After serving the Lake Union Conference family on a weekly basis for more than 70 years, the Herald will become a biweekly publication beginning with the next issue.

This difficult decision was made by the Union Conference Executive Committee only after indepth study which continued during several months. Factors leading to the change were:

1. Our family church paper should be continued as a gift subscription to every Adventist home in the Lake Union.
2. As in every other cost area, inflationary trends in the publishing industry pretty much dictated a frequency and budgetary change insofar as the Herald is concerned. Other union conferences in North America publish on a biweekly frequency or less with acceptable results.
3. Serious study of church priorities and a balanced view of finance suggested more dollars should be channeled directly into "front-line" programs for church growth. Since the local conferences all participate in sharing publication costs, this change in policy will provide direct savings to each conference.

The editorial staff of the Herald has always served to INFORM, INSTRUCT and INSPIRE the members of the Lake Union. This purpose, with God's help, will not change.

As a footnote, I would urge every home to make sure of that other weekly visitor which includes news and articles of general import. This is accomplished by continuing your subscription to the Adventist Review.

THE HEART OF THE LAKE UNION

From Trash to Treasure

by Cliff Hoffman

George Sigler retired after 45 years of work at the Owens-Illinois Glass Company, but George and his wife, Cecile, did not retire from supporting the Lord's work.

Three years ago they got a unique idea while walking through the park one day. They noticed many bottles and cans and decided these things could be collected and sold.

So George and Cecile began traveling the roads around Marion, Gas City and Jonesboro, Indiana. During the summer they went out at four o'clock in the morning to get ahead of other people doing the same thing.

They discovered they could sell glass for $30 a ton. In 1978 they picked up about 2,500 pop bottles. The used bottles are ground up, melted and remade into bottles. Cans brought 10 cents a pound during 1978 and the Siglers sold 300 pounds.

Not only are George and Cecile interested in cans and bottles, but newspapers as well. Many people save newspapers for them to sell. They have been selling up to five tons of paper a year.

Why do the Siglers go to all the trouble of collecting and selling these materials? The answer is simple. George says, "We want a little bit extra to support the Lord's work here in Marion. Fifty percent goes for Investment and the other 50 percent goes for building fund, church school and church budget."

In 1977 the Siglers turned in $564.49 to the church and in 1978 they turned in $658.20. That represents a lot of cans, bottles and newspapers.

I asked George how other retired people could get involved in this kind of project. He suggested that they go to their local Chamber of Commerce to find out where recycling companies are located. He said, "Once they have that information, they can hit the roads."

Cliff Hoffman is communication director of the Indiana Conference.

George and Cecile Sigler have developed special tools to pick up bottles and cans which they load in a pickup truck and sell for the Lord's work.

Celebrating 80 Years of ADVENTIST ACTION for Blind People

Today there are more than 15 million persons who suffer the most universal handicap of all physical handicaps - blindness.

Christian Record Braille Foundation is celebrating 80 years of supplying free, inspirational materials to all blind persons who request these services.

by James E. Chase

Mary Pukey walks 11 blocks to her job at Christian Record Braille Foundation each day. She has been braille proofreader in the editorial department for 11 years.

Before coming to Christian Record, Mary was employed by Westinghouse Corporation in Fairmont, West Virginia. She says, "There came a knock at the door of my mobile home. Upon hearing an unfamiliar voice, I at first refused admittance to the kind stranger who was to touch my life so profoundly. E. H. Craig was not offended by this refusal, but said, 'And you're very wise to do so. I'll just stand out here and talk to you. I'm from Christian Record Braille Foundation with headquarters in Lincoln, Nebraska. They publish books and magazines in braille, and offer other services.'

"I was impressed and asked Mr. Craig to come in. As he described the facets of the work, I asked, 'What denomination are you affiliated with?' He replied, 'Seventh-day Adventists.'

"I told him I was sorry but I couldn't accept any of his literature. It wasn't that I was prejudiced, but I had changed denominations several times, and if I should hear the Scripture presented in yet another light, I would likely be confused.

