Two More Stations Carry V.O.P. in Lake Union

The Voice of Prophecy daily broadcast is being heard in the Lake Union on two more 50,000-watt stations, beginning February 1.

WHAS, Louisville, Kentucky, 840 on the dial, will air the programs Monday through Friday at 11:30 P.M. (E.S.T.). During the night hours, the station's signal covers all of the eastern United States except Maine, New Hampshire, and southern Florida.

WWL, New Orleans, 870 on the dial, will carry the V.O.P. programs at 8 P.M. (C.S.T.). Its coverage area includes Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and southern Michigan, as well as some 25 other states.

These two stations are among five 50,000-watt outlets being added to the V.O.P. nightly network of 15 powerful outlets that blanket the U.S. and much of Canada between 8 P.M. and midnight. The other new ones are KSL in Salt Lake City; KOA in Denver, and CFCW in Camrose, Alberta.

None of these five stations had previously had time for sale to the Voice of Prophecy, but when another major broadcaster announced a change in program format, all suddenly became available.

"We do not have on hand the thousands of dollars that time on these five stations will cost during 1977," commented Daniel Guild, manager of the Voice of Prophecy. He explained that once the time became available, an immediate decision was required. Otherwise, it would very likely have been necessary to wait several years before some of these stations again offered the V.O.P. a good time slot.

"We have moved ahead in faith to purchase time on WHAS, WWL, and the other three 50,000-watt stations," he continued. "We know our fellow church members throughout North America would want us to do this. We believe that when our supporters hear about this unprecedented opportunity, sufficient funds will come into the V.O.P. Readiness Fund to cover the cost of the new stations."

The Readiness Fund was established a few years ago to make possible the purchase of time on new stations until they become self-supporting through gifts from listeners.

Pastor Guild noted that friends of the broadcast are encouraged to join V.O.P. staff members in praying that the way will be opened for many more stations to be added to the list of those carrying the daily programs.

Besides WHAS and WWL, stations in the V.O.P. nightly network already covering part or all of the Lake Union are: WOR, New York, 710 on the dial, 11:15 P.M.; WWWE, Cleveland, 1100 on the dial, 11:45 P.M.; WRVA, Richmond, 1140 on the dial, 10:15 P.M.; and WWVA, Wheeling, 1170 on the dial, 8:15 P.M. All times listed are Eastern Standard Time.

COVER

Some of the highlights of Indiana Conference's last triennium are pictured on the cover this week: From top, It Is Written was introduced into three areas of the state; the new conference office was built in Carmel; a new cafeteria building was constructed at Indiana Academy in Cicero; and the Steps to Christ witnessing program has raised new churches and congregations.

A century ago those Americans who thought about getting a college education lauded those who “worked their way through.” To do so was patriotic, instructional, healthful, character inducing. Most S.D.A.’s identified with the idea.

Few who attended Battle Creek College in 1879 labored more strenuously to get an education “on his own” than Henry Philip Holser, 22, a farm lad from Pontiac, Michigan.

January opened with Henry enrolled in three college courses, and skillful enough to fill a position as bathman in the hydro room at the sanitarium. He roomed on third floor under the skylight. Being a devout, responsible youth he acted also as assistant secretary of the Tabernacle Sabbath School, headed the Sanitarium Sabbath School, chaired the Bible Lyceum (a pre-ministerial club). The energy drain was heavy, worsened by the belief that a spare, judicious diet was good for him.

To be sure he flew from job to job Holser made out a strict “daily program,” especially when for a time he took on nightwatch duties, half nights. This meant that on three floors he answered all calls, filled the water pitchers, built fires. He must have swirled around the sanitarium, across Washington Street to the college, and down a block to the Tabernacle, like a dancing dervish.

On April 6 he confided to his diary: “Woke up “about half sick,” “runnin up and down stairs late at night has caused rheumatism to attack me slightly.” On the 7th he admitted: “My ankles were so lame that I could scarcely walk. Was in bed all day.” The night of the 8th: “The pain in my limbs kept me awake a good portion of the time. My right foot was the most painful until evening, when it went to my left knee. Took fomentations.” On the 9th: It was still “difficult to get about. [But] Was up all day. Took fomentations.” By the 15th he was nearly normal: “My limb is getting much better.”

The bout with rheumatism led Henry to exercise more, so he often walked around the race track on the old fairgrounds or farther afield—all the while studying or practicing elocution. At other times he exercised with dumbbells. During July, however, the school boy was at home or with area farmers, working in the harvest, cradling grain, raking, and pitching bundles. On rainy days he canvassed for Good Health magazine.

When college opened in August, Henry took his usual three courses and shorthand, and began almost at once to work as secretary to President Brownsberger. However, he needed to stretch his cash even more, so on October 15 he decided to board himself, which meant buying a double boiler in which to simmer oatmeal or cornmeal. By November he was eating only graham crackers, pudding, bread, rice, squash, and apples. In mid-December he rented a cheaper room at the Eccles’ residence.

