Merrill Fleming, Michigan Pathfinder director, points out a feature of a mounted snapping turtle for Lester Rilea, youth director, and interested Pathfinders.

Michigan Pathfinders Meet

MICHIGAN—More than 780 Pathfinders and their leaders attended the Pathfinder camporee at Camp Au Sable September 20 through 22.

Paul Howell, pastor of the Hillsdale and Prattville, Michigan, churches was the guest speaker.

A large cross erected from logs was highlighted with red floodlights while Pastor Howell told the story of salvation. When the appeal was made for baptism, one Pathfinder came forward. Suddenly, he knelt at the cross. Soon he was joined by 71 other Pathfinders.

Another weekend highlight included nature study. Merrill Fleming, Pathfinder director of the Michigan Conference, used a mounted snapping turtle to illustrate Satan's work of destroying souls. One Pathfinder had the firsthand experience of sighting a bear while walking in the woods.

Help Others to Breathe Free

LAKE UNION—Several years ago, I had a druggist friend who was a chain-smoker. We discussed his habit and its effect on his life; yet, he continued to smoke. Later, he had to have a cancerous lung removed.

When he returned to work, I found him still smoking, and asked, "Don't you know that cigarette smoking caused you to go through the pain and suffering of surgery?" I'll never forget his reply, "I'd rather die than give smoking up," and he did.

Not all respond to information regarding the advantages of living healthfully as my druggist friend. Some do, but many change and then become disciples to others regarding how much better life can be without such habits.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church sponsors numerous activities which provide information and training in how to live longer while enjoying life more fully. This is part of our Caring Church program.

Breathe Free is the new title for the S.D.A. plan to stop smoking. It is a revision of the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking that helped thousands realize the benefits of not smoking. It is anticipated that the new program will be even more successful.

As a rule, most people do not need to be sold on the harmful effects of tobacco. They have already received the message from the press and other sources. They merely need to learn how to break away. The Breathe Free plan is a method to help them.

On Sabbath, October 19, the World Health and Temperance Day offering will be received in Seventh-day Adventist Churches across North America. Funds received that day will be used to help many to not only breathe free but to also enjoy the benefits gained from living a more healthful life-style.

We encourage members throughout the Lake Union to generously support this offering so our caring message can be properly shared with those who need to make healthier choices.

Ministers Challenged

MICHIGAN—The ministerial force of the conference met at Camp Au Sable September 8 through 11 for refreshment and inspiration. Mornings were devoted to study, afternoons to recreation and evenings to anonymous case studies to garner wisdom for difficult problems. Leonard E. Jaacks, above, ministerial director of the Washington Conference, was guest speaker.

Voice of Prophecy Soul-Winning Ministry Proves Radio Time Is Still a Bargain

NEWBURY PARK, CALIF.—"I am usually in church on Sunday, but I was home sick one day and turned on the radio," writes Kurt from northern Indiana. The New Life Bible Guides were offered that day, and Kurt immediately requested them.

"I appreciate this course very much," he reports. "Each guide has been a blessing to me."

More than 50,000 new listeners like Kurt contact the Voice of Prophecy (V.O.P.) each year. Many ask first for a book or a bookmark, a poster or a pen, but all are encouraged to apply for the New Life course to help them better understand the Bible.

Thousands of radio listeners enroll every year. Thousands of other persons join them in studying the course because Seventh-day Adventist church members give enrollment cards to their friends and neighbors, and because literature evangelists present the first lesson of the course to those they canvass.

The New Life course appeals to all ages. Over 60 percent of those who enroll are age 35 and under. Last year, graduates from the V.O.P. Bible School totaled 18,465.

Counselors in the school phone hundreds of students each month. During their conversation, they evaluate them on a scale from one to ten in each of three areas: knowledge, attitude toward what they have learned, and conviction on what they know.

