Bock New President of Lake Union Conference

Elder Lowell Bock

Elder Lowell Bock, associate secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, was elected president of the Lake Union Conference at a meeting of the Lake Union Committee September 2, 1975. He replaces Elder Francis W. Wernick who was appointed general vice president of the General Conference at the Vienna General Conference session last July.

Elder Bock will continue in his post at the General Conference until after the Annual Council session in October. He has held the position of associate secretary of the General Conference since 1970.

A native of the Northwest, Elder Bock attended Yakima Valley Academy, Granger, Washington, and received his bachelor of theology degree from Walla Walla College in 1946. He entered the ministry in Canada in the Alberta Conference after graduation. The following year he entered conference departmental work serving as lay activities and Sabbath school secretary first in the Alberta conference then in Manitoba-Saskatchewan, and finally in the Ontario-Quebec Conference. He was ordained to the ministry at Lacombe, Alberta, in 1950.

In 1960 he entered conference administrative work, becoming president of the Maritime Conference. He was chosen president of the Ontario Conference in 1963 and served in that position until 1966 when he became president of the Southern New England Conference where he remained until he was called to the General Conference. He has worked closely with the boards of several colleges and hospitals in his conference administrative roles.

On May 27, 1945, he was married to Merlo Belle in College Place, Washington. A registered nurse, Mrs. Bock received her B.S. in nursing from Walla Walla College, and has been employed in the neurology department at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland.

The Bocks have three children: Allan, a medical doctor who is taking a residency in surgery at Kettering Medical Center in Ohio; Mrs. Janel deCharleroy, a nurse in Maryland; and Colleen, also a nurse, who will move with her parents to Berrien Springs to attend Andrews University.

The Lake Union family extends to the Bocks their most wholehearted welcome to the Lake Union along with their prayers that God will bless their ministry in this area.

President of the United States, Gerald R. Ford, was proud of the young people who performed for the State Dinner in the Vilanow Palace during his visit to Poland. He told them, "You were the finest." His comment is a fine tribute to the results of Christian education. See story on pages 4-6. White House photo.

F.C.C. REJECTS LANSMAN-MILAM PETITION

The Federal Communications Commission has unanimously rejected a petition seeking a freeze on applications for educational television and FM radio channels by religious organizations. The F.C.C. said the Lansman-Milam petition "would have us disqualify all religiously affiliated organizations and institutions from eligibility to operate on reserve channels." That, the agency ruled, would constitute "discrimination." "As a government agency," the ruling continued, "the commission is enjoined by the First Amendment to observe a stance of neutrality toward religion, acting neither to promote nor to inhibit religion."

SERMON-WRITING CONTEST TO FOCUS ON NATION'S NEW BIRTH OF FREEDOM

A sermon-writing contest, open to pastors of Protestant and Roman Catholic churches across the nation, is being sponsored by "Resurgence '76." The contest, first of its kind ever conducted by the daily devotional guide, offers a $300 honorarium for the sermon chosen as best, and nine awards of $100 each. The sermon must focus on the theme: "That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom."

"STATEMENT OF UNDERSTANDING" SIGNED BY RED CROSS AND SALVATION ARMY

National leaders of the Salvation Army and the Red Cross have signed a "statement of understanding" that outlines principles for cooperation between the two bodies. Among the items agreed on are interagency meetings of volunteers and staff on the local level, a concerted effort not to compete with each other over similar services, and a declaration of the spiritual emphasis in the case of the Salvation Army.

TENNESSEE LAW ON GENESIS RULED INVALID

Both state and federal courts have rejected a 1973 Tennessee law requiring textbooks to present the Genesis story of creation along with evolution. In separate but concurring opinions, Federal Judge Frank Gray, Jr., and the Tennessee Supreme Court ruled the law unconstitutional. In overturning the statute, Judge Gray cited the First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of speech. The State Supreme Court's decision said the 1973 act was unconstitutional on the basis of sectarian partisanship.

