"True education... is the harmonious development of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual powers. It prepares the student for the joy of service in this world and for the higher joy of wider service in the world to come."—Education, p. 13.

THERE are those who fear that unless their children are trained in recognized schools of the land, the children will not succeed or advance. In their attempt to give their children every advantage, they ignore the counsel of God and send their offspring to secular institutions of learning.

Such a course is both dangerous and fallacious. It is dangerous to expose our young to the influence and guidance of unbelievers. It is false because it goes contrary to that which is truth.

When our young people are educated according to Heaven's plan, the results have been positive. It is incumbent upon God-fearing parents that they provide a Christian education for their offspring.

Christian education is not a recent innovation. It dates from the beginning of human history. From earliest of times it was the duty of every true Israelite to provide religious instruction for his children. God's instruction to ancient parents about teaching his precepts is recorded in Deuteronomy 6:7—"And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up."

Hebrew youngsters were not disadvantaged because of their religious education. They were not retarded in any way. They could compete with other young people very successfully. The truth is that they excelled. When put to the test they oustripped their competitors intellectually and physically.

Daniel and his Hebrew companions are a prime example of this fact. They outclassed the intellectuals of their day. Daniel was promoted to top positions under three different kings. The basis for his excellent performance was his religious training.

If I had the choice of selecting one individual as an example demonstrating the worth of Christian education, I would settle on the Apostle Paul. He could out-reason the ablest philosophers and theologians of his day. He stood before kings and other dignitaries. No one questioned his "much learning."

Paul was no dropout. In II Timothy 4:7, he stated, "I have finished my course." Because his actions were prompted by Christian ethics, the Apostle expected to be promoted. His objective was not some earthly position of power and prominence. Instead he cherished a place in the kingdom of God.

This should be the goal of every Christian parent and youth. Should not our desires to achieve and get ahead be tempered by a clear understanding of Christian education? Ellen G. White in the book Education, page 13, states: "True education means more than the pursual of a certain course of study. It means more than a preparation for the life that now is. It has to do with the whole being, and the whole period of existence possible to man."

THE HEART OF THE LAKE UNION

Circle of Friends

by Marjorie Snyder

CHRIStIAN education is as good as its teachers and the people who support it. One of the teachers who has labored for 40 years to promote Christian service in her pupils is Elvera Eckerman.

From the time she graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College in 1941 until she officially retired in June, Miss Eckerman has trained and spiritually nurtured her children, keeping track of as many as possible around the world.

Before leaving on her first tour of service in Africa, Miss Eckerman taught 101 Michigan children. She has a list of these children and calls them her "101 Famous Children."

In this group are doctors, attorneys, pastors and pastors' wives. Many other occupations are represented as well. A few of her students serving in the Lake Union are: Bernice Micheff, a pastor's wife of Alma, Michigan; Arthur Strum, principal of Tri-City Junior Academy, Freeland, Michigan; and Mark Johnson of New Albany, Indiana.

If you ever had Miss Eckerman for a teacher, your name is still on her list of friends, and she wonders about you every time she sees your name. Her pupils have been her life.

During her teaching career, Miss Eckerman visited 86 countries and every state in the union. She was a missionary in Africa for 22 years.

While in Michigan and the mission field, she was known for her vast knowledge of nature. Miss Eckerman spent several years both at Camp Pottawatomie and Camp Au Sable, acquainting campers with the wonders of nature.

One class Miss Eckerman took in college has been very helpful to her. That was agriculture, she said. While in Africa at Bugema Training College, she was told that the soil would not grow anything because of its poor condition.

"Just give me 10 boys, an acre of land and some seed," Miss Eckerman said.

With that small beginning, students were able to grow enough vegetables the first summer to feed the 200 students, besides having some to sell at the market in the village!

Pathfinder and temperance programs always received high priority in Miss Eckerman's curriculum. In Liberia her first group of Master Guides were made honor guards at the king's palace.

While teaching in Niles, she told us with a twinkle in her eye, the Michigan Conference temperance department named her Man of the Year in temperance. They didn't know what else to call it, she said.

Although Miss Eckerman has now officially retired, she is not giving up on life, nor forgetting her students. Her plans include a home large enough for all her former children and their families to visit her—a large circle of friends. All the memorabilia from her travels will add a museum-like atmosphere to her abode.

Her future plans also include doing volunteer work in hospitals and nursing homes. Miss Eckerman will also do some substitute teaching and tutoring to keep busy in her "spare" time.

Seventh-day Adventist Education Is Alive and Well!

EXCITING developments have taken place in the Lake Union Conference school system this year, bearing evidence that Seventh-day Adventist education is alive and well!

There is vibrance in its spiritual emphasis.

Andrews University Academy, for instance, set the tone for the 1980-81 school year by having the entire school family share symbolically in the "fruit of the Spirit."

The students and faculty enjoyed sacred music and a banquet of fresh fruit, nuts and sweetbreads. They made personal commitments to strive to grow spiritually, so that love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control would be seen in every life this year.

At Wisconsin Academy, Hazel Zantua, of the East Caroline Islands, found the activities on campus quite different from what she had been accustomed to. As the strangeness wore off, she began to find increasing joy and satisfaction in what she was learning.

She shared these truths with her parents. Her own conversion and consistent witness have led her entire family to baptism. So remarkable has been her story that several legislators and senators on the island of Truk now want to send their children to Adventist schools.

Elementary students are also experiencing this vibrance. Suzanne Bernier and her two brothers at Gobles have been such an encouragement to their non-Adventist parents that interest in the teachings of the church has been aroused.

