

Spiritual Leaders Recognized at Sullivan

INDIANA—Mable Sargent, 94 (left); Ethel Walters, 89, and Alta Thomson, 87, (not pictured) are spiritual leaders of the Sullivan, Indiana, Church, according to Eloise Pirtle, communication secretary. Through the years they have shared their hospitality with many ministers and their families. They have also passed out literature and given Bible studies. In their youth they walked to church in fair weather or foul; sometimes through deep snow. As long as they were able to walk, they faithfully supported the Ingathering campaign. Today they still make certain their goals are reached and pray for those who are yet able to go from door to door.

Ingatherers Find Souls Searching For Truth

LAKE UNION—What motivates someone to go out into the cold blustery weather of winter to solicit funds even for such a good cause as Ingathering?

Many things, but the paramount motivation for Christians should be the love they have for their God. This we have seen at work among our members time and time again during the 1984 campaign.

Early in this Ingathering season Marion Davis, community services leader of the Port Huron, Michigan, Church, and Glenn H. Hill of the Michigan Conference were soliciting door to door in Port Huron. Always alert for an opportunity to witness, they came to the home of Susan and Douglas.

Both Susan and Douglas were unemployed and felt they couldn't give, but said they did know a Jan. Jan began studies and soon recruited her sister, Carroll. Jan is still studying, but Carroll has joined her life with Jesus and His church.

October 1984 once again found Sister Pirtle and another church member, Mildred Swaby, Ingathering, This time a man was contacted in a used car dealership; he was reading his Bible.

During the Ingathering presentation, Dennis began to ask questions about doctrines. So much interest was exhibited that Sister Pirtle suggested that her pastor might be willing to study with him.

That Wednesday night she told her pastor, Frank Zollman, about Dennis and his interest in the Bible. Elder Zollman is currently studying every Tuesday evening with Dennis and his wife, Sheila.

Michigan Conference President Retires

MICHIGAN—Charles Keymer, president of the Michigan Conference since 1975, shocked the executive committee and his office staff with an announcement in November that he and his wife, Maxine, would take early retirement as of December 31, 1984.

Elder Keymer had planned to continue as president until the next triennial session in 1986, but a medical examination revealed that his body is reacting negatively to the intense pressure of administrative responsibilities.

The Keymers concluded that after their 41 years of active service in the church, it was time to carry a more moderate work load. That service began in 1943 after

Elder Keymer graduated from

Elder and Mrs. Keymer

Southern Missionary Junior College and Washington Missionary College. His first assignment was assistant pastor and singing evangelist in Miami, Florida.

Subsequent assignments took the Keymers to Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri, New York, California, Oregon, Texas, and Michigan. They pastored at Battle Creek Tabernacle from 1955 to 1959.

In 1971 Elder Keymer was called to be secretary of the Michigan Conference, and later he succeeded Elder Robert Moon as president.

Charles Keymer

Visitors to the Michigan Conference often speak of the spirit of unity among the workers there. A major force in that unity was Elder Keymer who stressed teamwork.

A Chapel Records recording artist, Elder Keymer sometimes served as chairman of the music committees for major Adventist events such as a large youth congress or a General Conference Session.

He had leadership roles in at least seven major world church gatherings (Atlantic City, Detroit, Robert H. Carter (standing), president of the Lake Union Conference, addressed the Michigan Conference ministerial staff during a farewell luncheon for the Keymers at Grand Ledge Academy.

Dallas, San Francisco, and Vienna) as director of music and tenor soloist.

Most recently he was a member of the Church Hymnal Committee of the General Conference.

A farewell luncheon for the Keymers was held in the Grand Ledge Adventist Academy cafeteria on November 26. The ministerial force of the conference was present. The office staff held another farewell program on December 9 to recount the blessings of the Lord during the Keymers' years of service.

Directed by Elder Keymer, the heavy decisions facing the Michigan Conference were always made in an atmosphere of prayer. Because of this, speakers at the farewell services frequently referred to the council table in Elder Keymer's office as "a table of prayer."

