

Andrews' President Resigns

Dr. Joseph G. Smoot

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Joseph G. Smoot, president of Andrews University, announced his resignation effective December 31, 1983.

The announcement was made the morning of October 31 to a specially called meeting of the faculty. Dr. Smoot said:

"I have served this university since 1968, as dean of the School of Graduate Studies, vice president for academic administration, and as president since 1976. These have been rewarding years for me personally, and I hope that my efforts have been beneficial to the university in helping Andrews achieve distinction.

Through the years I have worked untiringly to give leadership so that together we could build for success. The enormous tension and strain on me during these years have been a heavy burden to carry.

"These recent years have probably been the most critical for the university in this century, and the drain on my energy and reserve has been beyond calculation in coping with the crises that have existed. I believe that the time has come when Andrews University can benefit from fresh, new leadership."

Dr. Smoot was arrested October 13 in Silver Spring, Maryland, a suburb of Washington, D.C., on two misdemeanor criminal charges.

"I am aware that the charges made against me create a problem for the university. Although I expect to be vindicated in defending against these charges, I recognize that the discussions surrounding these charges have affected the university. By the action I take today, I am removing this matter as a university concern, and allowing the university that I love to continue its orderly service to its many publics.

"I am grateful for the outpouring of confidence in me expressed by administrators and staff, faculty and students.

"I have decided to announce my resignation as president of Andrews University effective December 31, 1983, or at a date determined by the Board of Trustees. I have informed the chairman of the Board of Trustees of my decision."

Richard Schwarz, vice president for academic administration, commented on Dr. Smoot's contribution as an administrator. "Dr. Smoot has always been an active force for university accreditation at all levels. He has rallied the Andrews faculty and trustees to develop standards of academic excellence."

Dr. Schwarz cited numerous examples. In 1980 the School of Business was organized, bringing together the undergraduate and graduate departments of business. More recently, in July 1983, the School of Education was opened, bringing to six the number of divisions of the university.

While vice president for academic administration, Dr. Smoot was a leading force in the organization of the College of Technology in 1974.

Andrews is listed by the Council on Financial Aid to Education as one of America's 75 major private universities, a listing which came since Dr. Smoot became president.

In 1976, 572 students received degrees from Andrews. In 1983 the university graduated 845 students. During Dr. Smoot's tenure as president, Andrews' enrollment passed the 3,000 figure for the first time ever.

Dr. Schwarz said, "The extent of the university's academic development, which is unusual, perhaps, for an institution of this size, has been enhanced by the academic master plan. Dr. Smoot was a key figure in the development of that master plan which has been updated regularly to reflect changing job markets and student needs."

Dr. Schwarz also cited Andrews affiliations with 14 colleges and universities in this country and abroad. "Dr. Smoot has been a major influence in developing these affiliations," Dr. Schwarz said, "and serves as a member of the board of trustees of several of these schools."

"In addition to his involvement in the academic advancement of the university, Dr. Smoot's administration has been characterized by the implementation of a major capital fund campaign," according to David H. Bauer, vice president for development and public relations. "Almost $18 million has been raised to date in this campaign," said Dr. Bauer.

Beginning his career in education in 1955, Dr. Smoot was an elementary school principal in Kentucky. Later he taught at Columbia Union College in Takoma Park, Maryland, as associate professor of history. He was then academic dean of Columbia Union College for three years before moving to Andrews. He is the 19th president of the institution, which began in Battle Creek, Michigan, in 1874.

Born in Winter Haven, Florida, Dr. Smoot earned a bachelor of arts degree in history from Southern College, Collegedale, Tennessee, in 1955. He completed two graduate degrees in history at the University of Kentucky in Lexington; a master of arts in 1958, and a doctor of philosophy degree in 1964.

The Revolving Fund— Making Dreams a Reality

WISCONSIN—How does a church of 110 members ever see their dream fulfilled to have a new church? Ask members of the Racine, Wisconsin, Church and they will tell you it is possible.

The Racine church building was in a deteriorating neighborhood. It had no off-street parking, and it was in need of major remodeling.

The members decided to step out in faith and purchase land for a new building in a prominent location in Racine. They sold their church in February of 1980 and rented the Bethany United Methodist Church. On July 16, 1982, they made plans for the construction of a new church that would meet their needs.

Today their dream is becoming a reality. The work, largely volunteer, is slow and tedious, but it is the test of a congregation's resolve to have a church home.

Their new church will accommodate the previous congregation plus 18 new members who were recently baptized as a result of the Kenosha-Racine effort.

The Lake Union Revolving Fund has helped make this dream a reality. The church has borrowed from these funds the balance beyond the amount donated for the building of the church.

If you are able to contribute to the Lake Union Revolving Fund, your money will be used in similar building projects throughout the Lake Union Conference territory, and you will receive a good investment of your money as well as an investment in souls won.

Dreams do become reality in church growth!

Michigan Conference Elects New Treasurer

MICHIGAN—Hubert and Loretta Moog have accepted the invitation of the Michigan Conference Executive Committee for him to be the new conference treasurer. Elder Moog replaces Herbert Pritchard, recently elected as treasurer of the Lake Union Conference.