"Undaunted, Mr. Craig said he understood and then suggested that he knew just the magazine I would enjoy—Life and Health. I was eager to receive this new magazine.

"When the first issue of Life and Health came, right there on the front page was a notice to the effect that Christian Record was looking for a braille proofreader. Reading was my great love. The content of material I would be proofing did not, at that time, enter my mind.

"I began corresponding with C. G. Cross, the Christian Record manager. I learned that 14 people were being interviewed and that I would be personally interviewed at another date.

"On the ninth of November my mailbox contained a familiar envelope with a C.R.B.F. return address. The committee had met on November 7 and had decided to invite me to be their proofreader.

"When I moved to Lincoln in January 1968, I did not anticipate the changes that would take place in my spiritual life.

"As I came in contact with the writings of Ellen White, I found their beauty and clarity enlightened and inspired me to want to delve more deeply into them. I requested that Elder and Mrs. Cross study the Bible with me. In November 1968 I was baptized by Elder Cross."

Mary Pukey has enhanced the work of Christian Record by excellence in her work and a daily demonstration that life can be beautiful—sighted or blind.

Anna and Albert Votava have lived in the same house on Bennett Boulevard in the town of Chandler, Oklahoma, for 40 years, on ground where Anna's family home stood. Anna says, "This place is precious to me."

"Reading is also a precious blessing," Anna continues. "I'm thankful for three percent vision. It isn't much, but I manage to read several hours each day."

Six years ago when a specialist in Oklahoma City told Mrs. Votava that she had diabetic retinitis, she was worried that she would lose her sight. Over a period of two years, Mrs. Votava received treatment with lazer beams. This type of cauterization leaves scars, but, at this time, there are no new hemorrhages.

Albert Votava has built a book stand for Anna that enables her to turn pages and hold her magnifying glass. Anna uses a visor with two magnifying lenses that are placed over her regular glasses, which also magnify. She must use high intensity lamps to enjoy her favorite pastime—reading large-print books from Christian Record Braille Foundation.

Anna Votava, and her daughter, Frances, became Seventh-day Adventists 25 years ago through the influence of a friend who talked and lived her faith. Three years later, Albert joined the church family.

Books and church papers have always been important to the Votava family. Now, with the isolation of near blindness, four heart attacks, and advancing age, Anna depends even

COMMENCEMENT MARKS GRADUATION CENTENNIAL

In a commencement service which observed the 100th anniversary of its first graduating class, Andrews University awarded 516 degrees to graduates from its four schools on Sunday, June 3.

There were 270 graduates of the College of Arts and Sciences and 21 of the College of Technology. The School of Graduate Studies produced 112 graduates while the Theological Seminary conferred degrees on 113.

A capacity crowd in the Pioneer Memorial Church heard Andrews' former president Dr. Richard Hammill address the class.

"In my lifetime," said Dr. Hammill, "I have seen repeated in the world at large, and in my own smaller world, tragedy and sorrow. Soon after being graduated from college 43 years ago, our class began to encounter very distressing experiences.

"First, there was the great economic depression, during which time jobs for college graduates were almost nonexistent, and one felt fortunate if he was even able to earn enough to buy simple food. Then we were shaken when the brightest and prettiest girl in our class died of cancer within one year of graduation, and another member of the class was killed in an auto accident on the way to his wedding.

"Soon World War II enmeshed us in its painful events. Like others, I encountered situations that led to tremendous frustration and discomfort. I mention these experiences only to emphasize that if we expect to be free from the pain that accompanies existence, we will be disappointed.

"We should not fight the fact that problems and disappointments—yes, and suffering too—are a reality, even in the life of a genuine Christian," Dr. Hammill continued. "They cannot be avoided, but they can be endured.

"God says that the righteous must live by faith in Him every day. This trust in God will help Christians slog their way through the difficult places in life, and will make the bright experiences even more joyous. Just as we receive Christ by faith, so we must live in Him by faith.

"We see life as it is," he said, "yet we have the assurance that if we live each moment with faith and trust in God, He will sustain us in every situation we may meet, no matter how difficult it may be.

