

These Lake Union pastors, wives, and guest speakers met recently for a unionwide Hispanic workers retreat.

Hispanic Workers Retreat Emphasizes Church Growth

LAKE UNION—In order to promote the work of soul-winning and to bring the mission of the church into sharper focus, the first unionwide Hispanic Workers Retreat was conducted January 23 to 26, 1983.

The seminar, directed by Robert C. Connor, ministerial director of the Lake Union, was held at the Holiday Inn Convention Center in Harvey, Illinois.

From the outset, the mood of the workers indicated a great sense of urgency for lost souls. This was even more evident as Elder Connor, who has served in the Lake Union ministerial department for the past 5½ years, welcomed and introduced the workers from the conferences of the Lake Union.

Elder Connor said the church has planted long enough, and we should be caught up in the urgency of these 1,000 Days of Reaping.

He said, "Because of our cold weather, and because our union territory has two of the hardest hit states economically, we have more Adventists transferring out of our territory than we have coming in."

"The work of winning souls is not only crucial in keeping the church alive, but we also need to play a vital part in the work of Faith Action Advance, which has become the watchword for this time."

Emphasis continued on soul-winning when John Hayward, secretary of the Lake Union, gave the keynote challenge to the workers. All of the devotional speakers, Luis Leonor, Hispanic coordinator of Michigan and pastor of the Berrien Springs Spanish Church; Silvio Fernandez, coordinator of Hispanic affairs for the Illinois Conference, and J. P. Valentin, Hispanic coordinator of the Lake Region Conference, without consulting each other, carried through with the theme Elder Hayward introduced in his keynote address.

Galeb Rosado, pastor of the All Nations Church in Berrien Springs, Michigan, gave an inspirational, historical presentation on the "Challenge of Cross Culture Diversity." Elder Rosado's congregation is composed of members from 55 different nations.

Miguel Cerna, a pastor from Southern California, baptized more than 120 persons in 1982 without conducting a public campaign. In four hours of lecturing, he explained how he did it through the "small group concept."

Conference time was given to administrators and departmental men. The meetings were blessed with the presence of Robert Everett, secretary of the Illinois Conference; R. R. Rouse, treasurer of the Illinois Conference, and Charles Case, youth director of the Lake Union.

The topics "Public Evangelism" and "The Evangelistic Invitation" were discussed by Elder Connor. The time that was given to "Issues and Answers" gave helpful answers to issues that perplex many workers.

The six major Hispanic groups in the United States are comprised of persons from countries in Central and South America, the Spanish language islands of the Caribbean, and Europe.

The United States, with 14.6 million Hispanics, has the fifth largest Hispanic population in the world.

The Hispanics are the fastest growing minority in the United States, and have the fastest growing membership in the Adventist Church.

There are more than 2,000 Hispanic members in the Lake Union Conference—464 Hispanics were baptized in this union last year, and a goal of 1,000 was set by the workers for 1983.

With much prayer, information, inspiration and recreation, the retreat came to a dramatic close when the workers knelt in a season of prayer led by the Hispanic coordinators from the conferences in the Lake Union.

Church Organized in Downers Grove

LAKE REGION—The newest member church to join the Lake Region family is the All Nations Fellowship, organized in the Downers Grove, Illinois, area.

The nucleus for the church was formed when Charles Joseph, president of the Lake Region, directed a ceremony which announced the main officers for the congregation.

The local elders are Edwin Neblett, Gersham Nelson, and Hurford Thomas. Henrietta Collins is the church clerk, Clinton Mattocks is the treasurer. The deacons are Barrington Bonswell, Frank Williams, and Clinton Mattocks.

Approximately 30 people indicated their desire to become members of the All Nations Fellowship, subject to transfers by letter from other churches.

Special honors were given to Jacquelyn and Merideth Brown for their contributions to the Sabbath School. Frank and Teresa Williams received special recognition for their dedication to people in need.

After the church was formally organized, the congregation sang, "To God Be The Glory." The official organization of the church was sealed with prayer offered by Elder Joseph.

Elder Joseph spoke for the worship service, which was followed by a fellowship dinner.

This church was established with this purpose in mind: "Acknowledging that Christ is the center of the Gospel, we propose to lead all peoples to Jesus by promoting and fostering a spirit of openness and loving concern, as exemplified by our Lord."

The All Nations Fellowship states its practice as follows: "Recognizing that in Christ unity in diversity is achievable, we disavow all that would divide the community of faith. We dedicate ourselves to promoting harmony among individuals from all social, racial, economic and religious backgrounds, regardless of sex."

All Nations Fellowship invites you to worship with them on any Sabbath at 935 Maple Avenue, Downers Grove Park District.

Grand Ledge Opens Community Services Center

MICHIGAN—Grand Ledge Adventists began a new outreach in the community when they opened a community services center on February 1, 1983.

They are using the facilities of the former school plant, since the school recently consolidated with Grand Ledge Adventist Academy.

