Remember, God is in Control

Charles Keymer
President
Michigan Conference

Recently my mother was hospitalized for tests which revealed that she would have to undergo major hip surgery. Naturally she was concerned about the operation, but she believed that God would be with her. We prayed together, asking that our Saviour would provide her with His sustaining strength and that He would give the doctor divine wisdom to perform a successful operation.

Just before my mother went to the operating room, we read portions of her favorite Scripture. "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in Him will I trust. . . . Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation; there shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." Psalm 91, King James Version.

These inspired words seemed to remove any anxious thoughts and as she was being taken to surgery she said, "I know that everything is going to be alright because God is in control." The surgery was successful and she is now at home learning to walk again.

Often when facing a crisis, when our hearts are fearful and our minds are perplexed, we tend to trust in our own strength to work things out. At such times instead of worrying about what we can or cannot do, we need to think about what God can do and ask for His divine power.

Do we really believe that God can help us in all our difficulties? Do we depend on Him to solve all our problems and provide for our every need? Paul the apostle confidently assures us: "Now unto Him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us. . . ." Ephesians 3:20, K.J.V.

The following quotations are reminders of what God will do for us: "True faith rests on the promises contained in the Word of God, . . ." —Early Writings, p. 72.

"When we have asked for His blessing, we should believe that we receive it, and thank Him. . . . the blessing will be realized when we need it most." —Desire of Ages, p. 200.

Those who place themselves under God's control will be led and guided by Him: "For the eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to shew Himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward Him." II Chronicles 16:9, K.J.V.

"If we realize our helplessness and our need of divine power, we shall not trust to ourselves. We know not what results a day, an hour, or a moment may determine, and never should we begin the day without committing our ways to our heavenly Father. His angels are appointed to watch over us, and if we put ourselves under their guardianship, then in every time of danger they will be at our right hand." —Christ's Object Lessons, p. 341.

Remember, always, that God is still in control!

THE HEART OF THE LAKE UNION

He never says, 'I can't.'

by Barbara L. Purdue

I would like to introduce Dennis Corbett to the people of the Lake Union. I first met Dennis when he was a full-time student at the University of Evansville, Evansville, Indiana, where I was working. We were just barely speaking acquaintances then—now we are brother and sister in Christ.

Dennis is a remarkable person. He is a former champion wrestler. He is quite successful in business, directing several companies of his own. He has worked as a security guard, complete with a permit to carry a gun. Dennis has many other accomplishments which are listed in the section about him in Who's Who in America. He drives his own car, has beautiful handwriting and I could go on and on.

Some of these accomplishments might not seem too impressive except for the fact that Dennis was born without either arms or legs!

Dennis and his wife, Dwanna, had been searching for years for God's true church. They had often discussed Adventism with their friends and neighbors, Bill and Pat Adkins. Bill and Dennis had talked at length about God's remnant church.

Then last Christmas, Mike Young, principal of the Southwestern Junior Academy, New Albany, Indiana, met Dennis during an Ingathering visit. Mike introduced Dennis and Dwanna to Paul Scofield, pastor of the Evansville, Indiana, Church.

After 20 weeks of diligent and prayerful study, Dennis and Dwanna were baptized Sabbath morning, June 4, at the Evansville First Seventh-day Adventist Church by Pastor Scofield and Evangelist Charles Buursma. Pastor Buursma had just completed his last crusade as the Indiana evangelist before moving to Canada. It was an inspiring service for all of us.

The members of the Evansville church are looking forward to the second coming of Christ. Dennis and Pastor Scofield have a date to run a race to the tree of life in heaven, a race which Dennis plans to win.

Dennis was so anxious to start working for the Lord that he began even before he was a baptized member of the church. His first convert was Bill Miller, a close friend. Bill was baptized in the service with Dennis and Dwanna. I am sure many people in Evansville will be reached by the young man who would never say, "I can't."

ANDREWS HOLDS STUDENT LEADERSHIP RETREAT

A retreat for Andrews students with leadership responsibilities during the coming school year was held at Camp Au Sable September 19 to 21.

Approximately 120 students heard daily presentations by Dr. Robert A. Williams, chairman of Andrews' education department. Williams dealt with the characteristics of good leadership and divided students into groups for discussion and role playing.