For the past seven years Elder Moog has been treasurer of the Potomac Conference. Born in Bryan, Ohio, and educated at Adelphian Academy and Emmanuel Missionary College, he feels he is "coming home" to Michigan.

Wisconsin claimed 13 years of his service from 1958 to 1972, first as an accountant at Wisconsin Academy and then as business manager. He served a year as an auditing intern for the Lake Union Conference, and then returned to Wisconsin as assistant treasurer of the conference. He spent another four years as treasurer of the New Jersey Conference before going to Potomac.

Loretta Moog has been an elementary teacher, but the last 11 years of her public work has been as an office secretary in the conferences where they have served.

The Moogs have two children. Coleen Dolinsky is a senior at Andrews University. Judy Moog is working as a medical assistant at Leland Hospital.

The move to Michigan is tentatively scheduled for around Thanksgiving.

Rockford Church Organizes Family Service Committee

ILLINOIS—It was the need to be of practical help to fellow church members that caused the Rockford Church to elect a Family Service Committee. It was formed, not to replace the community services department, but to give added assistance and work with community services in a closely related area.

Rockford was hard hit by unemployment and the attendant recession. Calls for financial and other aid were greatly increased and began to extend beyond simple emergency financial aid.

In many cases, to seek assistance through one of the tax or community supported organizations already functioning was necessary, but many times people were not aware of the help available and needed guidance.

The church had among its members people who were able to provide help. Some members had been, or were presently, employed at these agencies. These members were asked to serve on a standby basis on the committee for times when their expertise would be helpful.

A file was assembled on available services in the community, along with criteria for eligibility.

And the committee has now been able to help with public aid, energy grants, assistance with completing Medicare and group insurance claims, and housing, according to Alice L. Davidson, communication secretary.

A 75th Anniversary Special

Moments to Remember

LAKE UNION—Inspired. Challenged. Amazed. Humored. These words describe reactions of the Herald staff as letters arrived from our readers—letters to help us take a look back in time during our 75th anniversary.

It was hard to imagine that 95-year-old Lewis M. Petersen of Clearwater Lake, Wisconsin, has read the Herald for the past 74 years. And soon after graduating from Emmanuel Missionary College in 1918, Mr. Petersen began writing for the Herald.

Lewis M. Petersen

While serving as Missionary Volunteer Secretary for the old North Michigan Conference, he wrote in the May 19, 1920, issue: "Does your library contain the reading course books? These books are the best investment that one can make, for our lives are moulded by what we read."

Since 1909 (one year after the first Herald was printed) its pages have had an influence on Mr. Petersen. "I do a great deal of reading," he says. "The news in the Lake Union Herald is always very interesting; very helpful."

Iva Alkire

We were so pleased to hear from another Herald friend, Iva Alkire of Westmont, Illinois. She began reading the Herald in 1908, 75 years ago, during her first year of nurses training at Hinsdale Sanitarium and Hospital. Four years ago, due to failing eyesight, she was forced to put the Herald aside.

Mrs. Alkire was born in the Lake Union (Highland, Michigan, in 1890), so the Herald came into existence at about the same time she was leaving Adelphian Academy for Hinsdale.

Just a few weeks ago, on October 15, Mrs. Alkire celebrated a very special event. With her son Albert, she attended the nurses alumni weekend at Hinsdale Hospital; a weekend that marked 70 years since her nursing class graduated.

The oldest member of the Herald family to respond to our invitation to share was Ollie Dennison, who lives in the Detroit area. This faithful reader, who turned 98 on August 7, continues to enjoy the Herald articles with the help of a magnifying glass.

Ollie Dennison and great-granddaughter Susana.

According to her son Allen, seeing Ellen White in Battle Creek and shaking hands with one of her favorite authors and leaders, W. A. Spicer, are included among the highlights of her life.

"I saw your notice in the Herald," writes Bertha Pontius of Collinsville, Illinois, responding to our search for a couple who has been married 75 years. "We haven't been married 75 years, but we were married 70 years ago in June."

Mrs. Pontius went on to recall how her parents became Seventh-day Adventists through the ministry of Elder John N. Loughborough.

Fred and Bertha Pontius

From Michigan's Upper Peninsula, Eleanore Atkins wrote to tell us that she has never missed reading the Herald since the age of 9, which was 61 years ago. When the Herald arrives at her home in Sault Ste. Marie, reading it takes priority.

Eleanore says: "The Herald keeps me posted on what's happening with all my friends. I hope the Herald never stops coming. I love it."

Lee and Eleanore Atkins

To our Herald readers who shared—thank you so much. You helped make our 75th anniversary just a little more special.

It is our prayer that the pages of the Herald will continue to inspire, challenge, and uplift until one day soon we will herald Christ's grand and glorious return. Let's pray that His coming is soon—and maybe this Herald anniversary will be the last.

Editor's Note: The above 75th anniversary article, "Moments to Remember," was a special one-time feature which replaced our regular NO ONE BUT YOU column this month. Watch for the NO ONE BUT YOU column in the next issue of the Herald tabloid when, once again, you will read more exciting accounts of how God is working through people living in the Lake Union.

