TIME and time again I have heard men and women testify that they have died to sin. Joyfully these dear ones exclaimed that old evil habits no longer had a grip on them.

I could not deny the fact that they had died to sin, for I never observed them doing or saying anything that was wrong.

Did this fact, however, necessarily mean that they were true Christians? A Christian is not someone who is dead, but alive. In Ephesians 2:1 the Scriptures address the Christian in the following manner: "And you have he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins." Quicken means "to make alive."

The Greek word for quicken is suzoopoieo. It is used 14 times in the New Testament and always refers to a change from death to life, a rebirth, or a new life.

The philosophy of the world is backwards. The world says, "Enjoy yourself. Live a little." The following advice is also urged upon the unsuspecting: "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die!"

This implies that when you give up the pleasures of this world, you die. This is why the sinner pities the Christian. He can't understand why we are willing to give up so much.

Sad to say the church unwittingly has encouraged the sinner's attitude. We say, "I must die to sin." Well, who wants to die? Friends, we have it backwards. It is the sinner who is dead! It is the pleasure seeker who has never lived.

That's why I contend that one who dies to sin is not automatically a Christian. Let me illustrate my point with the following experience.

Several years ago while visiting Madame Tussaud's famous wax museum in London, I walked up to a wax figure, which was attired like a guide, to ask directions. It was several seconds before I realized that it was not alive. I could have offered him a bribe, and he would not have taken it. I could have suggested that he engage in some unlawful activity, and he would not have gone along with me. If I had handed him some smutty reading material, he would not have accepted it.

The fact that the wax figure did not engage in any of the above-mentioned questionable activities did not make him a Christian. For if I had invited him to attend prayer meeting, to give a Bible study, give away a tract, return a faithful tithe, or be baptized in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, he would have been just as unresponsive.

In spite of his pleasant countenance and immaculate attire, the figure had no life. Therefore, it could not be a Christian.

May I suggest that rather than over stressing our dying to sin, we emphasize more our resurrection to a new, active and righteous life in the Lord.

THE HEART OF THE LAKE UNION

She Walks With the Lord

by Cherry Habenicht

WHEN Carole Savage was two, her parents, Don and Carol Ann, learned that she had cerebral palsy. Mrs. Savage contacted every doctor, hospital, university, and rehabilitation center she could think of. The family even traveled to Washington, D.C., so their daughter could receive acupuncture, which helped only temporarily.

Carole began therapy and swimming at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital three times a week and at the Easter Seal Society twice a week, but she seemed to be regressing in spite of the work of dedicated therapists and daily exercise at home.

When she was seven, Carole underwent a successful operation on her hips. Her legs, however, remained crossed and stiff, the knees sharply bent. But Carole cheerfully participated in activities at Brookforest, a school with an orthopedic class. She even tried bowling, horseback riding and roller skating. She was the flower girl in her sister's wedding where she used a walker to make her way down the aisle.

In 1978 Carole was chosen poster child for the United Cerebral Palsy Foundation. She threw the first baseball of the season at Sox Park and appeared at Chicago nightclubs to which influential people had been invited for fund raising.

On the walls of Carole's blue and white bedroom hang pictures of her with Phil Donahue, Sandy Freeman and John Ritter. The 1979 Cerebral Palsy telethons in February and December featured Carole every half hour.

A second operation was performed in 1979 to straighten Carole's legs, although the physician offered little hope that Carole would be able to walk.

After many complications, Carole became so ill that the doctor feared she had spinal meningitis. The night her daughter's fever soared to 104 degrees, Mrs. Savage committed her life to God and begged Him to save her child. Don and Carol Ann had been in contact with Seventh-day Adventists for six years, had completed Bible studies and even attended church irregularly, but they had never made a definite decision.

Little Carole's fever dropped that night, and she began to improve. Before her casts were removed, she stood on her own for the first time. Two months later her therapist said that within six months to a year Carole should be able to stand unsupported for five minutes. In less than a week she could stand for 6½ minutes.

Don, Carol Ann and their daughter Cheryl were baptized July 7, 1979. Two weeks later Cheryl's husband, Randy, was also baptized. All this time Carole had been listening to the studies and watching the working of God on her family's hearts. She asked if she, too, could be baptized.

Pastor Richard Habenicht baptized Carole on December 22, 1979. As she came up from the water, Carole exclaimed, "That was beautiful!"

Within two weeks Carole could take thirty-five steps alone. Her once indispensable wheelchair is now used only when she and her mother shop at a mall. Her parents used to carry Carole up and down stairs. Eventually she could crawl stairs, but now she walks them on her own.

Don and Carol Ann always arrived early for church at Hinsdale so they could wheel Carole to Sabbath School without attracting undue attention. They still are among the first at the door, but today Carole walks between them. As she gains confidence, she can pray, "Order my steps in thy word: and let not any iniquity have dominion over me." Psalm 119:133. For, like her parents, she now walks with the Lord.

CANOEOING, swimming, ball games, Wisconsin Dells, good food, wonderful fellowship, excellent devotionals and instructions, a baptism, a celebration of the ordinances, and almost perfect weather describe the Lake Union Literature Evangelist Institute held at the new Wisconsin Conference Camp Go Seek, August 10 to 16, 1980.

Camp Go Seek was host to the more than 400 literature evangelists, leaders and guests.

Featured speakers were Luis Ramirez, General Conference publishing director; W. A. Higgins, retired General Conference associate publishing director; D. A. Delafield from the Ellen G. White Estate; Winton Beaven, dean of Kettering College of Medical Arts in Ohio, and Eloise Beardsley, assistant professor of home economics at Andrews University.