On December 6 James White preached in the Tabernacle on “economy” and gave Henry an idea. Anyhow on the 22nd he began to work for Elder White at his place, building fires at 5 A.M. or earlier, and doing secretarial work during Christmas recess. But what of the next term? White told him to keep right on the job and all would come out right. What a happy day!

Might there be a future for him? Well, getting acquainted with Dr. Kellogg and James White might help with that. Courting Elenor Steward might too though unrealistically he informed his diary: “Have determined to stay single”!

“A man’s wisdom maketh his face to shine, and the hardness of his face is changed” (Eccl. 8:1, American Revised Version).

"O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain; O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift up thy voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!" Isaiah 40:9.

"The church of Christ is God's agency for the proclamation of truth; she is empowered by Him to do a special work; and if she is loyal to God, obedient to His commandments, there will dwell within her the excellence of divine power. If she will honor the Lord God of Israel, there is no power that can stand against her. If she will be true to her allegiance, the forces of the enemy will be no more able to overpower her than is the chaff to resist the whirlwind.

"There is before the church the dawn of a bright, glorious day, if she will put on the robe of Christ's righteousness, withdrawing from all allegiance to the world."—Testimonies, vol. 8, p. 11.

With these inspired words of challenge and encouragement, let us examine briefly the evidence of God's blessings experienced by the constituency of the Indiana Conference during these last three years.

What a privilege to be a part of a movement that was conceived in the mind of the Creator of the universe and is backed by all the resources of heaven. Foretold by the prophets, brought forth into the modern world by the hand of God, shaped by divinely regulated adversity, blessed with the gifts of the Spirit and destined to glorious triumph, the three angels' messages move inexorably to their climax—the second appearance of our Lord and Saviour to reap the harvest of the earth.

We want to bring you a brief summary of what God has done in Indiana through His witnesses during the past three years.

At the 1974 constituency meeting, the Indiana constituents re-elected Elder Robert Dale, who served for about nine months of the new triennium as president before transferring to the Wisconsin Conference. Elder Dale gave strong leadership to the work in Indiana and left behind him many evidences of his wise and fruitful administration. I want to express appreciation for the excellent programs which I inherited from him.

We have a very dedicated and talented team of men and women in our conference office who are deeply committed to the work of soul winning. They all have special assignments, but soul winning and the finishing of God's work is their occupation.

We praise God for the 813 souls baptized during the triennium which made it possible for us to increase our membership from 5,772 to 5,859. Two new churches were organized—Indianapolis Chapel West and Spencer. While we rejoice over this evidence of God's saving grace, we long for greater demonstrations. During the triennium, three women have been added to our soul-winning forces as Bible workers. It Is Written was introduced into three areas of Indiana—Fort Wayne, Gary-Hammond and Evansville. Personal witnessing has been given strong emphasis. One of the most heartening developments in our soul-winning work is an increase in the involvement of laypersons. During the last year several Indiana towns have been completely covered with Steps to Christ and invitations to receive a Gift Bible with Bible Study Guides. In Salem, Indiana, a group of believers has been raised up as a result of this project followed by an evangelistic crusade. Continuing advances in this direction must have first priority in our churches if we really want the work to be finished.

Last year the members of our churches in Indiana returned to the Lord more than $2 million in tithe for the first time, making a tithe total for the triennium of $5,557,565.01 as compared to $4,151,114.99 for the previous period. God's people in Indiana are strong supporters of the conference program. During the three-year period, $325,289.63 was given for evangelism and academy development, an increase of 116 percent over the previous period. A finished work will require even greater sacrifices. Changes in the use of tithe, which were voted last year at the Annual Council, make it necessary for the conference to raise more funds for nontithe purposes in the future. Sabbath School offerings have increased from $425,072.48 for the previous period to $536,735.00 for this triennium. However, I want to point out that our mission giving in relation to tithe continues to decrease and this gives us concern. We must not be satisfied with this record. Indiana continues its support of our mission program with good increases in Ingathering funds raised with the last two years breaking all previous records of more than $150,000 both years.

Christian education is a large part of the work of the church and is evangelism of the highest order. We have an excellent team of secondary and elementary teachers in Indiana. Enrollments are growing in both areas. Thanks to the support of our people for the 1% Fund, significant improvements have been made at Indiana Academy, including a beautiful new cafeteria building, a paved parking lot, and the acquisition of more than 100 acres of additional land. Notice the graph for the consistent record our people have had in supporting Indiana Academy's 1% Development Program in the last two trienniums.

The work of our literature evangelists is described by the servant of the Lord as having an importance that is not exceeded by any other branch of our work. During the last three years, our faithful frontline soldiers of the cross delivered $647,756.20 worth of truth-filled literature. An untold number of precious souls will be won as a direct result of their work.

