Baptist Pastor Joins Adventists

Waldo Greene was raised a Baptist, attended resident Baptist schools, and at the age of 15 felt a call from God to enter the ministry. He tried to subdue these feelings by helping in other ways within the church. "I was a pianist, a quartet member, and I even taught Sunday school," he says. But he still felt the call to be a minister.

At age 30 he finally decided to enter the ministry and entered a Baptist theological college. While there he heard the Voice of Prophecy broadcast. At the end of the broadcast a free book was offered, Patriarchs and Prophets. He sent for it and started reading.

In 1967 he was ordained to the Baptist ministry and began pastoring a small country church. While he was pastoring this church he received the first of the Focus on Living V.O.P. Bible lessons. "I said to myself, What have I got to lose?" Greene recalls. "I should be informed about other denominations also."

After finishing the Focus course, he took the New Life Bible course. "About two-thirds of the way through the course the local Adventist pastor visited me and asked if I would like to study further," says Greene. "I agreed, and the pastor came weekly to study the Bible with our family."

After about six to eight months of Bible studies, the family accepted the Sabbath and other doctrines of the Seventh-day Adventist church. "I resigned from my position in the Baptist church," says Greene. He had been pastor of three Baptist churches while a Baptist minister.

After a crusade by Harold Turner in October, 1973, 42-year-old Waldo Greene, his wife, and their twins, Ray and Kay, were baptized. He has preached periodically since then, and in January of this year was ordained an elder in the Hendersonville, North Carolina, church.

A year ago, the Greens were approached with the prospect of going into colporteur work. "We felt the Lord was calling, and even though we had good jobs we gave them up and went into literature evangelism," says Greene. Declining sales because of the recession, coupled with a need to spend more time with his family, caused him to give up selling literature and take a job with an Adventist-owned watch assembly company.

"I still feel that my real call is the ministry," says Greene. "Most of all, what I want is to get back into the ministry. But however and wherever the Lord leads, I will go."

FAMILY CLUSTERS SOLUTION FOR FAMILY STRESS?

The concept of "family clusters" is the focal point of experimenting by the Bethany Christian Disciples of Christ church in Houston, Texas, in an effort to ease the problems of family stress. Groups of about 20 persons meet once a week for four weeks. Families are divided during a session and rearranged into "make-believe families," to allow for different points of view. The goals of clusters are to open communication within and among families, deal with family systems and rules, and expose children and adults to different parental styles and models.

CALIFORNIA BACKS DOWN ON CREATION IN TEXTBOOK AGREEMENT

Only the evolution theory will be presented in California's new science and social science textbooks. The books thus violate an agreement made two years ago. In the agreement, reached after months of haggling, the State Board of Education agreed to put the creation theory in its social science textbooks where philosophical arguments about man's origin were in order. Those defending social science textbooks appearing with no mention of the creationist theory said the guidelines of the creationists were not specific enough.

ASTRONAUTS' RIGHT TO READ BIBLE IN SPACE SETTLED YEARS AGO

Christians engaged in a letter-writing campaign defending the right of American astronauts to read from the Bible while in outer space are involved in a useless endeavor. At least that's the opinion of Charles Redmond, public information specialist for the National Aeronautic and Space Administration in Houston. The issue was settled years ago in the courts, Redmond said, and "what the astronauts say in space is their own business." Redmond said there are no restrictions placed on astronauts concerning Bible reading.

LACK OF ROLE DISTINCTION THREATENING TO DESTROY AMERICAN YOUTH

Presiding Bishop of the Mormon church, Victor Brown, says the increasing immorality and lack of role distinction between men and women is threatening to destroy America's youth. Brown told the summer conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, "We have a great need in the churches today to develop masculinity in our boys and femininity in our girls." Noting that specific needs of women have been greatly ignored, Brown held that "we will never save our boys unless we save our girls."

ASSEMBLY VOTES TO RETAIN OFFICE

The General Assembly of the Unitarian Universalist Association has decided to retain the denomination's Office of Gay Concerns. The office has been one of the most controversial issues in the denomination, which voted in favor of its formation in 1973 and 1974. Opponents argued that funding of the office appears to be a sanction and approval of homosexual lifestyle and behavior and that it provides a bad example for children and youth in the denomination.

