

A photograph of a rural landscape. In the foreground, a rustic wooden fence made of weathered logs and branches runs across the frame. Behind the fence, there is a lush green field with some trees. The background is filled with dense green foliage and trees, creating a sense of a deep, green world. The overall tone is natural and serene.

Report

- New Lake Region President Elected

On July 14 the Lake Region Conference Committee met to choose a successor to Jesse R. Wagner. The committee elected Elder Charles Joseph, pastor of the Newark, New Jersey, Church in the Allegheny East Conference. More details will follow in a future issue of the Herald.

- GLAHS

On July 6 the first official meeting of the Great Lakes Health Services, Inc., Board met. The corporation is now ready to receive into membership the various church-related health institutions within the Lake Union territory. As separate constituencies approve, the plan calls for charter members to include Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital and Mid-American Health Services, Inc. L. Earl Laurence serves as GLAHS president.

- Health Department

On July 6 the union committee also voted to place the union health department under the direction of GLAHS. Elder Don Copsey has served this post ably and will now be freed to concentrate on directing the stewardship and A.S.I. departments.

- Finishing the Work

In recent months emphasis has been given to "seed sowing" and "cultivating interests." Now we must give more emphasis to "reaping." Our Saviour used the metaphor of seedtime and harvest to make clear the nature of soul winning. In the Lake Union territory, so blessed with agricultural success, the lesson should not be difficult to learn. A wise farmer invests in sowing, cultivating and reaping equipment.

At a recent meeting of the Lake Union Committee it was voted to strengthen this phase of soul winning by employing five union evangelists. Talent for these posts is being carefully screened to offer not only strong leadership in evangelism but also to participate in the training of seminarians and laity. As selections are made and as plans develop, this information will be passed on to you. The Lake Union and each of the local conferences and our seminary are working together closely on these plans.

The best days for God's work are just ahead and in behalf of each of the conferences we urgently appeal for the continued prayers and participation of each Herald reader.

Just a Stamp Away

by Randy Horning

Illustration by Greg Martin

The continual creak of the carriage wheels and the click of the horses' hooves seemed endless. The air, hot, humid and dusty, only added to the burdens resting on Ellen White's heart. She was now anxious to arrive at the Howland's home where she would be able to get some much-needed rest.

Just a few years earlier this house had been home to James, her and the children. Yet, a deep sense of loneliness seemed to sweep over her as she retired to the bedroom that used to be her own. Here she had spent many happy hours with her children; now they were not with her. She yearned for them anew just now.

Thoughtfully and somewhat pensively Ellen sat down to write another letter to her sons. "My Dear Children," she began. With letters a bond of closeness had developed between them over the years though miles separated them many times.

"We received your letter today," she continued. "I was so glad for a letter written by your own hand." The attempts her young boys made to write letters were cherished by Ellen. Anxiously she awaited their little letters to inform James and her of their happy times.

"We are now in our old home at Brother Howland's. I am writing in the room where we first set up housekeeping." Thoughts from memory's treasured halls began to flow. Memories, family interest items and news of the day's activities weaved their way onto the page.

But soon personal daily activities and events faded to be replaced by more serious thoughts. Her close relationship with Jesus Christ she deeply desired to share with her children. Almost imperceptibly she inserts thoughts concerning God's leading and direction.

"In this room we prayed for you, Henry, and when the hand of death seemed to be upon you, the Lord in mercy raised you up in answer to fervent prayer."

Every letter expressed her desire to see each of her boys aspire toward greater spiritual growth. "You must learn to yield your will and your way. It is a hard lesson for my little boy to learn, but it will in the end be worth more than gold. Willie, my greatest anxiety is not that you should become a great man after the world's standard, but a good man, every day making some progress in meeting God's standard of right. We do not wish to drive you, dear boys, but help you to do right. We love you. You have been very kind, obedient children to us—sometimes wayward, but not stubborn."

Gently she encouraged them to improve.

Ellen's thoughts traveled out through the portals of Orion to catch glimpses of the heavenly home awaiting her and her family.

"We want you to live among the pure and holy angels in heaven, and wear a crown of gold, and eat of the tree of life. Now, dear Willie, try to do right always, and then no black mark will be set down against you, and when Jesus comes He will call for that good boy, Willie White . . . and you will never be sick, never be tempted then to do wrong, but will always be happy and will eat rich fruit and will pluck beautiful flowers."

