COVER

"As one small candle may light a thousand, so the light here kindled hath shone unto many."—William Bradford, 1590-1657.

Where are the ninety-nine?

Throughout the world there are honest-hearted people asking for answers to complex questions, and searching for the path to eternal life. Signs all about point to the imminent destruction of the world as we know it. Bewildered and frightened souls cry out for direction. Where can they go for safety?

God has a message for these people, a message of mercy, of love, of hope. God has appointed the printed page to carry His message of love around the world and has given the literature evangelist the highest rank in His divine army. (Testimonies, Vol. 6, p. 313.)

This year is Literature Emphasis Year and a goal has been set before us to recruit 25,000 literature evangelists around the world to take the light of God's truth to men in spiritual darkness. In North America alone the work cries out for four times as many literature evangelists as now carry God's final message door to door. In the Lake Union alone 96 dark or unentered areas await new, full-time literature evangelists. I would suggest a goal of at least one full-time literature evangelist for every 50,000 population. We need more than 4,700 literature evangelists for the North American Division.

But the Spirit of Prophecy says "where there is one canvasser in the field, there should be one hundred."—Colporteur Ministry, p. 25. Only one where there should be one hundred to knock on doors, to plead and pray with seeking, honest hearts. But where are the other ninety-nine? "The Lord will not excuse those who know the truth if they do not in word and deed obey His commands. If we make no effort to win souls to Christ we shall be held responsible for the work we might have done, but did not do."—Colporteur Ministry, p. 12.

When we stop to contemplate the world's depraved condition and the needs of humanity, how can we continue to use our talents to advance worldly interests when we might use them to finish God's work on earth?

Are you one of the ninety-nine God would have become a reaper in His vineyard? Do you hear God calling you out of your worldly enterprise and into His "army"? Are you dealing in perishable goods when you could be handling the merchandise of heaven? The appeal stands: "Who will respond to the call? Who will go forth to labor in wisdom and grace and the love of Christ for those nigh and afar off? Who will sacrifice ease and pleasure, and enter the places of error, superstition, and darkness, working earnestly and perseveringly, speaking the truth in simplicity, praying in faith, doing house-to-house labor? Who at this time will go forth . . . imbued with the power of the Holy Spirit, . . . opening the Scriptures to the people, and calling them to repentance"?—Colporteur Ministry, p. 13.

Glover's Farm

From the time of the first leap westward, Seventh-day Adventists have penetrated Michigan very successfully. From the outset, Michigan has contained from a half to a third of the church members living in the Lake States. And why is this?

First, Michigan got more New England transplants than any other of the states. The "Yankees between the Lakes" were highly receptive of the Message. Early SDA evangelists sensed their response and diligently cultivated the soil of the Old Northwest. Second, Michigan eventually contained denominational institutions that fruited: headquarters, press, sanitarium, college, food factories. Note well this "Michigan pattern" (or "Battle Creek pattern") for it has been carefully duplicated wherever Adventists have gone. Like honey trees the "institutions" have made converts and attracted "swarms" of "workers."

Thus was underlined an affirmation penned long ago by Ellen G. White: "From the time we moved to Battle Creek, the Lord began to turn our captivity. . . . New life was given to the cause, and success attended the labors of our preachers."

Some early converts are quite well known to us, such as the four men who "captured" press and headquarters for Battle Creek in 1855—Henry Lyon and John Preston Kellogg (who sold farms to abet the cause), Dan Palmer and Cyrenius Smith—but the morale building and financial participation of C. S. Glover has often gone unrecognized.

James and Ellen White, from Rochester, visited the second time into Michigan in May 1854. They met the believers in Jackson, then traveled northward together with Merritt E. Cornell, John N. Loughborough, and others, to Sylvan. In C. D. Glover's barn near Sylvan they conducted the largest Sabatarian Adventist public meeting yet held anywhere. They estimated 400! Later they bounced over corduroy roads to Locke, 15 miles east of Lansing, and spent a long weekend visiting with interested families and holding meetings in a schoolhouse. It is almost certain they used the local, slab-sided Little Brown Eagle School near the crossroads at Locke. So many settlers came that the Whites had to preach from an open window so those seated outside on the grass or in their buggies could hear the sermons. It was an exhilarating experience—and the Glovers were in the middle of it.

