INGATHERING

We express our gratitude to God for His wonderful blessings and to our members, churches, schools, hospitals, and other institutions for their dedication to the finishing of the work of God through the Ingathering Crusade. Single donations received from individuals and firms have ranged from $10,000 to 10 cents. Twenty million Ingathering magazines are distributed each year in North America alone besides other tracts and books. The accomplishments that we will report here come as a result of the wonderful blessings of God extended to His people as they go from door to door inviting their friends and neighbors to give liberal donations to the cause of God.

For the North American Division we present the following report of the Ingathering program for the last quinquennium as far as dollars are concerned:

1971	7,327,977	1974	8,178,537
1972	7,520,403	TOTAL	$37,979,703

This is an increase over the last five years of $5,777,382 which results in an increase of more than a million dollars per year.

Many thrilling stories could be told regarding those who accept the message and are baptized into the church because a faithful ingatherer called at their door. Elder D. E. Caslow, lay activities director for the North Pacific Union, reports the following story:

Timothy Gebhardt grew up in the Adventist faith. After finishing his secondary education he decided to walk out of the Seventh-day Adventist Church and to take his fling at life without religion.

Tim became a police officer in the city of Bremerton, Washington. There he met Jerry, a lovely girl of the Methodist faith. She wanted a Christian husband. Tim agreed to attend the Methodist Church with her. Later he commented, "I couldn't stand the preaching."

Then came the "miracle of 1974." It happened in December. The carolers of the Bremerton Church were singing from door to door in their Ingathering. Tim heard the singing next door. He reached into his billfold, took out a dollar bill and gave it to his wife with this comment, "Here, give this dollar to the carolers when they come and they will go away." Meanwhile Tim hid in the bedroom.

Jerry met the carolers at the door. After giving the contribution, she received a card offering Bible study guides. Immediately she said to Tim, "See what I have? I want this." Soon she was involved in the study of the Scriptures. Later Tim and Jerry both were studying and preparing for baptism under the ministry of Elder Jake Knight.

Now they say, "We praise God for the wonderful influence of Ingathering. Tim and Jerry are now at Andrews University where Tim is preparing for the gospel ministry.

How important it is for every church member to participate in this house-to-house work, for I am sure there are other Jerrys behind those closed doors who are on the verge of the kingdom waiting to be gathered in.

November brings colored leaves to rake, a new crispness in the air, frosty nights, and Ingathering. Ingathering goes beyond the offering can. The people you contact as well as the gifts they give both means the gospel is being spread. Read about the goals and the results of Ingathering on pages 4 and 5.

ROMAN CATHOLICS AND REFORMED PRESBYTERIANS TO DIALOGUE

A new series of conversations between the Roman Catholic Church and churches of the Reformed and Presbyterian tradition has been ratified. The topics will center around "morality and unity" and the Lord's Supper. The Administrative Committee of the North American Area Council of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches agreed to engage in a three-year dialogue on "mutual theological issues" to begin in the fall of 1976.

UNITED METHODIST AND UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CONGREGATIONS UNITE

Browns Valley, Minnesota, United Methodist and the United Presbyterian churches have voted to merge. The united congregation will be known as the United Methodist-Presbyterian Church of Browns Valley. It will continue to relate to both the Minnesota Conference of the United Methodist Church and the St. Cloud Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church. In addition, it will support the mission programs of both denominations. Beginning January 1, the congregation will have worship services in the present Presbyterian building.

NEW YORK'S PROPOSED "VOUCHER" PLAN DEBUNKED

New York State Board of Regents got a negative response to the proposed "voucher" plan by Americans United for Separation of Church and State. The plan calls for full public funding of parochial and private schools. Under the plan, government would provide tax support for parochial and private schools equal to tax support provided to public schools. Americans United argued that any form of parochial aid would violate every citizen's right to voluntarily support only the religious institutions of his free choice.