On hand for the formal opening was Mayor Lewis Gentry. He delivered the opening address, expressing appreciation for the church's concern and interest in the community.

Other visitors demonstrated their interest. Two local businessmen noted that the center did not have a stove or refrigerator and bought new ones for them.

An employee of a large local motel arranged a gift of 50 pillows, and a large stack of used sheets, towels and blankets. Every year this motel replaces its towels and linen. This gift may be repeated next year.

The center has been named by the Grand Ledge Emergency Program as the food distribution depot for the area.

They will soon receive 15,000 cans of food from General Motors of Lansing. This contribution was generated by an employer-employee matching program.

At the opening services, Charles Keymer, president of the Michigan Conference, and Arthur Covell, community services director gave brief addresses.

Ben Boggess, pastor of the church, is planning a series of self-help classes in nutrition, health ul cooking, weight loss, and a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, to be conducted regularly at the center.

Ingathering: A Word of Appreciation

LAKE UNION—Two of the most neglected words in the English language are "thank you."

A little appreciation and praise when deserved are helpful in every human situation.

The Scriptures say that even in Heaven the redeemed shall give continued praise to God.

I want to thank our God for His blessing in the 1982 Ingathering Campaign. He has sustained and helped in every way, making possible whatever success we have enjoyed.

God works through people, and the campaign was marked by multiplied instances of human effort in response to His Spirit. What a joy it is to see the dedication of God's people year after year.

The grand total of $812,051.25 is greatly appreciated. May God bless each of those who had a part in the program. Let us give thanks to Him for his manifold blessings.

A Modern Guardian Angel

The fourth quarter 1982 NO ONE BUT YOU program, "With Each Tick of the Clock," contained the story of David Livermore who is a member of the Escanaba, Michigan, Church and director of the jail ministry for the Delta County Jail in Escanaba.

Dave volunteers his time, and spends about 12 to 15 hours per week at the jail. However, his ministry extends far beyond the time he spends at the facility.

For example, Dave has been working with a prisoner, whom we'll call Bill. He is 31 years of age and has been imprisoned 58 times. Dave has been encouraged by seeing some positive progress in Bill's life.

Recently Bill expressed a desire to see his 9-year-old son, and he told Dave, "I don't pretend to have ever been a father to my son, but maybe I can make an attempt now."

Dave not only located the man's ex-wife, but took the child to the prison to meet with his father.

When Bill came into the visitor's section with the little boy, Bill looked at his son, then at Dave and said, "I can't thank you enough, Dave." According to Dave, all the thanks he needed came as he watched the father and son embracing in a big bear hug.

Sometimes Dave can't be near those he works with when they pass through difficult times, but he still has concern for them. He makes every attempt to alert local pastors about individuals he feels must have additional spiritual attention. Such was the case with two brothers whom we'll call Stan and John.

John was the weaker of the two brothers, both physically and emotionally, while Stan appeared strong and hardened.

"Being processed through the prison system can be an emotional ordeal," says Dave. "Many prisoners break under the strain."

Dave feared for John's emotional stability when he left the Delta County Jail for another prison. So he contacted the local Adventist pastor, who went to see John at the prison and talked to him about the biblical story of Job.

Four months later Dave went to visit the brothers in the prison where they were serving their sentences. He discovered that Stan had suffered emotional strain, but John had made it through the ordeal.

John told Dave, "I could have never made it without what the Adventist pastor told me about Job." When Dave asked John what he was going to do when he finished his time, John said, "I'll tell you, Dave. I'm going to go to church with you."

Dave not only believes in assisting those in jail, he believes in preventive jail ministry as well. Dave seeks to educate young people about what life behind bars is really like. To make it more real, he has written a play entitled "A Day in Jail."

The 30-minute play has been performed by Dave and his cast at Wilson Junior Academy in Wilson, Michigan, and at Wisconsin Academy—complete with a simulated jail cell.

Before the play begins, Dave explains how prisoners react psychologically, and suggests things the students should watch for in the play. It ends with a soloist singing "At My Worst You Found Me."

Recently a trustee at the Delta jail came to Dave and said, "Do you know what they call you 'in the back' [the inmates' term for the cells]? When Dave appeared dubious about wanting to know, the trustee said, "Oh it's nothing bad—they call you their guardian angel."

Kroncke Leaves P.M.C.

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—John A. Kroncke, senior pastor of Pioneer Memorial Church on the Andrews University campus, left his 16½-year pastorate at the church on February 19.

John Kroncke

Elder Kroncke will begin new duties March 5 as pastor of the Buchanan and Eau Claire churches in Michigan. The announcement was made January 27 in a letter to all members of the Pioneer Church.

Elder Kroncke will also continue as district superintendent of Michigan's Southwestern District of 12 churches.

Dr. Kroncke has served in his position as pastor of P.M.C. since 1966, which from all known records, is the second longest of any single pastorate in the history of the Adventist church in North America.

Before coming to the university, Elder Kroncke served as pastor, evangelist and radio evangelist in Pennsylvania and Indiana. He was the pastor of the South Bend, Indiana, Church from 1961 to 1966.