"My hope for each of you is that you may face the future with this supreme assurance, and find happiness in the concept that keeping one's hand in the hand of God is better than a known way, or a light on a dark path."

Dr. Hammill was president of Andrews from 1963 to 1976. He now serves as general vice president of the General Conference.

Honorary doctoral degrees were conferred on three persons, including

Andrews faculty member, Dr. Blythe Owen.

Dr. Owen was awarded the Doctor of Music degree in recognition of her accomplishments in composing music for piano, organ, choir, orchestra and band. She has taught piano at Andrews since 1965 and has been active in the fine arts in many parts of the United States and abroad.

Kenneth H. Wood was given the Doctor of Letters degree. Dr. Wood is editor of the Adventist Review, the official paper of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. He has been editor since 1966.

In reading Dr. Wood's citation, Andrews provost Dr. Roy E. Graham said that perhaps his "greatest contribution to the denomination has resulted from his philosophy of journalism, which has led to an extremely 'open' church journal. Believing that the church paper should be a mold as well as reflector of public opinion, Dr. Wood writes on all current world and church issues."

B. L. Archbold of Miami, Florida, received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree for his contribution to evangelism and church growth in the Inter-American Division, an area which covers the Caribbean and Central America as well as a portion of northern South America. Dr. Archbold is president of the division.

"His passionate, articulate preaching style has made him a favorite guest speaker at hundreds of Adventist convocations," read his award.

A new award was inaugurated at the commencement in conjunction with the 150th anniversary of the birth of J. N. Andrews, for whom the university is named.

Dr. Daniel Augsburg, professor of historical theology in the Theological Seminary, became the first recipient of the John Nevins Andrews Medallion for outstanding contributions to knowledge. The new award will be presented annually.

Dr. Augsburg, who has taught at Andrews continuously since 1942, longer than any other present faculty member, also received one of this year's Faculty Awards in April.

Brenton Mullins of Bentonville, Arkansas, became possibly the youngest person to receive a bachelor's degree from Andrews. Brenton, who is 18, earned a B.S. degree in communication. University officials were unable to recall anyone younger who had ever graduated from Andrews.

Doctor of Education degrees were conferred on Jose Carlos Juliano Ebling, Newton W. Hoilette, Rolando A. Itin, Minerva Constantine Straman, Kembleton S. Wiggins, Elizabeth Wilkins and David Wong.

The Theological Seminary awarded Doctor of Ministry degrees to Japheth Agboka, Boaz J. Dompas, Julio D. Huayllara, John Kisaka, Jonathan Kuntaraf, William H. McVay, Samuel D. Schmidt, Victor A. Schulz and Hyun Chul Shin.

The seminary also gave Doctor of Theology degrees to Joel Awoniyi, Bernard H. Brinsmead and Arthur J. Ferch.

On Friday evening the class heard Carl Coffman, professor of religion at Andrews, deliver the consecration sermon. Robert H. Carter, secretary of the Lake Union, spoke at the Sabbath baccalaureate service.

Certificates were presented on May 29 to 42 students who completed Andrews' occupational education program. The students had finished courses in auto mechanics, printing, welding, quantity food preparation, electric wiring, sign lettering and design, carpentry, computers, refrigeration and air conditioning, and cosmetology.

BURR RIDGE CHURCH ORGANIZED

The Burr Ridge, Illinois, Church was organized May 5, 1979, in the Hinsdale Church youth chapel. John Hayward, conference president, and Larry Milliken, Hinsdale pastor, directed the organization of the church with 78 charter members and the ordination of one elder and four deacons. There was a warm spirit among the church members who are renting facilities in the suburb just south of Hinsdale.

MOTHERS HONORED

At the Downers Grove Church on Mother's Day, May 12, juniors presented flowers to their mothers during the church service. Pastor John Baldwin and some of the elders gave short messages and poems before the traditional ceremony. Shown participating in the ceremony are, from left, Narisda Cruz, Jimmy, Zelda Christian, Jannie and Julie. Duskin Edward, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Lenz, was dedicated before the Mother's Day ceremony.

