God's Direct Appeal

"Write in a book the things which thou hast seen and heard, and let it go to all the people; for the time is at hand when past history will be repeated." As Ellen White hastened to obey this fearful charge, she describes the great burden that rested on her soul. "I knew that time was short, that the scenes which are soon to crowd upon us would at the last come very suddenly and swiftly." Later she made it very clear that what she had written in The Great Controversy was "not the product of any human mind," but rather that it was "the voice of God speaking to His people" . . . "God's direct appeal to the people." She further testified, "I am more anxious to see a wide circulation for this book than for any others I have written; for in The Great Controversy, the last message of warning to the world is given more distinctly than in any of my other books."
—Colporteur Ministry, pages 127-9.

In many countries a revival in the sale of The Great Controversy has already begun. In South America, literature workers will soon complete their crusade to sell a million copies. In North America, tons of inexpensive paperback copies are being circulated.

The Lawrence, Massachusetts, Church has purchased 25,000 copies for an every-home distribution in their community. Physical therapist, Lee F. Greer, Jr., of Takoma Hospital, Tennessee, suggests that the church should consider circulating 52 million copies, one for every home in the U.S.A. Mr. Greer tells how their local church under the direction of Elder Trevor Hoover set the pace by distributing 5,000 Great Controversies, one to every home in the towns of Greeneville and Mosheim, Tennessee, and later by sending out a truckload of 9,000 Great Controversies, plus 9,000 Steps to Christ—one to every family on the rural mailing routes in the whole of Greene County. Each book is armed with a Voice of Prophecy radio log and enrollment card. Scores responded requesting the Bible course, expressing appreciation, or sending free will donations to cover the cost of the books.

In a recent letter, Mr. Greer tells of starting "the battle" for the towns of Rogersville and Persia in nearby unentered Hawkins County. "During the past two Sabbaths our church almost covered these areas with 2,500 to 3,000 Steps to Christ. Yesterday the Book and Bible House manager delivered one and one-half tons of The Great Controversy to our church. This Sabbath we will prepare these books with Voice of Prophecy inserts then give them out door to door in the same area. By God's grace we intend to keep on entering new territory until the night comes when no man can work."

Friends, if God's people can reach every home with The Great Controversy in two or three communities, He can help us accomplish it in every community everywhere. Somehow, someway, the message of this book must go out to all the people. One young man from Washington, D.C., recently dedicated his life to the literature ministry and particularly to the sale of The Great Controversy. He explained why. "Thirty years from now I don't want a generation of young people to come to me and ask me why we didn't get the work finished when God wanted us to do it!" Surely the harvest time has come. "God's direct appeal to the people" must be given. The great treasure of truth committed to this church in The Great Controversy must be shared. Won't you let the Holy Spirit work through you to circulate The Great Controversy and help swell the final loud cry of God's message?

CHRISTMAS STAMPS SET PRECEDENT— NO MONEY WORTH PRINTED ON FACE

Two Christmas stamps issued by the U.S. Post Office for the 1975 season have no denominations. It's the first time in American postal history that stamps have not printed a monetary value on the face of the stamp. The secular stamp is adapted from an 1878 Christmas card by Louis Prang. A reproduction of a 15th Century painting by Domenico Ghirlandaio is on the face of the religious stamp. Both stamps will be valid for postage at 10 cents, which is the current first-class postage rate, and will continue to have that value after the first-class rate rises to 13 cents as of the first of the year.

COMMITTEE TO DRAFT "COMMON STATEMENT" ON PAPAL INFALLIBILITY

A committee to draft a "common statement" on papal infallibility has been named by Lutheran and Roman Catholic theologians. Eleven Lutheran and ten Catholic scholars took part in the discussions. The four days of dialogue at St. Paul's College in Washington, D.C., ended the 21st such meeting held since the talks were initiated in 1965. At that time they were authorized by the U.S.A. National Committee of the Lutheran World Federation and the U.S. Catholic Bishops' Committee for Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs.