GALLUP PINS INCREASE IN CRIME TO THE "ENFORCED IDLENESS OF YOUTH"

Pollster George Gallup places high on his list of reasons for increased crime in this country the "enforced idleness of youth." Gallup says the United States' change from a rural society to an urban one has virtually eliminated the necessity for children to help with family chores. Work permits and minimum wage laws make it uneconomical for most employers to hire young and untrained workers. He concludes that young people, as a consequence, have been "effectively removed from the labor market and from nearly every opportunity to learn a trade."

VOLUNTEER BUILDER NEEDED

The Yele Secondary School in Sierra Leone is requesting the help of a volunteer builder for one year to supervise the construction of a two-story, 40- by 130-foot, masonry building.

Under the Adventist Volunteer Service Corps plan, the individual pays his round-trip transportation. Housing and a stipend for living expenses are provided. Anyone interested should contact: Adventist Volunteer Service Corps, General Conference of SDA, 6840 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20012.

VANDALS CLOSE ADVENTIST HOSPITAL IN ETHIOPIA

The Adventist Hospital in Debre Tabor, Ethiopia, has been the latest victim of civil unrest. Vandals burned the medical director's residence and looted the hospital. Medical director Kristian Hogganvik and his family escaped by the mission plane to Addis Ababa. None of the workers were injured. The hospital will be temporarily closed until funds can be provided to repair the buildings and provide new equipment and supplies. Dr. Hogganvik has served the people of Debre Tabor for 25 years.

FIRST STUDENT COMPLETES TODAY'S LIFE SERIES

Marie Arguelles, 94-year-old Newbury Park, California, resident, was the first to complete the Today's Life study series offered by Faith for Today. In recognition of this, Pastor and Mrs. Fagal recently presented her with a completion certificate. Mrs. Arguelles enrolled in the series because she "wanted to understand the prophecies better." Today's Life is Faith's reading course in the prophecies of Daniel and Revelation. The complete set contains nine colorful magazines with 27 article/lessons and appropriate quiz mailers.

In the Spirit

Our aim is to make the Lake Union Ingathering Crusade a great evangelistic thrust for Mission '76.

We want to challenge every volunteer worker for Christ to accept the following goals for our World Service Appeal:

1. To represent Jesus Christ and to serve Him as best we can.
2. To reach as many homes as possible with our literature.
3. To call the gift offer in the magazine to the attention of every contact and to enroll as many as we can in a Bible course.
4. To pray in as many homes as possible.
5. To be alert for people who may need our help and to record their names and addresses for follow-up.
6. To raise funds for the worldwide work of the church.

The above goals were placed before the teachers and students at the recent Broadview Academy field day. As a result they enrolled 68 persons in the Bible course and had prayer with 190 people. Six academies in our union have raised to date over $11,000 in their field days. The other four academies are planning their Ingathering later. Even church school children are doing work for God in the Ingathering.

Five years ago Joseph Locken knew nothing of Seventh-day Adventists. It was a cold winter evening when two Indiana grade school girls knocked on his door. The girls did their part in God's work by leaving literature, and the Holy Spirit did the rest. Elder Eugene Taylor, the pastor of these little girls' church, believes that every piece of literature should contain a beautiful card offering a Bible and study guides. The card was immediately sent in by Mr. Locken.

A young associate pastor, Russell Holt, knocked on Mr. Locken's door with a Bible and study guides. A few months later, Joseph Locken and Walter McGill were baptized into the Gary Church. Both of these men started studying the Bible from the Bible cards.

Where is Joseph Locken today? He left the steel mills of Gary after 17 years of steady employment, and by faith took God as his partner starting the literature ministry work. From the literature ministry two have been baptized and two more families are studying and attending church. God has blessed financially as well. Mr. Locken has been leading in sales in the Indiana Conference.

It all started with two grade school girls being willing to work for God!

The Lord will work through every person who is willing to be made a channel for His Spirit. A timid ingatherer, working in the Lake Region, followed the urging of the Spirit and reluctantly entered a place where there were a number of men gathered—some playing card games, others shooting pool, others just talking.

Upon canvassing the first man she came to, she waited fearfully for a response. He asked one or two questions pertaining to her work and gave a sizable donation. He then made an audible announcement to the other men present that this was a worthy cause and he expected them to contribute as he had done.