During 1976 the highest amount of money ever received in Indiana via the trust program gives us reason to praise the Lord. Last year $104,708.48 flowed into the Lord's work from matured wills, trusts and gift annuities. These funds were used for capital improvements at Indiana Academy and a portion went to aid local churches.

It's a thrill to report that our church youth program is growing, especially the Pathfinder organization. During this triennium our conference Pathfinder membership has steadily grown from 246 to the present 300 members. During these last three years our three largest churches in the conference have organized strong Pathfinder clubs. The challenge of how to meet the needs of our senior youth in the churches needs our study and attention.

There has been a substantial increase in the number of Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking held during these last three years over the previous triennium. Notice these figures: From 1971 to 1973 there were 34 Five-Day Plans in our conference with 1,328 participants. During these last three years 93 Five-Day Plans were conducted with more than 3,900 participants. Study is being given by the conference leaders and pastors to organize a stronger follow-up program with laity involvement so lasting friendships can be made. As a result of these many may have friendship opportunities arise for Bible studies.

A little more than a year ago the Indiana Conference was blessed with a beautiful new office located on 17 acres just north of Carmel on Highway 31. With only a modest cost to the conference beyond the amount realized from the sale of the old office, this attractive facility became a reality under the leadership of Elder Ray Rouse, former treasurer, and Harold Zacharias, building superintendent.

In closing this brief overview of the work in Indiana for the past three years, I want to give God all of the glory of every accomplishment and express appreciation to the faithful flock of God and their shepherds for permitting God to use them as His instruments. As we look to the future, we have nothing to fear under the leadership of such a wise and powerful Lord. Let us determine to grow in His grace and knowledge so that we can move forward with greater faith in the days ahead to finish His work in our own hearts and in our shattered world.

The Tradition of Service

... GIVE TO THE LOMA LINDA UNIVERSITY OFFERING, APRIL 16, 1977

"Loma Linda is to be not only a sanitarium, but an educational center. With the possession of this place comes the weighty responsibility of making the work of the institution educational in character. A school is to be established here for the training of gospel medical missionary evangelists."

When these words were penned by Ellen G. White in the Review and Herald in May 1906, Loma Linda was a fledgling institution with only a School of Nursing located on campus.

Now, seven schools and 70 years later, Loma Linda University, the largest Seventh-day Adventist institution, is still committed to this philosophy.

How does a university that encompasses two campuses, that graduates some of the most highly qualified medical personnel to be found anywhere, that operates an extensive and respected liberal arts program, come to be?

To answer these questions, we must think in terms of years of expansion and growth; and we must think of sacrifice. But even more, we must think of people.

Loma Linda University is the fruition of dreams, commitments and sacrifices by people who saw the need for a place where students could prepare to minister to man's needs in the spirit of Jesus Christ.

The property where Loma Linda University now stands was developed for the plush Mound City Hotel during the boom days of 1887-1888. Following the depression of the 1890's (during which the hotel complex failed), a group of investors, including a large number of physicians, bought the property. About $155,000 was invested with hopes of making Loma Linda one of the finest health resorts in southern California. This venture also failed.

When the property came to the attention of the Adventists, the asking price of $110,000 was prohibitive for the fledgling church. However, the price continued to drop until the early summer of 1905 when the stockholders ordered the property sold for $40,000.

The local church leaders were in Washington, D.C., when a letter arrived from John Burden urging immediate action lest the property be sold to others.

Informed that the local Southern California Conference could not take on the additional financial responsibility, Ellen G. White nevertheless wired instructions to secure an option. With private funds the group paid off the note before the end of the year.

On August 26, 1905, the sanitarium was incorporated; and on Friday, October 13, the first two patients were admitted. Loma Linda was in business.

From the very beginning, Seventh-day Adventists have believed that health evangelism is one of the most effective means of opening doors. From the establishment of the School of Nursing more than 70 years ago to the School of Dentistry, established in 1954, dedicated nurses, dentists, physicians, and allied health workers have been filling mission appointments around the world.

Of the more than 20,000 Loma Linda University graduates, nearly one fourth have entered mission service of one form or another. These are the kind of young people with whom Loma Linda University and the Seventh-day Adventist Church have become identified.

At this very moment, nearly 500 Loma Linda University graduates are serving overseas in mission service; more than 100 medical and dental students and residents are on deferred mission appointments to overseas divisions.

Service is a tradition at Loma Linda University. Students are taught through example and in the classroom to reach out to people in need.

Consequently each of the university's eight schools has developed its own unique program for reaching out into the local and worldwide community. Literally hundreds of students and faculty are involved in various programs each year. Some of the better-known programs include:

- The Loma Linda University Overseas Heart Surgery Team. Since its inception in 1963, the heart team has traveled to Pakistan, India, Thailand, Greece, Vietnam and Saudi Arabia and has been instrumental in helping develop open-heart surgery programs in Greece and Saudi Arabia.

