Adventist World Radio's Vienna Reports Popular

AWR has reported a number of very interesting responses to its coverage of the General Conference session in Vienna. Letters acknowledging reception of the AWR programs have come in from around the world saying what a blessing and encouragement these special reports were to many people of many lands. AWR featured half-hour direct reports from Vienna each day of the conference.

A. W. from England wrote, "The programs lead me to appreciate and understand more fully the work and aims of the Adventist world church thanks to AWR." From Germany Mr. F. A. wrote, "The programmes were very interesting. I have learned a lot about the work of the Adventists, about their universal service in all the world."

A number of people who wrote in were pleasantly surprised to discover the humanitarian and educational work of the church. "The conference reports were for me a big eye-opener because they gave lots of details of your different activities," wrote A. D. of England.

Adventist church members have also written how much the GC reports meant to them. Carlton Sweeny writes, "Reception of the GC reports has been good and we have been thrilled as Adventists to have our name 'flown' across the world. I am a strong believer in the Voice of Prophecy section of the AWR Sunday morning program and have invited hundreds of people in the city of Leicester, England, to tune in. We trust this important service will never fail in view of the difficulty we face in England in buying air time. Keep up the good work regardless of price and God will richly bless you."

AWR has been a strong force in presenting the Advent message to countless shortwave radio listeners in all the world, just as these contacts indicate. Unfortunately, due to a sharp drop in donations recently to the AWR fund at the GC treasury, AWR faces a possible closedown of transmissions at the end of this year unless there is a sharp increase in support. Gifts for this project should be marked "Adventist World Radio Fund" and sent to the General Conference Treasurer, 6840 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20012.

SEMINAR HELD AT LAKE UNION OFFICE

A Business Administration Seminar was held at the Lake Union office from September 15 to 18. Those in attendance were the conference treasurers and assistant treasurers, Adventist Book Center managers, academy business managers and treasurers, and the treasury personnel of the Lake Union office. Lectures were presented on each of the four days by Dr. R. E. Firth, Dr. Wilson Trickett, Dr. Bernard Lall of Andrews University, and Elder W. L. Murrill, Lake Union treasurer.

Don Hawley

M. T. Battle

MISSIONARY BOOK WITH A FRESH APPROACH

M.T. Battle, associate secretary of the General Conference Lay Activities Department, discusses the 1976 missionary book of the year, Come Alive! with the author, Don Hawley, editor of Life and Health.

Hawley: Why was health chosen as the topic for the 1976 missionary book of the year?

Battle: A recent national survey indicated that what people want more than anything else in the world is "good health." Frankly, we should have had a missionary book emphasizing health years ago.

Hawley: As I understood it, Come Alive! was to present the complete Seventh-day Adventist health message in a way that would be of particular interest to non-Adventists, but I think Adventists will benefit by reading it as well.

Battle: No question about that. This topic appeals to everyone. Adventists will find that relatives, friends, neighbors, and business acquaintances are all interested in good health.

Hawley: Paper, ink, labor—the cost of everything is up in the printing world. Can church members afford to send Come Alive! to all their friends?

Battle: Price was seriously discussed months ago because we wanted this book to be inexpensive. The Review and Herald came up with a price unbelievable in these inflationary times. Single copies of Come Alive! will sell for $1.50, and a four-pack can be purchased for only $5.

But let's talk about the book. What does it include?

Hawley: Come Alive! focuses on a positive approach to maintaining good health. It covers all the major facets of our health message.

Battle: Does that mean we have a 900-page encyclopedia on our hands?

Hawley: No. The book is less than 200 pages long. I tried for economy of words, while still giving proper emphasis to each subject. Technical jargon was avoided so laymen will find the book quite readable.

Battle: Has it been simplified so much that it may not be medically reliable?

Hawley: Not at all. Inaccurate material would undermine all that we are trying to accomplish.

Everything presented was carefully researched and reliable documentation can be found at the close of each chapter.

Battle: Didn't I hear something about the book cover?

Hawley: You probably did. One of the most popular illustrators in the United States, Mark English, has prepared the cover art—his first design for a Seventh-day Adventist publication. The attractive cover shows the fine touch that has made him famous.

Battle: Does the book touch on men's spiritual needs?

Hawley: We deal with the whole man in this book. The last portion of the volume explains that man cannot be healthy and happy unless he is at peace with himself—and lasting peace comes only from a proper relationship between a man and God.