AUSCS OPPOSES FAIRFAX ZONING LAW

Americans United for Separation of Church and State has joined forces with those opposed to a Virginia zoning law. The law prohibits the holding of religious services in private dwellings. An editorial in the October issue of Church & State said, "It is interesting that while Fairfax County's code prohibits regularly scheduled worship in homes, it does not prohibit regularly scheduled drinking parties or pornographic film parties in homes." The 1972 Fairfax County law barring regularly scheduled worship in private homes violates both the "free exercise of religion" and "freedom of assembly" clauses of the First Amendment, according to Americans United.

CAREER PROGRAM SERIES RELEASED BY THE WAYOUT

Helping youth decide on careers is the goal of a new series of public service programs released to 5,400 radio stations in the U.S. and Canada by the Voice of Prophecy.

The series is called "The Inside Track" and is presented by the Wayout, the VOP's youth outreach.

The 90-second radio spot announcements feature comments from persons employed in a variety of careers. Each spot invites the listener to write the Wayout for a 24-page booklet, Heads or Tails, which attempts to lead a young person to an intelligent career choice. The booklet is also designed to encourage the reader to think about where he is headed in life and suggests that he should incorporate God into his thinking as he plans for a career.

INSIGHT WRITING CONTEST OFFERS $1,700 IN PRIZES

The editors of Insight are pleased to announce the 1976 Short Story Contest. Cash prizes will total $1,700 and will include a $500 grand award.

The contest is open to both student and professional writers. Separate judging will be done.

The first place award is $250, second place $200, and third $150 for each category—professional and student. There will be one $500 grand prize. In addition, other stories will be purchased at Insight's regular rates.

Insight is looking for stories that illuminate some aspect of Christian life found in witnessing experiences, social relationships, parent-children encounters, school life, young married situations, man-God encounters, and, frankly, any story that deals with the religious dimension. But this does not mean an obvious, preachy, moralizing, kind of conclusion.

We are currently overstocked with l'enfant terrible, or the struggles of a youthful rebel type stories. We nonetheless recognize that occasionally such a story, while painful, can provide a mirror of ourselves that can have a positive result. Such stories should indicate why a person left the church and why he came back.

Short stories submitted for this contest should be short. No more than 1,800 words.

All stories should be based on actual events. The writer may change names, reconstruct conversation, and juxtapose situations for purposes of dramatic interest. However, the thrust of the story must square with reality seen from some Christian viewpoint.

It is essential for writers to keep in mind that every short story contains conflict in some form. The judges will be looking for it in action that builds to a climax and denouement. Student writers not in a writing class are encouraged to seek critiques of their stories from competent journalists or writing teachers.

When selecting their story, writers must keep in mind that Insight's primary audience age is from 16 to 25. Younger readers tend to appreciate simpler stories that highlight action and adventure. Older readers frequently enjoy subtle stories that emphasize relationships, decision making, and cover the complexities of living successfully in the '70s.

The judges will use five criteria in evaluating manuscripts: (1) spiritual value of insight gained; (2) character description; (3) use of language and believable dialogue; (4) artistry: mood, place, sensory appeal, choice of appropriate detail; (5) development and completeness.

The contest closes March 15, 1976. To obtain contest rules, contact your journalism-communication-English teacher or department, or write Narrative Contest, Insight, Review and Herald Publishing Association, 6856 Eastern Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20012.

Gary Glen Park Church Rebuilt

by Pastor Michael Nickless

On Friday evening, October 6, 1973, Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Falkner of the Glen Park SDA Church, were practicing in the sanctuary for special music they were to give the next morning. At 8:30 p.m. they locked up and left. They were the last two members to see the church sanctuary in a worshipful condition. At 8:50 p.m. the church was ablaze.

The Glen Park congregation have never missed a Sabbath service. For the next three Sabbaths they met in the afternoon at the Hammond Church. An emergency business meeting was called on October 8, and a building committee appointed. On October 15, 1973, the clean up began.

All electricity was disconnected making necessary the use of extension cords from the nearby SDA elementary school. A downstairs room became the "make-do" sanctuary for the congregation, which met there first on October 28, 1973.

