Farewell to Lake Union Workers

The Lake Union office staff and other guests from the institutions of the union gathered in the Wolverine Room of the student center at Andrews University Sunday evening, September 28, 1975, to say farewell to Elders R. E. Barron, C. N. Eckman, Gordon Engen, and F. W. Wernick. During the recent General Conference session held in Vienna, Austria, three workers from the Lake Union staff were called to join the General Conference staff. F. W. Wernick, who had served seven years as president of the Lake Union, was asked to serve as a vice president of the General Conference. R. E. Barron was called to serve as an associate director of the Youth Department working with college level youth. This new post will require Elder Barron to travel quite extensively. Gordon Engen has served in Michigan for the last 22 years at Adelphian Academy, Andrews University, and the Lake Union for over 15 years. Elder Engen will join the Department of Public Affairs and Religious Liberty as an associate director. C. N. Eckman will soon be retiring after serving for three years as associate director of the Religious Liberty Department in the Lake Union.

Fred R. Stephan, director of education for the Lake Union served as master of ceremonies. We were delighted to have Elder and Mrs. G. E. Hutches and Elder and Mrs. W. F. Miller, the only two retired union workers who have made their homes in the area, attend the farewell. Andrews' food service did an outstanding job on the decorations and the food was excellent. Dr. Franklin Lusk, a new member of the Andrews music department, rendered vocal music that was greatly appreciated. Leroy Peterson presented special violin music for the occasion. A special word of thanks to the Andrews music department for the service of these staff members who helped make our evening a memorable one.

Dr. Richard Hammill, president of Andrews University, made a speech of appreciation for the institutions of the Lake Union for the splendid years of service Elder Wernick has given. D. A. Copsy of the union staff spoke for the staff. R. D. Moon, president of the Michigan Conference, spoke for the local conference officers and staffs.

No one can remember when one union has made such a large contribution of talented workers to the General Conference at the same time. We were happy to have Elder and Mrs. L. L. Bock, the newly elected president of the Lake Union present for the gathering. Elder W. L. Murrill, treasurer of the Lake Union Conference presented the Bocks to the staff and gave a warm welcome to the family. Elder Bock has served as an associate secretary of the General Conference for North American activities for the last five years. We gave up three workers to the General conference, but we were able to get one in return in the call for Elder Bock. Elders Barron, Engen, and Wernick have already taken up their new work in Washington, D.C. Elder Bock will take up his new responsibilities soon after the Annual Council of the General Conference later in October.

We will indeed miss the Barrons, Engens, and Wernicks, and the solid contributions they have made here in the Lake Union territory. Our sincere prayers will follow them as they take up new and expanded responsibilities to the world field. Elder Eckman is retiring but he will stay on a few months longer until the Union Committee chooses a new Religious Liberty Department director. We do appreciate his willingness to stay on as well as the excellent work he has done in this department.

F. L. Jones
Secretary

Robert Burns once said, "Gie me ae spark o' Nature's fire, That's a' the learning I desire." Young people from all over the Lake Union sat beside campfires such as this one at Little Grassy Lake Camp, and heard stories, sang songs together, laughed, and watched the sun go down. They learned a lot about God's world and campfires will always remind them of camp.

When You Think of Summer, Think of Camp

by Marilyn Tworog

The sun reaches down to touch the heads of swimmers and its rays bounce off the lake into squinting child eyes. There is always enough dirt and rain to remind one that this is camping, after all, and enough fun and love and excitement to go around to everyone.

Indians whoop it up around a fire in the center of their village. Soldiers re-enact the Civil War on the grounds near the fort. Children watch in wide-eyed anticipation, wondering what will come next. What does come next is water skiing, collecting flower and plant specimens in the woods, making friends with warm-smelling horses, learning to care for the animals who are also at camp this summer, learning to swim in the sun-warmed lake, writing a postcard home during quiet time, being punctuated with mosquitoes, watching the sun go down behind the trees during the campfire sing, packing to go home and wishing that camp would last longer.

For some children, those at the Opportunity Camps, it was all a new and bright experience—a memory to be recalled at various times forever as the best week of their lives. Sightless youngsters took lessons in archery, horsemanship, swimming, canoeing, and water skiing, along with the other usual camping activities made easier for them by guide ropes and help from the extra staff of counselors. They see with their hands what the other children see with their eyes and both groups grow in their appreciation and knowledge of God's great earth.