Six New Members Join Gobles Pinedale Church

MICHIGAN—Gwen Harvey, a literature evangelist, from Fennville, Michigan, had been praying for a chance to study the Bible with someone. One day, as she went from home to home in her area, she met the Eldridge family.

Although she did not sell them anything that day, she sensed that she should continue to visit them.

After several visits, Gwen asked to study the Bible with them. As the studies progressed, she invited

Lew Blumenberg, Lake Union publishing associate, to join her in the studies.

The Eldridges then began attending the Gobles Pinedale Church and became close friends with Ray and Donna Evert, who also studied with the family.

Finally, Pastor Mike McKenzie prepared the Eldridge family for baptism, and on August 27, they became members of Gobles Pinedale Church.

The Dread List

MICHIGAN—Tim, a senior theology major at Andrews University, prayed a prayer a few years ago that went something like this: "Lord, I'll do anything you ask, but please don't ask me to do my dreaded three: mission service, literature evangelism, and the ministry; anything, Lord, but these."

A few months after that prayer, Tim was serving in Korea as a student missionary. He found it to be one of the most interesting experiences of his life.

He confessed to himself, I forgot that this was one of those things I didn't want to do, but I still have two things on my "dread list."

Soon after his return from Korea, Tim was invited to the Monticello, Indiana, Church to present the mission story.

During his presentation he referred to his "dread list" and stated that though his time in Korea had been a blessing in his life, he was still praying never to be asked to become a literature evangelist.

Dennis Fuller, area literature evangelist director, was in the congregation, and spoke for the church service. When the two met, Tim attempted to make excuses to Mr. Fuller for not having any desire for literature evangelism.

Two months later Tim was assigned to this same church for the worship service to fulfill a class requirement. Mr. Fuller was also scheduled to share the service.

Tim felt rather embarrassed to meet him again and says about that meeting, "I knew the Lord was speaking directly to me to become involved in literature evangelism."

After much struggling, prayer,

Tim and Bonnie Mayne

and support from his wife, Bonnie, Tim began working in the South Bend, Indiana, area as a literature evangelist.

He recalls following up a lead card that a woman had obtained at her physician's office. After Tim introduced himself at the door, the woman told Tim she wasn't sure why she had mailed in the card, but had felt impressed that she should.

Tim says, "she asked if I could come back in an hour, because there was a Bible study going on. As I started walking away, something impressed me to go back and join the group. But I kept walking to my car, and drove to a parking lot and waited for the hour to elapse.

"When I returned to the home, the woman said, 'As soon as you drove away, we all agreed that I should have asked you in. We are needing some help in our study. Can you help us?'"

"Now we have a Bible study group that meets every Wednesday night."

The last thing on Tim's "dread list" is the ministry.

Tim plans to graduate next summer, and he now says, "I can hardly wait to get into church ministry. I'm a little afraid, but God certainly knows where I need to be."

Financial Incentive Plan Provided for Academies

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Andrews University is giving a potential $32,800 to Lake Union academies during the 1983-84 academic year. According to Terry Newmyer, director of marketing and student finance at the university, the money is to be used for financial aid or equipment at the academies.

"Because Andrews is committed to all levels of Adventist education within the Lake Union Conference, we have designed a financial incentive to build and maintain strong enrollments," Mr. Newmyer said.

The plan, instituted this year, states that every student enrolling at Andrews in the fall of 1983 that graduated from a Lake Union academy in the spring of 1983 will generate a gift for his or her alma mater of at least $50.

The $50 will apply to each freshman student at Andrews from a Lake Union academy, until the total enrolled from the academy in 1983 equals the total enrolled from the academy during the fall quarter of 1982. If enrollment surpasses the fall 1982 figure, then each student above that figure will generate a $500 gift to the academy.

Mr. Newmyer said the plan is to encourage growing enrollments at each academy as well as at Andrews. Because of the way the money will be used, academies can increase scholarship money and buy better equipment for classroom instructional use. "We are supporting Christian education at all levels," he said.

During College Days in October, the first of three possible checks was given to academy principals. A total of $11,400 was handed out to the 10 schools by Vernon H. Siver, Andrews' vice president for financial administration.

The following lists each academy and the amount of money it received in the October installment of Andrews' financial plan. Dollar amounts in parentheses indicate the final expected figures. Adelpian, $750 ($1,150); Andrews, $4,550 ($15,350); Battle Creek, $350 ($350); Broadview, $1,900 ($3,900); Cedar Lake, $1,500 ($1,500); Grand Ledge, $200 ($200); Indiana, $1,400 ($5,800); Peterson-Warren, $100 ($100); Shiloh, $300 ($700); Wisconsin, $1,350 ($3,750).

Part of the money is given during the months of October, January and April of the current academic year. For the academy to receive the potential gift it expects, all of the 1983 graduates from the particular academy that are currently enrolled must complete the year.

"If the students who are here from the Lake Union academies remain for the full school year (three quarters)," Mr. Newmyer explained, "Andrews will be giving $32,800 to Adventist secondary education by April of 1984."

In addition, Mr. Newmyer said that the university's enrollment of Lake Union academy seniors is up considerably this year in relation to last year's figures. "A year ago only 34 percent of Lake Union academy seniors enrolled at Andrews. This year the figure was 47 percent, an increase from one-third to almost one-half.

