WITHOUT ambition it is quite impossible that a man or woman will achieve great heights. Ambition is an eager desire for distinction, preferment, power, or fame. When an individual settles on the prize to be won, it is essential that all of his talents and energies be utilized.

Ambition of itself is not to be condemned, for there are many worthy goals in life to which men aspire. There is danger, however, that the determination to succeed may tempt one to compromise principle. In so doing, many have lost sight of life's supreme goal, eternal life.

Hence the Saviour's admonition in Matthew 6:33, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." Whatever achievement one seeks to attain, the pursuit of that goal should be governed by a determined mind to put God first.

There are many examples in the Scriptures which teach us that loyalty to God and righteousness do not prevent a person from reaching his goals. Solomon is one such example. When given the privilege to choose what he would have more than anything else, he asked God for "an understanding heart to judge Thy people, that I may discern between good and bad."

Solomon had the normal desires of most young people. He wanted to make his mark in life. He wished to be a good ruler, respected and appreciated by his subjects. He desired the admiration of other kings. But, more than any of these, Solomon desired to render faithful service to the God of heaven. The Heavenly Monarch was pleased with this young man's choice and gave him not only his request, but blessed him with the rewards of this life as well.

In commending Solomon, Jehovah stated, "And I have also given thee that which thou has not asked, both riches, and honor: so that there shall not be any among the kings like unto thee all thy days." I Kings 3:13.

In an age when so many have had their sense of values blurred by the glitter of this world's pleasures, the Christian has to put "first things first." Our Saviour asks the question in Matthew 16:26, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

Solomon learned his lesson well, for he has left as a legacy for all men the following counsel, "He that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness, and honour." Proverbs 21:21.

THE HEART OF THE LAKE UNION

Down Under Volunteers Uplift Their Lord

by Jeff Wilson

SURROUNDED by thousands of acres of ripening rows of corn, the western Illinois city of Macomb is also a prospective harvest field for the church.

With a population of more than 23,000, this McDonough County seat is also the location of Western Illinois University. This state university, with more than 13,000 students from 90 Illinois counties, 34 states and 40 foreign countries presents a challenge to a church which lists this area as "dark"—no church building in the area.

For several years the district pastor has lived in Macomb while pastoring the Prairie View Church in Monmouth, 32 miles to the north, and the Carthage Church, 37 miles to the west. Elder and Mrs. Nicholas Leftrook, who have served the district for the past four years, have not only made many friends for the church in Macomb but have also found interest among several students and teachers at the university.

Three Australians responded last December to the Adventist Youth Taskforce calls issued by the conference youth department for secular campus witnessing on this campus.

Alvin Schick, a 22-year-old senior theology student; Mark Vodell, 21, a senior education major, and Loren Watts, 21, a senior theology major, all from Avondale College, responded to the call.

Alvin, Mark and Loren are volunteers, receiving no pay or scholarship for their work. Their living expenses are being cared for by a donation from an interested church member.

One of their first tasks after arriving was to establish an official student organization registered with the university. Their organization, with the stated purpose to "promote Christianity and Christian life-style among the total campus community," was chartered with the university in April under the name Lifeline. The young men take one class each semester to establish a student identity and make friends with students and faculty.

A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking sponsored by Lifeline in late April received extensive university and community media coverage. Seventy-two students signed up; 35 of these kicked the tobacco habit. This semester the young missionaries will hold another Five-Day Plan and they expect even greater results.

Several students and members of the community have attended area churches because of Bible studies and the friendships cultivated by Alvin, Mark and Loren. The men visit regularly in the student union, Dark Horse Inn, and library social area. A weekly Friday evening Bible study group meeting is held in the living room of their apartment one block from campus.

In addition to speaking in area churches on Sabbaths, the Taskforce volunteers will be visiting interested people in Macomb, as well as covering all of Carthage door-to-door, inviting residents to listen to the Voice of Prophecy and sign up for the Bible correspondence course.

"It is tremendously rewarding," says Loren, "to take our campus friends to church with us and listen to them explain Bible topics like the Mark of the Beast, and know that God has helped us lead them closer to Him."

GOD LOVES YOU

by Martin Butler

Every Thursday morning, the Voice of Prophecy staff gathers to read prayer requests sent from all parts of North America. God's answers to the intercessory prayers offered have been a strong witness to listeners.

AS H.M.S. Richards Jr., Voice of Prophecy speaker, and Del Delker, soloist, waited in an airport lobby this summer, a woman seated nearby joined in their conversation.