- Medical Up-date Seminars. Each year, faculty from the School of Medicine travel abroad holding medical up-date seminars. Designed to help the continuing education needs of Adventist physicians overseas, the medical up-date program demonstrates Loma Linda University's concern for its sister institutions around the world.

- Summer Dental Clinics. Since the late 1950's, students and faculty from the School of Dentistry have traveled to Mexico and Central America to hold dental clinics among the underprivileged.

- Monument Valley. The School of Dentistry operates a 10-chair dental clinic on the Navajo Indian reservation staffed by university faculty members and serviced on a rotating basis by dental students.

- The Agricultural Assistance Program. Organized to provide short-term professional agricultural help to the Seventh-day Adventist Church's mission stations and institutions, the agricultural assistance program has been actively involved in programs in England and West Africa.

- Student Missionaries. Each year, dozens of students from many of the university's eight schools participate in a student missionary program in various capacities. Among these have been physical therapists in Zambia; English teachers in Indonesia, Korea and Japan; and student physicians in Nepal.

As Seventh-day Adventists we can be proud of the way God is using this university. But the sacrifice of those early years is again necessary to help prepare students for meeting the Christian challenges of tomorrow.

When the Loma Linda University offering is taken in your church on Sabbath, April 16, remember the spirit of sacrifice that brought Loma Linda University into existence. And remember, too, that only the same spirit of sacrifice can enable it to complete the work it has begun.

SUMMER BIOLOGY CLASSES SPONSORED BY A.U. & W.W.C.

The Andrews University biology department, in conjunction with the biology department of Walla Walla College, will be sponsoring classes in marine biology from June 12 to August 5 at the Rosario Beach, Washington, Marine Station.

Since 1969 A.U. has been affiliated with this project, and since then students from A.U. have been attending classes at the station which is situated on 40 acres of beach and timberland.

"The location of the station makes it an excellent place to study sea and land life," says Dr. Asa Thoresen, chairman of the A.U. biology department.

During this summer session classes will be offered in both upper division and lower division areas. Classes are, therefore, open to anyone who is in need of biology credits.

Some of the classes being offered are: Animal Behavior, Comparative Physiology, Marine Invertebrates, Ornithology, Marine Botany, Marine Biophysics and Symbiosis. The lower division credits can be received in General Biology.

Every session classes are taught by professors from many other universities, and this, says Thoresen, "will cause the students to be exposed to different teaching methods." The students are provided with housing facilities and food from the station's cafeteria.

For further information contact Dr. Asa Thoresen of the A.U. biology department.

'READINESS FOR MINISTRY' TESTS GIVEN TO SEMINARIANS

A new "Readiness for Ministry" testing program has been initiated at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary, according to Dr. Steven P. Vitrano, coordinator of the program.

The test, developed in conjunction with the Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada, will provide the seminary with a means of evaluating the kind of work that is being done in preparing seminary students for the ministry.

The program consists of evaluations of cases studies in ministry, an interview and a field observation test.

Measures are being taken to safeguard the student's privacy, so that only he will receive the results of his test. The seminary will be given only a compilation of scores in order to evaluate the class as a whole.

NURSING STUDENT RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Marian E. Fowler, Westmont, Illinois, a student in Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital's School of Practical Nursing, was recently presented a $250 scholarship grant by the P.E.O. Sisterhood, a fraternal organization for community women.

With chapter headquarters in LaGrange, Illinois, this organization has a world membership of approximately 192,000. Established at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, in 1869 on the campus of Iowa Wesleyan University, P.E.O.

Sisterhood seeks to promote educational opportunities for women.

A new program initiated in 1973, called Continuing Education, provides scholarships to mature women embarking on a training program to upgrade or develop skills so they may enter the job market. Mrs. Fowler was selected to receive this financial grant on the basis of the hospital recommendation, according to Mrs. R. T. Jayne, chairman, Continuing Education Committee.

NUTRITION SERIES EXPLORES HOSPITAL HEALTH PRINCIPLES

S. L. DeShay, M.D., director of the health department of the General Conference, was the featured speaker during National Nutrition Week, March 6 to 12.

"Spotlight on Nutrition and Health," held March 8 and 9 was designed to outline some of the unique health principles practiced within Seventh-day Adventist hospitals. Following a half-hour formal presentation, participants were given time to ask questions.

Topics presented were: "Current Studies on the Relationship of Diet and Health" and "Basic Health Principles of Seventh-day Adventist Hospitals." The series was coordinated by Selma Rhys, director of dietetic education, in consultation with health, medical and nursing education.

Robert E. LaRue, M.D., left, family practice, is presented a plaque in honor of more than 30 years of service on the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital's medical staff. Presenting the plaque at a recent meeting of the general staff is Norman M. Frank, M.D., family practice, newly elected president of the medical staff.

STAFF PHYSICIANS HONORED

Fourteen staff physicians were recently honored at a general staff meeting for their years of service at Hinsdale Hospital. Presenting the awards was Norman M. Frank, M.D., family practice, newly elected president of the medical staff.

