Adventist Retirement Community in Indiana

Adventist Retirement Community of Evansville, Indiana, is a compact but active residential facility for senior citizens on the property of Bethel Sanitarium. Two-bedroom manors and one-bedroom apartments provide country-style living on the rolling hillside of this Adventist owned and operated facility. Expansion plans call for additional units as the need arises.

Evansville, a city of more than 150,000 residents, is a cultural, educational, and industrial metropolitan center of southwestern Indiana overlooking the Ohio River. Located on the northwest side of Evansville is Bethel Sanitarium, an A.S.I. 76-bed nursing care facility. The grounds contain 31 acres of rolling land and beautiful trees. Buildings include the main nursing care facility, an annex for ten additional residents of the nursing home, and eight homes for sanitarium workers and denominational employees. The area also contains gardens, fruit trees, and the Adventist Retirement Community. This Adventist center is made possible by the lifelong dedication of Mrs. Louise Kuiken, cofounder and present administrator of the institution.

The Adventist Retirement Community is located one and a half miles from the new Seventh-day Adventist Church and was constructed to provide an Adventist center for retirees in Indiana. Funds for construction came from the Bethel Sanitarium reserves and bequest monies, and was a combined project of the Bethel Sanitarium Board, the Adventist Laymen's Foundation, and the Indiana Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Future plans include expansion of Bethel Sanitarium, a craft-recreation building for the Retirement Community, and more housing facilities for future residents.

Thoughts on the Bicentennial, Part 2

Posterity! You will never know how much it cost the present generation, to preserve your Freedom! I hope you make a good use of it. If you do not, I shall repent in Heaven that ever I took half the pains to preserve it.

John Adams
2nd President of the United States
Philadelphia, 1777

It is almost impossible for us 200 years later to comprehend the tremendous peril faced by the men who signed their names to the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. What gave them and others in their fight for liberty their courage—their confidence? What enabled them to carry the battle for independence against overwhelming odds from 1775 to 1781—and to win?

The answer can be found in written and spoken utterances of the time. Men of valor were not afraid to declare their reliance on God openly and often, nor were they ashamed to give God credit for victories won in every phase of the struggle.

Consider for instance, Samuel Adams, great American patriot (1722-1803), one of the ablest leaders of the revolutionaries of Massachusetts: "There are instances of, I would say, an almost astonishing Providence in our favor; our success has staggered our enemies, and almost given faith to infidels so we may truly say it is not our own arm which has saved us."

Patrick Henry (1736-1799), governor of Virginia and one of the great orators of the Revolution: "Three millions of people, armed in the holy cause of liberty, and in such a country as that which we possess, are invincible by any force which our enemy can send against us. Besides, sir, we shall not fight our battles alone. There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations and who will raise up friends to fight our battles for us."

Faith in God was real 200 years ago. It was the conviction of the founding fathers and the frequent words of George Washington, that "to attempt government without God is impossible." That awareness and profound belief in God had sprung in great part from a religious revival—the Great Awakening of 1725-1750, in which men like Jonathan Edwards and George Whitefield had been used of God to alter the face of America. The message of inner freedom through Christ put transformed hearts into seeking a transformed society in which to live. A climate for independence was created as the people became convinced that the sovereignty of God gave them the ability and the capacity to govern themselves.

May we never forget our debt to the men and women who in being Committed to God and Country gave us a free nation.

Lonely Voices

by Winston Ferris

A beautiful Sabbath! One of those special Sabbath Schools! Doris and I sat together feeling very blessed. Earlier we had been greeted warmly by Christian friends when we had arrived at church, had joined in an enthusiastic song service, and had knelt in prayer with fellow Christians thanking God for His blessings and presence. The superintendent, well prepared, had shared an encouraging challenge for spiritual witnessing with us. The mission report was a thrilling story of God's providence and guidance in His world work. Now the clear young voice of the soloist was filling the sanctuary. I listened to the words: "Lonely voices fill my dreams... lonely faces... lonely people do I see... lonely people haunt my memory... lonely voices calling out to me."

As the words and melody took over my thinking, I began to hear voices and see faces. Lonely people, lonely voices belonging to Sabbath School and church members. I saw Mrs. Hanson. She had attended Sabbath School and church faithfully for 40 years. Now aged and unable to come, she sat at home day by day visited only by her children and an occasional representative from the Sabbath School Extension Division or from the pastor. I heard her voice telling us that it was good to study the lesson daily, but what she missed the most was Christian fellowship, warm contact with other Christians.

