The Best Gift

The day following Thanksgiving, I had the occasion to visit a large popular department store. My errand was of no great consequence and certainly not in proportion to the time spent waiting my turn behind Christmas shoppers with long gift lists. There were trinkets and clothes, potions and toys, and some things that could only be classified as "whatchamacallits."

I didn't see a single person who really looked happy about his mission. Overheard were comments such as "I hope he likes it—it cost enough" and "She is so hard to please, I don't know what to get."

Suddenly, the whole idea of giving and receiving "Christmas style" seemed incongruous. Giver and receiver alike are often unhappy. Strange! Then the thought came, "Is this what people want to give and receive—things?" Or is the real craving for genuine love, friendship, faith, honesty? Yes, what people really want is you!

How ironic that the price for this needful exchange is greater than most of us would like to pay! We would rather spend outlandish prices for "things" in an effort to convey that which can be expressed best by an uninhibited demonstration of Christian love.

By His life and the example He has given, our Lord showed that He understood our deepest need. During His earthly ministry He supplied that need for all who came within the perimeter of His influence. For Mary and Peter and John the human response was also nearly perfect. Those were happy relationships because our Lord gave Himself and His friends responded in kind. They came to understand the meaning of a principle Jesus taught, "Freely ye have received, freely give."

While it is appropriate to exchange gifts at Christmas time, to give of ourselves throughout the year is the best gift to God and man.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OK'S RELIGIOUS SYMBOLS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Oregon's Attorney General Lee Johnson OK'd the display of religious symbols in public schools, with reservations. He did so several weeks after announcing that schools would break the law if they permitted the display of nativity scenes. If schools adopt the policy of making space available on a nonselective, first-come, first-served basis for displays of religious or cultural significance, Johnson said the result could only be acrimony and factionalism. "Under the policy, schools would have to open their doors not only to those beliefs acceptable to the community but to beliefs that most of us object to," he said.

MISSOURI SYNOD CHIEF SEEKS TO BAR SEMINEX GRADS

In what he described as the most important request he has ever made, Dr. Jacob A. O. Preus, president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, has urged eight district presidents to promise in writing that they will not ordain graduates of Seminex, the church's breakaway seminary-in-exile. His request was the first step in implementing a resolution of the Missouri Synod's 1975 convention, which urged district presidents to resign if they cannot in conscience abide by regulations concerning ordination. All eight district presidents named in the appeal have ordained uncertified Seminex graduates.

RELIEF SENT TO VICTIMS OF BEIRUT CIVIL STRIFE

Seventh-day Adventist World Service (SAWS) has sent $20,000 and 50 bales of clothing to Beirut, Lebanon, to aid the victims of recent civil disturbances.

The clothing, approximately 7,000 pounds, and money will be distributed to individuals and families by Seventh-day Adventist Lebanese nationals. Officials at the General Conference stressed that no position has been taken regarding Christian and Moslem factions within the country, and the aid will be distributed solely according to need.

RULING COULD UPROOT CAMBODIAN ORPHANS

The fate of 18 Cambodian orphans is in the hands of a California court. At question is the prerogative of Family Ministries Christian Adoptive Agency of Whittier, California, to stipulate the degree of religious activity of adoptive parents as a prerequisite to adoption. More fundamental is the question of whether a Christian adoptive agency can process the children at all, since government funds were used in bringing the children to the United States. If the court rules against Family Ministries, Cambodian orphans already in Christian adoptive homes could be uprooted for the fourth time and placed by a secular agency in non-Christian homes.

FAITH STAFF SENDS FIRST LESSONS

Earnest prayer by Faith for Today personnel preceded the recent mailing of the first lessons of the telecast's newest Bible correspondence course, "Living Faith." The first lesson of the 30-lesson series was sent to 8,583 recipients all over the U.S. Authored by Elder Roland Hegstad, the new course is colorful, contemporary, and different than anything Faith has yet produced.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST EDUCATION FOR THE DEAF?

At the time of the Annual Council a special committee met with representatives of a growing and significant group of deaf Seventh-day Adventists. They earnestly desire to see the church reach out to an estimated 1.8 million deaf and hard of hearing persons in the United States in a work similar to that already being done for the blind through the Christian Record Braille Foundation and the camps for the blind. They also desire an Adventist education for families handicapped by deafness.