The Keymers' son, Mike, lives in Washington State near Arlington. His boyhood ambition was to someday build a house for his parents. That dream was recently fulfilled when Mike supervised the construction of his parents' dream house in Washington State.

Moved in by Christmas, the Keymers, for the first time in 20 years, were able to spend Christmas together with Mike and his family.

Seventh-day Adventist man. Susan had been interested in the Bible for some time and wanted to understand it.

Elder Hill answered several questions, and before long Sister Davis and he were invited in. Susan slipped away for her purse and Douglas donated a few coins. More than $2 was given, but better still—Susan and Douglas were scheduled to begin studies.

Eloise Pirtle of the Sullivan, Indiana, Church has been Ingathering for many years. Frequently the contacts that are made lead to interesting experiences that keep her spirits high.

In 1981 she and Mabel Sargent, also of the Sullivan Church, were Ingathering in a tavern and met Seventh-day Adventists? We don't know, but experiences such as these are sufficient motivation for Ingathering.

We would like to see hundreds of souls respond to Christ during our Ingathering ministry, but even one soul is worth all the effort. We would like to receive millions of dollars to swell the resources for a finished work. But whatever the amount received, we will press on till Jesus gathers us home.

Many thanks to all of you who participated in this year's campaign. Your efforts and your gifts are recorded in heaven's book of record and none shall lose their reward. Maranatha!

Adrian Member Honored for Dedication to Church and Family

MICHIGAN—Tomas Martinez (holding plaque), a member of the Adrian, Michigan, Church, was honored at a recent Spanish Awareness Day celebration. Mr. Martinez, whose wife died some years ago, has raised all of his nine children as Seventh-day Adventists. (They and their children appear with him above.) He has also faithfully supported the church and church school programs, and each year has donated his entire income tax refund check to the school. All services for the day were conducted in Spanish, and a marimba group from the Spanish church in Berrien Springs, Michigan, presented a sacred concert in the afternoon.

As this quarter's NO ONE BUT YOU slide-tape program is shown in churches throughout the Lake Union, viewers may gain an appreciation for winter never previously experienced.

2 NEWS

The program shows how a tiny snowflake, in itself, is fragile. But when joined together with other snowflakes-a dynamic picture of beauty is created. So it is with individuals who, fragile in their humanness, join together in a common goal to form a beautiful picture of God's love and caring.

Yes, each tiny snowflake does come into this world alone-

but often a snowflake

joins other snowflakes and soon there is a snowball effect.

Portrayed in "One Tiny

Snowflake," the first quarter 1985 program, are several accounts of witnessing opportunities which had a snowball effect.

Eighty-one-year-old Mabel Mathias of New Market, Virginia, entered the picture as "one tiny snowflake" by giving her time and friendship to Eugene Hopson, a prisoner in Illinois.

Before long several individuals living in the Ottawa and Centralia, Illinois, areas became a part of the story. Their Christian witness and concern led to Eugene's baptism on September 22, 1984. Today Eugene and Robert Fekete, his pastor, are giving Bible studies to Eugene's fellow inmates.

From the Hammond-East Chicago, Indiana, area comes another story that has seen a snowball effect. Ten years ago Matt and Amparo Prieto purchased a book from Joe Locken, a literature evangelist. As the Prietos were searching for a deeper religious experience years later, they took the book off the shelf.

Soon afterwards their response to an "It Is Written" television offer led Elder Carmelo Mercado to their home. Bible studies began and the Prietos were baptized in January 1981

Love for God's Word prompted Matt and Amparo to open the doors of their home for Bible study to neighbors, friends and co-workers. Two of Matt's fellow employees, Rosemary and Shirley Masch, were baptized as a result. Through these sisters' witness, their parents were baptized in San Antonio, Texas, in November 1984.

At the Adrian Church in Michigan, Ray and Madlyn Hamblin have witnessed a snowball effect. Their story picks up after they accepted an invitation to join Adventist-Laymen's Services and Industries (ASI). As owners of a printing company, they desired to find an effective way to witness through their business.