The retreat is sponsored annually by Campus Ministries for student association officers, leaders of Andrews Christian Youth Action (ACYA), student missionaries and dormitory advisers.

David E. Johnston

JOHNSTON DIRECTS TRUST SERVICES FOR UNIVERSITY AND UNION

David E. Johnston is Andrews' new director of trust services, succeeding H. Reese Jenkins. Johnston functions in the same capacity for the Lake Union Conference.

Johnston joined the Seventh-day Adventist church in 1963 and was ordained to the ministry in 1970. During the past year he has served as a trust officer for Andrews.

Born and raised in Connecticut, Johnston came to Andrews from the Southern New England Conference where he was director of trust services and secretary of the conference association for nine years. He also served as secretary of the departments of stewardship and development, religious liberty and public affairs, and public relations.

Johnston is a graduate of Yale University and the University of Connecticut School of Law. He has been a member of the Connecticut bar since 1961.

He attended the seminary at Andrews during the 1966-67 school year and served his pastoral internship in Hartford, Connecticut.

ANDREWS LURES OVERSEAS STUDENTS

Andrews University seems to hold a greater attraction for undergraduate students from overseas than any other Adventist college in North America, according to Dr. Humberto M. Rasi, dean of the School of Graduate Studies. Twenty-one percent of all students from outside the North American Division who came here to college during the 1976-77 school year chose Andrews.

Andrews scored highest among students from the Trans-Africa Division, 40 percent of whom elected to attend Andrews. The next highest percentages were 33 percent from the Northern Europe-West Africa Division and 25 percent from the Afro-Mideast Division.

SPECIAL COURSES DOUBLE IN A YEAR'S TIME

The number of workshops and special courses offered by Andrews University has doubled in the last year, according to Dr. Humberto M. Rasi, dean of the School of Graduate Studies. More than 700 participants registered for 42 workshops, seminars, institutes and educational tours during the 1976-77 academic year, he reported.

Dr. Rudolf E. Klimes, professor of educational administration at Andrews, has been asked to direct the organization of the special courses.

The objective of the new office is to "assist in the development and conducting of short courses and workshops for continuing professional, career and general education," says Klimes.

Klimes' administrative assistant for special courses is Allen R. Steele, graduate student in education and former director of Adventist World Radio.

Jon W. Gepford

B.C.S.H. NAMES NEW ASSISTANT ADMINISTRATOR

BATTLE CREEK—Jon W. Gepford has joined Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital as assistant administrator.

According to Administrator Vernon L. Small, Gepford has assumed a variety of administrative responsibilities related to the hospital's fiscal services, physicians' medical clinic, patient business department and purchasing department. He will also act as chairman of three committees—cost containment, purchasing, rates and charges—and will be a member of other hospital committees.

Gepford came to Battle Creek from New Jersey where he was assistant administrator of Hackettstown Community Hospital. Before serving in this position he was treasurer for a group of mission hospitals operated by the Seventh-day Adventist church in Bangkok, Thailand. The largest hospital in the group had a capacity of 185 beds.

Prior to going abroad Gepford held various positions at Glendale Adventist Medical Center, Glendale, California, one of which was director of purchasing, a position he held for five years.

Gepford has a B.A. degree from Southern Missionary College, Collegedale, Tennessee, and has done graduate work at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California.

While discussing his new position, Gepford commented, "I think Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital has a rich history and a great deal of potential. It is exciting for me to think about developing that potential."

Gepford and his wife, Patricia, have two children, Kevin, 13, and Julie, 12. Mrs. Gepford joined the hospital's preventive care department as a secretary. The Gepford children are both attending Battle Creek Academy.

Joyce and Garth Stoltz

JOYCE AND GARTH STOLTZ JOIN B.C.S.H.

BATTLE CREEK—After serving at the Seventh-day Adventist Mission in Monument Valley, Utah, for the past year and a half, Joyce and Garth Stoltz have taken new positions at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital. Joyce is the assistant director of nursing services, and Garth is employed in the maintenance department. Before serving as nursing and maintenance directors in Utah, they lived in Jamestown, New York. Joyce worked in the medical/surgical department at the Psychiatric Center in the nearby town of Gowanda.