RECORD-BREAKING 5-DAY PLAN IN FT. WAYNE

Indiana's largest Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was conducted at Fort Wayne's St. Joseph Hospital, January 14 to 18.

Last fall an official from St. Joseph Hospital attended a Five-Day Plan conducted at Fort Wayne's Allen County Cancer Society. This person was so impressed that a few days later he contacted Pastor Michael Petricko to ask if a program could be conducted at the hospital.

Since previous Five-Day Plans held at the cancer society's facilities were always overcrowded, the offer of a more adequate meeting auditorium sounded inviting and was accepted.

Preregistrations for the January 14 plan at the hospital suggested that an audience of up to 100 could be expected if the weather cooperated.

When opening night came, however, the city was under a storm warning and the temperature fell to six below zero. However, 220 registered, while an additional 50 more came along as nonsmoking observers.

Attendance continued to climb until closing night when some 330 people jammed the auditorium which was designed to seat 295. Standing-room-only conditions prevailed.

Voice of Prophecy

"I got up to speak and a latecomer came in and took my seat, the only one left!" said program director Petricko.

"We were so crowded the final night that it was difficult to find a place to stand and see the screen or speakers," he added. Hospital officials were overwhelmed at the response.

The local NBC television station filmed portions of the closing program for a news broadcast.

There were at least two reasons for the unusually large attendance. First, the publicity department of the hospital did an excellent job. Pastor Petricko was interviewed on all four television stations in Fort Wayne. Some of the interviews were taped and rerun several times.

Radio spots and newspaper coverage was especially widespread. People read about the program in their local papers in towns 30 and 40 miles away; some people came from Ohio to the Five-Day Plan.

The second reason was also crucial to the outstanding success. The week before the Five-Day Plan began, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano released the second Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health. The report coincided with the pre-Five-Day Plan publicity.

"We feel it was planned, by God, of course," stated Pastor Petricko. The day Pastor Petricko was scheduled to appear on the local noon NBC television news program for a live interview, the Califano report hit the news media. The result was astounding.

Hospital officials reported the switchboard was jammed. "We were concerned that emergency calls could not get through," said a hospital spokesman. "People kept calling about the smoking clinic, and we just couldn't turn them off. Our lines were swamped."

Another Five-Day Plan was announced for May 6 at the St. Joseph Hospital. "This date marked the beginning of National Hospital Week, and officials felt the Five-Day Plan was the best program they could offer the community for that event," said Pastor Petricko. "Of course we think they are right about that!" he concluded.

CICERO SCHOOL WELCOMES FUTURE FIRST GRADERS

Roundup Day at the Cicero Church School was an active one as 10 excited preschool students entered the classroom for the first time, took a reading-readiness test, and experienced a few hours of school. Parents in the Cicero Church are urged to send their children to church school, the "ark of safety." As one little preschooler left the classroom that day, he was heard to remark, "I learned fast how to get along in school; I learned to keep my mouth shut." Participating in the Roundup Day activities were, from left, front row, Pam Ward, Jennifer Inman, Larry Grosswiler and Heather Savage. In the back row, Kimberly Alden, Brian Hicks, Michelle Skoretz, Laura Palmiero, Jim Engels and Celia Trubey.

NEWS NOTES

- The Maywood, Illinois,

Community Church M.V. Society, directed by Susie Winfrey, recently presented a Health Day Program. Dr. George Graham was the guest speaker. His talk about hypertension covered possible causes, effect and treatment, and reminded the members that their bodies are the temple of God. Several of the nurses presented a panel discussion on diabetes, the importance of proper eating habits, regular exercise and medical check-ups. After the discussion there was a short question-and-answer period.