If the attitude and conviction scores are five or more, the counselor then contacts the local pastor for immediate follow-up. In addition, all names of graduates of either New Life or the advanced course on Daniel are sent to the conferences and then passed on to the nearest church.

Thrilling reports of decisions for Christ and baptisms come to the Voice of Prophecy every day. From Pat in Michigan: "Thanks to you, I have found Bible truth. I have joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church." From Donna in Indiana: "I was baptized in another church, but now am planning to be a member of the Adventist Church."

From David in Illinois: "I never knew that the seventh day was to be kept as the Sabbath, but I do now and plan to keep it. I visited a Seventh-day Adventist Church last Saturday and plan to go again this week."

This year marks the 55th anniversary of the Voice of Prophecy. Today, the radio program is stronger than ever. New stations are added every month. In the Lake Union, the broadcast goes out 30 times every day and 47 times on Sunday.

The cost of radio time continues to rise, but radio is still a bargain in the church's task of reaching people with the good news that Christ offers salvation and a new life to those who will accept it.

In fact, the Voice of Prophecy pays an average of only $1.86 per minute of broadcast time. The price on some stations is higher, but on many others it is lower. Time on the Satellite Radio Network, for example, costs only 85 cents per minute on each station, regardless of how large the area served.

"Now is the time," says H.M.S. Richards Jr., "to buy time for preaching the Word on as many stations as will take our program. We won't always have this privilege, but right now, we do."

"In the past seven years, the Voice of Prophecy has increased its total number of broadcasts per week by 55 percent in the United States and Canada. As funds are available, we plan to purchase time on more stations until the third angel's message is truly on the air every day and everywhere."

The Voice of Prophecy offering received in many churches on October 12, along with funds given throughout the year by those on the personal giving plan, will help the Adventist Voice continue its work of sharing the good news of the Gospel through radio broadcasts and Bible correspondence courses.

H.M.S. Richards Jr. talks with Bach Nguyen, an instructor in the Voice of Prophecy Bible School. Mrs. Nguyen sorts and routes incoming Bible School mail. She is also instructor for the Vietnamese Bible course, one of several courses offered in languages other than English.

Create Opportunities for God

LAKE UNION—"If only I had the chance to experience the thrills that everyone talks about," moaned Bill as he sat in church listening to another soul-winning experience.

How many times have we also sat and listened as others told of the marvelous stories of God's grace and blessing, wishing that we, too, might know that thrill they speak of when God's hand touches a heart through us, but we just don't seem to have the opportunity?

A wise man once said, "Opportunity is what we do with life." If you wish to fly an airplane you have to go to the airport for such an opportunity to take place. You could sit at home and dream about airplanes, but you will never experience flying that way.

The time has come again to create opportunities for God's grace to work in our behalf. If you have had a desire to win a soul for Christ; if you want to know the joy of prayers answered; if you want to discover the hungry, the destitute, the sorrowing so you can be used of God to provide the balm from Gilead, the time has come to get involved in Ingathering.

Once each year across the entire world, Seventh-day Adventists ingather and each year marvelous experiences of God's grace take place. Each year souls are found for Jesus. Each year the saving grace of God works through those who participate. Each year many, many Bills sit and listen to the thrilling stories and say, "Oh, how I wish things like that would happen to me!"

Create opportunities. Determine that this year you will go where the action is, you will get involved, you will participate. The marvelous moments of God's grace will thrill your heart. Soon you will be telling your stories, thrilling the hearts of all the Bills thinking within themselves, "If only I had the chance to experience the thrills that everyone talks about."

Opportunities are what we do with life. It is time to ingather. Give your neighbor the privilege of supporting God's work around the world.

Dedicated to Young People

Working with young people is a way of life to Frank and Ruth Harrell of Hickory Corners, Michigan. It is their desire to help teens along the pathway to the kingdom.

The Harrells were featured in the third quarter, 1985, NO ONE BUT YOU program, "Ambassadors for Christ." The story was told of their trip with Michigan teen Pathfinders on a mission of mercy to Haiti to help relieve the physical suffering of the islanders.