Joyce attended Atlantic Union College and Columbia Union College. After graduating with a B.S. degree in nursing, Joyce taught nursing students at the New England Sanitarium near Boston.

Joyce's present duties include assisting the director of nursing services, Esther Oldham. She will also take up the role of director of staff development in that department.

Upon first visiting B.C.S.H. Joyce and Garth said it was the biggest and most modern hospital that they had been associated with. Compared with other hospitals, they felt it has the latest equipment.

Garth mentioned that this hospital and the maintenance facility at Monument Valley do not really compare; this is a much larger maintenance operation with a wider range of services.

Joyce stated that the hospital "seems to be well-staffed—quality and quantity-wise—and I sense a unified interdepartmental atmosphere. It is a joint front for this community to understand and use."

They both agree that the city first seemed old, but from a historical point of view. Being Seventh-day Adventists, Joyce and Garth appreciate that their denominational heritage was found here. "We both feel the Lord's return is soon," explained Joyce. "When deciding to come here, we realized we should finish the Lord's work where it began."

The Stoltzes have two children, ages 13 and 14, who will attend Battle Creek Academy this fall.

HOSPITAL FEELS SUMMERTIME BLOOD SHORTAGE

HINSDALE—During the past month the blood supply at Hinsdale Hospital has been marginal, according to Bruce Taber, blood bank supervisor. The emergency situation in the Chicago area seriously affects the hospital's back-up supply.

Hinsdale Hospital has recently acquired the equipment necessary for frozen blood storage. However, because this procedure has been initiated only within the last month, there is not sufficient supply to fall back on.

The most critical need is for types A, O and B positive. Although the percentage of hospital employees who donate is not high, those who do return often and the blood bank appreciates their willingness to give.

As a member of the Chicago Regional Blood program, the hospital blood bank offers its donors unlimited blood replacement anywhere in the United States.

AMENDED BYLAWS ADOPTED

HINSDALE—Amended bylaws for Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital were adopted by a unanimous vote at a special constituency meeting on September 8 at the hospital.

One of two major changes in the new bylaws is that the president of Great Lakes Adventist Health Services, Inc. (GLAHS), is now the chairman of the hospital Board of Trustees. The previous bylaws designated the president of the Lake Union Conference as board chairman.

GLAHS is a professional management group, a nonprofit Michigan corporation, offering professional management services to Hinsdale Hospital as well as other Lake Union health-care institutions.

Lowell L. Bock, Lake Union Conference president, is the interim president of GLAHS until a new president is named at the next GLAHS Board of Trustees meeting. L. Earl Laurence, immediate past president, recently accepted a position as executive officer at the National Institute of Arthritis, Metabolism and Digestive Diseases, one of the 11 divisions of the National Institutes of Health located in Bethesda, Maryland.

The second major change in the bylaws establishes a new Hinsdale Hospital constituency consisting of the members of the GLAHS Board of Trustees. In the previous laws, the hospital constituents were comprised of a larger group of people representing various groups in the Lake Union Conference and the General Conference.

A minor bylaws change calls for new titles for the hospital administrative staff. Irwin C. Hansen, administrator, will be president, and the assistant administrators are now designated as vice presidents. The new titles were incorporated into the bylaws adopting a trend in the health-care field toward using these titles.

A SUMMER AT LITTLE GRASSY LAKE

Little Grassy Lake S.D.A. Camp was many things to 466 campers this summer. It was canoeing with a counselor who cares, loading into the old army duck (DUKW) for a skiing trip, taking a boat ride with the entire unit or riding a minibike around the oval track. For a blind camper it was skiing for the first time alone, but under the watchful eye of an instructor. Most of all it was listening and participating around the campfire where campers became better acquainted with Christ.

Recognizing that their most important assignment was to make the entire camp environment an evangelistic outreach, the Little Grassy Lake S.D.A. Camp staff thank the Lord for the 141 campers who made their first public decisions to be baptized this summer.

MARY BARLEY ENTERS MISSION SERVICE

Mary Barley of Scottsburg, Indiana, left on August 21 for Beirut, Lebanon, where she will teach seventh- and eighth-grade students in the Beirut Overseas School. Her interest in missions was heightened by going to Honduras during Christmas holidays in 1973 to help build a church in the Valley of the Angels. Mary's enthusiasm and church leadership will be missed by her home church, but they have promised to maintain a prayer vigil for her mission commitment.