Winston Ferris has spent 23 years as a teacher and administrator in public and denominational schools. Currently he is working toward his doctorate in religious education at Andrews University.

Then I saw Billy Parker's face. Billy was going to college preparing for a life of medical service when a tragic accident left him paralyzed from the waist down. Now he lies bedfast. He, too, misses Christian fellowship. Right after the accident many visited him, but now other needs seem to call people, and visitors are few. There is Betty Parker, his mother. The constant care needed by Billy has kept her away from Sabbath School for many months. There is nothing wrong with her health, but her duties require her to miss Sabbath School and church fellowship.

The music continued and more faces floated before me. Tony Davis came to mind. Tony is a career army sergeant, but he is also a firm church member. Tony is based on an isolated army post with no other Adventists near. His letters show a warm faith, but they also echo with loneliness for fellowship with other Christians.

As the final notes of the solo faded, Doris and I looked at each other. You know how husbands and wives get the same ideas. We talked about it on the way home. Something had to be done about the missing people in our church and Sabbath School. Something had to be done about bringing Christian fellowship on a regular basis to those who would like to come to church but cannot. We felt that too long we had left this task up to the pastor and the Sabbath School Extension. But just what could be done? We would like to share briefly with you some of the answers we have found.

We found that many people would like to do something for these lonely people, but they just do not feel able. They feel that they are able to visit and talk and pray with these housebound Christians, but they do not feel able to sing, or teach the Sabbath School lesson, or present an organized program. What they needed was a tool.

So, over a two-year period Doris and I developed a cassette Sabbath School program. We tried several approaches and finally found one that seemed to work effectively. We call it "Sabbath School at Home."

The program consists of 13 complete 45-minute Sabbath School programs. Each program occupies one side of a C-90 cassette, making seven cassettes per quarter. Each Sabbath's program includes a personal welcome, a devotional challenge and prayer, a lively mission story report, a music selection from Chapel Records, the weekly lesson study for that Sabbath, a closing devotional promise, and a benediction.

On the 14th side we have placed 35 to 40 minutes of devotional reading from The Desire of Ages with a musical background.

At the request of the Union Sabbath School department, we have found a way to make these sets available to anyone who wishes to use them for the same purpose. With careful cutting of preparation expenses and equal attention to producing quality cassette recordings, we can provide the seven cassettes and a sharing manual in an attractive vinyl storage binder for $26 each quarter.

The lesson studies are arranged for general devotional use after the quarter is finished, and they can also be used for Branch Sabbath School work.

During the first quarter a number of sets were used in pilot programs in Lake Union churches and the reports are enthusiastic and encouraging. If you would like to use "Sabbath School at Home," just use the ordering information at the close of this article.

Yet, "Sabbath School at Home" is just a tool for contacting these lonely people. It is tool which must be used by people for people. Here are some other ways we are experimenting to bring fellowship to missing church members.

Each regular Sabbath School class can make several of these housebound members associate class members. Put their names on the class roster. Find a way that class members can regularly contact and encourage the housebound. Set up class secret pal clubs, send cards, make telephone calls, write letters, visit. Make tape recordings of these housebound members sending greetings to the Sabbath School. Play the recordings in class or for the whole Sabbath School. Make some recorded greetings at Sabbath School and take them to the housebound.

When you discover a need or special time of spiritual discouragement, let the pastor know. He can help if he knows the need. Collect a lending library of interesting books and circulate them among the housebound. Remember that many of these people do not have or cannot afford all the church papers. Be sure that they have copies of our magazines. If they cannot read them, take time to read to them. Here is where our young people can learn the joy of Christian sharing. Let them do the reading. Find out needs for transportation and find someone to supply it. With the aged, many do not know the public services available to them for medical, legal, financial, and other help they may need. Find out what these services are and put the housebound members in contact with them.

Once you get started you will find many ways of extending Sabbath School and church fellowship to these people who would sit with you in Christian fellowship but cannot. It is worth trying! When you find a new way to reach these lonely people, let us know through writing "Sabbath School at Home" at the Lake Union Herald or Lake Union Sabbath School Department. When we get more ideas we will try to share them with you.