When asked what has motivated them to go with these young people on four occasions to the Caribbean, Dr. Harrell replied, "We want to help our Pathfinders establish a meaningful relationship with Christ, and perhaps make a decision for a lifework of serving others."

This coming December 26, the Harrells will travel with the Michigan teen Pathfinders to the Dominican Republic. "It's hard for me not to go back," admits Dr. Harrell, "because helping to relieve physical suffering is my life's vocation. And I want to share Jesus with these dear people."

Their work with the Pathfinder club from the Kalamazoo, Michigan, Church, took the Harrells to the Pathfinder camporee in Colorado this past summer. Reflecting upon this experience, they agreed, "The camporee is the best thing our church has ever done for our young people."

This comment comes from a background of 52 years working with Adventist youth. Mrs. Harrell was only 13 years old when she first assisted in a children's Sabbath School division. Since then she has spent 40 years as a Sabbath School leader, 15 years as a Vacation Bible School director, and for the past 27 years she has worked with the Pathfinders in the Kalamazoo Church.

Currently, Mrs. Harrell serves as deputy director for the Kalamazoo Pathfinder club, as well as Pathfinder coordinator for Michigan's 10th district. Dr. Harrell teaches first aid and auto mechanics with the Kalamazoo club.

During the camporee in Colorado,

Frank and Ruth Harrell

Dr. Harrell was responsible for the health needs of 1,666 Lake Union Conference Pathfinders.

"I really enjoyed the cooperation and the spirit of caring demonstrated by our Lake Union medical staff, as well as that of the main medical center personnel, as we worked together for the safety of those present," says Dr. Harrell.

When the camporee ended, the Harrells admit they were tired and glad to be on the bus heading for home. But there was not much time for rest upon returning to Michigan.

When Michigan Pathfinders met September 20 through 22 for a camporee at Camp Au Sable, the Harrells were both actively involved with the 700 young people who attended.

Mrs. Harrell sums up their years of involvement with Adventist youth in these words: "We thoroughly enjoy working with young people. They are the future of the church."

Realizing how busy a summer the Harrells have experienced, I almost lost my nerve to ask them what they would think of another North American Pathfinder Camporee. But I did ask, and without hesitation they replied, "We'd go again in a minute."

Dr. and Mrs. Harrell—there's no one like you!

Parents and Children Attend Bloomington V.B.S.

INDIANA—Vacation Bible School in the Bloomington, Indiana, Church had an added feature this year. While the children were involved in crafts, singing and Bible study, their parents were involved in a Positive Parenting Seminar taught by Pastor Dan Solis. According to Beverly Hoehn, church communication secretary, parents learned about encouragement, transferring parental values to their children, discipline and principles of marriage. Tammy Hays led out in the program, assisted by Cindy Solis, Alan Carlson, Emogene Collier, Theresa Mathis and Sharon McArtor. "It was really rewarding and very spiritual," remarked Tammy Hays, "and every child wants to come back next year."

Andrews Nursing Instructor Sets Race-Walk Record

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Charlotte Hamlin, a 67-year-old assistant professor of nursing at Andrews University, set a national record for the 5,000-meter race-walk at the Masters Sports International competition held in Toronto, Canada, August 8 through 27.

Mrs. Hamlin who competed in the 65 to 69 age group also earned first-place medals in the 100- and 200-meter race-walk and the long jump. Yet she says she is determined to improve her abilities before the next Masters games scheduled for 1989.

Mrs. Hamlin said few of the 8,000 participants, especially women, were over 50 years old. The minimum age limit was 25 years for women and 30 years for men, but there was no maximum age limit.

Even though she has earned many medals in her competition, Mrs. Hamlin stresses her case need not be unique: "God created our bodies to function the same while we grow old as they did when we were young," she said.