RETREAT HELD AT TIMBER RIDGE CAMP

On the weekend of August 12 to 14, a number of conference office personnel, ministers, physicians and other medical personnel from the Indiana Conference enjoyed a refreshing retreat at the Timber Ridge Youth Camp.

Dr. Glenn Toppenberg, from the Andrews University health center, was the guest speaker. Several of his lectures dealt with the relationship of diet to spiritual experience. On Sabbath afternoon Dr. Toppenberg was the chairman of a panel dealing with all types of health principles as outlined in the Spirit of Prophecy.

On Sunday all of the ministers throughout the state came to camp for the ministerial retreat. W. D. Frazee, director of the Wildwood Sanitarium near Chattanooga, Tennessee, presented a number of sermons on the book of Revelation.

The afternoons were devoted largely to recreational activities such as softball, swimming, water skiing, horseback riding and canoeing.

Ruth Whitlow, ceramics instructor, worked with the pastors' wives in making several ceramic pieces for their homes.

The departmental directors presented several items of interest to the pastors. Cliff Hoffman, youth director, presented the plan for selecting and sending youth delegates to the Festival of Faith in Lincoln, Nebraska, March 28 to April 1, 1978.

Alan Bohman, new principal of Indiana Academy, met for the first time with the ministers. He gave a report of the physical improvements which have been made on campus during the summer and plans for the future. The pastors were told how they could help worthy students have an opportunity for an education at the academy.

On Wednesday, August 17, the pastors went back to their home districts spiritually and physically refreshed after a few days of fellowship together.

WITNESSING TRAINING IN NEW ALBANY DISTRICT

The New Albany and Jeffersonville churches have participated in two witness training classes since the beginning of 1977. Conducted by Pastor Joel Underwood in his home, the Tuesday night classes were attended by as many as 15 people from the two churches. Each of the two classes lasted for three months in combination with on-the-job training. Three teams have been trained to date. Some of these people will then become teachers for the next class scheduled to begin in January.

Class members were instructed in such things as the Bible definition of a witness, proper attitudes in witnessing, personal testimonies, Bible studies, and handling questions and difficult situations.

This class has proven beneficial in more ways than one. Three people who attended the first class have since been baptized. Some who have attended the second class are also studying for baptism.

What do people who have taken the training say about it? Annette Dean, public school teacher and mother of two children, says, "I have more direction for planning my life. I'm sorry I didn't attend before."

ARCHA DART GUEST AT TIMBER RIDGE

Archa Dart, who for many years was associated with the General Conference education department, spent two weeks at Timber Ridge Camp as camp pastor.

The first week was the junior camp for 9- and 10-year-olds, and the second week was family camp.

The boys and girls enjoyed Pastor Dart's stories. He talked about the principles enunciated in God's Ten Commandments.

spoke each morning at camp council and in the evening at campfire on the practical aspects of strengthening our homes. During the day he spent countless hours in family counseling.

It was the first time Pastor Dart had been in Indiana for a series of lectures. Those who had the privilege of listening to him will long remember his counsel.

RICARDO GRAHAM SPEAKS AT CITY TEMPLE

It was a very proud moment for the members of the City Temple Church in Detroit, Michigan, when Pastor Ricardo Graham stood before them. Graham was brought up in the City Temple Church and is presently pastoring the Muncie-Terre Haute District. His parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles attended the service to encourage him in his ministry.

SHILOH TEACHER RECEIVES PH.D.

Zadock J. B. Reid, teacher of mathematics at Shiloh Academy in Chicago, Illinois, has received a Doctor of Philosophy degree in mathematics from Sussex College of Technology in Sussex, England.

Dr. Reid's philosophy is that mathematics is the key to the future. He also maintains that mathematics is the fundamental science by which God created and sustains the universe.

He has been instrumental in fostering computer programming at the academy and is preparing students for first-year college calculus. This is the first time in the history of the academy that the mathematics department has taught these courses.

Dr. Reid has two diplomas from West Indies College, a Bachelor of Arts degree from Andrews University, a Master of Science degree in mathematics from the University of Illinois and a Doctor of Arts degree pending at the University of Illinois. He also plans to enroll in the physics program at the University of Chicago this fall.

