SEQUEL

On page 2 of Issue 27 of the Lake Union Herald (dated July 31, 1979) was a brief item entitled "Soulwinning Institute Update." It was a last-minute effort to acquaint readers with the facts that our new training school in Chicago would open its doors for classes on August 5.

It was that little reminder that caught the attention of one of our medical families in the Lake Union. Their thoughts immediately turned to two talented and dedicated women in their church.

With only two or three days to spare, the necessary contacts were made and now Teresa Moravitz and Angie Reiger of Onaway, Michigan, are attending classes at the institute. I witnessed the interest and participation of these two women in their morning class work, and enjoyed their enthusiasm about plans for conducting Bible studies in the homes of interested people as scheduled for the afternoon.

Elder Finley reports that Teresa and Angie, upon completion of their training, will be outstanding Bible workers.

If readers of this column are interested in attending the institute on their own, or would like to sponsor other deserving and qualified persons, they should contact Elder Mark Finley, Soulwinning Institute, 6259 South Madison, Hinsdale, Illinois 60521.

The Adventist Media Center in Thousand Oaks, California, houses many of the Adventist church's broadcast media programs. For the story of what goes on at the center, read the article beginning on page 4.

Roscoe Brown decided while serving in the Armed Forces during the Korean War that when he returned home he would become a preacher—something he had always wanted to do.

Reaching home, Mr. Brown discovered he just didn't know where to begin. He couldn't even understand the Bible. In frustration, he knelt and prayed for guidance. About two weeks later, Beatrice Hampton, a Seventh-day Adventist Bible worker, knocked on his door and invited him to take Bible studies.

For an entire year Mrs. Hampton faithfully gave Mr. Brown studies. Some of those who went with Mrs. Hampton gave up, saying Roscoe would never join the church. However, with much persistence and prayer on the part of Mrs. Hampton, Mr. Brown was baptized.

Shortly after joining the church Mr. Brown attended an evangelistic crusade held by Elder E. E. Cleveland. He was so impressed he immediately began giving Bible studies. As a result of his diligence, 10 persons were baptized.

Roscoe was not satisfied that he was doing enough for the Lord even with giving Bible studies, serving as the lay activities leader and head usher. He still felt the Lord wanted him to preach and was continually writing sermons but never preaching them.

He decided to move his membership to a smaller congregation where his services would be more useful. He chose the Robbins, Illinois, Church. There he was chosen to serve as a local elder.

Elder Jessie Wagner decided in 1974 to give Roscoe the opportunity to hold an evangelistic crusade. He was given a tent and a $500 budget. After six weeks of preaching, 13 new believers joined the church.

During the same time, Roscoe began to experience dizziness and fatigue. When he checked into the Veterans Hospital it was discovered that he was suffering from a rare brain disease which slowly deteriorates the cerebellum. This portion of the brain controls speech, eyesight, balance and coordination. Hoping that the diagnosis was wrong, Roscoe also was examined at the Mayo Clinic. They confirmed the diagnosis.

There is no cure for this malady and Roscoe's steps have been slowed. He now must use a cane to assist him in walking and his speech is slightly slurred. He is also having problems with his vision but he has not stopped working for the Lord.

He has held several Week of Prayer series for academies and churches and has spoken for commencements, camp meeting and on many other occasions.

In order to meet these preaching engagements, Roscoe uses vacation time from his job as an accounts representative for the People's Gas, Light and Coke Company.

WITNESS FOR THE LORD

by Crystal Drake

Roscoe was voted Layman of the Year in 1975 for his soul-winning efforts and tireless work in the church.

Because of his failing eyesight, Roscoe now memorizes his sermons but he is determined to continue working for God.

Roscoe admonishes other laymen not to hide their talents but press forward. He feels that ministers should train laymen so that together they can finish the work.

Elder Brown is married to the former Mildred Maddox and is the proud father of a daughter, Beverly, and a son, Jeffrey.

The key to Elder Brown's success is found in his own words, "I just enjoy being a witness for my Lord."

ADVENTIST MEDIA CENTER

MEDIA MOVES MESSAGE

by Suzanne Hula

Beyond the stately architecture and beautifully landscaped grounds of the Adventist Media Center lies its one, all-important goal: to "go into all the world and preach the Gospel" as Jesus Christ commanded.

And that task is being accomplished. This 19-acre complex in Thousand Oaks, California, houses the broadcast ministries of the Seventh-day Adventist Church—beaming Christ's message of salvation across the air waves to millions.

"What we have here is simply a concentrated effort to spread the Good News via the electronic media," says Robert R. Frame, center president.

The Adventist Media Center is headquarters for the "electronic" ministries. They include the Voice of Prophecy radiobroadcast, and the Faith For Today, Breath of Life and It Is Written telecasts.

Along with Adventist Media Productions, which produces all films, cassettes and audio-visual materials, they share the facilities at 1100 Rancho Conejo Boulevard.

The center was established by the General Conference in 1971 to bring together, in one location, the various broadcast media.

While maintaining their own separate identities, staff and budgets, these groups share their expertise and centralize their use of studios, recording, production, printing, computer services, mailing, accounting and administration.

Church leaders chose the Thousand Oaks site to take advantage of Southern California's year-round filming conditions. Located 42 miles northwest of Los Angeles, the land offered proximity to technical personnel and equipment, and to labs for film processing.

Visitors to the complex are impressed by its attractive, well-organized appearance. The center won a "Los Angeles Beautiful" award for both architecture and landscaping in the field of business and industry in 1978.

The proposed six-building complex is still in the process of development. The completed administration, radio, and television buildings have a production and office space of 160,000 square feet. About 340 people are on the staff. Plans for the future include the construction of a chapel, visitors' center and dining facility.

Hundreds of visitors each year take advantage of guided tours through the center. Their first stop is just inside the lobby of the Administration building at the Founders Wall mural—a tribute to the pioneers and major figures in S.D.A. broadcasting.

Artist Greg Constantine of Andrews University created the 152-square-foot work without a single brush stroke. He used instead a unique method of random lines applied directly from paint tubes onto the canvas to simulate the electronic rendering of an image.

Featured in the painting are the founders, speakers and musicians associated with the broadcasts produced at the media center.

These dedicated broadcast founders total more than 130 years in Seventh-day Adventist media work. And each ministry has a fascinating story to tell.