UNITED METHODIST COLLEGE GOES NONSECTARIAN

As part of a decision to sever ties with the United Methodist church, crosses were removed from atop the two chapels at Western Maryland College, in Westminster, Maryland. In an effort to prove to the courts that the college is nonsectarian, college administrators have reportedly also agreed neither to "sponsor nor conduct any religious services" and to "remain totally neutral to the spiritual development, in a religious sense, of its students." Prayers, religious hymns, and sermons are not expected to be part of commencement exercises. The three-year-old litigation seeking to bar public funds to the institution has cost the college $75,000 annually in legal fees.

GUTENBERG BIBLE REPORTEDLY FOUND

One volume of an original, priceless Gutenberg Bible found in a village Lutheran vicarage was reported in Mainz, West Germany. The book, found by a school teacher in Immenhausen, includes the Old Testament from Genesis through the Psalms. Gutenberg, the Mainz printer who invented movable type in the early 15th century, is believed to have issued 180 Bibles, most in two-volume sets. Only 47 original copies, many of them incomplete, are known to exist.

PROTESTANT WOMEN ORGANIZE "IN DEFENSE OF LIFE"

A task force to mobilize Protestant women "in defense of life" was announced by Billy Graham's wife in Montreat, North Carolina. The announcement came at the conclusion of a two-day meeting at the headquarters of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. It would plan strategy to change the situation created by the U.S. Supreme Court's 1973 abortion rulings. A Baptist spokesperson for the group said, "It is essential for Protestant women to become active in defense of life and of the dignity of women, which is destroyed by the ethos of mass abortions."

TSAR'S ORDER PRESERVES FRESCO

Soviet archaeologists have discovered a 16th century fresco on the wall of a long-buried church in the city of Pskov. The fresco is reported to have retained all its pristine colors. It survived damage and resisted fading when Tsar Peter the Great, for some unknown reason, ordered that the small church be completely covered over with soil.

STATE CONTROL OF CHURCH SERVICES ENDED SEPTEMBER 1

More than 300 years of state control of Church of England services ended on September 1. On that date a repeal of the 1662 Act of Uniformity—which made the Common Prayer Book of that year the only legal service book in England—became effective. After that time the General Synod will have powers to authorize alternative services. The 1662 Book, however, remains a "permanent option."

MORMON MEMBERSHIP GROWING IN ASIA

Asia is the latest geographical region to report a surging growth of the Mormon church. The church in Korea has reached a total of nearly 9,000 members in 16 cities in less than four years. President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Spencer Kimball, says he hopes to build a temple in Manila for Filipino members, following the one just announced in Tokyo. The church now has approximately 3.5 million members.

Michigan Youth in Poland

by Robert T. Johnston

This summer five young people from Berrien Springs joined the New England Youth Ensemble for a three-week tour of Poland, which proved far more exciting than any of the group anticipated. As one of those five, I have been asked to share with you some of our experiences, particularly as we felt God's working in and through our group.

The New England Youth Ensemble is under the direction of Dr. Virginia-Gene Shankel Rittenhouse, a Seventh-day Adventist musician now teaching at Atlantic Union College. She began the group a few years ago as an outlet for a few of her young pupils, and it has grown to include many young people of the New England area who are interested in serious music, most of them Seventh-day Adventists. For major concerts it is augmented to include young people from all over the United States, including the Taylor String Quartet from Berrien Springs.

Last year this orchestra was selected by Friendship Ambassadors of New York, in connection with the State Department, to represent the United States in a goodwill concert tour of Poland. The choice was made from over 4,000 high school and college organizations across the country. This year the Polish government requested that the orchestra come back again.

The Taylor String Quartet began making plans to go, but I never dreamed that I could join the orchestra for this tour. You can imagine my excitement when I received a phone call from Dr. Rittenhouse, a friend of our family, saying that they needed another trombonist and would like me to go. "There is just one problem," she added. "Polish Airlines is insisting on having all passport numbers by tomorrow morning. See what you can do." It was midnight when she called.

The next day my mother and I left work and school behind and drove to Chicago. Unable to find my birth certificate, we had only an old, joint passport from our missionary days. With much prayer we entered the passport office of the Federal Building. The man at the information counter said that even if they expedited it for an emergency departure, they still could not give me a passport in less than 24 hours. But he suggested we get in line and see what one of the clerks could do for us.