Angel Massey, a first-grader at

This article was compiled by Milton Siepman, associate director of education for the Lake Union, from material supplied by educators throughout the Lake Union.

Indianapolis, shared her experience and happiness with her mother. This led to closer contact with the school, a series of Bible studies with Elder Harry Passion of the Glendale Church, and then baptism.

Now little Angel is looking forward to the day when she, too, can be baptized. How encouraging it is to see students influenced in a positive way, and then to see that influence passed on to their parents.

It is active in outreach.

Students at Grand Ledge Academy have been active in sharing their faith. Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking clinics have been conducted in Lansing. The students have visited public schools and presented programs on healthful living.

Battle Creek students have sponsored a senior citizens Thanksgiving banquet and a Christmas party for needy children.

A unique form of outreach has been developed at Broadview Academy. With the direction of the deans and guidance counselors, a peer counseling program has been established. It provides students with the knowledge and experience needed to help their peers when they face personal problems.

During 1980-81, 58 students participated in the program. The results have been so positive and far-reaching that this may well become a permanent part of the school curriculum. Christian outreach to needy persons on and off campus is an integral part of the education process.

It is joyful in sharing.

Perhaps one of the finest forms of sharing joy and happiness is in the making of good music—an aspect of Adventist education which is particularly successful.

This year the Illinois Conference sponsored several music education days for the purpose of encouraging the development of creative arts. Regional meetings were held at Hinsdale, Decatur and Kewanee.

Band and choir festivals were also conducted at Broadview Academy, drawing more than 200 participants from all over the state. Culminating in public concerts, these activities have done much to enhance the joy which young people experience when they share their musical talents.

Cedar Lake Academy had the rare privilege of having its brass ensemble selected by the Friendship Ambassadors Foundation to tour Rumania for two weeks as United States Ambassadors of Friendship.

Six formal and several informal concerts were presented as a means of spreading international understanding and good will through the performing arts—ambassadors for our country and ambassadors for our Lord!

There is achievement in learning.

Not only have students performed well in the testing program, generally scoring above national averages, but unique and valuable learning experiences have also enriched the system.

From May 4 to 8, the students at the Holland Church School participated in an outdoor school. In the Dune Forest Preserve, students studied orienteering, basic hiking and survival, first aid, how to prepare wild edible plants for eating, camp-fire building and cookery.

As a result, students gained a greater understanding of and appreciation for nature. Parents, teachers and students have expressed a desire to see this program repeated every year.

Grand Ledge Academy Industrial Arts students have had the beneficial experience of building a house together. With the supervision of Gaylon Stevenson, this form of obtaining academic credit has also provided the students with valuable skills and experience, as well as an appreciation for creative work.

Shiloh Academy, like many other Adventist schools, continues to emphasize Adventist youth activities. Elder Conrad Gill recently invested 73 young people who had attained skills in spiritual, educational, missionary, social and recreational activities.

With the leadership of Ivan Van Lange, this school has also excelled in another area. At the May 31 graduation exercises, in which 18 seniors and 31 eighth-graders received their diplomas, more than $12,000 in scholarships was presented to students. Several graduates were also offered full four-year scholarships to universities in Chicago. But these students have declined the scholarships since they prefer to attend an Adventist college.

There is valuable experience in working.

Now that the Lake Union Conference Board of Education, K-12, has incorporated work experience into the curriculum, more students are benefiting from the blessing of combining work with school.

A typical example can be seen at Indiana Academy where a third manufacturing and packaging industry is now being developed. More job opportunities now exist than what the enrollment can provide for.

This means that all young people who truly want a Seventh-day Adventist education can find work to help defray expenses. At the same time they gain skills and experience which will stand them in good stead later in life.

And there is satisfaction in service.

Perhaps the greatest reward of teaching is watching students grow and develop until they take up positions of responsibility in the world. Betty Gates, first-grade teacher at Shiloh Academy, recently presented diplomas to several graduating seniors who had been members of her first class in 1969 and had attended that school for 12 consecutive years.

On May 10, the Wisconsin Academy Church family honored Delilah Petersen who has recently retired after 40 years of teaching—32 of those years at the Columbus Church School (recently named the Petersen Elementary School).

After a "This is Your Life" program, guests, friends, colleagues and former students participated in paying tribute to a fine teacher whose dedication lives in students who have become leaders and strong members in the church and community.

Yes, Seventh-day Adventist education is alive and well. There is achievement and activity in every classroom, providing the opportunity for renewal, restoration and redemption to the 7,298 students who have attended schools in the Lake Union Conference this year.

C.L.A. ACADEMY DAY: LARGEST EVER

Very Important Persons—that is how C.L.A. viewed the 134 student visitors who attended the 1981 Academy Day. This represents the largest turnout in the recent history of the school.

Since 1972 the enrollment at C.L.A. has been steadily increasing and the 1981-82 school year promises more growth. As of May 19, 1981, there were 251 students accepted, and 69 of this number are new students.

The number of applications accepted is 18 percent ahead of applications accepted at this time last year. And Cedar Lake still has room for about 100 more students.

Academy Day was planned by the Student Association with the leadership of Kevin Brown, president.

First the visitors toured the campus, including classrooms, the mill, and Cedar Lake Industries. The mill provides approximately 70 jobs, and the C.L.A. Industries provides approximately 150 jobs.

Then the Aerokhanas performed outdoors for the visitors, and a talent show featured selections from the April S.A. talent show. Two guests also performed: Kathy Afton from Grand Rapids Junior Academy and Tina Horvath from Escanaba Junior Academy.

A music department presentation and dormitory living were featured in a general assembly.