TEXTBOOK AID UNCONSTITUTIONAL

In a 6-0 decision, the Michigan Supreme Court on May 1, 1975, ruled that a state law requiring public school districts to provide textbooks and supplies for children in private schools at taxpayers' expense was unconstitutional. Citing the public referendum in 1970, that clearly barred the state from supporting general education programs in private schools, the Court said that the law expected to cost some $5 million dollars would violate the "will of the electorate."

ADVENTISTS "WELL-KNOWN" IN GREECE

Seventh-day Adventist ministers in Greece no longer need fear a confrontation with the government over military exemptions. An Adventist case was appealed to the State Council by a minister in Athens who was refused military exemption. The Athens Recruiting Office said Adventist clergy were not duly ordained since they did not belong to a "well-known" religious group. The State Council said Adventists are "well-known" and publicly teach their beliefs qualifying them for the same right to military exemptions enjoyed by other clergy.

INSTITUTE ON MENTAL HEALTH SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER

Seventh-day Adventist ministers in the Lake Union Conference are invited to attend the 20th annual Institute on Mental Health, sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary and the Harding Hospital. This year's institute will be held at the Harding Hospital, Worthington, Ohio, October 5 through 8.

The purpose of this institute is to provide ministers with information and experience in dealing with people and their feelings and to aid them in handling the emotional problems they encounter in their ministry.

The faculty for this year's institute will include George Harding, Sr., M.D.; Dr. Harrison Evans, Loma Linda University; Elder Charles E. Wittschiebe; Dr. L. Harold Caviness, Battle Creek Health Center; Dr. Charles Anderson, Hinsdale Sanitarium; Chaplain A. E. Brendel and Chaplain Darrell Nicola, Kettering Medical Center, and staff of the Harding Hospital.

Each minister attending will have opportunity to learn from informal discussions with these well-qualified persons, as well as through participation in the lectures, seminars, and discussion groups.

Ministers interested in attending this year's institute should contact the president of the local conference for an application form as soon as possible, since enrollment is limited. Additional information can be obtained by writing to George Harding, Jr., M.D., Harding Hospital, 445 E. Granville Road, Worthington, Ohio 43085.

PARENTS!

*by Margaret Sackett Best
Supervisor of Education and Curriculum
Illinois Conference*

In a few short weeks your children will be returning to school or will be starting school for the first time. They are the most precious heritage that God has given you. Will they be placed in the best school? Will they be where they will have the opportunity to receive a true education?

Is it possible to be a scholar and not to have had a true education? Is it possible to have a love of books and to be educated in the fine arts but to be uneducated in the greatest of all sciences? Is it possible to have our boys and girls so educated that they cannot put the greatest value upon the things most worthwhile in life?

Have you placed your children where they will be taught the beginning of wisdom or are they being taught to be infidels? They are your children and yet they belong to the church and to God. What are their minds being fed for five or six hours every day? Is it possible for the Holy Spirit to walk up and down the aisles of the classroom your child is attending?

Why does the Lord delay His coming? He is searching for a people! But what people? A people whose lives reveal His character. Will your children have this idea as the center of their curriculum this coming school year?

"True education is a grand science; for it is founded on the fear of the Lord, which is the beginning of wisdom. Christ is the greatest Teacher this world ever knew, and it is not the pleasure of the Lord Jesus that the subjects of His kingdom, for whom He died, shall be educated in such a way that they will be led to place the wisdom of men in the forefront, and delegate to the wisdom of God, as revealed in His holy word, a place in the rear. True education is that which will train children and youth for the life that now is, and in reference to that which is to come; for an inheritance in that better country, even in an heavenly. . . .

"The general method of educating the youth does not meet the standard of true education. Infidel sentiments are interwoven in the matter placed in schoolbooks, and the oracles of God are placed in a questionable or even an objectionable light. Thus the minds of the youth become familiar with Satan's suggestions, and the doubts once entertained become to those who entertain them, assured facts, and scientific research is made misleading on account of the way its discoveries are interpreted and perverted. . . . These false educators exalt nature above nature's God, and above the Author of all true science."—Fundamentals of Christian Education, pages 328, 329.