"We feel that this shows that Andrews is continuing to offer the excellent quality Christian education that parents and students expect from this university. And because of the new financial incentive plan, we are helping to promote this excellence on the academy level as well."

of Public Relations

Nine Baptized in Bethel Church

Wisconsin Conference News Notes

● According to Harvey Hansen, communication secretary of the Clearwater Lake Church, a Revelation Seminar is being conducted by Pastor Steve Charbonneau. It started September 20 with 40 people attending. About half of the attendees are not members of the church.

● Twenty-nine Pathfinders, including at least seven from non-Adventist families, and nine adults from the Clearwater Lake, Rhinelander and Crandon churches camped overnight at the Luna-White Deer Campsite in the Nicolet National Forest October 1 and 2. Director and deputy director of area Pathfinders are Junior Stebbeds from Clearwater Lake and Dennis Stefanek from Rhinelander, respectively. Josie Stefanek from Rhinelander; George and Barbara Aman from Crandon; Gary and Jeannie Stebbeds; Dale Safer; Tuss Platske; Sandy and Norman Peters, and Dale and Cindy Klemp of Clearwater Lake are counselors and instructors.

● The Spanish Church of Milwaukee and Racine, led by Dr. Cesar A. Puesan and Pastor Ismael Rojas Rojas, celebrated the annual Spanish Camp Meeting at Camp Go Seek in Westfield August 25 to 28, 1983. James Hayward, president of the Wisconsin Conference, and his wife were present for the Sabbath meeting. Guest speaker for the Spanish Camp Meeting was Elder Dumas Tambunan from Indonesia.

Terminally Ill to Benefit from Hinsdale Walk-a-thon

HINSDALE, Ill.—Participants in a benefit walk-a-thon helped bring new hope and meaning into the lives of terminally ill patients and their families living in Chicago's western suburbs. By walking, they raised money that will help to sustain St. Thomas Hospice, a division of Health Care at Home.

"St. Thomas Hospice provides specialized services and emotional support to persons and their families regardless of their ability to pay," says Becky Olson, hospice coordinator.

"Since our services are available without charge, we rely on volunteers and the financial support from donations and fund-raising events like the Walk-a-thon.

"The Walk-a-thon, the year's major fund-raising event, raised more than $4,000 from the approximately 600 people who participated by sponsoring the walkers a certain amount per mile," says Mrs. Olson.

Cash prizes of $100, $50, and $25 were awarded to the three walkers under 19 years of age who raised the most money. A $50-bond certificate was also awarded in a random drawing of walkers 19 years old or older.

In addition to the walkers, 11 volunteer workers were on the scene to handle all the paperwork involved with the event.

Several businesses that took part by cosponsoring the event were McDonald's, Bank of Hinsdale, First National Bank of Hinsdale, and Hinsdale Central High School.

First-Aid Classes at Broadview Academy

ILLINOIS—Fifteen Broadview church members are involved in a 12-week first-aid class. The instructor, Bob Languth, represents the Kane County Red Cross.

The classes are held at Broadview Academy. Students who pass the course will receive certification from the Red Cross and will be qualified to serve their families and community in times of disaster and emergencies.

These classes are the first in a series included in an emergency education program for the Broadview Church.

Karen Verhaeghe, community services leader, reflects the concerns of the church when she states, "We have plenty of information which tells us that the last days will be filled with storms, accidents and disasters. We need to be prepared to meet these emergencies.

"We have an obligation to our community as Seventh-day Adventists to have a knowledge of first aid so that we can serve as efficient and trained workers."

Illinois Conference News Notes

● The DeKalb Church took part in the Annual Pumpkin Festival in Sycamore on October 29 and 30. A health van was brought to the church for the festival and Adventist nurses provided audio-visual screening. Many pieces of literature were distributed and a Bible was given away in a drawing.

● The DeKalb Church was blessed with three new members on September 24. Pastor Marlin Dolinsky baptized James Miller, Becky Capello and Pansy Lamert. According to Carla Hauser, communication secretary, Becky is Pansy's granddaughter and they both took their stand for the Lord at the same time.

● Broadview Church conducts its sixth annual cooking school during October and November. Jean Thiry, manager of the academy gardens, is coordinating the program with Jean Cinquemani assisting. The emphasis will be on vegetarian entrees utilizing grains, nuts and legumes. Each class will begin with a devotional thought by Jackie De Groot. Demonstrations will be given by Joy Fish, Carol Walls, Sheryl Monson, Diane Lehman, Arlene Graham, Rosa Alcla, Caroline Jensen, and Alm Stauffer will be giving pointers on nutrition. According to Jackie De Groot, communication secretary, Broadview Academy students will be involved as assistants.

● The Quincy Church held a ground-breaking ceremony for a new school on September 18, 1983. A prayer of dedication was given by Pastor Herman Ottshofski, and a short history was given by Dr. Roy Olson. George Lloyd, Illinois Conference education director, encouraged the construction of the school. Dr. Olson introduced the church building committee members, Mr. Benya, the architect, and Mr. Obert, the former property owner. The property consists of about 7½ acres and is located three miles east of Quincy along a four-lane highway, according to George Wiemerslage, communication secretary.