The traditional baseball game ended in the traditional manner: the visitors lost.

The last activity was registration.

Visitors who had already been accepted signed up for class and work schedules with Ben Jones, C.L.A. guidance counselor. He will continue to schedule students throughout the summer, even by mail.

Commenting on the 1981 Academy Day at C.L.A. one visitor said, "I like it here."

BAKE-N-SERVE EXPANDS AT WISCONSIN ACADEMY

January 1, 1981, marked the opening of two more bread lines at the Columbus, Wisconsin, Dakota Bake-n-Serv plant. The six bread lines produce 220,000 pounds of dough daily.

Fourteen semi-trucks deliver more than one million pounds of bread dough weekly into this plant's primary distribution area, which includes all states east of the Mississippi River, as well as Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri, and parts of Minnesota, Kansas, and Louisiana.

The expansion increased the number of part-time jobs from 40 to 64.

Dakota Bake-n-Serv markets Rhodes Frozen Bread Dough as its primary product. But the company also prepares institutional packs for in-store bakeries, and packages the bread under many well-known private labels for national firms such as Kroger, A&P and Safeway.

BROADVIEW ACADEMY NEWS NOTES

● On February 12, 1981, ribbon-cutting ceremonies were held in the new industrial education building. Construction costs for the building were $369,700. This facility provides a classroom and instructional areas for woodworking, auto mechanics, auto body work and welding.

● A group of Adventist laymen have formed Academy Gardens, a corporation that is providing work for Broadview Academy students. This spring, three additional greenhouses were opened, and there are plans for a year-round agricultural program. Academy Gardens leases 50 acres from Broadview Academy for raising vegetables on a picked or U-Pick basis. There are also strawberries, raspberries, and grapes. This is the corporation's fourth summer of operation, and it has provided $15,000 worth of student labor.

● Broadview Academy's newest work opportunity, Academy Pak, has provided more than $28,000 worth of student labor. They are packaging nuts and bolts for a Chicago-based company. The Wall-Street Journal announced in June 1981, that the company has merged with the largest manufacturer of nuts and bolts in Japan. Within the next two years, it is estimated that 75 students will be employed by Academy Pak, tripling the present number of employees.

HARRIS PINE AT W.A.

"We are seeing the blessings of God each day and His guiding hand, especially when other businesses are closing and laying people off," says Alvin Koehler, manager of Harris Pine Mills at Wisconsin Academy. "We have an avalanche of orders and actually turn some down because we cannot get parts fast enough."

Harris Pine Mills currently employs 49 students, and there is work for 20 more students during the rush season.

According to Mr. Koehler, salesmen and visitors who come to the plant are impressed by the diligence and attentiveness of the student workers.

Students 16 or older who are interested in attending Wisconsin Academy and working at Harris Pine Mills, may contact the Harris Pine Mills Manager, Alvin Koehler, or Mildred Summerton, principal, Wisconsin Academy, Columbus, WI 53925.

CAMPUS HIGHLIGHTS

- Lawrence Turner, professor of information science and physics, has been appointed chairman of Andrews' new department of information and computer science. Computer courses which were formerly taught through the mathematics, engineering technology, allied health and business administration departments will now be offered through the newly organized department headed by Dr. Turner. The department was officially organized on July 1.

- The Singing Men, Andrews' male chorus directed by Dr. James Hanson, performed the national anthem at the Chicago Cubs/Atlanta Braves baseball game May 3 at Chicago's Wrigley Field. The group received the invitation to perform at the game after submitting an audition tape and being selected by the committee in the Cubs organization that handles music performances for home games.

- Trevor Tyson, a junior physics student, was awarded a National Science Foundation (N.S.F.) fellowship. A native of St. Croix, Virgin Islands, Mr. Tyson is one of nine students throughout the nation to receive the fellowship under the N.S.F. summer program for American Indian, hispanic and black undergraduates. They are spending eight weeks at Kitt Peak National Observatory this summer, assisting with telescopic observations and research.

- Kermit L. Netteburg, assistant professor of journalism, was chosen the 1981 Teacher of the Year by the student association. He was presented with the award at the university's annual Awards Day assembly. Dr. Netteburg has been at Andrews since 1973, and completed

ANDREWS ACADEMY STUDENTS HONORED ON CLASS NIGHT

Academy Principal Dr. Richard Orrison presented the annual Principal's Award to Margaret K. Johnston and Guy R. Puffer. In making the presentation, Dr. Orrison said the students possessed "qualities of character which often elude measurement but which are easily observed—qualities such as consideration, straightforwardness, openness to reason, an excellent spirit."

Receiving the award for highest academic standing was Karen S. Drew. The award is given in recognition of outstanding scholastic accomplishment during the four years of high school and in anticipation of unusual achievement in the future. Miss Drew also received the award for four years of perfect attendance.

National Merit Scholarship finalists included Lynell A. Blazen, Lawrence E. Brown and Craig E. Hanson. These students represent fewer than one-half of one percent of the nation's graduating secondary school seniors.

Susan E. Smith received the National Achievement Scholarship for Outstanding Negro Students Award as a finalist. This is the first year that Andrews Academy has had a finalist in this category.

The American Youth Foundation Award went to Nabil B. Ghazal and Risha E. Jones. This award is given for qualities of leadership balanced by an alert mind, an outreach of friendship, healthful living and a positive character.

Sherri D. Ingram received the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award for cooperation, truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality, courtesy and loyalty to American ideals.