So, praying some more, we chose a pleasant-looking clerk and waited. She turned out to be a very sympathetic musician's wife with a spirit not always common to government office workers. When we apologized for imposing upon her, she replied, "Not at all. That's my job. That's what I'm here for, to help people. If it's a passport you need, then I'm here to help you get a passport." In less than two hours my passport was ready! We thanked the lady profusely and praised God.

And so the hustle began. In just a few weeks I had to finish school, buy and label clothes, prepare film, and make many other final arrangements. The Taylors and I met the Youth Ensemble at Union Springs Academy in New York and returned with them to Massachusetts toward the end of June. After ten days of six-hour rehearsals in South Lancaster, we left for Poland on July 8 from Kennedy Airport.

When we arrived, we immediately began to notice the differences between our country and Poland. We found that the real difference is that their lifestyle is not so complex. In their simpler lives they have more time for religion. Many Poles are Roman Catholic, and the hundreds of cathedrals are filled every morning and evening for mass.

We played in many of these cathedrals and churches, and it was a distinct pleasure to be able to witness for God through our music. We had the privilege of being invited to the Shrine of the Black Madonna to play for mass. This shrine is the holy place of Poland, and pilgrims from around the world come to it. The Black Madonna is said to shed salty tears on certain occasions. Scientists haven't been able to figure out why, and the pilgrims regard it as a miracle from God. The church was beautiful, and to fill its chambers with music was a joy. After the mass the archbishop was so pleased that he gave special permission for the priests to give us a tour of the church and its monastery, including a library housing many ancient manuscripts. This was a real honor, because—as we later found out—women are not allowed into the monastery library, yet they let our whole group see it.

Everywhere the people of Poland greeted us with warmth, kindness, and hospitality. We played in town halls, university concert halls, outdoor parks, mountain resorts, and factory towns; and everywhere the reception was the same.

The Polish government wanted us to see their country, so our concerts were interspersed with interesting sight-seeing tours. We saw the birthplace of Copernicus, the beaches of Gdansk along the Baltic Sea, the Tatra Mountains, and the university town of Krakow. The most sobering tour was that of the prison of Auschwitz, made famous by the Nazi treatment of Jews during World War II. As we viewed the gas chambers, the gallows, the thousands of pairs of shoes, the yards of cloth made from human hair, and many other gruesome reminders of the inhumanity practiced there, we learned also that a number of Seventh-day Adventists had lost their lives there because of their Sabbath-keeping, which linked them with the Jews in the minds of the Nazis.

We left Poland to spend one week-end in Vienna, Austria. There we played for the General Conference Session at the closing meetings. Even though most of the people spoke German, French, and other foreign languages, we were able to speak to them through the great international language of music.

Back in Poland, we spent our last Sabbath morning at the Warsaw Seventh-day Adventist church. We found a lively church whose members are very strong in the faith. Though they don't have much money, they keep a fine sanctuary and manage to share their faith with others. They asked for the prayers of our people in America.

The greatest highlight of our trip took place on our last night in Poland. We had been aware that something interesting was afoot when we had to give a private concert in our hotel in Warsaw for President Ford's social secretary on Sunday, the day before the presidential party arrived in Warsaw. Then we were asked to give a command performance for President Ford and his guests—Polish Communist Party Leader Edward Gierek and his wife and other top Polish diplomats—after the state dinner given in their honor at the Vilanow Palace, where the presidential party was staying in Warsaw.

There were four groups of young musicians touring Poland under the sponsorship of Friendship Ambassadors, including the Takoma Academy Chorale, directed by Francisco de Araujo, and also a bell-ringing group and a madrigal group that we had not met previously. These four groups totaled approximately 130 people and were all invited to perform for the President, thus becoming the largest group to be allowed to do so. The Secret Service usually restricts such groups to 30 or less. And even as we entered the palace grounds on Monday afternoon, the Polish security guards were not sure they would let us in. But our sponsors reassured them that we would set up quickly and not cause any trouble, and soon we were in. We spent the afternoon setting up, rehearsing, and being briefed in protocol.

At 6 p.m., the state banquet began. The Taylor String Quartet was honored to provide the dinner music for this, along with a flutist and harpist from the other groups. They had to be very carefully screened, and even their instruments had to be surrendered for scrutiny before they played.