Andrews Gets Computer for Teaching Teachers

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Elementary and secondary teachers in training at Andrews are learning how to bring the computer into the classroom, thanks to a donation from the Lake Union Conference.

Dr. George Akers, chairman of Andrews' education department, said the Lake Union has donated a Radio Shack TRS-80 III double disk drive computer to be used specifically for teachers in undergraduate, masters and doctoral degree programs.

"The Lake Union board of education has said that all teachers in Adventist schools in this union must be computer literate by the summer of 1985. The Michigan Conference has pushed that date up to 1983 for its teachers," Dr. Akers said.

He also noted that the Michigan Board of Education is considering a mandate to make all certified teachers computer competent by 1985. "We are playing catch-up ball, but we are not alone," Dr. Akers said. "Schools of education all across the country are facing the same challenge."

Warren Minder, director of education for the Lake Union, views computers as an integral part of the future of education. "The Lake Union is looking to Andrews to provide crucial computer training for our teachers," he said. "The bottom line is to make the more than 7,000 students in our schools in the Lake Union computer literate. Our students must be able to function in today's society. Computer use is a skill they must have."

In addition to the computer itself, valued at more than $2,300, the Lake Union also provided more than $1,100 worth of manuals and computer software.

Dr. Akers said, "Even though Andrews has a department of information and computer science and a massive computer system, elementary and secondary teachers must become familiar with the equipment they will have to use when they go out to teach."

Dr. Akers said that regular classes in computer use for the classroom teacher will begin next fall. Three workshops will be held this summer through Lifelong Learning, Andrews division of continuing education.

Horn Museum Creates Program for Churches

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—The Siegfried H. Horn Archaeological Museum at Andrews University has developed a program on archaeology and Adventism for churches in the Lake Union, according to Bjornar Storfjell, assistant curator of the museum.

The program consists of the Sabbath sermon and an afternoon meeting where a 30-minute slide show and archaeological artifacts will be shown.

"There is a lot of misunderstanding about archaeology and its role in the Adventist church," Mr. Storfjell says. He feels that people often question the need for archaeology, saying the time involved and expense do not justify the results.

Others even question whether archaeology supports the beliefs of the Adventist church. "This program sheds light on the relevance of archaeology to the church's message," he says.

The slide show, entitled "Archaeology, Adventists and Andrews," was produced by David Merling, a student at Andrews who has had experience as a pastor, evangelist and archaeologist.

The show contains information on the history of archaeology, the dig sponsored by Andrews at Heshbon, Jordan, and plans for a future dig.

Artifacts will be taken to the churches for people to examine. There will be time for questions and answers after the program.

Any church interested in this program should contact the Siegfried H. Horn Archaeological Museum, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

Geriatric Seminars Held in La Grange

LA GRANGE, Ill.—Caring for the elderly and chronically ill is the emphasis of a series of geriatric health care seminars being held at La Grange Colonial Manor Convalescent and Nursing Center, according to Donald R. Boyer, administrator.

A series of 12 weekly one-hour meetings are being offered, free of charge, in cooperation with Community Memorial General Hospital in La Grange. The faculty, comprised of physicians and resident physicians from the hospital, will lecture on such topics as the physiology of aging, hypertension in the elderly, nursing home care, management of strokes and hypoglycemia.

Lifeline Saves Lives

HINSDALE, Ill.—Three days after Hinsdale Hospital installed the first Lifeline System in the western suburbs of Chicago, one of the subscribers signaled for emergency help.

The hospital's emergency department alerted the fire department of Downers Grove, Illinois, which dispatched a Paramedic Unit within three minutes.

Lifeline provides round-the-clock access to emergency services. Equipment consists of a base unit attached to the telephone line of the subscriber, a wireless unit, and the receiving unit at the hospital.

When users push the button on the wireless device, they activate the unit attached to the telephone which automatically dials the emergency room at Hinsdale.

A signal flashes, alerting personnel to the identity of the person who has activated the system.

The sender's personal medical records are pulled, and within minutes appropriate help—a friend, relative, or ambulance—is on the way to the caller.

With a timer which automatically signals for help if not reset after a 12-hour interval, the Lifeline System can send an SOS even if a person is unconscious.

This new system enables the elderly, handicapped or chronically ill to live independently in their own homes without threatening their peace of mind.

This service extends to the area within a 28-mile radius of the hospital. Kathy Manella Gros, clinical director of ambulatory care, says, "If medical treatment is needed, patients will be transported to the nearest hospital or family doctor. We are providing Lifeline as a community service."

To help reduce costs, the hospital is looking for civic organizations to purchase the $450 units or sponsor patients by paying their $10 monthly charges.

Illinois Conference News Notes

● Raymond Zurcher, a senior at Broadview Academy, was recently honored with the Worker of the Month Award by Harris Pine Mill in Geneva, Illinois.

