Illinois Adventists Provide Relief to Tornado Victims

The tornado caused 100 million dollars in damage.

ILLINOIS—The killer tornado came out of the west on Sabbath afternoon, May 29. Before it blew itself out it had caused 100 million dollars in property damage, killed 10 people and left 700 homes destroyed or damaged in Southern Illinois.

Hardest hit was Marion, Illinois, where three major shopping centers were destroyed along with a retirement village and numerous individual homes.

Automobiles in a dealer's lot were tossed about and deposited on top of each other; one landed on the roof of a destroyed bank.

The path of destruction passed within a mile of the new Marion Adventist Church on the west side of town, and within a few hundred feet of the new church school on the eastern edge of town.

Although no church buildings or members were hurt by the storm, local Adventists immediately became involved in volunteer efforts to assist those who were injured or left homeless.

Before the winds died down Marion members were busy assisting the victims. On Sunday, Rodney Dale, conference community services director, delivered a truck load of clothing and bedding and stayed on for the rest of the week to assist in coordinating relief efforts.

The Marion Shawnee Pathfinder Club, with the leadership of Marvin Maxwell and Judy Johnston, went into action. They cleaned a cemetery, and helped in the American Red Cross food vans both in preparing food and serving it to the victims of the tornado and relief crews. The Pathfinders were in the thick of relief efforts for five days.

On Wednesday, June 2, when Governor James Thompson made a second visit to Marion to inspect the clean-up efforts, he presented a certificate of appreciation from the State of Illinois to the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Lynn Billock, who directed the local church effort, accepted the certificate on behalf of the church.

Oakwood Retreat Features Baptism

MICHIGAN—An outdoor baptism in the chilly waters of Shellenbarger Lake highlighted the Detroit Oakwood Church retreat at Camp Au Sable, May 7 to 9.

Evelyn Garza, Edna Roman and Brenda Klein were baptized. The "spiritual journey" that led to their baptism began for these women when Evelyn was invited to take Bible studies in the Frank Kalvoda home. Frank asked Pastor Norman Yeager to conduct the studies.

Evelyn asked if she could invite her sister. Edna responded to the invitation, then told her best friend, Brenda, about the studies, and she also joined. The three studied together, and were eager to know what the Bible taught, Pastor Yeager said. When the Sabbath was introduced, they checked with secular history books and encyclopedias to be sure of the facts.

The women requested the outdoor baptism so they could be baptized as Jesus was. Speakers for the weekend retreat were Pastor and Mrs. Ray Holmes.

A.S.I. Begins Search for Jobs for Students

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Are you a self-employed Adventist business person? Have you been wondering how you might help students in Adventist church schools, academies and colleges?

Then you will be interested to know that at the National Adventist Laymen's Services and Industries convention last September, participants voted to conduct a survey to find self-employed Adventist families in business and agriculture who would be willing to provide work opportunities for students.

The purpose of the survey is to match businesses with schools to provide summer work, or part-time work during the school year, or willingness on the part of businessmen to establish or relocate a work facility near a school.

Survey Research Services of Loma Linda University has been commissioned to conduct the survey.

If you are interested in participating, send your name, address, phone, type of business, type of product, and your business title to Project Assist, Nicol Hall, Room 1905, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, CA 92350.

Christian Record Offering Scheduled for July 10

LINCOLN, Neb.—It is enlightening and inspiring to take a fresh glimpse at services rendered by the Christian Record Braille Foundation—an 83-year-old Adventist agency dedicated to humanitarian service on behalf of multitudes of people who cope with major sight and hearing disabilities.

C.R.B.F. General Manager B. E. Jacobs says "Thanks to your loyal prayers and support in the past, we were able to extend our Christian-oriented materials and services to more than 63,000 blind and deaf patrons in 88 countries."

The foundation policy expressly provides that services are extended on a non-discriminatory basis irrespective of nationality, race or denominational affiliation.

Hundreds of wholesome, inspirational books and monthly magazines, including titles on adventure and travel, biography, nature and science, diet and foods and religion and family are provided in various formats—braille, large-print, flexible recorded discs, and cassette recordings.