Battle: Do you spell out some of our major Adventist doctrines?

Hawley: No, it didn't seem that would be the best approach. Instead I merely tried to build a bridge between a reader's immediate, physical interests and his deeper, more lasting needs.

At the very end the reader will find a tear-out coupon entitling him to a free copy of Steps to Christ. And the appendix will direct readers to Adventist programs that can be reached for more information.

Battle: This missionary book should have real evangelistic impact. When can I purchase copies of Come Alive!?

Hawley: It should be in all Adventist Book Centers by November 1, 1975.

Battle: Good! I want the first copies off the press.

Feed My Lambs...

a round-up report of Vacation Bible Schools around the Lake Union

by Marilyn Tworog

ILLINOIS

"We were supposed to go to Six Flags today, but I'd rather come here. It's more fun," said a boy in attendance at Eldorado's first Vacation Bible School. There were 26 Vacation Bible Schools held in Illinois this summer and a large percentage of the 1,293 children enrolled were non-Adventists.

In Eldorado two of the children who started in VBS are now attending Sabbath School regularly. Three mothers have visited church. Kewanee held their graduation program on Sabbath morning as a soul-winning service. Quite a number of parents of the 35 children enrolled attended the special program.

The Noble Church, with a membership of 53, had not had a Vacation Bible School for ten years, but through prayer and with a good deal of faith, the members decided to have one in 1975. Since the church is in the country, the boys and girls were gathered by the carload and brought to the church. The VBS is being followed by a Story Hour that meets once a week at the church.

Ninety-eight children attended the Broadview VBS. This summer's graduation drew the largest number of parents that ever came to the exercises in the Broadview Church. In the program, some of the children dressed as the Bible characters they studied about daily during the summer school.

Brookfield's 99 eager children met in the West Suburban School and each department had its own large, light classroom.

The Downers Grove Church has added the names of the parents of their 109 VBS enrollees to the church file of interested persons. Each parent will be visited in the near future.

Over half of the children attending Waukegan's VBS were non-Adventists. Those who led out in this child evangelism endeavor, along with Pastor Schiffbauer, are excited over their follow-up program of a Bible Story Hour and visiting the children and parents in their homes.

Only a handful of adults and a few dedicated young people turned out to help conduct Joliet's VBS, but 75 children came. This annual event is looked forward to by the children and parents of the surrounding community of Sunnyland.

Three Andrews University students received summer scholarships by helping in eight Vacation Bible Schools around Illinois. Jim Dodd, Kathy Salisbury, and Pat Sawicki were dedicated workers and the schools they assisted were blessed by their youthful enthusiasm.

INDIANA

Three churches in Indiana report excellent success with their Vacation Bible Schools.

Knox, with a membership of only 49, held a good VBS for the 12th straight year led by Mrs. Flora Vallow. Both Cicero and Kokomo revived their Vacation Bible School programs and had a grand total of 157 children in attendance. Cicero had not had a VBS for many years but Mrs. Bonnie Oetman, along with Kay Mead and Nina Rollins, used their enthusiasm to spark a neighborhood VBS held in the elementary church school. The graduation service was held during Sabbath School for the four divisions of children. They learned the song "Heavenly Sunshine" in the Misketo Indian language from Bonnie Oetman who was a student missionary in Nicaragua, the land of the Misketo. The whole program of VBS was well received by the community and plans are being made for next summer's school.

It had been 18 years since Kokomo had a VBS. They held their 2-week school in the evenings for three hours, and during the morning worship hour on both Sabbaths. Thirty-two church members volunteered their time for the full school period with others working whenever time permitted. The first night, only 20 children showed up but the number soon increased to 84. A renewal, such as this, of the Vacation Bible School, is a part of the emphasis now being conducted by the Kokomo Church which some have already titled, "Kokomo, on the Go for Jesus."

LAKE REGION

VBS always plays a part of child evangelism throughout the Lake Region. Each year many churches plan a one- or two-week school for the children in their neighborhood.

The Pontiac Church chose "Footprints of Jesus" for its theme for the 30 children who attended. Twenty of these children had perfect attendance and ten memorized most or all of the Ten Commandments.

Bonnie Jones, wife of Pastor Robert

L. Jones of Grand Rapids, Michigan, coordinated a two-week VBS with the help of eight assistants. An average of 80 children attended. At the conclusion, the parents of the children were invited to church for refreshments and to see a display of the work.