How can we dare to send our children out when the Lord Himself ordained that we should have our own schools? "The Lord himself has signified that schools should be established among us in order that true knowledge may be obtained."—Fundamentals of Christian Education, page 168.

I remember when I first made the change from a large public school to a small church school. It seemed too small and the teacher didn't measure up to what I had been used to. It seemed just a waste of time to me. My parents didn't listen to me but persistently insisted that I attend church school. Tuition bills were always met and paid even though we went without many other things. Later on, while in graduate school, I again attended a worldly school where certain professors were amazed that a small school system could produce students who could do well in their courses.

Some courses offered material which could not be mastered without upsetting one's belief in God. Which is greater, a grade or God? Then there was the tendency to change one's appearance to fit in with the crowd. Which is most important? Grades, appearance, speech, friends, God?

Oh, yes, you won't find all church schools perfect. God has left them in the hands of human beings. But don't forget that the Holy Spirit is found often in the rooms of our schools and that the work of the parent is to pray that the Holy Spirit will find your child there and that He will work out his salvation.

There are many good, honest souls out in the schools of the world who must be called out from among them, but where are the reapers to do this work if the cream of the crop is out there being taught error and has to spend long hours later unlearning it?

We hope that when you have decided to send your child to a church school that you will truly find it a "haven of refuge" for your child.

That I Might Receive My Sight

by F. G. Thomas, General Manager Christian Record Braille Foundation

Blind Bartimaeus' plea made on the roadside outside Jericho elicited an immediate response from Jesus. Stopping, He asked that the blind man be brought to Him whereon He asked, "What wilt thou that I should do unto thee?" (Mark 10:51). Bartimaeus replied, "Lord, that I might receive my sight." Immediately his sight was restored, and it is recorded for us that he "followed Jesus in the way" (verse 52).

The record of the miracle has been preserved for us that we might understand Jesus' concern for blind people. The Scriptures tell us specifically that at His second coming the blind will receive their sight. While waiting for this happy event, the Lord has charged us with the responsibility of ministering to blind, visually and physically handicapped people who cannot read normal inkprint.

For over 75 years the Seventh-day Adventist church has served blind people through the Christian Record Braille Foundation, Inc., an institution of the General Conference. Although owned and operated by the General Conference, over 95 percent of the financial support for this program comes from non-Adventist sources. Regulations make it mandatory that these funds be used to supply "non-sectarian" services to the public. Thus, while it is possible to use public funds for most of the books and magazines supplied to readers in braille, on record, tape, and cassette, those materials that are uniquely Adventist must be paid for by church funds. An active Bible correspondence school is also operated by the foundation, the costs being cared for from church funds as well.

The last few months has seen a dramatic increase in requests for services, placing a heavy strain on church funds. In fact, as of this writing, the Special Literature Fund used for denominational services is overdrawn. To cut back on these services would be a denial of our responsibility to blind people; it would be an inexcusable failure on our part; in fact, it would amount to a refusal to participate in the great gospel commission.

Letters from readers indicate the profound effects that literature has in bringing the truth to those who live in perpetual darkness. A man from New Jersey writes: "I finally found the Lord God Christ as my personal Saviour, but I have been brought up on the Sunday Sabbath. Among these talking books was the Student [the Sabbath school lessons on record] for July and August, 'Christ and the Blind parents with sighted children can now enjoy storytime with twin-vision books available through the foundation's lending library.

Sabbath." I liked the heavy emphasis on Scripture and the presentation convinced me, and now I observe the Sabbath on the seventh day and try to spend the entire day studying God's Word."

A reader who lost his eyesight through an industrial explosion writes, "We appreciate more than we can find words to express these wonderful recorded Bible studies."

A lady from Florida has written saying, "I am a post polio victim paralyzed from my neck down and spend about 90 percent of my time in my rocking bed, which helps me breathe. I am also legally blind so you can see that these talking records are a real blessing to me."

Ministering to blind and physically handicapped people who cannot read normal inkprint is in harmony with God's plan. In fact, many who will hear Jesus thank them for ministering to Him when He was hungry, thirsty, naked, and a stranger (Matt. 25:35, 36), will have ministered through their support of the Christian Record Braille Foundation, Inc.