This sister left that one gathering of men with her entire Ingathering goal. You can imagine how anxious she was to return to her church and tell the story. Her testimony was definitely an incentive to help stir the entire church into action.

The members of the Wisconsin Conference are being stirred into action with new goals and plans for their Ingathering Crusade. This year they plan to follow up all interested persons and major donors with a gift of the Missionary Book of the Year and a subscription to These Times.

Each person contacted will receive a postage-paid card to send in for free guides illustrating how to get free Bible lessons.

This is one of the most important goals the leaders have developed for Ingathering. When Bob Kloosterhuis was pastor of the Brookfield, Illinois, of Ingathering

by A. W. Bauer, Director
Lake Union Lay Activities

Church, he decided to place an insert in each of the Ingathering leaflets with an offer for free Bible studies. Mary McNeely and her daughter, Evelyn, responded to this local offer, and the pastor called on their home for a number of weeks, explaining the beautiful plan that the Lord had for their lives.

Pastor Kloosterhuis accepted a call to become conference youth director before the McNeelys made a decision to become members of the church. The Bible studies lay dormant for some time without anyone calling on their home.

Mary and Evelyn in the meantime were taking a Bible correspondence course which kept the fires burning in their hearts.

John Holstein became the new pastor of the Brookfield-LaGrange district, and he decided to hold meetings in the church, inviting all interests that had been found over the past number of years.

It was the pastor's wife who invited Mary and Evelyn by letter to attend these meetings.

They gladly accepted the invitation, attending each meeting, and they were baptized into the church.

They are now actively working in two church-sponsored Bible Story Hour programs and also are leading out in the kindergarten department of the Sabbath School.

They are both believers in the soul-winning program of Ingathering and are doing their part in helping to raise a double goal in dollars and cents, along with leaving hundreds of invitations in the homes for others to find the last warning message of God before it is too late.

Some stories do not have an ending yet. One cold December evening Nedra Renshaw was Ingathering on the Union City Road near Coldwater, Michigan. An elderly lady answered her knock at the door of a very nice looking house. The lady looked lonely. She invited Nedra in out of the weather, and as she went to get the offering, Nedra noticed a large Hammond organ in her living room. Mrs. Renshaw mentioned her interest in music and learned that seven years before, her husband had ordered the organ for her, but it was not delivered till after his death.

Nedra found that the lady's name is Grace Shaw and she used to sing with evangelistic teams in Chicago and New York, but had not played the organ or sung since her husband's death. Nedra told her that she directed a junior choir but really didn't know too much about music.

Nedra asked to pray for her and she was very pleased.

In February Mrs. Renshaw took

Grace the book Desire of Ages.

On Mother's Day, Nedra was impressed to take Grace a corsage even though she didn't know if Mrs. Shaw had children or not. Nedra found her lonely and ill. She prayed with her and Grace prayed, thanking Jesus for sending her friend in answer to her prayer that someone would come. Mrs. Shaw has no children and said she would like Nedra to be her "adopted" daughter.

She also agreed to help Nedra with her junior choir. That week Grace came to prayer meeting and stayed afterwards to practice with the choir. She sang in public for the first time since her husband's death.

Shortly after this, Nedra started Bible studies with her and in return she gave Nedra voice lessons. She came to evangelistic meetings and sang while Nedra did chalk drawings. She has helped with a special program with the junior choir and is giving them voice lessons.

She visited camp meeting and accepted the Sabbath.

Nedra says, "I love to go Ingathering. I meet the nicest people. I would rather go Ingathering than to eat or sleep."

How about you?

Now is the time, under God, to unite our efforts in searching for souls while we gather funds to help finish His work.

PHYSICAL FITNESS SEMINAR PROMOTES EXERCISE, GOOD DIET

A one-night physical fitness seminar, October 14, sponsored by the hospital attracted more than fifty people from surrounding communities. A film and lectures during the two-hour program stressed the importance of exercise and a proper diet in maintaining a sound body. After the program, participants chose one of three books on how to start a personal physical fitness program.