The Voice of Prophecy

Dr. H.M.S. Richards founded the Voice of Prophecy radiobroadcast nearly 50 years ago—in fulfillment of his dream about using the radio to reach millions with the Gospel.

As a dedicated and successful young evangelist, Pastor Richards came to California in 1926 to conduct crusades. The next year he experimented with radio announcements of his Bakersfield meetings, and in 1930 his first, regularly scheduled "Family Worship" programs were broadcast daily from KNX in Los Angeles.

In 1937 the name of the broadcast was changed to the Voice of Prophecy.

What Dr. Richards says is perhaps the greatest thrill of his entire ministry came with his first coast-to-coast broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System in 1942.

Also in that year, the Spanish broadcast, "La Voz de la Esperanza," joined the V.O.P. network. Founded by Braulio F. Perez, its goal was to blanket Central and South America with the message of Christ's second coming. Pastor Milton Peverini joined Pastor Perez in 1971, and was appointed director and speaker three years later.

Today the Voice of Prophecy is heard either Sunday or daily on some 800 stations in North America. Overseas, another 1,100 stations carry radio programs that bear the same name or are closely affiliated with the V.O.P.

Since 1962 H.M.S. Richards Jr. has served as speaker-director of the radiobroadcast. He works with his father to produce the programs, with each taking turns as speaker and announcer.

The Voice of Prophecy now operates the largest Bible correspondence school in the world. Since its beginnings in 1942, more than half a million have graduated from the Bible courses. The free home-study courses are offered in 80 languages and dialects and in braille.

Says H.M.S. Richards, "Our reason for being on the air is the value of a human soul and the voice from the cross."

Faith for Today

William A. Fagal believes the secrets of television communication were given by God "as a key means of reaching people with the Gospel right in their own homes."

And Faith For Today, the telecast he founded in 1950, has been doing just that for nearly 30 years. The first church-sponsored telecast, Faith For Today also has the distinction of being the longest, continuous-running religious program in the history of the medium.

Pastor Fagal explains how the telecast began. "I asked my New York congregation to pray that somehow the Lord would open doors for us to make use of television," he says. "And when the invitation came to conduct a denomination experiment for one year on WABC-TV in New York, Faith For Today was born."

To reach an audience with varied interests, Faith For Today chose a dramatic, story-telling format. With this approach, aimed primarily at

The telecast actually traces its roots back to London and frustrations growing out of a highly successful series of meetings held there nearly 30 years ago.

In the early 1950's, Elder Vandeman was invited to conduct a series in one of London's finest theaters. Even though as many as three presentations were given nightly, many people had to be turned away from the 2,500-seat facility.

This troubled Elder Vandeman. And he was even more concerned because millions in that city were not even aware of the meetings.

He recalls, "After returning to the States, my concern continued to grow. How could the great cities of the nations be reached? Could the answer be the still-infant science of television?"

It Is Written began in 1956 with 13 stations, the first religious program telecast in color. It has grown to 121 stations covering approximately 50 percent of the television homes in the United States, and 85 percent of the households in Canada and Australia.

Pastor Vandeman presents a straightforward discussion of current subjects, with Scriptural solutions to today's problems.

It Is Written has an inventory of more than 200 Scripture-centered programs, and to assure that material remains as current as possible, an additional 36 telecasts the "unchurched," F.F.T. hoped to present—through true-to-life situations—common problems of the day and Bible answers to them.

Through the years, Faith For Today has updated its format. Its current "Westbrook Hospital" series (begun in 1972) presents practical, realistic episodes often centered in a medical environment—a prime setting for presenting the Adventist health message, along with Christ-centered solutions to contemporary problems.

Testifying to the professional quality of the telecast, F.F.T. has received national recognition from both religious and secular experts in the entertainment industry.

They have received three major media awards, and last year F.F.T.'s production "Hear the Sunrise" received the prestigious Angel Award from the Religion in Media (R.I.M.) organization for best national dramatic series. The Westbrook Hospital series was also nominated for an Emmy award for "outstanding achievement in religious programming."

A popular outreach of the telecast is the Faith For Today Bible Correspondence School. Nine colorful, contemporary courses are available to help students toward a new way of life through study of the Scriptures.

Today the Westbrook Hospital series is being seen by approximately one million viewers each week on 452 stations and cable networks, mainly on public service time.

Through the combined influence of the telecast, Bible Study materials, evangelists, pastors and laymen, nearly 28,000 people have been baptized since Faith For Today began in 1950.

The Westbrook Hospital series is now being broadcast worldwide by satellites orbiting the earth. The new International Satellite Network relays the broadcast from a Canadian satellite to four satellites over Europe, the Far East and South America.

It Is Written

Another pioneer in religious television is George E. Vandeman, founder and speaker-director of It Is Written.

are produced each year at the Thousand Oaks studio.

Last year's Christmas Special featured the Vienna Choir Boys in their first full television program. It won the Religion in Media Angel Award for excellence in the category of best international special.

It Is Written's major evangelistic outreach is the It Is Written Seminar—an intensive, day-long Bible study conducted by Pastors Vandeman and Lonnie Melashenko, associate director.

More than 200 have been held since 1975, with more than 53,000 people in attendance.

Local pastors serve as instructor aides during the seminars, and they later conduct continuing seminars. Thousands of baptisms have resulted.

Plans are now underway to help bring It Is Written to every home in North America—in prime time wherever possible.

Breath of Life

The youngest member of the Thousand Oaks media family is the Breath of Life telecast, which ministers to America's black community.

The revolution of the 60's had left many Blacks disillusioned. Television provided an escape from life's harsh realities, and this seemed a most significant medium for spreading the Good News.

Walter Arties, who had sung for the Billy Graham crusades and religious television in Los Angeles, was convicted that the electronic tube would be the means to bring the third angel's message to America's largest ethnic minority.

Hence Breath of Life began.

The first series of 13 telecasts was taped in 1975 at the Media Center. Another 13 followed in 1976. Noted evangelist and General Conference Field Secretary Charles D. Brooks acts as speaker and director, Walter Arties serves as producer and coordinator and Shelton Kilby III arranges the music.

The program is enriched by such talented musicians as the Breath of Life Quartet, and soprano soloist Brenda Spraggins.

The telecast's format is a straightforward preaching of the Gospel, with an awareness of Black influence upon Scripture and history.

