Adventist World Radio Extends Its Reach

Students at Newbold College in England produce English and Dutch language programs for Adventist World Radio. Production of programs in other languages takes place at similar studios around Europe.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Adventist World Radio, covering some 70 countries in 29 languages, grew from one to five stations during the last 10 years, with broadcasts from Portugal, Malta, Sri Lanka, Andorra and Guatemala.

When it first went on the air in October 1971 from a powerful shortwave station in Portugal, R. H. Pierson and N. C. Wilson said "... it marks the beginning of the largest single endeavor the church has ever made in international broadcasting." That assessment is still true.

As stations were added, listeners' response also increased, until at last count 20,000 letters a year were coming in. In many countries listeners have accidentally tuned in the broadcasts without knowing about them, although church members have done everything possible to spread the good news.

In one socialist country a member heard the broadcast in her own language, copied it in shorthand, typed it out, and tacked it to the church bulletin board the following Sabbath to inform everyone.

In another country a blind listener who was looking for news of a world he had not been able to see for many years suddenly heard a voice that caught his attention.

It told of the accuracy of Bible prophecy and pointed out the way of salvation. It was Adventist World Radio.

Another listener deep in the heart of Russia "coincidentally" heard words he could understand as he turned the dial of his radio. Tears came streaming down his cheeks as he heard of the love of God and of the large number of Christian believers, even in today's world. Those tears were seen on the letter he wrote.

As a prelude to the development of an international network, a denominationally-owned station was built in Guatemala, Central America, three years ago for Adventist World Radio.

Last October another station was approved by the AWR Board and is ready for construction in southern Europe to take the place of Radio Andorra, which was forced off the air last year because of political problems in the country.

It is estimated that each high-powered station will cost approximately $1,000,000 to build and another $500,000 annually to operate. The 1982 operating budget for current broadcasts is less than $500,000, with another $300,000 provided by various world division organizations for program production.

The establishment of a global network of powerful radio stations will be one of the greatest single commitments the church has ever made to the unfinished task of preaching the everlasting Gospel to every nation, kindred, tongue and people on planet Earth.

The Annual Council of the General Conference voted last October to designate the spring offering, Sabbath, March 27, 1982, as a special offering for Adventist World Radio. This is the first time that a date and offering has been placed on the church calendar for Adventist World Radio.

This year's offering will be allocated for the construction of the radio station in southern Europe, and new broadcasts in English, French and Swahili for Africa, which together will cost $300,000.

Future plans also call for the construction of a station somewhere in the Far East capable of reaching China.

Please give generously to this important project.

Academy and High School Social Security Recipients Face May 1 College Deadline

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Any Lake Union academy or public high school senior receiving Social Security benefits must be enrolled full-time in a college program by May 1 in order to receive any future benefits during the college years, according to Esther Hare, financial aid officer at Andrews University.

Mrs. Hare said that the government is phasing out Social Security benefits for college students.

Any student not enrolled in college by May 1 will not receive any benefits, while those who are enrolled will receive diminishing benefits during the four-year phase-out period.

Several Lake Union academy seniors eligible for Social Security benefits during college have already made arrangements with Andrews to enroll as full-time students for spring quarter, and thus beat the May 1 cut-off date, Mrs. Hare said.

"What happens between now and May 1 will determine the student's benefits for the next four years," Mrs. Hare said. "If the eligible students can make arrangements with their academy or high school and with Andrews, or another college, and take at least 12 hours of credit during spring quarter, they will receive their benefits. If they cannot, the government will cut off their college benefits entirely."

Students to whom this information applies are urged to contact their principal immediately. Andrews will help in every possible way.

Registration for spring quarter will be held Tuesday, March 24.

For information about arrangements with Andrews, call the university toll-free on the IN-LINE. In Michigan: 1-800-632-2248. Outside Michigan: 1-800-253-2874.

Herald Sends Out First "No One But You"

BERRIEN SPRINGS, Mich.—The first "No One But You" slide-tape programs, produced by the Lake Union Herald, were sent to the conferences in distribution on March 3. "Our latest count shows 222 churches in the union have signed up to receive 'No One But You,'" said Jere Wallack, Herald editor, above. "This represents half of the churches in the union. We are very excited about this response." The breakdown of churches by conferences is as follows: Illinois, 47; Indiana, 14; Lake Region, 25; Michigan, 118; and Wisconsin, 18. The first quarterly program, entitled "Candlelight," features laymen in the union, and will be cycled through the conferences during second quarter this year. "If your church still hasn't signed up to receive 'No One But You,' ask your pastor to contact the personal ministries director in your conference. It will only cost your church $4.50 a quarter," said Elder Wallack.