They learned that she was a successful businesswoman searching for meaning to life. In the few remaining minutes, a friendship developed between Del and this woman.

Several weeks later, Del received a letter which read: "It seems like only yesterday that we met in the airport. I'll never forget the squeeze on the shoulders and the special prayer. Thank you so much for sending the wonderful Bible lessons. Would it be possible to send the same package to my folks and to my sister? My heart is filled with such peace. It's so exciting being God's child. I constantly feel blessed and loved."

The love of God, freely offered, is the gift that Voice of Prophecy staff members like most to share. But God doesn't force Himself on anyone. He must be wanted.

A listener to the program from Wisconsin, who desired to see God's love in her husband, wrote: "I know that God's perfect will is for my husband to be living for Him. An alcoholic problem caused my husband to leave us recently. Through prayer I hope to see him come back home and back to a life in Christ."

There are many people who, because of the misconceptions they have about God, do not want to hear another word about Him. But there are ways that God can use every one of us to break down these barriers.

In his book The Fruit of the Spirit, H.M.S. Richards Jr. says: "When we welcome God's quiet love into our lives, He does something for us. We begin to pay attention to the needs of others. We care very deeply about them. We love them regardless of their religion, nationality, or racial background."

Elder Richards continues: "Everything begins with God's love. Our love for others springs from His love for us. His love pours through us into the lives of others."

When a Christian's life truly says, "God loves you," things begin to happen—barriers are broken down—new doors to sharing are opened.

Some letters have recently come to the Voice of Prophecy from people in the Lake Union who are realizing that "if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another." 1 John 4:11.

A Bible School student from Michigan wrote: "I became friends at work with a Christian young man. At times we discussed religion. Then he invited me to attend the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

"I was so impressed with the sincerity of the congregation and their love for each other. I also learned more in Bible study there than in all the years of attendance at my church."

Another exciting letter comes from a woman living near Indianapolis who listens to the Voice of Prophecy every morning at work. She says: "I'm thankful that my employer allows us to listen to the radio with earphones, because I am able to hear your broadcast. It blesses my heart and inspires me to study my Bible more."

When she heard on our broadcast that a "God loves you" lapel pin would be sent to anyone requesting it, she responded: "When I have a chance, I like to witness on my job to the other employees. I think that wearing a 'God loves you' pin would be a good way."

And in the State Prison of Southern Michigan an inmate is sharing God's love with other prisoners. He writes: "While in prison, I have come to know Christ, and through prayer many here are being converted by His Spirit. I give God the glory for men who have come to Jesus in the past few weeks."

Then he commented on the New Life Bible lessons he is studying. "I feel they are excellent, and I praise God that your ministry makes them available to people. If you would be so kind as to supply additional lessons, there are about six new babes in Christ here I'd like to share them with."

How encouraging it is to receive these letters telling how the Voice of Prophecy and people in the Lake Union are working together to share the news, "God loves you." What a privilege it is to have a part in breaking down the barriers as we do our best to present a true picture of God's love.

In these words, "God loves you," there is strength for today and hope for tomorrow. They are words of hope to the woman from the Detroit area who writes: "The thought of the blessed hope in these days and times makes me so glad that I am a Christian. Things are bad financially for me, but God is ruling over my situation, and I've left it in His control."

For the Bible school student from Illinois, God's love means strength. She wrote: "I recently decided to give my life to the Lord. I just turned 18, and peer pressures have been tough. But praise the Lord, He has helped me through a lot."

Then she told us: "I listen to your program all the time on WMAQ. Your ministries have helped me very much in keeping close to Jesus. Please send me your New Life Bible guides. I want to learn so much more about my Saviour. I really love Him!"

Soon you will have another opportunity to join the Voice of Prophecy in sharing the message of God's love throughout the Lake Union. When the annual V.O.P. offering is taken in your church on October 10, it is our prayer that you will make a special financial and personal commitment to help us say loud and clear—"God loves you."

Joe Melashenko, left, has held V.O.P. crusades for 10 years because his chief joy is sharing God's love person-to-person. "The hardest part of a series," he says, "is leaving new Christian friends when the meetings come to a close."

Tonja Otis corrects V.O.P. Bible courses for juniors and youth. Like the other instructors, she takes an interest in her students by writing them notes of encouragement and sharing their elation when they decide for baptism.