The award is given to one person each month throughout the Harris of Pendleton system. Raymond has been with the industry since May 1981, and is a jig operator in the pine department. His award was based on his excellent work record, his faithfulness and honesty, his skillfulness, and his good attitude. After graduation, Raymond plans to enter pre-med at Andrews University.

● According to Jackie De Groot, Christmas at home proved to be an enriching experience for the Broadview Academy church members. Special activities were planned for this holiday weekend by Pastor Peter Neri. It began Thursday evening with members uniting to sing carols to non-Adventist friends in the community, and distributing the book How to Survive the '80s. On Christmas Eve, about 30 members and some persons who were interested in learning about the Adventist Church met in the chapel and enjoyed a vesper program of music and slides on the life of Jesus. On Christmas Sabbath Ed Green, Royce Graham and Lynn Starr celebrated their spiritual birthday by joining God's church through baptism. A potluck dinner in the cafeteria concluded the weekend.

● The missionary activities of the Beverly Hills Church resulted in 38 persons joining the church during 1982. One crusade held by Pastor Enell O. Hall resulted in 25 baptisms. Other members were added through Bible studies given by the pastor and other members. Conference Secretary Bob Everett will be at the church for a reaping crusade in March, and a Revelation Seminar is planned for the summer. Church members plan to double last year's baptisms.

● The Beverly Hills Church health council is eager to reach its community with a spiritual and physical ministry. The council was organized by Pastor Enell Hall, and its director is Cynthia Carter.

Many doctors from the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital, have made contributions to the health outreach.

● The Quincy pastor, Barry Ulloth, was recently featured in a front page article in the Pittsfield Pike Press. The story announced a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking that Elder Ulloth was asked to hold in this city where there is currently no Adventist church. More than 25 pre-registered for the plan before the publicity was out. Pastor Ulloth was also recently invited to speak to the faculty and staff of the West Pike High School on the topic of stress. He has been invited to return for further lectures.

● The Joliet Church School recently acquired a Radio Shack computer, said Wellington Mathison, teacher. According to Pastor R. W. Peterson, the computer will be used to enrich the school program in Joliet.

● Michael Fox, a senior dental student at Loma Linda University from Peoria, Illinois, was part of a team that traveled to Chiapas, Mexico, recently to provide free dental care.

● After worshiping for several years without a church building, Mt. Vernon believers will soon have a new church home. A mild winter has allowed volunteers to make excellent progress toward completion of the new church, located prominently on the West Side of this southern Illinois city.

● Canton church members delivered 126 boxes of groceries and 8 fruit baskets this past Christmas.

● Loren Fardulis, dean of boys at Broadview Academy, says there is already a noticeable difference in the room temperature in the area of the dorm where the new outside walls have been finished. He predicts a great savings in energy costs for the years ahead. Harold Oetman, principal, reports that this improvement is only one of several included in a five-year master plan, totaling $1.4 million, that the Illinois Conference constituency voted last April. The conference has already invested $150,000 in the project, and will launch a major campaign in March to raise $100,000 for the continuation of the project, said Jackie De Groot, academy correspondent.

Industries Thrive at Broadview

ILLINOIS—A new industry added recently to the Broadview Academy campus has created valuable work opportunities for students.

A feather-duster industry, managed by Jonathon Fish, employs five students who make feather-dusters out of South African ostrich feathers for both commercial and home use. The students work on a piece-rate basis and earn up to $4 an hour. This new industry provides approximately $1,000 in student labor each month at the present time. As sales increase, more students will be added to this work force.

Four other industries have been sources of student labor for several years.

The Harris Pine Mills factory is the main source of work for students 16 and older. It employs more than 50 students at present, according to Ken Carlson, manager.

The Academy Pak, managed by Ray Miller, has 30 student workers and needs 5 to 10 more. This industry involves packaging small items such as nuts and bolts. The work is piece-rate work, and many students make more than $4 per hour.

The Academy Gardens and the farm are two other sources of student labor, employing 10 to 12 students between them. Their peak work seasons are spring, summer and fall, but a few students also work during the winter months.

Broadview Academy has the philosophy that all students should work, and those who do not get assigned to one of the industries are placed in one of the many office, dorm, cafeteria or maintenance jobs available on campus.

While it is true that Christian education is costly, the unique work/study program at Broadview Academy, along with other financial aids, makes that education possible for every high-school-aged student in Illinois.

If you want to be a part of Joanne Jacobs works in the Academy Pak industry.

Indiana Conference News Notes

● The small but energetic Hartford City Church, directed by Pastor Rick Blythe, recently held a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking. Fifteen people attended and two-thirds are now non-smokers. During the week after the program, the church invited the participants to a banquet to keep in touch, according to Millie Jenkins, communication secretary.

● Response cards are pouring into the Brownsburg Church after church members sent more than 8,000 Signs Digests into the area. More than 100 requests for Bible study guides have also been received, reports Pastor Jeff Fisher. A group of church members meets on Monday mornings to pray about the names received.