February 4, 1974, was the first presentation of an architect, Mr. Roy Gnesevich, of Merrillville, Indiana. Shortly thereafter he was hired and reconstruction began. For the next year and a half every Sunday was spent working on the church.

Mr. William Crawford, the building committee chairman, explains that there were several major problems to handle. The laminated beams were sandblasted and stained, new decking was installed, the window style was changed, the sanctuary was completely carpeted, and many other lesser changes took place.

The work progressed slowly. At last a target date of October 4, 1975, was set for the first Sabbath in the sanctuary. Things began to fall into place. On September 27, 1975, when the members came to church expecting to go to the basement for the last time, a completed sanctuary awaited them. There were many tears of joy.

Elder F. L. Jones met the next week with the congregation at their open house. The members all feel greatly blessed to be in the reconstructed sanctuary. The usual comment heard is, "It's more beautiful now than it was before." It is also much more appreciated.

PASTOR REYNOLDS CONCLUDES HIS WORK AT HINSDALE

Bob Reynolds, youth pastor of the Hinsdale Adventist Church for the past three years, concluded his ministry Sabbath, October 11, with a baptism of 11 young people. Pastor and Mrs. Reynolds will be moving to Mt. Vernon in southern Illinois where Bob will be the district pastor.

FIVE-DAY PLAN HELD BY LAYMEN

At the end of September, Chicago radio station WBBM started an idea that October 1975 would be Smokeless Month at WBBM. One man decided to quit and make a series of spot announcements to explain his feelings and progress throughout the month.

When the announcements started, one of the Damaged lungs, heart, arteries, and larynx were demonstrated by Roy Wightman from Hinsdale Hospital.

persons who heard them was the school nurse at Illinois Benedictine College in Lisle, Illinois. She thought it would be a good idea to stop smoking and invite others to join her. She called the Hinsdale Hospital requesting that a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking be held on the campus. The health education staff knew that the Downers Grove Church had a team that gave such programs and made the recommendation. Mrs. Curley, the nurse, was pleasantly surprised that a program could be started in just two weeks, and she proceeded to advertise the program by newspapers and local posters.

Charles Dillon discusses the evening program with participants James and Martha Ross of Naperville.

By October 26, 14 persons were registered and had almost perfect attendance for five nights. The group had both students from the college and neighborhood families. Nine different Downers Grove members related their own experiences in leaving tobacco and alcohol out of their lives. Some community members who had quit in prior programs came back and told their experiences. One of these concluded his comments, "I quit before on my own, but this time, thank God for the Five-Day Plan, because I have a much greater assurance of success."

One item of difficulty is the understanding that there is a relationship between smoking and drinking alcohol. It seems not to be physical, but the social pressures are tremendous. This pressure is so strong that sometimes people go back to smoking without knowing it until someone tells them they are doing it again.

The continuing meetings will review the tobacco use problem by means of films. The subject of good food will be introduced by the study booklet of the same title.

CHICAGOLAND CONVOCATION

George Vandeman

George Vandeman, speaker of the It Is Written telecast, will meet with church members from the entire It Is Written viewing area at a giant convocation in the Hinsdale Seventh-day Adventist Church on Sabbath afternoon, November 15, at 3:30 p.m.

The It Is Written telecast, which is fast becoming one of the most popular religious telecasts in the U.S. as well as in Canada and Australia, has recently come to the Greater Chicago area. The November 15 rally will provide an opportunity for church members from a wide area to meet with George Vandeman in planning a bold, broad outreach to bring the third angel's message to the multitudes before the cities of the nations fall.

Car pools are being organized to bring in members from outlying churches for this unforgettable afternoon of thrilling experiences, miracles of transformed lives, and reports of spectacular victories for Christ.

GLENDALE LAY EVANGELIST DIES

Earl Bocock

Earl Bocock, lay evangelist of the Glendale SDA Church, died on August 4, 1975, but the results of his labor as a licensed lay preacher live on.

Earl spent 34 of his 63 years as a Seventh-day Adventist. In those years he held over 25 evangelistic series in Greater Indianapolis and surrounding areas. He was the recipient of two lay workers' awards and gave countless numbers of Bible studies to individuals. He won 110 people to Christ.