● BATTLE CREEK—Correction: In the Battle Creek News Notes on page 11 of the August 18, 1981, Lake Union Herald, it was noted that, "William Elliot, food production manager, has been chosen president of the Michigan Hospital Institution Educational Food Service Society." That should have read, "...president of the Southwest District of the Michigan Hospital Institution Educational Food Service Society."

● HINSDALE—"Personal Ministries," a class in Christian witnessing for Hinsdale Hospital employees, was sponsored by the pastoral care department beginning September 15, according to Glenn Robinson, public relations assistant. Meeting for one hour each Tuesday for four weeks, the class provided a scriptural foundation to define and illustrate what witnessing involves. Each participant was helped to become aware of his talent or spiritual gift; then the class delineated and discussed the basic components involved in sharing personal faith in Jesus and looked at different techniques employed and various tools used in witnessing.

NEW AUDIOLOGICAL SERVICES AVAILABLE AT HINSDALE

HINSDALE—The department of neurophysiology at Hinsdale Hospital, Hinsdale, Illinois, began offering comprehensive audiological (evaluation of hearing defects) services in July.

This expanded service could generate a 10-to-15 percent increase above the approximately 3,000 yearly tests already performed.

In addition to the existing tests for the recording and studying of electrical impulses of various muscles, nerves, or tissues, the department has the capacity to administer audiological (hearing) tests providing diagnostic information for atologic, auditory, and neurological disorders.

They can also identify hearing impairments in infants and children and help hearing impaired individuals through amplification, hearing aid orientation, and aural rehabilitation.

The department now has seven neuro-diagnostic tests, resulting in time and money savings to the hospital and patients.

A new sound suite next to the department of speech pathology is the headquarters for audiologist Elizabeth Mandel, who recently came to Hinsdale from the Neurosensory Center in Houston, Texas.

In addition to expanding the hospital's neuro-diagnostic services, this venture will allow graduate students in speech pathology and audiology an opportunity to acquire experience in these two specialty areas.

This project represents phase one of a two-phase plan that will expand the hospital's neuro-otologic service.

STATE APPROVES HOSPITAL FLOOR ADDITIONS

HINSDALE—Crowded service areas inside Hinsdale Hospital received a promise of reprieve on Friday, August 7, with approval by the State of Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board for a fourth- and fifth-floor addition to the south wing.

Unanimous action by the state approved the modernization program, culminating a long process of planning and need justification for the project.

The additional floor space will give the hospital's laboratory double its existing 8,600 square foot area, allowing it to more easily meet the needs of a hospital the size of Hinsdale.

With more than 260 births per month, the hospital will also expand the labor/delivery/recovery suite and newborn nurseries.

The development plan calls for no more beds, but rather adds floor space for existing services. Following the receipt of a building permit from the Village of Hinsdale, the project will begin, with completion anticipated for the fall of 1983.

NUTRITION PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN SPARKS WIDESPREAD INTEREST

A radio program created by Andrews University and the South Bend Community School Corporation has shown that nutritional awareness in grade school children can be increased more than 37 percent in as little as 16 weeks.

The program, called "The Radio Adventures of Captain Magic," and the follow-up study involved 109 classrooms and teachers and more than 2,700 second graders in a four-county area of southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana.

Captain Magic is an imaginary good-food hero created by Wendy Bognar, a writer, and Martha Erickson, a registered dietitian, both of the South Bend Community School Corporation. The program was brought to life through the studios of WAUS, the Andrews University educational and fine arts FM radio station.

The follow-up study was facilitated through the Berrien County Intermediate School District in Berrien Springs by Betty Einset, a nutritional specialist for the Regional Education Media Center (REMC XI), and Karen Tilstra, a graduate student at Andrews.

Administrator of the entire project was Patricia Mutch, professor of home economics at Andrews. According to Dr. Mutch, Andrews was involved in the program from the very beginning.

"An eight-week pilot program was recorded in the spring of 1980 and tested at several schools in South Bend," she said. "In December 1980 Andrews received a $25,000 grant from the Metropolitan Life Foundation in the area of nutrition education for elementary schools. The grant enabled Andrews to continue the program for an additional 8 weeks. This spring and summer the 16 programs were run. The grant also facilitated the follow-up study."

In the 15-minute programs aired weekly, Captain Magic taught second graders about good food choices and healthful living patterns. Follow-up activities such as games and other learning tools reinforced the concepts taught, using math, language arts, social studies and science.

As a result of the 16 broadcasts, students involved in the testing program showed an average gain of 37.6 percent in nutrition knowledge as compared to an increase of only 8.6 percent for students in the control group who did not listen to the tapes.

