

School Paper Awards Given by Lake Union Herald

Rhoda Wills, sponsor, and Rob Jepson, editor of the Andrews Academy Sanjo.

Adelphian Academy Shiawassian Editor Alicia Worley and Roy Boehm, sponsor.

LAKE UNION—Adelphian Academy and Andrews Academy both received from the Lake Union Herald the All-Union Award of Excellence for their 1982-1983 school papers.

The presentations were made by the Herald editorial staff at year-end awards chapel services.

"The Shiawassian" of Adelphian Academy was cited by the judges for "its improvement over last year and its clean, neat layout."

The paper was edited by Alicia Worley, a senior, and Roy Boehm, vice principal, was the sponsor.

The Andrews Academy's "Sanjo" received high marks for "the best coverage of school events and for overall excellent writing," according to the judges.

Rob Jepson, a senior, was the paper's editor, and Rhoda Wills was the faculty sponsor.

Each of the academies received an ebony plaque for permanent display and the editors were given personalized paper weights.

Every Lake Union academy was given the opportunity of entering their school paper in the Annual Award of Excellence judging sponsored by the Lake Union Herald.

The Award of Distinction was given to three papers: Broadview Academy's "Exponent," Cedar Lake Academy's "Cedar Log," and Wisconsin Academy's "Wisconsinian."

An Award of Merit went to Indiana Academy's "The Echo." Every academy that entered their paper in the judging received an award.

Judging was done by the Lake Union Herald staff; Dr. Kermit Netteburg of Andrews University, and John Gillette, publisher-editor of the Journal Era, Berrien Springs' weekly newspaper.

"The papers generally showed improvement this year," stated Herald Editor Jere Wallack. "It is our hope that the prestige of these awards will encourage the academy paper staffs to continually strive toward excellence."

Two hundred chapels such as these are needed in Zambia.

Zambia Needs Children's Chapels

ZAMBIA, AFRICA—The Sabbath School membership in Zambia is more than 100,000, and the junior and primary divisions' membership is 54,143.

What is the greatest need in Zambia today? Children's chapels—many of them.

In 1980, when the Kings Heralds conducted a meeting at the Libala Church in Lusaka, there were 7,000 in attendance. The weather was cold, and children were scattered everywhere because there was no place for them. At another meeting, during the hot season, the children had to be in the sun because of insufficient shelter.

Led by the union youth director, Adventist youth from this same church planned a series in 1981. The young people did the preaching and organized into prayer and visiting bands. On Sabbath morning a 13-year-old boy, Benjamin Mozoka, preached the sermon entitled "Be Ready, Get Ready to Meet your God." He read from the Bible and explained Bible verses in a wonderful way. Everyone was amazed.

Though the boy did not make a formal appeal, eight people came to the union youth director and asked to join the baptismal class. The father of this boy had not been attending church, but on this particular day he was invited by his son, and now he attends regularly.

Many such efforts have been conducted by the youth. As of September 1981, 2,321 persons have joined the church; 911 of these people have been won for Christ by the voices of children and youth.

The youth and children in Africa have been waiting a long time for their own Sabbath School.

Chapels are badly needed. The roofs, window frames, and door frames will be provided by the 13th Sabbath Offering of June 25, 1983. Bricks will be made by the local church members, and they will contribute all the labor. The funds will be stretched to their limit to make possible the building of 200 children's chapels.

Zambia invites you today to plan a sacrificial response to the need for children's chapels when the 13th Sabbath Offering is received this quarter.

Will You Help Mary?

LAKE UNION—Have you ever been hungry, sick, and hopeless all at the same time?

Mary isn't her real name, but this is Mary's life.

Mary is a chronically ill 2-year-old little girl who is one of seven children. She has no father, and her mother is functionally illiterate.

No one in her family is employed, and they survive on welfare and food stamps in a small two-bedroom apartment. Mary's mother has little hope that things will improve.

Mary can't understand why she is hungry, sick, and the victim of hopelessness.

One of the four Better Living Centers operated by Lake Union conferences is helping Mary and her family. Perhaps a little extra food, love, counsel, and a sharing of Christ can give Mary and her family a bit of hope.

On June 11, 1983, the annual Inner City Offering will be taken in all Adventist churches. Please be generous so that help can be offered to many like Mary in the inner city.

Lafayette Member Honored

INDIANA—Katherine Gertzen, a deaconess in the Lafayette Church, was among seven Lafayette women honored at the 10th annual Salute to Women Awards Banquet held April 22, 1983. This event is sponsored by six area women's clubs. Although retired, Mrs. Gertzen helps serve meals at the retirement center where she lives. She is often transporting neighbors to their doctors and checks on their medicine.

There are many "Marys" in the inner city.

New Hymnal Ready in 1985

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Ronald Graybill, undersecretary of the Ellen G. White Estates, is conducting research that will direct the New Church Hymnal Committee in selecting hymns to be included in the new church hymnal.

In addition, a poll was taken of all Adventist pastors in North America to determine which hymns are being used in the present Church Hymnal. The results of the poll showed that nearly half of the present hymns must be replaced.

The New Church Hymnal Committee consists of 18 members; Wayne Hooper is the executive secretary.

A group of 80 musicians, pastors, and lay people serve as an advisory group to the New Church Hymnal Committee.

The committee has had two working sessions, and it will meet again in September to establish a list of hymns to be included in the new hymnal. More than 3,000 songs are under examination.

The new church hymnal will contain 24 standard songs such as "How Great Thou Art" and "Amazing Grace," and 12 black spirituals.

The new hymnals will be distributed at the 1985 General Conference Session in New Orleans.

Ripples Encircle Others

Shirley Smith, a Bible instructor at the Gary Mizpah Church in Gary, Indiana, was featured in the first quarter 1983 NO ONE BUT YOU program entitled "Ripples."

NO ONE
YOU

Shirley trains laymen to use two Bible course methods — The Real Truth and The Bible Says.

Laymen involved in helping with The Real Truth course send cards offering free Bible study guides to residents in a section of Gary. When cards are returned requesting the studies, one of eight people assigned to follow up these cards hand delivers the first Bible lessons. Each succeeding week he returns to the student's home to pick up the completed lessons and to leave the next set.