Illinois State Representative Ray Hudson emphasizes a point in response to a question about compulsory union membership at a recent hospital employee assembly.

REPRESENTATIVE HUDSON VISITS EMPLOYEES

About one hundred seventy hospital employees gathered during three separate assemblies Friday morning, October 17, to meet Illinois Representative George "Ray" Hudson of Hinsdale, and to ask questions about our government.

Hudson is State Representative for the 41st District which covers Hinsdale and villages west.

During introductory remarks, Hudson spoke out for freedom and responsibility in government. "Our country was founded on the premise that humans have certain rights such as life, liberty, and the right to freedom."

The government was set up to protect these rights, according to Hudson. He emphasized the importance for individuals to take an interest in their government—to know how it runs and to read up about it.

Answering a question about compulsory union membership, Hudson said, "I feel a person should have a right to work anywhere he wants without having to work in a union. It's not right that people should be forced into a union as a condition to employment."

Hudson also outlined two threats to freedom—centralized government and government overspending.

INGATHERING REPORT

The students at Broadview Academy collected $2,060.20 on October 6, their Ingathering day. With the help of the teachers and several pastors from the conference, the students contacted homes in La Fox, Geneva, St. Charles, and Wheaton. They distributed 7,842 pieces of literature. Sixty-eight persons enrolled in Bible studies, and 190 prayers were offered in homes.

AN INSPIRATIONAL DAY AT DOWNERS GROVE

During the Sabbath School mission extension program at the Downers Grove Church on September 13, an attentive audience was treated to an informal dialogue between Dr. Roul H. Tauran, president of the Indonesia Union College, who is on a sabbatical at Andrews University, and Elder Thorkild Pedersen, who is finishing his M.A. in business at Andrews in preparation for heading that subject area in Indonesia.

Dr. Tauran explained that the Indonesia Union College has over 500 students, with the strongest concentration in business, theology, and education.

Continuing his report, Dr. Tauran stated that the work is wide open for reaching Moslems—many of whom are being baptized.

"You are going to be the only white man. How do you feel about that?" he asked Elder Pedersen.

"Well, it doesn't matter to me. Do you have any funds for a new girls' dorm?"

"Not necessarily. But you have to be men of faith. The Sabbath School overflow in the near future is for the dorm, but we are asking for funds from our own area."

"It's the same in South Congo," replied Pastor Pedersen, who has spent several years there after being reared and educated in Denmark. "There are individuals from our local area who are helping us with projects."

Dr. Tauran concluded his remarks by asking for help from our brothers here.

In the afternoon of the same day, the two missionaries showed slides on Indonesia and Africa. Several people responded by pledging funds. Richard L. Cook

The Prairie View School float received third prize in the Warren County Prime Beef Festival.

REPORT FROM PRAIRIE VIEW SCHOOL

The Home and School Association of the Prairie View School, entered a float again this year in the Warren County Prime Beef Festival at Monmouth, on September 3.

The parade theme was "Beautiful Yesterdays." The float carried out the theme of the Wright Brothers' 1902 glider. The color scheme was blue and white. Tena Davis and Mary Perry walked ahead of the entry carrying a banner which proclaimed, "Wright Brothers—First to Fly—1902 Glider." Two students, Loren Taylor and Danny Dean Strong, portrayed the Wright Brothers and rode the float.

The school was awarded third prize and a cash award of $25. This is the third year the school has entered the parade and the second year to rank in the prize winners.

A booth was set up and manned by members of the Monmouth Church during the Prime Beef Festival. Approximately 65 names were collected of people who responded to the invitation to the nutrition cooking school and the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking meetings. Quite a few samples of the health foods were used along with recipe sheets and other general health literature.

The Prairie View School is supported by three churches: Galesburg, Monmouth, and Roseville. It has an enrollment of 19. Due to the increase in the number of students, the school had to find larger quarters and they are now meeting in two rooms of Fulton Hall on the Monmouth College campus.