Several Bible study courses are also available that have brought spiritual guidance and salvation to thousands.

Fourteen residents of a county care facility in Iowa wrote a letter to Ainsley Blair, Bible correspondence school instructor, at the completion of the course "Life and Teachings of Christ." The closing sentence read, "We hope we all meet again and with you, in heaven, some day." All 14 signed the letter.

From Maryland a Methodist minister writes, "I am grateful indeed for the work you are doing for those of us who are blind. Your monthly news magazines are a great help to me in my work. The recent Bible lesson [Faith and Prophecy] on 12-inch discs was especially good. I am enclosing a check for $100."

A Catholic nun from a hospital in Texas writes, "Steps to Christ would help anyone stumbling along the way."

Another woman says, "God has been so kind to us handicapped folks, who can't see so well anymore, to raise up folks like you to bring God's love to us."

A Spanish letter from Denver, Colorado, reads, "I want you to know I am giving up my bad habits and going through many hard times as a result of turning away from drink. . . . My life style is changing, thanks to God. . . . thanks for all these facilities you give."

And from Oklahoma a reader says, "I would love to hear your tapes on the 10 commandments as it is No. 4 which is creating a lot of static with us!"

After 80 effective years in serving the needs of blind citizens, C.R.B.F. has launched an additional program to provide for the long-neglected needs of 14 million people in the United States who have hearing impairment, as well as 2 million deaf persons.

Under the direction of Thompson Kay, coordinator of services for the deaf, a monthly newsletter, New Dawn, has already reached a circulation of 1,200. Thousands of manual alphabet cards have been distributed to churches and other groups. A teletype phone (TTY) has been installed at C.R.B.F.'s Lincoln office to provide contact with deaf persons.

As funds are available, future plans include sign-language classes, Bible study guides, camps and retreats for deaf persons, as well as workshops and seminars to assist pastors and laymen to provide for the spiritual and social needs of deaf people.

During 1981, 35 summer camps for blind children and adults attracted 2,140 campers.

The first C.R.B.F. winter camp was held in Colorado in 1980 and involved 23 youth from 17 states in skiing, snowmobiling, and cross-country hiking.

Another was conducted in March 1981 and 32 campers came from 14 states, including Hawaii. In March 1982, a winter camp was held at Snow Mountain Ranch, Colorado.

Eager, yearning multitudes of deserving sight- and hearing-disabled neighbors in North America and overseas must see and understand the message of God's love and salvation.

In the United States and Canada a team of approximately 100 district representatives seek out blind people daily, offering the foundation's free services. In August 1980 a new branch office of C.R.B.F. was opened in British Columbia to add impetus to the work in Canada.

Heaven's gospel outreach to all men, both the physically and the spiritually disabled, must be accelerated.

It is our opportunity to cooperate with God and support His message to the masses in the Christian Record Offering to be given on July 10, 1982.

● Eric J. Wrangell, chaplain of Prairie Convalescent Center, Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin, was recently asked by the Southwest Wisconsin Vocation-Technical Institute of Fennimore, Wisconsin, to participate in graduation services held May 21, by giving the invocation and benediction prayers, according to Brian J. Costa, communication intern for long-term care. Since coming to Prairie in August 1981, Chaplain Wrangell has participated in other community events. "I believe in strong community involvement as a way to spread the love of Jesus and to tell the world about His soon return," says Chaplain Wrangell.

● A fourth-generation computed tomography (C.T.) scanner was installed in May at Hinsdale Hospital, Hinsdale, Illinois. It provides detailed, cross-sectional views of the internal anatomy, permitting the physician to obtain accurate, well-defined pictures of the patient's brain, liver, kidneys, pancreas, lungs and other organs. According to Merle Peterson, administrative assistant in radiology, the new scanner is capable of sampling a section of tissue one fourth the size of the hospital's older model, and completes the exposure in two seconds.