Although hospitalized with intestinal cancer and unable to attend the services, Earl was happy to learn that another person had been united with the church in the last month of his life as a result of his witness.

It is never really possible for one to take another's place, but how wonderful it would be if at the end of our lives each one of us had 110 others taking their places in the church and carrying the work forward. Truly, Earl Bocock fought a good fight and finished his course. We miss him.

Survivors include his widow, Dorothy; sons, Ronald, David, and Larry.

SALEM BLITZED

On October 4, Salem, Indiana, a city of 2,000 homes, was largely covered with Steps to Christ and gift Bible cards.

Office workers including President G. W. Morgan, Secretary-Treasurer R. R. Rouse, Ministerial Director William Woodruff, and Bible Instructor Ruth Jenks joined evangelists and literature evangelist leaders, Dick Tanner, Danny Adels, and Bob Weisner in the day's program.

Don Klinger, pastor of the Paoli and Livonia churches coordinated the program. He inspired many church members to come to the Salem 4-H Building for Sabbath School, church services, potluck dinner, and a program of sharing. More than fifty gift Bible request cards had been received at the conference office within a few days and more are expected.

A Salem homeowner accepts Steps to Christ and a gift Bible card from Linda Holman.

Mrs. Jenks will be working with Pastor Klinger on the follow-up and both are greatly encouraged with the early response.

Evangelistic meetings are planned for the spring, and hopefully a church will be established in this attractive little town.

QUILTS MADE IN KOKOMO

A quilt-making project, during August and September 1975, produced the 12 handmade quilts pictured. Mrs. Bessie Patton, right, and Mrs. Ruby Pierce of the Kokomo SDA Church spent 130 hours making these quilts for the Kokomo SDA Community Services Center to give to the poor and needy. Kathleen Knights, not pictured, assisted in the project by piecing three of the tops. Material purchased for the project amounted to $22.50 with the balance of material used being donated.

LEADERCRAFT COURSE HELD IN EVANSVILLE

Dan Brooks, principal of the Southwestern Junior Academy in Evansville, has been encouraging his ninth and tenth graders to work on their Master Guide requirements. He, at the same time, has been inspiring some of their parents and others in the church to do the same.

On the weekend of October 17 and 18, Elder Cliff Hoffman, conference youth director, was invited to hold an MV Leadercraft Course. After ten hours of instruction, eight people received their certificate.

It is anticipated that a number of these people will be invested this spring and thus give effective youth leadership to the Evansville Church.

LAKE REGION CONFERENCE TEACHERS CONVENTION

Cassopolis, Michigan, was the scene of the recent Lake Region Conference Teachers Convention. Approximately 65 teachers from the nine schools throughout the conference braved unseasonably cold weather to attend the first meeting of the session which began on Sunday, September 21. However, before it was time to pack up to leave on Wednesday, September 24, some warm weather and some very informative meetings had been enjoyed by all.

Guests at the session were Elder Fred Stephan, director of education of the Lake Union Conference; Dr.

T. S. Geraty and Dr. Virgil Bartlett, both of the education department at Andrews University; Mrs. Greta V. Hines, principal of the Martin Luther King School in Benton Harbor, Michigan; and Mrs. Christine Thompson, a former teacher and principal of the Lake Region Conference.

Evening sessions and morning devotionals were shared with the ministers and other workers also gathered at Cassopolis for their annual fall workers meeting. These shared sessions featured Elder R. R. Bietz, former vice president of the General Conference, whose stimulating presentations dealt with the many aspects of leadership.

The topics for individual sessions were interesting and covered a wide range of subject matter. Some of the memorable sessions dealt with: Planning for Effective Discipline, Dimensions of Cooperation Between the Teacher and Administrator, Characteristics of a Christian Teacher, and the Teacher Managing Himself.

One highlight of the four-day session was a visit to the audio-visual center of Andrews University. There the teachers were treated to a video-taping session. Zadock Reid, Enaldani Gardner, and Jacqueline Galloway presented demonstration lessons, with the visiting teachers as students, which were video-taped and then reviewed by the group. This proved to be a very enlightening experience.