Using a second method, laymen trained by Shirley in her Worth of a Soul seminar go into homes to give weekly Bible studies on a one-to-one basis with The Bible Says course as a guide.

As students from either method near the end of their series of studies, they are invited to a graduation ceremony. The graduation is held during the regular Sabbath worship service and is followed by a fellowship dinner.

At a May 21 graduation, 30 Bible students came to the church to receive their diplomas. Three of those individuals joined the church that day, and another graduate, who owns a car wash, made his decision to close his business on Sabbaths.

At an April 23 graduation, 15 Bible students graduated, and 6 of those joined the church.

Students from The Worth of a Soul witnessing class are currently giving 30 more Bible studies.

One never knows where the ripples he makes on life's sea will go ashore. Elaine Haddock's ripples ended up in Seattle, Washington.

Elaine is a panel member of the "On Line" radio program sponsored by a group of laymen from the Battle Creek Tabernacle in Battle Creek, Michigan.

An "On Line" listener shared her name and telephone number with Bill, an unemployed 18-year-old who lives in Seattle.

When Bill later found himself stranded by a so-called friend in Battle Creek after hitchhiking from Seattle, Bill found himself without a place to stay having nothing in his pockets except Elaine's telephone number.

Bill called her and explained his plight. "I need help," he said. "I need a place to pitch my tent."

Having two teenage daughters, Elaine was apprehensive about in-adding machine.

"The unit gives people who are hearing impaired the ability to communicate over the telephone," says Ray Campbell, telecommunications supervisor. "With the T.D.D. we can talk to anyone who has a similar unit."

"The emergency department actively seeks ways to better address the needs of the community," says Fred Harder, coordinator of emergency services.

"The T.D.D. is one way of maintaining contact with a segment of the community that has previously had difficulty communicating directly with the hospital."

Hinsdale Installs New Service for Deaf

HINSDALE, Ill.—The deaf, or hearing impaired, can "talk" on the telephone to the emergency room at Hinsdale Hospital by calling a special direct line and number connected to a recently installed telephone for the deaf and dumb (T.D.D.).

A T.D.D. consists of a typewriter keyboard and a cradle for the receiver of the telephone. Incoming and outgoing messages can be viewed on a digital readout or recorded on a tape much like an

Medical Staff President

HINSDALE, Ill.—DeWayne F. Butcher, M. D., officially assumed responsibilities as president of the Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital Medical Staff, Hinsdale, Illinois, on January 1, 1983.

Butcher has been affiliated with the hospital since 1972, and is a 1968 graduate of Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, California. He completed an internship at Hinsdale Hospital in August 1969 and then served as Aviation Medical Officer and Aviation Battalion Surgeon in Viet Nam until August 1970. He received the Bronze Star Medal, the Air Medal, and the Army Commendation Medal during that time. He was board certified in 1974 and recertified in 1980. Currently he holds a teaching position in family medicine at the Chicago Medical School.

visiting an unknown young man to her home, yet she told him to come. Bill arrived complete with guitar, backpack, beard, and an aroma that convinced her that he'd been on the road for quite a while.

"After a good shower and a home-cooked meal, he looked pretty good," said Elaine. He stayed for three days, and confided in Elaine that he had dropped out of college and was smoking marijuana now and then. Elaine provided an understanding ear, urged him to return to college, and gave him some money to help him get back to Seattle.

That was three years ago, and Bill still keeps in touch with Elaine. Now 21, he has a full-time job, supports himself, and is attending college. Recently he sent Elaine an eagle carved out of ivory as a gift. He has read Steps to Christ and Elaine has sent him Desire of Ages. He is planning a vacation this summer and hopes to visit Elaine and her family.

It's exciting to see what God can do with the ripples of our lives, isn't it?

Volunteers Honored

HINSDALE, Ill.—A total of 231 volunteers received awards February 10 for 53,128 hours of service to Hinsdale Hospital during 1982.

Volunteers give the "little extras" to the patients at Hinsdale. They run the gift shop, the book and picture cart, sew animal pillows for the pediatric patients, and provide cheerful smiles.

Matie Baxter of Downers Grove, Illinois, received a special award for giving a grand total of 9,500 hours of time as a volunteer during 16 years of work at the hospital.

"I have worked all over the hospital," says Mrs. Baxter, "admitting, intensive care, the mail room; now I am working in central service doing cost accounting."

According to Mrs. Baxter, she enjoys volunteering because she is able to work with "so many nice people."

She says it gives her a good feeling to be able to help the patients who come into the hospital.

A surgical procedure is being performed at Bolingbrook Medical Center.

Bolingbrook Celebrates Anniversary

BOLINGBROOK, Ill.—Since February 1981, the Bolingbrook Medical Center has treated 27,971 patients in the Romeoville/Bolingbrook area. Outpatient visits more than doubled in 1982, and plans are in progress for improving service to the community.

A significant addition at B.M.C. during 1982 was the preadmission testing service. This service allows patients to have the preliminary lab work that is required for hospital entry or day surgery, according to Fred Harder, coordinator of emergency medical services.

Future plans include a major health and fitness fair in the fall. "B.M.C. wants to work with the Chamber of Commerce, the park district, and the community to organize the fair," says Mr. Harder.

Meetings are also taking place with the Illinois Health Planning Facilities for a hospital in the area.

The medical center serves residents of Lemont, Woodridge, Lisle, Darien, Romeoville, Lockport, Bolingbrook and other nearby towns.

Home Economics Department Offers Workshops

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—The Andrews University home economics department is sponsoring three workshops this summer, according to Fonda Chaffee, department chairman.

The workshops are: Vegetarian Cuisine Instructor's Workshop, June 19 to 23; the 18th Annual Food Service Workshop, July 6 to 27; Ellen G. White and Nutrition Today, July 25 to 29.

Vegetarian Cuisine Instructor's Workshop is designed for individuals interested in teaching others healthful cookery in home-based cooking classes and community cooking schools.