"I have been successful in these sports events because I lead a well-rounded and very active life-style, and I wish others would do so. I make it a habit to exercise every day. I also try to eat the right kinds of food." Mrs. Hamlin has been a vegetarian for more than 45 years.

To help the public become more health conscious and encourage others to adopt a health-promoting life-style, Mrs. Hamlin coordinates two health-awareness programs in addition to her regular teaching job at Andrews.

In the 3C's Risk Evaluation Program, Mrs. Hamlin helps participants learn how to prevent coronary disease, cancer and strokes by evaluating their risk factors. The next 3C's screening will be held on Sunday, October 27, from 7 to 11 A.M. in Marsh Hall on the Andrews campus.

Mrs. Hamlin is also working with a fitness program that will be open to the public. It is scheduled to begin September 26. Call 616-471-3366 for more information.

John Landy, second man to run a mile in less than four minutes, congratulates Charlotte Hamlin on winning four Masters medals.

Indiana Conference News Notes

• "Twenty church schools opened on August 26 with 431 students enrolled," reported Joyce Rodie, assistant educational superintendent for Indiana. The enrollment by schools is as follows: Anderson, 20; Bedford, 12; Bloomington, 15; Cicero, 40; Columbus, 12; Elkhart, 11; Evansville, 17; Fort Wayne, 21; Frankfort, 10; Gary, 20; Indianapolis, 105; Kokomo, 9; Lafayette, 15; La Porte, 15; Marion, 18; New Albany, 16; Richmond, 14; Scottsburg, 15; South Bend, 32, and Terre Haute, 14. Indiana Academy opened with 121 students in grades 9 through 12.

• Ramona Trubey, communication secretary for the Cicero Church, reports that the church held its fall picnic on September 8 at the school. Activities included softball, supper and a film.

• Pastor Carroll Lawson announced that the Indianapolis Southside

Church hosted the state Community Service Federation on October 4 and 5. Juanita Kretschmar, director of the community service program in New York City, was the featured speaker. "Our staff includes 35 volunteers and paid workers, and we screen some 50,000 persons yearly in our fleet of health screening vans," stated Ms. Kretschmar as she described the opportunities for service in the metropolitan areas. She said community service workers in New York City provide some 3,000 meals weekly and operate a growing Bible school.

• A candlelight agape supper was held on the evening of July 19 at the Elkhart Church. Those present served the person to their right fresh fruits and breads. Pastor Jerry Arnold gave a sermonette on agape love. For the baptism, the sanctuary was decorated as though there was to be a wedding. The ceremony united Jeanette Kehoe,

Lynn Garber, Theresa Garber, James Atwater, Scott Atwater and Robert Blair with Jesus Christ. Sharon Earls, communication secretary, said candidates walked down the aisle as members sang "All to Jesus I Surrender."

• David Fish, pastor of the Vincennes Church, conducted a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking in the Vincennes University Mariah Creek Chapel reception room, reported Fay Shadle, communication secretary.

• The Vincennes Church participates with 19 other churches in a community food pantry program. The church supplies foodstuff, and volunteers assist in distributing food to needy persons, stated Fay Shadle, church community service leader. A major food drive to help stock the pantry is planned for October. Approximately $1,200 is donated by the community to meet monthly expenses.

Cicero Conducts Lay Witnessing Program

INDIANA—The recent Lay Witnessing Sabbath at Cicero included a Sabbath School program about witnessing, directed by Catherine Kuzmaul. Jim Cox, ministerial director for the conference, left, led George Dunder, Bob McCarver, Ellen Justinin and Mrs. Roberts in a discussion of the film, "Mr. Timm's Gift" during the afternoon seminar. Other discussion groups were held. The day ended with a social hour.

Andrews Announces 1985-86 Events

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Andrews University presents "Wolf Prairie Fine Arts 1985-1986," another year of entertainment and educational events for the campus and the community, according to Jane Thayer, director of public relations for the university.