Remember the Christian Record Braille Foundation on August 30, when an offering will be received in all Seventh-day Adventist churches in North America.

PSYCHIATRIST CONDUCTS SEMINARS IN TAIWAN, HONG KONG

Dr. Charles L. Anderson, chief psychiatrist at the hospital, gave a series of mental health lectures in an evangelistic effort in Taipei, Taiwan, earlier this summer.

Dr. Anderson participated in an eight-night series of programs conducted by Milton Lee, director of the Chinese language radio Voice of Prophecy and a classmate of Dr. Anderson's from the Far Eastern Academy and Pacific Union College.

Approximately 500 people attended every night of the series. The nightly format consisted of a presentation by Elder Lee on a religious-oriented topic. Dr. Anderson followed with a 45-minute presentation on principles of mental health, which was translated into Chinese.

While in Taiwan Dr. Anderson also conducted a series of morning seminars for Seventh-day Adventist ministers in Taiwan on the subject of pastoral counseling. Pastors attending came from all over Taiwan to learn how to deal with such problems as mentally ill persons in the church, the importance of emotional factors in the spiritual life, and interpersonal relationships.

From Taiwan Dr. Anderson traveled to Hong Kong where he conducted a ten-hour course over a two-day period for approximately 50 Seventh-day Adventist ministers in Hong Kong. This course emphasized basic principles of pastoral counseling.

Returning to his birthplace in Tokyo, Dr. Anderson spent several days visiting familiar places in Japan. A highlight was an all-day climb up an old volcano of 5,946-foot elevation that had presented a challenge to Anderson even in his youth.

In Japan the language barrier presented little difficulty for Dr. Anderson, who spent all but four of his first 18 years in the country and can speak fluent Japanese.

TORNADO STRIKES CITY OF CANTON

A tornado ripped through the city of Canton, Illinois, recently and left two dead, wounded at least 50 people, and destroyed half the town. A number of trailer courts were almost entirely destroyed.

The streets strewn with fallen buildings and hundreds of trees made it impossible for any transportation to reach the victims for some time.

It was stated that this was one of the worst storms of this nature ever to hit the State of Illinois.

The federal government declared the city a major disaster area and funds will be given to help restore damages done.

The Galesburg, Peoria, and conference vans were kept busy day and night during clean-up operations in Canton.

It was just a few weeks before the storm that the Canton S.D.A. church had dedicated a community services center where the mayor along with other city officials were invited. The small membership rallied in force to bring relief to the victims and help supply refreshments for those working to clear away all the debris.

Members from the Galesburg and Peoria churches brought their community service vans to help in the distribution of much needed items. Church members worked day and night making sandwiches and supplying water and juices to the many organizations working untiringly to clear the streets so that traffic could return to normal. The conference van delivered blankets, sheets, towels, and clothing to the center to be distributed to the families who lost everything during the storm.

Some victims were given shelter for several nights until other facilities were found. It was a most satisfying sight to see our dedicated members putting into practice the things they were taught to do in case a disaster struck. Some worked without stopping for rest or sleep, never grumbling or complaining. They not only worked in supplying food and clothing but helped also in the clean-up operation. Their Christian witness brought a host of favorable comments from the townspeople.

Some commented that as soon as they were settled they wanted to come to the Adventist church.

The mayor and other city officials had nothing but praise for our community services workers.

The pastor, W. R. Kromminga, and the community services leader, Mrs. Jessie Wyant, did an outstanding job in rallying the church to the task before them.

Holly and Lisa have the privilege of living in a fine Christian home with their mother and grandparents, Mrs. Coral Pellerin and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Payne. They have two older sisters, Bethal and Dawn, and a little brother Vernon.

They anxiously await the coming of Jesus so they will meet their Daddy who was laid to rest a few years ago.

CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENTS MODELS

Mrs. Norma Harding, a member of an Indianapolis Baptist church recently visited the Glendale cradle roll and kindergarten departments to look at the room decor and supplies and to observe the program format. Mrs. Harding, who says she has been a church member all her life but has just recently become a Christian, heard about the Glendale Sabbath school programs from Mrs. Bonnie Howell, a Glendale member, when they met at a neighborhood Bible study group.