This teachers convention was marked by the presence of a large number of new faces. Fifteen new teachers have been employed in the Lake Region Conference for this school year. It is hoped that they, along with the many returning teachers, benefited highly from the meetings and returned to their classrooms better prepared to meet the needs of this important and demanding phase of serving the Master.

started to provide warmth. Throughout the evening hours and late into the night, clubs arrived and hastily arranged their camping area.

Dense fog covered the campground as Sabbath morning dawned. Soon, however, a warm sun filtered through the trees and a beautiful morning developed. Fourteen Pathfinder clubs, totaling over 300 campers, were soon stirring.

Youth leader Fred Williams directed the Sabbath School program. A musical selection was brought by the "Future Generation," a group from the Ypsilanti Bees.

The Gary Knights shared their experience of how young people in Michigan City were led to the church through summer evangelism. The lesson study was conducted by each club with a Pathfinder leading the lesson discussion.

Even though the sun was shining brightly, the campfire felt good as the worship service began. Assistant Pathfinder director for the Niles, Michigan, club, Lyndon Elliott, brought the worship hour sermon. His message centered around the parable of the ten virgins.

Individual club hikes and nature activities followed dinner. During vespers young people gave their thoughts to the question, "What the Sabbath means to me." One answer was, "Sabbath means a time of relaxation from the everyday grind and gives me time to reflect upon God's goodness and the opportunity to go to church and hear my pastor preach."

Saturday night was talent night. There was pantomiming by the Gary club; a clarinet solo from the Morgan Park club; music from South Bend, Burns Avenue, and Ypsilanti; poetry from Niles; and a nature lesson from City Temple.

Sunday's events included flapjack flipping, cooking bean-hole beans, building a reflector fire, and a contest of skill in hand axmanship and three-legged racing.

The Milwaukee Badgers received the most points during the camporee. They received 190 points with Inkster, Shiloh, and Ypsi each receiving 160 points.

Following the cleaning up and dismantling of camp, the buses, campers, trucks, and cars filled with an army of our youth returned to their various cities. Camporee '75 had ended with God's blessings and protection.

NEWS NOTES

• Bob Velting, John Rorabeck, and Kevin Grove of Battle Creek Academy spent six weeks of their summer as student missionaries. Although high school students cannot be sent overseas, a number of areas in the United States are available where they can work and share their faith. The Adventist Indian mission school at Holbrook, Arizona, where the three youth served, is one of them. The students helped with farming, repairs, and new construction, and participated in witnessing programs at several nearby reservations.

• For its second time this year the Vassar Church sponsored a day for the deaf. Special services were held Sabbath morning and afternoon, October 11, with all the speaking and musical selections interpreted for the deaf visitors. The audience also participated in group "singing" with their hands.

• Elder Roscoe K. Nelson of the Reed City and Big Rapids churches has written a series of religious articles for the local Reed City Herald. Each month the paper asks one of the members of the local ministerial association to write the weekly religious column for that month. Elder Nelson has received a number of positive comments regarding the articles he wrote about the home.

• Elder John A. Kroncke, pastor of the Pioneer

Memorial Church, Berrien Springs, has been appointed to a five-year term as a member of the General Conference executive committee. Part of his responsibilities will be to attend the General Conference annual councils as well as the next General Conference session at Dallas, Texas, in 1980. Immediately following his appointment, he attended the Annual Council held last month in Washington, D.C.

• In just two and a half hours of door-to-door solicitation, 60 students of Andrews Junior Academy raised $701 for the muscular dystrophy fund. The local fire department organized the campaign and provided fire trucks for transportation.

• Enrollment in the elementary school at Battle Creek is up 21 students over last year making a total of 205. The academy enrollment is about the same with 111 students. The juniors have the largest class this year with 37. The smallest class is the kindergarten with 14. Six other grades have 25 or more students.

MOON ANNOUNCES HIS RETIREMENT

After 44 years of service to the Adventist denomination, Elder Robert D. Moon will retire November 30. For nearly half of that time he has served in Michigan, and since November of 1966, he has been conference president.