For very practical considerations we need to know what the potential enrollment for such a service might be. If you know of any church-related deaf child or youth of school age, please send name, age, current grade level and school arrangements, and address to Fred Stephan, Lake Union Conference Director of Education, Box C, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49103.

The scores of Pathfinders who met at Camp Madron found that they were blessed with perfect autumn weather for their camporee. The left inset pictures them trying to beat the clock in the annual race to build a campfire. The right inset shows the large collection of fungi and other unusual plants collected on a Sabbath afternoon hike.

Michigan's nature center at Camp Au Sable was dedicated this September during the annual fall Pathfinder Camporee.

One camporee was held at Au Sable on the weekend of September 19 to 21, and as usual, rain was an almost constant companion to the campers who nevertheless, in true Pathfinder spirit, enjoyed their weekend.

The second camporee was held a week later in beautiful autumn weather at Camp Madron in southwestern Michigan. This rented camp is located a few miles from Berrien Springs.

The actual dedication service for the nature center took place Sabbath afternoon, September 20. A number of conference officials were on hand to participate as was Elder Leo Ranzolin of the General Conference Youth Department, who presented the dedicatory message.

Also on hand as an interested observer was Pastor Kalevi Rullo, who is youth director for the Finnish Union.

A report of the camporee appeared in the October issue of the Grand Rapids Central Church's monthly newsletter. Your Michigan correspondent of the Herald believes it gives a good and typical report on what must have happened to many of those who participated in the Au Sable Camporee. It follows in a shortened and somewhat edited form and no credit can be given to the reporter of the article as no name was listed.

Pathfinders + Campout = Rain (Again)

Rain, of course, while loading, the drive to Au Sable, the setting up at camp, during supper and the evening meeting. That's how the Pathfinders knew for sure they were on a campout. They wouldn't know what a camporee was if it didn't rain!

The Friday evening meeting was held in the rec shed. (Enough rain is enough already.) World Pathfinder Leader Ranzolin greeted the 750 assembled Pathfinders with the word, "Maranatha" (the Lord cometh), just as he greets Pathfinders all over the world. The MV secretary from the Finnish Union taught the group to sing in Finnish.

It's easy enough to announce curfew, but it's something else to enforce quiet when 750 people are trying to go to sleep in adjacent tents. By 10:30 everyone was in bed, but nobody is willing to say what time it was when everyone was asleep.

Rise-and-shine time came at 8 a.m. Morning Watch and flag raising came before a satisfying breakfast of almost lumpless Cream of Wheat.

Sabbath School and church service were a wonderful experience. There were people, people everywhere, crowded close to hear Elder Ranzolin's story of Naaman's little servant girl, told as though she were a member of a Pathfinder club camped just over there.

Dinner was something else. Each unit was responsible for its own food, cooked over open fires. Our group was the largest—39 Pathfinders and 15 adults. That is a lot of people to cook for, in the rain, and with a dog that tipped kettles of water over on the fire, putting it out completely. Dinner came eventually.

Who can take time for a nap with all that excitement going on? The next event was the dedication of the new Nature Center. "This Is My Father's World" and "Bless This Place" were sung by Elder Charles Keymer and Elder Charles Danforth while all those people sat in the rain and listened and were outrageously glad to be there! Pastor Ranzolin gave a polished Brazil nut (from his own home state in Brazil) to the museum.

Saturday evening there was a talent program. The high point of the program came when the Finnish MV leader pretended he couldn't get his musical saw tuned, so he imitated the sound of the saw with his voice. And then he tied a knot in a string in his mouth! (You read that right.)

Some of the girls got delayed on their way to bed and they sang and sang beside a couple of campfires. Too bad they couldn't sing all night, it was that lovely. By 11 p.m. the camp was totally quiet.