● Investment opportunities blossomed in Connersville as the small church raised $679.86 in 1982. "It's exciting to see how God blessed small projects," Ada Schmalfeldt said as she reported on the event. "We are planning even greater goals for 1983."

● Baby dedications, baptisms and evangelistic outreach in the Indianapolis Irvington Church have made the 1,000 Days of Reaping come alive, said Bertie Jeffries, communication secretary.

● Betty Barnes and Jill Mattern were baptized after Larry Cansler's meetings in the Irvington Church.

● A women's prayer group, meeting regularly at the Irvington Church, is studying ways to pray more effectively. "We want to see what happens when women unite to pray," declared Bertie Jeffries, "and we invite prayer requests to be sent to our group."

● Included in activities of the 96-member Irvington Church are an active Pathfinder club, directed by Myrtle Culp, and a weekly Aerobics for Health program, conducted by Sandy Culp.

● Pastor J. W. Clarke of Kentucky offered the prayer of dedication for his granddaughter, Julie, daughter of Pastor and Mrs. Jim Clarke, of the Irvington Church, and Carly Pinkston, daughter of Patty Pinkston.

● Jim Clarke, pastor of the Irvington Church, presented a plaque to Selma Pettigrew in appreciation for her many years of dedicated service to her church, according to Bertie Jeffries, communication secretary. She was honored during a special program on November 20. As a charter member of the Irvington Church, Selma has served as head organist for 26 years. At 84 she continues to use her talents at the organ—talents, she is quick to tell you, that "come from the Lord, praise His name."

percent of their goal. The young army of workers—the school children—did a mighty job. "That's about the best we've ever done," said Carolyn Brant, church treasurer. Now 10 of the young people will be going to Timber Ridge Camp this summer on a scholarship. Many of the parents helped the children go out each night. Receiving the camp scholarship were Shannon and Stacey Dryden; Mary, Lynn, Scott, Chris and Jeff Miller; Tracey Pugh; Teddy Kasten; Katrina Cox, and Heather Gregory. "Give our youth a goal to reach and they will come through with flying colors," says Jeff Fisher, communication secretary.

● Betty Toscano was featured on a full page in the Kokomo Tribune on January 12, 1983. "Meatless eating her way of life" headlined the article. Reasons why the Toscano family are vegetarians, and seven vegetarian recipes were shared with the readers. Mrs. Toscano is the wife of the pastor in Kokomo.

● Church school children of Columbus carried Christmas cheer to the Fairington Apartments for the elderly. Christmas carols filled the air and fruit plates were distributed to the residents. Carol Hughey, the church school teacher, organized the program.

B.V.A. Students Share Christmas with Orphans

ILLINOIS—The resident hall clubs at Broadview Academy chose to share their Christmas party this year with 35 orphans from Elgin's YMCA "Indo-Chinese Project."

The B.V.A. students were divided into groups of five and each group received one or two little guests, "adopting" them for the evening.

The time was spent singing Christmas carols, enjoying skits, music, refreshments, a film and presents purchased by the students. Each child received two gifts, and their looks of joy and appreciation were sufficient rewards for the B.V.A. students.

When asked whether this program will be repeated another year, both deans, Sammy Miller and Loren Fardulis, stated an emphatic "yes." They hope to expand it to accommodate even more children.

Both deans felt that the greatest benefit gained from this experience was the joy which came to the students as a result of sharing and caring.

Nine Persons Baptized After Battle Creek Revelation Seminars

MICHIGAN—Certificates of completion bring joy to both the giver and the receiver.

On Sunday, December 12, the Battle Creek Tabernacle members, with a few members from the Berean and Urbandale churches, provided an abundance of good vegetarian food for approximately 100 guests who had attended three Revelation Seminars. One guest commented, "If I had food like that, I would be a vegetarian."

Pastors Elmer Malcolm and Wayne Olson directed the Revelation Seminars. Pastor Malcolm held two in the educational room of Nature's Pantry, the new health food store owned by the Battle Creek Tabernacle.

Pastor Olson started his seminar in the Y-Center, and after three weeks moved the entire group to the Tabernacle.

One hundred and two persons completed the seminars, 71 of whom were not Adventists. Thus far nine have been baptized.

The majority are continuing with the advanced course which consists of a chapter-by-chapter study of the Book of Revelation.

The pastors found that by running three seminars simultaneously, but at different times of the day, the students were able to maintain excellent attendance records. Those missing one session could make it up at another time. Twelve persons completed the course with perfect attendance.

The pastors are convinced that this is an excellent system of evangelism: The students become accustomed to studying their Bibles. They come to know what it teaches—not just what the evangelist said. The pastors are planning to repeat the seminars at a later date.

Seminars Held in Berrien Springs

MICHIGAN—Pastor Don Driver of the Berrien Springs Village Church recently concluded an eight-week Revelation Seminar. Meeting each Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday evening, the attendance varied between 100 and 120. One-third of the participants were not members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The hour-long lectures were held the first three weeks in the Youth Memorial building at the Berrien County Fairgrounds, then were moved to a room at the Village Church. Thirty-two non-Adventists were in attendance on the closing night of the course.