Breath of Life is now seen on 10 stations. It is also broadcast for one year prior to major crusades conducted in large metropolitan cities.

The telecast sows the seed, the crusade reaps the harvest of souls. For example, after last year's Washington D.C. series, 278 people were baptized, including several physicians, ministers and other professionals.

Two new churches composed entirely of Breath of Life converts—one in Memphis, Tennessee, the other in Washington, D.C.—have been established as a direct result of the telecast.

and direct-mailings are sent out by Computer Mailing Services. Computers file a total mailing list of approximately 2½ million names.

This list of viewers, listeners and Bible School students (many of whom are non-Adventists) forms an integral part of the various broadcast ministries, for they help contribute essential funds and prayer support.

The costs of producing the programs, and buying time on existing stations and acquiring new outlets, are high. And they continue to rise at astronomical rates. Part of the funding comes from the denomination and from church offerings. But much of it must be raised by the broadcasters themselves—mostly from direct mail appeals.

Yet these costs, when divided by the millions who tune in to the broadcasts, represent an economical way to spread the gospel.

Tens of thousands have accepted Christ as a result of Seventh-day Adventist broadcasting. And each member in the Lake Union is a part of this "electronic" church.

Through prayer, financial support and personal contact with interested people, each church member can share in the joy of souls won through these broadcast ministries.

Adventist Media Productions

The tremendous task of producing the various broadcasts is the responsibility of Adventist Media Productions. Harold Reiner was recently named manager of this section, which is committed to technical excellence.

It consists of a highly trained staff of film editors, photographers and technicians—including some of the best personnel and production facilities in the industry.

The center administration building houses a huge production studio—80 by 96 feet, and 35 feet high. It is furnished with one million watts of electricity—enough to light an entire small city!

On a given day, visitors may watch the filming of a Faith For Today "Westbrook Hospital" episode. Or they might see a videotaping in progress on the familiar It Is Written set.

Just upstairs from this studio are located professional sound recording studios, as well as the most up-to-date production facilities.

Another facet of Adventist Media Productions is the audio-visual ministry which offers a full range of sight and sound services.

This department can develop audio and visual programs for churches, classrooms, health-care institutions and the like. Tapes, cassettes, video cassettes and multimedia presentations are available, as well as a stock of more than 10,000 slides for evangelistic purposes.

The widely acclaimed Encounter slide and tape Bible study presentation—produced at the center—is an effective tool for use by laymen.

Graphics and Mailing

Another in-house service at the Thousand Oaks complex is Center Graphics, supervised by Harold Kehney. Here experts design and print books, direct-mailings, station logs, Bible lessons and other items so vital to the radio and television ministry. More than $1,200,000 worth of printed materials are produced each year.

After printing, the publications

Classes have begun at the Lake Union Soulwinning Center in Chicago—and more than half the students are laymen.

A total of 34 students have enrolled for the first quarter which began August 6. Eighteen are laymen, eight are ministers, and eight are seminary students.

One of the laymen is Harry Sponseller from Shepherd, Michigan, who sold a profitable aluminum-siding business in order to attend. Harry had a heartfelt desire to be more active and effective in witnessing activities.

Three students are sponsored by physicians who feel that they are not doing enough witnessing because they are so busy with their practice.

The physicians are paying the expenses for the students who will return to work full time for the doctors in witnessing programs for their patients. One physician is sponsoring two of the students.

"The Lake Union Soulwinning Institute has been developed for laity and pastors to help them become effective soul winners,"

LAYMEN AND PASTORS LEARN TOGETHER

by Jere Wallack

"We don't offer them any promise of employment," Elder Finley continued, "but we feel there are many laymen who have and will develop sufficient skills to become Bible workers—some even becoming employees of the church."

"Others," says Elder Finley, "will be sponsored by larger church congregations and we are thrilled by the three we have in this first class who are sponsored by physicians to assist in making their practice soulwinning programs."

says Mark Finley, director of the institute. "Our primary goal is to help laymen become effective, personal workers in the framework of their own profession or vocation."

Jere Wallack is the communication director for the Lake Union Conference.

The students are involved in a balanced program of classroom learning and practical experience.

Each day during the first quarter the students attend two classes—personal evangelism and principles of a growing church.

Before the quarter closes the students will also be enrolled in two other classes—Bible seminars and the science of health evangelism.

Each student also spends, in addition to 10 hours of classroom instruction and 20 hours of study each week, an additional 24 hours in field work.

The participants who are inexperienced are placed with those who are experienced and together they visit people whose names are on lists obtained from Adventist radio and television programs, and by using gift Bible lessons, they work to spark interest in the Adventist message.

Also included in the busy schedule is involvement in evening programs for the community. Each student spends one evening a week in a health program, another evening in a lay-witnessing training seminar, and a third evening in a Daniel seminar. The other two evenings are occupied in giving Bible studies.

Currently more than 200 area residents have paid $20 each and enrolled in one of the health programs: Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking, stress control, nutrition, and Heartbeat seminars.

The staff members of the Soulwinning Institute are Elder Mark Finley, director and instructor in public evangelism approaches, Elder Marion Kidder who came from Atlantic Union College, instructor in personal witnessing, and Roy Wightman, vice president of Great Lakes Adventist Health Service, Inc., instructor in health evangelism.

Registrar and secretarial work is done by Ernestine Finley and Mary Lou Kidder. Food service is directed by Ray and Elsie Pike, retired school teachers from Connecticut. "They are doing a tremendous job here," says Elder Finley.

"Our big need now is for a maintenance person. We can pay $500 a month, plus room and board, for this help," says Elder Finley. "We are looking now to fill this position."

The center is located on five beautifully landscaped acres about 18 miles west of Chicago's loop. "It is a rural setting in the city," says Elder Finley, "in a very affluent area."

The building is able to house 110 people comfortably.

Laymen from throughout the Lake Union who are interested in attending the soulwinning institute should write to the Lake Union Soulwinning Institute, 6259 South Madison, Hinsdale, IL 60521.

Second quarter classes begin October 8, and conclude December 14.

First quarter classes will again be taught January 7 through March 14, 1980, and second quarter classes March 24 through June 6, 1980.

The classes are filling rapidly. Only 40 students are accepted each quarter. Many students from the greater Chicago area commute to classes each day.