Dr. Beaven gave the publishing leaders instruction in salesmanship and public speaking, and presented the opening address.

Elder Higgins aroused the enthusiasm of the literature evangelists with his fiery instruction and pointed devotionals keyed to these times.

Elder Delafield's instruction was timely. At the crisis hour of this world and the church, his messages brought renewed confidence in the abiding gift of prophecy.

The literature evangelists went home more determined than ever to sell The Triumph of God's Love, The Great Controversy and The Desire of Ages, as well as other large books.

Sabbaths are always special times at the institute, and this one was no exception. It started Friday evening as the sun set when Dan and Glenda Brown were baptized in the lake. Mike Foster, a Michigan literature evangelist, had sold Dan and Glenda some books. Then Lewis Blumenberg, the Lake Union publishing evangelist, studied with the Browns, and Ola Robinson, pastor of the Niles, Michigan, Church, baptized them.

After the baptism Charles Keymer, Michigan Conference president, presided at the Lord's Supper. Four of the five conference presidents were present for this service.

John Hayward, secretary of the Lake Union Conference, was the speaker on Sabbath morning.

Roger Oxley of the physical education department at Andrews University organized activities for children and young people.

Eloise Beardsley of the home economics department at Andrews University taught a class in sewing.

Comments overheard were, "best ever," "wonderful." The literature evangelists and leaders appreciate what the Wisconsin Conference workers and church members have done to make Camp Go, Seek a beautiful place for a spiritual retreat.

Don Hasbrook was honored as Literature Evangelist of the Year. The Hasbrooks began their literature evangelist career 12 years ago in Mattoon, Illinois. Norine began canvassing first, and later Don took up the work. Through their efforts many people have been reached with Adventist literature. The Hasbrooks live in Marshfield, Wisconsin.

A Year of Miracles

by H.M.S. Richards Jr.

WHAT a year of miracles 1980 has been for the Voice of Prophecy! I can't think of anything more exciting than seeing a miracle—or being a miracle. That's right, you and I are miracles! A Christian is one of God's miracles.

From Michigan City, Indiana, a prisoner wrote of the miracle God had performed in his life. I'll let him tell the story.

"When I was old enough to do as I pleased—or as Satan wanted me to do—I left the church. It wasn't long before I ended up in prison.

"One day a Voice of Prophecy New Life Bible guide came to my cell, and I was compelled to read it. As the lessons continued to come, they helped me to deal with several things I used to run away from.

"Your Bible guides gave me a clear meaning of the 'prodigal son.' Though I had turned away from God, He was there to receive me back as if I had never left!"

God is changing lives today in miraculous ways. I'm so glad He can use the Voice of Prophecy as one of His life-changing agents.

"I feel like an infant learning to walk," wrote a woman from Cloverdale, Indiana. "I thank the dear Lord for leading me to your course, because it has changed my life.

"I don't understand how my church can break even one of the Ten Commandments. Now I want to tell everyone to read the Bible and follow God's Word—not the church's."

From St. Cloud, Wisconsin, a woman writes: "After completing the Focus on Living guides, I am encouraging my friends to discover what I have.

"My everyday troubles don't slow me down like they used to because I've found the answer to my problems. Thanks for all you've done to help people like me."

One of the most exciting miracles this past year has been the way in which people have responded to the challop of my Father's dream to be "on the air, everyday, everywhere."

From a teenager in Joliet, Illinois, came this sincere letter: "As much as I would like to, I'm sorry I cannot donate any money. You see, my parents don't believe in religion and they will not let me send any.

"However, I am a stamp collector and I will donate stamps as often as I can. Perhaps this will help the Voice of Prophecy."

In closing he requested: "Please pray that my parents will come to Jesus soon. I know that the end of time is near."

"I have been under the conviction for some time to send the Voice a contribution," wrote a church member from Rapid City, Michigan, "but I haven't known where the money would come from.

"I am on a fixed income of $260 a month, so I am claiming God's promises to provide for all my needs and enclosing $25 to help with your needs."

Because of this kind of sacrificial giving, the Voice of Prophecy is being heard daily on 49 more stations than it was a year ago.

But now the challenge is even greater! With the broadcast reaching additional thousands of searching hearts, we must keep the message on the air—we must be there when we're needed.

The letters coming daily to Box 55 in Los Angeles are exciting to read as people tell what the broadcast means to them.

A nun from Bertrand Convent in South Bend, Indiana, who wrote for a vegetarian cookbook, said:

"I enjoy listening to your program daily over WAUS in Berrien Springs, Michigan. I find it a profitable 15 minutes in many ways. Your broadcast must be helpful to many people in this distressed world of today."

Writing from Eastman, Wisconsin, a housewife shared: "Your radiobroadcast comes on every Sunday morning just about the time I'm preparing breakfast for my family. I always experience a relaxed attitude after hearing the program.

"I had never been well-versed in the Bible," she continued, "so when your Bible course was offered, I enrolled. My children are most concerned about Jesus and are always asking questions. I feel now that I can answer them."

A heartbroken Protestant couple from Pontiac, Michigan, wrote: "We heard you on the radio soon after our only child died. Our hearts were breaking and we needed to know more about Jesus Christ and dying. We enrolled in your Bible lessons knowing this would be the beginning to a better understanding."

Last, but not least, I must share some of the miracles which have taken place this year in the Voice of Prophecy Evangelistic Association.