Dr. Frank, recipient of a 25-year service plaque, has been actively involved with and held offices in various committees since he first joined the staff in 1951. Most recently he served as president-elect of the medical staff during 1975 and 1976.

The physicians and their years on the medical staff are listed below.

V.B.S. WORKSHOP TO BE HELD

A conferencewide Vacation Bible School Workshop will be held April 15 to 17 at the Good Samaritan Retreat in Knoxville, Illinois. All those who will be working in the Vacation Bible School program this year, or those who are interested in learning the details of such a program, should attend this workshop.

The cost per delegate is $13.50 per day, or a total cost of $27, which covers five meals and two nights lodging. If you will be driving in for separate meetings and desire to have a meal at the retreat, the cost per meal is: Breakfast, $2; dinner, $2.50; supper, $2.

If you plan to be a delegate to the workshop and this notice reaches you in sufficient time for you to send in your fee of $27, it would be appreciated if you would do this. If this is not possible, you may pay when you arrive at the workshop.

Don't miss this opportunity to learn how to conduct a successful Vacation Bible School. Our hope is that there will be a V.B.S. in every church this year.

BROADVIEW ACADEMY HOMECOMING WEEKEND

Alumni and friends of Broadview Academy are invited to a homecoming on April 15 and 16.

Special guests and features will include Josephine Cunningham Edwards, Dr. Richard Schwarz, '43, and the showing of the film, "The Ark of Noah."

Josephine Cunningham Edwards, returned missionary and popular storyteller, will be speaking on Friday evening and for the worship hour on Sabbath morning. Her husband, Elder

L. A. Edwards, was a Bible teacher at B.V.A. in the '50's. Students of those years will vividly remember Mrs. Edwards.

Dr. Schwarz is an alumnus and former faculty member of B.V.A. He will teach the Sabbath School lesson. John Armando, '43, will be Sabbath School superintendent.

The noon meal will be a fellowship dinner with each one bringing dishes to pass and table service. After the meal and fellowship hour an evening musical program is planned by alumni.

"The Ark of Noah," an outstanding documentary film on the search for the ark, will be shown as a school benefit at 7:30 P.M. Saturday. This will be the first public showing in Illinois of this two-hour film. It is not to be confused with the recent Sun-Classic release in theaters but is an examination of the data and a record of recent treks up this ice-covered peak.

Proceeds will go to purchase a 16mm sound motion picture projector. Advance tickets of $3 each will be available from B.V.A. students during and after home leave, March 24. Tickets will also be reserved at the door for anyone mailing a check with their name and address to Broadview Academy, Ark of Noah Tickets, Box 7, La Fox, IL 60147.

This film has previously been shown by the Loma Linda University Medical School Alumni Association and the University of Texas and has met with favorable comment.

Alumni and friends planning on eating the evening meal in the cafeteria are asked to indicate such when they reserve tickets so that the cafeteria staff may make adequate plans for them.

KARP HONORED AT ROCKFORD

More than 150 people braved one of the coldest Saturday nights of the year to attend the Sharing and Caring Ingathering Victory Banquet, January 29, at the Rockford Church.

Using the theme "One World" the emphasis this year was placed on reaching out to help anyone no matter where the need was in all the world.

Dick Karp, lay activities leader, was honored not only for his dedicated service to the church but in community affairs as well. This year Dick personally knocked on the doors of the program was Dr. Kent Edwards, Georgia Taylor, Kathy Wilson, John and Fern Coldeberg.

A telegram from President Jimmy Carter's office read in part: "He would like to join your many friends in conveying congratulations and warm greeting to you on this occasion... and he sends you his best wishes for the continued success of your endeavors." Also present to offer the conference's best wishes was Elder Robert Ammons, lay activities director.

Dick, in thanking the many who sent him their congratulations, said: "I'm grateful for the opportunity to serve in any capacity of service for my church and community.... Thank you, Rockford."

There was a warm response from the 33 who enrolled. The spirit of brotherly love was felt. After the program was finished the people did not want to leave. A discussion followed on how to improve and what was felt about the program.

David was asked, "Why do you Adventists do all these things?" The Lord gave him these words: "What better way can we show the love of Christ to you than to help you overcome a habit like this and help you to lead a better life? Christ walked on this earth and lived for the very purpose of serving others and elevating their lives."

During the next four weeks follow-up programs were held on the effects of caffeine, stress and how to overcome it, and the need of exercise and proper diet.

CONFERENCE OFFICE WORKERS ENJOY WORK BEE AT CAMP

Monday, February 28, was set aside for the conference office personnel to work together at a special work bee at Camp Timber Ridge.

Every man from Elder G. W. Morgan, president, to Jim Tull, custodian, got involved in the day's project.

Russell Hainey, camp ranger, organized the men to cover the interior wall of the dining room with cedar siding. So well organized was the project that at day's end the job was completed.