In reflecting about the first week's activities at the institute, Elder Finley says, "It's exciting! The wonderful thing is to see the students come back at night and talk in the lobby about the people they have met during the day's visitation. They are excited when they come back. They are thrilled with what is going on."

Dr. V. Norskov Olsen, left, visits with Andrews' president Dr. Joseph G. Smoot before the commencement service.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE IS GOAL

Andrews University's summer commencement exercises Sunday, August 5, added 238 graduates to the class of 1979, making a total of 754.

Dr. V. Norskov Olsen, president of Loma Linda University, delivered the commencement address on "The Sanctity of the Professional Vocation."

"We speak about a person and his or her vocation," said Dr. Olsen. "When we speak about a Christian person we speak about a Christian vocation. The sanctity of the Christian professional vocation is that the human activity becomes a revelatory act of the glory of God. Augustine said, 'Without God we cannot, but without us God will not.'

"Luther epitomized so well the sanctity of the Christian vocation, 'To be Christ to your neighbor,'" he continued.

"Our expression 'vocational guidance' comes directly from Luther and is part of the very essence of Protestantism. Each farmer, bricklayer and carpenter serves God according to his profession and should discharge his vocation as a Christian calling."

Stanley Hill of Berrien Springs and Dr. Edward Heppenstall of Carmel, California, were awarded honorary doctoral degrees by the university.

Mr. Hill, executive vice president of the board of directors of the "Your Story Hour" radio program, is better known for his role as Uncle Dan on the weekly broadcast.

Mr. Hill began the program in 1949 and it is now heard on 550 radio stations in the United States and several foreign countries.

He was honored for his "dedication to building wholesome foundations of Christian living for people of all ages."

Dr. Heppenstall has long been a well-known educator and theologian, serving in numerous positions of responsibility.

He held several positions in the Michigan Conference in the 1930's and was instrumental in purchasing the first denominationally owned junior-camp site at Gull Lake from Dr. J. H. Kellogg.

Among his later responsibilities, he taught for 15 years in the religion department of La Sierra College, 11 years in the Theological Seminary, and ended his full-time career teaching at Loma Linda University.

Stanley Hill of Your Story Hour and Dr. Edward Heppenstall received honorary doctoral degrees from Andrews.

Dr. Heppenstall's published works include Our High Priest, Salvation Unlimited, In Touch With God and Perfection, which he co-authored with Herbert E. Douglass, Hans K. LaRondelle and C. Mervyn Maxwell.

He also contributed to the Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary and has written many magazine articles.

He was cited for "his tremendous impact on the theological thinking of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, his strong, positive influence in training the leaders of the denomination."

Other speakers for the graduation weekend were Dr. Roy E. Graham, Andrews' provost, on Friday evening, and G. W. Morgan, president of the Indiana Conference on Sabbath morning.

JOBS, NEW COURSES AWAITING STUDENTS AT ANDREWS

Students making last-minute plans to enroll at Andrews for autumn quarter may find some of their financial difficulties somewhat easier to overcome than they had expected.

According to Esther Hare, university financial aid officer, students may apply for the Basic Education Opportunity Grant through March 15, 1980, for credit during the 1979-80 school year.

And while the deadlines for other forms of aid, particularly those administered by the university, may have passed, there are usually some residual funds left in the form of scholarships for which no one has yet qualified.

"I would encourage even the late ones to give us their Financial Aid Forms," she says. The F.A.F. is available through her office.

In addition, freshman and sophomore students whose legal residence is in Michigan are eligible for the Michigan Grant Differential (approximately $500). No advance paperwork is necessary, according to Mrs. Hare, because those applications are processed at registration time, September 24 to 26.

Besides grants and scholarships, student financial assistance is available through on-campus jobs, according to Terry Newmyer, director of student labor.

During the school year about 1,600 students are employed at any given time by 70 different academic and service departments ranging from the food service to the university airport. And Mr. Newmyer projects student wages to total more than $2.5 million during the coming year.

"Jobs are easiest to get for students who have either all morning or all afternoon free of classes," says Mr. Newmyer. "We sometimes have difficulty placing students with chopped-up schedules, and if they bear this in mind in planning their classes, they can solve a lot of problems."

With financial details out of the way, some of the most attractive and interesting new courses that students will find at Andrews are the photography courses now being offered by both the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Technology.

The new courses will feature color photography, studio photography and the history of photography, and will be operated jointly by the art department and the industrial education department.

EUROPEAN STUDY TOUR PLANNED NEXT JUNE

The English Lake District, French chateaux and the canals of Venice highlight the itinerary of Andrews University's 1980 European Study Tour, sponsored by the English and history departments and directed by Dr. Merlene Ogden, professor of English.

From June 9 to August 21 the tour will visit places of literary, historic and cultural interest in nine countries—Britain, Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, East and West Germany.

Participants may receive as many as 12 graduate or undergraduate credits in English and/or history. This credit fulfills general education requirements in literature, history and the fine arts, may be applied to a major or minor in English or history, or may be used to fulfill elective credit for graduation.

Credit also applies toward M.A. and M.A.T. degrees. It is not, however, necessary to take the tour for credit.

Recreation and sight-seeing are also an important part of the schedule. Former tour members remember especially hiking in the Alps, swimming in the Mediterranean, and skiing near the Matterhorn.

This summer the group will also experience the day-long Passion Play performed once every 10 years in Oberammergau, West Germany. Other special events include the Salzburg and Edinburgh Music Festivals.

The cost is approximately $2,975 and includes tuition, round-trip air fare, all transportation in Europe, hotels, two meals a day, and all entrance, guide and excursion fees for group activities.

Further information may be obtained from Dr. Merlene Ogden of the English Department, or the co-director of the tour, Leonard Hill of the James White Library, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

TRI-COUNTY NEWS NOTES

• A Strawberry Fest was held on June 28 at Tri-County Community Hospital, Edmore, Michigan, in appreciation for the work done by the hospital staff in preparation for the recent Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals survey. Guests at the fest also received a preview of the hospital's new Alternative Birthing Center (birthing room). The first baby born in the birthing room was Nathan Isaac Carrick, son of Dexter and Virginia Carrick, of Vestaburg, Michigan, on Friday, July 13, 1979.

• The hospital received a gift of two young spruce trees from the conservation committee of the Edmore Women's Club. The trees were planted near the front entrance of the hospital.