Added cabins at Little Grassy Lake Camp, the Pioneer Village at Timber Ridge, the just completed nature center at Au Sable, "Windfall," a newborn fawn at Camp Wahdoon, and a new and practical class in wild edible plants at Camp Valkyrie—all this and much more added to the flavor of camp this summer.

There's nothing quite like the wind in your hair, the sun at your back, prayer with your counselor, and the memories of camp in your heart. When you think of summer, think of camp.

When You Think of Summer, Think of Camp

at Illinois'

Little Grassy Lake Camp

Some times its nice to just lie down and think. It's fun to learn about the stars with "Uncle Elton" Dessain to help you, or to go canoeing with a buddy, or get a ride in one of the boats. Good food revives you for the second half of the day which can include a race for the edge in swimming class, or learning how to tumble.

Campfire is the best time of the day. It gives you time to sit and think about all the fun it was to be with the pioneers and Indians in the village, and sit in the covered wagon, or participate in camp council. There's a right and a wrong way to lead a horse, also two ways to shoot a bow. It's fun to learn the right way. Leathercraft class gave campers something to take home. And seeing the pony express in action made them thankful for today's postal service.

What a great way to cool off!—in Camp Valkyrie's swimming pool. See which one of you can hit the bull's-eye. Craft class gives everyone a chance to make something pretty to take home. When your hand is raised, all is quiet. One of the most useful classes is learning about wild edible plants. And one of the best hours of the day is supper!

Civil war "soldiers" and their families pose for their picture at the fort, while "Indians" dance around their fire nearby. Some modern day "pioneers" learn to ride, identify rocks with Elder Fleming, examine a tree on a nature walk with Elder Jewkes, and practice capsizing a canoe.

Food always tastes better when eaten outdoors. And it is easy to work up an appetite swinging into the water dozens of times, swimming, riding the trails, and preparing your tent for inspection. Mail call cheers up any kind of day.

NEWS NOTES

• The sixth annual department head retreat was attended by hospital leaders and family members the weekend of September 19. D. W. Holbrook, Washington, D.C., president of the Home Study Institute, led the group in a series of spiritually oriented talks throughout the weekend. The retreat was held at the George Williams College lakeside campus on Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

• On September 24, the cafeteria changed from a traditional serving line to a "scramble" system with four separate food decks. The new system improves efficiency by providing two sections for main dishes and two cashiers during peak hours. Members of the public are welcome to use the cafeteria services. Mealtimes are 6:15 to 8 a.m., 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., and 4:30 to 6 p.m.

• A total of 800 persons participated in the fall Heartbeat program conducted in September to help people discover possible risk of future heart disease. Testing was conducted in the Hinsdale Seventh-day Adventist church as were all the evaluation night meetings when participants received their test results and general counsel about heart attack prevention. Some comments: "Great, especially the friendliness of those working." "Well organized and efficiently handled." "A motivating program." "This program is definitely a must for everyone." "What you are doing is a tremendous spiritual gift." Out of 198 attending one evaluation night program, 183 said they were motivated to do something to reduce whatever risk factors they might have.

FOLLETT'S HEAD WORK IN BLOOMINGTON

Jan L. Follett

Elder and Mrs. Jan L. Follett recently moved into the Bloomington, Indiana, district to direct the work there. They have come from the Mountain View Conference.

The Folletts have two children: Calvin, age 4, and Sharilyn, 16 months.

Elder Follett is an alumnus of Andrews University where he received his B.A. degree.

Lincoln, Nebraska, was the birthplace of Elder Follett, and his wife Paula was originally from Walla Walla, Washington.

PERRYS HONORED AT CONVENTION

During the teachers convention at Timber Ridge, Elder and Mrs. C. E. Perry were presented with gifts from the teachers. Elder and Mrs. Perry have done much to upgrade Christian education in Indiana. Their daily lives of consistent Christianity, sacrifice, and dedication are an inspiration to their teachers. We know God will bless Elder and Mrs. Perry as they continue their fine work in Indiana.