Events are listed in the "Wolf Prairie" brochure which is available by writing to Andrews University, Public Relations, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

Highlighting the nine-program, Concert-Picure Series is a performance of the Vienna Choir Boys on Saturday, November 16. The choir, officially formed in 1498, has presented more than 3,000 concerts in America since its first performance in New York in 1932.

Jean Kilbourne and Marjorie Blanchard present special lectures on alcohol and advertising and the one-minute manager.

Four films are also scheduled. These include Warren Miller's ski film, "Ski Country," and Stan Midgeley's "My California." "The Many Moods of Christmas," an annual presentation of seasonal music by the university's music department rounds out the series.

The Andrews Christian Youth Action (A.C.Y.A.), part of the university's student government, presents the Sacred Arts Series featuring Christian music for young and old.

The series features Christine Wyrzten, Clifton Davis, Dino Kartsonakis and the Danny Shelton Family Singers. More information about the concerts is available by calling campus ministries, 616-471-3211.

The music department has scheduled three concerts by university groups. The Chamber Music Series includes four concerts: The Tower Brass Quintet; Michael Davis, violinist; Thomas Gallant, oboist; and Myriade, a vocal quartet specializing in Renaissance music.

Information on music department concerts or the Chamber Music Series is available by calling 616-471-3121.

The Art Center gallery includes exhibits by national and local artists, faculty and students. There will be an exhibition by contemporary New York artists, February 26 through March 13, and the Notre Dame faculty November 6 through 22. Information about art gallery exhibits is available by calling 616-471-3278.

Dr. Daniel Augsburger Retires

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—Gerhard F. Hasel, dean of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University, announced that Daniel Augsburger, professor of historical theology, retired in August.

Dr. Augsburger has been a faculty member since 1942. He started out in the modern languages department, which he chaired for 19 years. Then, he served in the religion department of the College of Arts and Sciences and joined the seminary faculty in 1976.

Dr. Daniel Augsburger, professor of historical theology at the Andrews University seminary, retires after more than 40 years of service.

The Calvin Studies Society has asked Dr. Augsburger to prepare and teach a seminar for the next International Calvin Congress to be held in Debreczen, Hungary, in 1986, where attendance is by special invitation only.

Dr. Augsburger also has been recognized for his expertise as an educator. In 1962 the board of trustees at Andrews awarded him a citation for distinguished service.

Seven years later the student body at Andrews voted him the teacher of the year. The General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists awarded him a citation of excellence for teaching in 1972.

The Andrews faculty presented him the faculty award for teaching excellence in 1978 for "his skillfulness in conducting interesting and challenging courses, his concern for the spiritual, intellectual and physical well-being of his fellowman and his dedication to learning."

Dr. Augsburger was also the first recipient of the John Nevins Andrews Medallion presented at commencement exercises in June 1979 for his outstanding contributions to knowledge.

Dr. Augsburger has purchased a new three-speed touring bike with his retirement gift from the seminary faculty and will continue nurturing his prized roses. He will teach part time at the seminary and also maintain memberships in scholarly societies.

Born in Switzerland in 1920, he earned a bachelors degree from the University of Grenoble, France, in 1939. He earned his second bachelors degree from Columbia Union College in Washington, D.C., in 1942. Following a year of teaching at Andrews, he earned a master of arts degree in French from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor in 1944.

In 1950 he received his first doctoral degree from the University of Michigan. His dissertation was titled "Rutebeuf and the Way of Paradise in Medieval French Literature."

In 1966 he earned a master of divinity degree from the seminary at Andrews. His second doctoral degree came from the University of Strasbourg in France in 1970. His dissertation there was on John Calvin's interpretation of the Mosaic Code.

Menomonie Baptizes Two in Red Cedar River

WISCONSIN—Bernard Britton and Kris Goss were baptized on July 20, 1985. They had attended the Revelation Seminar held by Tim Goss, personal ministries leader at the Menomonie, Wisconsin, Church. Leroy Goss, communication secretary, reports that Pastor Wallace Mandigo performed the baptism in the Red Cedar River at the request of the candidates.