● Evangelist Art Swinson and Elder Bob Stauffer concluded a series in the Elgin Church with a baptism of 12 people. Already several are active in the Pathfinder Club as leaders and members.

● Glen Ellyn is in the midst of a preparation program with the Lake Union Soul-Winning Institute for evangelistic meetings beginning October 21. Almost 100 individuals are taking Bible studies with the L.U.S.I. staff and students. More than 60 have attended Daniel Seminars, and more than 100 have attended other health programs.

● Washington Park evangelistic meetings with Evangelist L. B. Baker and Pastor Alex Lampkin began with 40 to 50 people showing interest and increased to 100. The meetings concluded on October 23.

Conference Rally at Bloomington

INDIANA—The Bloomington Church was host for a Sabbath afternoon fellowship of area churches, sponsored by the Indiana Conference staff. Robert A. Thompson, president, welcomed members from the Bedford, Bloomington, Columbus, Terre Haute and Vincennes districts.

Emphasis was placed on the Caring Church with Edward Skoretz, personal ministries director, speaking on "Pathways to the Church," and Jerry Lastine, stewardship director, presenting "Anchors to the Church."

Music was presented by area musicians and the Indiana Academy music department.

Fruit salad and juice were supplied by the Indiana Conference, and the ABC held a book sale in the newly completed gymnasium.

Indiana Conference News Notes

● Greg Johnson, a senior at Indiana Academy, spoke in the Evansville Church on Pathfinder Sabbath. Greg is preparing for the ministry. Other events in the church calendar have included a church campout at Spring Mill Park, cooking classes by Pam Knott at the Community Action Center in Evansville, and preparation for a Revelation Seminar in October, according to Sunny Weedman, communication secretary.

● Barbara Banes, communication secretary for the Monticello Church, reported that the church had a booth at the White County Fair. Sugarless cookies attracted 655 people to sign up for a Bible, and nearly 1,000 pieces of literature were distributed.

● The health screening van visited Shelbyville recently and served more than 200 people. Betty Mattingly and Anna Mae Huber took blood pressures, while Ruth Cherry, Roland Huber, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Miles and Earle Davis assisted. Twenty people signed up for Bible studies, according to Rosemary DeHart, communication secretary.

● Logansport residents are responding to the Revelation Seminar being presented by Dan Thompson, pastor of the church. Thirty people were in attendance at the Cass County Y.M.C.A. where the meetings began, according to Rick Snay, communication secretary.

● Kitty Kuzmaul, president of the Community Service Federation of the Indiana Conference, was a participant in the Southern Union's "Prelude to Pentecost" seminar at Southern College recently. The lay evangelist training seminar focused on witnessing and was directed by S. F. Monnier of the General Conference lay activities department.

● Ileen Adams, Martinsville communication secretary, reported that Jeff Adams, church elder, conducted six weeks of studies from the book of Acts for a local men's prayer breakfast on Saturday mornings at 7 A.M. These men were invited to attend the Martinsville Church on Vistor's Day, October 15.

● Each Tuesday morning at 9 A.M., members and friends of the Muncie Church meet for a "closer walk" hour. Jeff Blumenburg, assistant publishing leader, directs the program. "The idea of a daytime prayer meeting is appreciated by many," Vivian Wake, communication secretary reported, "and the attendance has been as high as 16."

● A singspiration of praise was held in the Rockford Church in September. "We invited the pastor and members of the only other church in the town," said Ruth Jones, communication secretary, "and together we filled the church." Time was given for individual testimonies, and a variety of music was presented.

● On October 30, the Fort Wayne Church opened the doors to the new community service center directed by Lois Hawkes. Church women have worked hours preparing the church basement for the center. The mayor from Fort Wayne and the leaders from the conference were invited to the dedication service.

● On October 9 the Fort Wayne members held a work day which was organized by John Klinger, head deacon.

● William Hawkes, pastor of the Fort Wayne District has been holding Revelation Seminar meetings in Angola.

● On November 12, Debbie Stout, the investment secretary, will be holding an investment fair. Crafts and other items will be sold, and refreshments will be served.

● The Pathfinders of Fort Wayne are directed by Ray Spangle and assisted by Jack Fleckenstein, Tim Foster, and Candy Spangle. Thanks to interested church members, all Pathfinders will have uniforms this year. They have also purchased new tents for field trips. All Fort Wayne Pathfinders participated in a Pathfinder's fair at Timber Ridge Camp. According to Paul Merrills, communication secretary, some came back with blue, red, and yellow ribbons.

Academy Attendance Encouraged Decision

INDIANA—Cindy Ryan was baptized by Pastor Chuck Hanlon at the Shelbyville Church on August 13. Her stepfather, Jerry DeHart, right, assisted Pastor Hanlon with the baptism. When Cindy's mother, Rosemary DeHart, became an Adventist about three years ago, she and her husband, Jerry, began sending Cindy to Indiana Academy, though Cindy and her grandparents opposed their decision. "With each home leave my husband and I could see the Holy Spirit guiding Cindy, and marveled at the change," said Mrs. DeHart. "Let's continually thank God for our Adventist schools and support them 100 percent," said Mr. DeHart.