Elkhart's VBS had mostly non-Adventists attend their school. A follow-up program has resulted in the attendance of some of the children at the regular Sabbath School.

Each evening from 5:30 to 8 p.m. the Hanna Street Church in Fort Wayne, Indiana, held activities for over 100 boys and girls for two weeks. Special features were visits from the Fort Wayne police and fire departments whose representatives spoke to the children on safety.

Now every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, the Friends for Life meeting is held, which is a follow-up meeting of the VBS.

The largest VBS was held at the Gary Mizpah Church. A corps of 40 volunteer workers directed the two-week school for 110 eager children. Of this number, 62 were non-Adventists. Each day the students were given something they had either made or read to carry home for family and friends to see.

MICHIGAN

Michigan set a new record in child evangelism with 102 Vacation Bible Schools held this summer. The witnessing effect of these schools is shown in the fact that out of 7,736 children attending schools around the state, 5,132 of them came from non-Adventist homes. Eighteen of these children have been baptized to date.

One of the largest schools was held at Ann Arbor. Only 35 of the 172 children were from Adventist families. A new feature was added this year. All the children and their parents were invited to a special program and vegetarian luncheon on the Sabbath which came in the middle of the two-week VBS. All the guests stayed after the worship service for the luncheon. The church was filled almost to capacity for the graduation exercises. More than 150 of the 210 persons present were guests. Pastor Roy Lemon is enthusiastic about Vacation Bible Schools. "If you want to see your church filled with guests, just conduct a school like this," he exclaimed. "A well-organized and well-advertized program is the secret to success and we thank God for leaders in our church who will work hard to see the program succeed."

Follow-up VBS plans for Ann Arbor Adventists include a visit to every child's home with a gift book and an invitation for the children to attend a Sabbath afternoon story hour. This will also include an opportunity for the parents to join an informal Bible study group at the same time.

The Owosso VBS had a daily attendance of between 75 and 90 children. The pastor and directors of the program felt it was a great success.

Otter Lake members held their VBS

in the evenings and had 75 children coming most nights.

Detroit Metropolitan Church revived their long-dormant Vacation Bible School program. It was with some apprehension that the church board gave the "go-ahead" to Mrs. Janie Pleasants, wife of James Pleasants, assistant pastor. She assembled a staff, planned a program, and had 1,600 leaflets passed out in the neighborhood. The school opened with 20 teachers and 19 students! Pastor Pleasants launched a door-to-door recruitment program and in two days the enrollment had increased to 90! The majority of these were non-members.

Ithaca had another banner year for VBS. There were children from 90 non-Adventist homes enrolled for the program. This is the second year that attendance has topped the 100 mark.

Onaway had 19 SDA children and 76 non-SDA's at their VBS. For graduation night, they showed movies of the Vacation Bible School so the parents could get in on the action too.

One little girl in Grayling gave up Brownie camp in order to stay for the second week of Vacation Bible School. This summer was Grayling's first VBS, but definitely not their last!

Shelby's VBS leaders asked Bill Steffen, meteorologist from WZZM-TV in Grand Rapids, to come and show slides and give talks on the weather. Each child received a weather map and a booklet from him. To show their appreciation, the leaders gave Bill a set of vegetarian cookery books. He was delighted, as he was already a vegetarian!

WISCONSIN

Vacation Bible Schools were held in 32 Wisconsin towns with more than 1,200 young people in attendance, 70 percent of whom were from non-SDA homes, according to Dr. Keith Gibbons, conference Sabbath School director.

"For the first time to our knowledge," said Gibbons, "VBS reached Oconto, Wittenberg, and Iron River."

There is no church in Iron River. All the children attending were from non-member homes. On closing night, 40 adults joined the children for graduation.

A non-Adventist assisted Wittenberg with their VBS project by picking up all the children with his tractor and wagon.

In Evansville, VBS led to a non-Adventist girl enrolling in church school and bringing a friend to join Pathfinders.

Many of the parents of Tomahawk's 50 VBS students are enrolled in Focus on Life Bible study lessons.

Bethel sent These Times to ten families because of their children's attendance at VBS. Several are now interested in attending church.

Many different ways were used to develop and follow up interests in the families. Madison Church members took the names of VBS students and delivered a gift Bible story book to gain access to the homes.

Crandon members distributed Amazing Facts. Evansville gave out Desire of Ages and Great Controversy.