The Thomas A. Umek Memorial Award for athletics went to Gregory S. Christensen for character, integrity and involvement in the school's athletic program. Mr. Christensen also received the National Merit Scholarship Commended Student Award.

work for a Ph.D. from Minnesota University in 1980.

● Andrews' newest extension program opened on the island of Bermuda in mid-April, according to Arthur Coetzee, director of the division of continuing education and extension programs for the university. Instructor for the course was Donna Habenicht, assistant professor of educational psychology and counseling at Andrews. She taught a course titled "The Spiritual Nurture of Children," a course she teaches on the Andrews campus. Daily classes were held April 15 to 23 in Hamilton, Bermuda, with 30 teachers and parents enrolled. A final session in late July will complete the seminar.

CAMPUS MINISTRIES CENTER RENOVATED AND EXPANDED

The university's resident chaplaincy staff has recently moved into newly enlarged and renovated facilities in the Campus Center, according to campus chaplain Chester Damron.

The Campus Ministries Center is now located on the first floor of the building that also houses the cafeteria, student association offices, recreational center and student services offices. Recent renovations have tripled the floor space of the center and have provided a lounge area, three offices, and work space for the chaplaincy staff.

The center is located in the space formerly occupied by the University Medical Center which moved last year to a new building.

"Before the renovations, students felt like they were intruding if there were already two or three people in the office," Elder Damron explains. "Now the new glass door and the lounge area let students know that they are welcome to come in and relax in a quiet atmosphere even if they aren't seeking the services of the center."

Elder Damron's associate, David Rand, also finds the new facilities much more conducive to his work: "With the limited space and equipment we had previously, counseling situations were certainly not ideal," he says. "I think students will be much less apprehensive now about coming to the center when they are looking for someone to talk to."

NEW MASTER'S DEGREE IN NURSING OFFERED

Andrews University has received final authorization to offer a Master of Science degree in nursing administration, according to Richard Schwarz, vice president for academic administration.

The new degree program, which will begin with Andrews' fall registration in September, is designed to be completed in five academic quarters of full-time work. Along with courses in nursing administration, the degree will provide a cognate in adult health and will be the only program of its kind in western Michigan.

According to Dr. Schwarz, the new program is accredited by the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges and by the General Conference Board of Higher Education.

Through Andrews' extension program, the degree will be available to students affiliated with Portland Adventist Medical Center, Florida Hospital, Hialeah Hospital, Kettering Medical Center, Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, and an association of community hospitals in the Kalamazoo area.

The new degree brings Andrews' total of graduate degrees to 46.

ANDREWS AND MINISTRY TO SPONSOR CHURCH GROWTH SEMINAR

A unique five-day seminar on church growth and pastoral leadership will be held on the Andrews University campus August 30 to September 4, according to Des Cummings Jr., director of the Institute of Church Ministry.

The seminar is jointly sponsored by Ministry magazine and the Institute of Church Ministry. It is offered to pastors from all denominations who are seeking additional training in leadership techniques for motivating church growth.

Specialists in church ministry, seminary professors and General Conference personnel will lead a discussion of creative methods for stimulating church growth in the 1980's.

The keynote address will be delivered by Charles E. Bradford, president of the North American Division. Other featured speakers include James Engle, director of the Billy Graham Graduate Program in Communication at Wheaton College; John Savage, president of Leadership Education and Development (LEAD) Consultant, Inc.; and Douglas Walrath, a church development consultant and research specialist.

Their presentations will feature discussions in the areas of gospel communication, bored and apathetic church members and social change and mission strategy.

Also included in the seminar will be Mark Finley, director of the Lake Union Soul-Winning Institute in Hinsdale, Ill.; T. A. McNealy, pastor of the Maranatha Church in Atlanta; William Liversidge, ministerial secretary of the Southwestern Union, and John Fowler, president of the Ohio Conference. Elias Gomez from the Pacific Union and Clarence Grusebeck of the General Conference ministerial department will also participate. Seminary professors Norman Miles, Arnold Kurtz and Ivan Warden will make presentations.

Elder Cummings and Roger Dudley, also of the Institute of Church Ministry, will report on the results of a recently completed study of 12,000 Adventist church members across North America.

Graduate credit is available. For information regarding tuition, lodging, and registration, contact the Institute of Church Ministry, Seminary Hall, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104 or call (616) 471-3575.

● Janelle Voorhees, Vivienne Rampton, Linda McIntyre, Hattie McClouth and Betty Schieferdecker organized and ran Kewanee's first natural foods seminar for five nights in May. Ten participants from the community brought friends and spouses to the final night's banquet, with 50 people in attendance. The Real Life Health Food Store in downtown Kewanee contributed significantly to the interest in natural foods preparation and consumption.

● Sabbath evening, June 13, the DeKalb Seventh-day Adventist Church held a farewell social honoring Pastor and Mrs. Andy McRae, and their children, Andy and Jeff. Elder McRae has served as pastor of the DeKalb and academy churches for three years. He has accepted a call to be pastor of the Brookfield and Broadview churches.

Five- and six-year olds participated in a play group at the Downers Grove Church.

CHILDREN'S PLAY GROUP AT DOWNERS GROVE

Eight children comprised a play group that met 35 times during the last nine months at the Downers Grove Church.

According to Nancy Cross, chairman, the idea for the group originated when several mothers decided they wanted to supplement home education for their five- and six-year-old children.

At each meeting a different mother led the daily activities, which included a God/creation curriculum, nature lessons, crafts, exercise and music. Monthly field trips rounded out the program.

Once a month parent seminars were held in which parents discussed problems and listened to guest speakers.

Professional testing was provided at the beginning and end of the nine-month period.