Taught by Viola Lutz, and Pat Mutch, both faculty members at Andrews, the workshop will include the principles of healthful vegetarian cookery, how to demonstrate recipes and teach others healthful cookery, and how to witness through cooking classes.

The Food Service Workshop, directed by Dr. Chaffee, is designed to provide educational opportunities for those individuals who are now employed or want to obtain training in order to become supervisors in food systems of hospitals, extended care facilities, academies, colleges, school lunch programs or other food-related facilities.

The program includes principles of food preparation, purchasing and service. These principles will be taught by lecture, demonstration, and laboratory experience. Classes in nutrition, modified diets, menu planning, cost control and accounting, management, communication, sanitation, safety, and layout and equipment are included. Seminars, films and field trips are also a part of the program.

Ellen G. White and Nutrition Today is to be directed by Dr. Mutch and Ronald Graybill, associate secretary of the Ellen G. White Estate. This workshop has been designed for all persons interested in applying Ellen White's counsels on diet and foods to today's nutritional choices.

The workshop provides an opportunity to explore in-depth the nutrition counsels of Ellen G. White as they relate to history, and to research knowledge today.

The workshop will include time in the White Research Center and the Heritage Room of the library where manuscripts and historical documents are kept.

For more information on the Vegetarian and White workshops, contact Andrews' Lifelong Learning Center at 616-471-3286. For information on the Food Service Workshop, contact the home economics department at 616-471-3370.

A scene from the film "The Death and Resurrection of Jesus."

Film Portrays Death of Christ

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—A unique 71-minute film entitled "The Death and Resurrection of Jesus" is available for use by churches in the United States from the Teaching Materials Center at Andrews University.

This unique audio-visual evangelism tool is a combination of four films, all part of the New Media Bible.

"The Death and Resurrection of Jesus" is a word-for-word presentation of Luke 19:29 to 24:52, showing Jesus' entry into Jerusalem, the last supper, crucifixion, resurrection and ascension.

The film reflects years of careful research in which every artifact, costume and detail of Bible life was given consideration. Even the colors of the clothes are what would have been seen in Palestine 2,000 years ago. Seven synagogues where Jesus taught were rebuilt for the film.

"The Death and Resurrection of Jesus" will be available on an offering basis according to Richard K. Powell, director of the Teaching Materials Center.

Should churches prefer, they may pay a minimum donation instead of the offering.

This program is being co-sponsored by The Biblical Media Foundation, an organization dedicated to raising funds for groups needing authentic biblical media.

"Fifty percent of the offering will be retained by Andrews in a designated fund to purchase the New Media Bible, first locally, then worldwide," said Dr. Powell. Currently requests have been received from union missions in the North Philippines, South China and East Indonesia.

"This film is an excellent portrayal of the crucifixion and the events surrounding it," says Dr. Powell. I would highly recommend it for use at prayer meetings, Friday evening vespers, or during the Sabbath services."

Anyone interested in reserving this new film or wanting more information should contact Dr. Powell by writing to the Teaching Materials Center, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104, or by calling 616-471-3272.

10 Baptized at Broadview

ILLINOIS—On Sabbath morning, March 12, 10 young people were baptized at Broadview Academy by R. Peter Neri, pastor. Parents, teachers, students and friends rejoiced in this celebration, which included a sermonette by the pastor, a special selection by the Broadview Academy Choir, an introduction of the candidates by their spiritual guardians, and a commitment service for those who desired baptism in the future. Seven people indicated their desire for baptism at a later time. Broadview Academy Principal Harold Oetman said: "It is an occasion such as this that reveals how much Christian education pays. The Broadview Academy staff is dedicated to the renewal, restoration and redemption of their students, for we believe that every teacher is indeed a soul winner." Shown with Pastor Neri, right, are the new church members at Broadview: Gloria Slaton, left, Ginger Smiley, Mike Heffner, Terry Monson, Beth Neri, Tammy Monson, Greg Topel, and Dan Popov. Michael Monson was not available for the photo. Photo by Jon Wright.

Andrews University News Notes

● Andrews University has presented two members of its teaching staff with the annual Faculty Awards for Teaching Excellence. Neville Clouten, professor and chairman of the architecture department, and Carl Coffman, professor and chairman of the religion department, received the prestigious awards. Dr. Clouten joined the Andrews faculty in 1980. He received his doctorate at Edinburgh University in Scotland in 1968. Elder Coffman has taught at Andrews since 1975. Prior to that time he taught religion at Pacific Union College for a total of 15 years.

● The Andrews Board of Trustees has appointed Kent Bermingham of Flint, Michigan, as an advisory member of the board. Mr. Birmingham will also serve as chairman of the Trustee Development Committee for Andrews University. This committee advises the trustees on matters relating to university support and campus development. Mr. Birmingham is president of Amfuels Corp. in Flint. The trustees also appointed John F. Stout, currently professor of biology, as the chairman of the biology department. Theodore R. Hatcher, currently acting chairman of the mathematics department, was named chairman.

● Jean Butler, assistant professor of nursing at Andrews, has recently been named an Outstanding Young Woman of America. This is a national award program which honors the accomplishments of America's women between the ages of 21 to 36. Women are selected on the merits of their contributions to their various professions and their involvement in community activities. Mrs. Butler has a master's degree in community health nursing from Loma Linda University. She is a regular volunteer with the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Nurses' Well Baby Clinic and also manages well child care for several children through Andrews' Health Maintenance Center.

Illinois Conference News Notes

● Friends of Northern Illinois young people packed the Broadview Academy chapel on Sabbath afternoon, April 2, to hear the more than 200-voice choir made up of students in grades 7 to 12. The choir was directed by Larry Otto from Southern Adventist College. According to Margaret Best, assistant superintendent of schools, participating schools were: Aurora, Beverly Hills, Hinsdale, Joliet, Lake Shore, North Shore, Ottawa, Rockford, South Suburban, West Suburban.

● Robert Everett, conference secretary, reports 292 baptisms for the first four months of 1983 in the Illinois Conference. This figure compares to 245 for the same period in 1982 and 209 for 1981. A total of 113 people were baptized in April. Forty-four pastors have reported baptisms so far this year.