Elder Moon began his ministerial career in the summer of 1931 as a singing evangelist for the Southern California Conference. The following January, he married Beatrice Olsen who through the years has faithfully assisted him as a pianist and organist, and has accompanied him in his visitation. He continued to serve the Southern California Conference with evangelistic and pastoral duties for nearly 16 years which followed. This also included, for a number of years, a radio ministry at Santa Barbara.

In February of 1947, the Moons moved to Michigan and began 12 years of ministry to three of the conference's largest churches—Grand Rapids Central, the Battle Creek Tabernacle, and Detroit Metropolitan. He also served as superintendent to those church districts and for most of those years was a member of the conference committee.

After serving as pastor in Grand Rapids for five years, where he again was involved in radiobroadcasting, Elder Moon returned to California. For eight years he had charge of the home church of Pacific Press at Mountain View and served as board chairman for Mountain View Union Academy. For seven of those years he was borrowed by Pacific Press to do field promotion for the missionary journal, Signs of the Times during its annual subscription campaigns.

In January of 1960, he returned to Michigan to serve as pastor at Battle Creek. A few years later he moved to Detroit, and it was while there that he was called to accept the challenge of the presidency of the conference.

During Elder Moon's administration, church membership passed the 20,000 mark. Another of his achievements was the successful completion of the academy development program. Two buildings were under construction when he took office—the girls' dormitory at Cedar Lake and the administration-classroom-auditorium complex at Adelphian. There followed in rapid succession a gymnasium at Grand Ledge Academy, and at Cedar Lake, the boys' dormitory, the cafeteria-service building, the administration-classroom-auditorium complex, the frozen food factory, and the just recently completed $150,000 sanitary system.

The fact that this program was completed with no outstanding debts is a mark of solid administrative leadership. Elder Moon believes it also shows spiritual growth within the churches and unity among the membership.

During most of his years as conference president, Elder Moon also served as chairman of the board of the Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital. As such, he guided the new building program and the plans to turn the hospital over to complete denominational control. When that took place in October of 1975, the position of board chairman passed into the hands of the Lake Union Conference president.

Elder and Mrs. Moon have purchased a retirement home in Berrien Springs. One of the reasons for locating there is the desire to be near their son, Robert Moon, Jr., of Andrews University, his wife, and their three children.

FEDERATION MEETINGS HELD

Eight area fall federation meetings of Michigan's Community Services were held October 12 to 21. Special guest was Elder Stanley L. Dombrosky of the Florida Conference. He told of the mounting interest in the work of the church in the state because of their fleet of 27 Community Service vans. The vans are used to conduct tests for high blood pressure, glaucoma, heart disease, and other health-oriented problems. The program has resulted in many baptisms, he reported, including help in opening up work in dark counties. Elder Dombrosky is shown at the left in the above picture with Lucinda Jablonski and Edna Garrison, state federation officers, and Elder Albert Bauer, lay activities director for the Lake Union Conference. In the meeting at Estey, all the pastors of the Northern District were present to show their support of the program.

NEW PATIENT PROGRAM AT BATTLE CREEK SAN

A new program of preoperative and postoperative patient visitation is being planned for Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital.

Mrs. Karen Jacobsen, R.N., who has recently joined the hospital staff as operating room supervisor, instituted a similar program at a hospital in Marshall, Michigan, where she was last employed.

The plan involves the cooperation of the medical, operating room, and surgical staffs. It calls for preoperative visits to patients to explain what to expect of the surgical process—the routine they will go through and how they will be taken care of.

Two or three days following surgery, visits would again be made to find out the patients' responses to the previous visits—in what ways the visits helped ease the uncertainties of surgery and in what ways the visitations might be improved.

Mrs. Jacobsen is a 1962 graduate of the Albany Medical Center, School of Nursing, Albany, New York. She is a member of the Association of Operating Room Nurses.

BCA STUDENTS ACHIEVE INGATHERING VICTORY

Students of Battle Creek Academy have achieved an Ingathering victory by raising their goal of $2,500.