Elder Willis Adams, assistant treasurer, operated the cut-off saw for the dining room work bee.

The cedar siding was used to give a rustic decor to the dining room as well as to help the acoustics.

The men enjoyed the opportunity to fellowship and work together in a project that was a break from their regular routine.

THE WORK WILL BE FINISHED BY THE ONE WHO STARTED IT

The Lord Jesus gave us an example of what is expected of each representative of His in this world concerning the finishing of the work.

He said in John 4:34, "My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work." In His great pastoral prayer of John 17, He expressed that He had "glorified" God on the earth and finished the work God had given Him to do.

The Holy Spirit moved Paul to express the important subject in the following way: "For he will finish the work, and cut it short in righteousness: because a short work will the Lord make upon the earth." Romans 9:28.

These verses indicate to us that God who initiated the work in us will, Himself, conclude it. Many times we seem to take that important conclusion in our hands. We must remember that God is the One who will finish it. Not us. Until we are able to accept with sincere dedication the tremendous challenge involved in completing a task for which we must depend upon divine help, God can not give His blessings to us. That blessing of God is none other than the outpouring of His Holy Spirit.

These are the days in which God will finish His work. These are the days and we are the people to whom are addressed the most serious admonitions. The servant of the Lord said: "There must be earnest effort to obtain the blessing of the Lord, not because God is not willing to bestow His blessing upon us, but because we are unprepared to receive it."—Selected Messages, Book 1, p. 121.

The devil has introduced a multitude of deceptions against the people of God. He is succeeding in his work to stop the remnant church from doing its work. What are some of the obstacles? The Spirit of Prophecy outlines some of them:

The leprosy of selfishness has entered into the church. Pride, selfishness and covetousness are especially offensive to God (Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 270).

The Lord orders us to empty our hearts of selfishness which constitutes the roots of our separation from him. The one sin which separates us from God and produces in us spiritual disorders is selfishness (Testimonies, vol. 2, p. 132).

The missionary spirit is weak, the devotion is loose because selfishness, covetousness and deception exist among our members (Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 202).

DETROIT BETTER LIVING CENTER NEEDS YOU

The Better Living Center located at 3240 Puritan at Midland needs YOU! Many souls can be won for Christ through this area of the church.

People are asking what the Seventh-day Adventists are doing for the people besides preaching to them. We need to show them.

This program can be a success with God's blessings and YOUR help. Make it a team effort. Let's team up with God and each other and put this program over.

Remember the Lord takes personally anything done or not done for the unfortunate. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matthew 25:40.

LAKE REGION EVANGELIST VISITS

On Sabbath, February 5, we were blessed by having as our guest speaker, Elder Malcolm J. Phipps, ministerial secretary of the Lake Region Conference. Mrs. Phipps accompanied her husband to City Temple Church.

The theme for the day was "Finishing the Work." The subject was "Amen Alleluia" (Rev. 19:4).

Elder Phipps explained that we usually use "Amen" at the conclusion, but the word means "so let it be, surrender of the life, obedience." "Alleluia" means "praise the Lord for the joy of serving Jesus and leading others to Him."

We were inspired and greatly blessed by his presence. Elder Phipps is no stranger to the Motor City area having conducted an evangelistic effort at the Better Living Center which resulted in the formation of the Center Church with a sizable membership. City Temple will look forward to a return visit from God's representative, Elder Phipps.

NEWS NOTE

• The Spanish Seventh-day Adventist Church celebrated the fourth anniversary of its organization with a series of activities during February 12 and 13. Homage was paid to 12 founding families and to the fact that their efforts resulted in the denomination's first Spanish church in Michigan. More than 75 people—church members and visitors—were present Sunday for special ceremonies which included the reading of the church's history, singing and prayers. A fellowship dinner followed. In its four years of operation the Spanish Church has more than doubled its membership to 93 persons.

COMMUNITY SERVICES CENTER ACTIVITIES THROUGHOUT THE STATE

The latest bulletin from the State Federation reveals a small part of the many activities of Community Services Center workers throughout the state.

Ingathering contacts resulted in additional opportunities in some areas. A Traverse City dentist's wife expressed interest in helping a local family. When center women provided her with a name, she became responsible for seeing that clothes, toys and cash were made available. She wanted the joy of having a part in the presentation, so she accompanied the center's assistant leader as they made their "contact of love."

Another person sent a family to local church members because of information of Adventist activities received during an Ingathering contact. He referred a family to Howard City Adventists after they had lost their brand-new home by fire. The contact was made possible because someone had written on the Ingathering pamphlet the name, address and telephone number of the church member to reach in case of an emergency.

The Elks and the Girl Scouts have assisted in work being done by Marshall and Ludington Adventists. Ludington Elks gave sufficient cash to furnish food for 17 different families. At Marshall, Girl Scouts made toys which they turned over to the local center to be saved for children of homes contacted by center workers.