NICKLESS FAREWELL

More than 75 members and friends from the Richmond and Connersville churches attended a carry-in supper and social evening at the church to honor Pastor Michael Nickless who had accepted a call to the pastorate of the Gary church.

A talent program followed the supper with Mark Sargeant, teacher of the church school, as master of ceremonies.

Bill Rodenberg spoke briefly of the congregation's appreciation of the work accomplished by the pastor and prayed God's blessing to attend him and his family in their new field of service. Gifts were given to the pastor, his wife, and sons.

R. W. BATES GOES TO G. C.

Lake Region Conference office workers gathered for a testimonial dinner on August 25, in order to say farewell officially to Elder Russell W. Bates and his family.

Elder Bates has been called to serve as an assistant in the General Conference Lay Activities Department. The Bateses were presented with gifts and a book of testimonial letters and pictures—token expressions of the regard and high esteem held for their family.

All are saddened at the prospect of losing Elder Bates, but also pleased that he will be able to use his talents in an even larger capacity and in more widespread areas of the world work.

Arkansas-born Russell W. Bates came to the Lake Region Conference following his graduation from Oakwood College in 1951. Starting as a teacher, he shortly moved on to serve as pastor for many years in various districts throughout the conference.

Since 1967, he has been a most capable departmental secretary with the Lay Activities and Sabbath School Departments as his main responsibilities among many others. The Lake Region Conference has certainly benefited from Elder Bates' ministry which he has spent in its entirety here in this conference.

Elder Bates is married to the former Marion Meeks and they have two sons: Russell Jr., and Ira. The charming personalities and beautiful Christian characters of the Bateses have endeared them to the constituency of this conference. We bid them a fond farewell and pray for their continued success.

LAY EFFORT BAPTIZES FOUR

Just before camp meeting, members of the Ephesus church in Saginaw, Michigan, asked their pastor, Elder C. R. Graham, to hold a tent meeting in Flint, the sister city in his district. He was happy to oblige.

A community center on the southside of town called the Neighborhood House was donated free of charge for the entire four weeks of the meeting.

Groundwork for the lay effort had been laid by the members using the Amazing Facts Bible lessons. Recognizing it was "not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit," the members trusted God and went forward in faith.

Amos Lane, Sr., was speaker and Amos Bell, Sr., associate speaker. Hollistine Bell served as pianist. Tom McKay was coordinator of the Amazing Facts lessons, and Clara McKay headed the committee that corrected them. Monty Wheeler was in charge of ushers, and Daniel Thompson and Amos Bridgewater headed parking and transportation. Many others served in key positions that contributed to the success of the meeting.

At the end of the meetings, four persons were baptized and another baptism is planned for the future. Fellow laymen, do and dare for God, and great things He will do to and for you.

GRAND LEDGE ALUMNI MAKING BIG PLANS

The Grand Ledge Academy Alumni Association will be holding their alumni weekend October 31 to November 2 this year. This is a change in scheduling from previous years when alumni weekends were held in the spring. This change is being made in hopes of stimulating greater response than on previous weekends.

One of the outstanding features of this year's weekend will include Ben Parrish, recording artist from Nashville, Tennessee, who has worked with the It Is Written program and has cut several albums. He will be giving a sacred concert Friday evening and a secular concert Saturday evening, both at 8 p.m.

Also featured will be Walter Arties and the Breath of Life quartet from Hollywood, California. Mr. Arties, who has one of the finest voices in the denomination today, is also the producer of the coast-to-coast television program entitled Breath of Life with C. D. Brooks. They will be giving a concert Sabbath afternoon at 3:15 p.m.

The speakers for the weekend's activities will include Elder Lowell Bock, newly elected Lake Union Conference president. He will be presenting the lesson study for the Sabbath school program and will also be speaking for the Sabbath evening vespers. The eleven o'clock Sabbath service will be presented by Elder James Hayward of the Battle Creek Tabernacle.

This year the Alumni Association, along with Ray Brooks, principal, hope to raise funds for the academy through pledges. Details regarding this plan will be explained at the business meeting scheduled for early Saturday evening.

Facilities will be made available for those wishing to bring their own campers or trailers. Shower, restroom, and cafeteria facilities will be opened for the alumni and guests.