Listen! Can you hear the words? "Lonely voices, lonely people calling out to me!" They are calling to you—to every Christian who will listen and share God's blessings. Together, let us start a new day of fellowship with each other and with all the lonely people missing from Sabbath School and church.

discussion sessions on immigrant life were led by Professor Robert M. Johnston of Andrews University.

Professor Johnston has served as a missionary in Korea for 11 years (1958-1968) and is now teaching at Andrews University in the systematic theology department. He spoke Korean during the meetings. He spoke on American idol worship, materialism and pleasure seeking, contrasting the immigrant's life with ancient Israel's experiences in Canaan. He warned of the danger of material prosperity without spiritual renewal.

Recently four dedicated Christian young men were ordained as church elders. Chai Chan Lee serves as head elder. The elders' committee has been held every week because the men realize their great tasks and the urgent needs of the church. They have examined all aspects of church life and have set church goals for 1976:

1. To promote spiritual renewal by devising several evangelical programs.
2. To rebuild children's educational program.

Project: Steps to Christ

To present to every home in Illinois the Gospel of Jesus Christ along with an opportunity for adults, youth, and juniors to study the Scriptures and become acquainted with the Adventist health message.

The Gospel presentation has been made to 46,133 homes to date. Free books requested and delivered: 70

Christ's Object Lessons, 54 Ministry of Healing, and 66 Great Controversy. A total of 272 persons are taking Bible studies, and 30 are enrolled in the V.O.P. nutrition course.

The Korean Church has a bright expectation of progress in 1976 under the strong leadership of the five church elders.

LITTLE GRASSY AVAILABLE TO ALL—ANYTIME

Little Grassy Lake Camp may now be considered more than a youth camp. It is also a conference center to be used by all members.

Beginning this fall, churches, schools, and other organizations are invited to use the camp facilities for conferences, retreats, outdoor educational classes, and recreation. We wish to particularly invite our church schools to make provision in their educational programs to spend a week at Little Grassy for their outdoor educational objectives. The camp will be ready to be used on a year-round basis beginning in September. Any church or SDA organization wishing to use the camp facilities may inquire at the youth department for additional information.

Ten new cabins have now been completed, five in the Girls' Village and five in the Boys' Village. These cabins are designed to serve a dual purpose. When used for youth camping, there will be one large room containing two closets and nine bunk beds. During family camp and camp meeting, provision has been made for a sliding partition which can be locked, dividing the cabin into two rooms. There are two separate entrances. The new cabins have electricity and heat, also.

Most of the funds which have made the transformation of Little Grassy have come from sources outside of the constituency. We are most thankful that these funds have been provided. Once each year provision has been made for the entire membership to have a part in a special offering for Little Grassy Lake Camp improvements. Five thousand dollars is needed urgently. Since this appeal is made only once a year, your support is extremely important. Please give liberally on May 29. If you are not prepared at this time to make your contribution, you may still do so any time in the future. Just mark your tithe envelope "Little Grassy."

IF WE NEGLECT

"How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation?" is the probing question which the Apostle Paul addresses to the Hebrews (Heb. 2:3). Neglecting is not rejecting, but often it brings the same result.

Camp meeting offers an opportunity, which if lightly regarded or neglected, results in decline of spirituality.

In Indiana, our camp meeting theme this year is, "We Still Believe." In a world that has rejected the Bible as the infallible guide to happiness and salvation, we still believe! In a nation that has drifted far from the foundations upon which it was built 200 years ago by its God-fearing, Bible-believing men, we still believe! In a movement that was raised up by God to prepare the way for the second coming of Jesus and that needs to shake off the lethargy of Laodicea, we still believe!

We still believe in the spiritual benefits of camp meeting. We want to encourage families to take a portion of their vacation for this great annual religious convocation. It is a time of fellowship, inspiration, study, and commitment for the Adventist family in Indiana. "We sustain a loss when we neglect the privilege of associating together to strengthen and encourage one another in the service of God."—Patriarchs and Prophets, page 541.

We still believe in public evangelism and that the gospel commission includes Indiana along with the rest of the world. Don't miss the reports of experiences from the field and of evangelism commitments from the churches. People are still being won through evangelistic activities. Elder H. M. S. Richards, Sr., Elder J. R. Spangler, Elder Mervyn Maxwell, and others will bring soul-stirring sermons to us at camp meeting this year.