Administrators of the program feel that the increase in nutrition knowledge may be highly significant to the children's future health.

Jon Thompson of radio station WSBT in South Bend was the voice of Captain Magic. Producer of the taped programs was Doug Willet, production assistant for WAUS at that time. Fifth- and sixth-grade students from the South Bend schools were also involved in taping the programs.

Says Dr. Mutch, "We feel that much of the success of Captain Magic has been the total community involvement with the program."

She continues, "The program is values-oriented. Captain Magic teaches the children to make good choices rather than emphasizing factual material.

"While he does not condemn low-nutrient food as 'bad,' Captain Magic teaches there are 'better choices' such as fruit, popcorn and nuts. This positive approach is appreciated by teachers as well as parents."

In one of the evaluation projects children made lunch plate drawings of what they had for lunch at the start and end of the program. These drawings were coded for numbers of servings of items from the four food groups, and for non-nutritious foods. The results of this evaluation indicated a gain of more than 20 percent in children who included all food groups in their lunch.

Parents were surveyed in the last three weeks of the program through a take-home letter. No negative comments were received from parents. Many of them took time to write comments about how Captain Magic changed eating patterns in their home.

Because of its unique approach to nutrition education for children of this age, the Captain Magic idea has been praised by educators and nutritionists in all of the schools where it was used.

The children involved in the program were sad to see it end. One mother even wrote to Captain Magic, thanking him for "doing in 16 weeks what I have unsuccessfully tried to do for seven years."

AUTOMOTIVE TECHNOLOGY OFFERED AT ANDREWS

A new course of studies in automotive technology is now offered in the College of Technology, according to Laun Reinholtz, chairman of the industrial education department.

Beginning this quarter, Andrews offers students a one-year certificate in either auto mechanics or auto body, and a two-year associate or four-year Bachelor of Industrial Technology degree in automotive technology.

"Students may earn a one-year certificate or two-year associate degree while working on their bachelor's. They can learn a skill in one year and use it to put themselves through college, earning more than minimum wage in the local automotive shops," says Dr. Reinholtz.

Presently, Andrews can accept a maximum of 16 students majoring in auto body and 16 in auto mechanics. "We are looking forward to a growing program," says Dr. Reinholtz.

In addition, any other Andrews student may take courses, such as Personal Auto Care or Fundamentals of Auto Body, to learn the basics of automotive maintenance while pursuing another degree.

The classes will be taught in the newly acquired and remodeled automotive technical center located on university property on U.S. Highway 31 in Berrien Springs. The new technical center has more "workable" space than the area in Smith Hall where automotive classes were formerly taught, according to Dr. Reinholtz.

Classes in machine shop and printing will be taught in the area vacated by automotive technology. Here, Andrews will offer a new four-year Bachelor of Industrial Technology degree in printing management, as well as the courses already offered in printing and graphic arts.

The commencement address was given by Dr. Elouise Cantrell, principal of a Chicago public school and an active member of the Beverly Hills Church. The program was organized by Myra DeMills and Tadessa Daba, both teachers at Beverly Hills School.

SEMINAR SERIES BEGINS IN SOUTHWEST SUBURBS

The Prophecies of Daniel Seminars are now being conducted at two locations in the southwest suburbs of Chicago, one by Pastor Mark Finley in the Oak Lawn area, and one by Pastor Mike Szczek in the Palos/Worth area.

Many non-Adventists attending have expressed interest and enthusiasm in the seminars.

A series of total health seminars, including the Five-Day Play to Stop Smoking, stress management and nutrition classes, are starting in this area as well. These seminars will be followed by a Revelation Seminar.

If the success of the Daniel Seminars is any indication of what the additional programs will be met with, the work in the Lord's fields is truly being blessed.

'SOMETHING WONDERFUL' IS HAPPENING IN GLEN ELLYN

On August 12, the Glen Ellyn Church began an evangelistic outreach in the northwest corner of DuPage County. Glen Ellyn is one of four churches in the Chicago area working with the Lake Union Soul Winning Institute this fall. Ten students from the institute are working in the Glen Ellyn outreach.

To prepare for these students, the church mailed letters with Bible enrollment cards to the local media, and to 650 people who had previously shown interest in the church. Added to this was the mailing of "Something Wonderful" cards to 13,000 homes in the area. More than 100 people responded to these mailings, and many Bible studies were begun.