NEW PLANT FOR INDIANA HEADQUARTERS

Those traveling north on US 31 near Carmel will see a brick building taking shape. On a hill about one mile north of Carmel near 151st Street the new Indiana Conference office is being built. It is truly a beautiful setting for the new plant. The new office is a spacious one-story building built in the colonial style and is located on 17 acres of land. It will have an adequate parking area beside it.

ADVENTIST METROPOLITAN CHORALE TO PRESENT CONCERTS

The Adventist Metropolitan Chorale was organized some ten years ago. At present it has 35 members, and these come from a number of SDA churches in the Chicago area. The chorale will be presenting a one-hour program at the Hinsdale Church on Friday evening, November 21, at 7:30, and at the Brookfield Church on Sabbath morning, November 22. The program will include early American religious music to celebrate the Bicentennial, and selections that will provide a foretaste of the Christmas season.

PATHFINDER DIRECTORS ATTEND WORKSHOP

A number of Pathfinder directors and staff members attended a Pathfinder Workshop at Timber Ridge on the weekend of October 10 to 12. The main purpose of the workshop was to give Pathfinder leaders assistance on their nature programs with their clubs.

Elder Merrill Fleming, Pathfinder director of the Michigan Conference, was the instructor for most of the sessions. During much of the weekend, the group were instructed in fossils.

Sabbath afternoon Elder Fleming arranged for the group to go on a field trip to the geology building at

On Sabbath morning Elder Cliff Hoffman, conference youth director, gave instructions to the directors on how to organize a visitation program in preparation for a Voice of Junior Youth evangelistic series.

On Saturday night a very interesting film was shown entitled "Footprints in Stone." This film shows the story of the finding of dinosaur tracks and what many scientists believe are human tracks in a riverbed in Texas.

ENGLISH HEADS WORK IN MUNCIE

Pastor Don English

Recently Pastor and Mrs. Don English moved in as district leaders of the Muncie district. Pastor English has just completed his M.A. degree at the Andrews University School of Graduate Studies.

Prior to schooling at Andrews, Pastor English served two years as pastor of the Vincennes district.

Pastor and Mrs. English are native Hoosiers. He is originally from Gary; Mrs. English was born in Elkhart. They have three sons: Jeff, age 18; Doug, age 16; and Richard, age 15. Doug and Richard are both students at Indiana Academy.

We know our people in the Muncie, Hartford City, and Portland churches will be greatly blessed from the ministry of this dedicated couple.

NEWS NOTES

- Church schools were reopened this year after having been closed for some time at Big Rapids and Onaway. A new school, serving the Grayling-Gaylord Church, has been established and is meeting at Camp Au Sable. The opening attendance report of the conference educational department shows that 2,684 students, from kindergarten through the tenth grade, are in attendance throughout Michigan.

- Having worn a pacemaker for the past six years has not stopped Mable Nuckles of the Sturgis Church from earning her Jasper Wayne Ingathering goal. She had reached this objective by early October. Joining her was a couple from the church, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Neff.

- Bela Krusac of the Battle Creek Church School is providing parents with frequent reports on their children's progress. Mimeographed sheets showing the minimum assignments are filled in by students. A space indicates whether or not the goal has been reached. If it has not, the student writes a brief note to his parents explaining why, delivers it to his parents, who in turn sign the sheet and return it with comments to the teacher.

- Although fire burned her home and her Bible lessons, Elizabeth Schultz was baptized September 13 at the Rayborn Memorial Church, Coldwater. After she had taken a few Bible lessons her husband passed away. Not too long after that the fire took place. Undaunted she asked for replacements and continued. Then Mr. and Mrs. Ted Scott, Sr., studied with her and she was soon ready for baptism. On the same Sabbath, Jackie McDonald and Apryl Mahrle, were also baptized. Apryl had studied with Elder Boggess at the church school, and Jackie had requested studies because she recalled her childhood days when her grandmother took her to Sabbath School. Seminary student Warren Blanck instructed her.

- New chairs for the ninth grade classroom of the Jackson Church School have been made available through the generosity of an interested family and the Community Services Department of the church. A gift of over $700 from the estate of a former member will also be used for needed school improvements.