● Hard hats and heavy equipment are a common sight on the Hinsdale Hospital campus these days as various construction projects begin and others near completion. The addition to the hospital's south wing began in May. The outer shell of the 32,000-square-foot fourth and fifth floors is scheduled for completion by the end of September. Other hospital projects nearing completion include installation of a new air-conditioning system, remodeling of Regnery Auditorium, construction of the respiratory care services office, and completion of plant operations offices, according to Glen Robinson, public relations assistant.

● Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne and radio, television and newspaper celebrities were present at a special luncheon program on May 12, when the cardiac arrest teams from Hinsdale Hospital and other Chicagoland hospitals received special tribute for their "energy, skill, dedication and compassion." The annual luncheon is sponsored by the Chicago Hospital Council to call public attention to the contributions to patient care of the area's 130,000 hospital workers. Pat Sponholtz, critical care coordinator, received the award for the Hinsdale Hospital team, according to David Gray, communication director.

Battle Creek Adopts New Logo

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—Battle Creek Adventist Hospital, in keeping with its name change last December from Battle Creek Sanitarium Hospital, released a new logo, the first product in a program of graphic design, according to Bettina Costello, public relations director. Combining the letter forms A and H, the logo reinforces the hospital's name. A cross, symbolizing both faith and healing, unifies the elements and reflects the philosophy that has been cornerstone of Seventh-day Adventist health care for more than 100 years. The open letter form suggests the spiritual and organic aspects of man with the wide inner space representing our less tangible properties—mental, emotional and spiritual—and the other lines representing our tangible selves, physical and social. The serif form of lettering lends age and suggests the hospital heritage as one of Battle Creek's founding institutions.

Adventist Church, established the center in order to develop and maintain a professional level of clergy," said Raoul Dederen, professor of historical theology and director of the center. "Although the Adventist Church provides most of its funding, the center is not necessarily doctrinally oriented, and it offers courses for academic credit or continuing education units to ministers of all faiths."

The center plans to offer seminars, workshops, courses, retreats, conferences and other events on the Andrews University campus and at other locations in North America and overseas.

"The center intends to give careful attention to the distinctive needs of ministers, their wives and ethnic minorities," Dr. Dederen says. "Recent surveys have indicated a continuing education program would greatly enhance the effectiveness of these important segments of the ministerial force."

Future plans for the center are to provide cassette and video tapes for home use. A catalog is being developed listing course offerings and instructors.

Fellowship Club Reorganized in Fort Wayne

INDIANA—After approximately six years the Fort Wayne Church decided it was time to start a Friendship Club again. With many new members coming in this would be an opportunity to meet once every other month to get better acquainted, play games and enjoy good food.

On February 28, 20 young married couples got together at the Dinner Bell Restaurant in Fort Wayne for a vegetarian meal.

After the meal the following officers were selected: Paul Merrills, president; Sharon Gephart, vice president; June Cook, secretary; Jack Fleckenstein, treasurer, and Roy Ursin, chaplain. Activities planned for the future include a bus trip to Chicago, picnics and parties.

Blood Pressure Clinic Held in Monticello

INDIANA—The free blood pressure clinic offered from the conference van screened about 375 people on April 29 and 30.

The van was parked in front of the Monticello Kroger Store and was manned by 12 qualified community services volunteers from the Monticello Church.

More than 600 pieces of literature were given out, and the volunteers reported that the people were eager to accept the literature. They were also amazed at the many teen-agers interested in blood pressure readings.

Several people were interested in learning about nutrition, and some signed up for Bible studies.

The response was so positive that the Monticello Church plans to run the program again.

Blind Youth Join Church

ILLINOIS—Through contact with Christian Record Braille Foundation and blind camp, two blind youth recently joined churches in the Illinois Conference.

Cynthia Kalley and Robert Bertrang became friends at the State School for the Blind in Jacksonville, Illinois. Later they were invited to Little Grassy Lake blind camp, and have attended camp for several years.

Then Roy Berg started working for C.R.B.F., and he and his wife found Cindy, who lived in Cicero, Illinois, staying by herself much of the time while her father worked. They began picking her up on Friday evening, taking her to church Sabbath and including her in all their weekend activities—two round trips from Naperville totaling 120 miles each weekend.