In a society that has largely rejected the supernatural element in the origin of the human family and has turned to the theories of evolution, we still believe in the creation as recorded in the book of Genesis. Dr. Robert Brown of the Geo-Science Institute will bring a series of messages on the relationship between science and scripture at the 1976 Indiana camp meeting.

We still believe in the Ten Commandments as the guide to happiness for human beings. Elder Carl Coffman of Andrews University will lead us in a study of the relationship between law and grace.

We still believe in the health message as the right arm of the gospel. To help us benefit from the marvelous light which we have on this subject, we shall be privileged to have Dr. and Mrs. Patt with us at our encampment.

Would it not be wise, dear reader, for you to determine by God's grace to give proper priority to the spiritual and eternal interests of you and your family by planning to join with your brethren and sisters from every part of Indiana in affirming what "we still believe."

CAPITOL AVENUE STRESSES COMMUNITY HEALTH

Mark May, temperance leader for the Capitol Avenue Church in Indianapolis, has launched an energetic program of health and temperance for the church and the community. This includes education, prevention, and various examinations. He recently secured the services of county health officials to conduct a clinic in the basement of the church for blood pressure tests, sickle cell anemia tests, and a health education class. Elder R. P. Stafford, pastor, is committed to saving the whole person—physically, mentally, and spiritually.

PRIMARY GRADES VISIT AIRPORT

Buckled safely in their seats, the kindergarten, first, and second graders of the Capitol Avenue School in Indianapolis were briefed by the Ambassador stewardess on airplane equipment and flying safety.

The children toured the cockpit as well as the interior of an Ambassador 720 jet. Afterwards they walked through the airline terminal at Weir Cook Airport in Indianapolis. Stepping through the security check, the children began to feel like real passengers, and they squealed with delight to see airplanes taking off.

We hope that our children will recognize that they, too, can aspire to become pilots. Who knows, maybe some missionary flyers will be born of this group of students!

CHURCHES CONDUCT MISSION '76

The month of March was designated for Mission '76 meetings in several churches in our conference.

In February the Independence Boulevard Church voted to conduct a laymen's revival in lieu of their spring Mission '76 project. James Payne, a deacon in the church, was selected to present the message for a two-week series held March 14 to 27. The laymen conducted the entire series.

On Sabbath, March 27, Pastor H. L. Davis, assisted by Payne, baptized eight persons who had concluded the necessary studies and attended the series of meetings. Four other persons came forward during the final appeal and are presently in a study class for baptism. The Lord manifested Himself through the laymen of the Independence Boulevard Church.

Elder R. C. Brown, conference secretary, concluded a two-week evangelistic campaign held March 13 to 28 at the Philadelphia Church in Niles, Michigan.

The power-packed messages testified of the presence of the Spirit as 16 persons united with the church by baptism. Shirley Daniels and Eleanor Smith were the Bible instructors. Elder Robert L. Douglas is the pastor.

Elder J. R. Wagner, conference president, conducted a two-week series of meetings in South Bend, Indiana. Assisting him were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Logan who served as Bible workers and provided the music each evening. At the end of the meetings, 12 persons were added to the church through baptism.

Other churches holding meetings were Straford Memorial and Sharon Inkster. The speakers for Straford were local elders Clyde Lee and Charles Glanton. Elder George Bryant, who pastors the Essex-London district, was the guest speaker for the meetings at Sharon. Elder E. S. Dillett is the pastor.

KELLY GIVES CONCERT IN BENTON HARBOR

Elder T. M. Kelly from Detroit and the a cappella chorale from Andrews University presented a concert at the Benton Harbor High School. The purpose of the concert was to raise money for the church building fund. Mrs. Edward Goodman, chairman of the building committee, states that during the first quarter of this year, a total of $6,099.80 has been raised.

HELP NEEDED TO OPEN LOCAL JAIL TO MESSAGE

The jail band at Detroit's Burns Avenue Church is making efforts to share the Advent message in the city's Wayne County Jail and invites concerned individuals to help in a letter-writing campaign.

"So far the jail administration has not seen fit to let us have Sabbath services at the jail," said Curtis Ollis, whose literature distribution jaunt to the jail first spotlighted the needs there.

"Only I am allowed in, as yet, to give Bible studies. Sometimes I'm in the inmates' cells one, two, or three days a week. Yet, others are also willing to conduct studies, Sabbath School, Sabbath worship services, and even be pen pals," explained Ollis. "All members can help by just writing the jail. Prayers for us are even more important."