An idea sparked. On the way back to Jackson, the leaders, prodded by Glover, concluded that the time had come for new evangelistic methods. Someone suggested tent meetings; White hesitated for lack of money; Glover donated $35. The Jacksonians donated, too, Dan Palmer remarking, "I must invest in this." Cornell brought a tent from Rochester. Its first pitch was at Battle Creek in June 1854, with Loughborough and Cornell preaching. A strong band emerged there clustered around Yankee peddler David Hewitt, clockmender Abram Dodge, and shoecobbler Jonah R. Lewis. After that, tent "churches" became prominent in evangelistic campaigns in Michigan and elsewhere.

The Whites spent a month visiting the bands of converts that had been gathered at Jackson, Battle Creek, Plymouth, Sylvan, Grand Rapids, Hastings. And the Glovers applauded. Much later it was said of him: "He is remembered. . . as one of five brethren who bore the financial expense incident to the removal of the denominational publishing from Rochester, New York, to Battle Creek in 1855."

So the folks in Michigan lifted mightily to establish Seventh-day Adventism when members and donors were sorely needed. And, providentially, Michigan people have been supporting the cause ever since. The Michigan Conference tallied 2,226 members in 1875; 6,454 in 1925; 12,522 in 1950; and 20,085 in 1975.

"How remarkable! What an amazing thing the Lord has done." (Matt. 21:42, The Living Bible)

Quiet Hour Outreach

by Alton D. Johnson
Quiet Hour Public Relations

Founded 39 years ago, the Quiet Hour international radio, television, and literature ministry now spreads the three angels' messages through about 350 radio stations, with the father and son broadcasting team, Pastor J. L. Tucker, founder and director, and L. E. Tucker, associate speaker.

This self-supporting gospel ministry also includes a Bible correspondence course, with 4,000 enrolled in 1974-75. And since 1970, $1 million has been donated to various mission projects—$400,000 just in 1975—thanks to the blessing of God and the generosity of friends of the Quiet Hour.

These projects include helping to provide 32 airplanes to speed the workers and the message in the Philippines, Borneo, Zaire (3), Tanzania (2), Botswana, Ethiopia, Canada, Central America, Peru (2), Amazon, Argentina, New Guinea (2), Solomon Islands, Mexico, etc.; and providing 57 jungle chapels at $1,000 each; about 80 evangelistic crusades in South and Central India at $300 each; 30 mission boats; 30 motorcycles, 75 bicycles, and $25,000 worth of jeeps for native evangelists; 2 tractors for mission school farms; several churches; and $30,000 worth of Bibles for Africa.

The Quiet Hour also spreads the gospel over eight television stations and the British Columbia TV network, through the SEARCH FOR TRUTH telecast, with L. E. Tucker as speaker. In 1975, Pastor and Mrs. L. E. Tucker produced a new series of 24 SEARCH TV programs in color. Some conferences assist with local TV programming expenses, but SEARCH has no denominationally funded budget, and is dependent on SEARCH and Quiet Hour listeners for support.

Also, last year Pastor Tucker, with his wife, Alma, conducted seven evangelistic crusades across North America, besides two camp meeting crusades. Many rededicated their lives to Christ and hundreds joined God's remnant church through the Lord's blessing on these crusades.

On January 21, 1976, Pastor and Mrs. L. E. Tucker began a ten-week extensive itinerary that could be called a "South Pacific Search for Souls."

At the request of the Far Eastern and Australasian divisions of Seventh-day Adventists, LaVerne and Alma will spend ten weeks ministering in Hong Kong, the Philippines, Thailand, Malaysia, Sarawak and Sabah, Borneo, Indonesian New Guinea (known as Irian Jaya), Papua New Guinea, and the Solomon Islands, before returning home around the first of April.

Another feature of the Quiet Hour is its literature ministry. One hundred twenty different gospel and inspirational books and booklets have been written by the Tuckers. Millions of these are distributed each year.

More than 100,000 letters were received in 1975 requesting these booklets, or requesting answers to Bible questions, or special prayer; or expressing thanks for the help and hope the writer had received from the Quiet Hour ministry. The prayer petitions are laid before the Lord at eight o'clock each morning during the staff worship service.

These thousands of letters are processed by the 23 full- and part-time staff members. Many other Quiet Hour functions could not be accomplished without the help of the 40 or 50 dedicated part-time volunteers.

The Quiet Hour literature ministry also includes a 16-page monthly journal—The Echoes. Each issue includes a sermon, mission project appeals, inspiring poetry, news, and special features. More than 100,000 are now printed each month.