Then they discovered that Libbie Pesek, a new Seventh-day Adventist in Cicero, lived only a couple of miles from Cindy. She began to include Cindy in Sabbath activities, including a story hour in her home on Fridays. Cindy played the piano and eventually told some stories. Libbie also gave Cindy Bible lessons.

Cindy decided to be baptized in April 1981. Her friend Bob Bertrang, who was living in Springfield, was invited to attend the baptism at the West Central Church in Chicago.

Mark Finley preached about the Sabbath, and after the service Bob said to Roy, "That does it! That was as clear as could be. The seventh day is the Sabbath!"

Arrangements were made for Bob to attend church in Springfield and to have further Bible studies. Elder Gus Schueneman baptized Bob on December 12, 1981.

The Bergs have found, as so many others have, that there is nothing more satisfying than to see someone give his heart to the Lord.

Aurora Members Set the Scene for Evangelism

ILLINOIS—The Aurora Church, with the leadership of Pastor Tim Rosenboom, is working toward the Lake Union's goal of winning souls for Christ in 1982.

A Daniel Seminar began on February 28 to run through May 2. This was immediately followed by a 10-week seminar on Revelation.

A cooking class was conducted from April 14 through May 5. This was followed by an exercise class, with particular emphasis on improving cardio-vascular tone, weight control, and general well-being. The class was conducted in six-week sessions beginning May 10.

The goal of these outreach programs is to create community interest for evangelistic meetings to be held in October.

Syme Reports to Federation

INDIANA—Pastor David Syme, assistant secretary and deputy executive director of Seventh-day Adventist World Services, was the guest speaker for the community services federation meetings, April 5 to 8.

He related to the Indiana federations his work and experiences with SAWS, the material resource agency for Adventist churches worldwide.

He also spoke on the "2 D's of Evangelism": "demonstrative"—seeing, and "declarative"—speaking.

According to Pastor Syme, SAWS supplied more than 2.3 million dollars in assistance during 1981. One half million dollars in aid to Poland was given during February and March of 1982. SAWS also sent medicines and 4,000 pairs of shoes, since a family in Poland is allowed only one pair of shoes per family per year.

SAWS is working in 191 countries, and has budgeted 4.2 million dollars for 1982 to be used in 17 countries for health and educational programs and material supplies.

A report on the Adventist Disaster Van was presented in connection with the Fort Wayne flood this spring.

The van was in readiness and loaded with more than 600 sheets, pillow cases, blankets, prepackaged and sized clothing packets, baby layettes and personal kits.

The van was in Fort Wayne for two weeks and brought assistance to 554 persons. The estimated value of articles given was $28,000.

Health Education Emphasized at Springfield

ILLINOIS—A Health Education Seminar was presented as a community service project by the Springfield Church on April 18. Guest speaker Dr. Robert E. Webster, vice president of St. Mary's Hospital, Kankakee, gave counsel on weight and stress management illustrated with a slide presentation.

Home economist Shereen Scheuneman, coordinator of the event, conducted a cooking demonstration featuring basic nutrition for a budgeted income. Bread making, vegetarian entrees, casseroles, desserts and beverages were demonstrated by various members of the church.

Samples of the foods were served on a table decorated with spring flowers. Healthful door prizes, such as home-baked whole-wheat bread, were awarded to several participants.

Visitors to the seminar were given a choice of books and free literature on vegetarianism, and they also received copies of the recipes used in the seminar.

3 Persons Join West Suburban

ILLINOIS—One afternoon in a hospital surgery suite in Chicago, Dr. Walter Thompson and Dr. Orlando Ruiz were performing an operation together. Dr. Ruiz asked, "What does the number 666 mean?" Dr. Thompson invited the Ruizes to study the Bible with him. Soon they were attending a series of meetings with Evangelist Sergio Ortiz, and were preparing for baptism. Mrs. Ruiz's mother, from the Dominican Republic, had been visiting her daughter in Chicago shortly after their decision for baptism. The Ruizes were pleasantly surprised to learn that she, too, had come to know the Adventist message in her home country. On January 23, Dr. and Mrs. Ruiz and Mrs. Ruiz's mother were baptized by Oliver Mastrapa, pastor of the West Suburban Church in Chicago.