Mrs. Harding has been asked to help organize children's departments in her Baptist church which has had only baby-sitting services in the past. At the end of the Sabbath school program she said she was very favorably impressed with the program and amazed at how the children responded and how much they learned. She expressed an interest in having the kindergarten and cradle roll leaders meet with the ladies of her church to tell them about their programs, give an inventory list of their supplies, and tell how to make and use them.

LAFAYETTE SCHOOL BURNS MORTGAGE

The Lafayette church was organized after a series of evangelistic meetings in 1919. Services were conducted on the top floor of the Federal Bank Building at Third and Union streets for several years.

At this time there was a Seventh-day Adventist school, taught by Miss Susan Blake, in operation at the Wabash Valley Sanitarium (which was owned by the Seventh-day Adventists). Children of the members of the newly organized church attended this school while awaiting the remodeling of a large frame dwelling on the corner of Eighth and Union streets.

This home was an elegant old structure with beautiful maple beams, and it served as both church and school until 1936, when it was torn down to provide room for a new church and school. During the construction time, the church family met in other churches and there was no school in Lafayette.

Classes were resumed in 1942 in the new building, continuing there until the property was sold in May of 1966. For the school year 1966-67, the school occupied temporary quarters in a residence on East Union Street, owned by a church member.

In July of 1967, the Lafayette church purchased the old Monitor school and remodeled it to house both the church and school until a new facility could be built.

On May 18, 1968, ground was broken for the present school plant and Sabbath school wing. Classes began on September 9 of that year. Names were submitted by the students, and from the list, the church board chose Pleasantview Elementary School.

Besides the fully carpeted and tastefully decorated classrooms and Sabbath school rooms, the new facilities provided for science and cooking instruction and also instruction in manual arts. A gymnasium with showers and a large, well-equipped playground and ball diamond made possible a well-rounded physical education program. A scenic ravine with a brook, provide hiking the year around and ice-skating in the winter.

Through the years the church has given faithfully and generously to reduce the indebtedness on the property.

One interesting project, conducted by J. C. Steinkraus, architect and builder, was the construction of a ranch style, three-bedroom home, located three blocks from the church. The house, begun in the summer of 1973, was under construction for one year. Many Sundays and many man-hours were donated by Mr. Steinkraus and other church members, and as a result, the house was finished and sold in the summer of 1974. The indebtedness on the school was reduced by $3,500. This project was a real morale builder and from that time on the funds poured in at an ever increasing rate, until on May 3, 1975, the mortgage was burned at a special ceremony.

The following evening, at a victory dinner, the Lafayette church launched into the second phase of the building program, the raising of funds for the new sanctuary to be added to the present school and Sabbath school wing.

We at Lafayette ask the members of the churches in the Lake Union Conference to remember us in your prayers, that soon we will have a church dedicated to glorify God and provide a place for us to worship—a place where we may work for those in Lafayette who are seeking for the truth in these last days.

SHARON INKSTER CHURCH INVESTS THREE MASTER GUIDES

The Sharon Inkster Master Guide club sponsored an Investiture service on May 17.

Four Busy Bees from the Ecorse church, Tyron Chapple, Troy and Mark Washington, and Sylvester Shepherd were invested.

Dauphne Kimmey, a member of the Inkster Wolverine Pathfinder club, was invested as a Friend. She has completed eight MV honors. She also has received the Presidential Award in physical fitness. Dauphne is the first of the Wolverine club of 1975 to receive the Good Conduct Award for outstanding achievement.

Three busy adults completed the Master Guide requirements. Josephine Austin, who lives in Inkster and works part-time in New York, completed most of her requirements through correspondence.

Nancy Lindo, a mother of two, division leader of the primary Sabbath school department, baby-sitter for three toddlers, and herself expecting a new addition to her family, successfully completed the Master Guide requirements.

Josephine Smith, 72 years old, full of zeal and unmatched determination, was also invested.

Marie Church, director of the City Temple Planets Pathfinder club, was awarded a plaque for her faithful service for 25 years in Pathfinding, by the Motor City Pathfinder Federation director, Walter Darby.