We would like to send a complimentary copy of The Quiet Hour Echoes to every Review and Herald reader who writes The Quiet Hour (Box 792, Redlands, CA 92373) and mentions this offer.

"It was as a self-supporting missionary that the apostle Paul labored in spreading the knowledge of Christ throughout the world."—The Ministry of Healing, p. 154.

Pastor J. L. Tucker says, "I know that giving the gospel through the Quiet Hour is one of God's ordained means of quickly reaching the world with the three angels' messages. The joy that comes in the consciousness of being a voice of God, of seeing souls reborn, backsliders reclaimed, and saints more securely anchored, grows with every passing day."

The prayers of God's people everywhere are solicited that He will continue to bless this self-supporting ministry.

Hinsdale Junior Academy presents candlelight Christmas program.

HINSDALE ACADEMY MUSICAL GROUPS PERFORM

On Friday evening, December 12, the Hinsdale Junior Academy choirs and bands presented a candlelight Christmas program in the Hinsdale Church under the direction of H. Dean Boward.

The New Horizon Singers, the seven to ten grade choir, and the concert band presented several 18th century American songs. They also performed selected 17th and 18th century European songs, such as parts of the Messiah, The First Noel, and Silent Night.

The musical groups plan more performances for the new year. The New Horizon Singers formed this past October with students from grades nine and ten. This group will be presenting the entire church service at several area churches.

The music department also produced a Thanksgiving program which included grades one through six. This program was directed by Mrs. Mariellen Rieber. The group presented readings, instrumental solos and duets, a play, and choral singing.

ADVENTIST CHURCH GAINS A NEW MEMBER BECAUSE OF A DREAM

God moves in mysterious ways to lead people. Early in October of 1975, Mrs. Willie Fuller of Decatur, Illinois, planned a trip to California to visit a friend, Mrs. Dorothy Banks, who had previously lived in Decatur and had been a member of the Decatur SDA Church.

However, for some reason, Mrs. Fuller decided to postpone her trip to California. In a dream the Lord told her to go to California "now." In her dream she also saw a tent.

She then made preparation and left for California where she found her friend, Mrs. Banks, busily engaged in attending evangelistic meetings. Mrs. Fuller told her friend that the Lord had informed her of the tent meetings, and she attended the remaining two weeks of the meetings. She was baptized by Elder Alonzo Baker.

Thrilled with the way the Lord had led her, she then returned to Decatur. Since her baptism she has been witnessing to believers everywhere.

Pastor Dale comes from a 350-member congregation in Peoria. He says he enjoys conducting Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking and will be looking forward to leading out in this work in Downers Grove.

Dale received his B.A. degree in religion and theology in 1949 from Union College in Lincoln, Nebraska, and has also done postgraduate work at Union. He was ordained to the ministry in 1957 in Dallas, Texas, where he also served as a teacher.

After spending several years in Texas, Dale accepted a call to Malawi, Africa. He served in Africa from 1958 to 1963 as mission director and as president of the Tanzania Union.

Upon returning from mission service he held pastorates in Texas and Ann Arbor, Michigan, before coming to Peoria in 1971.

Pastor Dale and his wife, Marie, a certified teacher, were raised in Minnesota. They have one daughter, Jamie Jo, and a son, Charles.

DOWNERS GROVE CHIEFS HAVE A BUSY YEAR

The Downers Grove Chiefs have been active in club and community affairs due to the hard work and able leadership of Ben and Barbara Bender and their new assistant, Miss Carolyn Buck.

After the usual fall campouts and bike hikes, the 25 members collected 546 cans of food and other items, including some cash. Names of needy families were supplied by the county supervisor's office and food baskets were packed and distributed.

Besides participating in the church's birthday celebration, the Chiefs have been making gifts for their parents. During the Christmas season, the group took a walk in Chicago's Loop and enjoyed the holiday decorations.

Seeing the need for a larger budget to facilitate more club activities, the Chiefs have sponsored a film, "A Great Robbery," and two variety sales in December. These sales were advertised for the general public, and used furniture, appliances, tools, art work, crafts, and baked goods netted $125.

Concluding the year's activities was the distribution of 15 fruit and food boxes to needy families during the Christmas season.

PETERSON OPENS ANNEX

Increased enrollment and a building project necessitated the opening of the Peterson Annex in Detroit, Michigan. The main school, Peterson Academy, is located in Inkster, Michigan. The enrollment at the annex is more than 90 students.

The school board, chaired by Elder Eric S. Dilleat, and the Home and School Society, under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Wilkins, serve both the main school and the annex.