Many people expressed their pleasure in attending, as well as an interest in having a more extensive cooking school in the future. One of the visitors attended church services the following Sabbath.

● The River City Eagle Pathfinder Club honored the mothers of the Evansville Church on Mother's Day, according to Laura Hartmann. Pathfinder Director Richard Johnson, adult staff members, and the Pathfinders helped plan and serve the banquet dinner. Other highlights of the afternoon activities were a drill demonstration, a flower presentation to Pathfinder mothers, and a film.

● On May 8 Cynthia Naugler and her daughter Danielle were baptized by Elder Daniel Wandersleben in the Fort Wayne Church. They are now members of the Wolf Lake Church, according to Edna Van Wagner, communication secretary. Their interest in the church developed when Danielle started attending church school in Fort Wayne. Elder Wandersleben then gave Bible studies to Cynthia and Danielle.

● On Sabbath evening, April 24, the Gary Glen Park Home and School had a talent show, salad bar and soup and sandwich bar. Nearly 200 people attended with many participating in the talent program. All proceeds went to the church school. Janice Short, home and school leader, directed the evening activities, according to Jill Sanders, communication secretary.

● On April 15, just a few blocks from the East Chicago Church, a new bridge under construction collapsed, and 12 men lost their lives. On the following Sabbath, Victor Schulz, the church pastor, conducted a special memorial service. This service was not only attended by church members, but many visitors from the community. During the service there was a minute of silence honoring those who had died. Special prayers were offered in behalf of their families.

Churches Renovate with Revolving Fund

LAKE REGION—The Revolving Fund is available for loans to churches and schools within the Lake Union Conference territory for the purpose of financing building projects.

At the present time there are four churches in the Lake Region Conference which are repaying loans received from the Revolving Fund: the Aurora Spanish Church in Aurora, Illinois; the Bethel Church in Lansing, Michigan; the Ecorse Church in Ecorse, Michigan, and the Harrison Avenue Church in Jeffersonville, Indiana.

Rafael Colon is the pastor of Aurora Spanish Church. Revolving Fund monies have made it possible for the members to purchase an old store for $43,000 and turn it into a lovely worship sanctuary.

On May 29, five people were baptized, and a baptism is planned for July 10 and August 14. Present renovation projects include the kindergarten and junior Sabbath School rooms, the basement for recreation, the kitchen, a new church sign, and a new baptistry. The roof has been repaired for $6,000.

A new organ was recently purchased by the members. The pastor and members of the Aurora Spanish Church appreciate the loan which was received from the Revolving Fund.

The Bethel Church in Lansing, Michigan, was purchased in 1978 during E. S. Dille's pastorate for $32,000 received from the Revolving Fund.

The current pastor, Robert Lee Jones, is anticipating that many souls will be won during his ministry at the Bethel Church.

In 1972 the Ecorse, Michigan, Church was in a very poor condition. The renovation plans included the interior and exterior of the church. Sabbath School rooms were divided, wall-to-wall carpeting was installed, a foyer was added on to the sanctuary. Separate dorcas, deacon, and baby rooms were built.

A multi-purpose room, pastor's study, and conference rooms were included in the renovation plans. An elevator lift for handicapped persons was installed between the main sanctuary and the lower auditorium. The baptistry was renovated and a steeple was placed on the church.

The Ecorse Church blends well with the community and the members are very proud to be recipients of the Lake Union Revolving Fund, reports John Grier, the current pastor.

The Harrison Avenue Church in Jeffersonville is being pastored by Charles Willis. In 1979 the church received funds from the Lake Union Revolving Fund. The present membership is 27.