Executive Committee Votes Union Personnel Changes

Robert Connor

BERRIEN SPRINGS, Mich.—Robert C. Connor was elected ministerial director, and Donald A. Copsy was elected Sabbath School and personal ministries director of the Lake Union Conference by the Lake Union assume leadership of Adventist-Laymen's Services and Industries (A.S.I.) for the union in addition to his current duties as loss control director.

Elder Connor has been an evangelist for the Lake Union since November 1977. He fills the position that has been vacant since Elder Don Gray left last year.

William Jones

Elder Copsy came to the union as stewardship secretary in 1970 and became director of A.S.I. as well in 1971. In his new duties he assumes the position recently vacated by Elder Horace Jones.

"We are happy that we have these qualified men in our office so these positions could be reassigned without the need to hire another person," said Robert Carter, president of the Lake Union.

The committee decided to delay appointment of a director for the stewardship department until the next meeting, which will be held in April.

William E. Jones was asked to Andrews President Joseph Smoot and Heritage Room Curator Louise Dederen examine a portion of the Carlyle B. Haynes materials donated to the university.

Carlyle B. Haynes Collection Donated to Heritage Room

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—A major collection of original sermon manuscripts and personal items of Carlyle B. Haynes, well-known Adventist evangelist, author and administrator during the first half of this century, has been donated to the Heritage Room of the James White Library. The donation was made by Carlyle Haynes' granddaughter, Dona Haynes Schultz of Pasadena, California.

The collection consists of six of Elder Haynes' notebooks containing approximately 430 sermons, studies and talks. Two folders containing some of his articles published in Adventist magazines, as well as handbills of his evangelistic campaigns, self-portraits and other personal items were also donated.

Among the collection are several series of sermons which Elder Haynes delivered to fellow ministers and teachers, and a number of sermons relating to the problem of noncombatancy.

Born in 1882 in Bristol, Connecticut, Carlyle Haynes became an Adventist at the age of 18 and was ordained to the ministry in 1908. Recognized widely for his abilities as a successful evangelist, he conducted major evangelistic campaigns in large cities throughout the United States. He was also pastor of the City Temple of New York and the Battle Creek Tabernacle.

Elder Haynes was a leader in making effective use of the public press to support evangelism. Following a successful campaign coordinated with the help of newspaperman Walter L. Burgan, Elder Haynes organized the General Conference Press Bureau in 1912 with Burgan in charge.

In 1918 and 1919 Elder Haynes was secretary of the War Service Commission, and became the champion of Seventh-day Adventist men in uniform. During both World Wars and the Korean War, Elder Haynes helped many Adventist youth with Selective Service and military concerns.

Later, Elder Haynes served as president of the Greater New York Conference (1922 to 1926), the South American Division (1926 to 1930), and the Michigan Conference (1934 to 1940). From 1940 until his retirement in 1955 he was the director of the Adventist War Service Commission.

Elder Haynes was also well known as an Adventist writer on questions of Bible doctrine. He wrote more than 40 religious books. Some of his writings have been translated into more than 20 languages. Among his better known works are: The Other Side of Death, The Divine Art of Preaching, Living Evangelism, Our Times and Their Meaning, The Return of Jesus, and Christianity at the Crossroads.

Elder Haynes died in Takoma Park, Maryland, at the age of 75.

"This collection of Elder Haynes' material is an important asset to the denominational archives in the Heritage Room," said Joseph G. Smoot, Andrews' president. "We are very grateful to receive this donation, because it will provide a valuable resource on a great Adventist leader who served his church so long and so well."

Andrews Announces Winners in Founders Day Contest

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—In conjunction with this year's Founders Week observance, current and former students, faculty and staff members were asked to submit original poetry, prose and musical compositions on the theme "Humanity's Confrontation with Eternity in Nature and Experience."

The best 12 entries, for which the authors received prizes of $25 each, were performed or presented during the vesper service at Pioneer Memorial Church on Friday, March 12.