The Home and School Society is presently raising money for the building program. On the first Sunday of each month, Mrs. Wilkins and her assistants conduct a garage sale. A holiday fruit sale was held in November and December.

Any money that is raised is divided between the main school and the annex, according to the percentage of students each school has.

School leader of the Peterson Annex, Miss Juanita Sanford, emphasizes that the schools are not in competition with each other, but rather, work together as much as possible. Clubs contributing to the schools are: D'Accord Club, Friendship Circle, Circle de Bonte Club, and the Handy Ladies Club.

Parents of students have donated books for the growing library which is housed in the multi-purpose room. The multi-purpose room also serves as the choir, band, art, and storage room. A gymnasium with balcony and stage gets regular use. A hot lunch program is being planned.

Other teachers at the school are: Miss Zelda Seay and Mrs. Gloria Henry. They are fortunate to be assisted by three volunteer teachers aides: Mrs. Merle Phillpotts works with art classes; Mrs. Ethrena McChristian, music classes; and Mrs. Iris Allen, slow readers' program.

The Detroit area churches which have exhibited a spirit of cooperation in sponsoring these schools have reason to be proud. Always expanding, the Peterson School and Annex continually strive to offer their students Christian education at its best.

RICHARDS HOLDS WEEK OF PRAYER

Elder C. T. Richards, former pastor of the Trendley Avenue Church (now Reid Memorial), conducted a special week of prayer, December 6 to 13, entitled "Our Fitness for Heaven." At the end of the week of spiritual emphasis, four persons renewed their vows to Christ and three others committed their lives to the Lord. Elder Richards is chairman of the Department of Religion at Oakwood College.

FIVE-DAY PLAN TO STOP SMOKING HELD IN CHICAGO

A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was conducted November 17 to 20 and 23 at the Julia Gay Memorial Church, 1701 West Garfield Boulevard, Chicago.

The clinic was sponsored by the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, the Chicago Better Living Center, and the Englewood Urban Progress Center. Pastor Herman L. Davis and Walter C. Thompson, M.D., directed the clinic.

The missionary volunteer department of the Lake Region Conference had previously sent 200 letters to persons who had requested to be notified of the next clinic. These persons had registered at a booth sponsored by the MV department at the annual PUSH (People United to Save Humanity) Expo held in Chicago in September.

There were 22 registrants at the clinic. Three individuals gained the victory over the smoking habit. A follow-up program is planned for all registrants.

MIZPAH SCHOOL FOSTERS QUALITY EDUCATION

Recently the children of Mizpah School in Gary, Indiana, responded to a seemingly ordinary fire drill. However, they were surprised to see the fire engine from Fire House No. 4 on the playground.

The firemen demonstrated their water system, discussed the function of their clothing, and invited the children to get on the truck and in the accompanying ambulance unit for further explorations.

Mizpah believes in making education interesting. Even more important is its main goal of providing meaningful Christian education.

Mizpah Church has operated a school in Gary for some 31 years to accommodate those in pursuit of a Christian education. Here the hand and heart are trained by Christian teachers who themselves know and love God and demonstrate it.

The school has an enrollment of 130 students in grades K-8. There are five rooms, five teachers, a well-equipped school office, and a competent secretary.

Mrs. Carolyn Palmer assumed duties this year as principal. Other teachers are: Miss Rose Campbell, Mrs. Rose Dunson, Miss Sheila Gordon, and Miss Carmelita Richardson. Mrs. Christine Smith is the full-time secretary. A small library, which will be in operation shortly, is being set up by Mrs. Barbara Lewis.

Home and School meetings are held monthly under the direction of the leader, Mrs. Susie Shootes. The major fund raising drive, an annual Candlelight and Silver Banquet, was held November 23, 1975, at the Holiday Inn in Merrillville, Indiana. The featured speaker and honored guest was W. W. Fordham, director, Office of Regional Affairs, and coordinator of Inner City Services.

The school board chairman is Mrs. Sandra Turner. The church, school board, principal, and all supporting organizations are to be commended for their spirit of cooperation which has resulted in a well-organized and effective school program.

There are still more than 200 libraries that should be recipients of these books. Names of libraries in your area, and other information regarding the plan can be obtained from the conference Department of Communication. Any local church or individual church member can sponsor these sets.