ALCOHOL REHABILITATION GRADUATES 100TH PATIENT

HINSDALE—The Alcoholism Rehabilitation Services of Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital recently graduated its 100th patient.

During the first nine months of operation, 53 patients graduated from the inpatient program, the only such facility for alcoholic rehabilitation in DuPage County.

The first patient was admitted to the 10-patient unit April 3, 1978.

Doctors, nurses and counselors trained in all aspects of alcohol rehabilitation use a program of lectures, counseling, films and group sessions in working with patients.

HINSDALE HOSPITAL FLOAT WINS PRIZES

HINSDALE—Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital's Fourth of July float won Pick-of-the-Parade and third place in the Hinsdale Parade, and first place for the commercial division in the Downers Grove Parade. The theme for this year's float was 75 years of service. Norma Spaulding, R.N., Hinsdale Family Medicine Center, and Charles Anderson, M.D., represented the sanitarium's early years. Other employees and volunteers riding on the float, representing modern medical care, were Gary Gardner, M.D.; Alane Hinkle, R.N.; volunteer Arlene Dickinson, and Dennis Bolin as a patient.

The hospital's recent commitment to this comprehensive program stems from the philosophy of providing services to meet area needs.

An estimated 23,000 DuPage County residents are alcoholics, according to the DuPage County Mental Health Department.

There are now plans for expansion of the unit to 16 beds, to meet rising community needs and a waiting list.

'HEARTBEAT' ENLARGES FORMAT

HINSDALE—A new, enlarged format is the most recent innovation of "Heartbeat," a coronary risk evaluation offered by Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital through its community outreach.

According to program coordinator Patrick Lecourt, Dr. H. Sc., the program now includes three follow-up sessions to provide more in-depth information for participants.

"We feel there is too much vital information for one meeting, as offered before," says Dr. Lecourt. "By offering additional sessions, participants may discuss their personal data with health educators, learn more about particular health hazards and ask questions."

The clinical screening and evaluation can help participants pinpoint factors that may be leading them toward the nation's number one killer—heart disease.

The program, held once every two months, consists of a fasting blood sample, blood pressure and weight check, and a life-style questionnaire.

An additional test checks for high-density lipoproteins whose presence in the blood affects a person's risk of atherosclerosis.

Test results may reveal factors such as high cholesterol, diabetes, elevated blood pressure, or an inherited tendency toward heart disease.

"Heartbeat" is one of several outpatient health education programs offered to Chicagoland residents. Going beyond merely treating an illness, the philosophy extends to this preventive approach to health maintenance.

More than 1,525 people attended a health education class last year conducted by Hinsdale Hospital. If you want more information about the next "Heartbeat" program, call (312) 887-2424.

GROUND BREAKING SCHEDULED FOR NEW MEDICAL CENTER

HINSDALE—Ground breaking for the Bolingbrook Medical Center, (B.M.C.) an affiliate of Hinsdale Hospital, is scheduled for early fall, according to Chuck Snyder, vice president in charge of developing the 120-acre tract of land located 14 miles southwest of Hinsdale in the rapidly growing community of Bolingbrook.

Mr. Snyder says the site plan, indicating the position of the ambulatory care/emergency facility, the professional office building, and the future hospital, has been completed.

The main facility, which will include a laboratory and radiological suite, is scheduled for completion 12 months from the date of the ground breaking.

The professional office building, with space for eight to ten physicians, will be located adjacent to the hospital, where construction will begin prior to completion of the main complex.

The proposed summer ground breaking was delayed from an earlier projected date due to severe winter weather and problems with permits for underdeveloped property.

A new publication, The Bolingbrook Medical Center News, is being published quarterly by the public relations department of the hospital.

The four-page publication deals with construction progress, services B.M.C. will provide, practical health care tips and other information pertinent to area residents.

BUILDING BRIDGES AT 80

Building bridges at 80? That's what the older members of the newly formed Early American Club of the Rockford Church, are planning!

The new club is committed to "building bridges" to each of the various age groups in their church or community.

They have been planning "Happy Happenings" and get-togethers during the summer.

Four of the charter members—Dolly DuPre, Halley Dray, Hattie Jaeger and Richard Ekanger, club president—met at a picnic last week—their combined age was 333 years.

They presented their newly appointed president with an afghan, handmade by 83-year-old Hattie Jaeger. Richard's assistant will be 87-year-old Bertha Whitmore.

When Bertha and Richard were asked to expound on their happy attitudes, they were quick to say, "You're not all washed up when you reach 80! Anyone who develops the right attitudes will find that life at any age can be a fresh start with exciting new dimensions of happiness."

Bertha has a few tips she believes have helped her grow old gracefully: "First, be an achiever—don't feel because you're a certain age and retired that you can't set new goals and accomplishments.

"Second, exercise regularly and plan a balanced diet.

"Third, if you find yourself bored with the way your room or home looks, change things around: Add a new decorator pillow, give it a new look, this will give you a new look at life.

"Fourth, memories are great, but be sure to stay in the present! Keep up on daily community and national news; this helps keep the mind alert!

"Fifth, train yourself to be an advisor, listener and sounding board to friends and family members without being domineering. It's still true that, generally speaking, most old shoulders still carry a wise head.

"Sixth, the only way to make new friends is to be one. If you feel that folks are too busy to talk, forget it; get them into conversation and your new friends will be a large part of these new dimensions of happiness.

"Seventh, and most important, are daily devotions. I begin and finish my day with Bible study and a firm trust in a Higher Being. I try to cultivate the Christian graces of faith, hope and love."

With attitudes like these, how can this club be anything but fun!

To date the club members have had special group meetings: a special Sabbath vespers for the youth of the church in an outdoor setting at Richard Ekanger's farm, a week devoted to visiting the church's shut-ins, an old-fashioned ice-cream social for the prayer meeting members, a trip to Madison, Wisconsin, to the vegetarian restaurant for the Rockford Philo soda Club.

They are now making plans for the visit of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Jacques who will visit Rockford on September 14. Mrs. Jacques is Ellen White's granddaughter.

STREATOR CRUSADE BRINGS RESULTS

Eight decisions for Christ resulted from the Streator Voice of Prophecy Bible Crusade conducted by evangelist Dan Schiffbauer from July 7 through 28.