At Sunday morning breakfast there was a choice of burned pancakes or raw ones. Then the sack race proved that we need more practice. The tug of war went better. We finished next to first. After that it began to rain in earnest. All huddled in the rec shed for the final event—trophy time. Two of our leaders went to work taking down the tents. Elder Charles Holford was buttering sandwiches as fast as he could while giving orders in whatever other language it is that he speaks. Another was making soup as fast as he could while a tarp was put up in the hope that it would shelter the diners at least a bit.

Suddenly the campout was over. The sun came out just as all our cars left camp. Somebody forgot to close the door of the rented U-Haul trailer and part of the load was left on the road. The driver of one of our cars beeped the horn to alert the driver while Pathfinders in the car hopped out and salvaged what they could.

We'll never forget that weekend at camp. And we'll always remember "Maranatha"!

Various new fashions in rainwear were displayed at the camporee. But the rain didn't dampen the spirits of the Pathfinders who still laughed and ate heartily just as if the sun were shining.

FALL WEEK OF PRAYER AT BVA

James Melancon

The students at Broadview Academy enjoyed an inspiring fall Week of Prayer this year. Elder James Melancon, who teaches in the religion department at Union College, was the speaker. Meetings were held in the early morning and each evening. The speaker visited the Bible classes throughout the week also.

Elder Melancon presented some very interesting and inspiring talks. One of the most impressive was the story of his death. He had taken some outdated pills that made him very sick and within minutes he was dead. The doctor pronounced him legally dead for eight minutes. After spending many days in the hospital, he recovered, and lives to tell of the love of God. Broadview Academy certainly appreciated Elder Melancon's Week of Prayer.

BVA MOTET CHOSEN

Motet members have been chosen and their first appearance in public was on Sabbath, October 18, when they sang for the academy church services. On October 31, the Motet appeared in Rockford, Illinois, and sang for the evangelistic effort being held there. This group will travel throughout the conference giving programs in many of the churches during the school year, representing Christian education and Broadview Academy. The group is directed by Robert Pound, head of the music department, and is accompanied by his wife, Joyce.

THREE MEMBERS ADDED TO ROSEVILLE

Elder Jack Martz, lay activities director of the Illinois Conference, was the guest speaker at the Roseville Church on November 1.

Following a fellowship dinner for the entire church at the Emil Strong residence, the group traveled to Monmouth where a district baptism was held in the Immanuel Baptist Church. Three members were added to the Roseville Church by baptism.

JMV CAMPOUT

Working on their JMV Progressive Class requirements, the Cicero SDA eighth graders recently cooked a complete meal outdoors, using homemade reflector ovens.

The seventh grade, while enjoying the blueberry muffins, fried potatoes, and potato salad, along with tossed salad and drink, also had work of their own to complete. They set up full camp and pitched tents.

Normally an overnight campout is required for setting up camp, but since the reported cases of encephalitis, this requirement was waived this year.

FOURTH FIVE-DAY PLAN HELD IN RICHMOND

Thirty-five smokers kicked the habit at a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking held at the Reid Memorial Hospital in Richmond, Indiana. It was the fourth Five-Day Plan held in the hospital since 1972.

This plan was conducted by Dr. William Fisher and Elder Cliff Hoffman on October 19 to 23. The number was lower than some plans, but the response of the people was excellent. Around 50 percent of those who took the plan came back for a follow-up meeting a week later.

Dr. Fisher and Elder M. L. Nickless have held several Five-Day Plans together at the hospital. There is a very warm feeling held by the hospital administration toward the Five-Day Plan and the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The hospital promotes the plan extensively through radio, TV and newspapers. Dr. Fisher and Elder Hoffman appeared on a half-hour TV interview promoting the plan.

The next plan is scheduled for February 1 to 5 at the hospital.

BUILDING BETTER FAMILIES

Another interesting Home and School meeting was held Sunday evening, October 19, in Cicero. A good attendance is sparked by the interest of the children who are promised a mystery trip if they bring their parents to eight of the nine meetings.

While the children enjoyed nature films and games, the parents listened to Elder Duane Ferguson comment for a few minutes on the surveys he has taken among his students, and what they have indicated they would like in their homes. Family worship heads the list. Having their mothers at home was another one high on the list. They also would like their parents to show appreciation for what they do, and acknowledge them as humans.