The sets are being made available at a special price thanks to the cooperation of the Adventist Book Center and the conference administration. Both are subsidizing the $50 set to make it available at only $16.50 plus postage. All orders should be placed through the Adventist Book Center and marked "Bicentennial Gift Books for Public Libraries." Deadline for all such orders is June 30.

Two Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking are held each year by David Peshka, M.D., whose practice is in Niles, and Horace Shaw, a retired teacher from Andrews University. There was a good response at a recent session when Dr. Peshka asked for a show of hands by those who had kicked the habit.

HEARTBEAT SCREENING PROGRAM AT BATTLE CREEK

More than 300 persons participated in the first Heartbeat screening program sponsored by Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital.

Designed to detect key risk factors leading to coronary heart disease, Heartbeat combines a thorough personal history, blood tests for sugar and fat levels, and an individual coronary risk evaluation, with follow-up programs for persons in one or more of the problem categories.

Of the 308 persons enrolled in the program, 283 attended the group evaluation session, where the risk factors were outlined by Wayne Griffith, D.H.Sc., director of the department of preventive care.

Profiling the entire group, Dr. Griffith pointed out that 193 persons were referred to classes on dietary control of cholesterol, 193 for classes on physical fitness, 91 for classes on weight control, and 18 for a stop-smoking plan. Fourteen others were referred to their personal physicians for high blood pressure. In addition, the lab examinations included a glucose tolerance test to indicate whether persons are prone to diabetes or if, in fact, they already have incipient diabetes.

For four weeks beginning February 1, Dr. Griffith will conduct a physical fitness program. Persons needing this help are those not getting enough cardio-vascular exercise—at least 20 minutes of exercise a day, three days a week.

In addition to the Heartbeat screening, the department of preventive care recently sponsored six Sunday night programs on coronary heart disease prevention, with Steven G. Tarangle, M.D., and Dr. Griffith directing the series.

Appleton Church children sang to the residents of the Extended Care Center.

LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE

"This little light of mine, I'm going to let it shine," sang the kindergarten children of the Appleton Church to their friends of the Extended Care Center. And the light of their love touched the hearts of the residents of the rest home.

The children had with them a model of a heavenly mansion. They told the residents how they were planning to live in heaven and were hoping to be their neighbors there.

One lady said her roommate had recently lost her husband and spent most of her time thinking of her loss and sadness. Hoping to get her mind off her sorrow, she talked her despondent friend into coming to see the children from the church. At the conclusion of the program, the widow turned to her roommate and said, "Oh, I'm so glad I came."

It is wonderful to have the hope of the heavenly kingdom before us. To share this hope with sad, lonely people, helping them to realize God's love and salvation is a joy and a privilege. Each month the children and many adults of the Appleton Church visit the nursing home because they know that Jesus is using them to be a blessing to others.

RETURN PRAYERS TO SCHOOLS

Maine's Governor James Longley has announced he will support a bill restoring prayers to the public school system. "I feel strongly that freedom of religion is one of the most precious things offered by our constitution," Longley says. "I have felt and feel even more strongly now that taking the opportunity of prayer from our schools violates this guarantee of freedom of religion, and freedom of speech as well, instead of protecting a constitutional guarantee."

MINISTER SAYS CHRIST SUPPORTED CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

A Presbyterian minister and lawyer in Canada says Christ's death on the cross proves that He supported capital punishment. The Reverend Wallace Whyte of Melville Presbyterian Church, West Hill, Ontario, said the fact that Christ did nothing to release the two men crucified with Him further documents His position. Canada hasn't carried out an execution since 1962. It is currently in the middle of a second five-year moratorium on hanging.

GOVERNMENT WILL DETERMINE SCHOOLS' FATE, EDITOR SAYS

The survival of church-related colleges and universities is no longer within the power of the trustees of those schools, but depends on governmental policy. This according to Edward Fiske, education editor and former religion editor of the New York Times. Fiske stated that demographic studies show a decline in the 18-to-22 age bracket, and that good management alone cannot insure the future of private schools. Institutions hoping to exist through the 1980s should, according to Fiske, develop a strong sense of identity.

MAYOR WOULD FORCE SUNDAY CLOSING LAW

Mel Lastman, the Jewish mayor of North York in suburban Toronto, Canada, says the Ontario provincial government has an obligation to "keep the family together" and that large stores should close on Sundays for at least ten months a year. He claimed that if store workers had to work on Sundays during the school year, it might destroy the family unit because parents and children wouldn't have time to be together. The mayor said it doesn't bother him that Sunday was chosen for store closing, even though Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath. "I'm accustomed to it," he said. "Sunday is a day of rest."