At 8 p.m., the President, along with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and other top American diplomats, ushered his guests into the room where we were to perform. We stood and applauded until the President took his seat. Then he came forward to introduce us to his guests. Our program proceeded, with each number being announced by a performer in proper respectful form to the President. For the final number of our half-hour program all four groups combined to perform "America the Beautiful." Tears came from the President's eyes.

After the concert, when all the guests had left, the President slipped away from his guards quietly and came back to the room where we had played. By then we were downstairs, putting away our instruments. But he told one of our chaperones, who was collecting music stands, that he was so moved by the music that he would like to personally thank us. We were then brought back to the room, and he shook hands with each one of us and expressed his appreciation for our music. He said, "We hear a lot of criticism about American youth; but tonight, young people, you were the finest." He stayed to chat with us for about ten minutes.

With this compliment to Seventh-day Adventist youth ringing in our ears, we left directly for the airport, thanking God for working out this performance opportunity; for, as Mr. Morgan, director of Friendship Ambassadors, observed, "There was a higher power at work tonight." I would like to agree. And I would like to thank every church member who has contributed to Adventist education around the world. I think the compliment from President Ford is a fine tribute to its success.

SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Joyce Griffith, Correspondent

NEWS NOTES

• Effective August 31, the hospital's pharmacy began providing 24-hour-a-day service with a registered pharmacist on duty in the hospital at all times. Reason for the change is to provide better service to all patients, according to Matthew Fivash, chief pharmacist.

• The doctors' library will be named the W. W. Frank, M.D., Memorial Medical Library in memory of Dr. Frank, an Adventist physician who served on the hospital's medical staff from 1922 until his death in 1974.

NEW CHIEF PATHOLOGIST

Erlo Roth, M.D., has arrived at the hospital and assumed duties in the laboratory as the chief pathologist. Dr. Roth comes to Hinsdale from Kettering Memorial Hospital. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Brazil, completed an internship at Washington Adventist Hospital and a residency in pathology at George Washington University and Washington Hospital Center. He is certified by the American Board of Pathology.

HEALTH EDUCATION SETS BUSY SCHEDULE

September and October are busy months for health education at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Among major health education events scheduled for the early fall are "Heartbeat" risk factor screening on four consecutive Sunday and Monday mornings in September, evaluation night programs on "Heartbeat," the hospital's 88th Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, September 8 to 14, and glaucoma screening on September 2.

Educational classes beginning in October will include weight control, starting October 6, and continuing for ten Monday evenings; stress management, starting October 9, and continuing for seven Thursday evenings; physical fitness seminar, October 14, one evening; nutrition-cooking school, starting October 15, and continuing four Wednesday evenings; and dietary control of cholesterol and triglycerides, October 21, one evening.

Hinsdale youth enjoy the outdoor church Sabbath services.

OPEN AIR SERVICES FOR HINSDALE YOUTH

An outdoor church was held for the academy and young adult Sabbath school divisions of Hinsdale church on August 9. About 110 young people attended the morning activities which included Sabbath school conducted by Jeff Fisher, a member of the ACT team (Adventist Collegiate Task Force), and youth pastor Bob Reynolds.

The sermon was presented by Steven Vitrano, Ph.D., chairman of the church and ministry department at the Seminary. After the services everyone participated in a potluck picnic dinner.

An afternoon discussion on courtship and marriage was led by Dr. Charles Anderson, head of the mental health unit at Hinsdale Hospital. This was the second time this summer that Dr. Anderson had the outdoor services at his home.

The youth ended the Sabbath with a vesper communion service by candlelight.

LITTLE GRASSY LAKE CAMP MEETING

If we were to judge the Little Grassy camp meeting by the many remarks that were overheard from those attending, then it had to be the best one to date.

The main speakers for the camp meeting program included Rodney Dale, pastor of the Peoria church; Norman Kinney, pastor of the Brookfield-La Grange district; and James Hayward, pastor of the Battle Creek church in Michigan. Each of the speakers gave a series of messages aimed at reaching the heart of the individual.