Three Daniel Seminars began early in August. These seminars meet on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights. They are held in two Holiday Inns and the church. In excess of 115 people registered the first week of the 10-week seminar. More than 80 of these were non-Adventists.

Along with this outreach by the students, a lay witnessing class was started at the church on Sabbath afternoons. These classes will be taught every other Sabbath for the next two months.

Bible worker Charlotte Clark, Pastor Jerry Fore and Pastor Richard Peterson are coordinating this outreach.

Mrs. Edwards captured the attention of the 54 children who enrolled. "The Bible is God's Letter" was the theme of the program which included recess, crafts, class study

57 ATTEND V.B.S. AT INDIANAPOLIS SOUTH SIDE

Fifty-seven young people were introduced to many Bible heroes, and Jesus Christ, during the Indianapolis South Side Church Vacation Bible School this year.

"As usual," commented the director, Louise Suttle, "God blessed us with the help we needed, and enthusiasm, both in the children and adults, to create an atmosphere where the Lord could work."

Eleven junior children signed up for continued Bible studies and will receive the follow-up magazine, Orion. "The juniors enthusiasm about this new magazine was contagious," remarked Jackie Miller, junior division assistant. "I wouldn't mind getting the magazine myself!"

The primary children will be enrolled in a Bible course from Orion magazine for their age group.

Graduation exercises were held on July 12. This year's practice time and graduation exercises were cut back so more time could be spent with the lessons and Bible studies. Even so, the graduation seemed to be enjoyed by everyone and attendance was good.

The South Side Church Vacation Bible School workers were grateful for the opportunity to be involved in child evangelism.

INDIANA TEACHERS MEET IN HAITI

Fifty-one conference workers and families boarded a plane for Haiti on August 17 for their annual teachers' convention.

The teachers were responsible for their own transportation expenses. After nearly a year of saving and planning, each worker anticipated the experience of participating in mission life firsthand.

than the value of the trip's expense. The seven-day experience made them different people. They had been touched by the enormous need of thousands of loving Haitians, individually and as a nation.

Changed, too, were their attitudes. One major realization was the fact that they were all in the habit of overeating. Only two meals were served each day in Haiti.

On one excursion, the teachers arose at 3:30 A.M. to board the bus. Their sack lunches contained slices of bread. Peanut butter was passed around for those who wanted to make a sandwich. After the day's trip, the weary travelers boarded the

20 PEOPLE BAPTIZED AFTER PROPHECY CRUSADE

At the completion of a five-week Prophecy Crusade in the Indianapolis South Side Church, 20 new members joined the Chapel West, Irvington and Indianapolis South Side churches, according to Louise Suttle, communication secretary. Larry Cansler, Indiana Conference evangelist, conducted the crusade from April 25 to May 29, 1981. He was assisted by Pastors Duane Longfellow and Robert Chase. bus at 6:30 P.M. and received a sack lunch containing bread, a boiled egg and a mango.

Living with the Haitian people for a week altered the values of these 51 Indiana Conference representatives. Having lived in a time-oriented nation, it took a while for them to become used to long delays and breakdowns. The Haitian reaction to these difficulties was just, "No problem!"

In addition to a less hurried life, the Haitians were friendly and concerned about their visitors. People are important to them.

Hundreds of slides were taken on the trip, and these will be shared with the churches in Indiana. The visit was a seven-day sermon that Indiana teachers feel an urgency to share. Jesus will surely return soon to end the "problems" that developing countries live with daily.

NEW FAMILY JOINS ELKHART

Greg and Kathy McFadden recently became baptized members of the Elkhart Church after completing Bible studies.

The first few times during the course of the studies, Greg excused himself to have a cigarette because he was a chain smoker. He gave Pastor David Hakes a date by which he would like to quit.

As that day approached, Greg was doubtful about his ability to quit. But the day arrived and prayer was offered for him.

That evening when the pastor called, Greg said, "I haven't even had the desire to smoke." He had

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED AT PETERSON-WARREN KING'S BANQUET

On a recent Sunday evening, the gymnasium of the Peterson-Warren Academy in Inkster, Michigan, beckoned nearly 400 guests to

"Venice, Italy" to celebrate the annual King's Banquet.

"To Venice With Love" was the theme of the evening and the program was hosted by Hudie Davis, school board chairman, and Joyce Bone, senior class sponsor.

This was the first year to feature the Peterson-Warren Senior Class as debutantes in a scholarship coronation. Fourteen young women and one young man with their escorts promenaded to the music of "Moonlight Sonata."

