.S. Eliot's 'Gerontion.'"

Dr. Rochat received her M.A. from A.U. in 1961 and her Ph.D. from Michigan State University in 1971. After teaching at Lake Michigan College for four years, she came to A.U.'s English department in 1970. She has authored two books, Dark Sunrise and Curse of the Voodoo Gods, concerning experiences she and her husband had in Haiti where they were missionaries for nine years. She has also written for the Review and Herald and has been asked to write the "Adjunct" for Insight in a December issue.

SOCIAL WORK PROGRAM ACCREDITED AT A.U.

The Council of Social Work Education has accredited the social work program at Andrews University, the only Adventist school to have received such accreditation.

A.U.'s program was one of nine programs in Michigan colleges and universities that had the Council's approval (a second level endorsement) when it began accrediting university social work programs during the past year. The Council is the official social work accrediting agency for the U.S. and Canada.

To meet accreditation standards, the social work faculty has implemented the highly structured bachelor of social work degree which provides entry-level education for professional practice.

Students in the program learn to deal with a wide range of social problems, including delinquency, divorce, drug abuse, and mental retardation, according to Reger Smith, director of the social work program.

The program involves one quarter of field service in social welfare agencies in Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, and Niles.

Graduates with the degree will be eligible for employment in hospitals, adoption agencies, family counseling services, and government welfare agencies, Smith said.

Sixty students are now enrolled in the program at A.U.