According to Mrs. Cross, the program was supported by dues.

The Downers Grove Church will be happy to provide information to other churches interested in organizing a play group.

BAPTISM IN AURORA

The first baptism in the newly erected Aurora Church was held June 27. Jessie Mercado and Frank Martinez, back row, center, attended evangelistic meetings held last fall by Elder Dan Schiffbauer. They also attended the Daniel Seminar and Bible studies held by Pastor White, right. Frank, who joined by profession of faith, studied with Elder Jose Gorbea-Colon of the Aurora Spanish Church, before the meetings. An Aurora member, Janet Perry, gave Bible studies to Jacqueline Gordon, second from left. The other young people were baptized as the result of Christian home training, Christian education and Bible studies by Pastor White. Elder A. E. Wade, left, of Indiana, baptized his granddaughter, Christia, left. In addition to Christia and Jacqueline, those baptized were Tammy Gray, Fred Bauman, Lesa Bauman, and Krissie Wein.

B.V.A. ALUMNI MEET

Broadview Academy alumni from the classes of 1925 through 1980 were present as alumni president, Alex Miskiewicz took roll at the alumni church service, on April 18 at the B.V.A. sanctuary.

Pastor Norman Kinney, past boys dean at B.V.A., gave a challenging message, "Why the Delay," for the 11 A.M. church service.

One of the many surprises of the weekend were personal messages from Elinor Wilson, wife of the General Conference president, and Bob Olson, secretary of the E. G. White Research. They are members of the class of 1937.

Arthur Nelson, principal of B.V.A., and Alex Miskiewicz, were presented with B.V.A. campus scenes, paintings by Chris Friestad, class of 1970.

Postcards of the campus were presented to each alumni that was present. These cards will be used as an incentive for alumni and friends to donate to the alumni association for the scholarship project. Donations may be sent to the new Alumni president, David Zima, Broadview Academy, La Fox, IL 60147.

SOUL-WINNING IN OTTAWA

The Ottawa-Sheridan district plans quarterly baptisms for 1981. Baptisms were held in February and May. According to Pastor Robert Fekete, the quarterly baptism, like the communion service, is becoming a regular part of the church year.

Two laymen in Ottawa and four laymen in Sheridan are learning to give Bible studies.

Says Pastor Fekete, "We began witnessing by giving Signs of the Times door to door for three months. We followed up this outreach by teaching church members how to visit people and give their personal testimony."

Bible Worker Jean Howser will soon begin a lay-training class.

"Our goal," says Pastor Fekete, "is to help our members become soul winners. They can and they will."

MEETINGS PLANNED FOR BOLINGBROOK

Lester D. Fowler

Lester D. Fowler, Upper Columbia Conference evangelist, will conduct evangelistic meetings in the new Bolingbrook Church in October.

Elder Fowler has spent 10 years in evangelism in Wyoming, Colorado, South Dakota, Nebraska, Oregon, Washington, and Idaho. His wife, Jeffie-Marie is pianist and organist for the meetings.

The Fowlers will present a multimedia program featuring 15,000 super slides and hundreds of movies.

Each program begins with a short travelogue of a city or country Elder Fowler has visited. These programs often highlight the subjects of his lectures.

If you know people in Bolingbrook, Woodridge, Romeoville, or Downers Grove who should receive a special invitation to the meetings, please send their names and addresses to Pastor Burton Wright, 3011 16th St., Joliet, IL 60435, or to the Illinois Conference, Box 89, Brookfield, IL 60513.

KEWANEE YOUTH BAPTIZED

Elder Peter Rampton and Ken Voorhees, church school teacher, taught a 15-week baptismal class for the students of Kewanee Church School. At the conclusion of the studies, Carrie Rush, Brad Bryner, Vanessa and Vivyan Voorhees were baptized on Sabbath, May 30, 1981. They are pictured here with Pastor Rampton.

BAPTISM IN PRINCETON

CHAMPAIGN CHURCH OBSERVES 75TH ANNIVERSARY

The Champaign Mattis Avenue Church was host to 200 former members and friends, May 9, during the church's 75th Anniversary services.

Mrs. Jessie Bowers and Mrs. Anna Feely, members for more than 50 years, were honored. Also honored were 10 people who have been members for more than 25 years. Mrs. Blair Smestad presented boutonnieres and corsages to the honored members and extended good wishes from the church.

She also read greetings to the church from former members and friends who could not attend.

The Sabbath School program, conducted by David Plaisted, included a song service by Gordon Pollitt; opening prayer by Harry Bowers; the mission story and lesson by former members Roy Wightman and Don Peters; a song by the primary division, and special music by James Kent and James Procell.

The church service included a sermon on faith by Everett Cumbo, president of the Illinois Conference, and special music by Mazias de Oliveiras. Wayne Voegele, head elder, gave the scripture and prayer.

The 200 members and friends attended a fellowship dinner after the morning service.

Mazias and Edinir de Oliveiras and their accompanist, Ramundo da Silva, students at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, presented a gospel concert during the vesper service. Opal Hoover Young, a charter Sabbath School member and well-known writer, told of the early work and organization at Urbana-Champaign. Mrs. Iola Moss and Mrs. Sharon Smestad were baptized.

● On May 22 at 12:45 P.M. a guinea pig, a hamster, a raccoon, two chickens, three dogs and four cats went to school at Kokomo for Pet Day, according to student teacher Leon Brown. The children introduced their pets and had their pictures taken. A few minor disasters occurred: The hamster almost wound up as a dog's dinner, the guinea pig jumped out of his box, the chickens tried their wings, the coon would not go back in his cage, and one of the dogs scared a cat. Everyone went home happy that Pet Day was a success and that there were no casualties.