Parents were given the opportunity to ask questions of a panel. The remainder of the evening was spent in discussion and questions on how to make the home a place that will produce good students.

DAVIS ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Davis of the Kokomo SDA Church celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with a trip to the Smokey Mountains. Davis, and the former June Otto, were married in Twelve Mile, Indiana, by the Rev. Gilbert Maus. The Davises are known throughout many parts of the union as they are the mentors of the singing group "The Kinsmen"—a group made up of brothers, cousins, an aunt, an uncle, a husband, a wife, and a son.

INDIANA CONFERENCE HIRES A BIBLE WORKER

Recently Mrs. Ruth A. Jenks moved to Indiana from the Mountain View Conference where she served as Bible instructor. She worked for two years in Parkersburg, West Virginia, and one year in Frederick, Maryland. She also worked for two years in southern New England.

Mrs. Jenks was associated with Elder J. Reynolds Hoffman in the Indianapolis Crusade. She will continue her labors in the Glendale area through 1975. Two days a week she travels to Salem, Indiana, to follow up new interests that have been developed there.

Brooklyn, New York, is the original home and birthplace of Mrs. Jenks. She has two married sons.

We welcome this dedicated Christian worker to our conference family.

CONFERENCE EMPHASIZES LAY INVOLVEMENT FOR 1976

Meetings of church officers for 1976 have been conducted in three areas of the conference. The Illiana meeting was held in Indianapolis; the Michiana meeting in Grand Rapids; and the Chicagoland meeting at Straford Memorial in Chicago. The Motor City Church officers meeting will be December 14 at the City Temple Church.

Conference departmental directors have met with their respective officers to give direction for their programs during 1976. Conference President J. R. Wagner outlined the objectives to be reached with the challenging theme "Christ to Every Man."

The challenge is for every member to accept the call of service to make 1976 the best year ever in soul winning.

"The goal of 2,000 souls can be a reality," asserts President Wagner.

The plans for the year have been outlined as follows: First quarter—Mission '76 evangelistic meetings with the pastor training the members; Second quarter—lay evangelistic meetings with the members putting in practice what they have learned; Third quarter—summer program of evangelism with pastor and laymen working together; Fourth quarter—fall gleanings meetings and revival and reaping meetings.

The departmental leaders have accepted the theme and are encouraging participation in soul winning by the entire church. Lay activities director Horace Jones, is going to direct the laymen in evangelistic pursuits.

Youth leader Fred Williams is challenging youth leaders to impress upon the minds of the youth the necessity of soul winning. A program entitled "In the Spirit of '76" is being readied to guide the church's youth into an active role of Bible studies and street witnessing that will see the youth working for others.

Dr. Anderson observes the new church sign and notes the announcement of the upcoming open house service to be held in January.

BETHEL CHURCH GETS NEW CHURCH SIGN

The Bethel Church in Grand Rapids is happy to let passersby know that it is an Adventist Church. Recently the church purchased the oval world church sign.

Leslie O. Anderson pastored in several districts while in the Lake Region, one of which was the Grand Rapids-Muskegon Heights-Idlewild District. Elder Anderson left the Lake Region to pursue a doctor of health science degree. He completed the work for his degree in June 1975. He now serves as director of the family health and education center at Loma Linda University.

The Bethel congregation has been housed in its new church facility for over a year. Robert L. Jones is presently pastoring this district.

HEALTH EVANGELISM IN MIDLAND

November 10 to 14 saw the completion of the ninth session of the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking to be held in Midland since the winter of 1972. This time 43 registered and 32 completed the course. Twenty-eight persons indicated that they had been successful. The programs have been conducted by Pastor Clarence E. Larsen of Midland and Drs. Robert Johnson and Harold Racine of Ithaca.

During these nine sessions approximately 350 people have benefited from this phase of the health ministry of the church. As a follow-up program for the last session, the Midland Church is sponsoring subscriptions to Listen magazine to all who completed the course and were successful in kicking the habit.

Also on October 28, the fifth cooking class conducted by Mrs. Letha Larsen was concluded. She has been assisted by various ladies of the church.

Four of these have been held for the special benefit of the people of the community. A new feature at the last three classes was to have members of the church invite a student and members of the family to a vegetarian meal. This was met with an enthusiastic response.