All Nations Church Pastor Wins Award for Study

LAKE REGION—Caleb Rosado, pastor of the All Nations Church in Berrien Springs, recently won the 1983 Society for the Scientific Study of Religion Student Paper Award. The award is given annually to that student whose paper is regarded as the best contribution to the scientific study of religion.

Rosado's paper is entitled "Class, and Religious Schism:

Caleb Rosado, pastor of the All Nations Church in Berrien Springs, won the 1983 Society for the Scientific Study of Religion Student Paper Award.

The Case of Puerto Rican Seventh-day Adventists in Chicago."

Elder Rosado presented his paper at the annual meeting of the Society for the Scientific Study of Religion, which met jointly with the Religious Research Association on November 4 to 6 in Knoxville, Tennessee. The program theme this year was Religion and Justice.

This was the first year that an entire section of the annual meeting focused on Seventh-day Adventists. The subject matter of three papers presented during that period was, "Seventh-day Adventists: Problems of Structure and Social Change."

Rosado is a Ph.D. candidate in sociology at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. He recently went to Cuba for the second time to do research for his dissertation, which is entitled "Sectarian Religion in Post-Revolutionary Cuba: A Study of Religious and Socio-Political Values in Conflict."

The research is a study of Seventh-day Adventists in Cuba. He anticipates completion of his doctoral studies by June of 1984.

He was assisted by Bastian P. Bernard, the pastor of the Hanna Street Church. The new members are Ronald L. Duffey, Derik Martin, Willie L. Ruffin, Jimmy Conner, Algene Hatch, Anna W. Goede, Andretta Atkins, Ethel Nelson, and Donna Hudson.

● The First Church of Evanston, Illinois, recently honored their youth with a youth day celebration. Theme for the day was Unity and Diversity. The guest speaker was Linwood Stone, assistant treasurer for Lake Region Conference. The Ramos sisters, from the North Shore Church in Chicago, presented the special music for the divine worship service. According to Lula Johnson, communication secretary, youth day services were well attended by members of the church and members from the community.

taken from Luke 13:24, "Strive to enter in at the straight gate; for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able."

Mike Faison of Berrien Springs, Michigan, presented the children's chapel with his "Gospel Puppets." The story was "The Shepherd, the Lamb and the Sheep," and depicted the lost sheep that was found and brought back to the sheepfold.

Literature Evangelist Institute—1983

LAKE UNION—Bill Glanz of Rockford, Illinois, and Ruth Cinquemani of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, were selected as the Lake Union 1983 literature evangelists of the year. The announcement was made at the Lake Union Conference Literature Evangelist Institute held at Wisconsin's Camp Go Seek August 10 to 14.

The institute, held each year at Wisconsin Conference campground, is a time for instruction in selling techniques, and a time of recognition for service.

Fellowship and shared inspiration are important factors in morale building. Recreation opportunities during the institute serve the same purpose in welding together a literature evangelist team for the union.

Reports of sales were based on the results of "Big 12," a recent 12-day period of extra effort. In that time the Lake Union literature evangelists sold $335,000 worth of Adventist literature. Steve Bradshaw in Indiana was a literature evangelist for only five months prior to Big 12, but he delivered $4,800 worth of literature in those 12 days.

Spanish workers in Illinois delivered $103,000 during the same time. Just a short time ago the Spanish total for one year was only that much.

It was reported that in the Lake Region Conference there are some six- and eight-year-old children selling nearly $100 per day of magazines and small books on the streets.

John Bernet, Lake Union publishing director, said, "Our Listen workers are well received in the community. Though well paid, Steve Bradshaw is being congratulated by his leader, Dick Norman of Indiana, for having the highest book deliveries for "Big 12." His sales were almost $4,800.

Maria Fuentes, right, a Lansing, Michigan literature evangelist, translated for Lowell Bock, a vice president of the General Conference, who presented the Sabbath sermon.

their richest fulfillment comes from seeing lives changed."

All meetings were translated from or into Spanish by Maria Fuentes, a literature evangelist from Lansing, Michigan.

Listen worker, Joe Whitaker, developed a program for children entitled "Winner Circle." This was presented to the children during institute.

It involved reading, discussion and testing each day on temperate living. The children participated in poster, essay, and poetry contests.

John Bernet, left, Lake Union Conference publishing director, and Robert Carter, Lake Union Conference president, congratulated Bill Glanz and Ruth Cinquemani who were chosen as literature evangelists of the year.

Listen literature evangelists met with Frances Soper, editor of Listen magazine, far left. During "Big 12" the leaders delivered $63,000 in sales. Big 12 was July 29 to August 9. Three of the literature evangelists delivered more than $10,000 each.