From crusades which our evangelists have held this past year come these messages: "The meetings have broken the ice for me. I quit smoking 10 days ago. I am now keeping the Sabbath, and will be baptized in the very near future."

Someone who helped as a receptionist in one of the meetings writes: "I brought my sister, her husband, and their five children, and they were baptized. I thank God and I'll love Him forever."

Whether it's through the evangelistic association, the Bible school, or the broadcast, I'm so thankful that God is using the Voice of Prophecy to transform people into miracles for His kingdom. What a privilege it is to be on the front lines fighting in the battle between good and evil.

Recognizing the need to do even more through Christ's power to bring people to a decision for Him in this final crisis, we are recruiting 100,000 Seventh-day Adventists in North America to join us as Prayer Warriors on October 11.

All across the continent, Prayer Warriors will be remembering the Voice of Prophecy ministry in prayer. What a surge of strength will be sensed on that day as God is petitioned in behalf of our needs and the needs of those to whom we are ministering.

Also on this day—a day set aside for all Adventist church members to present a special offering for the Voice of Prophecy—these Prayer Warriors will be giving a gift to help fight in the battle for souls.

If 100,000 Prayer Warriors will give $50 each on October 11—one dollar for every year the Voice of Prophecy has been on the air—there will be funds enough to cover North America with the gospel.

Won't you accept the challenge to join the thousands across North America on October 11 who are going to be warriors with us?

As I reflect on the miracles of the past year, I can't help but look forward to the miracle which will take place when our work on earth is finished. If we only accept the invitation, we have been promised a home with Jesus where peace, joy and love will reign forever.

I can't wait to be a part of that miracle!

ANDREWS PROFESSOR NAMED PRESIDENT OF AVONDALE COLLEGE

In an address to the Andrews University Board of Trustees meeting on September 3, Dr. Joseph G. Smoot announced that Andrews' professor James J. C. Cox has been named president of Avondale College in Australia.

Dr. Cox, professor of New Testament and chairman of the New Testament department at the Theological Seminary, is a native of New Zealand and began his career there.

He taught at Columbia Union College before coming to Andrews in 1965. Dr. Cox has also taught at Harvard University and the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Virginia.

The Andrews board made several major appointments, including Reger C. Smith Sr. as vice president for student affairs. Dr. Smith, previous chairman of the social work department, has been at Andrews since 1967. He replaces Charles Upshaw who is pursuing doctoral studies at Stanford.

Robert Moon Jr. has been named assistant to the president for management information and planning. Dr. Moon will remain in his position as professor in the education department.

Also, the board named Fritz Guy to be associate dean of the Theological Seminary. Dr. Guy replaces William Johnsson who was recently named associate editor of the Adventist Review.

Margaret Kroncke was named director of freshman education and activities. Mrs. Kroncke has taught school in Michigan, Indiana, Maryland, and Pennsylvania.

The board also voted to name Mark Driskill public information officer in the public relations department at Andrews. Coming from Alabama, Mr. Driskill received a degree in communication at Southern Missionary College, and replaces Kevin McClanahan who is now assistant public relations director at Florida Hospital, Orlando.

Harold Moll, research chemist at Dow Chemical in Midland, Michigan, has been named adjunct professor of chemistry. Mr. Moll was involved in the effort to produce the first U.S. synthetic rubber.

New chairman of the department of New Testament in the seminary is Ivan T. Blazen, formerly an associate professor of New Testament and biblical theology. Dr. Blazen has been associated with Andrews since 1959.

Robert W. Cash III, was named director of institutional research by the board after being assistant director of that department for the past several years.

Lowell Witz is the new director of the computer center. Mr. Witz has served as operations manager and assistant director of the center since 1975 and replaces LeRoy Botten who has moved to Orlando, Florida.

MC DANIEL NAMED DEVELOPMENT DIRECTOR AT ANDREWS

Dean McDaniel has been named director of development for Andrews University, according to David Bauer, vice president for development and public relations.

Dean McDaniel

Born in Whitehall, Montana, Mr. McDaniel received a Bachelor of Arts degree in theology and history from Walla Walla College in 1963. One year later he earned a master's degree in systematic theology from Andrews University.

His professional experience includes serving the Idaho Conference as an interim pastor from 1964 to 1965, as an evangelist for one year, and as district pastor until June of 1967.

He spent seven years as a missionary to the island of Cyprus for the denomination's Middle East Division. He has also held several positions in the Ontario, Canada, Conference. Beginning in 1975 he spent two years there as stewardship and communication director.

From 1977 until his recent call to Andrews he assumed the position of director of trust services and secretary of corporations for the Ontario Conference.

He is married to the former Valora Melchalke. They have four daughters and two sons.

ANDREWS TO OFFER LAST-DAY EVENTS WORKSHOP

A "Last-Day Events" Seminar to be offered this fall by Andrews' continuing education office is still open to applicants, according to Dr. Arthur Coetzee, director.

The seminar will be held on October 12, directed by Dr. James Chase, assistant professor of communication at the university.

Of special interest to laymen, the seminar will explore new insights on last-day events from the Spirit of Prophecy.

Recent supernatural experiences, including angel appearances, dreams and healings will be dealt with from a biblical perspective.

Topics for the workshop include the close of probation, Armageddon, the seven last plagues and practical suggestions for preparing for the time of trouble.

Further information and applications for the workshop can be obtained by calling Andrews' Lifelong Learning, (616) 471-3286.

PLANE CRASH KILLS TWO ANDREWS STUDENTS

Two Andrews University students were killed in a private plane crash in Haiti on August 10, according to David H. Bauer, university vice president for development and public relations.