● For the first quarter of 1983 there was a gain in the Illinois Conference of 14 baptisms over the same record-breaking quarter in 1982. There have been a total of 183 baptisms so far this year, and a total of 37 churches reported baptisms for the period.

● Lisa Renee Moore was baptized March 19, in the Mattoon Church by Elder Kenneth Harding. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moore who are also members of the Mattoon Church. Prior to her baptism, Elder Harding studied the doctrines of the church with her, and she completed the Faith for Today

Bible course for juniors.

● Stanley Cottrell, pastor of the North Shore Church, presented a narrated slide program for the Northbrook and Des Plaines churches on April 15 and 16. The program dealt with the remnant church, the Spirit of Prophecy, and the pioneers of the Adventist Church. According to Alina Althans, communication secretary, the program was deeply appreciated by Pastor Doug Higgins and his congregations.

● In April the Pathfinder Chiefs of Downers Grove Church invited elder members of the congregation to a supper which was prepared by the young people. Two hours of fun and fellowship followed.

Cosmic Conflict Is Given to Village Board

ILLINOIS—The head elder of the Broadview Church, C. E. Lawrence, came up with a unique way to share copies of Cosmic Conflict recently.

"The Broadview Village Board has been kind enough to grant us Ingathering permits each year. So I felt impressed to go to a board meeting and thank them personally," he reported.

"I asked the board president for permission to speak at the close of the meeting. I told them of my 50 years of residence in the community and then expressed gratitude on the part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church for their services and kindness to us."

Mr. Lawrence then gave each board member a copy of Cosmic Conflict and pointed out a flyer the local church is enclosing in each copy they distribute.

The sheet lists the various community services provided by the Broadview Church, including a food pantry, Five-Day Plans to Stop Smoking, and cooking schools.

"Each board member personally thanked me and shook my hand," says Mr. Lawrence. "I think it pays to stay on good terms with our elected officials and to share our faith with them."

Little Grassy Offers Fun-Filled Summer

ILLINOIS—The most exciting and fun-filled summer ever is planned for you this year at Little Grassy Lake Adventist Camp. New campfire stories, new songs, canoeing, swimming, waterskiing, and lots of good food in the remodeled dining hall are just a few of the features. For an application and further information write today to Little Grassy Lake Adventist Camp, 3721 Prairie Avenue, Brookfield, IL 60513 or call 309-485-1200.

Quincy Churches Share Aid to Needy

ILLINOIS—Joyce Robertson, chairman of the First Union Congregational Church of Quincy, Illinois, presented checks totaling $800, and four boxes of food, to the Seventh-day Adventist Community center on February 16. The money, to be used for the unemployed of the city, was accepted by Elsie Wiemerslage, director.

Dean Thompson, lay activities director, organized a committee to plan the distribution and the buying of the food supplies. The committee also planned to seek the help of various agencies to locate these persons.

The Missions Committee of the Congregational Church raised the money by sponsoring a "Cash and Cans" ingathering on February 13, calling the drive "Sharing From the Heart."

The boxes of food that had been collected were brought to the sanctuary for presentation by the sixth-graders of the church.

Indiana Conference News Notes

● Elder and Mrs. William Hawkes of the Fort Wayne Church are encouraging their members to have regular fellowship dinners on Sabbath and to have vesper services at least twice a month. One evening Mr. and Mrs. Milton Langfield showed slides of their vacations with background music; Virginia Langfield narrated. Another evening Mark Gephart, Ken Ursin and Valarie Roberts showed slides of their recent Maranatha trip, reported Paul Merrills, communication secretary.

● The Fort Wayne Church Home and School leader, Casey Chovan, announced an ice cream social and auction for Saturday night, March 19. According to Paul Merrills, communication secretary, the event proved to be a lot of fun, and the auctioneers, Roy Ursin and Doug Stout, helped raise $600 for the Home and School fund.

● A Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking was held at the Bloomington, Indiana, Hospital in April. Directing the program was Terrell W. Zollinger, an associate professor of environmental protection at Indiana University, and head elder of the Bloomington Church. "We call it a Smoking Withdrawal Clinic," Elder George Terrian said. "It is a semi-annual event at the hospital, and each participant is given the outreach edition of the Adventist Review."

● Revelation Seminars continue to assist in the soul-winning program of the 1,000 Days of Reaping. Elder William Hawkes is conducting a seminar in the Rockford Church; Elder Larry Cansler is presenting a seminar in Richmond, assisted by William Kennedy, the Richmond Church pastor; Elder Robert A. Thompson, Indiana Conference president, is conducting a seminar in Columbus with Ralph Heiner, Columbus Church pastor, and Pastor Chico Rivera is having a seminar in Muncie, according to Ruth Jones, communication secretary.

● Fourteen Indianapolis Chapel West members graduated from a cardio-pulmonary resuscitation class taught by Dave Doekele who is a certified instructor. The class was taught in April to prepare the members for community service. According to Esther Pacamalan, communication secretary, the graduates are: Don Allen, Ellen Collins, Mabel Dilbeck, Mike Fisher, Christine Gambrel, David Haney, Deatra Moss, Esterlita Pacamalan, David Parrotta, Tammy and Terri Pearson, Rex Pearson, Mike Childress and Gus Wasson.

● Forty-nine elementary students of the Indianapolis Junior Academy toured the Governor's Mansion in April. The visit was arranged by Carol Bulen. The students were greeted by the governor's wife, Josie Orr, who invited the students to picnic on the grounds of the mansion.

● Rededication services were held in the Boggestown Church on Sabbath, May 21. Jerry Lastine, communication director of the Indiana Conference, was the speaker. A fellowship meal and a prayer and praise service, combining Adventist and Baptist musicians, concluded the service. James Ashley, a retired real estate agent and local church elder, spoke of the 1887 church building and then told of how the church had spent more than $10,000 in the past three years to make the church presentable to God for worship. The church is rented by the Boggestown Baptist Church on Sundays.