"There are three important things to do," Gibbons said. "Continue to work with the interests from this past summer, plan for an enlarged work with careful follow-up for next summer, and pray that God will help us save our youth and their parents both those who are not now members and also those who are."

Dr. Dennis Pardee showed slides and answered questions about an archaeological dig in Palestine.

HEBREW PROFESSOR SPEAKS AT DOWNERS GROVE

Dr. Dennis Pardee, teacher of Hebrew at the University of Chicago, held a series of informal discussions on the Old Testament at the Downers Grove Church from September 20 through October 18.

Dr. Pardee received his Ph.D. in Hebrew from the University of Chicago in 1974. From 1965 to 1968, he taught in the Adventist Seminary in Cologne, France, where he received his M.A. degree in theology. In 1964, he graduated from La Sierra College with a B.A. in French.

Pardee's wife Adele studied at Andrews University and at Cologne. They have two children, Bevis, 7, and Veronique, 5.

The bridge provides a sunny area for Kirk Brown, junior, to teach the Sabbath School lesson.

NEW ADVENTURES AT BVA

Something different and exciting happened to the students of Broadview Academy the week of September 1. After only two full days of classes, the student body traveled to Little Grassy Lake Camp for five days of recreation and spiritual growth.

After a very early breakfast and worship, the students and staff piled into the six buses that jostled them all the way to southern Illinois, an eight-hour trip. Upon arriving, the fellows and girls were assigned a cabin or tent headed by a student leader.

Many activities were planned. There was swimming in Little Grassy Lake, canoeing, water skiing, horseback riding, and for those brave and adventurous ones, rock climbing and caving.

Dr. Akers from Andrews University presented the morning and evening worship services. From experiences he related, spiritual lessons were drawn. Elder Mayberry, the guidance counselor, oriented the students to successful study habits.

The students immensely enjoyed the retreat. They had an opportunity to grow socially as well as spiritually. Many have expressed the desire to continue a camp outing to Little Grassy as an annual event. It is felt that beginning the school year in this way draws students and faculty into a more tightly knit group.

Project: Steps to Christ

To present to every home in Illinois the Gospel of Jesus Christ along with an opportunity for adults, youth, and juniors to study the Scriptures and become acquainted with the Adventist health message.

The Gospel presentation has been made to 46,133 homes to date. Free books requested and delivered: 70

Christ's Object Lessons, 54 Ministry of Healing, and 66 Great Controversy. A total of 272 persons are taking Bible studies, and 30 are enrolled in the V.O.P. nutrition course.

PROGRESS ON MARION CHURCH

J. R. Martin, pastor of the Marion Church, far right, stands with six new members that were added to the church on September 20. The building is complete outside except for the brick veneer. The interior is still in the roughed-in state but was adequate for the baptismal service and potluck dinner, just 52 days after the footings were dug.

Academy's newspaper, send $2 with your name and address to Broadview Academy, La Fox, Illinois 60147.

ORGAN CONCERT AT HINSDALE

A sacred organ concert will be presented by Marjorie Gile and William Ness on October 24 at the Hinsdale Church at 7 p.m. Both organists are candidates for the doctor of musical arts degree at the University of Iowa.

Exponent's campaign began with singing led by Brian Baroi, Robin Block, and Byron Hudson.

EXPONENT CAMPAIGN BEGINS

Wednesday evening, September 24, was the beginning of a two-week campaign to sell subscriptions to Broadview's newspaper, Exponent.

The students gathered in the chapel for a worship talk by Miss Norma Velazquez, the Exponent sponsor. Then the room darkened and from the ceiling came a girl on a rope representing the freshman class. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors were represented by three boys in various corners of the room. This was part of a short skit to instruct the students on obtaining subscriptions.

Each grade is working together as a group to get the most subscriptions. Cash awards will be given to the individual classes for obtaining a specific number of subs.

WEIN RETURNS FROM SAIGON

Sherry Wein

Sherry Wein, a member of the Gary Glen Park SDA church, recently returned from Vietnam after serving 14 months as a licensed practical nurse at the Saigon Adventist Hospital. She and a friend, Denise Anderson of Bryon, Michigan, applied through the church for the Adventist Volunteer Service Corps, saying they would go anywhere they were needed. They were sent to Saigon in February of 1974.

Just a few weeks before Saigon fell to the Communists, Sherry left Vietnam. The day she was told she was going to be evacuated was the day of the orphan flight crash. She was immediately called back to the hospital where she along with many others worked to save the lives of the orphans.