Details of the fatality were received recently from investigators hired by the United States Aviation Underwriters Insurance Company.

Esther Manestar, of St. Louis, Missouri, died instantly; Tamra Schultz, of Petersburg, Michigan, died of burns 15 hours after the crash. Ray Watkins, a former Andrews student from Montego Bay, Jamaica, was admitted to a Daytona Beach, Florida, hospital for burn treatments.

Paul Jenson, the pilot, and Wendy

Mahoy, both residents of Florida, were also seriously injured in the crash. They were admitted to the Gainesville Burn Center in Florida.

The plane crashed 30 miles northwest of Port au Prince, Haiti, into the side of a mountain, at 10 P.M. The weather was termed "visual."

An international group of 42 persons attended the food service workshop held on the Andrews University campus during the summer session, July 6 to 24.

FOOD SERVICE WORKSHOP HELD

Forty-two persons from 17 states, Africa, Canada, England, Mexico and the West Indies were enrolled in the Food Service Workshop on the Andrews University campus during the 1980 summer session, according to Dr. Fonda Chaffee, director of the workshop.

The workshop emphasizes principles of cost control, personnel management, organization, sanitation, safety, layout and equipment, food preparation, purchasing, and service.

Nutrition, modified diets, menu planning, and special functions are covered in class lectures and laboratory experience at the Andrews University food service facilities.

To graduate from the program, the participant attends two summer sessions at Andrews University and is supervised by a registered dietitian during a 9-month work experience in his own institution.

The workshop provided training for individuals now employed in food service in hospitals, nursing homes, schools, or other institutions, and was designed to prepare them for membership in the Hospital, Institution and Educational Food Service Society (HIEFSS), sponsored by the American Dietetic Association.

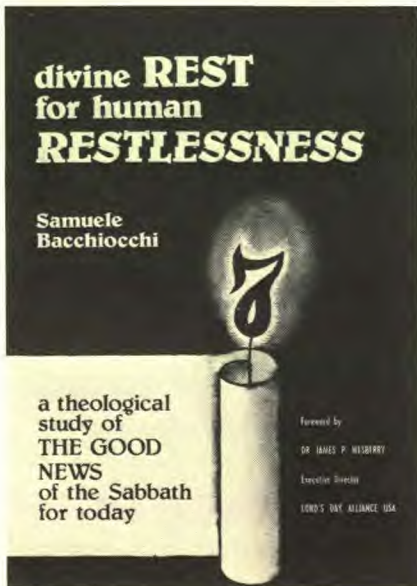

C. E. Bradford, vice president of the denomination's North American division, writes: "Dr. Bacchiocchi has done the impossible. He has produced a work of art that is scholarly, 'meaty' and at the same time highly readable. . . . Reading it has been a sheer delight. I find here a veritable gold mine of devotional and homiletical material. The book is bound to become a classic in its field."

Dr. Joseph G. Smoot, president of Andrews University, comments: "This forceful but graceful monument to Sabbath literature can make a difference in one's life by bringing a richer, deeper spiritual relationship with the Lord of the Sabbath."

"My fervent hope," says Dr. Bacchiocchi, "is that this book will help those persons who seek meaning in their existence, who long for rest in their restless lives, who live among personal and social contradictions and tensions, to find through the Sabbath, divine rest for their human restlessness."

The book is available in both English and Spanish. The title of the Spanish edition is Reposo Divino Para La Inquietud Humana.

The book may be purchased at Adventist Book Centers.

BACCHIOCCHI'S NEW SABBATH STUDY RELEASED BY VATICAN PRESS

Samuele Bacchiocchi, assistant professor of religion at Andrews University, has recently published a new book through the Pontifical Gregorian Press, Divine Rest for Human Restlessness.

The book is a theological interpretation of the Sabbath for contemporary human needs. It is a sequel to Dr. Bacchiocchi's earlier study From Sabbath to Sunday which deals with the history of the Lord's Day in early Christianity.

In the foreword, James P. Wesberry, executive director of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, cites the book as "an invaluable contribution to the strengthening of the Sabbath throughout the world."

"No one, no matter of what faith or denomination he or she may be," says Dr. Wesberry, "can read this book without finding divine rest for his or her restlessness."

More than 60 Seventh-day Adventist leaders and scholars have reviewed the book expressing similar positive appraisals.

NEWS NOTES:

● An interview with Ron McLean, M.D., and Stephen Bielinski, M.D., family practice residents at Hinsdale Hospital and Walter Thompson, M.D., surgeon, was aired on the 4:30 P.M. news, Friday, August 1, on WLS-TV Channel 7 in Chicago. The interview dealt with their experiences at a refugee camp in Thailand and was accompanied by segments from a film the physicians made while serving in the camp.

● Thirty-nine graduates received diplomas from Hinsdale Hospital's three schools during the month of August. Each year the Schools of Medical Technology, Practical Nursing and Radiography graduate an average of 48 students. Seventy-five percent continue their education or find employment in Adventist institutions.

FAMILY PRACTICE NETWORK MEETS

HINSDALE—Business at the quarterly meeting of the Family Practice Network, which met at Hinsdale Hospital on August 1, explored the areas in which the different residency programs can work cooperatively with Loma Linda University (L.L.U.).

In addition to assisting the L.L.U. School of Medicine in developing curriculum in family medicine for students, participants at the meeting worked with Elmer Widmer, Ph.D., associate dean of the L.L.U. School of Health, in expanding the public health program to include off-campus locations.