Frankfort Spiritual Renewal

INDIANA—An April spiritual renewal weekend by the Frankfort Church at Timber Ridge Camp was highlighted by a baptism in the lake. Pastor Jeff Fisher baptized Robert Pugh and Katrina Cox who joined the Frankfort Church. The Spencer Church was invited to the Sabbath worship service and fellowship meal. George Terrian, pastor of the Spencer Church, spoke to the combined group.

Lake Region Conference News Notes

● According to an article in Jet magazine, Clifton Davis, whose acting talents brought him fame as a star of television, movies and Broadway productions, brought his preaching talents to Chicago's Shiloh Church for the 75th anniversary of the church. Mr. Davis has quit the entertainment field and is now a ministerial student at Oakwood College.

● Ronald Johnson, assistant principal at Clay High School and local elder of the Berean Church in South Bend, Indiana, was guest speaker in the Greater St. John Missionary Baptist Church for the Patriotic Tea held before Women's Day.

● Century Center was the scene for the Michiana Youth Federation Choral Festival held on April 10 at the Berean Church, South Bend, Indiana. Featured performers were Stanleigh Jones, organist; a string ensemble and the Agape Singers from Andrews University, and choirs from South Bend and Gary. Sylvia Ham Ying directed a mass choir composed of all the participants. A freewill offering was taken for the federation scholarship fund, according to Candida Henry, communication secretary.

● The Building Fund Committee and Douglas Taylor, chairman, sponsored a benefit concert to raise funds for a tabernacle for the Beacon of Joy Church in Chicago. The program was held in the Straford Memorial Church in Chicago, and the coordinator was Nolette Leader. Just a Portion, a singing group of 23 college and high school youths from Denver, Colorado, were featured. The manager for the group, Terri A. Williams, is a former member of the Beacon of Joy Church. She is the daughter of Marceline and Jose Leon who are members of Beacon. Soloists included Tonya Graham, Matthew Paris, Rachel Paris, Regina Wilkinson, Gwen Walker, Adrienne Wyatt, and Deborah Gellineau, reported Clora Warren, communication secretary.

● Jerry Lee, pastor of the Capitol City Church in Indianapolis, was the Adventist Youth Society's keynote speaker for the beginning of the Week of Prayer. Steven Richardson, a student from the Andrews University Theological Seminary, was the guest speaker for the remaining nights of the week.

● Because many local people are hungry and have no way of getting a hot meal, several churches in the Pontiac, Michigan, area have decided to help out. One of these churches is the Southside Church, whose pastor is Royce Mentor.

● The Berean Church in South Bend, Indiana, sponsored a

"2-5-4 Smoke-No-More" program. This seven-week program to stop smoking was offered to the public at no charge.

● Pathfinders of the Eastside Church, Indianapolis, led by Charles R. Ewing, participated in a two-day cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (C.P.R.) class. The class was directed by Joyce Ridgeway, a C.P.R. instructor. The adults from the church were also invited to participate. All students completing the class were presented with certificates by Mrs. Ridgeway before a Sabbath worship service. Mrs. Ridgeway was given a corsage made by Cornelia Edwards, and a gift from the church was presented to her by Phillip Prime.

● A Revelation Seminar is being held in Marion, Indiana, at the Marion Urban League building. Anthony T. Lewis, pastor of the Ephesus Church in Marion, is the instructor. A special seminar Bible, with paging corresponding to study materials, is helpful to students who have had little experience in finding texts in the Bible. Each student is invited to participate in the discussion. According to James Buford, communication secretary, the seminar is a community services project, which is being done in cooperation with the It Is Written television broadcast.

Shiloh Church Baptizes Nine

LAKE REGION—This group represents members recently baptized in the Shiloh Church in Chicago. Calvin Center Adventist Youth Encourage Music Appreciation

LAKE REGION—Ruby Minisee, the Adventist Youth leader of the Calvin Center Church in Cassopolis, Michigan, and her assistant, Romona Minisee, have planned music appreciation programs throughout the year for their church.

During February the Four Hands Concert was presented. It featured the keyboard artistry of Clarence Thomas III and Joel Ingram of Andrews University.

In March, David Williams, a young harpist from Detroit, presented a concert.

The Adventist Youth Society continued its music appreciation program on April 9 when it presented the Benton Harbor Children's Choir directed by Francine Carter.

Joley Aitken made friends in Thailand as she distributed clothing.

A Penny A Pound

MICHIGAN—Jerry and Judy Aitken, on a short leave from their work with refugees in Thailand, spoke in Pioneer Memorial Sabbath School of the providences of God in their many dealings with the people there.

They told how a call had been made over the radio in Japan for clothing and of the overwhelming response of 500 tons of it.

A large warehouse was made available to store it, and the Thai government said they would ship the clothing for a penny a pound. There were still 250 tons to be shipped when the Aitkens were in Berrien Springs.

One of the worshipers that morning was Charlene Kuebler, second-grade teacher at the Berrien Springs Village School. Her students were running each day toward a goal of 600 miles. She thought, Why not get people to sponsor them for each mile in order to raise funds for this project?

The children were enthusiastic about the idea and asked friends and relatives to sponsor their running. One boy, Chris Russell, had five people sponsor him and raised more than $32. When they had finished the project, they had enough money to ship five tons of clothing.

The class received a letter from the Aitkens after they returned to Thailand. It said, "What a surprise. I just got back from shipping the last of the 500 tons of clothes. Judy wanted a truckload of clothes for two of the large refugee camps here in Thailand."

"I really didn't know where the money would come from to pay for the shipping, and then your check arrived! . . . I wish to thank you for taking the time and the effort to think of the needy who are so far away when there are also needy people close to Berrien Springs. We appreciate your remembering us even though we are half way around the world. May God bless your class as you remember the needy of the world."

Frankfort Members Help the Needy

MICHIGAN—Frankfort members have purchased a parcel of land adjacent to the church as a future site for their new community services building. They plan to enlarge their outreach ministries through the center and other programs. They recently raised $1,000 toward their project with a "Rock-a-thon" in the downtown area. Senior members joined the youth in rocking chairs for a day, and were paid by interested friends for each hour they rocked. Pictured are members who collected food and toys for food baskets for the needy people in their community.