Winners in the poetry division were: junior Sharon Carroll for "Chaiyim, Come"; seminary student William McCall for "Babylon II"; assistant dean Valerie Phillips for "Faithworks"; and junior Jean Sheldon for "Job in Retrospection."

Awards in the prose category were presented to Jean Sheldon for "The Rock" and seminary student Maylan Schurch for "I Remember Perry."

Six awards for music were presented to the following individuals: Arvid Anderson, who attended Broadview College, for his hymn entitled "Rise, O Living Church"; Les Clark, former

Andrews student, for his vocal solo "Ballad of Faith"; John Gilbert, current seminary student, for his vocal solo "Lift Him Up"; Kathryn B. Myers, former Andrews staff member, for her vocal solo "I, In Christ"; Eurydice Osterman, who received a Master of Music from Andrews in 1975, for her choir music "Allelulia," and to Maylan Schurch, for his vocal solo, "My Father's Will."

A special feature of this year's Founders Day vespers was several original compositions by Blythe Owen. She has taught composition and piano performance at Hull House, Northwestern University, Roosevelt University, Walla Walla College, Cosmopolitan School of Music, Chicago Teachers College and Andrews University. Dr. Owen has taught at Andrews since 1965.

Her selections that were performed included "Gloria," for saxophone quartet and organ; "How Shall I Sing That Majesty," for male chorus; a piano and organ arrangement of "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," and several organ compositions played as the prelude and postlude.

Home Economics Department Plans European Study Tour

Fonda Chaffee

December 13 to 30, 1982, according to Fonda Chaffee, tour director.

The 18-day tour is designed for anyone interested in guided observations of family life, handicrafts, foods, housing, textiles and design in Southern Europe and Africa.

According to Dr. Chaffee, plans provide sightseeing events with competent English-speaking guides in all the countries to be visited.

Trips to famous historical sites, cultural performances and rural areas are part of the tour. Leisure time activities and shopping are included.

Dr. Chaffee stressed that "tour members do not need to be home economics graduates in order to enjoy this tour. Anyone interested in obtaining understanding and appreciation of international lifestyles can take advantage of this opportunity."

enjoy this tour. Anyone interested in obtaining understanding and appreciation of international lifestyles can take advantage of this opportunity."

Highlights of the trip include taking a safari in Nairobi, examining the lace and glass in Brussels, shopping in Madrid, visiting the Parthenon in Athens and celebrating Christmas in Gambia.

Dr. Chaffee said that up to six hours of academic credit are available for college and graduate students.

For further information regarding cost and reservations, write to: Home Economics Department, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

Leona Running Gives Collection on Women to Heritage Room

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—The Heritage Room of the James White Library has been given a collection on women by Leona G.

Running, professor emeritus of biblical languages at the seminary, according to Louise Dederen, Heritage Room curator.

Mrs. Dederen said the materials, entitled "The Leona Glidden Running Collection:

Leona Running

Women In Church and Society," span more than a decade in opinion and thought. Dr. Running began the extensive collection when she was asked to write a paper in 1971 on the role of women in the Adventist Church.

The collection contains information on current issues, such as the ordination of women ministers in various denominations, women in athletic careers, the influence of economic conditions on women, women and marriage today, child-rearing and many other topics.

"Students have asked to use my source materials for some time; now the materials will be more readily available and in an organized form," Dr. Running said.

Dr. Running also indicated that she will continue to add new materials to the collection.

Chemical Society Chapter Formed At Andrews

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Andrews University has formed the 770th student affiliate chapter of the American Chemical Society, according to William Mutch, associate professor of chemistry at the university.

On Wednesday, February 17, the Andrews chapter was officially organized during the local chapter meeting of the society. Dr. Lawrence L. Garber, associate professor of chemistry at Indiana University of South Bend and president of the St. Joseph Valley section of the American Chemical Society, presented the charter certificate, Dr. Mutch said.

After the presentation, Dr. Thomas Patrick Fehlner, professor of inorganic chemistry at the University of Notre Dame, spoke on "Photo-Electron Spectroscopy."

"We have wanted to establish a student affiliate chapter for a long time," says Dr. Mutch. "The faculty felt such a forum to discuss professional and ethical concerns in science, as well as a vehicle for social activities, would be beneficial. The students were interested in the learning benefits a professional chemistry society offers."

Sixteen students signed up to become charter members of the Andrews chapter.