A short time later Albert Parker, their pastor, invited the Hamblins to attend a Revelation Seminar training session in Detroit. Though reluctant to attend, their lack of enthusiasm quickly changed. They were so eager to conduct a seminar, one was scheduled for only a month later.

Today Ray and Madlyn are part of a closely knit church team which has already conducted four seminars. As a result, nine students have been baptized.

On the Sabbath morning when "One Tiny Snowflake" comes to your church-take a few moments to consider:

I may only be a tiny "snowflake" in this universe-but I am important. Just as a snowflake was created to touch a life with beauty and happiness-that's what the Creator has in mind for me. I'm so glad my life is intended to be a beautiful part of the picture-joining other individuals in presenting Christ's redeeming love to the world.

Upon completion of the New Life Bible Study Course, Eugene Hopson, left, receives his diploma from Pastor Milton Fish, Ottawa, Illinois, and Virginia Chamberlain, a church member. Eugene, who is serving a prison term, was awarded this certificate prior to his transfer to a correctional facility at Centralia, Illinois. Robert Fekete, Centralia pastor, baptized Eugene on September 22, 1984. Eugene now says that his real crime was not having God in his life.

Baptism Held in River

MICHIGAN-Karen Beukema braved the chilly waters of the Muskegon River on Sabbath, September 29, to be the first of 11 baptisms during the Robert Wiese Prophecy Panorama Crusade in Big Rapids, Michigan.

Karen had been studying and attending church for some time, but "Pastor Bob's" dynamic presentations on Bible prophecy helped her crystalize her decision.

A few weeks later, on October 20, Pastor Kenneth Lee baptized five men at the same spot on the river where Karen was baptized. Three of the men were husbands of members. Two men wanted to be baptized even though their wives were not quite ready to join with them.

Marion Thompson, a devout Christian woman of another faith, has played the organ for the Big Rapids Church for more than a year. Listening to Bible truth, and studying with church member Janne Brassington helped her make her decision to join the church by profession of faith during the crusade.

Pastor Lee reports that the members of his three churches (Reed City, Evart, and Big Rapids) supported the meetings throughout the crusade. Some members drove as far as 40 miles one way to attend each evening.

Multi-media presentations, a Bible marking program, and a film series on the life of Christ highlighted the Prophecy Panorama Crusade. Virginia Bement, community services leader of the church, led a team of women in conducting a program for the children each evening.

At the close of the meetings five more people were baptized in the Big Rapids Church.

 According to Marie Long, communication secretary for the Portage Church, the Pathfinders collected more than 300 cans of food on Halloween night for representatives from the Seventhday Adventist Church, completed the 10 miles. The funds raised were dispersed as follows: 25 percent to stay locally for the Dunn County pantry (food for area families in need), 75 percent to church world organizations. After the three-hour walk, hot cocoa and pudding were handed out; vegetable soup was also served, reported Leroy Goss, communication secretary. • Halloween night, the Menomonie Pathfinder Club knocked on doors in the community to ask for canned food items instead of treats. These food items were used to make up food baskets for community families in need. Pathfinder uniforms were worn by the young people involved. According to Leroy Goss, church communication secretary, an ad was placed in the local newspapers telling the public about the plan.

MICHIGAN-Al Ferguson. Michelle and Blaine La Vigne were baptized by Elder Kenneth Oliver on November 17.

They are the fruit of the first Revelation Seminar given by layman Ronald Duman in the Cheboygan, Michigan, Church.

The only advertising for the series was a story in the newspaper. Twelve non-Adventists attended, and four of them completed the course.

Ron and Rita Duman were baptized two and a half years ago as the result of attending evangelistic meetings by Elder Bob Collar. As Ron works he talks to his coworkers about the Lord.

He gave a copy of The Great Controversy to Al Ferguson; in its pages Al discovered Christ. Soon Bible studies were being given to Al and another co-worker during their lunch hours.

When the Revelation Seminar began both co-workers came regularly.

The night Al made his decision for baptism his wife asked him to leave. Al realized Satan was working and held firm to his decision.