A grant from the Kellogg Foundation will be used for the purpose. The emphasis of the meeting was to promote the concept of family medicine and to make family medicine more visible to medical students and graduates.

Present at the network meeting were Raymond West, M.D., coordinator, Family Practice Network at Loma Linda University; Bill Putnam,

M.D., director, Glendale Adventist Hospital; John Danis, M.D., director, New England Memorial Hospital; Ted Hamilton, M.D., director, Florida Hospital; Everet Witzel, M.D., Ph.D., former director, Florida Hospital; Timothy Neufeld, M.D., director, Hinsdale Hospital; W. Duane Dodd, M.D., former director, Hinsdale Hospital; Lenard Heffner, M.D., director of medical education, Hinsdale Hospital, and Elmer Widmer, Ph.D., associate dean, L.L.U. School of Health.

HINSDALE EMPLOYEES LOOSE WEIGHT, GAIN MONEY

Three Hinsdale Hospital employees were awarded checks in July as part of the hospital's employee weight-loss program. Mike Freeland, data processing, and Virginia Collins, center, utilization review, received $51 and $81 respectively for weight they lost during the past year. Kathy Fitzsimmons, right, surgery, claimed a check for $45.75 for maintaining her weight. Miss Fitzsimmons has received more money ($146.75) from the program than anyone else. Since it began in February 1978, Hinsdale Hospital has awarded its employees a total of $3,774.75. The program is open to employees at least 15 pounds overweight and rewards them $2 per pound lost with a minimum weight loss of 15 pounds in a year's time. If the employee maintains his lower weight for a year he is paid an additional $1 per pound.

MEDICAL EDUCATION RESIDENTS BEGIN PROGRAM AT BATTLE CREEK

BATTLE CREEK—Wednesday, August 13, was the beginning of a new teaching program at Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital as the hospital became host to residents and physicians from the Battle Creek Area Medical Education Corporation (BAMEC) for the first of a series of two-hour lectures by Dr. Delbert Brown, medical director of psychiatric services.

BAMEC operates a family practice residency in affiliation with Michigan State University. The initial session was attended by three physicians and four residents who share organizational and teaching responsibilities at the BAMEC clinic.

This lecture series in larger terms indicates the importance of B.C.S.H. involvement with BAMEC in taking steps toward becoming part of the medical educational program in Battle Creek.

B.C.S.H. will be joining Leila and Community hospitals, which are already engaged in this program with BAMEC. Furthermore, the B.C.S.H. teaching venture demonstrates teamwork in providing medical care to the Battle Creek community.

These are some of the 75 children who graduated from the Vacation Bible School in the Paris Church this summer. The 10-day program was directed by Janet Wilson.

PATHFINDER OF THE YEAR SELECTED IN ROCKFORD

Jamey Cork, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cork, was recently selected Rockford's Pathfinder of the Year.

Ten-year-old Jamie was unanimously chosen by the Alpine Eagles Pathfinder leaders, based on his outstanding cooperation, attendance, performance, attitude and general inspiration to members of the club and leaders alike.

This announcement at a recent Investiture service at the youth center at the Seventh-day Adventist Church was a surprise to his parents as well as to Jamey.

Jeff Wilson, statewide Pathfinder director, attended the service and awarded the trophy to Jamey.

Bertha Whitmore, co-president of the Early American Optimist Club, awarded trophies to students reading the most books. Kim Smith and Lisa Kubecka each read 75 books during the school year.

Dan Phillips, director of the Pathfinder Club, was assisted by Bill and Kathy Ball, Bill Smith, Bill Glanz, Kevin Grow and Mr. and Mrs. James McCorkle.

NEWS NOTES

● The Washington, Indiana, Church held its Vacation Bible School from July 20 to 25. As many as 19 children attended, ranging in age from 4 to 12. Carol Hughey was the leader; Roy and Mary Gross, Bertha Fisher and Ethel Brothers assisted. This was the first V.B.S. program in Washington for several years, and plans are already being made for next year's V.B.S.

● The Vincennes Church sponsored its first Vacation Bible School in five years from August 11 to 15. Marjorie Tolbert was the leader. Three teachers and five volunteer helpers personally contacted neighbors and friends to come. As a result, 28 children, ranging in age from 3 to 11 years old, enrolled. Plans are being made for a two-week Bible school in 1981.

BEDFORD NEWS NOTES

● Four carloads of youth and adults from the Bedford District recently had a field trip to the Louisville Zoo. Mr. and Mrs. Jud Wilcox, parents of Elder Bob Korzyniowski's wife, Susan, prepared a meal for the group while they were visiting in the Louisville area. The youth enjoyed a swim in Wilcox Lake.

● The Bedford Church has added air conditioning to their facility.

● The Bedford Church is giving careful study to the possibility of opening a church school. A committee is looking for suitable property on which to build.

EVANSVILLE NEWS NOTES

● The first Evansville Church Home and School meeting of the new school year was held Saturday night, August 23. Millie Perry, home and school leader, and her assistants organized a vespers service and recreational program which included music selections by the youth and a panel discussion, moderated by C. E. conference education secretary, on topics related to Christian education. The evening ended with recreation and refreshments. The teachers for the new year are Evelyn Simmons and Dale Ford.

● On August 19 at the 4-H Center the Evansville Pathfinder Club sponsored a fund-raising skating party for the entire church. Funds raised were for the purchase of field uniforms for the club. Fifty-seven people attended the party.