There have been some improvements made to the physical plant. The work was donated by a faithful member, Anna Logan. Pastor Willis states that without the aid of the Lake Union Revolving Fund this congregation would have no church home. The members of the congregation are grateful to God for this plan.

If you would be interested in adding to this fund, write to Revolving Fund, Lake Union Conference, Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103.

Youth Forum Planned for Camp Meeting

MICHIGAN—In an attempt to have a clearer line of communication and understanding between the youth and professional leadership of the church, the senior youth staff of the Michigan Conference has made plans for a camp meeting youth forum.

From 2:30 to 3:30 each afternoon from July 19 to 23, five different panels of church professionals will field questions of importance to youth. The topics to be discussed are: The Church Educational System, Church Leadership, Seventh-day Adventists and Sexuality, and Swimming Against the Tide. There will be one day for an open forum.

"Technically, the ministry of the senior youth staff is for ages 16 to 30, but we feel that this can be such a help to many in the church that we certainly will not turn anyone away," said Lester Rilea, conference youth director.

"We are providing a special opportunity for greater understanding and unity. We want solid answers for solid questions.

"It is our dream that this honest, positive forum will foster a basis for greater strength in this time of difficult issues," Elder Rilea said.

15 Quit Smoking After 5-Day Plan in Cassopolis

LAKE REGION—As a result of publicity in newspapers, posters, radio announcements, and personal invitations, 18 smokers in the Cassopolis, Michigan, area registered for the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking held May 1 to 5 at the Cass County Library.

After five nights of well-conducted group therapy sessions, films, demonstrations and literature, and a daily personal control program, 15 men and women received certificates.

The plan was sponsored by the Calvin Center Church of Cassopolis with Roger Lindo, church elder, as director, and Dr. Richard Carlsen of Dowagiac, Michigan, associate director.

Nancy Lindo, health secretary, and Ruby Johnson, temperance secretary, combined their efforts to help carry out this program.

Members of the church gave full support with their prayers, financial aid, and through their active service.

Beatrice Hampton, Gussie Smith, Janice Morris and Cecil

Johnson served as counselors. At the reception table were Bernice Lilly and Ruby Johnson. The ushers were Winifred Jones, Irma Wallace, and Clareather Crenshaw.

Pastor Lindo and Dr. Carlsen presented the positive approach to kicking the smoking habit. They featured the psychological and physiological aspects, using films, models and medical pictures.

A follow-up session was held on May 15. One enthusiastic participant, who had tried several other methods to stop the habit, was so pleased with her progress she would like to serve as a counselor at the next Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking.

Counselors will continue to contact members of their group periodically to offer encouragement and assistance; possibly developing lasting friendships.

Emanuel Foxworth, pastor of the Calvin Center Church, gave his full support for the program.

Health Expo Booth Creates Interest in Grand Rapids

MICHIGAN—More than 3,000 people who visited Health Expo '82 in Grand Rapids sampled a vegetarian meatball served on a whole-wheat bun.

Ten weeks of intensive planning and preparation paid off when media representatives were told to go to the Adventist booth because it was "the most impressive at the health fair."

Tasting the vegetarian samples, many people could not believe that the food was entirely vegetarian, according to Pastor Bruce Fox who worked with his members on the 20-by-20-foot modular fair booth.

Besides the healthful-living-through-vegetarianism theme, one part of the booth presented information on the harmful effects of drugs and alcohol.

A new pamphlet, "Give Yourself a Healthy Advantage," written by Pastor Fox, presented Adventist beliefs on the advantages of healthful living.

The booth, made of wood paneling, was constructed by a team of five led by Jerry Shroeder and Phil Rhoby of the Central Church. The prefabricated unit can be set up in short order in a variety of dimensions for future use, Pastor Fox said.

Dr. William Roosenberg, who has conducted Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking in Grand Rapids for many years, worked at recruiting prospects for his future programs. Smoking Sam, activated by Pastor Frank Haynes and 14-year-old Barrett Fox, gave Dr. Roosenberg support.

Paul Adams, district representative of Listen magazine and a member of the Grand Rapids Central Church, supervised the temperance exhibit, featuring an array of literature, including Listen magazine.