First Vacation Bible School in 22 Years

WISCONSIN—"Happy With Jesus," the first Vacation Bible School held in 22 years at New London, Wisconsin, began on August 5 with 15 children in attendance. The leaders were Connie Thebo and Virginia M. Smith, members of the New London Church. Pastor Dan Tower's wife, Patsy, gave daily health talks entitled "The Nose Knows." Ms. Smith said that singing, Bible lessons and crafts were added dimensions of the program. Participants from left, back row: Christine Weber, Alison Young, Brooke Barker, Jan O'Connell, Angela Lauglin, Marge Nottelson (pianist), Heidi Towar, Jimmie Rivera. Front row: Christy Dain, Melanie Towar, Jaime Olinger and Christopher Juarez. Beth Rodriguez and Connie Iattoni of the Appleton Church and Pastor Towar, district pastor, also worked with the program.

Biblical Basis of Sexuality Discussed by Parents and Teens

ILLINOIS—Eight teenagers and their parents met August 10 at the Glen Ellyn, Illinois, Church, for a seminar entitled Why and How to Say "No": Sexuality With a Biblical Perspective.

"The seminar began with parents and teenagers meeting for introductions and a dialogue about the biblical basis of sexuality," said Gustav Scheuneman, church pastor. Teenagers and parents then separated.

Dr. and Mrs. John Testerman served as facilitators for the teenage group. Pastor Scheuneman and his wife, Shereen, aided the parents. Both groups made separate lists of reasons teenagers did and did not become sexually involved. The groups then exchanged lists to foster understanding between themselves.

"Peer pressure" was listed by the teenage group as the most frequent reason young people become involved sexually. The teenagers also focused on the unexpected consequences of sexuality, facts and myths related to sexuality and social pressures.

The parent group received an overview of the material presented to the teenagers and were led in a discussion about some of the most enjoyable and most difficult aspects of parenting, along with approaches they found useful.

At the close of the seminar, parents and teenagers gathered for a conversation prayer in which there was an affirmation of the family and requests for the divine help in specific areas of their relationships. A light supper ended the evening.

Another seminar focusing on Christian single adults and sexuality is being considered. For more information contact the Glen Ellyn Church at 312-858-8510.

A.U. Sponsors Adventist Engaged Encounter

ANDREWS UNIVERSITY—During the 1985-86 school year Adventist Engaged Encounter (A.E.E.) will prepare its 600th couple for a growing marital relationship.

Don Murray, director of this program and dean of men at Andrews University, says that A.E.E. is planned around three phases: God and I; God and we; God, we and others.

"This focus follows a spiritual sequence," Mr. Murray explained. "When we focus on self-worth as God sees us, then we can risk a love relationship with someone else. As this relationship grows, it needs expression outside of ourselves.

"We want to help insure the marriages will be based on a growing relationship, because one that is growing will be less likely to fail," he said.

Each A.E.E. weekend begins on Friday night and continues until Sunday afternoon. It focuses on very specific areas, including finances, role models and outreach to others as a couple. The content is general enough that Christians of all faiths can relate to the weekend.

"The focus of the weekend is on the couple who are encouraged to communicate with each other at levels and on issues that they may not otherwise discuss," said Tim Riley, a graduate student and volunteer A.E.E. team member.

When Mr. Murray came to Andrews as the dean of men in 1978, he and his wife, Sue, began A.E.E. as part of their ministry to couples. They had previously participated in an Adventist Marriage Encounter which has served as one of the models for their program.

Andrews University is the only Adventist campus regularly sponsoring A.E.E. This school year, A.E.E. is scheduled for three weekends, November 15 to 17, February 21 to 23 and May 2 to 4. To register contact Andrews University Campus Ministries, Berrien Springs, MI 49104 or phone 616-471-3211.