- Jackson Adventists are continuing to work on their Community Service Center looking toward an official opening in the near future. Recently they have been painting and adding new shelves and cupboards. They also sold the stained glass windows from the building for $2,000. They are serving the public from the center with a number of men becoming involved in the services.

- A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking has been held in Burlington by Elder Ben Boggess and Nedra Renshaw, RN. This was the first such program in this community of only a few hundred persons.

- Although Marshall Church members have no regular Community Service Center, local church members work out of a sun porch at a member's home. They have been buying gas so an elderly lady can be transported to take physical therapy treatments; making clothes for the elderly; and preparing a layette for an expectant unmarried mother. They are also involved in giving eight Bible studies.

- Judy St. John and Marlene Cooper of the Jackson Church recently presented a program and film on smoking and health to the Adult Living Class of the local high school.

NEW WORKERS

Two former Michigan workers who have been serving overseas have returned to the conference as local pastors.

Elder J. D. Westfall, who before going to the Far East served as civilian chaplain for the Lake Union, is again in the Berrien Springs area. He now is pastoring the Eau Claire and Coloma churches.

On the other side of the conference serving Vassar, Bad Axe, and Sandusky is Elder Neal Sherwin who has been a missionary to Pakistan for the past 20 years. Sherwin is originally from Battle Creek and accepted his first mission appointment to Rawalpindi in 1955.

Coming to Michigan from one of the "mission fields" in the United States is Elder Gordon A. Frase who has been pastor of the Indian church at Monument Valley.

He has been assigned the Ionia, Greenville, and Belding churches.

The Carolinas and Ohio have furnished Michigan with two other workers. Elder Arnold Kraner of Ohio has been called to serve as a conference evangelist. His wife, Harriet, is a Bible worker. Called to pastor the Berrien Springs Church is Elder William G. Amber. Amber has worked in the Southern Union for a number of years. Most recently he pastored the church at Asheville, North Carolina.

The conference committee recently voted to appoint Aaron Hitlall as the new assistant publishing director for southwestern Michigan. Hitlall, a graduate of the Andrews University Theological Seminary, has also been successful in pastoral and departmental work and in the publishing ministry.

Another new field assistant for the publishing department is Robert Tate. He will be living in the Jackson area and have charge of the work of literature evangelists in the south central part of the state. Tate and his wife, Shirley, come to Michigan from the Wyoming Conference where he was top salesman for a number of years in the Central Union.

BENTON HARBOR HAS INVESTMENT SALE

Over $700 was realized by the Benton Harbor Church as the result of their Investment sale held during September.

According to a spokesman for the church, "Investment has been the watchword" for Benton Harbor Adventists during 1975. All members of the Sabbath School, from the adults to the youngsters, have been enthusiastic.

Primary and junior children sold "nature notes" designed by Beverly Velting, a church member and professional artist. They raised over $120 doing this during the first two quarters of the year.

The Investment sale featured booths selling fresh fruit and produce, Sloppy Joe's, gifts, baked goods, white elephant items, used toys and books. Mrs. Ruth Bishop sold L'eggs containers. She had painted attractive scenes on each of them.

Many attending the sale went home with part of their Christmas shopping complete and feeling blessed because the purchase of the gifts resulted in an investment in the on-going program of the church.

The Wayout booth was designed to attract young people who need help with the problems of life. Literature from the Voice of Prophecy featuring Christ as the way out was given to visitors.

ADVENTISTS MEET COMMUNITY AT THE FAIR

Over 250 laymen of the eight Seventh-day Adventist churches in Berrien County, Michigan, combined in a community out-reach program during the recent County Youth's Fair at Berrien Springs.

Housed in a 90- by 30-foot tent were seven presentations of Adventist activities.

A 3 C's program group gave free blood-pressure readings to hundreds of people and took applications for the regular 3 C's testing program offered quarterly by the nursing department of Andrews University. There, tests are made to determine a person's risk of getting cancer, a coronary, or a stroke. There were more applications than could be accommodated at the next scheduled testing program.