FLINT CHURCH PLANS A BICENTENNIAL JOURNEY

The youth department of the North Street Church in Flint, Michigan, presented "A Bicentennial Black History Celebration" on February 28.

The program consisted of spiritual songs and dramatic readings that dealt with the origin of black people.

During the program there were presentations made to various young people who had received donations on their patrons list for a trip the MV society is sponsoring to Washington, D.C., in July. The young people that participated raised approximately $1,200.

Anthony Winston, who held first place with a total of $236, will go to Washington with all expenses paid. Angelita Crawford, second place, and Anita Jo Blackwell and Leon Mitchell, who tied for third place, will pay only $10 on the trip for their expenses.

The other young people who raised $50 or more will pay $16 for their expenses. These young people made it possible for anyone to go on the trip and enjoy the many scenes of Washington, D.C.

The trip to Washington is scheduled for July 11 to 15 and is open to the entire church. Bus fare, lodging, and meals for an adult are $25; for a child 12 years and under, it will cost $23.

The entire church is proud of their young people for working so hard in helping to get the trip to Washington off to a good start.

After the program refreshments were prepared and served in the lower auditorium of the church.

PETERSON SCHOOL HOLDS EDUCATION RALLY

Approximately 2,000 people met in the newly constructed gym of the Frank L. Peterson School for its education rally in February. Principal Nathaniel Higgs was the chairman of the meeting.

Elder R. D. Barnes, educational superintendent, expressed appreciation to the members and pastors for the splendid moral and financial support they have given through the years.

Lake Union President L. L. Bock encouraged the listeners to continue their efforts in fostering quality Christian education.

At the conclusion of the rally, $18,000 was received in cash and pledges toward the completion of the school building program.

Pray that the Lord will continue to bless the educational work in the Detroit area.

NEWS NOTES

- At their April meeting, the Auxiliary of Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital presented nearly $3,000 to Vernon L. Small, administrator. Part of the funds are to furnish religious pictures in the third and fourth floor lounges of the hospital building. The remainder of the money will be used to furnish the patients' and visitors' lounges on the new fourth floor and to purchase a special chair to be used during eye surgery.

- A six-night series of vegetarian cooking classes at the First Flint Church recently concluded was recorded as "successful." The Monday night classes were well attended, with nearly 100 there some evenings. A number of nonchurch members attended and expressed their appreciation for the help received.

- Lucinda Hill, daughter of Elder and Mrs. Glenn Hill of the Urbandale Church, will leave for Indonesia in June where she will serve for a year as a student missionary. The Urbandale Church has another student missionary currently overseas. Susan Snelling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Snelling, will return home this summer after a year of service at the Adventist College of West Africa located in Nigeria.

- Pastor Ron Ruskjer of the East Lansing University Church was a guest speaker at a "Food Day" observance workshop at Michigan State University. His talk, entitled "Why Vegetarianism?" was reported in the Lansing State Journal under the headline "Vegetarianism Sensible."

- The Troy Church is conducting a successful lending library which includes the loan of literature, records, cassettes, and weekly periodicals.

- Urbandale Adventists are renting their church to an area Trinity Reformed congregation. One result of this arrangement was a recent 2½-hour presentation to a youth class to explain the beliefs of Adventism. Elder Glenn Hill, local pastor, reports that the group had a keen interest in the Word of God and raised many questions about the differences between the two denominations.

- The Community Services Center of Chesaning presented $75 to assist the area Saginaw Valley ambulance service to obtain specialized equipment for transporting ill or injured persons.

- Three Battle Creek Academy students won Certificates of Outstanding Performance in the recent Annual Piano Festival sponsored by the Battle Creek Public Schools and the Battle Creek Area Music Teachers Association. About 140 students played in the festival held in the W. K. Kellogg Auditorium. Jack Minear, Donn LaTour, and Bradley Sheppard were among the 23 students cited for their excellence.

- The Battle Creek Tabernacle Singers presented a concert Sunday afternoon, April 25, to highlight the opening on the Michigan Mall of a Bicentennial exhibit of religious art.

- "Fun With Food," a series of four classes on the art of vegetarian cooking, was presented during April at the Oakwood Church. Conducting the free public programs was Patti Harrison, wife of the local pastor.