Mother Ellen's love was flowing fast now. There was a closeness that transcended the physical distance. "He [Christ] will love you with more than a father or mother's love," she continued. "We too have our temptations to resist and overcome and our faith is often sorely tried. We give ourselves to the work of God and hope you, our children, will help us in the laborious, self-denying work before us."

Separation was hard to bear, however. Many times Ellen counted the days until they would be together. "In about five weeks we shall be home again, and then, Willie, we will work in the garden and tend the flowers and plant the seeds." Homecoming was always looked forward to by the whole family.

Ellen also knew that her boys enjoyed receiving special things in the mail. "Here is a peppermint for Willie. Yesterday we put in a box some things for Battle Creek. In a small box in the basket I put two shirts."

Each memory seemed to burst into a score of many more precious moments. But it had been a long day, and now it was getting late. Her thoughts lifted heavenward to the time when there would be no more separation. "Love God and you will have the Great God, the Maker of the heavens and earth, to smile upon and love you. Dear Children, seek for this, pray for it, live for it!"

Your affectionate Mother

P. Gerard Damsteegt

ANDREWS GRADUATE AUTHORS BOOK ON ADVENTIST FOUNDATIONS

Dr. P. Gerard Damsteegt, a graduate of Andrews University, has written a book entitled Foundations of the Seventh-day Adventist Message and Mission.

The book, published by William B. Eerdmans, is believed to be the first book about Seventh-day Adventists written by a church member and published by an evangelical publishing house.

Damsteegt covers the beginnings of the advent movement in 1830 and the development of the Seventh-day Adventist Church up to 1874. The formulation of the landmark doctrines of the Adventist Church is traced, and the beginnings of the world mission program are discussed.

Damsteegt, who received his B.A. degree from Newbold College, took an M.Div. degree from Andrews in 1969 and has recently received a Doctor of Theology degree from the Free University of Amsterdam.

TEXTBOOKS SENT TO MISSION FIELDS

About 3,000 textbooks and reference works have been distributed to various mission fields by the International Book Exchange of the Center for Studies and Services in Education (C.S.S.E.).

A large portion of the books were sent to Caribbean Union College in Jamaica with smaller amounts going to such places as Lebanon, South Africa and Indonesia.

In addition to the mission fields, some books were also donated to Adventist church schools in Canada.

AIRFRAME AND POWER PLANT FACILITY UNDER CONSTRUCTION

An airframe and power plant school for aircraft maintenance mechanics will begin operation this fall at Andrews University, according to Dr. W. W. Davidson, dean of the College of Technology. The new school will be approved by the Federal Aviation Administration (F.A.A.).

The physical facilities for the school are presently under construction at the Andrews Airport, across U.S. 31-33 from the university campus.

Approximately 25 students are expected to enroll in the airframe portion of the program beginning in September. Instruction in power plant maintenance will begin in the fall of 1978.

Classes will be under the direction of D. W. Swaine, instructor of engineering technology, and Stan Sornberger, instructor of aviation and transportation.

The A & P school, as it is called, will be in the newly formed department of aviation and transportation, chaired by Raymond O. Swensen. The department will offer flight instruction, driver's education and other courses.

SUMMER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT ANNOUNCED

Preliminary figures show a summer session enrollment of 1,576 at Andrews University, according to Dr. Robert Moon, director of institutional research.

The School of Graduate Studies registered the highest enrollment with a total of 606 students. The College of Arts and Sciences enrolled 555, with 380 in the Theological Seminary and 35 in the College of Technology.

The total number will climb before the end of the quarter, Dr. Moon said, as more students register for summer workshops.

FOUR NEW RESIDENTS JOIN FAMILY PRACTICE

Four physicians recently joined the Family Practice Residency Program at Hinsdale Hospital, bringing the total number of residents to 18.

Jim Esgar comes to the program from the University of Illinois. Physicians from Loma Linda University are Terry Foster, Chris Lundquist and Peter Haynal.

As the number of residents increases, additional patients and opportunities for practice experience will be provided by utilizing specific established practices as satellite offices.

GRAFS CELEBRATE 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Leonard and Edith Graf of Villa Park celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on June 28. Married in 1917 in the Aurora Church by Elder St. John, the Grafs have been lifelong residents of the area. Many relatives, friends and church members joined in congratulating the Grafs at a reception in their honor given by their son, Leonard, his wife, Irene, and their daughter, Cheryl.