Bibles Needed by Voice of Prophecy

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Some of the 73 Bibles and New Testaments sent to the Voice of Prophecy Bible School by the Indiana Conference Adventist Book Center are examined by Leilani Proctor, left, supervisor of the Bible School, and Dorothy Womack, Bible counselor. The Bibles were collected by the book center when it ran a special offer earlier this year. Customers were given a discount on a new Bible if they gave an old Bible to be forwarded to the V.O.P. The Voice of Prophecy needs a continuing supply of Bibles for correspondence students who cannot afford to purchase a Bible. These include prisoners, children in non-Christian homes, and persons on limited incomes. Donations of Bibles may be sent to: Bible School, Voice of Prophecy, Box 55, Los Angeles, CA 90053.

News in Review

● Despite being the only Protestant in the city, and being an independent candidate with no party affiliation, Adventist watchmaker Miguel Diez was elected mayor of Potes (near Santander, Spain) for a second term. He and his wife became Adventists after taking a Bible correspondence course in the mid-1960's. His sterling integrity has made him the people's choice for mayor despite what normally would be considered political liabilities.

● Following an analysis of information gathered by Denominational Building Services, at the request of the Pacific Press site-selection committee, General Manager Eugene Stiles reported that it has been recommended that further study be given to four of the 13 areas originally considered. They are Boise, Idaho; Grants Pass, Oregon; Modesto, California, and Galt, California. A number of factors are being considered before a final choice is made.

● At least 11 Negro spirituals and one white spiritual have been approved for inclusion in the new Adventist hymnal to be released in 1985. They fall into three categories and are: on the life of Christ—"Rise Up, Shepherd, and Follow," "Go, Tell It on the Mountain," "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley" (white spiritual), "Were You There?"; on various aspects of the Christian life—"Lord, I Want to Be a Christian," "We Are Climbing Jacob's Ladder," "Give Me Jesus," "I Want Jesus to Walk with Me," "There Is a Balm in Gilead," "Lord, Make Us More Holy," "This Little Light of Mine"; and Holy Communion—"Let Us Break Bread Together."

● Darin Rowse, 17, a member of the Vancouver Central Church in British Columbia, Canada, recently competed with representatives from the United States, England, Nigeria, and Samoa to capture the title in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union's World Speech Competition in Chicago recently. He was the youngest competitor in the world championship contest. In addition to a plaque recognizing his achievement, Darin won $175 and a gold pin.

Video Cassettes Enhance It Is Written Seminar

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif.—This fall George Vandeman and Roland Lenhoff conducted the first It Is Written Truth for the End Time seminar using video cassettes as a means of following up the initial meetings.

One thousand people attended the opening sessions on September 24 and 25 at the Washington Convention Center in the nation's capital. Pastor Lenhoff gave practical instruction on "How To Understand the Bible," and Pastor Vandeman illustrated the message, "God's Desert Passion Play," with a large model of the Hebrew temple and 40-foot-wide backdrop picturing the sanctuary encampment.

About 97 percent of those attending signed up for continued video cassette seminars to be held in 22 locations in and around Washington, D.C. "This is about 25 percent more than the number who usually continue," said

Thank God for Picture Rolls

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In these days of information explosion, do you ever feel that you are awash in an ocean of print? Do the magazines pile up in your living room faster than you can read them? Are you behind in your reading of church publications so that you wonder if you should cancel a subscription or two?

If you answered yes to any of the above questions, you may enjoy a quiet trip to eastern Africa, an island in the sea of religious publishing where the average Seventh-day Adventist has little to read in the vernacular.

His library would probably include a New Testament (not a complete Bible), a reduced edition of the adult Sabbath School lessons (children receive only a Bible reference to read for the following week), The Bible Speaks (a book explaining the basic Adventist doctrines), and, at the most, two Spirit of Prophecy books.

If you wanted to hold a lay effort, you would do so without benefit of printed advertising materials or audio-visual aids such as are used elsewhere. But, thanks to faithful members in other countries, you would have an effective aid in the form of a picture roll.

Never mind that the pictures are yellowed from much use in the hot tropical sunshine. Who cares that the printed picture title and memory text cannot be read because they are in English. The good old picture roll helps hold people spellbound as they identify with the Bible characters in their flowing eastern robes.

Do Sabbath School leaders in English-speaking countries who mail their used picture rolls to some far away place realize the wealth of spiritual truth they are sharing? Do they know how much their gifts are appreciated?

Follow a picture roll to Tanzania where Mrs. Tien'go of the Arusha Church uses it to conduct a branch Sabbath School. She hangs the picture roll beneath a spreading shade tree and soon attracts a crowd of curious children and some older folk too.

With the colorful picture focusing their attention, she tells the Bible story in Kiswahili, relating it to Tanzanian life. Since her audience is composed mainly of children, she adjusts her style of storytelling to them.

Occasionally she shifts gears and addresses the adults. What modern audio-visual equipment could match the adaptability of Mrs. Tien'go and her picture roll?

Recently Mrs. Tien'go received a brand new picture roll. "What kind of paper is this?" she asked, puzzled by the durable plastic-impregnated material. "See how nicely it hangs. I don't have to roll it backwards to take the curl out of the pages." She was even more surprised to discover that the pages could be wiped clean with a damp cloth.

But the updated pictures (many of which have been adapted to the African scene) and the memory text in Kiswahili, the most widely spoken language in eastern Africa, provided her biggest satisfaction. "I can hardly wait to use it," she said.