• The Motor City Dorcas Federation was held April 8, 1979, at the Pontiac Southside Church. The Federation began at 10 A.M. with Marjorie Andrews presiding. Devotion was given by Elder Eric Dillett. Elder Horace Jones presented some very timely remarks. Mattie Bell, a 77-year-old patient of the Pontiac Bloomfield Nursing Center, made some special remarks. Mrs. Bell is not a member of the Adventist Church, but through continuous visits from members of the Southside Church she has become interested in the Adventist faith and was very impressed with the federation. There was also a demonstration of the Stewart Oxygen Service by Keith Vanover, inhalation therapist from Lansing. He also showed some procedures for CPR techniques in case of emergency. Most of the area churches were represented, and dinner was served immediately after the program.

EDUCATION DAY AT INDEPENDENCE

Herman Davis, pastor, and Carolyn Palmer, home and school leader, worked tirelessly in presenting a successful Christian education program at the Independence Church in Chicago on May 19. The guest speaker was Dr. Ivan Warden of Andrews University. Music was provided by the Harambee Singers and Chapter One from Andrews. A donation was presented to Mrs. Palmer by the students from Andrews for the church school project. The members of Independence are working hard to begin a church school by September 1979.

VASSAR MEMBERS DEDICATE NEW CHURCH

One hundred and fourteen years after tent meetings resulted in a congregation at Vassar, a second Adventist house of worship was dedicated.

The first house of worship, occupied in 1871, still serves as a church in Vassar. The local Assembly of God holds services in the solidly built edifice on Prospect Street.

The original Vassar Church was built from "stumps, old logs and donated trees." The size of the logs can be imagined by examining the boards in the original church. Some floor planks measured 1¼ by 24 inches by 16 feet. White oak beams for the foundation include two that are 8 by 8 inches by 47 feet. Labor was donated so that the total outlay of money for the church (valued at $3,500) was $1,800.

The ceremonies for the new church featured Elders Charles Keymer and James Hayward from the Michigan Conference office. Elder Keymer, president of the conference, spoke during the regular morning service, and Elder Hayward, the executive secretary, presented the dedicatory sermon in the afternoon.

Also participating with Herbert Lohr, current pastor, in the day-long activities, were the five ministers who preceded him at Vassar, and District Superintendent Wilbur Woodhams.

According to the history of the church presented by Clare Brummet, first elder, the first Adventist congregation developed after tent meetings held by Elder I. D. Van Horn (who later served as conference president) and D. M. Canright during 1865.

Elder and Mrs. James White and J. N. Andrews visited the church the following winter. Joseph Bates made yearly visits during his lifetime.

Mr. Brummet pointed out that "on Bate's last visit to Vassar he received word from Mrs. White that his work was accepted and done. This was a great disappointment to him, as he thought he was the Joshua to be translated to the promised land. He went home, gave a farewell sermon, and died the next week."

According to the history presented by Mr. Brummet, another name of historical interest to Adventists is George King, the first literature evangelist.

Mr. King joined the church because he wanted to preach. The brethren sent him with Elder Sands Lane to hold meetings in the Vassar area, where Mr. King expected to do most of the preaching. However, Elder Lane did most of it, and Mr. King discovered that while Elder Lane could preach, he couldn't.

When the series of meetings were completed Elder Lane moved to other areas. Mr. King stayed in Vassar at the home of some church members. He helped with the work of the church, distributed tracts and sold books on commission.

He sold one History of the Sabbath, two Thoughts on Revelation, and five Thoughts on Daniel. So enthused was he with his success that he agreed to sell 1,000 copies if Thoughts on Daniel and Thoughts on Revelation were bound in one volume.

In the spring the Review and Herald notified him that the books were ready and he went to Battle Creek to pick them up. Thus the Adventist literature evangelism program began.

Through the years the church grew and the building was improved. However, the time came when the need for a new structure became imperative and plans were made. On June 13, 1971, ground was broken for the new church, and in October, 1973, the congregation moved into it. Consecration services were held Sabbath, November 3. Since then carparks have been added and the roof lines changed to give a larger overhang. Today the approximate value of the structure is in excess of $150,000.