Audrey Anderson coordinated the staffing of six shifts of attendants and food preparation personnel, and supervised the food distribution process. Bethel and Wyoming church members assisted Central members in the project.

Baptism Held at Prairie du Chien

WISCONSIN—Jesus said, "Other sheep have I that are not of this fold." On May 1, Dora Mae Erickson, second from right, responded to the voice of her Shepherd and became a member of God's remnant church. Dora, who is 80 years old, told Chaplain Eric Wrangell, right, "I have been looking for a commandment keeping church for more than 60 years." Mary Barczak, second from left, Chaplain Wrangell's mother, invited Dora to church and then arranged for her to have Bible studies with Chaplain Wrangell. Mary has been appointed spiritual guardian for Dora during her first year of church membership, according to Ted Green, left, pastor of the Prairie du Chien Church.

Baptism in Ludington

MICHIGAN—While most young folks can look back on their high school years as a time of friendship and fun, Linda Lewis found her memories laced with loneliness. Being one of the crowd meant approving, or at least tolerating, their uses and abuses—and she did neither. Nor did her convictions end there, for she soon found convincing evidence that the body temple remained in good health better without flesh foods. Linda's mother suggested that if she wanted some serious help in the area of meatless eating, she might get in touch with the local Seventh-day Adventists who were supposed to have a tradition in such things. Her home city of Jackson did, indeed, have an active church, and vegetarianism was only the point of initial contact. Before long, Linda was attending services and sitting in the pastor's Sabbath School class.

Then came a move for Linda—a teller's job in Ludington and her own residence in the family vacation cottage. Would the little town have an Adventist Church? Could she find it? Finding it was not simple. The church's highway sign had been cut down by a road crew. The small congregation did not have a telephone. But help was "in the air." Before many weeks passed, the local pastor began broadcasting his semi-annual week of radio devotions, arranged by the local ministerial association, and Linda heard some of them. There was an Adventist Church in this town after all! After a little looking, she discovered it. Regular attendance at services, a Revelation Seminar at the high school, and a series of studies in the pastor's home, culminated in a baptismal service at the Manistee Church. Her prayers had been answered. Linda had found not only a church, but a whole new family.

Where's My Herald?

Jere Wallack
Editor
Lake Union Herald

Are you receiving the Lake Union Herald at home?

If you are attending an Adventist church in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan or Wisconsin, you should be receiving the Herald. Your local conference sponsors a subscription to your home address if you or a household member belongs to a Seventh-day Adventist church in its territory.

But perhaps you had to borrow this issue or know of someone who is wondering why the Herald never comes to his home. For you, we offer this trouble-shooting guide, which we guarantee will produce results.

Do you know yourself to be a duly voted member of a Lake Union Conference church but haven't been receiving the Herald?

Suggestion: Confer with the church clerk where your membership should be listed. Does the clerk have your latest address? Is it typographically correct? Your clerk can check church records for any errors which may be interfering with Herald delivery to you. A local phone call may be all you need to bring the journal your way.

Do you wish to receive the Herald while your membership transfer within the union is in process?

Suggestion: Supply your new address to the clerk in the church you're leaving. You will receive the Herald continuously during your transition.

Are you leaving the Great Lakes area, but would like to continue receiving the Herald?

Suggestion: Supply your new address to the clerk in the church you're leaving. You will receive the Herald while your membership is being transferred. After the transfer is completed, you may subscribe by paying the annual $5 subscription rate directly to the Herald office. You may subscribe as long as you wish.

Have you recently moved to the Great Lakes area and are planning to have your membership transferred?

Suggestion: You may begin to receive the Herald even before your transfer is official. The clerk of your new church, upon request from you, will send your name and address through the conference to the Herald. You will begin to receive the Herald promptly; surely much sooner than if you had waited for the church to make your membership official.

Most of your subscription problems can be handled by your local church clerks. Further inquiries should be referred to the clerk of your local conference, or to the Herald office in Berrien Springs.

Happy reading.