UNITY EMERGES AS THEME OF WCC CONFERENCE

Ecumenism was the overriding theme of the Fifth Assembly of the World Council of Churches in Nairobi, Kenya, according to observers. The 18-day conference emphasized things held in common by the religious groups represented. At the end of the final service a single phrase was repeated over and over: "Break down the walls that separate us, unite us in one single body." The theme of the conference was "Jesus Christ Frees and Unites."

METHODIST, UNITED REFORMED CHURCHES COMPLETE MERGER

In one of the first mergers of its kind, the Methodist and United Reformed churches in Deal, England, have merged as Trinity Church. The merger culminated two years of prayer and planning. Members of two congregations signed a covenant acknowledging with gratitude their unity in Christ through the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Both ministers will stay for at least two or three years, sharing the ministry and pastoral care of Trinity Church.

COALITION PUSHES STUDY OF RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

Religion must be given full recognition in the academic curriculum of the public schools to preserve the integrity of public education. At least that's the opinion of James Wood, Jr., executive director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs in Washington, D.C. Wood pointed out that, although the Supreme Court ruled out religious exercises under the authority of school boards, it ruled in the study of religion in the curriculum of the public schools. The court has recognized that the public school is a place for learning, not for worship, Wood said.

POPE VOICES CONCERN FOR COLLABORATION

Pope Paul VI has expressed hope for growing collaboration between the Vatican and the World Council of Churches in a message read at the Fifth Assembly. Catholic-WCC cooperation already exists in the form of 16 observers named by a unit of the Vatican. In his message the Pope said, "We trust that the efforts which the Catholic Church has made . . . to promote the ecumenical movement . . . will continue and grow even greater with God's help."

"The American Heritage" is the topic of a Bicentennial lecture series being presented at Andrews by the Society of Andrews Scholars with Gerald Herdman, Ph.D., A.U. professor of history.

The series began in January with the topics, "When in the course of human events..." (The Declaration of Independence) and "Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom, and independence" (The Articles of Confederation).

Future presentations are:

Monday, February 2—One government or thirteen (Federalism and Its Problems)

States, in order to form a more perfect Union..." (The Constitution of the United States)

Monday, February 16—"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment" (The Bill of Rights)

Monday, February 23—The Father of his Country, George Washington, and the Establishment of the Federal Union

Monday, March 1—"We the people of the Confederate States..." (The Theory and Practice of Secession)

Monday, March 8—"The last best hope" (The Union Restored)

All lectures are held in the Lincoln Room of the A.U. cafeteria at 5:30 p.m.

Also with a Bicentennial theme was an all-day Honors Symposium entitled "America—England's Wayward Child," held January 21. The symposium featured guest speakers Donald McAdams of Southwestern Union College and Travis DuPriest and John Newschwander, both of Carthage College.

SEMINARIANS GET TRAINING IN AREA CHURCHES

Twenty-eight Seventh-day Adventist pastors from surrounding districts met last month with approximately 85 seminary students in the field practicum class taught by Steven Vitrano, Ph.D.

The meeting focused on a presentation by Elder Vitrano of the specific objectives he hopes the pastor-student teams will work on.

The following items were suggested: goals in preaching, the philosophy of worship, pastoral responsibility for visitation, involvement of church members, and counseling and youth programs.

All students working on the master of divinity degree are required to take field practicum for three consecutive quarters unless the students have previously been pastors for three years.

Each student is assigned a church and a pastor to work with. According to Elder Vitrano, chairman of the church and ministry department at the seminary, "Most of the men are in churches within a 50-mile radius, but a few go as far as Chicago, Lansing, and Detroit."

SM COLLEGE BOWL

The Student Movement (SM) in collaboration with the Educational Standards Committee (ESC) is launching a SM College Bowl by publishing coupons with up to six questions for eight consecutive weeks.

Participating students answer as many of the questions as they can, turn in the coupon at the hostess' desk in the Student Lounge before the next issue of the SM, and by so doing qualify for some interesting prizes at the end of the quarter.

Daryl Vorce, chairman of the ESC, said, "I was concerned about the role of the committee and the apparent inconsistencies of the traditional College Bowl with the philosophy of the university and of Christian education. My committee felt that the competitive nature of College Bowl was one such inconsistency.

"We wanted to involve more students in a type of intellectual sport. We have many physical sports, so why not have a program wherein every student may enjoy using what he has learned."