● On May 16 student pastor Robert Chambers and his family were given a farewell dinner by the Elkhart Church. Pastor Chambers will serve as assistant pastor of the Shreveport, Louisiana, Church.

● On Sabbath afternoon, May 16, a young men's quartet from Hinsdale, Illinois, presented a program in the Elkhart Church. Hometown boy Rick DeFluiter, gave a sermonette on the "Ten Virgins." The quartet has been singing for about six months and has presented programs in several churches.

ADVENTISTS ASSIST IN RICHMOND BLOOD PRESSURE CLINIC

One hundred twenty-two persons had blood pressure tests at the Richmond, Indiana, Blood Pressure Clinic at the Richmond Square Mall on Sunday, May 17 from 2 to 5:30 P.M. The clinic was sponsored by the Richmond Church health outreach committee.

The 30-foot health screening van belonging to the Indiana Community Services was used for the tests. William Fisher, a local physician, was in charge.

He was assisted by three local Adventist registered nurses: Jacqueline Rogers, Rose Defibaugh, and Barbara Fisher. Lee Charbonneau, local registered physical therapist, also assisted.

In addition to the responses to the free blood pressure clinic, there were 20 people who had the 3-C tests for cancer, coronary disease and cerebral vascular strokes.

A fee of $15 included checking blood, blood sugar, cholesterol, and tri-glycerides, height and weight.

Twenty-eight members of the church helped with registration and distributed free literature.

The mall officials and security guards complimented the church and those who conducted the clinic.

HUNTINGBURG NEW NOTES

● A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was held at the Huntingburg Middle School from June 1 to 5 by Ron Olney. A local physician has advised patients who need to stop smoking to contact the Adventists about the Five-Day Plan. He was impressed by the success of Elder Carroll Lawson's Five-Day Plan at Jasper Memorial Hospital last year. Southridge High School has asked Huntingburg to hold a plan for their students next fall since the school board has voted to close all smoking areas and to ban all smoking on the school grounds.

● The Huntingburg Church has been invited by the mayor's office to hold a Summer Story Hour in the park again this year. It was scheduled for June 29 through July 3 with Becky Vance in charge.

● A new Pathfinder club was organized on May 5 with five charter members. Carolyn Moore is the club director. Carolyn and her husband, Norman, were Pathfinder club directors of the Glezen Church for 14 years and earned 12 trophies. At one time they had a 35-member club with only four Adventist youth. Huntingburg is glad to have these leaders.

● The new Huntingburg Church is nearly completed inside. It has been used for worship since April

10, the last night of the Prophecy Crusade. The first Sabbath service included a baptism of four new members and one received on profession of faith. Minor indoor projects and the outside work are scheduled to be completed soon. The outer shell of the church building was donated by Otis Rupright of West Lafayette. The job of completing the building was directed by Norman Moore and his son, Gary. Church members wish to thank the men from the Tell City Church who volunteered their services to help hang drywall.

FESTIVAL OF THE WORD HELD IN LAFAYETTE

More than 50 young people from Indiana went to Lafayette, Indiana, to participate in Indiana's second Festival of the Word. The youth were housed and fed in the new church at Lafayette. The program included workshops in witnessing, door-to-door witnessing experience, fellowship and recreation. The youth knocked on hundreds of doors in the Lafayette area and invited people to attend Elder Lester Carney's evangelistic meetings. Shown above is Elder Jerry Lastine's seminar on "How to study the Bible." The youth went home inspired to share their faith with others.

CICERO GRADUATES NINE

Nine eighth-graders from the Cicero Elementary School marched down the aisle of the Noblesville Church to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance" to receive their diplomas on Thursday evening, May 21, according to Naomi Trubey, communication secretary. Ed Barnett, pastor of the Noblesville Church, gave the graduation address. A reception sponsored by the seventh-graders was held in the church fellowship room after graduation. During the reception the class presented gifts to their sponsors, Milo Payne, principal (standing in the back, at left), and Kandi Zollman, English teacher. The graduates are, from left, front row, Lisa Bohman, Victor Tanner, Stan Hawley, David Zacharias. In the middle row are Tina Reutebuch, Robin McGill, Rick Zirkle, Barbara Hoffman; in the back row, right, Todd Ward.

PICTURES TELL THE STORY AT PATHFINDER FAIR

More than 230 Pathfinders and leaders made their way into Timber Ridge Bowl for Sabbath School and church services on Sabbath, May 16.

Charles Case, Lake Union youth director, spoke to Pathfinders at the Sabbath morning worship service.

The Irvington Eagles Pathfinder Club participated in the three-minute drill team demonstration.

The fire-building event required skill and concentration.

Leaders watched carefully as contestants tied knots.

"He plants me like a seed, and waters me with love," sang Anderson students during the spring concert.

ANDERSON SCHOOL SPRING CONCERT

Two performances of a children's musical, "Down by the Creek Bank," were given recently at the Anderson Church School for church members and their friends.

The 41 students designed and painted the backdrops themselves, said Mark Haynal, principal of the Anderson School. "They also hauled in the logs, boulders and other decorations that gave the stage a real creek-bank appearance," said Mr. Haynal.

The 35-minute musical was performed with soundtrack and included songs and speaking parts on all aspects of Christian living.

"I thought the program was very well done, and also the perfect thing to invite my friends to," said one parent who brought 20 friends to the two performances.