On Sabbath, July 28, three persons were baptized. One of these was a man who pastor Edwin Swan had studied with from LeRoy, Illinois. Two others made their decision during the crusade.

On the last Saturday night of the crusade three persons responded to a call to be baptized. One woman had received Bible studies in Kewanee from pastor Swan. Her daughter, who had not been interested in church or religion before, also decided to be baptized.

Another woman had at one time attended the Adventist church with her mother. The husband of one of the members also decided to unite with the church.

A young boy also made his decision for baptism. All five are studying and will be baptized two weeks after the crusade.

NEWS NOTE

• The Hammond S.D.A. Church recently conducted a Vacation Bible School. Forty children enrolled and the average daily attendance was 30. The closing program packed the church with V.B.S. friends and relatives. The staff included Pastor and Mrs. Carl Johnson, Pastor Carmelo Mercado, Pat McClure, Lois Beavers, Elizabeth Csomo, Naomi Kelly and Lloyd Scribner. Other members helped at the closing program, making this a total church project. Plans for a follow-up Pathfinder Club are in the making.

COMMUNITY SERVICES SPOTLIGHTED AT CAMP MEETING

Community services presented a program at the Indiana Camp Meeting to show the members that community services is a vital part of finishing the work in Indiana.

The disaster van, directed by Community service workers sign up camp-meeting attendees for blood pressure testing.

Earle Davis, was parked on the campgrounds. Guided tours were conducted twice a day to acquaint people with the efficient facilities available in one van.

Some 263 persons toured the van, including a 10-year-old boy who noticed the offering plate at the door of the van. He was told that a $100 offering would be appreciated.

A short while later the lad returned and dropped a quarter in the plate; it was all that he had.

The community services booth was located in the basement of the girls' dormitory, and offered posters depicting the community services centers around the state and the work that they are doing.

The need for relaxation attracted many people to the back massage and foot massage. Literature, pins, uniform material and information were available.

A health-screening van was borrowed from the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference and used on campus throughout the camp meeting. Free blood pressure tests were given to 523 persons.

On two afternoons the van was taken to a shopping center in Noblesville, six miles away, and 32 persons were screened.

Of these, four signed up to take Bible studies at home, five requested Bible studies through the mail, twelve wanted material on better nutrition, and six wanted information on the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking.

The Indiana Conference is working to secure such a van for the state, and with prayer, planning, and contributions from the members, this will soon be a reality.

FATHERS HONORED IN CICERO SABBATH SCHOOL

Fathers at the Cicero Church sometimes feel neglected because camp meeting always takes place on Father's Day weekend. This year, even though late, the Cicero Church expressed its gratitude to 135 fathers by having a program dedicated to them in Sabbath School. Poems and songs about fathers were presented as an expression of thanks for their kindness. A pen was presented to each father. Marion Inman, right, father of two girls, accepts a pen from Sabbath School secretary Carol Possman.

Larry Humbarger shows Bobby Passmore some of the oil paintings from the collection he painted for church use.

ARTIST GIVES PAINTINGS TO CHURCH

Twelve paintings depicting Biblical symbols have been donated by Larry Humbarger to the Glendale Church.

Larry presented the paintings to the church on Sabbath, July 21. Pastor Ivan Christen, who accepted the call to be pastor of the Glendale Church in June, thanked Larry for his creative gift.

Larry explained that as he studied Bible prophecies, drawing pictures of the symbols helped him to better understand what he studied. "The pictures are my way of helping others in their studies," Larry stated. He feels that each person has unique talents that can be used for the church. He encourages everyone to examine new ways in which he can be of service to others.

Larry proposed that the pictures be used in classes at Indianapolis Junior Academy and in private Bible studies.

Elder Joseph and Elder Wray prepare to cut the ribbon to enter the new Hyde Park Church.

HYDE PARK'S CELEBRATION OF LIGHT

On the corner of 46th Street, overlooking busy Drexel Boulevard, is an octagon-shaped church made of burnt orange stone with tall peaked skylights to usher in the sun's rays.

The blue, gold, orange, amber and white design of the center skylight reflects light inside.

The rust of the stone walls, the furniture and the light gleaming from the skylights provided much inspiration for the members of Hyde Park Church in Chicago as they entered their new church home in a "celebration of light."

They remind us that there are two things which any of us may do with the stones which loom in our way.

The light bids us to stop to ask whether we keep our own rock boulders as something over which others might stumble, or whether we try to turn these stones into light by which others are guided into service.

From its inception as a company in 1949, the Hyde Park Church family has had a dream—a dream of one day worshiping in an edifice in the "beauty of holiness."

On Sabbath, July 14, 1979, the members realized that this could be accomplished only by the grace of God. He made man through which to work His miracle of light.

In June 1975, Elder J. R. Wagner sent a call to Elder James C. Wray of the Southwest Region Conference, placing upon him the burden of the congregation in Hyde Park. Elder Wray accepted that call and ever since the day he and his wife, Muriel, arrived they have had one goal—the building of a new church.

On the first day the new church was used, Sabbath School began one block away in the church being rented at that time.

With the conference officials, leaders in the state and local government and more than 600 well-wishers, the members walked one block to their new home, praising God for His goodness.

Platform guests included the Lake Region Conference president, C. D. Joseph, and conference treasurer, I. R. Palmer; State Senator Richard Newhouse; City Alderman Timothy Evans; Earl Moore, former pastor; Edward Avinger; Samuel Flagg; Robert Connor, Lake Union evangelist, and guest speaker for the divine worship service, R. P. Stafford, pastor of the City Temple Church in Detroit, Michigan.

The Lord spoke to Moses, saying, "And let them make me a sanctuary; that I may dwell among them." And so it was.

CAPITOL CITY CONDUCTS RELIGIOUS LIBERTY WEEK

The Capitol City Church in Indianapolis is believed to be the first to have celebrated a week of religious liberty.

Edith Coleman, Capitol City's religious liberty leader, conceived the idea early this year and formed a committee to see it through to completion. The week was one of celebration and education for both the church and the community.

Dr. J. L. Hamrick spoke on Tuesday evening during Religious Liberty Week at Capitol City.

Mayor William H. Hudnut issued an official proclamation declaring Religious Liberty Week, and urging everyone to join the Capitol City S.D.A. Church in this celebration.