Lap robes are being made by Chesaning members and sent to a local rest home, while at Grand Haven 14 of the center's clients joined the 24 church workers in tying quilts.

PATHFINDER PROGRAM RESULTS FROM V.B.S.

A Vacation Bible School held last year by the Otter Lake Church has resulted in a growing local Pathfinder program.

Although there was often a small nucleus for such a program, the group generally wasn't large enough to be organized into a club, Elder Merrill Fleming, conference Pathfinder leader, says. By tapping the interests of these non-Adventists, the church, for the first time that Fleming can remember, is involved in Pathfinding.

The first investiture service was held in December when 16 Busy Bees received their special insignia. Another service was held March 16 and one more is slated for May.

Fleming also indicated that at last fall's camporee at Au Sable the group from Otter Lake numbered 52. This is the same as the membership of the Otter Lake congregation and points out the evangelistic potentials of a Vacation Bible School follow-up, as in this case with a Pathfinder program.

Leading out in the development of this new club are Zella Marsh, Judy Palmeter and Connie Parker.

MINISTER'S WIFE GIVES TALK AT GOURMET CLASS

Carol Hopkins spoke to 15 women at a local high school in Ironwood. This was one of two sessions that evening. The event was in connection with a gourmet cooking class. Dwight Olson, with the cook's hat on, was the gourmet cook and teacher of the class. Carol Hopkins was asked to speak on the nutritional value of meat analogs in comparison to meat.

EFFECTIVE WITNESSING SERIES A HELP TO MANY

For nine successive Wednesday evenings Elder Carl Coffman, head of the department of religion at Andrews University, led out in a continuing "Effective Witnessing" series at the Pioneer Memorial Church.

Each Wednesday evening at least 200 persons participated in this training course using a syllabus compiled by Elder Coffman. He featured "Four Motivating Factors" in spiritual development: 1. An ever-increasing thirst for truth; 2. An ever-growing confidence in God's counsels; 3. A maturing love relationship with God and people; 4. Dependence on the grace of God as power to obey. Using the Bible and Spirit of Prophecy the trainees were led step by step to a knowledge and a skill in securing decisions for Christ.

The program will not end just because the nine-week training session is over. These trained persons, under the direction of Pastors Conrad L. Gill, Chester H. Damron and Richard E. Harris, will now participate in soul-winning activities. Names have been gathered from District Nine pastors, concerned friends and people expressing a desire for spiritual visits. The trainees will make these contacts.

WAUS-FM, the Andrews University radio station, has the whole series by Elder Coffman on six cassette tapes plus the syllabus packaged in an attractive and handy storage case, available upon request.

An ever-widening circle of effective witnessing by church members is a continuing objective of Pioneer Memorial Church through its lay activities department.

HOMEcoming PLANNED FOR DECATUR-GLENWOOD CHURCH

Opening day services and a homecoming is scheduled for Sabbath, April 30, at the Decatur-Glenwood Church.

A full day's program is planned for this first official service in the new church building. Members of the former Decatur and Glenwood churches, past and present students of the Glenwood Church School and the present membership of the current Decatur-Glenwood Church and friends are cordially invited.

According to Albert Parker, the current pastor, Sabbath School will begin at 9:15 with the regular morning worship service at 11 o'clock. After lunch (visitors are requested to bring their own) an afternoon baptismal service is being planned.

IT IS WRITTEN SEMINAR

Ninety people attended an all-day seminar in Milwaukee on March 6 to study the book of Revelation in depth. The program has been designed by the It Is Written television program to help non-Adventists become acquainted with the prophecies of the last days. Through personal invitation of church members, 60 nonmembers responded with an interest to study further. Everyone present at the seminar received a Bible, folder and Bible guides.

During the Sunday seminar, a vegetarian dinner was given under the direction of Kathy Freeman. The program was under the direction of Elder Halvard Thompsen and Pastor Jim Redfield, both of the Milwaukee Central Church.

Continued study and follow-up will take place over a nine-week period in which various topics will be discussed.

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS WEEK AT WISCONSIN ACADEMY

Student Spiritual Emphasis Week this year at Wisconsin Academy, February 14 to 18, was distinctly different and special. The programs were planned by a Religious Seminar Council, but no names were listed on the brochures because "this is Student Spiritual Emphasis Week—that means everyone participates for every meeting. THIS IS YOUR WEEK!" Also on the back of the brochures was this note: "The Seminar Council would like to give special recognition to God who spent much time with all of us in preparation for this week."

Monday morning's chapel program, "Day by Day," was a slide-talk presentation suggesting how Jesus might feel if He spent the day visiting Wisconsin Academy and challenging all to include Him in their daily activities.

Monday night's program, "Wait a Minute," was a skit emphasizing the importance of starting each day with God, so that He can help students use their time wisely.

How to include God in the recreational activities was the challenge of Tuesday night's program entitled "Temple Calls Time Out."