Elementary students of grades four, five, and six solicited at shopping centers during the day. Grades seven and eight worked evenings with the academy students.

The young people were divided into small groups to solicit house to house. Spirits were high the first night as the students started towards their goal with an overabundance of energy. School spirit grew stronger on the second night as funds continued to roll in and then exploded on the third night as the goal was reached.

Cheryl Lawrence was the high solicitor bringing in $57.10. Ralph Darrough, principal of the high school, and H. Dexter Buell, principal of grades K-9, coordinated the three-day effort.

IMPROVEMENT AT TRI-CITY SCHOOL

A $20,000 renovation of the interior of the Tri-City Intermediate School, which was begun at the close of the 1972-73 school year, has been completed.

As a result of the project of the Bay City, Midland, and Saginaw churches, a "delightful atmosphere" has been provided for both teachers and students, school board chairman Elder Clarence E. Larsen reports.

The renovation included drop ceilings and increased lighting with a new electrical panel to handle the increased electrical load; modular steel storage units with shelving for books; new carpeting; replacement of all doors; an entire new wall between classrooms; new window drapes; new floors, fixtures, and exhaust fans for the rest rooms; new blackboards and bulletin boards; and renovation of the heating system to provide thermostatic control for each room.

Richard Schell of the Midland Church was responsible for raising most of the funds for the project.

Through the citrus fruit selling program of the Tri-City Home and School Association, approximately $5,000 of new equipment has been secured for the school. This includes teachers' desks, chairs, and files for each room; furniture for the office; additional bulletin boards; additional shelving for books; new drinking fountains; and many miscellaneous items.

TROY PATHFINDERS ACTIVE

The Busy Beaver Pathfinder Club of Troy recently put on a special program for the First Flint Church. They showed some of the activities and benefits of the Pathfinder program to encourage the First Flint Arrows who are reviving their own Pathfinder program.

The Troy club also had a successful bike-a-thon with 20 persons, including five adults, raising about $300 to benefit the local Pathfinder program. The 50-mile ride also met one of the requirements for the honor in biking.

Marty and Carol Smith are the leaders of Troy's Busy Beaver Pathfinder Club.

WAUS TRIPLES AUDIENCE

The Andrews University FM station, WAUS, has tripled its audience over the past year, from 12,200 regular listeners to 37,000, according to statistics provided by Arbitron, a national audience measurement research company.

Arbitron ranked the WAUS audience 24th on a list of 173 stations affiliated with National Public Radio. Stations ranking higher are generally located in big city areas, the study shows.

Wayne Woodhams, WAUS director, said that he is not sure why the station's audience tripled. "We try to maintain a strong, clean signal and a logical program format," he said. He adds that listeners have "reacted well" to the young, university image that the station projects.

WAUS employs fourteen student announcers, six full-time staff members, one half-time employee, and two other students.

BOOK ON RIGHTEOUSNESS BY FAITH PUBLISHED

Righteousness by faith is the topic of a new book entitled Acquitted! Message from the Cross by an Andrews University seminary professor, Dr. Sakae Kubo. The publisher is Pacific Press.

The paperback book, barely 63 pages long and costing only 60 cents, encompasses with clarity and depth most of the basic issues involved in righteousness by faith. Kubo's treatment of the subject is intended to suit Adventists and non-Adventists, college youth and ministers, libraries and doctors' offices.

An issue that Dr. Kubo attempts to clarify throughout the book is that good deeds are not to be performed in addition to faith, but as the result of faith. This, he said, is often misunderstood among Adventist laymen.

THREE MUSICIANS TOUR EUROPE

Three Andrews University musicians have returned from a European tour of 26 concerts during July and August. The three, Dr. Hans-Jorgen Holman, piano; his wife, Rae Constantine, soprano; and LeRoy Peterson, violin, performed in churches and concert halls in Norway, Denmark, and Austria. One newspaper reviewer said, "The hall was absolutely full, and it is not often we get to hear an audience give such a lively and whole-hearted expression of their appreciation. The applause was enormous."