Elder Imre Petrik baptizes Ancu Juhas on Sunday, June 19, while her father, Ferencz, left, and mother, Anna, right, look on prior to their baptism. Erzsebeth Balog was accepted into membership by profession of faith the next Sabbath, June 25.

PATHFINDERS OF THE YEAR AT PEORIA

Trenna Denney, left, and Steve Warren, right, were both honored recently during an investiture program at the Peoria Church. Trenna received two awards, one for the most points earned during the year and one for the most missionary hours contributed, a total of 850 hours. Steve was honored as the Pathfinder of the year for being the best all-around Christian young person. Dale Pittenger, center, Pathfinder director, made the presentations. Twenty-three Pathfinders were invested this year during the program, and various demonstrations and projects were displayed for everyone to see following the program.

THIRD ANNUAL SHOE GIVEAWAY

The third annual Shoe Giveaway was held on Sunday, May 15, at the Adventist Community Center in Quincy when more than 350 pairs of shoes were given away. Seventy-nine people responded to the writeup in the local paper and the announcements on the two radio and two TV stations. Thirty-seven pieces of Adventist literature were given out as well. A mother and her four children promised to come to Sabbath School as a result of the contacts made. The rest of the shoes, approximately 800 pairs, were kept on display in the basement so that people who come in on the regular open days can also be helped.

INDIANA MINISTERS ORDAINED

Three pastors completed their internship and were ordained to the gospel ministry at the Indiana camp meeting on June 18, 1977, at 2 P.M. in the main auditorium. They are pictured with their wives: Elder and Mrs. Albert English, left, Elder and Mrs. Donald Klinger and Elder and Mrs. Marlyn Kurtz. W. L. Woodruff, ministerial secretary of the Indiana Conference, presented the candidates. L. L. Bock, president of the Lake Union Conference, preached the sermon. D. A. Delafield, associate secretary of the Ellen G. White Estate, General Conference, gave the prayer. W. J. Hackett, vice president of the General Conference, gave the charge, and G. W. Morgan, president of the Indiana Conference, gave the welcome.

FIVE-DAY PLAN AT BALL STATE UNIVERSITY

A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was held April 3 to 7 at Ball State University, Muncie, Indiana. Dr.

William D. Fisher, a Seventh-day Adventist family practitioner from Richmond, Indiana, and Dr. Frank Wrestler, preventive medicine, Ball State University, were coordinators of the program.

They were assisted by Dr. Owen Fisher, who is in charge of public health and physical education for the city of Muncie. Films provided by the American Heart Association and the American Cancer Society were shown during the lectures.

There were usually about 45 people in attendance and approximately 75 percent were awarded certificates for successfully kicking the habit.

Dr. Natelkka Burrell

degree from Emmanuel Missionary College (now Andrews University), a Master of Arts degree from the University of Wisconsin, a Doctor of Education degree from Teacher's College, Columbia University and a diploma in voice and diction from the Modern School of the Theater.

Dr. Burrell began her teaching career in a one-room school where she taught for three years and was the principal in a Baltimore, Maryland, school for the next four years. She was a teacher for four years in the Harlem Academy, and became the dean of women for one year at Oakwood College. For the next 21½ years she was the chairman in the department of education at Oakwood College and was guest professor for the next 12 years in the department of education at Andrews University.

Dr. Burrell was also co-editor of the basic readers, grades one to eight, while working with the education department of the General Conference.

Dr. Burrell retired in August of 1976.

Among her many awards is a Citation of Excellence from the General Conference in 1972. She was presented with a watch and an oil portrait by the Michigan Chapter, Oakwood College Alumni in the same year. In 1973 she was listed in Andrews University's Hall of Fame and in 1974 was awarded a citation from the General Conference. In 1975 she received a plaque from Andrews University and was honored at the 50th session of the General Conference held in Austria, Europe, as one of the 10 outstanding women in the denomination.

She appeared in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges in 1943, Pi Lambda Theta, 1943, and Kappa Delta Pi in 1958.

NEWS NOTES

• Two Michigan Bible school students wrote to the Voice of Prophecy recently to say the lessons "stick to Bible truths and help make these truths applicable to everyday living" and "as far as I'm concerned the course was fantastic. I have come closer to Jesus because I know more about Him."