"The Quiet Hour" radio program financed the necessary color separations to make the Kiswahili picture roll possible, and much of the additional expenses were met by the General Conference. Mrs. Tien'go's was one of the first 700 picture rolls sent to Tanzania.

But how far will 700 picture rolls go among the 3,300 organized Sabbath Schools in eastern Africa? This quarter Eastern Africa Division has designated the purchase of Kiswahili picture rolls as one of the special projects to benefit from the Thirteenth Sabbath Special Projects Offering.

Each picture roll contains pictures for two quarters and, by the time it is delivered, costs approximately 140 shillings ($18).

How many churches will benefit from the new picture roll? That largely depends on you and me.

Mrs. Tien'go uses a picture roll to conduct a branch Sabbath School in Tanzania and tells Bible stories in the Kiswahili language.

MICHIGAN

Michiana Singles Thanksgiving Retreat will be held November 24 to 27 at Camp Au Sable in Grayling, Michigan. Workshops will deal with spiritual growth, wholeness, friendship, Sabbath, sexuality, and children. Speakers will be Dr. Selma Chaj, psychologist; Kit Watts, writer and speaker, and Allan Wolfson, chaplain. Leave Berrien Springs on a school bus at 8 A.M. Thursday and return by 7 P.M. Sunday. For further information write P.O. Box 318, Berrien Springs, MI 49103, or call Wolfgang, 616-471-1077 or Muriel, 616-471-5754.

Attention Michigan Conference High School Students: December 2 to 4 will be a special weekend of spiritual and recreational fellowship at Camp Au Sable for public high school students. Guest speaker will be Elder John

Pastor Lenhoff. "We believe the video cassette ministry and the offer of Pastor Vandeman's new book, Cry of a Lonely Planet, contributed to the increased response."

Truth for the End Time is sent as a complete witnessing kit to pastors and laymen. It contains 30 videotaped messages from Pastor Vandeman, accompanying study guides, New King James Bibles, and copies of Cry of a Lonely Planet. The package is designed to take viewers through a step-by-step doctrinal study of the Scriptures.

"These are not sit-back-and-watch sessions," Pastor Lenhoff explained. "Viewers mark their Bibles and cross-reference texts. They become participants in putting biblical truths together."

Local pastors introduce each video cassette and continue to guide participants in the system of Bible marking. At the end of each study guide is an exercise entitled, "And Now—Your Turn." The host pastor can use this section to begin establishing a relationship with participants as he draws out their thoughts and questions.

Pastor Steve Wilsey, who is holding a seminar in Washington, D.C., has followed up It Is Written seminars before without the video cassettes. He stated, "I think the cassettes bring more continuity to the program. Now Pastor Vandeman is there with me as the seminar progresses. The cassettes are well done and quite attractive to our people."

Pastors Vandeman and Lenhoff will return to Washington, D.C. on November 12 to hold another all-day seminar which will further boost the continuing program of local pastors. At the seminar, baptism and other "decision subjects" will be presented, guiding participants toward greater commitment.

Glass, who attended public high school and is familiar with the needs of youth. Pastors and youth leaders are encouraged to arrange for transportation and an adult to be present. Let's see that each of our youth in public high school has this opportunity. Applications will be sent to the churches soon. ## Forget the Credit List and Finish the Work

James Hayward
President
Wisconsin Conference

"No telling how much good you can do if you don't care who gets the credit," was a philosophy of Don H. Claussen who served 20 years as a U.S. Congressman. Good counsel for all engaged in finishing God's work during these 1,000 Days of Reaping.

Jesus exemplified this in His labor of love, and could thus pray, "I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." John 17:4. All glory and credit was given to God rather than himself.

Ellen White wrote, "He [the Lord] knows just how much credit to give to each one.

Will you not lay down your credit list . . . and leave God to do His own work? . . . and attend to the work God has given you." Christian Service, p. 268.

Again she wrote, "Self is ever ready to take the credit if any measure of success attends the work. Self is flattered and exalted, and the impression is not made upon other minds that God is all in all." The Desire of Ages, p. 493.

Nebuchadnezzar sought personal credit for his accomplishments, and it resulted in a mental affliction and loss of influence. He said, "Is not this great Babylon, that I have built . . . by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty?" Daniel 4:30 (emphasis added). In the very hour he spoke these credit-seeking words, he lost his mind. (See verse 33.)

Jesus said, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." John 12:32. If Seventh-day Adventists today will uplift Jesus and forget the credit list, there is no telling how much good can be done in the 1,000 Days of Reaping, Ingathering, or any part we have in glorifying Him and finishing His work. After all, the first angel's message says, "Fear God, and give glory to HIM; for the hour of his judgment is come." Revelation 14:7 (emphasis added).

NOVEMBER 8, 1983 VOLUME LXXV, NUMBER 23

Lewis M. Petersen of Clearwater Lake, Wisconsin, has been a faithful reader of the Herald for the past 74 years. Age hasn't kept this 95-year-old from being active. Last month he presented one of the Sabbath sermons in the Clearwater Lake Church. On page two you can read about Mr. Petersen and other Herald friends who helped us look back in time during this, our 75th anniversary.