- A booklet published about the religious heritage of Battle Creek based on area churches includes the Tabernacle and the Adventist church at Urbandale. A few of the booklets are available at $1 each through Elder Glenn Hill, pastor of the Urbandale Church, 20440 N. Bedford Road, Battle Creek, MI 49017.

- The Lake City Church is currently undergoing a beautification program. New carpeting and upholstered pews have been ordered and new window drapes and a large nature scene behind the pulpit are also being installed. As an extension of this Bicentennial improvement program the church is planning on remodeling the entrance to the church and the basement at a later date.

- The Big Rapids Church is the latest of a growing number whose presentation of the Bicentennial set of books to the library has been featured in the local paper. A four-column wide picture of Elder Roscoe Nelson, Lavern Brandt, church Bicentennial coordinator, and the librarian examining the ten-book set was used by the Big Rapids Pioneer in reporting the story.

- The Faith for Today telecast is back in the Detroit area but this time on a public service basis. WXYZ, Channel 7, which carried the program for many years on a paid basis has scheduled the telecast each Sunday at 7:30 a.m.

- Channel 41 in Battle Creek recently filmed two "sign-off" devotional messages by Elder Glenn Hill of the Urbandale Church. He used the 90-second spots to share brief concepts of the sanctuary and the three angels' messages. The latter incorporated slides of the three angels which form the background of the church's baptism.

- New Adelphian Academy alumni officers for the coming year were elected at the recent homecoming weekend. They are Wyman Wager, president, '41; Harold Lutz, vice president, '41; Lois Clevenger-Powers, secretary-treasurer, '56; Evelyn Bigford-Lutz, publicity secretary, '61; and Arla Otto-Perry, food coordinator, '46. Wager is from Grand Ledge, Powers from Charlotte, and the others from Holly.

- Following the second of two recently conducted Five-day Plans to Stop Smoking at the First Flint Church, Elder E. D. Calkins, local pastor, used as his topic for the Sabbath morning sermon "My Neighbor's Garbage Bag." During the sermon he produced a plastic bag containing 555 empty cigarette packs which were given to him and Harley Anderson, M.D., at the conclusion of the last smoking cessation clinic. They were a gift of a young man and represented 11,100 cigarettes or an average of 30.4 per day which he had smoked in the past year. At 60 cents a package this amounted to $333 a year.

FOREVER YOURS TO GIVE CONCERT

Forever Yours, Joanne Butler, left, Nancy Mauro, and Martin Butler, will appear in concert at the Berrien Springs SDA Church, Sabbath evening, May 29, at 8 p.m. Following the program the group will be guests of the Adventist Book Center for a special Chapel Records promotion.

EVANGELISTIC CRUSADES PLANNED THROUGHOUT THE STATE

A Voice of Prophecy Crusade featuring Elder Joe Melashenko opened May 1 in the Tibbits Opera House in Coldwater. During the opening meeting the mayor of the city welcomed the evangelist and introduced him to the audience.

The crusade meetings are being held Wednesday through Sunday evenings each week and will continue through the month until Saturday evening May 29.

In preparation for these meetings Elder Ben Boggess, local pastor, reports that "more than 120 non-Adventists are taking Bible lessons through laymen."

Elder John Loor, ministerial director for the conference, reports that at least 60 evangelistic campaigns have been slated for 1976.

Loor reported that in Plymouth, Elders Bob Collar and Bob Wiese had a recent series with 13 people making the decision to follow Christ. In Holly, Elders William Dennis and Earl Zager joined with Arnold Kraner in a series in which 20 people joined the church.

Elder Kraner is also scheduled for meetings in Lapeer with Jerry Johns, May 1 to June 5, while Elder Collar is involved in a series with Richard Broome in Adrian, May 2 to 29. Elder Loor is working with Jason Prest in Cheboygan. This series began April 24 and ended May 16.

Other meetings either in process or scheduled for an early date are: Stuart Snyder and John Sisk, April 23 to May 15, Bangor; Carl Coffman and George Renton, May 8 to 22, Buchanan; Lyle Chamberlain, May 9 to 23, Houghton Lake; and Olav Labianca and Stuart Harrison, May 8 to June 5, Algonac.

V.O.P. TEAM COMING TO U.P. CAMP MEETING

For the first time in many years a team from the Voice of Prophecy will be featured at the Upper Peninsula camp meeting, June 11 to 13, at Escanaba.