Before being officially initiated the Andrews student affiliate chapter went on a field trip to the research and engineering center at Whirlpool Corporation in Benton Harbor and sponsored the film "Poisoning of Michigan," on campus. The group is planning additional activities for the year, according to Dr. Mutch.

Nursing Home Resident Joins Local Church

AHSNorth—Melva Hudson, second from right, a resident of Prairie Convalescent Center, Prairie Du Chien, Wisconsin, was presented for membership to the local congregation by Chaplain Eric J. Wrangell, right, on December 19, 1981, according to Brian Costa of Adventist Living Centers, the long-term-care member corporation of Adventist Health System North. Marvin and Vivian Steffen, left, of Eastman, Wisconsin, have accepted the responsibility of being Melva's spiritual guardians during her first year of membership. Chaplain Wrangell said he considered it a privilege to study with Melva. "The Holy Spirit was speaking to her, and the caring of others was instrumental in her decision to join the church."

Frankfort Pathfinders Collect Canned Goods

INDIANA—Instead of filling up on sweets on Saturday night, October 31, the Frankfort Pathfinder Club and other young friends gathered canned goods. Enough food was gathered and purchased to help 11 families in the community, according to Lynn Miller Sr., Pathfinder director. Pictured are some of the Pathfinders who participated in the can collection.

● "A Good Old-Fashioned Country Christmas" was the theme of the Fort Wayne Church School Christmas play. The setting was a traditional family Christmas with a tree and fireplace. Dane Rehil, school principal, sat in an old rocker telling short stories, while teachers

Maureen and La Rae Plumb sat on the floor with the children and sang old Christmas favorites. Dale Slayton kept them all in tune with his guitar. The children played several tunes on the piano and led out in an amusing version of "The Twelve Days of Christmas." The audience was asked to sing along.

Cicero Honors Victoria Hope

INDIANA—Sabbath, November 14, 1981, was community relations day for the Cicero Church. The church board had voted to honor Victoria Hope for being an outstanding citizen of the community.

She is church organist for the Noblesville Christian Church, accompanist for the county chorus, and plays for many special occasions. She also teaches many of the young pianists in the Cicero Church, and contributes to many church and academy programs.

Mrs. Hope is president of the Community Heritage program which purchased the old railroad depot and restored it as a Heritage Center. In the 1977 edition of Who's Who of American Women, she is listed for her contributions to the community.

Pastor Archie Moore presented Mrs. Hope with a community service plaque and Cathryn Kuszmaul, community services director, gave her an inscribed copy of The Desire of Ages from the community services center.

Ministers Plan Church Growth

ILLINOIS—Ministerial Secretary Bob Everett and other conference officers are involved in monthly area meetings with ministers to make plans for evangelism and church growth.

In the four area meetings—Southern Illinois, Western and Central Illinois, Chicagoland English, and Chicagoland Spanish—pastors report on evangelism progress, make plans and share ideas.

Prayer and fellowship, as well as inspiration, are important ingredients of these sessions. With a record-setting 885 baptisms in 1981, the ministers are confident of reaching their objective of 1,000 baptisms in 1982.

18 People Join Rockford Church

ILLINOIS—Several people have been baptized in Rockford since Pastor Gordon Hernandez arrived in November 1980. Each candidate is given a long-stem rose from the Early American Optimist Club of the church, according to Joyce Friestad, communication secretary. The newest members of the Rockford church family are: Teresa Serna, Robert Lavis, Mr. and Mrs. Raltonson, Lynn Patterson, Clara Ames, Larry Moody, Barbara Kowall, Dale Johnson, Lisa Bruski, Mary Howze, Jeff Beal, Elveria Marie Fisher, Michelle Martin, Renee Osmus, Regina Lewis, and Gloria Sharp. Pictured above with Pastor Hernandez is another new member, Karen Novrotsky.

Honor Students Visit Andrews

Five Baptized in Anderson

INDIANA—Karen Brigner, left, Elaine Jaynes, Janet Roberts, Sarah Ann Davis and Jennifer Hartle were baptized recently in the Anderson Church by Pastor Gilbert E. Anderson. Karen and Elaine were baptized October 3, 1981, in a Sabbath afternoon ceremony. Janet, Sarah and Jennifer were baptized December 19, 1981, during the worship service, according to Diane Jones, communication secretary.