On the way home she and her friend Denise visited Thailand, India, Ceylon, and then toured Europe.

While in Saigon, Sherry and five other girls living in an apartment kept an orphan for seven months. The little girl was a patient in the hospital. They kept her after her release. The girls were able to get the orphan on one of the World Airway orphan flights and she is now living with her adoptive parents in Berrien Springs, Michigan.

Sherry is now working at the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Sherry said, "I would return if the Communists would let me in. I hope to return someday. I have lots of friends there and I liked living there."

PHILOSDA HOLDS CAMPOUT AT TIMBER RIDGE

On the weekend of September 26 to 28 at Timber Ridge Camp, the Indiana chapter of the International Philosda Club held their second full campout. Approximately 70 people from ten different states enjoyed the weekend activities.

Elder William Woodruff, ministerial secretary for the Indiana Conference, gave a pictorial report of his trip to the Middle East on Friday night.

Elder Harry Sackett, Sabbath School and lay activities director for the Indiana Conference, led out in the eleven o'clock worship service. Opportunity was given for members to share how they came to accept the Lord Jesus Christ into their life.

Sabbath morning the International Philosda Club president, Floyd Miller, challenged the club members to support the Philosda missionary project. For several years the club has raised enough money to make it possible for the Voice of Prophecy to be aired over KCTA in Corpus Christi, Texas, and for Joe Crews' Amazing Facts broadcast to be heard over XERF, a 250,000-watt station in Mexico. It was thrilling to see how the Lord worked on the hearts of the people to support His work. By the end of the weekend some $702 had been given and pledged for this special project.

Everyone appreciated Paul and Sondra Fruth's music during the weekend. On Saturday evening they provided the whole vesper program of beautiful gospel music. The Fruths are associated with the Buursmas in evangelism in the Indiana Conference.

Sabbath afternoon the folk had opportunity to take a nature hike, hunt for geodes, go caving, or see Elder Woodruff's pictures on the Middle East.

Saturday evening everyone enjoyed a country picnic. The dining room was decorated with bales of straw, a horse-drawn buggy, old lanterns, saddles, and other interesting things to add atmosphere. After the supper, the group sang and listened to the Floyd Turpin family play their country fiddle and guitar music.

Sunday was devoted to outdoor activities such as canoeing, horseback riding, hiking, and caving.

It was a beautiful weekend for all. The single adults look forward from one outing to another for the inspiration and good fun they receive through the Philosda program. Mildred Wagner, local Indiana chapter president, and her fellow officers planned this weekend campout. For those interested in joining the club, you can get in touch with Mildred for more information through the youth department of the Indiana Conference.

MIZPAH SCHOOL ENROLLMENT REACHES ALL-TIME HIGH

The Mizpah School began its 1975-76 school year with a pre-school reading workshop. Sandra Turner, school board chairman, invited Gloria Glass to conduct the workshop for the staff on August 28.

Mrs. Glass, who holds a bachelor of arts degree from Wayne State University in Detroit and a master of science degree from Chicago State University, is presently working on her doctorate at Chicago State University.

The Mizpah School staff is made up of Carolyn Palmer, principal, Dawn Jarrett, Carolyn Richardson, Rose Campbell, and Rose Dunson.

Registration was August 31, and 128 students enrolled with 45 new students.

The Home and School Association will present its Fifth Annual Candlelight and Silver Benefit Banquet November 23, at 2 p.m. This Bicentennial celebration will be honored by the presence of W. W. Fordham, regional secretary of the General Conference.

Last year, Elder J. R. Wagner was honored as Man of the Year. ## GUILDS JOIN ADRIAN

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Guild have recently set up practice in Tecumseh and have joined the Adrian church. Dr. Guild is a native of British Columbia, while his wife is the former Carol Abbott of Trenton, Michigan. Both are graduates of Andrews University and have two children, David, 5, and Mark, 7. Dr. Guild, who just recently completed his internship at Riverside Osteopathic Hospital in Trenton, is now on the staff of Herrick Memorial Hospital in Tecumseh and has his office nearby.

BATTLE CREEK SAN ADDS NEW DEPARTMENT

Wayne Griffith

Because today's major health problems result largely from poor living habits—too much of the wrong foods, too little exercise, and too much stress—Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital has established a new department of preventive care.

Heading the new service is Wayne Griffith, who received his doctor of health science degree (D.H.Sc.) in August from Loma Linda University in California.