Charles Williams, assistant to the Mayor, presented the proclamation to Mrs. Coleman on Sabbath morning and praised Adventists for their community work and high standards.

The week was begun with the leadership of Harold Lindsey, Lake Region Conference religious liberty director, as he presented the Sabbath morning sermon and conducted an afternoon session on "Present Day Issues of Religious Freedom." Particular emphasis was placed on Adventism and unionism.

The Sunday night speaker was Gordon Engen, associate director of the General Conference religious liberty department and associate editor of Liberty magazine. He graphically portrayed the signs of the times being fulfilled daily around the world.

The Tuesday evening speaker was Stuart Kenworthy represented Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

Dr. Jonathan L. Hamrick, religious liberty director for the Michigan Conference.

Stuart Kenworthy, director of operations for Americans United for Separation of Church and State, came from Washington to tell of national and international threats to religious liberty. He was the speaker on Tuesday evening and returned on Wednesday. He invited guests from all over Indiana, and many came.

The Wednesday evening speaker was Marion County Prosecutor Steven Goldsmith. A very popular political leader, he pledged to use his office to protect religious freedoms.

He stated he understands Adventists' problems because, being Jewish, he had suffered some losses due to Sabbath observance.

On Friday evening, the church assembled to see a special film about John Huss's struggle for religious freedom. Pastor Simons preached the concluding Sabbath sermon, and Clarence Hodges was chairman of a panel for the wrap-up on Sabbath afternoon.

A special play was also given during the M.V. program, portraying scenes from the time of trouble as recorded in The Great Controversy. Jenifer Moseley was director of this production.

Religious Liberty Week was an outstanding success and everyone is looking forward to another one next year.

NEWS NOTES

• The magazine section of a recent Tri-County News of Fenton carried a feature article on its front page and a following page of the conversion of Sister Cecilia Marie, a Franciscan nun, to membership in the Seventh-day Adventist church. The feature article was factual and well written by a staff reporter.

• A number of non-Adventists attended a Total Health Seminar sponsored by the Menominee Church, July 13 through 25. It featured Dr. Ebzon Jen, professor of health education at Loma Linda University and his wife, Susan, health educator for San Bernardino County. She is the daughter of the Menominee Church's first elder, Alvin Champion. Among the subjects presented were "Dietary Factors Contributing to Heart Disease and Cancer," "Exercise, Attitude and Stress, How They Affect Our Health" and "What Can Be Done To Reduce, Risk Factors Regarding Heart Disease and Cancer." A city official who attended thanked the Jens for their presentation and hoped that it could be repeated.

• The Jackson Church sponsored a local blood drive June 5 for the Red Cross. A total of 111 persons went to the community services center and 88 pints of blood were collected. A Red Cross representative stated, "Without the help of volunteers who called to solicit donors the bloodmobile would have been cancelled."

SIXTEEN HELPED BY FIVE-DAY PLAN IN ADRIAN

A recent Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking conducted by Dr. Gordon Guild of the Adrian Church, was small, but a very warm and rewarding group to work with, he commented.

Although 15 registered, 16 people were directly affected by this Five-Day Plan—a woman approximately seven months pregnant was also able to stop smoking.

It has recently been shown that smoking one cigarette will cause the respirations of the unborn child to stop for up to an hour in time, Dr. Guild pointed out to the group. Not only are the respirations hampered, the growth of the child is also inhibited and there is increased chance of miscarriage, as well as fetal abnormalities.

Of the 15 registered in the program, 12 completed the course.

A local businessman who attended a clinic one year ago, and has not smoked since that time, showed up unexpectedly to give a spontaneous and unsolicited testimony.

WILLISONS CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Earl and Olivia Willison, members of the Urbandale Seventh-day Adventist Church, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on August 22. They were married by Elder W. E. Videto in a ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stagg, in Battle Creek in 1929. The Willisons are active church members and operated a dairy farm near Hickory Corners. They have a son, David, and a daughter, Virginia Grubbs.

IMPACT PROPHECY CRUSADE IN CADILLAC BRINGS CONVERTS

Robert L. Wiese's recent Impact Prophecy Crusade lectures in Cadillac resulted in more than 30 baptisms in the Adventist Church with more studying and looking forward to baptism soon.

On opening night, the crusade team had 150 chairs set up in the large National Guard Armory, praying that at least 100 seats would be filled. Then it happened.

The ushers started putting out chairs—more and more were put out until they had 335 people seated in the main auditorium, as well as 30 to 35 in the nursery.

In spite of difficulties, people's hearts were being touched by the Holy Spirit. Large numbers attended night after night to hear the word of God, to see Bible prophecy come alive, and to hear explanations of what is happening in today's world.

Of special interest were the numbers of young husbands and wives who, as a family, made decisions for the Lord. More than one man lost his job as he determined to keep the Sabbath, but almost immediately God gave him something better.

Among those baptized was a man who had been baptized by a young Christian woman years ago, although she told him she didn't think it would count with God.

Another was a boxer who had worked out with ex-champ Leon Spinks in his training camp.

A postal employee of 17 years quit his job because he decided getting ready to meet Jesus with his family was more important.

For 20 years he had been studying and believing that the religion his wife had faithfully kept was right. But never before had there been conviction that he should do anything about it.

A young couple, Rick and Judith, who had just become Christians and had been baptized in a Protestant church in Arkansas the same weekend the meetings began in Cadillac, moved to Cadillac the following week and came regularly to the meetings with Rick's father and mother.

At the end of the series all four of them were baptized. Judith said afterwards she had believed the Adventists were right all the time, but there had not been an S.D.A. church anywhere near them in Arkansas.

Joining with Elder Wiese and his wife, Margaret, were Elder James Danforth who directed the music; Elder Lyle Chamberlin and his wife, Jan, and Elder Art Meyers and his wife, Beulah.

ST. JOHNS SCHOOL GROUND BREAKING

On July 1, 1979, the St. Johns Church congregation broke ground for an addition to their church school. The addition will almost double the size of the present facility and add a new classroom, office space and an additional restroom. Participating in the ground breaking were, left to right, Roger DePaepe, school building committee chairman; Larry Lighthall, St. Johns school principal; the Honorable John Arehart, Mayor of St. Johns; Kenneth W. Hutchins, education superintendent of the Michigan Conference; Daniel A. Ipes, pastor of the church; Gaylord Stevenson, school board chairman; James L. Hayward, secretary of the conference, and Herbert W. Pritchard, treasurer of the conference. With the added facilities a problem of overcrowding will now be relieved for teacher Larry Lighthall and his aide, Yvonne DePaepe. The school had 25 students last year in one room.