● Elder and Mrs. Carroll Lawson directed the Evansville Church's Vacation Bible School, August 11 to 15. Graduation exercises took place on Sabbath afternoon in conjunction with the regular monthly Story Hour program directed by Debbie Burns. Sixteen children participated in the V.B.S., which had the theme "God Made Our Wonderful World."

● Joe Aaron, Evansville Courier columnist, in his August 6 column invited the people of Evansville to help the Evansville Pathfinders find a covered wagon to use for a chuckwagon. Sunny Weedman, local church communication secretary, had made a request for Mr. Aaron's help. He responded with several paragraphs about the need, and included Mrs. Weedman's name and telephone number as a contact person.

SUCCESSFUL V.B.S. IN MUNCIE

As many as 45 youth attended the Vacation Bible School in Muncie from August 11 to 16. The closing program, the highlight of the week, was during the worship service in the church, with 30 children and 15 non-Adventist visitors. The children marched in with flags and conducted the entire service. Judy Thomas, the leader, and Pastor Anibal Rivera gave direction to the program. Other helpers included Gloria Ice, Sharon Van Tyle, Vivian Wake, Juanita Benson, Brenda Wise and Annette Thomas.

disaster was conducted as the final exam. First through fourth graders were made up as victims.

The teachers and some parents who were nurses observed the way each student cared for the victims.

The general consensus of opinion was that everyone performed well. The victims were convincing in their roles, and the first aiders gave care quickly and properly.

COMMUNITY SERVICES CENTER DEDICATED IN EVANSVILLE

The old Evansville Bethel Church was sold by Louis Kuiken, administrator of the Bethel Sanitarium, to the Evansville Church for a community services center. The members went to work with a renovation program.

The downstairs houses the clothing bank, health-food store and classroom for Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking and cooking schools.

On Wednesday, May 7, 1980, a dedication service was held. Taking part in the ceremony were Indiana Lieutenant Governor Robert Orr, who gave the address; Edward Skoretz, Indiana Conference director of community services; Carroll Lawson, local church pastor; Kitty Kuzmaul, president of the Indiana Community Services Federation, and Arlind Hackett, who was then Indiana Conference secretary-treasurer.

The classroom used for Five-Day Plans will be called Kuiken Hall in honor of Mrs. Kuiken. Several Five-Day Plans, a cooking school and a Wa-Rite class have already been held there.

Joyce Busch will serve as the local community services director. Debra Burns will be the manager of the health food store. Elaine Lawson will be in charge of the senior Dorcas work, and Susie Van Stone will be in charge of the junior Dorcas.

Campers enjoyed swimming, boating, water skiing, nature study, craftwork, horseback riding, archery, talent night, and campfire stories.

Camp pastor was Bob Chase of the Indianapolis Southside Church, whose devotional talks provided a spiritual ministry to the campers.

Camp flags were flown at half-mast in respect for the hostages in Iran, and to honor Eric Elmore, a six-foot-plus former camper who died last December.

Christian Record Field Representative John Boddie made contacts with local businesses which brought favorable responses, including pizza from Pizza Hut and soft drinks from a local bottling company for an evening meal.

Good contacts also resulted in the visit to the camp of reporters and cameramen representing Channel 10 and Channel 4 television stations. Videotapes were made of

P. W. Jenkins, pastor of the Sharon Seventh-day Adventist Church in Inkster, Michigan, gave up his pulpit for four weeks to allow the "Christ is the Answer" evangelistic team to work for Christ.

Lake Union Evangelist R. C. Connor preached and taught the Holy Scriptures, and the Holy Spirit impressed hearts nightly.

Leroy Logan, music director, added to the messages by his talented use of the organ. His musicianship served to give a special quality to this crusade.

Beatrice Morgan from Belleville, Michigan, sang nightly. Her messages in song received hearty amens as the beautiful, hopeful words pierced many hearts.

Shirley Smith and Catherine Bland, Bible workers for the team, answered questions and studied with people searching for truth.

Sharon members are to be commended for their support of this crusade. Youth and adults alike brought relatives and friends to the meetings and passed out invitations in the community.

Church members aided in the work by praying for its success, ushering, serving as parking lot attendants, and giving their time to bring about a well-balanced work for the Lord.

Baptisms were held on three separate occasions during the crusade. The word of God was unfolded, and 114 persons were baptized.

Surely the Lord was present in the Sharon Church.

FALL FEDERATION MEETINGS WILL FEATURE COMMUNICATION EVANGELISM

The featured speaker for the fall community services federation meetings will be Glenn Hill, conference communication and health services director.

Elder Hill will present basic techniques in communication evangelism as it relates to the church's outreach programs, according to Arthur Covell, conference community services director.

"It is imperative to the success of these ministries that all community services members and pastors attend these meetings," Elder Covell said.

Another important part of the meeting is a buzz session in which every member will have the opportunity to comment and ask questions about community services, he said.

Federation officers, chosen at spring federation time, are to be ratified at the meetings, Elder Covell said. A roll call of each church will be made, giving each church an opportunity to update its financial support, if it has not already done so, he said.

Luncheon plans for the Upper Peninsula include a potluck. Those who attend should bring food to share and their own table service.

Lower Peninsula members are asked to bring a sack lunch, and the host church is to provide a drink and dessert.

The schedule is as follows; all meetings begin at 10 A.M.

Western September 22	Grand Haven Church 600 Washington St.
Eastern September 23	Bay City Church 304 South Dean St.
Southwestern September 24	Coloma Church 380 West Center St.
Southeastern September 25	Farmington Church 29831 Ten-Mile Rd.
Upper Peninsula September 28	Iron Mt. Church 614 Carpenter Ave.
Northern September 29	Marion Church 107 West Main
Midwestern September 30	Reed City Church 401 West Chestnut St.