The focus of the department, according to Griffith, will be on community health education, open to the public in Battle Creek and in surrounding communities, with special emphasis on preventive and follow-up care. Such problems as obesity, high blood fats, high blood pressure, stress, diabetes, smoking, and drinking are the major factors contributing to today's most prevalent health problems, which, according to Griffith, result from poor living habits. Americans are not dying of communicable diseases, he said, but from self-inflicted diseases.

Conducting multi-phasic screening programs on a regular basis to discover health problems in their incipient stages, the department will follow through with test evaluations, physician referrals, individual and group counseling with the health educator, and special programs planned on a wide variety of topics. Community programs will be held on such subjects as weight and stress control, smoking cessation, nutrition, and other topics as needs indicate.

Some of the tests that will be included in the multi-phasic screening program will be lung function (spirometry), vision, hearing, chest X-rays, blood exams, and electrocardiograms and stress testing for endurance. There will also be a physical examination and a health history conducted for each person.

Prior to earning his doctorate in health science, Griffith completed a master's degree in educational administration and a master's degree in public health, both at Loma Linda University. He received a bachelor's degree in theology from Pacific Union College in California.

Teaching elementary school for two years, Griffith later went to Peru and Ecuador, where from 1960 to 1964 he was director of the parochial education program and of the youth work for the Inca Union Conference. Here he oversaw the preparation of books and materials for grades one through six for use in schools that formerly were without any standardized texts. Within the Inca Conference, there are a total of 12,000 students attending the church's 300 elementary schools, five secondary schools and one senior college.

Returning to the U.S. in 1965, Dr. Griffith was youth director from 1965 to 1972 for the Atlantic Union Conference.

Dr. Griffith's wife, Barbara, is a registered nurse. The Griffiths have four children—two in college and two attending the elementary school at Battle Creek Academy.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL 5-DAY PLAN

Nineteen participants were the latest of a growing number of Grand Rapids area residents to benefit from the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking.

William Roosenberg, M.D., and Elder Paul Penno, Sr., of the Wyoming church conducted their latest clinic, September 8 to 12, in the building of the local Tuberculosis, Health, and Emphysema Society. Eleven of the nineteen registrants reported success in their attempts to stop smoking.

A $10 fee was charged each registrant or $15 for husband and wife. A year's subscription to Listen magazine was included in the fee.

A former smoker who stopped after attending a plan a year ago called Elder Penno recently to say "Thank you" for sending Listen magazine to her home. She reported that she and her husband haven't smoked since they attended the Five-Day Plan.

Elder Penno and Dr. Roosenberg are planning another plan in February to be held in the same building.

There are about 50 charter members of the Coloma church.

COLOMA CHURCH ORGANIZED

Sabbath, June 28, 1975, was a special day of thanksgiving and praise to Adventists who marked their official organization as the Coloma Seventh-day Adventist church. For more than a year branch Sabbath school and church services were conducted in Coloma as an outgrowth of the Eau Claire church.

Elder Moon, president of the Michigan Conference, gave the worship hour message. With the assistance of Adrian Roosenberg, first elder; Ed Rorabeck, second elder; and Gloria Palmisano, church clerk, the charter members were read and approved. This was followed by the reading and approval of the church officers selected for the new church.

Contingent upon their baptism, scheduled for three o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. James Van Orman were invited to become charter members also. They were baptized by Elder Moon in Rush Lake, a nearby public beach facility. The ceremony presented a real opportunity for witnessing to the non-Adventist public present at the time of the ceremony.

Coloma Adventists hope to begin laying plans for a building program soon. For the present they will continue to meet in the United Methodist Church of Coloma, where they have been holding services since the branch Sabbath school was first started. They ask fellow Adventists to pray for their continued success as they strive "to do the Lord's will in this area."

When the sinking sun stretched the shadows, group singing brought a period of inner warmth and enjoyment. Young and old joined in the singing led here by Elder James Herman of the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hill, members of the Wright Church, are veterans of the Traveling Family Nature Camp. They have been on every one of the tours since 1955.

TRAVELING FAMILY NATURE CAMP

Nineteen Adventist families took advantage of Michigan's Traveling Family Camp which was held this year in the Hot Springs, Arkansas, area.

The group's headquarters was at Camp Yorktown Bay located at the eastern end of the 52-mile-long, 48,300-acre Lake Ouachita.