The annual book sale is always a highlight at Little Grassy camp meeting, and this year was a good one according to Clyde Best, the new conference Adventist Book Center director.

The baptism of three young adults was held in the lake swimming pool Sabbath afternoon by D. E. Lund, pastor of the Mattoon district.

The conference president, Elder John Hayward, challenged the members in a closing meeting to become actively engaged in using their talents to take the message to their neighbors.

A vote was taken to extend camp meeting next year to include Sunday.

CERF'S CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Marcel and Marjorie Cerf were married 50 years ago on July 25, by Pastor George B. Jones, a Methodist minister in Crown Point, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Cerf now live in Lansing, Illinois. Mr. Cerf retired in 1961 after working for the American Oil Company in Whiting, Indiana, for 36 years. Mrs. Cerf has been a member of the Hammond, Indiana, Seventh-day Adventist church for nearly 50 years.

The Cerf's only son Marc and his wife Marilyn reside in Crete, Illinois. Grandchildren, Marc and Becky live in Park Forest, Illinois.

The Cerfs were honored at a 50th wedding anniversary surprise party given at the home of their son. The rededication of the marriage vows were conducted by Elder Mario Ruf, pastor of the Hammond church. Organ music was provided by Mrs. Ruth Patterson, mother of Marilyn Cerf.

After the "wedding" the couple were taken for an automobile ride in the rumble seat of a 1934 Buick.

DOWNERS GROVE CHURCH PICNIC

Members of the Downers Grove church fellowshiped recently during the annual picnic at Maple Grove Forest Park. Games, good food, and conversation highlighted the afternoon for about seventy-five members. Plans are being made to have another campout for the entire church in the early fall.

GROUND BREAKING AT MARION

Members of the Marion S.D.A. church broke ground for a new church home Sunday, May 25. The present church was built in 1955 by the members and is now much too small.

Mayor Robert Butler of Marion spoke to the group at the ceremony, expressing his appreciation for the work of the church and his happiness at the sign of the Seventh-day Adventist church growing in the commu-

ity. Norma Fore presented a history of the Marion church, and Elder John Martin challenged the group to the attitude of God's people in the days of Nehemiah, "The people had a mind to work" (Neh. 4:6).

The Marion members plan to do most of the actual construction work. They hope to complete the exterior before cold weather and then finish the interior later.

DOWNERS GROVE YOUTH MAKE TRIP TO COLORADO

Twenty youth and five adults enjoyed a one-week, 1,000-mile trip to Colorado from August 17 to 25.

While in Colorado the group climbed Long's Peak, which is 14,256 feet, and visited the cities of Denver, Boulder, and Estes Park. The majority of the time was spent in beautiful Rocky Mountain National Park.

On August 10, a car wash was held to help defray expenses for the trip. Twenty-five cars were washed which grossed $52. Other summer activities included water skiing and a canoe trip down the Fox River.

In charge of organization and supervision of the trip was Pastor Roland Friedrich, and his wife Pam, who are the youth leaders.

INDIANA TEACHERS' CONVENTION

An enthusiastic group of Christian teachers met at Timber Ridge Camp from August 20 to 24 for the Indiana Convention. The theme, "Our Very Best With God's Blessing" was strongly emphasized in the main feature, the Human Potential Workshop which was under the direction of Dr. Mercedes Dyer and a group of staff members from Andrews University.

Features of the convention included a keynote address by Elder Harry Sackett of the Lay Activities Department, the Sabbath sermon by Elder G. W. Morgan, Indiana Conference president; and a call for making the Bible program evangelistic by Elder F. R. Stephan, director of education for the Lake Union Conference.

WORKERS HAVE RETREAT AT TIMBER RIDGE

Some of the ministers, physicians, and departmental leaders met together for a retreat at Timber Ridge Camp on the weekend of August 8 to 10. Dr. Leo Van Dolson, of the General Conference Ministerial Department, brought counsel on how the doctor and minister can unite their talents in medical missionary work. The Century 21 health-doctrinal program was presented to the group.

On Sunday, August 10, the remaining ministerial force came to camp for the regular workers retreat. The mornings and evenings were spent in session with Dr. Gordon Hyde, field secretary of the General Conference. In these sessions, Dr. Hyde discussed the challenges facing our church.