There's Power in Partnership

MICHIGAN—Partnership with God and fellow church members for a common goal is exciting.

Across Michigan church members are participating in Michigan Advance. They are involved in Bible studies, group Revelation Seminars, and public evangelistic meetings conducted by ministers and conference evangelists alike. Enthusiasm for God's love is on the increase while other security is decreasing.

As morals tumble, parents are being impressed with the importance of providing Christian education for every Adventist youth. Where funds are inadequate, the worthy student fund is available through Michigan Advance Partners.

And every member needs the refreshing of God's spirit and the friendship of other believers. Why not plan a spiritual vacation for your family this year at Camp Au Sable or Grand Ledge Campground. The blessings you receive will last throughout eternity.

Yes, there is power in partnership with God, and your partnership in Michigan Advance will touch lives with the great Advent hope. Have you experienced the joy of membership—only one percent makes that possible.

Michigan Conference News Notes

● Eighth-grade students of the Berrien Springs Adventist Elementary School and their homeroom sponsor, Marvin LaCourt, participated in a recent Bread Bake Day. The purpose of the fund-raising project was to assist former youth pastor Warren Jarrard with air fare to come to Berrien Springs from California. Pastor Jarrard is to be the guest speaker for the June 1 commencement program. Class members baked whole-wheat bread, white bread, cinnamon bread and dinner rolls. Mr. LaCourt's hobby is baking yeast bread. He teaches eighth-grade social studies and math.

● Allen and Patricia Hopkins recently joined the Otsego Church through an invitation to the home of Chuck and Donna Valkner. Dennis Earl of the Pullman Church gave them Bible studies.

● A man from Michigan who retired in Texas and recently died there was the donor of a large quantity of used clothing to the Berrien Springs Community Services Center, reports Pat Jones, secretary in the Lake Union Conference personal ministries department. The wife of the man called the Red Cross in Texas and asked them if the clothing, all heavy winter garments, could be sent to Michigan. The Red Cross representative, having had good contacts with local Adventists, called the Lake Union Conference. The Red Cross paid the shipping charges for the clothing, which was reported to be in excellent condition.

● A recent weekend seminar at Camp Au Sable was a first for 125 community services workers who met at Camp Au Sable for Christian association and learning. The seminar emphasized a ministry that demonstrates a true love for others, said Arthur Covell, Michigan Conference personal ministries director. Reports from state federations were given during the weekend, and Rosalie Lee, a Bible instructor, gave instruction in establishing contacts for Bible studies. Richard O'Fill, director of Seventh-day Adventist World Services, gave a report on the world program of SAWS. Don Copsy, Lake Union Conference personal ministries director, was the speaker on Friday evening.

● A dedication service for five children was held in the Vassar Church on April 30, by Elder Herbert Lohr. Dedicated were: Kristopher, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Steve Klaus; Isaiah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ingram; Christina, Janet and Karen, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Culver.

● Muskegon Church members recently sponsored a Five-Day Plan To Stop Smoking at Muskegon General Hospital. Dr. Mark Smalley and James Clayburn, principal of the elementary school, directed the program. Twenty-six persons attended and nineteen finished the course. The church plans to have four such programs each year.

● The first Michigan Conference investiture service of the Wisconsin Conference News Notes

● The Racine Church youth and Adventist Youth Club met nightly to hear a sermon, sing songs, and learn more about overseas missionaries for Youth Week 1983. At the week's end the youth conducted the church service. According to Youth Director Joan Mandli, four of the youths presented sermonettes that related to the theme, "Youth Witnessing for Christ." The youth choir sang a selection of sacred music, and the A.Y. Club went door-to-door in the neighborhood handing out literature.

● A Spirit of Prophecy Seminar was held at the Wausau Church March 25 and 26 by Conference President James L. Hayward. The seminar was well attended by church members.

● A "hystack" supper was held at the Wausau Church on Sunday evening, March 20. It was sponsored by the Home and School Association; Carol Zeisler is the leader. Linda Garis was in charge of decorating, and Diana Bauer and Barb Thorson served. The profits will be used for a new set of encyclopedias for the school.

● Wisconsin Conference President James Hayward and his wife, Jane, visited the Appleton Church on April 23. In presenting the sermon, Elder Hayward shared a number of witnessing incidents experienced during his travels. On Sabbath afternoon he presented a mini-seminar in diet and health, stressing the importance of health reform. Following the lecture, a question-and-answer period promoted much discussion.

● The Wausau Church welcomed four new members into its church on Sabbath afternoon, March 26. Those baptized were: Margret and Frank Lawrence, and Carol and Harry Bergeon. Pastor Paul Scofield conducted the baptisms. According to communication secretary Sally Westman, Mr. and Mrs. Bergeon purchased several books from literature evangelist, Leona Jaecks, a few years ago. All four new members attended the Revelation Seminar conducted in Wausau by Pastor Scofield.

● The Wausau Church had its annual Amateur Hour, Sunday evening, March 20. It was presented by the Pathfinders directed by Ellen Miller, Pathfinder leader. Members of the Wausau and Moon churches participated in the program. According to Sally Westman, communication secretary, it was an enjoyable evening.

● The Appleton Church participated in a health fair held April 6 at the Fox Valley Technical Institute and was the only church represented. Marz Zemlo, health secretary, coordinated the booth activities and design. Those who volunteered their services were: Duane Buettner, Jim Finney, Robbie Fowler, Connie and Paul Iattoni, Jenny Koeffler, Alice Lorenz, Annette Marta, Sandy Ritzke, and JoAnn McDaniel. Several services such as stress and weight control, cooking classes, Bible study, and stop smoking clinics were offered to the community. Dr. Paul Conner gave a 30-minute presentation on the eight natural remedies, 150 pieces of literature were distributed, and "Smoking Sam" was demonstrated, according to correspondent Annette Marta.

● Heather Gerndt was baptized by Frank Bacchus, pastor of the Gillette Church last August. The baptism took place at her grandfather's river which added special meaning for Heather.