One of the trips ended up benefiting the nature center at Ranch Au Sable. A group of the campers visited the largest quartz crystal quarry in America and found a number of good specimens. On becoming acquainted with the group and learning about the nature center, the owner donated a large cluster of crystals, worth several hundred dollars according to Elder Merrill Fleming, the director of the family camp. The cluster is now on display at Au Sable.

Elder James K. Herman, youth secretary of the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference, was the guest speaker for the Sabbath morning worship hour and also helped out in the campfire "sings."

CLEAR LAKE WELCOMES NEW PASTOR AND TEACHER

Clear Lake welcomes Pastor and Mrs. Hershel Mercer and son, John, age 13. The Mercers recently moved to the area where Hershel will pastor the four churches of Clear Lake, Cumberland, Frederic, and Spooner.

Hershel was born and raised in Oklahoma. He graduated from Pacific Union College with a B.A. in theology. He then served as pastor in southern Wisconsin before completing his M.Div. degree at Andrews University. Pastor Mercer in his graduate work specialized in family and marriage counseling.

Mrs. Sandra Mercer will be teaching the Sunnyside SDA Elementary School. She was raised in Texas and met her husband at Pacific Union College where she began work on a B.S. degree in elementary education which she later completed at Andrews University.

Pastor J. L. Ray congratulates Miss Sadie Tuttle for 45 years of faithful service while Mrs. Donna Bossenberry and William Brumfield, first elder, look on.

CHURCH OFFICE HELD 45 YEARS

Madison, Wisconsin, has a new church treasurer. That may not seem like news on the surface, but the last time Madison had a new treasurer was in 1930.

Miss Sadie Tuttle has faithfully performed this demanding task on a volunteer basis for 45 years, even though much of that time she carried her regular responsibilities as a teacher.

Warren Dick, Wisconsin Conference treasurer, said in a letter to the church concerning Miss Tuttle's term of service, "That is undoubtedly a record which is seldom, if ever, equaled."

Occasionally, members excuse themselves from church work by pleading a lack of aptitude, experience, or training. Without training in accounting, Miss Tuttle simply accepted the assignment of the treasurer's responsibility from the church nominating committee as an assignment from the Lord and asked Him for wisdom and strength to perform His work to His glory.

On Sabbath, September 27, Miss Tuttle was honored during the worship hour with a letter from R. M. Reinhard, assistant treasurer of the General Conference, paying tribute to her loyalty, dedication, and consecration to God's work.

Madison Church has more than doubled its membership twice during Miss Tuttle's term of service. During 1974, Madison's 429 members accounted for more than eight percent of the total conference tithe income. In the past ten years, the church has built a new junior academy plant and a new sanctuary with a seating capacity in excess of 700.

Miss Tuttle's willingness to adapt to the church budget method of recording church funds helped the new church become a reality, even while Madison Church carried 100 percent of its share of academy development-church expansion right from the inception of the conference project.

"Certainly Madison's spiritual growth and physical prosperity illustrates God's promise that the most liberal congregations will be the most spiritual and the most prosperous," said Glenn Aufderhar, former conference stewardship secretary.

Lulu and James Johnson, Appleton, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary August 24.

60 YEARS OF HAPPINESS

Sixty years of life together means a lifetime of sharing good times and bad, happiness and sorrow, health and illness. James Johnson, 92, and his wife, Lulu, 79, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on August 24.

It was their love for each other, tolerance of one another's faults, and forgiving one another that has accounted for their very happy life together.

Jim and Lulu were married in 1915 at Neillsville, Wisconsin. Serving the Lord throughout their life together brought them to many places. Early in their marriage Lulu worked in the Washington, D.C., Sanitarium for 12 cents an hour while Jim was the sanitarium carpenter. Jim also worked in the Washington Book and Bible House, served with J. N. Loughborough and C. F. Longacre in many tent efforts, did colporteur work in Virginia, and worked for the conference as a builder in Wichita, Kansas. More recently, Jim sold These Times and Listen magazines in Tennessee until he retired last year at the age of 91.

They have five children: Loren of Indianapolis, Indiana; Sheridan, Camp Wahdoon caretaker; Calvin, a lay pastor at Alamogordo, New Mexico; Gwyn of Appleton, Wisconsin; and Ann of Miami, Florida. There are nine grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren which includes a set of 4-year-old triplet girls.

Out of their long experience, the Johnsons counsel the married couples of these trouble-filled last days to "stick together, be satisfied with what you have." They thank the Lord for His many blessings and for all the good things of life they've known.