BABY DEDICATION IN OWOSSO

Child dedications are always a happy experience for any church. On May 19, 1979, the Owosso Church rejoiced in the dedication of Hiliary Elizabeth Leigh Elemendorf and Loren Russel Munson. Hiliary's father and Loren's mother are in practice together as pediatricians in Owosso. Pictured, from left, are Dr. and Mrs. Edward Elemendorf and Hiliary, Dr. Barbara and Dr. Elwin Munson and Loren, and Daniel Ipes, pastor.

Vassar Church

Conference President Charles Keymer has eager helpers to unload a van of bagged pennies.

Children from Munising carried a plastic canoe "bank" on a pole. Behind them is a miniature lodge made from rolls of pennies by Marquette members. The Michigan Conference matched the first 500,000 pennies raised by the Upper Peninsula members.

Participants add their contribution to the canoe "collection plate." The filled canoe weighed an estimated 6,000 pounds and had to be positioned over a supporting I-beam before any pennies were placed inside.

1,000,000 PENNIES COLLECTED FOR CAMP SAGOLA

More than one million pennies were collected by Adventists of District One in the Upper Peninsula to benefit Camp Sagola.

Most of the money raised was the direct result of efforts of the children in the district. Although the lodge has been usable there are several major items that need to be repaired.

Many students saved their own money in order to have a part in the offering. Children in one family raised $20 by giving or mailing a brochure telling about the campaign to friends of the family.

Two hundred people, including conference office representatives were pleased to have Jack L. Gingrass of Iron Mountain, the State Representative of the 109th District, present when the pennies were totaled. He congratulated the group for raising $6,826.98 and later added his "two cents worth" to make the grand total an even $6,827.

Leo Burnett Jr. of Rapid River adds State Representative Jack Gingrass's "two cents worth" to even out the total.

CEDAR LAKE ACADEMY HAS SUMMER WORK OPPORTUNITIES

Ample summer work for Cedar Lake Academy students is forecast by M. W. Shultz, principal, in a letter to pastors and church school principals.

The Bake-n-Serve industry, the Cedar Lake Mill and the new packaging industry can employ students during the summer months. Those hired for the packaging industry can receive $2.47 an hour, and 14- and 15-year-old students can be employed.

"This is a great opportunity for students needing funds for next year's education," Mr. Shultz said, and pointed out that some summer courses will be offered free to those who work full time on campus. In addition there will be a well-rounded recreational program after work and on weekends.

Registration for next school year has begun with 217 students already accepted. A beginning enrollment of 335 is anticipated, and those desiring to attend Cedar Lake should make immediate application. The academy wants to register as many as possible now to cut down on waiting time on registration day.

Lovina and Ernest Benjamin

50TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Benjamin of Battle Creek observed their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house, May 28, 1979, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Benedict. Their son, Robert, and his wife, and the Benjamins' six grandchildren and one great-grandson were also present.

Mr. Benjamin and the former Lovina Videto were married May 30, 1929, by her father, Elder William Videto in Battle Creek.

Mr. Benjamin established the Benjamin Press in 1932 and worked full time until the fall of 1969. He still works part time during the six months they live in Battle Creek; they spend the winter in Florida.

Mrs. Benjamin enjoys working for the Red Cross as a Gray Lady at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital. Both are active members of the Battle Creek Tabernacle. He has been an elder, Sabbath School superintendent and a member of the Battle Creek Academy school board. She has been a deaconess and active in the Sabbath School departments. They have both been members of the Tabernacle Church choir. He is also a member of the Battle Creek Exchange Club, and a past president.

30TH GRADUATION AT WISCONSIN ACADEMY

Wisconsin Academy celebrated its 30th annual graduation, May 25 to 27, in the new gymnasium.

On Friday evening Leonard McMillan, Washington Conference youth director and father of one of the seniors, presented the consecration message.

On Sabbath morning, Robert Dale, Wisconsin Conference president and the father of a senior, presented the baccalaureate message. Both men spoke on themes utilizing the senior class challenge: "To give light to those who sit in darkness and death's shadow, to guide us to the path of peace." Luke 1:79, The Living Bible.

The Sabbath School program was presented by the members of the senior class. Ivan Gillen, class pastor, was superintendent. Donal Schlegel, father of a senior, gave the lesson study.