● The Racine Church was blessed with nine new members in November 1982. They were baptized by Pastor James Fox. In the months of December and March four more young people made decisions to follow Christ.

● Fourteen children and young people were invested in their Pathfinder classes in the Milwaukee Spanish Church on April 30. The leaders of the Spanish Pathfinders are Hector and Emma Santiago, Enrique and Petra Castro, Carmen Lopez, Salvador Garcia and Eugenio Jorge. The ceremony of investiture was conducted by Dale Ziegele, director of the Pathfinders of Wisconsin Conference. The Spanish Pathfinders presented a program immediately before the investiture.

year was held at the Hastings Church by Merrill Fleming, Pathfinder director. Students, directed by Gene Brewer, Pathfinder leader, and Rex Reed, teacher, earned many honors. As a part of the service, the elementary school children gave a special musical selection.

● The faculty of the Berrien Springs Village Church School recently learned what it is like to be on the other side of the desk as they presented a special play entitled "School Daze" for the entire student body. The play was adapted from an original script by Charlene Kuebler, second-grade teacher, and Susan Illanez, third-grade teacher. Godwin Bendrat, fifth-grade teacher, acted as the headmaster. A nontypical school day was portrayed.

● Hastings Church choir members gave a sacred concert for the neighboring Delton Church on May 7. Choir coordinator is Carol Hahn.

● Christopher Williams, 8-year-old son of Edward and Alice Williams, was dedicated to the Lord by Pastor Kenneth Denslow at a recent worship service in the Manistee Church.

● Jonathan Hamrick, Michigan Conference stewardship and development director, was invited to speak to the Grayling Adventist Elementary School on May 16. He shared stories of how the Lord led him to seek people deep in the mountains of West Virginia. Some left their bootlegging business and became Adventist Christians.

Six Baptized in Oshkosh

WISCONSIN—Six people were baptized in the Oshkosh Church on November 20, 1982, by Pastor Ray Plummer, as a result of a seminar conducted in Oshkosh from August 3 through September 23. Pictured above are, Wendy and Winnie Fritz, Pastor Plummer, Joyce Sundquist, Jesse Malone, Brian Anderson and Jackie Arnold.

Spanish Church is Organized in Wisconsin

WISCONSIN—On April 16 the second Spanish church of the Wisconsin Conference was organized in Racine, Wisconsin. James Hayward, president of the Wisconsin Conference preached the sermon of organization, and Arthur L. Nelson, secretary-treasurer offered prayer for the new church. Cesar A. Pusan, coordinator of the Spanish work for the Wisconsin Conference, presented the leaders of the new church. Pastor Ismael Rojas y Rojas and his wife, Esther, were appointed by the Wisconsin Conference to lead the congregation. The Spanish work in the Wisconsin Conference started just five years ago.

The Herald Changes Staff

LAKE UNION—Richard Dower, managing editor of the Lake Union Herald, and Andrea Steele, assistant editor, are leaving the Herald to join the staff at Andrews University.

Mr. Dower has been associated with the Herald since 1971. During his tenure the Herald became a three-part communication tool comprised of a magazine issue, a tabloid issue, and a quarterly audio-visual program called NO ONE BUT YOU.

Most recently Mr. Dower co-produced the 1982 North American Division multi-image report presented at the Annual Council held in Manila.

"Mr. Dower's expertise in production and photography is without peer," said Editor Jere Wallack. "Dick has been Mr. Lake Union Herald. He will be greatly missed."

Mr. Dower is leaving the Herald staff to become a teacher in the new media technology curriculum being offered at Andrews University.

His successor, Martin R. Butler, is currently the associate director of public relations for ministry growth at the Voice of Prophecy. "He brings to the Herald strong writing, editorial and photographic skills," said Elder Wallack.

Martin Butler

Mr. Butler has a masters degree in religion, with a communication concentration, awarded by Andrews University in 1978. He will begin his work with the Herald this summer.

Andrea Steele began her work with the Herald as copy editor in 1977. In 1979 she became assistant editor.

Mrs. Steele has accepted the position of director of public relations for Andrews University and began her new position on May 12.

"I have appreciated all the years of dedicated service rendered by Andrea," said Elder Wallack. "Her common sense and her good judgment have been valuable assets to the Herald."

Bonnie Kotter, formerly Herald editorial assistant and secretary to Jere Wallack, is the new copy editor of the Herald. Beryl Johnson, formerly typesetter, will fill the positions vacated by Mrs. Kotter.

Rose Frood, who has been employed in the data processing department at the Lake Union Conference, will be typesetter.

Coming in the Adventist Review

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In the past the Adventist Review has printed news about Seventh-day Adventist World Service highlighting one aspect of the organization's work. But the June 16 Review will present a broader picture in an illustrated report on SAWS's activities. Also coming in June—"Healthy, Happy and Getting Older," by D. A. Delafield, an article on how to remain young no matter what your age; and "Jonah, the Reluctant Missionary," by Ruben Hernandez, about a book of the Bible that reveals a God of compassion.

Lake Union Medical Retreat

LAKE UNION—The Lake Union health/temperance department will hold a unionwide medical retreat, October 13 to 16, 1983, at the Americana Convention Center, Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. The purpose of this retreat is to bring together all health professionals, and offer them continuing educational courses, instructions and fellowship.

A survey was sent more than a year ago to physicians and dentists in the Lake Union, and the majority responding wanted a retreat on witnessing and soul-winning. Such will be the emphasis of this retreat. Our goal is to reach souls with the love of the Master Healer.

The health/temperance department is recruiting names and addresses of all persons in the medical fields. If you are in a medical field, please send your name and address to: Charles C. Case, Health/Temperance Director, Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103.

Watch for more details on the medical retreat soon.

Heritage Rooms Collect Old Films

LAKE UNION—The Heritage Rooms at Andrews University and Loma Linda University are attempting to locate old 8 mm or 16 mm movie films that are of Adventist institutions or have past prominent Adventists in them.