• The Adrian Jaycees sponsored a smoking cessation clinic June 12 to 16 which was held in a local hospital. Conducting the clinic was Pastor Richard Broome and Dr. Gordon Guild, both members of the local Adventist church.

• June 18 was homecoming day for the Adrian Church and it proved to be very successful. The church was packed.

• The Monroe Church is one of the first to have completed the task of selecting new officers for the 1977-78 year. This was cared for as early as possible in order that many of the new officers could profit from special classes for their departments which will be held at camp meeting.

• A well-baby clinic was held recently at Berrien Springs Community Services Center. It was sponsored by the Association of Adventist Nurses and presented a program of special speakers plus a question and answer session. Babysitters were provided.

• Kalamazoo Adventists conducted a four-evening seminar to improve nutrition. Clinton Wall, a registered dietitian and for many years director of Andrews food services department, was the guest speaker. The program, which was presented in the church school, was in part an outgrowth of the need of dietary changes for those who have participated in the many Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking the Kalamazoo Church has sponsored. It was a program aimed at better nutrition.

• Ruth Dennis, R.N., and wife of the pastor of the F.N.T. Church, was in charge of the recently conducted health education and evaluation program held in the local high school. A risk evaluation session was first held and the lectures on various health-improvement programs were discussed.

• The fifth and sixth grade physical education class at Benton Harbor's elementary school ran nearly 2,200 miles during the past school year. Teacher James Howard encouraged his 20 students to run a mile a day, and figures the total mileage covered would reach to Los Angeles. The students ran 27 times around the gym for a mile in the winter and in good weather seven times around the playground for each mile.

Pathfinder Fair

The annual fair is the highlight of activity for Michigan's 54 Pathfinder clubs. Forty-eight clubs sent a good representation to this year's event held in Lansing's Civic Center.

Recognition of the "best" clubs in the conference is given at this gathering. This year 33 of the group became "200 Clubs." They had earned 200 or more points by their activities during the year which included their successes in the events held at the fair.

The accompanying photos illustrate a few of the many highlights of this year's successful Pathfinder Fair.

FIVE-DAY PLAN HELD AT B.C. SANITARIUM HOSPITAL

Another Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was held at the Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital in May. Nineteen people participated.

After two decades of smoking cessation seminars at the hospital, this program was different from all previous ones. Directors of the class, Chaplain Larry Yeagley and Wayne Griffith, D.H.Sc., had set a physical fitness regimen for participants to follow before the five sessions began. This included adequate rest, moderate exercise, good nutrition, reduction of caffeine intake and plenty of water. During this period smokers were also encouraged to gradually reduce the number of cigarettes smoked and plan for "Quit Day," May 2.

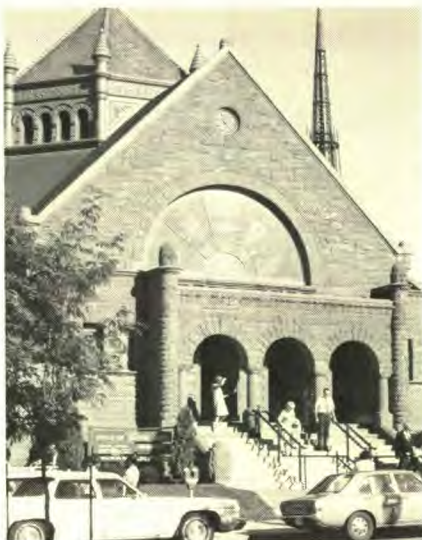

The major part of the revamped seminar was group work. The class was divided into smaller units to share experiences and identify areas of need. Little time was spent on lectures, scare tactics or warnings. Instead, support consumed the bulk of the seminar time.

In the old program many smokers could not discontinue smoking until the third day of the seminar. By the time they really needed maximum support the program was over. The new seminar makes it easier for the smokers to stop completely on the first day. By the end of the seminar they are quite stable and ready to claim victory.

COMMUNITY SERVICES WORKER HONORED

At the recent Southeastern Federation meeting in Plymouth, Vessie Meisner of the Farmington Church was honored for her more than 46 years of continuous service in Community Services ministry. Pinning a service pin on Mrs. Meisner is her daughter, Nila Breakie of Ann Arbor, State Federation secretary-treasurer. CHURCH ONE OF GRAND RAPIDS' LANDMARKS

According to an article in the June 20 Grand Rapids Press, the local Historic Preservation Commission has placed the Central Church of Seventh-day Adventists among eight landmarks on the list of places "worth saving." The city commission is expected to ratify the list which will make it official, and then "no one can alter—much less destroy" any of these places without permission from the Preservation Commission. The Adventist Church, the newspaper article said, was considered an "architectural gem" when it was completed in 1894. About three years ago the building received high marks for visual character and cultural heritage.