The same week Michelle and Blaine decided for baptism, Blaine lost his job. Blaine held to his decision, and the Lord has now helped him develop his own business.

The La Vignes now dream of a church school for their three children and others to attend.

Al is currently studying the Bible with his daughter, and the La Vignes are bringing the "good news" to their families and friends.

Merkel Certified Professional Secretary

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY-Ruth Merkel, administrative secretary at Andrews University, earned the Certified Professional Secretary (C.P.S.) designation recently.

Mrs. Merkel has worked for Andrews for more than eight years and is secretary to Richard W. Schwarz, vice president for academic administration. She is a native of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The C.P.S. rating is achieved by passing a two-day, six-part examination administered by the institute and by fulfilling work and educational requirements.

February 15 Is Deadline For Michigan Scholarships

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY- January 17 at 7:30 P.M. February 15, 1985, is the deadline for all 1985-86 college freshmen to apply for Michigan scholarships and grants, according to Esther Hare, financial aid officer at Andrews University.

"If students qualify for a Michigan grant and/or scholarship and apply before February 15, they are guaranteed to receive aid," says Mrs. Hare.

Students may apply for Michigan aid and other grant and scholarship aid by filling out a Financial Aid Form (F.A.F.). The F.A.F. asks for such information as income and resources of the student for the coming year.

To assist students in filling out the Financial Aid Form and other necessary forms, Mrs. Hare will be at Andrews Academy on Garland Drive in Berrien Springs on

Andrews Students Aid Ethiopia

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY-"Starvation in Africa, particularly Ethiopia, has been big news lately, so we decided to do something more about it than just shake our heads," Esther Rosado said.

Esther is president of Andrews University's World Missions Club which has, in less than two weeks, helped raise more than $13,000 in a campus-wide effort to solicit aid for the people starving in Africa.

F.A.S.T. (Feed Africa's Starving Thousands) has swept the campus. In the first 26 hours the idea had generated more than $1,000 in donations and pledges, according to Ron du Preez, a seminary student at Andrews who has done most of the footwork to get the program off the ground.

The project got started after the publication of the plight of the Ethiopians in the national media. "As Christians, we felt we needed to do more than just pray. So we sat down together and came up with the name F.A.S.T., and things just took off from there," said Mr. du Preez.

"Our timing was perfect. That weekend of November 24 Lee Grady, director of material resources for Adventist Development and Relief Agency, International (A.D.R.A.) was on campus. I arranged for him to speak at local Adventist churches.

"That afternoon he was on the

from their next paycheck.

"One student gave an anonymous gift of $1,000," said Mr. du Preez.

Another anonymous gift of $100 was given in a unique manner. One-dollar bills were individually rolled and tied with ribbons and placed in a basket. The basket was delivered via intercampus mail to the public relations department of the university.

Six donation jars were placed in high-traffic areas and 744 letters were sent to faculty and staff offering them the chance to donate by payroll deduction.

'So we're channeling all the funds collected on campus through A.D.R.A. because they are involved in development projects as well as relief aid."

A.D.R.A. has been working in Africa with relief projects for more than 25 years. They are now drilling wells to provide irrigation.

Right now, however, A.D.R.A. needs emergency funds. Food is pouring in so fast A.D.R.A. cannot deliver it fast enough. Five new trucks and three new semitrailers are on the way to help distribute the food and other aid supplies, according to Mr. Grady.

"Grady also said the situation is every bit as bad in Kenya and

Andrews Students Receive Scholarships

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY-More than $3,000 in scholarships was awarded during the fall of 1984 to four students in the dietetics program at Andrews University, according to Alice Williams, center, associate professor of home economics and head of the coordinated undergraduate program in dietetics. As a result of a national competition, two scholarships were awarded to Andrews students by the American Dietetic Association (A.D.A.). Karena Walters received a $1,000 scholarship from the A.D.A. "On Tuesday, the 27th, we conducted a joint worship program for undergraduate men and women on campus and told them what Grady had said. The students really responded enthusiastically."