On Sabbath afternoon members of the music department, directed by George Paul Haynes, Gary K. Klemp, and Louise Larmon, music instructors, presented a sacred Sabbath musicale.

Included were brass, clarinet, flute and saxophone ensembles, a vocal duet, organ solo and selections by the Wisconsin Academy Chorales and the chorale.

After the music program the seniors presented flowers to their parents.

The class night program included the president's address by Terri Shlegel, a tribute to parents by Lori Jaeschke and Donna Rhode, and presentation of the class gift—a cassette stereo tape deck—by Bob Sampson, president of the associated student body.

Music and variety numbers were also presented. A reception for parents and seniors was held in the academy cafeteria after this program.

A challenging commencement address was given by Dr. Frank Knittel, president of Southern Missionary College, on Sunday morning. After the address 67 seniors received individual recognition as Mildred Summerton, principal, presented the diplomas.

Ten of the seniors graduated with honors: Brenda Boughton, Bonnie Dick, Mary FitzGerald, Brad Frederick, Pam Goffin, Gloria Lampert, Cheryl Nash, Donna Rhode, Terri Schlegel and Bill Wold.

The senior class officers were: president, Terri Schlegel; vice presidents, Mitch McMillan and Donna Rhode; treasurer, Lori Jaeschke; secretary, Brenda Young, and pastor, Ivan Gillen.

more on materials she receives from the Adventist publishing house.

Chris Etheridge has been involved in camps since 1967. He was 16 years old when he went to the first national camp for blind children. There were only 27 campers at his first camp. Since then, 10,713 youth have attended 192 camps for blind children.

Thirty-eight camps will be held in 1979. Five of the 38 will include adults, and a Nu-Vision camp will be held for blind persons with multi-handicaps. Many of these people are in wheelchairs.

Chris was disappointed in the day camps he had attended before the Christian Record representative first approached him about spending a week at Christian Record's National Camps for Blind Children.

A partially sighted child takes his blind friend to the dining area at a national camp for blind children.

He was not interested—at least not until the representative read a list of names of those who planned to attend from his area. There was the name of a girl he liked in school and he decided immediately to go.

Once at camp Chris became so involved in the activities that he saw the girl only twice during the entire week. He was experiencing the delight of swimming, skiing, horseback riding and canoeing.

Early in life Chris developed a talent for entertaining others with imitations and music. He can produce sounds such as storms, animals, chirping crickets, musical instruments and he sings well. Chris was invited to stay the rest of the summer that first year to help entertain the campers. Since then Chris has worked seven years as camp counselor and entertainer.

Before going to camp, Chris ran around with a rough crowd in his neighborhood and school. At camp he became impressed with the integrity and happiness of the staff. He learned their happiness stemmed from Christian commitment. In 1971 Chris was baptized and continues to use his talents in making others happy with his song and imitations.

It was at camp that Chris first met Pam, who is now his wife. She is an accomplished pianist and enhances his performance. Chris admits that being blind presents problems for him and for Pam, who is also blind, but, he says, "I don't look the other way and say I can't handle them. I just ask Jesus to give me strength and faith. He does just that. God has enriched my life beyond my wildest expectations through the camping program and I can see how it influences the lives of thousands of blind young people for good."

These stories represent the people Christian Record Braille Foundation serves—the blind, visually impaired, and children in either of these categories who benefit from the camping program.

There are 15 million people in this world who suffer the most universally dreaded of all physical handicaps—blindness. A total of 4,700,000 Americans have severe visual impairment.

We, as Seventh-day Adventists, have a commission to give the Gospel to everyone. How are the millions of blind people going to be reached with the Gospel?

The nonsectarian services offered by Christian Record Braille Foundation are paid for with public funds from solicitation, wills and legacies.

Denominational literature is supported by your offerings given each year in church. The annual offering this year will be received on Sabbath, July 14. You can help this work grow until the eyes of the blind are opened at Jesus' second coming.

Give away an enrollment card this week.

were many voices proclaiming the truth with great power. . . . "All this," said my Instructor, "is a parable of what should be, and what will be."—Medical Ministry, p. 305.