Dr. Reid and his wife, Fay, have three children, Shirley-Ann, Omar and Miguel.

SUMMER CAMP HIGHLIGHTS

Routine! That is the word which many veteran camp counselors might use in describing their summer's activity at Au Sable.

This may have been true for those hardworking youth leaders but that is not the word that would be used by the 1,095 young people who spent part of their summer at the 860-acre camp in Grayling, Michigan.

When was canoeing down the Au Sable River, or water skiing on Lake Shellenbarger routine to a 12-year-old from the inner city of Detroit? When was associating with 180 other young people routine to the young lad or lass from one of Michigan's small towns or country churches?

Routine? Well, even though the daily pattern is pretty much the same for the veteran counselor, each new crop of campers broke that routine with their personal joys and problems and their own individualism. Thus, a recount of the summer's activities is bound to point out that in the daily routine program were hundreds of shades of situations to be cared for at Au Sable this summer.

There were specific highlights in the overall program which defy being called routine—the camps for handicapped children, for instance. One hundred fourteen children with mental and physical handicaps came from Beekman Center in Lansing. There were blind children and those with visual and hearing impairments—80 in number. What a challenge it was to work with those cheerful groups. The fun and excitement they had was far from routine.

Left, Building castles in the sand is fun because you can "see" with your hands. Right, Thanks to the cooperation of the National Guard, blind campers get the feel of a helicopter.

There were other special camps. Forty families participated in the traveling family camp to Colorado. The minibike camp, with 18 people, and the horseback camp, with 17 people, took the participants away from the regular surroundings. Forty-five other people attended the gymnastics camp taught by a team from Andrews University. The horsemanship camp—a first for Au Sable—emphasized the selection, care and feeding of horses. This program was geared to the earning of the M.V. honor for horsemanship.

A staff of 80 helped make the entire summer program move along smoothly. In addition 11 physicians volunteered a week out of their busy programs to help at the camp. Twelve volunteer pastors did the same to serve as spiritual counselors.

With the planning and work of these dedicated people and the cooperation of the campers, the "routine" summer camping program came to a successful end.

CAMP WAHDOON '77

"Can't I please stay another week?" was the plea of more than one young person who attended Camp Wahdoon during 1977. It was the best camping season ever as far as total attendance was concerned. There were more than 170 non-Adventists attending the camp and 40 blind campers as well.

The junior camping season opened with a wiggling mass of humanity—117 strong—called the camp for 8- to 10-year-olds. They initiated their counselors very quickly. Even the daily rains could not dampen their enthusiastic spirit.

The night they were to leave, the bus from Milwaukee broke down and did not arrive until approximately 11 P.M. The camp facilities were stretched to the breaking point as the staff attempted to house the 148 newly arrived 10- to 12-year-old campers plus thirty-six 8- to 10-year-olds who were to ride back on the Milwaukee bus. To complicate matters even more, there was a storm with tornado sightings, that succeeded in getting everyone thoroughly wet. However the new day dawned bright and clear, the bus was repaired and camp continued.

The teen camp showed the largest increase with 118 teens compared to 68 last year. There were special activities that week designed specifically for them. Canoe trips on a nearby river, an archaeological expedition to an ancient pipestone quarry and trailblazing into the wilderness were special features.

Pastor Don Giarrusso of the Green Bay district gave an inspiring sermon on Sabbath morning during a torrential downpour that literally flooded the tent in which he was preaching. Yet the Spirit of the Lord was there as the teen campers listened intently, and 15 teenagers accepted Jesus as their personal Saviour.

A special thanks is given to the lay activities department of the Wisconsin Conference which sponsored 148 non-Adventist youth to attend Camp Wahdoon. The $35 sponsorship left only a $10 fee to be paid by the local church. This program has been used successfully in the past two years and is evangelism of the highest order.

Even K. P. can be fun at camp.

A new feature at Camp Wahdoon was the family camp. This was the first camp of the season and several families enjoyed the quiet change of pace as they entered into the camp program. The survival camp was held at the same time allowing the facilities to do double duty for these two smaller camps.

Already plans are being made for next year. A new ball field is under construction and other improvements are being planned during the winter months to ready the camp for the church's greatest source for evangelism—its young people—in 1978.