TOTAL HEALTH PROGRAM OFFERED IN CONNERSVILLE

The Indiana Conference Health Screening Van was in Connersville on May 2 and 3, according to Lucretia Claggett, communication secretary. For 15 hours it was parked at a shopping center. During this time 301 people had their blood pressure taken. Theodore Hirsch, right, head elder of the Connersville Church, directed the project. He was assisted by Kathy Gunnell, left, a hospital aide. This is part of the total health program offered to the Connersville community this spring. In May vegetarian cooking classes preceded a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, directed by Elder C. R. Johnson and Dr. Hirsch.

CICERO BAND GIVES FIRST CONCERT

The 23-member Cicero Elementary Band recently presented their first band concert, according to Ramona Trubey, communication secretary. The band was begun this year by Paul Haynes, who was also the Indiana Academy band director. Most of the students had never played an instrument before. After the program refreshments were served.

NEWS NOTES

● The Lapeer Church recently completed a renewal project. The $10,000 project included padding the pews, carpeting, drapes for the sanctuary and a new sound system.

● Two recent baptismal services at Lapeer added Cindy Rau, Brenda Dowling, Debbie Sari and Hazel Frezza to the church membership list.

● A 50-mile bike-a-thon conducted by Rodney and Karen Knight of the Vassar Church on Sunday, June 7, netted more than $400 for playground equipment. There were 15 cyclists, and 11 of them rode the entire 50 miles. Youngest of the riders was seven-year-old Adam Sayles.

● Nine members were added to the Monroe Church after three baptismal services by Pastor Allen Lincoln. They are Ira, Meredith, David and Randy Vance; Jim Evans; Edna Stoll; Christine Upchurch; Giselle Hamrick, and Ruth Navarre. The baptisms followed evangelistic meetings by Arnold Kraner. Two of the new members were students of Mrs. Clifford Jones, a Bible worker.

● A walk-a-thon that netted $100 for East African Adventist relief services was organized and carried out by a group of Baldwin residents. The organization, United Defense Committee, heard about the relief services and requested that Adventists channel the money to East Africa for famine relief. The president of the committee contacted Adventist Floyd Strandburg, principal of the middle school, and asked for direction in getting the money to the proper place.

● Bellevue members have been sponsoring a "stringing and singing" group each Sabbath evening at the village park. The group is called "The Country Folk." The response has been very good from nonmembers. The young people plan to begin tent meetings sometime in August.

Families who had worked with Elder Gomez to establish the Berrien Springs Spanish Church were presented to the congregation.

SPANISH BROTHERHOOD DAY CELEBRATED

More than 600 people gathered in Berrien Springs recently to celebrate Spanish Adventist Brotherhood Day.

Elias Gomez, associate director of the General Conference office of human relations, spoke several times during the meeting. He also served as translator for Conference President Charles Keymer, speaker for the Sabbath morning service.

In his sermon Elder Keymer encouraged the Spanish members to continue helping to finish the work, and to multiply the new members won in coming years.

In his closing message Elder Gomez reminded members of the divine commission that rests with each person to preach the Word and become involved with the missionary activities of the church.

Members from the Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids churches joined Berrien Springs and Niles members in the day's program. Sam Ocampo and a group of students from Andrews University gave special music during the day. Daniel Pabon organized the music program.

CHARLOTTE STUDENTS PRESENT SPANISH PROGRAM

Friends of the Charlotte elementary school were treated to a Mexican banquet on Sunday evening, May 17. Students, dressed in costumes they had made, served the food in a room decorated to carry out their theme. Kim Sevener, left, Lynette Henderson, Alicia Bibler, Chris Finkbeiner and Sandra Henderson presented a skit in Spanish. The evening was the highlight of a year's study of Spanish. Special guests for the occasion included Elder Raul Gonzales and friends from the Lansing Spanish Church, who entertained the group with Hispanic folk songs. Also present were Catherine Thrall, assistant superintendent of education for Michigan, and Dorothy Hughes, who has taught Spanish in the Charlotte public schools for 40 years. Esther Helton, a Charlotte Church member, taught the Spanish classes, and elementary teacher Betty Nelson helped coordinate the program for the evening.

SISTERS AND BROTHER BAPTIZED

Steven, Tami and Sonja Knott were recently baptized in the Berrien Springs Church by their uncle, Ted Rosenboom, from the Mt. Vernon, Illinois, district. The three young people will be members of the Village Church.

LENA CHURCH REJOICES

On Sabbath, June 6, Dan Towar, Oconto District pastor, baptized four members of the Zaidel family in the Little River on the Bob Ziesmer farm, according to Ursula Whiting, Lena Church clerk. The members of the Lena Church rejoiced as Bob and Linda and their two daughters, Michelle and Renee, chose to follow Jesus. Bob and Linda had attended the Daniel Seminar in Oconto and Elder Towar's evangelistic meetings with their children. The family studied the Bible when the series ended, and soon they were attending Sabbath School and church. The Lena members welcome the Zaidels into the fellowship of the church.

FREDERIC HONORS CHARTER MEMBER

The Frederic Church recently honored one of its charter members, Luella Peppenger. Luella is known as the "flower lady" because she brings bouquets to church and shares them with others. After a fellowship dinner, church members sang Luella's favorite hymns, and told stories about her, according to Ruth Nelson, a member of the Frederic Church. Luella first attended camp meeting in 1922 at Spooner, Wisconsin. Since that time she has missed only two or three camp meetings. "What we give to the Lord we have, and what we keep for ourselves we lose," is her favorite expression. This is evidenced by her large donations from a meager income. She says, "The Lord always provides."