Two weeks after the completion of the seminar, the participants and their families were invited to attend a vegetarian dinner, prepared by several women in the Village Church.

Each person had an opportunity to taste a commercial vegetarian entree and one "made from scratch." Several young people served the 150 guests.

At the conclusion of the meal, Pastor Driver, assisted by his wife, Louise, presented gifts of recognition to those who had attained perfect attendance and/or had a 90 percent quiz score.

Diplomas were also presented to those who attended 16 of the 24 classes. Each family at the dinner was given the book How to Survive the '80s.

Pastor Driver estimates that perhaps 12 to 15 baptisms will result from the seminar. He stated, "Enthusiasm for the class was evident when more than half of the participants requested the advanced seminar."

Lake Region News Notes

● A few weeks ago the Morgan Park (Chicago) Church Choir presented their annual cantata, "Down From His Glory," written by John W. Peterson. The musical presentation was directed by Charles B. Davis. The soloists were Lynn Davis, soprano, and Robert McCullough, baritone. Gwendolyn Davis was the organist and Lois Furman the pianist. The audience included church members and guests from the community who were greeted during a social hour after the cantata.

● Earl Calloway, music critic for the Chicago Defender and a member of Shiloh Church in Chicago has been selected to serve as a juror for the Pulitzer Prize awards for 1983 at Columbia University in New York from March 7 to 9.

● The Bethel Church in East Chicago, Indiana, ended its Neighborhood Bible Club with a closing program that allowed church members, parents and friends to share what the children learned about the love of God. Music, Bible studies, crafts, exercises, games, and even lessons in sign language were offered to more than 20 children each Sunday afternoon, according to Magdalene McNair, communication secretary. Children who were present each week on time, brought a guest, and remembered their Bible verses, were able to earn bonus stamps. At the end of the club they were able to redeem the stamps for gifts, games and toys just in time for Christmas. The director of the program, Mary Etta Johnson, planned the 1983 club to begin in mid-February. DeAndria Duncan is the secretary of the club, and Robert Tolson is pastor.

Restaurant Owners Witness in Mishawaka

LAKE REGION—Victor and Donna Giannetto of Mishawaka, Indiana, have begun a type of witnessing program that is new to their community. In the fall of 1982 Victor and Donna opened a restaurant on Spring Street in Mishawaka, Indiana.

Vittorio's is an Italian restaurant different from other restaurants in this area. The atmosphere is conducive to family dining.

The Giannettos tell their customers that no pork is used in any of the dishes prepared in this restaurant.

According to Victor, most people feel that they cannot enjoy Italian food without beer and wine; so, he serves the nonalcoholic kind.

The specialty of the house is a dish called stuffed pizza.

Business has been a little slow since advertising is so expensive. So many people do not know that their business exists. Still, Victor and Donna continue to pray and praise the Lord for his blessings. They say that the people who have tried Vittorio's have become regular customers.

Spanish Radio Program Heard in Chicago

LAKE REGION—Added joy was brought to the Logan Square Spanish Church in Chicago on Christmas Sabbath when visitors were welcomed by the pastor, Efraim Perez. Two of the visitors attended the church service as a result of the church's radio ministry, which is directed by Robert Robinson.

Elders of the church were assigned to begin systematic Bible lessons with these two visitors.

In addition to assisting with the Spanish work at the Shalem Church in Waukegan, Robert Robinson is on the air every Monday night on Radio Cristo Evangelica (Christ Evangelical Radio) 1590, from 9:05 to 9:55.

Mr. Robinson is the only Adventist speaker among the Pentecostal and Evangelical pastors. He receives many calls at the station. Several people have begun Bible studies by correspondence; and many others are waiting to receive literature.

Mr. Robinson is convinced that this ministry is one of God's ways of reaching His other sheep who are not yet within His fold.

Michigan Conference News Notes

● A recent feature at the Boyn City Church service was a display of 19 antique Bibles of various translations. The Bibles belong to Pastor Gary Russell. In his sermon, Head Elder Gordon Moody highlighted the Bible's strength and survival through the ages.

● The Holly church members are continuing their 1,000 Days of Reaping with baptisms and a series of meetings to be held by Elder Robert Collar. Recently baptized were Tina Snowden, Sandy and Celeste Collins, and Anne Marie White.

He also held a Week of Prayer for nurses in the sanitarium in Manila. Church members Norberto Portugal and Verne Erickson, both medical doctors, conducted a health-screening program there.

● Support systems are important in any program. Edith Van Camp, Anna Dean, Betsey

Krantz, Irene Epp, and Luvamay Dovich provided refreshments each Saturday night during the Holly Ingathering solicitation. According to Elder Earl Zager, their willing service added greatly to the success and victory of the project.

● Burlington members recently were shown slides by Dr. Larry Von Kuster of Urbandale, who had just returned from a trip to Thailand. He went there recently as a volunteer with other Adventist doctors, nurses and welfare teams to aide refugees with food, clothing and medical attention.