This Year, Discover LIFE & HEALTH's Evangelistic Power

"Publications upon health reform will reach many who will not see or read anything upon important Bible subjects. . . .

"In giving attention to this branch of the work you remove a large amount of prejudice from many minds, that has barred the way to their receiving the truth and reading the publications setting forth the truth which we believe. . . .

"When you make the people intelligent on the question of health reform, you have prepared the way for them to give attention to the present truth for these last days."—E. G. White, Counsels to Writers and Editors, pp. 123-125.

Del Delker

A HEART FOR SINGING

Del Delker's life has been filled with music since she was a small child.

"My first baby-sitter was a record player," she says. "The music kept me entertained for hours."

This year as Del celebrates her 30th anniversary with the Voice of Prophecy she earns the distinction of serving longer than anyone else as a performing member of the broadcast's music staff.

After turning down the invitation four times because she didn't think she had enough musicianship and didn't want to leave her home in Oakland, California, Del joined the Voice of Prophecy staff in 1947.

From her second-floor office where she serves as music staff secretary, Del reflected about what her service at the Voice of Prophecy has meant to her. She sorted through some letters on her desk.

"Music can touch the heart like nothing else," she said. "Here is a letter from a woman who was well known for her fearful temper. But one night at camp meeting she heard the King's Heralds singing, 'Would your heart be right, if He came tonight?'" and she knew the answer was no. She gave herself completely to Jesus, and now her 10-year-old boy has seen the difference. When he greeted his mother the other day he said, 'Hi, changed Mom.' "

One day at lunch in a cafeteria a woman approached Del and asked, "Do you remember me?"

"No, I'm sorry, I don't," Del said.

"I was an alcoholic," the woman continued. I wandered into the Lynwood camp meeting where H. M. S. Richards was speaking on forgiveness.

"The message that God could change even me began to be believable. And then you sang 'The Love of God,' and in my drunken stupor I accepted that love."

Now a baptized Seventh-day Adventist Christian, the woman works as a counselor to alcoholics.

Del feels that it takes a lot of prayer for a person in the public spotlight to keep things in perspective and to acquire a sense of total dependence on God.

"I'm just an average person," she says, "but the beautiful thing is that God can take any of us and use us to help reach others. Every morning we can say, 'I'm yours today, Lord,' and He can take it from there."

Del has never lost her sense of awe for the work of the broadcast. "I still get choked up when I hear 'Lift Up the Trumpet,'" she says.

She's convinced that the Voice of Prophecy will continue to play a vital role in proclaiming God's Word before Jesus comes. "Right now it looks as if we are going to have to cut back our coverage because of a shortage of funds, but God's people have rallied before. I'm sure they'll come through this time, too," she said.

As for herself, Del plans to keep lifting her voice in praise to God. It's her way of letting others know about the love of Jesus.

COMING THIS FALL: HARVEST CELEBRATION

Do you believe Jesus is coming soon? We do. And we've dedicated our time, talent and energy to telling other people of His return.

Buz Starrett, former director of Heritage Singers-New Creation, feels strongly that one of the best mediums for spreading the word is through gospel music. During a crusade in Lincoln, Nebraska, in which Heritage New Creation was involved, several businessmen expressed their desire to be a part of this type of ministry. With much prayer, Harvest Celebration was born.

Harvest Celebration is a lively group of 14 dedicated young people who would like to share their Jesus with you. Come on, join in the Celebration!

For more information: Call (402) 423-5732 or 488-6855, or write P.O. Box 6558, Lincoln, NE 68506.

ROGER COON TO WRITE BIOGRAPHY OF ERNEST LLOYD

The Pacific Press Publishing Association has requested Roger W. Coon, professor of religion at Pacific Union College, to write the life story of Elder Ernest Lloyd.

Elder Lloyd is best remembered for his quarter-century (1924-49) editorship of Our Little Friend, but his service as a pioneer worker—particularly in California—was varied.

Elder Coon is now at work researching the materials for this biography. He is especially appealing to any reader who may have known Elder Lloyd, or who may have worked with him in denominational service, or whose life was influenced for the better through his writings, to share interesting incidents or experiences and thus help Elder Coon write his book.

Such materials should be sent without delay to: Roger W. Coon, Pacific Union College, Angwin, CA 94508.