WRITERS CONFERENCE

Attendance at the writers conference held near Battle Creek, Michigan, the weekend of November 1 was double the expectations of the organizers.

"We were just thrilled with the turnout of almost 50," said Elizabeth McFadden, president of the Christian Scribes, cosponsors of the camp with Andrews University. "It indicates a great interest in writing among Seventh-day Adventists."

Writers came from as far away as Hinsdale, Illinois, and Detroit, Michigan, to hear instruction that dealt mainly with writing creative stories. Lowell Litten of Guide and Mrs. Mildred Reid, a creative writing teacher from Contoocook, New Hampshire, were the featured speakers.

Mrs. Reid presented lectures from her experiences as a creative writing teacher. In her one-hour session on Friday, she outlined how to write query letters and how to approach the task of writing a story. In her three-hour session on Sunday, she covered the techniques of story writing—characterization, dialogue, plot, action, and climax.

Litten, in a one-hour session Friday, outlined how to write for Guide and shared what types of material Guide is looking for. In his Sabbath sermon, Litten asked the writers to sign a large scroll similar to one signed by the ministers at the Annual Council in Washington, D.C., this past October.

The pledge was for rededication and recommitment to the finishing of the gospel work. Litten said that writers have a great opportunity to share the gospel, as ministers do.

Litten also was a member of a panel discussion Saturday evening that covered author and editor relations. Also on the panel was Mrs. McFadden, Collen Garber, editor of Good Deeder from Berrien Springs, Michigan, and Martha Benton, a writer from Gobles, Michigan. Bill Garber of Andrews University was the panel moderator.

Kermit Netteburg, from Andrews University, led out in many of the activities during the writers conference.

Kermit Netteburg, journalism professor from Andrews University, gave guidelines to the group on how to write parables during a one-hour session on Friday.

Two special presentations were made by Michigan authors. Mrs. Helen Shasky from Battle Creek shared some of her 25 published songs on Friday evening, and on Sabbath afternoon, Mrs. Irene Lefler of Pontiac presented a puppet show she has developed. The showings deal with presentations of Bible stories. Her presentation at the camp was of the life of Esther.

Elder Ernest Wendth had a vespers talk Sabbath evening and also presented a one-hour session on how to interview. Wendth stressed the need to develop a conversation rather than a question-and-answer session in order to have a successful interview.

The Christian Scribes used the meeting to elect officers for the coming year. Mrs. McFadden will continue as president, and Nancy Rankin, a graduate student in education at Andrews University is the president-elect. Membership in Christian Scribes is $3 a year. To receive information about the club meetings, write to Christian Scribes, Box 280, Gobles, Michigan 49055.

Aspiring and seasoned writers met together for three days of learning and sharing at Tall Timbers Camp.

COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

Judge Sachtjen
and Pastor Pritchard

A judge and a Congregational minister received the Community Service Award from the Madison Seventh-day Adventist Church on Sabbath, November 15, during a community-oriented service attended by the church's congregation and civic-minded members of the community.

In citing these men for the award, Pastor J. L. Ray said that Judge William C. Sachtjen, of Branch Four County Court of Dane County, has served his community well since his first election as a councilman-at-large in 1947. He has earned the respect of the citizens by his efficiency and fairness, and his constituents know that his chamber doors are always open to them.

The pastor also said that Pastor Richard E. Pritchard, of the Heritage Congregational Church of Madison, who has served his church for many years had earned the respect of his community by leading a fight against pornography, gambling, and massage parlors in Madison.

The wives of both men were with them as they received the awards and both couples stayed for the service afterwards. Pastor Pritchard and his wife stayed for the fellowship dinner served for the visiting guests by the Madison Church each Sabbath.

The Community Service Award is a plaque given by the communication department of the church to certain community leaders who make an outstanding contribution to the health, welfare, or safety of a community.

SUCCESSFUL 5-DAY PLAN COMPLETED

Ten more persons recently joined the ranks of the thousands who have graduated from the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking. The Sheboygan Church, led by Pastor Rodger Ratcliffe, assisted by Chuck Neal, a physical therapist, and Betty Zmaj, a registered nurse, presented the Five-Day Plan to their community during the week of November 1 to 6.