Special guest speaker will be Elder Norman Matiko, director of field services for the Voice of Prophecy. The musical part of this team will be Brad and Olive Braley for many years part of the broadcast personnel. Although retired, the Braleys are still featured as organ and piano artists at numerous Voice of Prophecy and other church meetings.

Another highlight of the weekend services will be the opening of Escanaba's new Community Services Center. These special services are slated for Sunday afternoon and will include a special open house for the general public.

Other weekend events include the presentation of the Sabbath School lesson by Elder Don Copsey of the Lake Union Conference, a baptism on Sabbath afternoon, a special Bicentennial slide program by Andrews University on Sabbath evening, and witnessing programs for both youth and adults.

BAPTISM IN ESCANABA

Flowers and corsages were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Link at a special service, March 20, in the Escanaba Church. The children of the couple, who live hundreds of miles from Escanaba, sent a basket of flowers for the church plus a corsage and a boutonniere for their parents as a token of love at the baptismal services of Mr. Link. Elder Paul Howell used the occasion to stress how God still reaches across the miles to show His love to each individual. The congregation renewed their own vows of dedication and two people indicated their desire to be baptized at the earliest possible date. Elder Howell, center, is shown with the Links and local elder Joseph Hainult and his wife.

REUNION FOR COUPLES PLANNED

A reunion is being planned for Lansing area couples who attended the two recently held seminars conducted by Ronald Spalding, M.D., and his wife, Helen.

This special meeting is scheduled for Sabbath, June 12, with a dinner planned and a discussion following in Lansing's new Community Services Center.

During the two weekend seminars held last fall and this spring, participants benefited from the review of principles of a happy Christian home, from being encouraged to take the time to relax long enough to be thankful for the fine qualities of one's own marriage partner, and from the strong friendship and communication with all the members of the group.

Dr. Spalding inherited much of his interest and competency in helping people value their Christian homes from his father, the late A. W. Spalding, an ordained minister-teacher-author. The physician and his wife have spent the years of their marriage living and sharing the values they now teach. Since retiring from his normal medical practice, Dr. Spalding and his wife have been willing to give this added ministry to enrich and encourage Christian homes and marriages.

Pastor Phil Hopkins congratulates Dan Ojala and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Popke, who made all the arrangements for the plan.

to be used at this Five-Day Plan.

At registration time in the Ewen High School, 15 persons registered. They were present every evening and all 15 had quit smoking by the fifth night.

Pastors Jablonski and Hopkins are finding that where cooperation from interested groups in the community can be arranged, the individuals involved are happy to assist in the needed preparations. This relieves a lot of the work for the pastors especially where long distances are involved.

Jablonski and Hopkins "thank the Lord for the interest" which is being aroused in this therapy. They are finding that this program is giving Adventists a good image at the western end of the Upper Peninsula.

Fifteen persons came to the opening night of the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking held in the science room of Ewen High School.

5-DAY PLAN TO STOP SMOKING HELD IN EWEN

Another successful Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was held in the Upper Peninsula, February 15 to 19, at Ewen, Michigan. Pastors Jerry Jablonski of Houghton and Phil Hopkins of Ironwood combined their efforts in their small community 50 miles east of Ironwood on M-28.

The plan came about by invitation of the American Cancer Society, Ontonagon County Chapter, the Ottawa Lions Club of Bruce Crossing and Ewen, and the Ewen-Trout Creek School District.

After a smoking cessation clinic last fall in the city of Ontonagon, Mrs. Paul Popke, county chairman of the American Cancer Society, extended an invitation for another clinic to be held in the Bruce Crossing-Ewen area. Her husband, secretary of the Ottawa Lions Club of both Bruce Crossing and Ewen, was willing to sponsor the plan, arranging for time on the radio, and space in the local newspaper and shopping guide.

Dan Ojala, community activities chairman for the Ewen-Trout Creek School District, wrote news articles and had his high school youth make posters for businesses throughout the area.

Pastor Jablonski and his wife, Cindy, made a large sign

SUPERIOR RATING

Grace Davis, assistant director of the South Haven Community Services Center, shows the superior rating given the Center after its official inspection in February. Elder W. M. Buckman, conference Community Services director, assisted by a State federation officer, and officers of area federations, is currently involved in the annual inspection tour of the 61 centers in the conference.