Each participant had raised funds by selling advertisements to create a scholarship fund. This scholarship drive was culminated by the crowning of Miss Peterson-Warren and her royal court, with more than $6,000 awarded in scholarships.

Vernester Elaine King, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Willie King of the City Temple Church, won the title because she raised more than $1,000.

First, second and third place trophies were awarded respectively to Andrea Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Jones; Angela Parker, daughter of Pastor and Mrs. J. David Parker of the Burns Avenue Church; and Milane Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Todd.

Other awards went to Celestine White, Jacqueline Goree, and Jennine Harris, who raised $500 or more. Celeste Lewis received an award for womens basketball.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Cedric Dent, pianist; Nadine Thomas, clarinet soloist; the academy choir directed by Marilyn Anderson; and several teachers who "roasted and toasted"

TRAVELING FAMILY CAMPERS EXPLORE CANADA

A trip extending 1,500 miles and centered in the Ontario province of Canada recently attracted 70 Michigan Adventists.

The 25 families, led by Pathfinder director M. Y. Fleming, enjoyed "seven days in a row of perfect weather," according to Elder Fleming. Fifteen of the families have attended the camp every year.

Campfire stories deepened the fellowship of the families participating in the camp.

Highlights of the camp included Norm Matiko of the Voice of Prophecy who shared an experience he had with the king of Nigeria. His presentation was titled "The King Is Coming."

Campers had an evening campfire, hiked through the Wye Marsh and viewed a film about the marsh, canoed in Algonquin Provincial Park, and listened to wolves respond to a forest ranger's wolf call.

Home bases for the camp were at the Adventist Canadian Ferndale and Frenda camps. The Frenda camp director took the group exploring on the nature trails in the area.

BELLEVUE WOMAN NOMINATED SENIOR CITIZEN OF THE YEAR

Clara Elmendorf, pictured with her granddaughters, was recently nominated Bellevue's Senior Citizen of the Year. She received the award from the Office of Service to the Aging and the Michigan State Fair. Mrs. Elmendorf is communication secretary at Bellevue, and received the nomination for her many activities with the Office of Service to the Aging and her work with the church.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE IN ACTION

Eleven members of the Michigan Conference Advisory Coordinating Committee met Sunday, August 23, in the Grand Ledge Academy Chapel to study ways to strengthen the conference program.

Led by the chairman, Jerry Snowden of Escanaba, the group brainstormed for 3½ hours. High priority was given to setting up an agenda for sectional meetings with pastors and church board members as well as other interested members.

One objective of the coordinating committee is to build Michigan Advance participation and to provide overflow funds for special projects that would be missed otherwise.

Conference president Charles Keymer praised the energy and competent planning of the group. He stressed the importance of strong lay leadership. The advisory committee is another opportunity for each church member to reach the conference administration with local concerns and ideas.

DANIEL SEMINARS PROMOTED IN GREEN BAY

This billboard stands at a busy intersection in Green Bay, drawing attention to the Daniel Seminars that began on September 8. The billboard was painted by Sandy Culp and Tralase Wilson. The seminars are conducted every evening of the week by seven teams of laymen in seven locations. The seminars will continue for nine weeks. Approximately 59,000 homes in the Green Bay area have also received invitations to the seminars.

GREEN BAY WELCOMES NEW MEMBER

On Sabbath, July 25, Mabel Collins was baptized in the Green Bay Church family by Bill Wilson, pastor. Though raised in an Adventist family, Mabel never joined the church. Recently she was impressed to do some serious Bible study on her own. After more than 55 years of being separated from the church of her girlhood, she again was confronted with the Good News. During a visit from Pastor Wilson, she requested baptism, and is now happy to be a member of the Adventist Church.

A baptism on Sabbath was the high point of the Milwaukee Spanish Church Camp Meeting. Elder Cesar Puesan baptized Nelson Soto, Maime Jorge, Dolly Acavedo, Mark Martinez, Francisco Castillo and Lilian Scott.

MILWAUKEE SPANISH HOLDS FIRST CAMP MEETING

The weekend of August 21 to 23 was special for the members of the Milwaukee Spanish Church. Twenty-three families of the church gathered at Camp Go-Seek to attend the first camp meeting.

Cesar Funes, pastor of the Spanish Central Church of Chicago, was the guest speaker for the Sabbath morning service. The message centered on unity and love in Jesus Christ. Sabbath afternoon a baptism was held in the lake. Six persons were baptized by Cesar Puesan, pastor of the Milwaukee Spanish Church.