PONTIAC MEMBERS DEDICATE CHILDREN

A child dedication service was held in the Pontiac Riverside Church on July 12, 1980. Pastor Philip Colburn presented five children to the Lord in prayer, and each family received a red rose to symbolize the perfection of childhood. Pictured, from left, are Art Valdez and his daughter, Theresa; Ron and Ola Baughman and son, Stephen; Steve and Paula Pyles and sons, Stevie and Jared; Jerry and Esther Freeman and daughter, Delaine; and Beverly Colburn, wife of the pastor, and their sons, Doug and David. an old copy of The Great Controversy. The two books had an influence in bringing Jeff and Gerri their current happiness in Christ.

The story began in Berkley, Michigan, in 1975 when Jeff and Gerri bought a Bible on sale at a drugstore. They were members of two different churches, and had a dispute over the baptism of Adam, their son.

Then Gerri's Christian sister moved in with them and shared her faith. They had difficulty deciding what was truth.

About that time, they visited Jeff's mother in Midland and shared the fruits of their Bible study.

She was not an Adventist, but said, "I have an old book you should read if you want to study the Bible."

It was The Great Controversy. They took it home and read it through in one week, comparing it with the Bible, sometimes reading until 2 A.M.

Making another effort to discover full truth, they attended Gerri's sister's church. But with their fresh background in Bible study, they soon discovered the limitations there and stopped going.

They accepted the Sabbath and refrained from working on God's day of rest, but they knew no one else who kept it.

Then they moved near Detroit and called all the Christian bookstores in the city to get more copies of The Great Controversy to share with relatives. They found 25 paperback copies and gave them out in the family. But no one seemed as excited about it as they had been.

When Jeff started taking some classes, Gerri called an employment agency in an effort to find work. She specified that she could not work on Saturday.

"Oh, you must be a Seventh-day Adventist," the clerk responded.

With that clue, Gerri looked in the phone book and discovered the Troy Church. When they attended and saw all the Ellen G. White books, they felt right at home.

Soon they studied the Bible with the associate pastor, Jim Hopkins. After three months, they joined the church family by baptism. Now they are active church members at Midland.

The Lord has a thousand mysterious ways to leading His children into full light. If we are awake to opportunities, we may be a part of that leading.

BAPTISM IN ALLEGAN

Georgia Kraai, newly baptized member at Allegan, attributes her desire to become a Seventh-day Adventist to her mother-in-law, a lifetime Adventist, her sister-in-law, Marguerite Zumbrink, and to other Adventist friends who studied with her. Pastor Carl Riebow, who baptized her, included her in a pastor's class, and her final decision was made during evangelistic services held by Elder Arnold Kraner. The baptism was held in Little John Lake August 9.

FRIENDSHIP WINS

Sabbath, August 2, 1980, was a special day for Christine McMillie, left. She was baptized in the Oxford Church. Christine met Marcia Janke, right, when the girls were both attending third grade at the same school. A lasting friendship was established with Marcia, a dedicated Seventh-day Adventist who invited Christine to attend Sabbath School. The two spent many happy weekends together during the next few years. When Christine and Marcia graduated from the eighth grade, Marcia told Christine about Wisconsin Academy and its educational program. Christine's parents consented and she spent her freshman year there. During this time she had Bible studies which lead to her decision to be baptized.

HAPPINESS IS . . . VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Happiness this summer for many Wisconsin children was attending Vacation Bible School. The program at the Lena Vacation Bible School was typical of the activities of the 30 held in churches throughout the conference.

Nearly two-thirds of the children who attended the Lena Vacation Bible School were from non-Adventist homes. Each day the pastor presented the theme talk, "God's Beautiful World." In addition to daily lessons, the children were kept busy with crafts and games. Friday evening a closing program was presented for the parents.

The next day two of the non-member children were in attendance at Sabbath School. Four of the Wisconsin Vacation Bible Schools had unique locations. Iron River Vacation Bible School, conducted by Marjorie Tutor, was held on Tutor's private property. Joyce Tobias opened not only her garage, but her heart to the children of Westfield, Wisconsin.

Child evangelism began three years ago in the 500-resident community of Dane by Kitty Crary. Kitty began a story hour in her home with a small nucleus of six children.

This year 91 children attended the Dane Vacation Bible School which was held at the American Legion Hall. A tent was erected outside the hall to accommodate craft activities.

The Lodi newspaper gave full-page coverage of the Vacation Bible School in pictures and a story. The reporter was amazed at the success of an Adventist Vacation Bible School in a Catholic community, and he commended Mrs. Crary for her efforts.

The closing program was the highlight of the Appleton Vacation Bible School.

Dane Vacation Bible School participants display their sign.

Saying memory verses and taking part in the closing program were just a few aspects of the Fort Atkinson V.B.S.

Pat Magray of the Green Bay Church explains the primary lesson to her class.

The Shawano Vacation Bible School was enjoyed by all.

Waukesha's Vacation Bible School was held in a new church and a new community. Would the neighborhood children respond? Teddy Kucharzak was the first of 25 to enroll. But, as Mickey Burgermeister, the leader, says, "Even if Teddy had been the only student we had, all our efforts would have been worthwhile." He loved Vacation Bible School and the staff loved him.

Teddy's mother was also more than pleased with her first exposure to Adventists. As a treat she provided milk and a special cake she had baked for the last day of Vacation Bible School. Written on the cake was the phrase, "Happiness is... Vacation Bible School."