RUMMAGE SALE WITNESSING

With summer here, rummage sales begin. And Cora Prentice, a member of the Wausau Church, has added missionary work to her sales.

Mrs. Prentice purchases books from the Adventist Book Center. She then sells them at her rummage sale. She purchases such books as The Final War, Great Controversy, The End, Project Sunlight, and A Day To Remember. She believes people who are interested enough to purchase a book will eventually read it.

Books have been purchased at her sales for all age groups and by all age groups.

WISCONSIN MARANATHA BEGINS THIS MONTH

Maranatha Flights International plans to organize a Wisconsin chapter this summer. Their first project will be to build a community services center for the Oxford Church.

The church's active community services group has had to work from cramped temporary quarters since lightning struck their building last summer, and it burned to the ground.

The building project, directed by Curt Schippers and Art Davis, will begin July 26, and will take a week to complete.

"We're seeking all the volunteer help we can get," says Ken Wade, Oxford pastor. "We know Maranatha has done great things in other places, and we're expecting great things here!"

Members of the Oxford Church are also enthusiastically looking forward to having this center attached to the church. The former building structure was several miles out of town.

By special arrangement with the Wisconsin Conference, volunteer workers will be housed at Camp Go Seek, which is only 10 miles from Oxford.

For more information, contact Pastor Ken Wade, Rt. 1, Box 270A, Portage, WI 53901. Phone (608) 742-4840.

Lake Union Conference

R. C. Connor's enthusiasm for public evangelism has inspired many pastors in the Lake Union Conference.

268 PERSONS BAPTIZED IN INDIANAPOLIS AND FLINT

Two recent evangelistic campaigns conducted by Lake Union Conference evangelist Robert Connor and the Christ Is the Answer Crusade team have resulted in the baptism of 268 people. "The story of each personal conversion is unique," says Elder Connor. "Every baptism is a miracle."

In Indianapolis, meetings were held in the Capitol City Seventh-day Adventist Church. Church members in both the Capitol City and Eastside churches brought their friends and neighbors to the meetings.

"We had tremendous cooperation from the laymen," says Elder Connor. "Just two and a half years ago I held a series of meetings in Indianapolis. The people who accepted the teachings of the Adventist church then have enthusiastically shared their faith, and the 143 people baptized in Indianapolis a few months ago represent the successful witness of many of those who were baptized in 1979."

Assisting the crusade team were Clarence Hodges Sr., local elder of the Capitol City Church; Roy Bellinger, pastor of the Eastside Church, and Bible Instructor Judy Crawford.

Special music for the meetings was provided by Mrs. Millicent Andrews of Indianapolis, and the Echoes of Faith, the Capitol City church choir.

Elder Connor's next crusade was held May 24 to June 20 at the Fairhaven Seventh-day Adventist Church, Flint, Michigan. One hundred twenty-five people were baptized.

Assisting the crusade team in Flint were the church pastor, Vern Joyner, and local church elder Charles Anderson.

"Elder Connor spoke with me recently about the series of meetings in Flint," says John Hayward, executive secretary of the Lake Union Conference. "The obstacles he faced at the beginning of the crusade would have caused some people to give up. But the Lord blessed Elder Connor's persevering spirit, and the efforts of Elder Connor and his associates were rewarded.

"Since joining the Lake Union staff," says Elder Hayward, "Elder Connor's evangelistic work has contributed significantly to church growth in the Lake Region Conference. His success as an evangelist is evident not only by the number of people who are baptized, but also by the influence of his work on other pastors. Elder Connor's enthusiasm for public evangelism has inspired many young pastors, and rekindled an interest in older pastors, for this phase of soul-winning."

The methods used by the Christ Is the Answer Crusade team are based on the counsel in Evangelism, says Elder Connor. He points out that personal visitation is one of the most important aspects of soul-winning.

"We are told in Evangelism that a few words spoken in private will often do more good than the sermon preached from the pulpit," Elder Connor says. "So every day our staff meets, and we report on our 'students,' the people with whom we are personally studying the messages presented at the meetings.

"The Bible instructors on our team are professionals who have mastered the divine art of soul-winning," says Elder Connor. "They are skilled at answering objections and explaining Scripture. Working with the Holy Spirit, they lead people to a knowledge of salvation. And when the prospective church members become convinced, the Bible instructors encourage them to follow their convictions."

Linda John was baptized by Vernon Joyner, pastor of the Fairhaven Church, Flint, Michigan, during the Christ Is the Answer Crusade meetings. Mrs. Johns's husband and son were also baptized. Local Church Elder Charles Anderson, left, assisted with the baptism.

In addition to Elder Connor, members of the Christ Is the Answer Crusade Team are Leroy Logan, organist and Bible instructor, and Catherine Bland and Shirley Smith, Bible instructors.

Since coming to the Lake Union in 1977, Elder Connor has held his evangelistic meetings in Adventist churches. "People who attend meetings in Adventist churches come expecting to hear Adventist doctrines," says Elder Connor, "and about 80 percent of the nonmembers who attend the meetings become Adventists. When people realize from the beginning that they are learning Adventist tenets, I believe they seek to thoroughly understand the teachings of the church and make a faithful commitment."

The next series of meetings conducted by the Christ Is the Answer Crusade team will be held July 26 to September 5 at the Mizpah Seventh-day Adventist Church in Gary, Indiana. Beginning at 7:30 P.M., the meetings will be held every evening except Thursdays.

If you know someone living in the Gary area who should receive a special invitation to attend the meetings, please send the person's name and address to the Christ Is the Answer Crusade team in care of the Mizpah Church, 2350 Jefferson Street, Gary, IN 46407.