The afternoons were devoted to recreation for the workers. Something new was added this year. A canoe trip down the White River from Spencer to Freedom, Indiana, provided a lot of fun and good exercise for many of the ministers and their families. The trip took three to four hours of paddling. A craft program was provided for the ladies. Many of them worked in leathercraft, ceramics, plastics, and candlemaking.

The retreat ended Wednesday noon, August 13. It was a most refreshing experience for all. The workers expressed their appreciation to Elder George Morgan, conference president; Elder Ray Rouse, conference treasurer; and Elder Bill Woodruff, ministerial secretary, for their hard work in planning and conducting the retreat.

CENTER CHURCH FORMS ORGANIZATION FOR COUPLES

The official name of a newly formed group at Detroit Center church is the Fellowship of Husbands and Wives. Felton Craig is the leader.

Each member of the club will present a self-conducted program, or one to which a knowledgeable guest is invited. Topics for discussion will be subjects related to the marriage relationship.

Some meetings are to be open to the entire church body as well as interested members of sister churches in the area and their guests.

HEALTH OFFICER PRESENTS PROGRAM ON EDIBLE WILD PLANTS

Mrs. Willie Patterson recently presented an interesting and unique program at MV in connection with her position as health officer of Detroit Center church. Her guest for the afternoon program was Mrs. Marie Church, president of the City Temple wilderness survival club.

Church brought with her several plants and weeds that are edible or possessed healing properties. All specimens are plentifully available in fields and vacant lots.

It was learned that the common violet can be eaten from root to flower and has a pleasing and delicate taste.

Burdock, found almost anywhere, is a weed with remarkable healing properties for such ailments as arthritis, rheumatism, and muscle strain.

Another specimen, plantain, a broadleaf genus, can be used as a seasoning herb or cooked as greens. Chicory, also found in fields, is another edible vegetable whose roots provide a coffee-like flavor when boiled.

After the lecture, Patterson invited those present to taste a Loma Linda vegetarian salad.

NEW PASTOR ARRIVES FOR CAPTIOL AVENUE CHURCH

Members of the Capitol Avenue church in Indianapolis, Indiana, warmly welcomed their new pastor and family, Elder and Mrs. Randolph Stafford and son Randy. J. R. Wagner, conference president, introduced them on June 21. Stafford's initial sermon challenged each member to rededicate himself to God in these uncertain times. Since the arrival of the Staffords, daughter April has been added to the family.

JESSUP FAMILY VALEDICTORIANS THREE CONSECUTIVE YEARS

For the past three years, members of the Jessup family of the City Temple church in Detroit were valedictorians of their senior high school classes.

Clifton, who is planning a career in law, is now in his junior year in college. He graduated from high school in 1973 with a G.P.A. of 4.0.

Malcolm, a graduate of the 1974 class, had a G.P.A. of 3.85. He is now pursuing a career in dentistry.

Cynthia's life ambition is to become a registered nurse. She graduated in May of 1975 with a G.P.A. of 3.98.

Another son, Thomas, is a member of the senior class of 1976 at the Frank L. Peterson school in Inkster, Michigan.

All of the graduates are former students at Frank L. Peterson and are now attending Oakwood College in Huntsville, Alabama. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton B. Jessup, Sr., of the City Temple church in Detroit, along with the Lake Region Conference family, are proud of these students.

NEWS NOTES

• A recent request was received at the conference office for a list of "all the Adventist hospitals in the United States." The note came from a Grand Rapids gentleman who evidently travels throughout the country. He wrote: "While I myself am not an Adventist, I know enough about them to know that I would trust none other with my body if I were taken ill with a serious disease. The Adventists care about you."

• Approximately one hundred persons from throughout the country who are interested in independent medical missionary work and healthful living, gathered on the grounds of Oak Haven, in Pullman, for a weekend convention, August 21 to 24. Elder John Loor, of the conference office was the guest speaker for the Sabbath morning service and reported that he found a strong spirit of consecration on the part of those attending.