A music program was another highlight of the afternoon activities. Members of the church presented poems, solos, duets, and instrumental interpretations. Saturday evening and Sunday were devoted to recreation.

ABC ON WHEELS

Kurt Bandel, manager of the Adventist Book Center, is excited about the fall book sale schedule for Wisconsin.

This year the Adventist Book Center staff will be visiting twice as many churches as they visited during the same period last year because of a new mobile book center.

The book mobile is a 24-foot carpeted and paneled trailer. It will be hauled by the 14-foot ABC van, and will hold a large supply of books, records, tapes and foods.

It is no longer necessary to spend hours setting up and taking down displays, since they are permanent in the trailer, so the book mobile can move more rapidly between appointments.

The following is a partial book mobile schedule for October:

ANTIGO BOOTH FEATURES 'HEALTH AND HAPPINESS'

"Health and Happiness" was the theme presented by the Antigo Church booth at the Langlade County Fair recently. Mildred Goffin was chairman of the committee that arranged the attractive booth.

To attract interest and survey community needs, daily drawings for homemade loaves of bread were held. A large family Bible was given as grand prize.

Four hundred and thirty-nine people signed up for the drawings. Of this number 23 were interested in having Bible studies.

One young couple mentioned having found a copy of Signs Of The Times in the garbage dump. They expressed a desire to attend church.

Another person stopped to say he had stopped smoking after reading an article in a Signs Of The Times received at the church's community center. A clergyman asked many questions and requested literature.

ATTORNEY CLEARS CHURCH FOUNDER OF LITERARY CHARGES

Ellen G. White was not guilty of plagiarism, literary piracy, or copyright infringement, according to Washington Attorney Vincent L. Ramik.

Mr. Ramik is a senior partner of a Washington, D.C. legal firm, Diller, Ramik and Wight, Ltd., and a practitioner of patent, trademark, and copyright law.

The substance of his 27-page legal opinion was published in the September 17 edition of the Adventist Review. That issue of the Review also carries interviews with Mr. Ramik and Warren L. Johns, chief legal officer for the General Conference.

Mr. Ramik spent more than 300 hours researching about 1,000 relevant cases in American legal history. He concluded his 27-page legal opinion with an unequivocal declaration: "Based upon our review of the facts and legal precedents . . . Ellen White was not a plagiarist, and her works did not constitute copyright infringement/piracy."

The legal report responds specifically to six questions dealing with copyright laws and literary practices between 1850 and 1915. These questions were prepared by the denomination's lawyers.

Ellen White wrote some 70 books during a writing career spanning nearly 70 years. The fact that Mrs.

White incorporated quotations and paraphrased materials from other authors in her books and articles has itself never been at issue. She, during her lifetime, and church officials, subsequently, have repeatedly acknowledged such use.

Mr. Ramik points out that many of the books from which Mrs. White borrowed were not in fact copyrighted at the time. But, he continued, even if they had been protected by law, her use of phraseology and even multiple paragraphs did not in law constitute copyright infringement or plagiarism.

"If the issues had been court-tested between 1850 and 1915, Ellen G. White emphatically would not have been convicted of copyright infringement," stated Mr. Ramik.

The law specialist found it ironic that Mrs. White's critics themselves offer "the best evidence available" to support a position of non-infringement. "Nowhere," Mr. Ramik pointed out, "have we found the books of Ellen G. White to be virtually the 'same plan and character throughout' as those of her predecessors. Nor have we found, or have critics made reference to, any intention of Ellen White to supersede . . . [other authors] in the market with the same class of readers and purchasers."

Instead, she invariably introduced new matter to that which she borrowed, going far beyond mere "colorable deviations," and, in effect, created an altogether new literary work.

Intent is a chief ingredient that must be demonstrated in plagiarism cases, and Mr. Ramik believes that he has proved not only from Mrs. White's own published statements, but even from the admission of some of her critics themselves, that she did not intend to defraud in the borrowing of other literary productions.

"Proceeding with but the highest motivations and intentions," said Mr. Ramik, Ellen White in fact "modified, exalted, and improved" much of that which others wrote, in a manner entirely ethical, as well as legal.

"Most certainly, the nature and content of her writings had but one hope and intent, namely, the

ADVENTISTS RELEASE PRELIMINARY FIGURES ON LOANS TO DAVENPORT

Preliminary figures released today by the General Conference show that entities of the church have loaned $17,873,424 to Donald J. Davenport, a Long Beach, California, surgeon and real estate developer, who has petitioned for voluntary bankruptcy.