Peoria Couple Donate Organ to Church

ILLINOIS—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Short, of Peoria, recently donated a Baldwin Model #625 church organ to the Peoria Church in memory of Mrs. Short's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Isaacs, and her two sisters, Jimmie Bouton and Marion Iles.

Mrs. Short has been a member of the church family and a supporter of the music ministry for more than 55 years.

Bene Hammel, a concert organist with the Baldwin Piano and Organ Company, presented a concert on the organ at the dedication service.

Treasurer Reports on 1981 Giving

Ray Rouse

ILLINOIS—The total tithe returned to the Lord in the Illinois conference during 1981 was $5,094,015.81.

This represented an increase of $495,054.97 over 1980 for a 10.75 percent increase.

"When you consider that Illinois was one of the five worst hit states in the current recession, we can only thank God for the faithfulness of His people," says Conference Treasurer Ray Rouse.

Church members also gave $43,347.73 for Broadview Academy development and an additional $28,803.70 for the conference worthy student fund.

If everyone had contributed the suggested one percent for Broadview, the total would have been $509,000, giving the academy enough funds to finance all capital development needs as well as assist all needy students in securing a Christian secondary education.

As evidence that Illinois members are dedicated to evangelism and finishing God's work in this part of His vineyard, $142,512.26 was given toward conference evangelism. This figure includes more than $70,000 given through the Prayer and Praise Celebration held at Broadview Academy on November 26, 1981.

When giving is looked at on a per capita basis the results are encouraging. The tithe per capita is $580.45. Members also gave $80.76 per capita to mission and General Conference offerings, $31.83 to conference offerings, and $376.60 to local church needs.

When all these amounts are tabulated, per capita giving totaled $1,069.64 per member, or almost 18 percent of income.

Academy Honors Students Visit Andrews

Michigan News Notes

● MICHIGAN—The women of the St. Charles Church have been invited to hold another vegetarian cooking school during the second semester of the local adult continuing education curriculum. The first cooking school was held in November with the direction of Dorothy Mackintosh. The table decorations illustrated protein foods and grains.

● Members at Lansing have learned that it takes many hands to operate a successful cooking school. About 40 people came to the community services center recently for vegetarian cooking instruction, half of them non-members. Community services coordinator Maby Gillen planned the school. Carol Lawson, a registered nurse, presented health and nutrition talks each evening, and a film was shown to reinforce the learning. Cooking demonstrations were presented by Penny Ancel, Sharon Blinci, Mary Covell, Vera Drake, Karen Dunneback, Pauleen Evans, Joan Finch, Esther Kennedy, Blanche Kwiek, Bob and Carol Lawson, Diane Powell, Judy Pritchard, Diane Stephan, Ina White, Dolly Wickham, Cathy Wuerfel and Ellen Zimmerman. Others participating were Keith Evans, Esther Kennedy, Earl Gillen, Audrey and Andy Mixter, and Carol Upton.

● Dr. Jay Bathani of Paw Paw, a former resident of a village about the size of Paw Paw in India, recently appealed to the Adventist community services center for clothing to send to India. A typhoon nearly destroyed his village and left many people in need. Dr. Bathani shipped the clothing at his own expense, and his father distributed the goods. Dr. Bathani showed his appreciation by offering to give medical assistance to anyone the Paw Paw community services director sends to him.

Adventists Rent Booth Space for World's Fair

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—A group of laymen, pastors and conference personnel have formed the Seventh-day Adventist World's Fair Project Committee to develop an outreach program for the 1982 World's Fair in Knoxville, Tennessee, to be held from May through October.

At the time the committee formed, some thought it was too late to get space for a booth at the fair. Then they learned there were three spaces left, and they decided to take one which would cost $108,000.

However, they had only $500 committed to the project, and a short amount of time to raise the rest. But when the deadline arrived, 75 percent of the total funds had been provided by lay people in the area, and they were able to secure the booth space for the church.

Construction specialists have volunteered their time and talent to build the booth, which will depict Adventists as people reaching out to other people.

Several specialists in the field of health, and pastors and laymen have volunteered portions of their vacations to man the booth.

Funds for literature and other materials to distribute from the booth are yet to be raised, but the committee is confident that, like the initial sum, the funds will be forthcoming.