● The Boyne City Community Services Center recently received a Certificate of Merit from the local Department of Social Services for its "seventh consecutive year of outstanding volunteer service to the people of Charlevoix County." Irene Brannon is the director of the center.

● CORRECTION: In the February 1, 1983, issue of the Lake Union Herald, page 5, under "Michigan Conference News Notes," Sally Denis is listed as having been baptized. Her correct name is Sally Davis.

Wisconsin Conference News Notes

● A former skyscraper-construction worker, Dan Seymour of Chicago, was guest speaker in the Clearwater Lake Church, Sabbath, January 15. He said he became acquainted with Christ and became converted when he studied the Bible-based health principles of the Adventist Church five years ago. He is a Bible worker now. Don Upson, director of the Wisconsin Conference trust, stewardship, and communication departments, spoke on "Managing Your Life" at the Clearwater Lake Church on Sabbath, January 29, 1983.

● In a special Christmas Day baptism, Michell Laursen and Tracie Wolcott became members of the Clear Lake Church. Pastor Brad Brookins officiated at the service.

● The cradle roll division of the Clear Lake Church participated in a Christmas afternoon program held at the church, according to Beth Nelson, communication secretary. Dressed as wise men and shepherds, the children sang "Here We Come to Bethlehem."

● Cesar Pusan, Wisconsin Conference pastor and Spanish coordinator, reports that 19 persons joined the Milwaukee

Spanish Church on January 15. Many others are studying the Bible to be baptized soon in this church.

● Wausau church members Lee Ann Nyberg, Alexis Nyberg, Paula Sachse, and Barb Thorson have been bringing music to area nursing homes and the hospice unit of the Wausau Hospital since last summer. The hospice unit cares for terminal cancer patients. Le Ann wanted to do something in personal ministries and decided to take music to the hospice residents. The group performs week nights or week days, according to Sally Westman, communication secretary.

● The Pathfinders of the Wausau Church presented a Christmas program to the residents of Mount View Manor Nursing Home in December. The program included Christmas songs led by Bob Sachse, readings on Christmas, and poems. Ellen Miller, Pathfinder leader, gave a short sermonette based on John 3:16. Gordon Sodke sang some German songs to the residents. A banner with John 3:16 written on it was presented to the nursing home residents by the Pathfinders in the hope that they will hang it in their chapel as a reminder of how much Christ loved us. Refreshments were served by Paula Sachse to the residents, according to Sally Westman, communication secretary.

● The Wausau Church School students presented a Christmas play on Friday evening, December 17, 1982, at the church. The play was about the birth of Jesus. The script, selection of scenes, and acting parts were worked on by the students with the help of Richard Bauer, Wausau school teacher, and Lisa Nielsen, church organist who played for the program.

● Wausau Church members have started a Sunshine Band. On the Sabbath afternoons before Christmas, members of the band brought sunshine to area nursing homes by singing. Linda Garris contacts the nursing homes, Peggy Beranek chooses and leads the songs, and Fran Siemers is the master of ceremonies. The band is accompanied by Linda Sherlock or Peggy Beranek. Five nursing homes were visited before Christmas. The sunshine band will be visiting nursing homes every month now, according to Sally Westman, communication secretary.

Departmental Changes Voted in Wisconsin

WISCONSIN—A recent conference committee has voted several adjustments in the Wisconsin Conference departmental staff.

Wesley Jaster, who has served the Wisconsin Conference for nearly 10 years, has accepted a call to the Oregon Conference, effective March 1.

Most recently, Elder Jaster has served as conference secretary, as well as ministerial, stewardship and communication director.

The conference committee has asked Don Upson, who has been serving as trust department director, to also direct the stewardship and communication departments.

Conference Treasurer Art Nelson has been asked to serve as secretary-treasurer.

Further adjustments in responsibility may be made when a departmental director is employed to replace Elder Jaster, and Elder Ernie Wheeler, who moved to the Dakota Conference several months ago.

"Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Philippians 4:8

OUTSIDE LAKE UNION

New Health Name Needed: The North American Division is searching for a name that would identify the health and family seminars and programs conducted by Adventist churches and institutions in North America. The name must be 1) representative of the positive physical, mental, and spiritual health fostered by Adventists, 2) upbeat and highly motivational, 3) appealing to community members under the age of 30, 4) short (2 to 3 syllables), possibly two words that can be written together. You are invited to send as many suggestions as you may have on 3-x-5 cards (one suggestion per card) with your name and address on the back to: Adventist Health Network, 6830 Laurel Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20012. Entries must be received no later than April 30, 1983. Cash will be paid for the four best names selected.