A community service booth displayed the many activities of the SDA Community Service Corps.

A temperance booth with Smoking Sam and Sally brought in many signed cards asking for notice of the next Five-Day Clinic for breaking the smoking habit.

Wayout pamphlets from the Voice of Prophecy were distributed to interested passersby at another booth.

Recorded music was played and books and periodicals displayed in another section of the tent.

The 3 C's testing booth was a popular place as fair visitors were checked for blood pressure.

Doris Helm and Emma Gilson passed out samples of vegetarian food to passersby.

Popular with young and old alike were the telephones at the Family Counseling Center, where listeners could get recorded advice on various aspects of family relationships. Counselors at the booth made appointments with visitors for live consultation.

In the setting of an old-fashioned kitchen, a group of persons demonstrated breadmaking and baking. They also passed out samples of meat analogues, no-meat loaves, and other vegetarian tidbits. People came back for more, and some eighty visitors signed up as being interested in a vegetarian cooking school. Over 3,000 printed recipe cards were given to interested folk.

Laymen from the churches involved took turns managing the various activities at the booths, and the expense of the project was prorated among the churches according to membership.

Plans are already being laid for next year's fair, and, reports the committee, "With our experience this year and the growing enthusiasm, we hope to have an even more successful and professional display and demonstration next year."

STURGIS OVER THE TOP

On October 18, the Sturgis Church reached its Ingathering goal and is now moving on toward a substantial overflow.

Virgil and Stella Powell of Burr Oak, Michigan, were baptized into the Sturgis Church on October 11, and during their first week of church membership, individually reached a Jasper Wayne goal and are still pressing on.

For many years Virgil Powell has had an arthritic condition which has immobilized his spinal column with the exception of a small area at the base of his neck. Undaunted by his physical limitations, he has an optimism and zest for living which many of us could emulate.

Seated in his wheelchair at the entrance of various stores in the city of Sturgis, or being pushed down one street and another as part of a group doing house-to-house soliciting, Virgil has achieved his goal and has made a spiritual impact on a number of lives. He and his wife, Stella, have also utilized the telephone in making contacts with friends, relatives, and business acquaintances.

The Powells are truly born-again Christians who have a deep love for their Lord and for winning souls. This was evidenced during the recent Collar Evangelistic Series, held in the Mendon, Michigan, Church. The Powells were responsible for the attendance of 56 individuals at the meetings. Most of the Bibles and evangelistic tapes they received as awards were passed on to interested friends and relatives.

When the couple are not operating their modern 15-patient rest home and farm, and when Virgil is not involved in preparing income tax returns, they are out Ingathering and searching for people interested in the kingdom of God. Lately, the latter activity has definitely taken first priority in their lives, and their pastor, S. R. LaRosa, prays that their "zeal to fill the church with new converts will be contagious."

Recitation is an important part of the reading program at River Pines School. Tony Armstrong reads aloud to Mrs. Deming.

NEW SCHOOL AT RIVER PINES

The room is 12 by 14 feet. Five student desks face the teacher. No book-filled cases line the walls. The wall seems bare without a chalk-stained board behind the teacher. Warming sun toasts the children's backs, beckoning each to take occasional peeks out the window, bringing back memories of summer not too far distant.

It was the first day of a new school year in the new school at River Pines Community Health Center, Stevens Point, Wisconsin. Under the direction of Mrs. Robert Deming, five students in grades ranging from one to seven began a year of Christian education in a Seventh-day Adventist school.

At first glance, the quarters may have seemed a little cramped, especially when one considers the three more children who were expected in late September. But two other similarly sized rooms, which can be used for individual projects and audio-visual sessions, eased the crunch. Even more helpful is the easy access to God's classroom, the great outdoors, for nature study. The rooms once used by a caretaker now are but a starting point for the teaching of God's direction in every phase of life.

Todd Armstrong works with the cassette tape player on a see, hear, and repeat exercise in one of the two individual work rooms at the River Pines school.