If you have special skills in health education, counseling or hospitality; if you regularly adhere to Seventh-day Adventist dress standards; if you have a vibrant, healthy appearance; if you are willing to volunteer with your husband or wife for a week at the fair; or if you have other skills and sources of supplies that can be of help, please contact Jane Sines, Executive Director, P.O. Box 1982, Collegedale, TN 37315.

C. E. Bradford, General Conference vice president for North America, pointed out, "This is an outstanding demonstration of the principles of FAITH ACTION ADVANCE—a small group with various spiritual gifts working together under the guidance of the Holy Spirit."

"Prayer is the opening the heart to God as to a friend."

Downers Grove, Illinois, News Notes

● Dr. Beverly Steinman, Hinsdale family resident and a member of Downers Grove, conducted a successful clinic at Naperville where for several consecutive Sundays she checked blood pressures. An average of 40 people took the tests each Sunday. In January Dr. Steinman also conducted a smoking clinic at a local junior high school. The average attendance was 20. Thirteen of the participants were able to quit smoking.

● Pastor Jerry Coyle conducted a Daniel Seminar during January and February in preparation for a regular evangelistic series to be held in the church in March.

● On Sabbath, February 13, the Andrews University Singers, directed by Dr. Harold Lickey, gave a concert during the 11 o'clock worship hour.

● The Pathfinder Chiefs with Director Dianna Wachenheim made Valentines during a recent meeting. On Sabbath, February 13, the youth distributed the Valentines to elderly people in a nearby nursing home.

● An Ingathering banquet was held at the David Paulson Auditorium, Saturday evening, February 13. The 1981 leader, Bob Hoffman, thanked everyone who helped make Downers Grove once again go over their goal of $10,300, according to Richard Cook, communication secretary.

Pathfinders Enjoy Snow Outing at Au Sable

MICHIGAN—Pathfinders filled every available space at Camp Au Sable during the weekend of January 15 to 17, as 413 young people with their leaders and counselors came for the annual Teen Snow Outing. Mike Stevenson, Pathfinder director from the General Conference, spoke at the worship services of the weekend, and Dr. Frank Harrell of Kalamazoo was kept busy checking for frostbite. Temperatures hovered around the zero mark. Outdoor activities included skiing, snowmobiling, football, sleigh rides, horseback riding, tobogganing and hiking. Indoor games were also planned for those who preferred the warmth of the lodge. The greatest activity was the Christian fellowship, according to state director, Merrill Fleming. Pictured are Cedar Lake Pathfinder Director Barbara Stark, and Joel Stecker of Grayling, who talked about the teen mission trip to the Dominican Republic in which they recently participated.

Faith For Today Helps Answer A Boy's Prayer

NEWBURY PARK, Calif.—Does anybody pay attention to the thousands of letters and prayer requests that are sent to church television and radio ministries?

There's a little boy in Urbana, Ohio, who can testify that his letter was not only read, but somebody at Faith For Today helped answer his prayer.

Twelve-year-old Richard wanted a canvas tent. "My mother cries," he wrote, "because she can't take us camping." At the end of his letter he added, "P.S. I don't care if the tent is used when God gives it to us."

One of the secretaries who handles prayer requests at Faith For Today read Richard's letter, and it pulled at her heart strings. She immediately thought about the tent in her own garage that hadn't been used for years, and decided to ask her husband if they couldn't send it to Richard.

When others at Faith For Today and the Adventist Media Center learned about it, soon there were donations of sleeping bags, canteens, a gas stove and other camping equipment. Arrangements were then made with D. R. Manzano, communication director of the Ohio Conference, to personally deliver the equipment to Richard.

Elder Manzano reports that the Urbana newspaper printed a story about Richard and his new tent. The little boy told Elder Manzano how happy he was that of all the letters sent to Faith For Today, "God picked mine out for an answer."

"We usually leave prayer requests in the hands of the Lord," says William Fagal, prayer ministries director, "but in this case He impressed some of our workers to help answer Richard's request."

Adventist Intemperance Confronted by Review

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A 24-page, 4-color temperance issue of the Adventist Review was made available on February 25 this year.

This undated issue is specifically designed to confront the problems of social drinking and drug abuse among Adventists. In addition, it offers solutions to these problems.

According to the editors of the Review, "Perhaps some readers will be shocked to learn that we consider the problem of social drinking in the Adventist Church to be large enough to confront specifically and openly. We are sorry to shock anyone, but the simple truth is that Adventists do not live in a vacuum. They are surrounded by evil."