Pastor Ratcliffe says the program was very successful and it is his hope to present another plan in January.

MICHIGAN TAX CREDIT OPPORTUNITY

Just a reminder as we near the close of 1975, that a gift to the General Fund of the University may be taken as a credit against your Michigan state income tax. (In addition, you may use the full amount of your gift as a charitable deduction on your federal income tax return.)

The law allows a single individual to give up to $200 as a gift, and deduct from his state income tax one-half of the amount of the gift, or 20 percent of the taxpayer's state tax liability, or $100, whichever is less. For husband and wife filing jointly, the law allows a gift of up to $400, and a deduction from the state income tax of one-half of the amount of the gift, or 20 percent of the taxpayer's state tax liability, or $200, whichever is less.

A gift to Andrews University, depending upon your income, number of children, and other factors, would cost you somewhere between 32 percent and 40 percent of the actual gift. For example, a gift of $100 to the University would cost you somewhere between $32 and $40, depending on the above factors.

Please make your check payable to Andrews University General Fund, and mail before the end of December to the President of Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104.

FIELD SCHOOLS RESULT IN 661 BAPTISMS

Seventy-four seminary students from Andrews University participated in 11 full-scale evangelistic campaigns this summer that resulted in 661 baptisms.

The campaigns, conducted by seasoned evangelists, were part of the four-week field school required of all seminary students after one year of training. They were conducted in England, Jamaica, and throughout the U.S. (California, Colorado, Illinois, Alaska, Texas, Tennessee, Oregon, and Michigan).

The field school is one of the most important parts of the student's seminary training, often shaping his entire career, said Donald Jacobsen, associate professor of evangelism and director of the program.

CLASS DESIGNS ITS OWN CLASSROOM

The class in design for visual communication is creating and constructing the interior design of their own classroom. Peter Erhard, assistant professor of art, asked each of the six students to make a mock-up of the classroom as he or she thinks it should be designed. Then the class will discuss and improve upon the models until it decides on the most creative and useful design.

The course in design for visual communication covers such areas as illustration, advertising design, typography, and environmental design. Students pursuing their education along these lines have chances for employment in advertising agencies, publishing firms, art studios, and design consultant companies, said Erhard.

18 SCHOLARS CONTRIBUTE TO BOOK ON SABBATH

Eighteen professors at Andrews University are contributing to a book entitled The Sabbath in Scripture and History.

Sponsoring the project is the Review and Herald Publishing Association, with Dr. Kenneth Strand, A.U. professor of church history, as coordinator on the A.U. campus. Aimed-for date of publication is 1977.

J. N. Andrews' long-time classic, History of the Sabbath, is now out of print and would not serve today's needs, Review and Herald book editor Cottrell said. "We need a new work that will be of enduring value. It would be a major contribution to the church."

The book will include full documentation, sources, bibliography, and appendices. Each chapter is to be written to stand independently and yet blend chronologically and topically with the rest of the book.

COLLEGE GRADS SHOW LOWEST JOBLESS RATE

Although there were an estimated 415,000 college graduates unemployed in March, they were the smallest percentage of the 8.4 million jobless when ranked by educational attainment, the Bureau of Labor Statistics (B.L.S.) reported. The jobless rate was the highest for high school dropouts—15.2 percent. The survey was conducted for B.L.S. by the census bureau and published in the August 1, 1975, issue of Higher Education and National Affairs.

The jobless rate for those with four or more years of college was 2.9 percent. The unemployment rate for those who dropped out of college after one to three years was 6.9 percent. The jobless rate for persons with only an elementary school education—about 12 percent—apparently was the result of their being somewhat older and having had more labor force experience than high school dropouts, B.L.S. said.

Between March 1974 and March 1975, unemployment rates increased for all workers, but the rise was sharpest among workers who had not completed eight years of schooling—from 5.7 to 12.4 percent. During the same period the jobless rate for college graduates rose at a much slower pace—from 2.0 to 2.9 percent. In all, there were an estimated 13.9 million persons with four years or more of college who were employed in March.