By Wednesday, November 28, 3,000 inserts had been placed in the Student Movement, the student newspaper, advertising the effort. In their Thursday paychecks students employed by the university received a pledge card that gave them the chance to donate by an automatic deduction to a recent Newsweek article." said Mr. du Preez.

The Pan African Club solicited four university apartment complexes and raised nearly $700 from students during the weekend of December 1.

On Wednesday, December 5, more than 500 students participated in a fast. The money saved on meals not served in the cafeteria that night has been donated to the effort.

"But our efforts aren't just for now," said Mr. du Preez. "Grady had told us that even if the drought ended tomorrow, it would be at least a year before the Ethiopians would be able to feed themselves again. The drought has Mozambique, but Ethiopia has gotten the headlines," said Mr. du Preez. "So our donations aren't earmarked just for Ethiopia."

"Because the need in Africa will continue for several years, our efforts here will not end this month," said Mrs. Rosado. "We are planning regular, quarterly appeals.

"Even the young children have gotten involved," said Mrs. Rosado. "Dwight Nelson, pastor of Pioneer Memorial Church on campus, encouraged them to bring children's clothing to present as gifts to the African children during the special children's Christmas program held on campus December 15."

Tell City, Indiana, Church Holds Awareness Events-

INDIANA-In June the 51-member Tell City, Indiana, Church sponsored a program of healthful living at the Perry County Memorial Hospital Health Fair conducted at Ivy Tech in Tell City.

Vegetarian foods were displayed and sampled and healthful living literature distributed.

July found the church at the 4-H Fair along with the conference health screening van and "Smoking Sam." James Lowery, Listen representative from Carmel, Indiana, presented lectures on the dangers of dependent drugs.

At the annual Schweitzer Fest in August, the conference emergency van was opened to the public. Video programs on healthful living, family life, stop smoking seminars, and a Bible study were shown.

Pastor Chuck Hanlon said, "Our awareness events continued as the community services center was opened in the church."

Mayor Walter Hagedorn of Tell City cut the ribbon and shared how he, as a boy, had helped the church's oldest member, Anna Scott, by carrying dirt for her in a five-gallon bucket.

Others participating in the ceremony were: Edward Skoretz, conference community services director; Catherine Kuszmaul, state president of community services; Dorothy Reed, Willma Perkinpaugh and Vera Terry all from Tell City.

Refreshments and fellowship concluded the program.

Colporteur's Perseverance Pays Off

INDIANA-Two and a half years ago when Agnes Foncesca of Gary, Indiana, a friend, and her friend's children were waiting in a dentist's reception room, they started looking through the Uncle Arthur books on a table.

Next they found a card inviting them to send for Bible studies. They filled it out and mailed it, not knowing exactly what to expect in reply.

In a short time Joe Locken came for a visit. He sensed Agnes' interest and offered to give her Bible studies. She accepted the offer and began studying and returning the lessons for grading. Joe stopped at the home about every other week to see how she was progressing.

The questions were on the Sabbath.

Agnes wanted to know how all the people who keep Sunday as the Sabbath could be wrong and why Joe hadn't told her that he and the lessons were from the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

She was upset that she had taken so much time studying something that was "confusing and wrong," according to members of the church where Agnes had been attending. The visit ended when Agnes tore the lessons up and threw them in the garbage can.

For the next six months Agnes stopped studying. Joe believes in perseverance, however. He felt the Holy Spirit leading one day while in Agnes' neighborhood and decided to call on her once more. This time Agnes listened. She responded to what Joe told her by beginning to study the Amazing Facts series.

Agnes believes in perseverance, also. In the face of ridicule and discouragement from friends and family members, she completed the Amazing Facts series and went on to study the advanced Daniel and Revelation and New Life series from the Voice of Prophecy. She also read a 13-page sermon on the Spirit of Prophecy.

Pastor Don Short next led her through the Encounter series using the Dukane projector. When Pastor Short transferred to the Lafavette Church, two Glen Park church members, Lillian Muldoon and Julia Shavey, took over the studies.

The Indiana Conference emergency van was opened to the public during the Schweitzer Fest. Video programs were shown.