There are some who feel this counsel on outpost evangelism is out of date. They say, "It was appropriate for the 1800's but in the 1970's and 80's it is impossible to carry out." Is this true?

There is no change in the messages that God has sent in the past. The work in the cities is the essential work for this time. When the cities are worked as God would have them, the result will be the setting in operation of a mighty movement such as we have not yet witnessed.—Medical Ministry, p. 304.

Here in the Lake Union we have determined to follow this inspired counsel. As we have asked the Lord's help and guidance, He has provided the place to hold the type of training outpost that Mrs. White indicated should be established at the edge of Chicago.

The teaching staff has been chosen. On August 6, the first classes begin. Anyone who would be interested in being trained to help in the task of giving the last warning message should write to the Lake Union Soulwinning Institute, Lake Union Conference, Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103.

Special financial help is needed to provide part of the operating funds. Or you may wish to sponsor a student to be trained at the center.

Most of the supplies and equipment have been provided miraculously by the Lord. The following items are needed to fully equip the institute: beds and mattresses, electric typewriters, a riding lawn mower, office desks, and books for the library.

If you would like to help by donating any of these items, please contact your local ministerial secretary or the Lake Union office. We will be happy to give you a receipt for tax purposes.

ADVICE FROM ELLEN WHITE

Because of the inspired advice that has been given to the Seventh-day Adventist Church that the members should move out of the cities, we have almost totally forsaken the mission of warning the millions still living in the nation's major cities.

The majority of Adventists have moved to the suburbs or the country, leaving the inner city to be warned by the few church members who remain.

The Lake Union has made bold plans to reverse this trend and to set up a program to warn the residents of major cities.

The city of Chicago has been chosen as a pilot area to develop a system by which workers can be trained while the city is being worked.

Divine guidance was sought for the plans that have been made. We would like to share the instruction given many years ago that has motivated this bold move forward.

QUESTION: The teeming multitudes living in the congested centers of population present a tremendous challenge to the church today. What is our responsibility toward them?

MRS. WHITE'S ANSWER: The cities must be worked. The millions living in these congested centers are to hear the third angel's message. This work should have been developed rapidly during the past few years. Review and Herald, July 5, 1906.

Has God revealed a plan of labor for working in these metropolitan areas?

There should be companies organized and educated most thoroughly to work as nurses, as evangelists, as ministers, as canvassers, as gospel students, to perfect a character after the divine similitude.—Testimonies for the Church, vol. 9, p. 171, 172.

These workers should labor two and two, and from time to time all should meet together to relate their experiences, to pray and to plan how to reach the people quickly, and then, if possible, redeem the time. Manuscript 21, 1910.

Should we have teams of workers living in the cities?

It is God's design that our people should locate outside the cities, and from these outposts warn the cities, and raise in them memorials for God. There must be a force of influence in the cities, that the message of warning shall be heard. Review and Herald, April 14, 1903.

What type of property should we look for to establish these outposts?

The Lord would have His people looking about them, and securing humble, inexpensive places as centers for their work. And from time to time larger places will come to their notice, which they will be able to secure at a surprisingly low price. Manuscript 33, 1906.

Where should this property be located?

Let men of sound judgment be appointed, not to publish abroad their intentions, but to search for such properties in the rural districts, in easy access to the cities, suitable for small training schools for workers, and where facilities may also be provided for treating the sick and weary souls who know not the truth.—Medical Ministry, p. 308.

We are particularly interested in the city of Chicago. What instruction do we have regarding this great metropolitan area?

When Dr. Paulson showed me the location that had been secured for sanitarium work at Hinsdale, I was thoroughly pleased; for this place answered to the representations that had been given me of places that would be obtained by our people for sanitarium work outside of the large cities. Time will show that such properties as this can be used to far greater advantage than building in Chicago; . . . It was also represented to me that there were other places near Chicago, but away from the city, which the Lord would have His people secure. . . . I have heard the word of God proclaimed in many localities outside the city of Chicago. There