The Wisconsin Academy Madrigals performed for the Clear Lake Church.

CLEAR LAKE HOSTS W.A. MADRIGALS

On February 7, the Clear Lake Church enjoyed the testimony in song of the Wisconsin Academy Madrigals.

The Madrigals presented a worship service of music. Some of the favorite songs were "His Name is Wonderful" and "There's Something About that Name."

The spoken word was presented by Dennis Thompson. The Madrigals closed the service with the song "Father Lead Me Day by Day."

The people of the Clear Lake Church were blessed by this group which is directed by Louise Larmon and accompanied by Gary Klemp.

Lunch was provided at a fellowship dinner. The members providing food were greeted with a musical note of appreciation as the Madrigals left.

NEW VICE PRESIDENT NAMED FOR MID-AMERICAN

Gary C. Whitworth, 29, has been named vice president of operations for Mid-American Health Services, Inc.

His duties will relate specifically to working with administrators in the eight Mid-American nursing homes on a day-to-day basis.

For the last three years, Whitworth was administrator at Valley Grande Manor Nursing Center, Weslaco, Texas.

He also was on the board of directors for several health care facilities in Texas. Prior to his work at Valley Grande, he was an administrative assistant for four years at Memorial Hospital, Beeville, Texas. As administrative assistant, Whitworth was patient business manager, business office manager, personnel manager, and public relations officer.

A 1969 graduate of East Texas State University with a bachelor's degree in business administration, Whitworth is working on a master's degree in the same field. He also attended Southwestern Union College and Southern Missionary College.

He and his wife, Patricia, have two children, Travis, 4, and Beth, 2. Patricia is a graduate of Southern Missionary College.

Whitworth is a member of numerous organizations including the American Association of Homes for the Aging, the American Management Association, and the Hospital Financial Management Association. He has had articles published in Hospital Financial Management and Review and Herald magazines.

GUEST SPEAKER AT EAU CLAIRE

The Eau Claire Church was honored with a special guest speaker for their worship service on February 28. Elder A. W. Bauer, lay activities director for the Lake Union Conference, spoke on the great commission to witness to others about Jesus.

This theme was to tie in with the witnessing training that the Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls churches have been receiving at their Wednesday night prayer meetings each week. So far there are 20 members involved in the program and this figure is increasing as they prepare for a future crusade.

The members gathered after church and enjoyed a fellowship dinner. After the dishes were all cleared away, the film "It's a Great Family" was shown. The members spent the rest of the afternoon visiting with people in the community.

LLOYD VISITS A.U.

Ernest Lloyd, one of A.U.'s oldest living alumni, was present on campus the first weekend of May for the homecoming celebrations. Lloyd, retired former editor of Our Little Friend, assisted J. A. Burden in founding the first sanitarium in Glendale and also assisted in building the Loma Linda Sanitarium in 1906. With his wife, he organized three churches in Los Angeles between 1911 and 1917. In 1917 he began extensive work in literature evangelism as field secretary for the Pacific Press. Now in his 97th year he says, "I am not fully retired yet." He is active in gathering historical material for his alma mater.

BARBARA SPENCER BENTGTON SPEAKS AT COURTHOUSE CEREMONY

Barbara Spencer Bengtson

Barbara Spencer Bengtson, A.U. alumna and executive secretary to U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin, was speaker at the homecoming program held at the Berrien Springs restored county courthouse. Speaking on "The Future of America as It Looks from Capitol Hill" she said:

"Something is happening to America—something that has never happened before; something that may change our country's government and society beyond recognition and accomplish what no enemy nation, no army, no domestic tyrant or subversive ever managed to do; eradicate the freedom and liberty of American citizens. . . ."

"The very wealth of our land made government control—whether of our property, our work, or our thoughts—absurd. But now that scarcity may become a way of life, we had better try to discover, and quickly, how our ideas about freedom can survive in a less plentiful, less bountiful country. The alternative to learning how to keep our freedom will be the loss of that freedom. . . ."

WOMEN'S CLUB SPONSORS HOBBY SHOW

More than 300 persons attended the hobby show sponsored at Andrews University by the Campus and Community Women's Club, March 14. Mrs. Judy Cowdon stands by her collection of antique cameras. The large camera just in front of her bears an 1897 patent date. She bought the camera for 50 cents in an antique store. It still works, but no one makes film that fits the camera anymore.