On one particular set of lessons Agnes wrote some questions, so Joe stopped by to answer them.

Agnes Foncesca, center, was baptized as the result of the efforts of many dedicated people like, from left, Lillian Muldoon, Joe Locken, Julia Shavey and Pastor Carmello Mercado.

The new pastor, Carmello Mercado, also visited and studied with Agnes.

Joe had been encouraging Agnes to come to church, but it wasn't until two years after her first Bible study that Agnes finally attended.

Agnes credits much of her decision to become a Seventh-day Adventist to the clear truths presented in the lessons; especially the Daniel and Revelation series. She was also encouraged by Joe's clear, honest answers to all her questions, but most of all by his perseverance.

Joe credits his perseverance to the Holy Spirit.

June Jacobson, community services director, reported a total of 107 bags received plus a donation of 18 cases of canned goods by an anonymous church member. These gifts filled the pantry shelves in the community services center. Pathfinders also collected 16 large boxes of food on Halloween and personally delivered 12 boxes of food to families in need prior to Thanksgiving. Monetary gifts were used to purchase toys and clothing for those in need at Christmas time, reported Bernace Kirschenbauer, communication secretary.

Offering to Benefit Inner City

LAKE UNION-Opal Tallent and Mike Covington represent the kind of challenges Adventist Better Living Centers face every day as they offer their ministry to the hopeless and helpless of the Inner City.

Mike is 33 years of age and has spent nine years and two months in prison. Almost one-third of his life has been spent behind bars. He was so angry with himself and the world that he was known as a "bad" man even within the prison

Marjorie Powers, the director, shared not only the material things he needed, but also opened the way for Bible studies.

As a result, Mike and his son are now members of the Seventhday Adventist Church. A new hope in Jesus has quieted Mike's rebellious heart, and Mike now longs to serve his Lord in a preaching ministry.

Opal Tallent represents another kind of need in the Inner City. While in her early teens, Opal's family joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church. She still has fond memories of her early association with the church and of her days at Indiana Academy. However, she drifted away from the

Pathfinders Solicit for Those in Need

ILLINOIS-The Waukegan, Illinois, Pathfinders solicited groceries, cash and even a bed for community services workers to distribute to those in need. As they went from home to home they left pamphlets telling of the work of the church in various areas. Pathfinders had the help of their new pastor and his wife, Pastor and Mrs. Jerry Coyle. The Coyles lent their helping hand just one day after they moved into the parsonage. John Rorabeck, Chaplain and Mrs. Harold Eslinger and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grady are also active Pathfinder supporters, reported Shirley Coulter, Waukegan Church.

· A new Spanish edition of School members. Four other divi-Marriage Education and its companion volume for couples, Togetherness, Oneness, Joy, are ready for release from the General Conference Home and Family Service. Marriage Education, a resource notebook with suggested sessions, assignments and cassettes, has served as a guide for pastors and others involved in preparing couples for marriage since its completion in 1979. Togetherness, Oneness, Joy, the notebook provided for the use of the couple, opens the way for communication. The release of these materials is timed to support the 1984 North American Division Annual Council recommendation that premarriage preparation be made available to every couple being married in a Seventh-day Adventist Church. • "Have a good year!" is the theme of a series of 12 public service radio spots recently sent by the Voice of Prophecy to every station in the United States and Canada for airing from December 26, 1984, through the middle of January 1985. "Each 30-second spot models a way to make the new year creative and meaningful," says John Robertson, director of Sunspot Productions at the Voice of Prophecy. The New Year's spots are part of the continuing "Seasonings" series released near various holidays. Each spot has a concluding tag identifying the Seventh-day Adventist Church. • During the second quarter of 1984, worldwide Sabbath School membership for the first time reached 5 million. It took 98 years to reach the first million, 13 years for the second, nine for the third, seven for the fourth, and four for the fifth. The Inter-American Division leads the 10 world divisions with 937,561 Sabbath sions-Eastern Africa, Africa-Indian Ocean, South American, and Far Eastern-each report more than a half million Sabbath School members.