Servonia Jones spent many hours instructing and advising the Master Guides and encouraging them to complete the requirements. Herself a Master Guide, Jones has a burden for young people to be properly trained.

Elder Fred Williams, youth director of the conference, presented the awards. A total of 75 MV honors were awarded.

Special music by the Master Guide club, Ecorse youth choir, Sharon youth choir, and Sharon children's choir made the afternoon one that will long be remembered.

NEWS NOTES

• The assistant pastor, Jim Hopkins, of the Troy church has developed a summer of activities for the youth of the church including nature hikes, miniature golf, Northfield youth and adult baseball games, picnic at Stoney Creek, trip to Tiger Stadium to see a double header, early morning breakfast at Metro Park, horseback riding, a weekend camping trip, and Sabbath school and church outdoors. Beginning July 5, a teen division will be added to the Sabbath school for ages 13 to 15. A very interesting series is under way at the prayer and share hour with Pastor Paul Matacio alternating each week with Pastor Hopkins.

• On July 26, 12-year-old Connie Salisbury was baptized at Pike's lake by Elder Thomas Ludowici. She had deferred baptism earlier because she wanted the sacred rite to be performed in a natural setting in the manner of Jesus. The baptism brought the number of new members that have joined the Otsego church to six since its reorganization in August 1973.

MYRTLE BROWN CELEBRATES 100TH BIRTHDAY

at her daughter, Mrs. Henry Nelson's home, in Berrien Springs, Michigan.

The highlight of the celebration was the arrival of 100 roses from the grandsons and families of her deceased daughter.

Mrs. Brown was born in Washington County, Iowa, on July 31, 1875. She made her home in southern Iowa until 1953 when her husband, Jacob Brown, died. She then lived in Scotts Bluff, Nebraska, until 1966, when she moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nelson.

All of her children were able to attend the celebration. They are, in addition to Mrs. Nelson: Mrs. Jessie Samples, Berrien Springs; J. M. Brown and wife, Milton, Oregon; Ben Brown and wife, Calimesa, California; R. J. Brown, Mitchell, Nebraska; and Carnott Brown, Riverside, California.

Mrs. Brown has been living in the Fancher Nursing Home for the past five months. She has a total of 104 grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren.

THREE ANGELS IN URBANDALE

Three angels with anxiety on their faces look out over services in the new Urbandale church on the west end of Battle Creek, reminding worshippers that there is little time to prepare a world for the coming of Jesus. The baptistry mural was painted by James McClelland, art instructor at Union College, Lincoln, Nebraska, to depict the urgency of the three angels' messages of Revelation 14. The flowing upward lines of the painting follow the architectural pattern of the building. Urbandale members have been in their new church since May, 1974.

DOCTOR ADDED TO CLINIC

Kwan Soo Kim, M.D.

Joining the Family Medical Services clinic at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital is Kwan Soo Kim, M.D., recently from Sinai Hospital of Detroit, where he completed a two-year residency in internal medicine.

A graduate of Pusan National University in South Korea, Dr. Kim practiced at the 120-bed Seoul Adventist Hospital prior to joining the residency program at Sinai.

Coming to Battle Creek because he wanted to practice at a Seventh-day Adventist hospital, Dr. Kim will be in the same clinic with Steven G. Tarangle, M.D., and Sunggeun S. Im, M.D.

Dr. Kim and his wife, Ju Hyun, have two boys—James, 8, and John, 6, both of whom will be attending the elementary school at Battle Creek Academy.

PROMOTION IN FAMILY MEDICAL SERVICES

James Rector

In addition to his work as a staff accountant, James Rector was promoted to the department head in charge of coordinating the Family Medical Services clinic at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital.

Created last November, the clinic provides facilities, supplies, personnel, and office space to a group of physicians as well as administers their billing and other related business matters.

"As an established physicians' clinic, doctors will be attracted to the area and to the services provided by the department," according to Rector. Plans are currently under way to provide additional space for more physicians' offices and a dental suite.