The Alumni Association extends a personal invitation to all alumni and interested individuals wishing to worship and fellowship with us.

WORKERS LEAVE MICHIGAN

Elder Elmer Malcolm, pastor of the Berrien Springs church for the past six years has accepted a call to the Ozark Academy church, Gentry, Arkansas. The Malcolms were guests of honor at a recent farewell salad luncheon when church members expressed appreciation for their ministry. Other Michigan workers who left the conference during the summer months are Wayne Johnson, a publishing department associate field secretary to the Chesapeake Conference; Elder Chuck Cleveland, under appointment to Brazil and a missionary launch on the Amazon; Elder Fred Diaz to a teaching post at Pacific Union College; and Elders Delbert Andrus and Robert Villanueva to South-eastern California Conference.

NEVER TOO OLD TO TEACH

Some persons may claim that they are too old to teach in a division of the children's Sabbath school.

Not so, according to Mrs. Minnie Osborne of the Cedar Lake church. "Grandma Osborne" is still regularly

Even during the cold, snowy, winter months, she walks the mile to church, always eager to help the children as they arrive for Sabbath school. And they all dearly love her.

Grandma Osborne still uses the sand table and has a real knack for keeping the many little fingers around her from playing in the sand. Having taught in Sabbath school for sixty years, she recalls the days before the present lovely cutouts. She tells how she once used candles for people, but with a white one always for Jesus. She says she used to use beans for cows and horses and recalls the time the "cows" accidentally rolled in the water causing quite a bit of laughter from the children. Yet, some of her homemade props, as her covered wagons made from pill boxes, would still delight an onlooker.

Next time you are asked to work in a children's department in Sabbath school and you are tempted to say, "No, I'm too old," or "I have helped out long enough" think of Grandma Osborne.

"SING FOR LIFE" HELD

A "Christian Sing for Life" was a three-day program put on for the public at the Springfield Township Hall in Davisburg to "just praise the Lord."

The idea came to Dennis and David Canther as they were working at Camp Au Sable this past summer where among other duties they helped out with the music. David and Dennis are better known as the leaders of the Happiness Singers, a youth musical group.

The Christian Sing for Life, a gathering for anyone who was searching for real meaning, featured singing and a short sermonette by Dennis and David. Their remarks were based on the book Steps to Christ and each person present received a gift copy of the book.

A number of persons supported the youth in their efforts. Betty Edgar of Troy painted a special backdrop of Christ for use with such songs as "The Old Rugged Cross." Other special effects included a large cardboard engine for use with "Life is Like a Mountain Railroad" and a lighthouse used with "The Lighthouse."

Special leaflets were passed out door to door which featured a letter to the people, in which numerous hymn titles were incorporated as an invitation to attend.

Assisting in the program besides Mrs. Edgar, were Elder Earl Zager, Glenda Judd, a literature evangelist, Robin Carr, and the parents of Dennis and David, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Canther of Davisburg.

8 BAPTIZED AT MIO

Eight persons were baptized recently as the result of a series of meetings at Mio. Elder Robert Collar joined with Elder Kenneth Wenberg for the effort. On those evenings when Mrs. Collar could not be present, two young people, Renee Booth and Carol Watson took her place at the electrograph chalk drawing board. Renee and her mother, Mrs. Cecil Booth also learned to play Elder Collar's bells and according to him they did "a beautiful job." Mrs. Booth played the organ each evening and some of the special music was supplied by the Teen Singers of the Mio church.

The Delavan church is now open for attendance by members in the Delavan-Lake Geneva area.

NEW DELAVAN CHURCH

A capacity attendance was present at the opening services Sabbath, September 20, for the new Delavan church at 120 South Sixth Street in Delavan.

Featured in the special afternoon service were the Good News Singers, a laymen's quartet from the Raymond church. Participants in the opening service included the Wisconsin Conference President, Robert L. Dale; Conference Treasurer, Warren Dick; Pastor Wesley Jaster; Pastor Lester Merklin; and the local first elder, Dan Rowe.