Lance L. Butler, treasurer of the General Conference, said this sum represents principal due as of June 30, 1981. The figures released are for church entities only, not individuals. Church entities also have claims for accrued interest of $3,137,313.

Six of nine unions in the North American Division have made loans to Dr. Davenport, who filed a Chapter 11 petition in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court at Los Angeles on July 22.

No funds from any church organization or institution in the Lake Union are currently invested with Dr. Davenport.

Elder Butler emphasized that this is a preliminary compilation which required more than 20 weeks of review by General Conference staff. He said that data is being released in response to constituent and public interest.

A final financial review by special legal and auditing counsel to the General Conference is still in progress.

The following summary statement gives the preliminary figures on church entities and dollar amounts loaned:

SAWS Thailand is in need of personnel who are willing to volunteer their time to work in these centers. "We have an ongoing monthly need of one surgeon, one general practitioner, one operating-room nurse, six registered nurses, one anesthesiologist, three dentists, three optometrists, one ophthalmologist and one health education worker," says Mr. Wagner.

If you are interested, contact Gary Wagner, Director of SAWS, G.P.O. Box 613, Bangkok, Thailand; phone 281-1422, extension 79. If you call, remember that Thailand is 10 to 13 hours ahead of your local time.

'SIGNS' PASSES 400,000 SUBSCRIPTION MARK

Signs of the Times, the Seventh-day Adventist Church's missionary magazine for mass distribution, has again surpassed the 400,000 subscription mark. This marks the fourth straight year that Signs has reached this plateau. The Lake Union Conference members sponsored 23,401 subscriptions to Signs in 1981. The Pacific Press Periodical Department wishes to thank the members in the Lake Union Conference for their generous support of the journal.

In his summation, Mr. Ramik said, "Considering all factors necessary in reaching a just conclusion on this issue, it is submitted that the writings of Ellen G. White were conclusively unaplagiaristic."

SAWS THAILAND NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

Seventh-day Adventist World Service Inc. (SAWS) has been working since December 1979 in Thailand to assist with the large scale relief program being conducted among the refugees in Thailand and along the Thai-Kampuchean border.

At the peak of the relief effort there were 500,000 to 700,000 displaced Khmer along the border and inside Thailand. The population has been reduced to 300,000 because some refugees have been resettled in other countries and some have returned to Kampuchea.

This woman and child are representative of the refugees helped by SAWS volunteers.

In the six holding camps located within Thailand there are 138,000 persons. These people still require shelter, food, water, medical care and sanitation facilities. This must be provided by government agencies and private relief agencies.

time and to share with you the urgency of this unfinished task.

Because the church paper always has been given a special place in Adventist hearts and homes, it can minister to former Adventists in a way that no other journal can.

One of the most striking testimonies of its effectiveness in this kind of outreach came to us in a letter from Mary C. Edmister. She reported, "During the 10 years I spent away from the church, the relentless ministry of the Review became a vital link in the chain of events that brought me back.

"I couldn't have been comfortable with a weekly visit from Adventists, but I found I could not resist looking through the pages of the church paper. Familiar bylines caused me to long for things as they used to be. Often articles appeared just when I was troubled by a question on that topic.

"News of the strides Adventists were making around the world impressed me with the fact that I was betraying my duty to Christ and His church. Every former Adventist should be receiving the Review as a true gift of love."

When we received that letter in the Review office, we were impressed, particularly with the phrase "relentless witness." Producing a church paper often seems a relentless task as we struggle week-by-week to meet our deadlines.

But this effort is more than worthwhile if we can produce, by God's help, what readers like Mary Edmister accept gratefully as a "relentless ministry."

A special issue of the Adventist Review on Adventist beliefs has been prepared. Copies are available at your local Adventist Book Center. Why not purchase several today, to give to interested friends or neighbors?

3. To improve your way of life. In these times of world tragedy, when homes everywhere are being harassed continually by the enemy of souls, when many marriages within the church are in trouble and ending in divorce, Review readers are being exposed to material designed to make life, home, and marriage more stable.

4. To keep you abreast of the truth. In these trying times the Review provides a stabilizing perspective, bringing you truth as Adventists have discovered it through God's revelation.

5. To help you keep in touch. At a time of rapid change and expansion in Adventist work around the world, the Review helps you keep in touch.