• Two recent evangelistic series resulted in baptisms for the Grand Rapids and Mio churches. At Grand Rapids, Elder Victor Brown ran a summer series on Saturday evenings. Ten were baptized by the end of the meetings and ten additional baptisms are scheduled for September. At Mio, Elders Bob Collar and Ken Wenberg teamed up for an excellent program which resulted in eight baptisms with others making preparation for this sacred rite in the near future.

• Therapeutic dietitian Evelyn Franklin, a graduate of the University of Tennessee this past May, was recently exposed to the medical work of Adventists. She "liked the approach" of the church's medical program and had the desire to work in a Seventh-day Adventist hospital. As a result she has recently joined the staff of the Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital.

• As part of the Adventist Bicentennial program of beautification, the Sparta church has redecorated their Sabbath school classrooms and have erected a new church sign. The next step, according to a local newspaper item is "the beautification of the outside of the church property and carpeting the sanctuary."

• Myrtle Siewert, wife of Elder Don Siewert of Cadillac, recently conducted a successful Five-day Plan to Stop Smoking for a Manton husband and wife who couldn't wait until a regular plan was held. Recent open heart surgery for the husband and a suspicious spot on the lung of the wife caused the couple to put pressure on the Adventists for immediate help. The couple were aware of the program because of earlier stop smoking clinics held by Elder Siewert.

NEW CAMERA AT B.C. SAN

A new nuclear gamma camera has been recently installed in Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital's radiology department. It is highly sensitive in identifying and pinpointing tumors and pulmonary embolisms through brain, liver, thyroid, and lung scans. The hospital's staff radiologists, Drs. Merwyn and Donna Crandell, were granted permission by the United States Government Atomic Power Commission to expand their practice to include nuclear medicine.

PLYMOUTH LAYMAN A CRISIS CHAPLAIN

An invocation given by a Seventh-day Adventist at an annual meeting of police officers recently received special mention by leaders of the organization.

Felix A. Lorenz, Jr., a member of the Plymouth church is serving as a "crisis chaplain" in the Detroit area. He attended the meeting of the police officers of Michigan (POAC) which was held in Troy and discussed the role of the chaplain in the setting of police work. In a report on their convention, POAC officers noted "his colorful invocation" and called it "an inspiration."

Crisis chaplains are part of the ministry of the Greater Michigan Association of Evangelicals and provides professional counsel in crisis situations: domestic problems, suicide threats, notification of fatalities, emergency services, and drug and alcohol problems. Though primarily responding to calls by the police, chaplains are available to help people in any kind of need.

Although not a minister, Lorenz has been an active layman carrying on witnessing programs in unusual ways. He has been known in the Detroit area for some time because of his radio programs and his directing of the Lighthouse Chorale. When Lorenz first suggested he play a role as a crisis chaplain, the evangelical group sponsoring the program was "leary of a Seventh-day Adventist" participating. However, his services to the organization have been such that he is now treasurer of the chaplains' group and serves on its board of directors.

Lorenz's invocation which he presented at the annual meeting went as follows:

Almighty God,
author of perfect law,
arbiter of ultimate justice,
affecter of all good and brotherhood,
We come into your presence with bold humility.
We have dedicated our lives . . .
to the arbitration of misunderstandings
We need wisdom from you;
to the adjudication of differences
We need wisdom from you;
to the alleviation of injustices
We need wisdom from you.
We are devoting our efforts to the protection of those who have fears, to the sheltering of those who shed tears;
As defenders, protectors, sentinels, we are your emissaries.
As wardens, custodians, guardians, we are your representatives.
We appreciate our opportunity, our challenge, our profession.
We are grateful for the sublime nature of our work.
We realize our awesome obligation.
This is why, dear God, we have paused to ask you to empower us that we may do our work wisely;
enlighten us that we may do our work intensely.
Thank you, O Father, for these blessings, which we have asked in the name of the all-righteous Judge.

Amen

In competition with over 2,000 students for $25,000 in grants, Rusk was one of the 29 winners selected on the basis of achievement test scores, academic performance, leadership qualities, and financial need.

Rusk, a member of the Cedar Lake Academy Honor Roll and the National Honor Society, and a National Merit Scholarship finalist, is the son of Carl O. Rusk of Berrien Springs, Michigan.