"Now is the time!" emphasized Elder Dale in his message. "No casual apathetic interest in the things of God and His church will suffice now," said Dale. "Our desires toward God must be enlarged. Our expectations have been too low. We must no longer boast of a few accomplishments we have achieved, measuring ourselves by other peoples, other churches, or those who are not our guides," challenged Elder Dale.

"Now is the time when into our lives must come a determination to put away forever a purposeless spiritual program. Superficiality must be banished. Compromise must cease. Criticism, complacency, and slothfulness towards God's service must be put away. We need a new visitation of God's convicting power to come upon us," proclaimed Dale.

With the fulfillment of hopes and prayers for a church building in which to meet, the believers in the Delavan-Lake Geneva area have committed themselves to greater service for God. Members are looking forward to evangelism in the new church facility next spring.

This new facility was made possible through the blessing of God and the gifts and cooperation of church members, both local and elsewhere, friends, and the Wisconsin Conference, and Lake Union Conference.

TWINS BAPTIZED TOGETHER

A twin baptism was held earlier this year when Tim and Tom Straman of Eau Claire were baptized at the same time. They had expressed this desire to Elder Henry Mattson, so with his arm supporting both boys, he lowered them into the baptismal tank and they were "born again at the same time" according to their wish.

HARRY W.
TAYLOR
PROFESSOR EMERITUS

Harry W. Taylor

Harry W. Taylor, professor of English at Andrews University, has been accorded the rank of professor emeritus, an honor conferred by the A.U. board of trustees for at least 15 years of outstanding service to the university.

Taylor has taught at A.U. since 1953 and has lived some 30 years in Berrien Springs, including time spent here as a student at Emmanuel Missionary College, forerunner of Andrews University.

Besides teaching at Andrews, he has taught at Kingsway College, Canada, and Atlantic Union College, Massachusetts, completing this year his 42nd year of teaching.

He will continue to teach part time such courses as literature of the English Bible.

Professor Taylor was the acting chairman of the A.U. English department in 1953-54 and 1970, and chairman of the division of language, literature, and speech from 1958 to 1960. He holds a master's degree from the University of Michigan and did work towards a doctorate at Boston University.

Biographical listings of Taylor appear in Who's Who in American Education, Outstanding Educators of America, The Directory of American Scholars, and The Biographical Dictionary of American Education.

He is author of five books, including Quiz Fun, The Orange-and-Black Miscellany, and Adventures in Literature and Life.

Taylor is married to Malvina Zachary Taylor, who has taught violin and directed string ensembles at the four schools where Taylor has taught.

NEW NURSING PROGRAM OFFERED, NEW STAFF

A new pediatrics program will begin at Andrews University this fall with Eleanor Allen, who joined the nursing department this month as director.

The present A.U. pediatrics program, conducted through the Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago, will overlap the new program for two quarters, ending next March.

The focus of the pediatrics program here will be on the well child, said Miss Alice Smith, chairman of the A.U. nursing department. This emphasis, she said, will match a current shift in health care towards prevention as well as cure.

Nursing students will work with children through local county public schools, well-baby clinics, and children's clinics, Miss Smith said.

When the Chicago program ends, the A.U. instructor there, Miss Candace Lord, will join Miss Allen here. One other pediatrics instructor will also soon join the department.

Pediatrics is just one growing part of a rapidly expanding department, said Miss Smith. "We have doubled our size in three years." Some 190 students, not including freshmen, have been accepted for the fall term, 30 more than all sophomores, juniors, and seniors admitted last year.

PHYSICAL PLANT MANAGER TO MOVE TO CALIFORNIA

John Kriley, physical plant manager at Andrews University since 1965, has accepted a position as physical plant and construction administrator at Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, California.

His successor here will be Ken Cobb, the assistant plant services superintendent at A.U. for preventive maintenance, electrical services, plumbing, pipe fitting, and safety.

As physical plant manager, Kriley has been in charge of the custodial, plant service, and grounds departments, and director of all university construction projects.

Also Kriley taught auto mechanics, plumbing, electrical wiring, and construction classes at A.U. from 1958 to 1960 and served as plant services superintendent from 1960 to 1965 before he assumed his present position.

Cobb received a bachelor of science degree in industrial education from A.U. in 1969, served the next two years in the army, and then returned to A.U. as heating plant operator. He became assistant plant services director on January 1, 1973.