Rector started in the hospital's accounting department in January 1974. Coming to the San from Caldwell, Idaho, Rector was the office manager and accountant for Bake and Serve, an industry located on the campus of Gem State Academy, a Seventh-day Adventist boarding school.

Rector and his wife JoAnne, a housewife, have two boys—Joe, 6, and Jerry, 4.

ORDINATION AT CAMP MEETING

Mike Sulen, pastor of the Wautoma, Poy Sippi, Almond, and Waupaca churches, was ordained into the gospel ministry during special services held Friday, August 1, at the 107th annual Wisconsin camp meeting in Portage.

More than 2,000 people witnessed the ceremony which included General Conference officials as well as Lake Union and Wisconsin Conference leaders.

Sulen was born in 1946 in Ohio. He attended Monnett Junior Academy in Monnett, Ohio, and graduated from Mount Vernon Academy. He received a B.A. in 1968 from Andrews University. He and his wife Kathleen have two children, Jodi Lynn, 6; and Michael Anthony, 4.

The newly ordained minister worked in the Milwaukee area churches in 1968-69, then returned to Andrews for seminary training. He was appointed pastor of the Tomah district churches in 1970, moving to his current district in 1973.

Of the ordination, Elder Dale said, "Pastor Sulen has a wonderful musical talent which he uses in his ministry. We pray that God will continue to bless Mike and his wife as they use every talent entrusted to them to finish God's work and hasten the coming of Jesus."

The ordination address was given by R. R. Bietz, recently retired vice president of the General Conference. Bietz tied his message into the general camp meeting theme, "Christ in Every Home," by stressing the importance of a good home life of church members.

The ordination charge was given by F. W. Wernick, newly elected general vice president of the General Conference. Others who participated were R. L. Dale, Wisconsin Conference president, who welcomed Sulen to the ordained ministry; W. L. Murrill, treasurer of the Lake Union Conference, who offered prayer; R. A. Thompson, ministerial secretary, Wisconsin Conference, who presented the candidate; and Pastors G. S. Dudney and Elmer Rasmussen, Wisconsin Conference ministers.

The church being purchased by Lake Geneva members has a seating of approximately 150 and is located at 120 South Sixth, Delavan, Wisconsin.

YOUNG CHURCH HAS NEW HOME

"To God be the Glory," will be the heart response of Adventist members in the Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, area as in six weeks they worship in their own church building.

It was about twenty months ago that the Adventist believers in this area were organized into a church. For the past several years members have been meeting for worship service in a labor temple under conditions that have been less than ideal. Cigarette ashes and beer cans have had to be discarded before the worship services could begin.

Several weeks ago a lovely church in Delavan, a neighboring community more centrally located to the members, became available completely furnished for $29,500. To make this purchase, $15,000 would be needed by the time of closing. To accomplish this seemed an impossibility, but recognizing that with God all things are possible, members along with their pastor, Elder Jaster, sought to see what could be done through prayer and sacrifice. Commitments made by members, friends, and Adventists from neighboring churches raised just what was needed. Funds on these commitments are coming in rapidly.

With this response of faith the members with conference approval have committed themselves to complete the purchase of this church. Special services are scheduled for September 20 in the new church home with conference president Robert L. Dale scheduled to lead the church in rejoicing.

"With a church home we are confident that God will bless with added spiritual growth as well as adding many new members to this church," stated Pastor Jaster.

NEW PASTORS IN WISCONSIN

Two new Wisconsin Conference pastors got their introduction to the conference recently by arriving just in time to help with preparation for the annual camp meeting, held in Portage July 31 to August 9.

Elder Elbert Tyson came to Wisconsin from the Illinois Conference where he pastored the Broadview church and served as chaplain at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital. He moves into the Wisconsin Rapids-Stevens Point district.

He and his wife Martell have four children.

Ron Dorchuck comes to Wisconsin from Portage, Manitoba, Canada, where he had pastored several churches over the last several years.

Pastor Dorchuck and his wife Kay have three children.

Nick Esposito, pastoring the Merrill, Tomahawk, and Prentice churches, came to Wisconsin in January. Esposito and his wife Cynthia have a son born in July.

Walter Gees can play all five of the miniature violins he has carved, but it's difficult to photograph his smallest in use. All that is visible is a bow hovering over a closed left hand.