• Steps to Christ will have been printed in 124 languages when a 5,000-book edition in Catalan, a language spoken in parts of Spain and France, comes off the press. On September 27, 1984, the General Conference Committee voted a $1,800 subsidy for the project. • When a Roman Catholic priest came to purchase books at the office of the Hungarian Adventist church in Budapest, he bought, among other books, 20 copies of Steps to Christ. He explained that he used them as teaching manuals for young people because the author had clearly and profoundly explained the crucial question of how to receive life eternal. He also confessed that he had been particularly impressed by her urgency concerning the return of Christ.

 Most Adventist secondary students in Zaire were encouraged greatly when the four-day national examination results were released in October. Earlier this year Adventist students faced a crisis when they were told they would have to sit for the national final examinations through Sabbath. The faith of those who refused to take the exams on Sabbath was rewarded. Authorities averaged the exams over the three days of tests actually taken. Although the national pass rate was only 30 percent, students from Lukanga and Kanyatsi Adventist secondary schools, where none took the examination on Sabbath, all passed. Nineteen of the 20 candidates from Songa Adventist Secondary School succeeded. At the Adventist school where all the students took the Sabbath examination and where the entire staff was fired for having encouraged them to do so, only two of the candidates succeeded.

But Mike learned to love the Lord and just recently was released from prison.

Reader's Digest Reprints Article From Church Journal

MOUNTAIN VIEW, CALIF.— For the sixth time in history, the Reader's Digest has reprinted an article from an Adventist journal.

Signs of the Times Editor Ken Holland reports that a story about Northern Ireland entitled "A Love Stronger Than Hate" that appeared in the January 1984 issue of These Times magazine was chosen for an edition of Reader's Digest.

"To my knowledge no other denominational magazine has ever had articles reprinted in the Reader's Digest," said Elder Holland. "It just underscores the fact that we have some of the best authors writing for our magazine."

Elder Holland said that author George Target was approached by a senior editor from Reader's Digest and asked for permission to reprint the article in an international edition. The editor also asked for a subscription to be sent to him at the Digest, saying he felt it was a "great magazine and good-looking."

SIGNS—Witnessing made easy.

We can find you money for college in places most people wouldn't even think of looking.

"An affordable Adventist education for every student." It's more than just talk. And it's more than just a promise. At Andrews University, it's reality.

That's because we have a unique way of guiding you, the student, to places where available money exists, including a lot of our own.

Quite simply, once you and your family do everything you can to meet college costs, we will take care of the rest.

To do everything you can means you must receive as much help from your parents as you possibly can. (There's a formula for this, based on your parents' income. The average contribution is around $1900. Some pay more. Some pay less. Some pay nothing at all.)

You and your family must, with our help, apply for low interest loans from banks and other financial institutions, and let us arrange government grants for you.

And finally, you must be willing to work, either for the university or at a job you arrange off-campus. (We guarantee you an on-campus job if you group your classes in either the morning or the afternoon.)

Now comes our part. We will make up any difference between your resources and your college costs. It's as simple as that. And we mean what we say. We've put aside nearly $1.5 million for this use alone.

'Voice' to Begin Live Call-in Program

NEWBURY PARK, CALIF.— "Let's Talk," a one-hour live interview and call-in radio broadcast originating at Voice of Prophecy headquarters in California, premieres on Saturday, January 5, at 10 P.M. Eastern Standard Time.

H. M. S. Richards Jr., and Kenneth Richards will serve as hosts for the program. Each week, they will interview a guest for about 20 minutes and then take phone calls from listeners who want to ask questions on the evening's topic.

Guest for the first program, January 5, is Dr. Jack Provonsha, a member of the ethics committee that made the decision to proceed with the baboon heart transplant in the recent "Baby Fae" case at Loma Linda University Medical Center.

The following week, Kay Kuzma will discuss coping with the stresses of parenting, problems of working mothers, and teaching children at home versus public education. Dr. Kuzma has authored several books on family living, hosts a daily radio program, and is an educational consultant for a toy manufacturer.