Examples include movies taken at graduations, General Conference sessions, youth congresses, over-seas missions, as well as films showing Adventist hospitals, schools or churches.

In addition, old wire, disc, or tape recordings by past prominent Adventists, General conference presidents, evangelists, and other academic and church administrators are being sought.

If you have or think you know of any of these types of materials, please contact the Heritage Room, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104, 616-471-3274, or the Heritage Room, Loma Linda University Library, Loma Linda, CA 92350, 714-824-4588, extension 7545.

Worthington Introduces New Products

WORTHINGTON, Ohio—Worthington Foods, a major supplier of meatless vegetable protein products for more than 40 years, announces the expansion of its product line to include two no-salt-added products.

Promoted as the "Salt Shakers," the two vegetable protein products include Vegetable Skallops and Vegetarian Burger.

With the number of Americans suffering from hypertension estimated at anywhere from 35 to 60 million, these two popular and nutritious foods will fill an important need in the health-food market.

The regular Vegetable Skallops and Vegetarian Burger are still available along with the new no-salt-added counterparts.

PARENTS!

Is the high cost of a Christian education stopping you from sending your child to academy this year?

Would you like to have your child be able to pay his entire way through school?

Due to recent expansion, Harbert Hills Academy has a limited number of openings available in certain grades for 1983-84.

A unique concept of balanced education includes work, study, and service. The academy is designed to remain small (not to exceed 70 students) and this provides a family-like atmosphere. As part of the curriculum, each student spends up to 25 hours a week learning the skills and attitudes of useful work.

Located 120 miles east of Memphis on 500 acres of land in the beautiful hills of Tennessee, Harbert Hills Academy offers students the opportunity to work their entire school bill.

Contact the registrar today for more information on this unique program.

These Times Honored at A.C.P. Convention

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Associated Church Press, meeting recently in Boston, Massachusetts, for its annual convention, conferred two new awards to These Times magazine. This raises the total number of honors won by the Adventist publication in the past seven years to twenty-seven.

This year's first-place awards were for Magazine Photography in an Entire Issue, and Table of Contents. Both awards were given for the May 1982 issue. The judges identified These Times as being "informative," even "provocative," with "an elegant and inviting layout" that portrays "a feeling of quality."

Photographer Ken Touchton, whose work appeared in the special issue on the Sabbath, was commended for spending time with the Lloyd Green family of Frederick, Maryland, and capturing the essence of their Sabbath observance.

The judges evaluated a total of 459 entries from 135 different religious publications for this year's competition before selecting These Times as the best entry in the two categories.

The Associated Church Press, which is the oldest and most prestigious religious press association in North America, has awarded These Times its top honor for General Excellence five times.

health and temperance teams.

AYBL presidents reported on their year's activities. Margo Kinney, president of AYBL at Cedar Lake Academy has a unique ministry with her parents. They use puppets to talk to people about health at malls and shopping centers.

During the rally the winning temperance oration from each academy was presented and the winning posters were put on display at the table exhibits.

At the conclusion of the AYBL Speak Out Rally, trophies were presented to the academies for the accumulated points received for each activity participated in by the students.

James H. Harris, associate youth director of the General Conference presented the students with the trophies. Elder Harris was also the featured speaker for the weekend.

First-place trophies were presented to Broadview Academy, Indiana Academy, and Wisconsin Academy.

A second-place trophy went to Grand Ledge Academy

Third-place trophies went to Adelphian Academy, Battle Creek Academy, and Shiloh Academy.

Andrews Academy and Cedar Lake Academy received fourth-place trophies.

Six academies will receive gold medals, one will receive a silver medal, and two will receive bronze medals from the General Conference health/temperance department.

Hunger - Disease
Hopelessness - Poverty

The human need in the Inner City is so great that many people are tempted to turn their backs. But we must do what we can to help!

Jesus said, "In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, you have done it unto Me." Matthew 25:40.

INNER CITY OFFERING - June 11, 1983
This special offering will be used in your conference to assist the Inner City work.

'I Just Can't Go Back to Public School'

Everett E. Cumbo
President
Illinois Conference

*Maria looked across the Broadview Academy campus from her dorm room window. It was January 19, 1983, and for every logical reason she had no right to be at B.V.A. as a new student.

Her family would not be sending monthly tuition, they could not. The responsibility seemed to indicate leaning the other way; she should be working to support them. At home was her mother, a mortgage payment to be met, and food to be set before twelve brothers and sisters.

"Maria," they had urged, "your English is better now. You can find a job. Father is not here to help, so you must. You are the oldest."

Maria thought of the job she had just left. It had not been her first. Her elementary school years had been broken up with several jobs. On her last job, however, the discussion of Broadview Academy had stirred her interest and created a longing.

"Lord, allow me to become a member of the student body at this Christian school I am hearing about," she had petitioned. Her mother had encouraged, "You keep praying Maria. We cannot help you, but pray so you may go."

Maria's prayers had been uneasy and interspersed with thoughts of obligation to her family. But dreams of an education, achievement and the future gave impetus and urgency to her prayers. "I want to be somebody," she had said to herself. "I will work, but first I must study and learn." Her courageous decision had scarcely been born when her job was terminated.

Turning from the window Maria felt the assurance of God's blessing on her decision and her faith. Already, though so new at Broadview, she felt comfortable and at home. "I am accepted. I am loved just for myself," she thought. "There is no 'class' here, just sharing and brotherhood."

Maria recalled her talk with Harold Oetman, principal at Broadview Academy. "I can't go back to public school," she had said to him. "Here I learn of creation, of redemption and of God's love." Then emphatically she had declared, "I can never return to public school."

There are many more Marias throughout the conference who are praying for help and support so they, too, will not have to go to public school.

Won't you, just now, pray that God will impress you to give one percent to Broadview Academy each month, so that others can attend and receive a Christian education.

JUNE 7, 1983 VOLUME LXXV, NUMBER 12

Time spent with dad is special to any little boy or girl. That's because dads are something special. This month while thoughts are turning to dads—don't forget to remember yours. Take a moment to reflect on the good times you have spent with your dad, and thank God for him.