Adventist Student Personnel Association The sixth annual conference will be held March 16 to 20 at Southwestern Adventist College in Keene, Texas. Keynote speaker will be Dr. Helen Evans Thompson, director of alumni of Walla Walla College. Other speakers include Dr. Tom Erney from the University of Florida and Dr. David Drum from the University of Texas. Residence hall deans, counselors, student affairs officers, campus chaplains, health center and other student personnel workers and students interested in these fields are invited to attend the conference. For more information contact Don Murray, A.S.P.A., Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

Help Needed From Adventist Geologists: Names of Adventists who hold positions of responsibility in the fields of petroleum, mining, or engineering/construction are needed by the Geology Department at Loma Linda University. This new department wishes to make contact with people who might help geology students find geological summer internships. Potential summer employees include junior and senior undergraduates and first and second year master's students. If you can assist, write to the Department of Geology, Loma Linda University, La Sierra Campus, Riverside, CA 92515, or call 714-785-2508.

A Soul-Winning Kit, designed to help Seventh-day Adventists introduce friends and neighbors to personal Bible study, is available without charge from the Voice of Prophecy. The kit may be ordered by writing the Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles, CA 90053, or by using the postpaid card attached to the new Bible Year Card.

Living Light, a new series of 26 youth Bible study guides, is now available from the Voice of Prophecy. Persons may enroll in the series without charge. Each guide presents one or more episodes from the story of Jesus, beginning with His birth and continuing to His second coming. Illustrations were prepared especially for the series. Youth may enroll in the Living Light series by writing: Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles, CA 90053. Lists of names cannot be accepted, each person should send his own request.

... the article by Professor Carl Coffman [Lake Union Herald, January 18, 1983] ... is a very fine article and we wish to share it with some others. ... we received a phone call re: The Herald and our reading of it, a survey call, and I was asked about this same article. ... at the moment I didn't recall it. It just so happens that the Herald came that very day and I had had no opportunity to [read it yet]. I must say, this type of article is very worthwhile and much appreciated.

Having served in the world field, my wife and I are acutely aware of the financial straits in which our brothers elsewhere have been operating for years. Thanks for being the first of our union papers to switch to newsprint. If the rest of the N.A.D. followed your example, perhaps the rest of the world field would be able to enjoy the wealth of knowledge and benefits we have in spiritual, agricultural, health and educational matters.

God With Us

Charles D. Joseph
President
Lake Region Conference

Economics, fear, anxiety and budgets seem to be the hallmark of the spirit of our churches today.

Anxiety pulses through our personal, family and church lives. The recession and inflation seem to occupy much of our waking moments. On top of that, we are told that nuclear blackmail is threatening us 24 hours of the day. The talk of energy independence is high on the agenda.

On top of that, there's talk of the "White Lie," the great investment loss, and the evangelical movement. One member said that some of us are so hyper we could light up and heat our homes by simply using our fears as current.

This scene reminds me of the situation of King Ahaz, of whom the Bible says at one point "shook as the trees of the forest shake before the wind." Ahaz was so afraid of the King of Assyria that he gave up all of his dependence on God and turned outside for answers.

But before he did it, he consulted Isaiah, whose counsel was for him just to slow down; the Lord would give him a sign. A young woman would conceive and bear a son, and his name would be called Immanuel, "God with us." Ahaz didn't trust the Word and turned to the King of Assyria with gifts. He received favors in return but the end of it all was that he lost his life.

There is no doubt that we are faced with serious economic times and church problems. Stories of complete devastation are coming from the mouths of some of our close brothers and sisters. Conference budgets are being strained and broken. Church schools are crying for more. All of this would suggest pending doom—but God is with us.

The demand of today is not more from the General Conference; the impact is felt there also. More and more as we struggle to find answers, the subject of the "unfaithful" continues to rise to the surface. I remain convinced that a response of complete commitment to stewardship in these trying times would result in more than enough to meet the crisis of today.

The answers are not found outside but inside—inside your heart, mind and serving ability. We have only to turn to the Lord for the answer to our situation. We cannot now think of ways to find deliverance outside His care. He will deliver just as he delivered the children of Israel from the seemingly invincible power of Pharaoh.

The counsel of Isaiah remains true: Calm down, the Lord himself will give us a sign—Immanuel—that means "God with us." It will be by resting and trusting in God's promises that we will be saved.

Adelpian Brass Ensemble Tours Orient—Members of Michigan's Adelpian Academy Brass Ensemble recently returned from a 10-day tour of the Philippines and Hawaii, according to Cindy Tutsch, communication secretary. The musicians, directed by Russ Durham, performed 21 concerts for Adventist churches and schools, Clark Air Force Base, various college and high school groups, and numerous government officials. A highlight of the tour was the performance for President Marcos and the First Lady, an event which was given considerable coverage in Manila newspapers. The concert tour was arranged by Dr. Norberto Portugal, an Adventist physician and a friend of President Marcos. The Philippine government financed much of the trip; the balance came from fund-raising efforts. Student Mark Guild said, "I was especially impressed with the hospitality and happiness that was very evident among the Filipinos." Above, Philippine President Marcos greets members of Adelpian Academy's Brass Ensemble, Principal Jack Stiles, and Dr. Portugal, left.