BAPTISMS IN ALLEGAN AND OTSEGO

The seed planted by the mass mailings of literature by Ida Carson of Benton Harbor are still bearing fruit.

Just before camp meeting this year, Pastor Carl Riebow baptized Ray and Donna Durham, and they joined the Allegan Church.

Pastor Carl Riebow of the Allegan and Otsego church stands ready to baptize Ray and Donna Durham and Larry Hamilton in Little John Lake in Allegan. The Durhams became members of the Allegan Church; Larry worships with the Otsego congregation.

The Durhams had received a mailing from Mrs. Carson about a year ago. They returned the Bible study request card.

When Pastor Riebow first contacted the Durhams he was asked two questions by Ray: "How do you baptize?" and "Which day is the Sabbath?"

When Pastor Riebow answered these questions with Bible verses Ray beamed all over and said, "I guess we can go ahead with the studies." They began last October.

After two months the Durhams began attending church and six months later they were baptized.

According to Pastor Riebow, Ray is not content to sit idly by but is already giving Bible studies to several people.

He loads his dinner pail with literature on the "Bread of Life" and witnesses to his fellow workers.

MIO MEMBERS BREAK GROUND FOR NEW CHURCH

Ground breaking services for a new Mio Church were held Wednesday evening, May 30, at the site on M-33, three-fourths of a mile south of Mio.

According to Ammi Pierce of Mio, chairman of the building committee, "We have wanted to build a new church for some time. Our present building does not provide adequate facilities for the children. Also a nicer-looking church will represent the Lord better."

For the 90-member congregation, the new church will represent a substantial investment. It will amount to a total cost of $150,000 of which $85,000 has already been raised.

Design for the new church is based on the Belgreen Church located near Greenville, Michigan. Fieldstone and brick veneer will be used on the exterior surface and large exposed laminated wood beams will be used inside. The building will have a cathedral roof and a steeple that will be lit at night.

SPECIAL OFFER FROM ABC

The Wisconsin Adventist Book Center has ordered a large quantity of devotional books for 1980, according to Douglas Gregg, manager.

As a result the books will be offered for $1 under the regular price of $4.95. "We want to do all we can to develop the habit of daily family worship among our people," says Mr. Gregg.

The senior devotional book entitled, This Day With God, by Ellen White, is also available for the first time in large print paperback for $5.95.

The youth devotional, Climbing Jacob's Ladder by Ruth McLin and Jeanne Larson, is also offered for $3.95 and may be ordered with the other book.

Church members are requested to place their orders with their local church lay activities secretary as soon as possible. By combining the order a considerable amount of postage can be saved.

Orders sent directly to the ABC should include 75 cents per book for postage.

Wisconsin sales tax of four percent should be added to the price, bringing the total to $4.07, or $6.19 for the large print version.

WISCONSIN ACADEMY STUDENT RECEIVES AWARD

The National Honor Society provides tests for high school seniors each year to be used as a basis for awarding scholarships and awards. This year William E. Wolf, a graduate of Wisconsin Academy and a resident of La Porte, Indiana, is one of 723 students to receive National Honor Society awards for outstanding records. They are alternates for $1,000 scholarships and will be notified if any of these become available.

PIANO PRESENTED TO EAU CLAIRE CHURCH

On Sabbath, April 28, 1979, the brothers and sisters of Frank Miller, a lifelong member of the Eau Claire Church, presented a Baldwin piano to the church in Frank's memory. The three brothers, Lyman, left, of College Place, Washington; Roger, center, of Kansas City, Missouri, and Lloyd, right, of Western Springs, Illinois, and a sister, Lila Johnson of Kenosha, Wisconsin, were present at the Eau Claire Church to make the presentation. A tribute written by Jessie Lakin was also presented that day in memory of Mr. Miller.

ADVENTIST NAMED BUILDER OF THE YEAR

Arthur D. Davis Jr., a member of the Green Bay Church, was recently named Builder of the Year by the Brown County Home Builders Association, of which Mr. Davis was one of the original founders.

He has served in every office of this organization, including the presidency in 1963.

Mr. Davis is also past president of the Wisconsin Builders Association and a lifetime national director of the National Association of Home Builders. Art and his brother John own Davis Construction, Inc., and several related businesses.

PHILANTHROPIC ORGANIZATION AIDS EAU CLAIRE SCHOOL

When the Eau Claire Church School needed new school playground equipment, church member Lone Lindow suggested that the Hobbs Foundation, a local philanthropic organization, be contacted.

School board chairman Robert Tusken and Pastor Richard Morris wrote to the foundation describing plans for the school and its needs.

On June 22 a letter was received from the foundation stating that a $1,000 check for playground equipment would be forthcoming as soon as invoices were received.

LET IT BE A CHALLENGE TO YOU

Bored children in Sabbath School classes are a major concern of Sabbath School teachers. Uninterested children grow into uninterested adults.

One Sabbath School leader in the Sheboygan Church is using some unique methods to keep the children interested in the lesson each week. She has used visual aids and relay races in which the children can participate if they correctly answer a question on the quiz.

Some wrapped prizes have also been given. Allowing the children to try to figure out an ending to the story has been a successful way to hold their interest.

The children of this primary-junior class are really studying their lessons now and look forward each week to see what new way the quiz will be presented.

INTRODUCING OUR NEW SWISS STEAK IT'S TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE.

Loma Linda's new Swiss Steak with Gravy has so much of the taste and texture of steak that you may even think it's better than the real thing.

That's because it contains Loma Linda's own special ingredient, combining two different vegetable proteins. This special blend results in better texture plus a more favorable nutritional balance.

Loma Linda's new Swiss Steak is precooked and comes smothered in its own rich gravy. So you just open a can and it's ready to heat and serve.

Our Swiss Steak makes a scrumptious main dish entree when served with cooked vegetables and a salad. Or a really hearty lunch served as an open-faced steak sandwich. It can be featured in stews and casseroles.

So try Loma Linda's new Swiss Steak with Gravy soon. It has the flavor of steak with none of the animal fat, preservatives or cholesterol. Which is why we say it's too good to be true.