WISCONSIN CAMP MEETING

An early morning baptism of 18 individuals was the high point of closing day activities at the 107th annual Wisconsin Conference camp meeting at Camp Silver Lake.

In introducing the theme, "Christ in Every Home," Robert L. Dale, conference president, said, "The relevancy of emphasizing Christ in every home is seen in recent developments, with more and more spouses cheating on each other, a continuing generation gap, and with some sociologists predicting an end to the family. It is essential that a reversal of this trend take place."

The theme was expanded in six evening sermons by R. R. Bietz, recently retired vice president of the General Conference.

"Christ certainly needs to be in every home," Bietz said. "The home is the base of the church. If the home is peaceful, then the church is peaceful. I like to think of every family as a little church."

Healthful living was a major emphasis in the afternoon meetings.

More than 220 persons went through the Heartbeat screening program offered by Hinsdale Sanitarium and Mid-American Nursing Homes. Roy Wightman, assistant administrator for health education at Hinsdale, coordinated the health emphasis with Dr. Richard T. Walden, medical director for the conference and Mid-American Nursing Homes. Topics included weight management, cholesterol and triglycerides control, how to keep from

WAY OUT INN AT FAIR

A Way Out Inn featuring its Voice of Prophecy Way Out leaflets and an emphasis on the harmful effects of smoking and drinking were the themes of the county fair booth sponsored by the Owosso church. Many persons expressed their appreciation for the helpful literature and an interest was generated in the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking.

having a heart attack, blood pressure, and stress management.

Others participating in the health series were Dr. and Mrs. Albert Patt, Battle Creek, Michigan; Don Bain, medical secretary, Australasian Division; and Dr. Everett Witzel, Hinsdale.

Mrs. Patt, originator of Veg-a-Weigh, told of her struggles with weight control and how she overcame the fat battle. "For more than 20 years I fought," she said, "and it wasn't until I realized that obesity is a sin problem and let the Lord help me that I was successful. When a person comes to that point, half the battle is won." Her husband, Dr. Albert Patt, talked about health planning.

Frank Ciganek, a sign painter from Milwaukee, donates much time and skill to bring a professional touch to the communication and aesthetics of the campgrounds.

Bain stressed the importance of exercise in any fitness program and gave hints on how to determine proper exercise levels. Witzel talked about how the mind controls the body and its functions.

How to live longer and more healthfully as well as management of cholesterol and triglycerides were the main topics of Walden. "An independent study taken in California several years ago came up with seven steps for persons to follow if they wanted to live as much as 11 years longer," Walden said. "The list included such things as stop smoking, exercise more, cut down cholesterol, etc. Their list could have come directly from the pages of Ellen G. White's writings," Walden said.

Bringing a message of proper nutrition as another aspect of having Christ in every home was Mrs. Edyth Cottrell, a research nutritionist for Loma Linda University, author of the cookbook, Oats, Peas, Beans and Barley.

Morning devotional speaker was Carl Coffman, chairman of the pastoral ministry department at Andrews University. Coffman's topic was "Righteousness by Faith."

"My aim is to make righteousness by faith more workable, more personal," Coffman said in his opening remarks. "It is essential we understand it because the enemy of God and man is not willing that this message be given clearly. The loud cry of the third angel's message has already begun in the righteousness of Christ," Coffman said. "That is the main message. Only a person who loves Jesus Christ will walk through the time of trouble."

Mrs. Edyth Cottrell, nutritionist and author from Loma Linda University, made friends with scores of children and adults by passing out treats which were good and good for health.

One of the special treats was a Thursday evening visit by H. M. S. Richards, Sr., and the King's Heralds Quartet.

At 6:30 Sabbath morning 18 persons were baptized in Silver Lake.

Richards talked about the undelivered message.

Five different series of workshops were offered including: "Feminine Happiness Is..." for women; news writing for church communications secretaries; one for literature evangelists; and a family life workshop.

Tapes of many meetings are available through the Wisconsin Adventist Book Center in Madison.

"Many people came to us saying how much they liked the health and home emphasis of this camp meeting," Dale said. "Wisconsin has surely been blessed during these ten days so that it can carry the work forward by strengthening the home."