Wednesday morning "Knowledge" and "Wisdom" identified themselves and their relative importance in school life.

"The Fresh Connection" given Wednesday evening was a cafeteria scene in which the cooks prepared a special dish to surprise the students. The ingredients were: 1 cup friendly words, 2 heaping cups understanding, 4 heaping teaspoons time and patience, a pinch of warm personality and a dash of humor. All those who had the courage to try this new dish found themselves being less critical, more thoughtful and outgoing in their relationships with others.

Thursday night's talks and discussion groups explored the subject of the Sabbath and how to keep it "Sacred All the Way."

Friday morning a skit showed how to live "Hassle Free" in an academy dormitory.

Friday evening another film-slide presentation entitled "Heartbroken" provided a thoughtful, quiet time for meditation as the speakers appealed to each one to let Jesus walk with him "Day by Day" in a personal way and fulfill His promise as expressed in the text and theme song for the week:

"And I will give you a new heart—I will give you new and right desires—and put a new spirit within you. I will take out your stony hearts of sin and give you new hearts of love." Ezekiel 36:26, The Living Bible.

These Times introduces a revolutionary breakthrough in magazine evangelism—to present the entire Adventist message to its readers during a 12-month period.

Never before has any missionary journal attempted to publish an article on every one of the 27 key Adventist beliefs during a single 12-month period. But this year the editors of These Times decided to shatter all past records and achieve an innovative concept in magazine evangelism.

Consequently, beginning with the August, 1977, issue and running through July, 1978 (the 1977-78 subscription year), These Times will publish articles covering each of the 27 primary Adventist beliefs listed in the standard baptismal certificate. This year when you sponsor These Times subscriptions, you know the reader will be exposed to every key doctrine of the Adventist Church.

If you analyze your investment in terms of souls, we know you will select These Times as your key medium to bring others closer to Christ and to the message He taught. The special 1977 campaign rate for April and May is $4.25 for These Times (12 issues). Add 75¢ for each overseas and Canadian subscription.

NEW CURBS ON MISSIONARIES IN WESTERN BRAZIL

The Brazilian government has announced new curbs on missionary activity in the western Brazilian states. On the grounds that some missionaries are aligning themselves with "subversive groups," the new policy reportedly aims at eventually stopping all contact between missionaries and the Indian population of Brazil. New restrictions on missionary activity among Indians now being imposed is expected to touch off a widening split between the government and the leadership of the Catholic Church in Brazil.

JEWISH CONGREGATION IN CONTROVERSY OVER LAWS

An innovative Jewish congregation has stirred a hornet's nest over zoning laws and freedom of worship. Residents of Norfolk, Connecticut, have protested that the use of a farmhouse for live-in worship violates zoning laws and also contributes to increasing suburbanization. Members of the congregation, mainly young professionals from Boston and New York, hold that their choice of the farmhouse is in line with spiritual commitment. Group "services" often last hours or even days, requiring sleeping facilities for members. The central issue in the continuing legal battle is whether or not the farm building is a house of worship.

RELIGIOUS AGENCIES RESPOND TO WINTER CRISIS

U.S. religious groups are calling for emergency aid and prayers in response to rare winter weather. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Southern Baptists, Catholics, United Methodists and interfaith groups are among those offering assistance and calling for conservation of energy by their members. In Buffalo, New York, which was buried and paralyzed by the worst winter storm in its history, the Salvation Army has provided emergency shelter, food and other assistance to stranded motorists and residents in the snowbound city.

AMY CARTER BAPTIZED

Amy Carter has been baptized into the Christian faith. The daughter of President Jimmy Carter was baptized by full immersion during regular Sunday services at the First Baptist Church in Washington, D.C. Senior pastor of the church, Dr. Charles Trentham, conducted the baptism in front of more than 1,000 worshipers. Later in the service, Amy and another girl baptized that day rejoined the congregation and took communion for the first time.

CATHOLICS AND ANGLICANS PROPOSE UNITY UNDER POPE

A joint commission of Roman Catholics and Anglicans has recommended the two churches be united under the supreme authority of the Pope. The proposal to end the four-century-old split between the two churches was made by the Anglican-Roman Catholic International Commission, co-chaired by archbishops from each church. The idea now goes to its parent bodies for further study. Recommendations for reunion are expected to cause soul-searching among members of the Episcopal Church in the United States because they prize their local autonomy of the individual diocese.

GERMAN LUTHERANS SEEK TO ASSIST ANGOLAN REFUGEES

Leaders of the German Evangelical Lutheran Church in South-West Africa (Namibia), have issued an appeal for funds to aid refugees streaming over the border from Angola. According to a Lutheran spokesman, there are more than 2,000 children among the refugees whose parents are either dead or deported. The Angolan refugees are victims of a guerrilla war that continues to rage in southern Angola between government forces reinforced by Cuban soldiers and the forces of the National Union for the Total Liberation of Angola.