In order to obtain extra copies of this special issue to share with friends and relatives, contact your local Adventist Book Center.

Adventist Media Center Offers Encounter II

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif.—The Dukane projector and the Encounter I Bible studies have been widely used and successful soul-winning tools for Adventist laymen. More than 6,000 of these projectors are in use in North America and there has been a continuing call from users for additional studies. To meet this need, Adventist Media Productions of Thousand Oaks, California, has produced a 10-lesson series on the prophecies of Daniel and Revelation called Encounter II. "We are competing with television where the viewer sees excellently produced materials," Mr. McClintock said. "We feel Encounter II is exceptionally well-done." A series of printed lessons is being prepared to accompany the visual series. Until the printed lessons are available, says Mr. McClintock, any set of printed lessons on Daniel and Revelation will correlate with Encounter II. The new series is now available through your local Adventist Book Center.

Listen Magazine Emphasized During March

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Listen magazine, the official organ of the American Temperance Society and Narcotics Education, Inc., is published monthly by Pacific Press Publishing Association to encourage temperate living.

February and March are Listen emphasis months. During this time, the General Conference urges special efforts on the part of each conference to see that Listen is placed in all high schools and colleges in the country. The magazine informs young people about the dangers of the use of drugs and alcohol and other harmful substances, and it has been influential in helping many young people lead healthier lives.

Last year the Indiana Conference led North America for the third year in a row by reaching 123 percent of the General Conference goal assigned to the conference, according to Cliff Hoffman, Indiana Conference temperance director.

The Indiana program urges the churches to sponsor three subscriptions of Listen in each high school—the science and physical education departments and the library.

Elder Hoffman says, "We need to sponsor Listen for every legislator, college, university, high school and Adventist home."

Elder Charles Case, director of the Lake Union Conference health/temperance departments, encourages "all other areas of the Lake Union to join the Indiana Conference in the promotion of Listen magazine in 1982."

Order Listen through your church missionary secretary; the cost is only $6.95 per subscription.

M.P.H. Classes Now Offered in Lake Union by Loma Linda

LAKE UNION—The executive committee of the Lake Union Conference and Loma Linda University School of Health have jointly approved the setting up of a Master of Public Health program in the Lake Union.

This program will allow qualified individuals to further their education toward an M.P.H. degree without having to travel to Loma Linda, California, to do so.

The L.L.U. School of Health extension division will provide instructors for the classes taught, and the Lake Union health director will coordinate the program, and establish the dates and class locations.

This four-year program is being sponsored in the Lake Union mainly for church members who want an M.P.H., as well as for professionals in the medical field who want the degree or Continuing Education Units.

Tuition will be charged by the L.L.U. School of Health.

The School of Health faculty will assign books to be read, papers to be written, and other homework. Then a faculty member will come to the Lake Union and hold a one-to four-day session, depending on the class being taught. These sessions will be held in various locations in the union to facilitate the attendance of all students.

An average of four classes per year will be offered, and each class will provide from three to four credit hours.

Further details will be announced as they become available in the Lake Union Herald and your churches.

Optometrists
Provide Glasses
for Refugees

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Adventist optometrists, meeting last fall in their national convention, agreed to assist the General Conference by providing personnel and glasses for Cambodian refugees in Southeast Asia, according to a report received from Seventh-day Adventist World Services, Inc.

At the time of the dissolution of Cambodia many people destroyed their glasses, gold teeth, watches and other items of value because they feared reprisals against persons who appeared to have wealth or education.

Since the optometrists meeting, several teams of optometrists have each spent a month in the refugee camps prescribing and distributing more than 8,900 pairs of glasses.

Donald L. Ackley, a retired optometrist in La Mesa, California, grades the glasses for shipment. Presently, an adequate supply of glasses comes from foundations in California and Michigan as well as Lions and Kiwanis clubs.

Optometrists who wish to volunteer for a month of service should contact Dr. Ackley at (714) 463-4858.

When I read the Lake Union Herald this month I was shocked to see the kind of paper our denomination is putting out. It looks like a worldly newspaper. The world knows the pretty magazine you were sending, and now you come out with this. It's a disgrace to our denomination. . . . When my magazine used to come I would sit down to devour it from cover to cover. But not this paper. There is nothing to devour.