Keeping all those "live wires" interested and busy took many hours of dedication and determination for all the leaders and their staff members.

To sum up the thoughts and reflections of each Vacation Bible School would be very difficult, yet one statement from Lena does this very well. "God's blessing was felt the entire session."

A BRIGHT DAY IN THE DARK

Wisconsin Conference Youth Director Dale Ziegele and Jerry Stevens, Lake Area Director for Christian Record Braille Foundation, and their associates teamed up for another camp for blind children at Camp Wahdoon near Chetek, Wisconsin.

C.R.B.F. field representatives assisting in the recruiting and camp experience were Jeff Helsius, Ed Soto and Anita Schwitzgoebel.

Most of the 58 campers arrived by chartered bus. C.R.B.F. Field Representative Anita Schwitzgoebel had arranged for the bus which made stops in Milwaukee and Madison.

Campers lined up at an outdoor registration table and were assigned cabins. The camp nurse checked on needed medications.

The counselors gave close attention to the needs of the campers and assisted them in participation activities such as archery, horseback riding, stories and devotions at the campfire bowl, nature study, leathercraft and figurine painting.

Especially appreciated was the visit of Elder and Mrs. Charles C. Case, newly appointed Lake Union Conference youth director, who served as guest camp pastor.

A news team representing WEAU-TV Channel 13 in Eau Claire, Wisconsin, visited the camp for six hours and produced a videotape news story. The 15-minute story was aired on July 28.

The week of camp held for blind children and youth at Wahdoon was one of 38 such camps conducted across North America last summer by the Christian Record Braille Foundation.

This Seventh-day Adventist publishing center has served the blind for 80 years, and this year began services for the deaf and hearing-impaired.

RICHARDSSES CELEBRATE 60TH

During a reception recently held in honor of Elder and Mrs. H.M.S. Richards, it was announced that the couple had "decided to make their marriage permanent." The announcement created a chuckle among the 250 guests who had gathered at Voice of Prophecy headquarters to celebrate the Richardses' 60th wedding anniversary. The couple met in Ottawa, Ontario, where Elder Richards was pastoring the Adventist church and Mabel Eastman was teaching in the church school. On April 14, 1920, they were married in Harmony Corners in Oshawa.

LOMA LINDA ESTABLISHES EYE BANK

Howard Hammell had his vision restored Wednesday but he doesn't know who to thank. Mr. Hammell (not his real name) is one of the first recipients of the newly established Inland Eye Bank, sponsored by the Loma Linda Eye Foundation, which locates corneas for transplantation.

Formerly, individuals who needed cornea transplants had to depend on donors by a very haphazard arrangement. Even if the prospective donor had signed a pledge card, relatives at his death were not aware of his intentions or were too distracted by grief to follow through with his wish to donate his eyes. The eye bank is an attempt to formalize the donation process.

After a week in operation, the eye bank reported that six persons had donated their corneas and six persons had undergone transplant surgery.

For more information, contact the Inland Eye Bank, Loma Linda University Medical Center, (714) 796-0541.

Additional languages used by the V.O.P. in the United States and Canada include Filipino, German, Greek, Japanese, Portuguese, Russian, Ukrainian, and Yugoslavian.

SINGLES CAMP MEETING HELD IN TENNESSEE

"Fascinatingly different" describes the Fourth Annual Singles Camp Meeting, according to Jerry Lastine, stewardship and trust services director of the Indiana Conference. The camp meeting was sponsored by the International Philosda Club and held at Southern Missionary College, August 7 to 16.

Nearly 300 people registered from 35 states and 3 provinces of Canada. The program included devotional meetings, personal growth seminars, recreation, singspirations, sightseeing and a talent program.

Sabbath speakers included C. E. Bradford and Arturo Schmidt of the General Conference. Russell Holt, assistant ministerial secretary of the General Conference, had the evening meditations.

Seminar speakers included Drs. Robert and Carla Kamieneski and Professor Ed Lamb of Southern Missionary College; Dr. Sandi Mitchell of Montgomery, Alabama; Claude Thomas of Oakwood College, and Elder Lastine.

Musical talent, directed by Sid Mills of the Amazing Facts radio program based in Maryland, made the camp meeting program complete. The Singles Choir sang for the closing church service.

I.P.C. officers from the Lake Union for 1980-1981 are: Mildred Wagner of Indiana, re-elected as president; Elodia Jones of Michigan, vice-president; Judy Hankemeier of Indiana, re-elected as secretary, and Charles Phillips of Indiana, treasurer.

Lake Union singles are planning for a Thanksgiving Retreat at Camp Au Sable, Michigan, November 26 to 30. Contact Judy Hankemeier, P.O. Box 1950, Carmel, IN 46032, or call (317) 862-3753, for reservations.

GEORGE VANDEMAN WINS FAITH AND FREEDOM AWARD

George E. Vandeman, director-speaker of the It Is Written telecast, has been named a 1980 "Faith and Freedom" award winner by Religious Heritage of America, a St. Louis-based organization which promotes the values of the Judeo-Christian heritage in America.

The Faith and Freedom award honors men and women who communicate the principles of America's religious heritage through television, radio, print journalism, films and literature.

Previous Faith and Freedom winners include Pat Robertson, head of the Christian Broadcasting Network, and George Cornell, religion editor of the Associated Press.

"My hope is that this honor will focus attention on our loving God," said Elder Vandeman. "He and His word are the center of all we do at It Is Written."