The cozy quarters did cause some problems at first since they didn't seem much like a schoolroom, but the attitude soon changed as the transformation from summer's comparative freedom to fall and winter's schoolwork became less noticeable. "With two extra rooms, a student can read out loud or listen to tapes without bothering others," Mrs. Deming says. "Thus a liability becomes an asset."

Since River Pines is located on the Wisconsin River, among acres and acres of forest, Mrs. Deming decided to use the easy access to nature as part of the curriculum.

"Sometimes we like to go on hikes at noon, sometimes in the afternoon, as part of our play period," Mrs. Deming says. "It doesn't matter when, we like to discover God's handiwork in nature."

On one hike, the children adopted a tree which they will watch throughout the year, especially noting seasonal changes. "It was a slow changer at first," Mrs. Deming says, "and the children were a little impatient since other trees were starting to change colors. They were almost ready to switch when our tree began showing reds, oranges, and yellows."

During another walk, the children observed mushrooms, taking samples back to their school to sketch. Bird watching, tree rubbings, and plant and animal identification are other nature activities. Everyone is working towards earning as many nature honors as possible.

As winter approaches, the walks will diminish, attention will shift from the out of doors to indoors. But emphasis on nature will continue with the terrarium and hothouse which are in the works.

To Mrs. Deming, a teacher with 29 years experience, accent on the study of God through both nature and books, as well as a constant awareness of His influence on the course of history, isn't all that unusual. But it isn't everyday at every school that a student can learn about God in a book, then have the lesson reinforced by merely glancing out the sunfilled window.

Christmas with the Heritage Singers, by Chapel Records.

The new Heritage Singers Christmas album provides a unique opportunity for evangelism; it presents the Good News of our Saviour in the appealing Bethlehem story, communicated through some of the most appreciated traditional and contemporary Christmas music. With its strong spiritual message, this is the ideal Christmas gift, especially for those friends and neighbors who have been invited to a Heritage concert. In a very special way, Christmas can become a time of witness, a time of sharing Jesus.

You can purchase this Christmas album from your local Adventist Book Center.

NEW TERMINAL SPEEDS LIBRARY CATALOGING

The James White Library at Andrews University has installed a computer terminal that may cut cataloging costs considerably and greatly speed the shelving of new books.

The terminal connects by telephone to computers at the Ohio College Library Center, Columbus, headquarters of a shared cataloging system now linked to over 700 libraries throughout the U.S.

These libraries have contributed to a computer data base now listing information on over 1,100,000 titles. This means that information will be available on well over 75 percent of the books the A.U. library will purchase.

WITTSCHIEBE SCHOLARSHIP FUND

A Charles and Doll Wittschiebe Scholarship grant is awarded annually by the Dean of the Theological Seminary to needy and worthy Seminary students. Applications are to be filed with the Dean of the Theological Seminary.

This scholarship was made possible by a former Seminary teacher, Dr. Charles E. Wittschiebe, and his wife, Doll, who gave to the Seminary as an endowed fund all royalties from his book entitled God Invented Sex.

PHI DELTA KAPPA CHAPTER INSTALLED AT A.U.

An area chapter of the professional fraternity in education, Phi Delta Kappa (PDK), was installed at Andrews University, October 5. Twenty-nine educators from A.U. and other educational establishments throughout southwestern Michigan were initiated into the fraternity.

Dr. Richard Hammill, A.U. president, said Phi Delta Kappa, as an organization dedicated to educational research, cannot help but benefit the university.

Dr. Bernard Lall, A.U. professor of educational administration and new president of the chapter, said that the new chapter plans to offer a series of nine or ten public lectures by nationally-known educators for the Bicentennial year. The chapter will also set up five reading rooms in southwestern Michigan (one at A.U.), each to be supplied with two copies of all Phi Delta Kappa publications.

NEW MICROSCOPE INSTALLED

A new electron microscope which can magnify 60,000 times has been installed at Andrews University. Pictured is Felix Kirchlechner, Zeiss company engineer, explaining the microscope operation to Dr. Asa Thoresen, standing, rear, biology department chairman, and Charles Amlaner, student.