Mabel Frisbie
 Pottsville, Michigan

You're doing an excellent job with the Lake Union Herald, as I'm sure many have told you. So many heart-warming stories from all over the Union. Keep it up!

Roscoe and Beth McFadden
 Apopka, Florida

For years now I've been going to write you and thank you for the free magazine which you have been sending me for many, many years—the Lake Union Herald. Now is the time to express my feelings. Why should I complain when it is free and costs me nothing. Besides, I like the new one, too, which makes a nice change in between, and also on nice subjects. I look forward to it very much. Also we do get the original one in between. Again, I express my thanks to you for sending me the Lake Union Herald.

Hazel Butterfield Carter
 Battle Creek, Michigan

I can't believe the Seventh-day Adventists would print such a cheap, shoddy paper representing the church. We senior citizens are unable to read this print, and again perhaps it is not for us old folks anyway.

Esther P. Bovee
 Battle Creek, Michigan

Your February 2 tabloid issue of the Herald has come, and I've had a chance to read it through carefully. I want to compliment you on the good job that you have done. It's readable and interesting, though like some of your readers, I prefer the magazine format. However, with the direction you've gone, you have put together an interesting paper. Keep up the good work!

Morten Juberg, Editor
 North Pacific Union Gleaner

I definitely do not like it! . . . the tabloid is not representative of the standards our church should maintain in its literature. It has a dull, careless look that cheapens the contents. Also, I am very much in favor of putting everything in one type of publication. It is hard enough to keep up with one publication, let alone two. I am all for saving money where it can be done without sacrificing quality, but this is definitely not a good economy move. I urge you to return as soon as possible to the former format.

Herman Roberts
 Hinsdale, Illinois

On October 4, 1980, I was baptized in the Urbandale Church. I've never written a letter of opinion to any organization before. I think now my opinion is really needed. I don't like the new format of the the Lake Union Herald, but I'm willing to go along with it. I feel that you could cut down elsewhere. I also feel that we as Christians should really not complain of such a small matter. How are we going to feel later when we will have to give up our homes, families, friends, loved ones to follow Jesus. Are we as Christians going to be able to stand at that time? You know that time is not too far off. If Jesus died for me, I can only say that I should be willing to give up everything for Jesus, including the Lake Union Herald.

Through Weakness, Strength

Charles Keymer
President
Michigan Conference

In June 1980 Elder Kenneth Oliver, pastor of the Sheboygan and Onaway, Michigan churches, launched an outreach ministry. He and the members sent out a bulk mailing of Voice of Truth, a newspaper containing 26 Bible studies on the essential points of the Adventist faith.

Enclosures invited the people to call in for a telephone sermonette each day. There was also an invitation for Bible studies. More than 400 people responded.

About this time Pastor Oliver became very ill, but he had been visiting in 100 of these homes. Interested people had been invited to listen to a series of cassette sermons by an outstanding Adventist evangelist. Loyal church members took up the slack and kept in contact while the pastor was convalescing.

A year later Evangelist Robert Collar began a series of meetings in the Sheboygan Church. Of the 130 nonmembers who attended, 90 percent of them had first become interested in the Adventist Church through the newspaper, telephone and tape ministries. The evangelistic series heightened their interest.

Only two persons have been baptized thus far, but Pastor Oliver says that there are 30 who are now attending church regularly and planning on baptism some time later. The little church had averaged 12 to 15 in attendance. Now an average of 45 people attend each Sabbath.

One of these is Paula St. Pierre. Though not yet baptized, she is telling everyone about the Adventist way of life. At her former church they were studying the cults. When they included Seventh-day Adventists, she stood up and verbally defended Adventists. Then her pastor asked if she was going to keep the Sabbath. She said yes, and has been ever since.

Paula was first contacted by the Voice of Truth newspaper, then began calling for the telephone messages on a regular basis. That put her in touch with the tape ministry and church members. Now she is reading many books. The evangelistic series capped her growing interest.

Paula's husband, a deputy sheriff, took her Dukane projector unit to the jail and has been showing the Encounter Bible lessons to the deputies there.

Because of his illness, Pastor Oliver has not been able to do much of the visiting, so his church members have really carried the program. They provided transportation for many of the people who attended the evangelistic meetings. Pastor Oliver says that perhaps the Lord used his weakness to bring about a strong program in Sheboygan.