WORLD RECORD HELD BY WISCONSIN MEMBER

Walter Gees, a member of the Raymond church has made the world's smallest violin.

Gees played his miniature instrument for the Vacation Bible School program and the story was reported in the Racine Journal Times asking if anyone knew of a smaller violin. After careful library research no one has yet found any record of a smaller instrument that actually works.

Gees spent one month making the 3½-ounce fiddle from apple wood and left over mahogany paneling. He plays it with a full size bow. "It wouldn't sound right with a miniature bow," the retired barber turned violin maker said.

The only violin close to this one in size weighs four ounces and was made many years ago by Gees while he was recovering from scarlet fever.

Anyone who can play a larger violin should be able to play the sub-miniature with a little adjustment. Positions are so close together he uses just one finger on the strings.

Gees doesn't spend all of his time fiddling around. Besides building small violins he still drives into Milwaukee once a week to work as a barber on Senior Citizen Day. He also prepares wooden parts for children to assemble at V.B.S.

CANNONS GO TO KENTUCKY

Pastor Paul E. Cannon, assistant professor of religion at Andrews, and his wife Carol, moved in July to Williamsburg, Kentucky, to begin an organization designed to help college students resolve basic spiritual and social issues confronting them. Outside the classroom at A.U., the Cannons worked with students in a variety of evangelistic and other outreach programs. They often boarded in their own home persons especially needing help. This one-to-one work with youth, they plan to continue in Kentucky.

COMPUTER SPEEDS REGISTRATION

A new system of on-line registration should make registering speedier this fall. This system already has aided the 1,373 students who enrolled summer quarter.

Students who register, have their advisors check their programs, and then go to a computer terminal.

Norman Roy, associate director of admissions, said, "At the end of the day the computer can spit out all the statistical information." Previously this information may have taken three to four weeks to obtain.

3 EDUCATION PROGRAMS ACCREDITED

Thousands of hours of planning and evaluating over the past five years at Andrews University have resulted in the professional accreditation of three of its recent education programs by the National Council of Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

The programs accredited were those at the master's level for elementary and secondary school principals and school counselors.

Preparation for the accreditation involved compiling a 300-page report tracing the success of graduates and giving full explanation and inventory of the programs, teacher qualifications, resources, entrance standards, and related items.

To meet NCATE standards, A.U. strengthened the faculty by adding specialists skilled in the areas to be accredited, required of students more field experience, and made the programs more flexible to the needs of particular students.

The chairman of the inspection team, Dr. Bernard W. Fuhr, chairman of the personnel and guidance department at Miami University, Ohio, described the program as "dynamic, open, and helping to meet the professional needs of Michigan and the world."

The accreditation brings to 12 the number of A.U. programs accredited by NCATE. The first nine, in basic teacher education, were accredited in 1970.

COMMUNITY HEALTH LEADERSHIP WORKSHOP SCHEDULED FOR SEPTEMBER

Do you want to become a community health leader? Then this workshop is for you. A week's workshop will be conducted at Andrews University, September 5 to 11, to provide such training. The program is designed to train church members and others how to reduce the occurrence of cancer, coronaries, and strokes. It trains persons to administer tests to determine the risk of contracting such illnesses and to give health demonstrations for an actual risk evaluation for the public.

Workshop participants in September will receive with their training a 530-page reference syllabus containing information on all aspects of health and step-by-step directions on how to conduct the risk-evaluations and health-improvement sessions.

Conducting the workshop is Mrs. Charlotte Hamlin, M.P.H., and instructor in nursing at the university.

Lecturing with her will be Herald Habenicht, M.D.; Daniel Klein, Ph.D. (physical fitness); Patricia Mutch, Ph.D. (nutrition); Elder Richard Barron (alcohol and drugs); Elder Stoy Proctor (the minister and health education); and Roy Wightman (health education in hospitals).

The workshop is offered on a noncredit basis, but two graduate workshop credits are available to persons who hold baccalaureate degrees. Application should be made at once. For costs and further information write or call: Dean, School of Graduate Studies, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104. Telephone (616) 471-7771, extension 305 or 517.