The programs will be transmitted to radio stations via the Satcom III satellite by the Satellite Radio Network. Any radio station in the United States may air "Let's Talk" without payment of fees to the network, according to Michael Glinter, vice president and general manager of S.R.N.

"We are excited about this great oportunity," says Pastor Richards. "The best part of all is that the Voice of Prophecy will pay only for the production of the programs. We will not be buying time for this new broadcast.

"Stations airing the programs will be able to sell commercials in their own communities. Our job is to make the broadcast so good that stations will want to carry it because of the audience potential."

Announcements

Announcements for publication in the Herald should be received by YOUR LOCAL CON-FERENCE office at least FIVE weeks before the scheduled event.

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY Adventist Engaged Encounter, a weekend designed to help engaged couples prepare for their marriage relationship, will be held February 15 to 17 and May 3 to 5 on the Andrews University campus. The weekend program is open to any engaged couple committed to growth in their relationship. For further information or to make reservations, contact the Campus Ministries Office, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104, or call 616-471-3211. A Vesper Service featuring Johann Sebastian Bach transcriptions will be held Saturday, January 12, at 4:30 P.M. in the Pioneer Memorial Church at Andrews University by Morris Taylor, professor of piano. The selections to be performed are transcriptions for piano of Bach's vocal, organ and harpsichord compositions which have been transcribed by prominent composers. The vesper program is, open to the public.

So the excuse of "not having enough money to pay for a Christian education" will never be heard at Andrews University.

Our plan is called the Stretch Plan. And it works because of the people who make it work. You, your parents and Andrews. All stretching together to make a good thing happen.

For Keeps

Charles C. Case Editor Lake Union Herald

God formed man and woman from the dust of the ground, then He breathed into their nostrils the breath of life. On that first Friday evening of creation Adam and Eve, newly married by God, watched their first sunset together.

Imagine how romantic that must have been-together in the Garden of Eden with the newly created birds, animals, flowers and other foliage. The first Sabbath was born, made by God for man.

Since that beautiful beginning, sin has altered the course of events, but we have two institutions that have come down to us from that time-the Sabbath and marriage. Satan is working hard to destroy both. He instituted another day for Sabbath, known as Sunday, and he also works to break up marriages. We are told that when we marry, we are to leave all others and be with our lover.

Because this relationship was intended by God to be beautiful is reason enough for us to "work" at keeping it that way. It takes not 50 percent, but 100 percent effort on both sides.

Millie and I will soon be completing 30 years of marriage. We have a beautiful relationship, and we plan, with God's help, to keep it that way. The home is sacred and holy, and we should do everything to preserve it like we do the Sabbath.

There are several programs being operated to help couples communicate better with each other. We are involved with John and Millie Youngberg in the Marriage Commitment Seminars, and God blesses each time a seminar is conducted. More and more requests are being made for these special weekends for spouses because these seminars enhance the marriage relationship. Millie and I enjoy taking part in these seminars because we, too, are drawn closer together each time we participate in one.

Why not make 1985 the best year of your marriage and work toward a better year each year until Christ comes. Join a marriage seminar weekend in 1985 and see how profitable it is for your marriage.

It is interesting that most men do not see the need for such a seminar, yet many wives are starving for attention and affection. Maybe we men should "wake up," take that lovely sweetheart in our arms and tell her how much we love her and need her, and plan, with God's help, to make the new year the best year yet. Try it, men, you will love it, and so will she.

During 1985, several articles will be appearing in the Lake Union Herald on family life. We hope they will prove to be beneficial. A strong church can only be as strong as its members and their homes are. Let us rededicate our lives and homes for the future, starting right now.

We will be praying for each of you. God bless.

Jim Vogel was assisted by the community services organization of the Bay City, Michigan, Church after his apartment had been involved in a fire in 1977. Though not an Adventist, he has shown his gratitude by joining with Bay City church members every year since in soliciting for the Ingathering campaign. "Jim is one of the top ingatherers," says Pastor Hans Killius. (Photo by Lois Hafner)