YOUTH BAPTIZED AFTER FAMILY NIGHT SERIES

The East Lansing University and Williamston churches experienced a happy conclusion to a recent Family Night Series as 11 young people were baptized. While adults enjoyed the Christian Growth Hour, young people from both the church and community prepared to join God's family by studying His Word in the Youth Power Hour. Youngsters listened to the Children's Story Hour and tiny tots attended the Nursery Hour. Spirited singalongs, fresh regular health features, guest speakers and simple seasons of prayer highlighted the series. Shown with the new members are Pastor Ron Ruskjer, right, and A. R. Mohr, Williamston's first elder.

THESE TIMES APPRECIATED BY RECEIVER

An Assembly of God minister in Michigan wrote to the These Times editorial office to say the magazine was his favorite religious periodical. He knows that somebody is subscribing for him and appreciates them doing so, for he has found the magazine a great help in his ministry. He closed his letter by saying, "One of the things that impresses me most is your willingness to tackle controversial subjects and deal with them effectively. Keep up the good work. Keep on working for Jesus."

BAPTISMS IN WAUSAU

In May of 1976, Rick and Marilyn Felton purchased The Bible Story, Bedtime Stories and The Triumph of God's Love from literature evangelist Leona Jaecks. The Feltons began to read the books.

Claudia Pierce, wife of church school teacher Jerry Pierce, became acquainted with Marilyn. She and her husband started studying the Bible with Rick and Marilyn. Being diligent Bible students, the Feltons also purchased The Conflict of the Ages series.

On April 30, 1977, Rick and Marilyn were baptized into the Wausau Church. They are now planning to attend Andrews University in the fall.

ADVENT YOUTH SING. Review and Herald Publishing Association, Washington, D.C.

Advent Youth Sing is a truly unique songbook, different from any published by our church thus far. The songs are arranged alphabetically rather than topically. With four-part harmony and guitar chord notation on every song, the music will be very usable both in North America and in overseas divisions. The songbook also contains two pages of complete guitar chord positioning for easy reference.

Three years of research, surveys and testing have gone into the selection of the songs for Advent Youth Sing and some of the favorites sung by young people in the past which have been lost in the publishing of new songbooks have been brought back. Songs have been selected which are singable for congregational use and careful attention has also been given to the text of each song to insure that it is in harmony with the teachings of the Word of God.

The beautiful paperback edition is only $1.95; the spiral paperback, so usable on piano racks and music stands, is $2.50; and Filled with practical help on topics ranging from subject selection to sermon preparation to actual pulpit delivery. Even the experienced pastor can benefit from this source of fresh ideas and approaches.

ELLEN, by Paul Ricchiuti. Pacific Press Publishing Association, Mountain View, California. $3.50.

This book was written to show a little more of what Ellen White was like—not as a superwoman or a stone saint, but as a real flesh-and-blood human being such as you yourself are. In this way, maybe the sweet flowing music of a better world that she heard can be heard by you a little more clearly.

That Tent by the Sawdust Pile

Lillian M. Criss

THAT TENT BY THE SAWDUST PILE, by Lillian M. Criss. Pacific Press Publishing Association, Mountain View, California. $3.50.

Annamae Burton lived on a farm not far from a giant sawdust pile, a reminder of former logging operations. Then one day strangers pitched a tent by the sawdust pile. As a result, life became much more meaningful for the high school girl but filled with conflicts and complications she never could have imagined. A true story of struggle, courage, near despair and victories.

HELP FOR TROUBLED MINDS, by Ruth Jaeger Buntain. Review and Herald Publishing Association, Washington, D.C. $.75.

Contemporary man, more than any other generation of his race, is haunted by worry, fear, discontent, guilt and other similar problems of the mind. These corroding, emotional conditions not only make life unpleasant; but if they become chronic, they may cause disease of mind or body.

In Help for Troubled Minds Mrs. Buntain writes helpfully and interestingly in the areas of the problems mentioned. She describes cases and suggests practical approaches to solutions.