Wisconsin Conference News Note

• The Frederic Church conducted a computerized Health Age Appraisal in the lobby of the First American Bank of Frederic on June 21. During the six-hour program, 135 people attended, which was the maximum number of health appraisals the computer could process. Mike Doucoumes, Bible worker for the Frederic Church, said many good contacts were made, and that each participant was given a copy of Signs Digest.

Clear Lake Baptisms

WISCONSIN—Wallace Mandigo, pastor of the Clear Lake, Wisconsin, Church, baptized Darrell Guggenberger on June 29, 1985. Beth Nelson, communication secretary, reports that Marge Yager was also baptized and welcomed into fellowship that Sabbath.

Andrews University News Notes

• The professional education programs at Andrews University recently received an extension of its accreditation through September 1990 from the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) at its annual council held in St. Louis, Missouri. The council members reviewed a visiting team's evaluation of the education programs, along with an interim report written by representatives of the university's teacher preparation program. "The council was pleased with the positive nature of the interim team report," said Richard Kunkel, NCATE executive director. Robert Moon Jr., coordinator of the university's interim report, said that in 1980, NCATE made a full review of the education programs and accredited them for seven years. The March 25 to 27 NCATE evaluation centered on their specific recommendations and new policies. George Akers, dean of the School of Education, noted that it is easier for a graduate from a school accredited by NCATE to get a license in many other states and several foreign countries. Last year the School of Education had 84 undergraduate students, 187 non-degree students and 277 students working on a masters degree.

• Eighteen students attended the College Preparatory Seminar at Andrews University August 18 to September 17. "The seminar is a special orientation program in which students can earn seven credits of college classwork while getting used to college life and learning skills that will enrich their experience here," said Janice Watson, director of the seminar. Daily activities, organized and supervised by six Andrews faculty members, included classes in study skills, reading, math and writing enrichment. Students were able to earn one credit in a physical education class to fulfill a general education requirement. Besides earning college credit, students learned how to live in a dormitory environment, participate in religious activities and social events, and began working to help defray their first-quarter school expenses.

Illinois Conference News Notes

• During the first half of 1985 the Adventist Health Network conducted three programs for the Prairie View Church in Monmouth, Illinois. Programs included the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking and Eight Days to Resolving Stress. Many members of these classes also attended How to Make Christianity Real which introduced the basic gospel message. To conclude this series of programs, Pastor Bradford Newton conducted an eight-week Revelation Seminar. More than 40 people attended, and three baptisms resulted. These new Adventists and other interests from the meetings are attending a follow-up summer Bible class at the church on Thursday evenings.

• Revelation Seminar meetings began Thursday, September 5, at the Garfield Ridge Church in Chicago. Marsha Brummel, wife of Assistant Pastor Ken Brummel, reports that additional materials had to be gathered from surrounding churches to accommodate the large attendance. John Pinner, church pastor, served as the seminar lecturer. "The Holy Spirit is really working here, and there is a keen interest in the book of Revelation," says Pastor Pinner. An average of 25 to 30 non-Adventists and many church members attend each night. Several students have attended previous Daniel, stress, or cooking classes. The meetings will continue for 12 weeks.

Adopt-A-Student At Broadview

ILLINOIS—"Broadview Academy's Adopt-A-Student program continues to increase, progress and bless," reports Jackie De Groot, communication secretary.

As of June 30, $15,700 cash and $10 per month for each of 240 pledges have been received.

This program has been in effect for over a year.

Many students have already benefited from the program. A senior boy responds: "As a four-year senior, I am one of many students who has benefited from the different scholarships Broadview Academy and the Illinois Conference offer. Without these scholarships I would not have been able to attend Broadview."

"The Adopt-A-Student program helps a student like me have an opportunity to go to a Christian school. Helping someone receive a Christian education is the greatest investment anyone can make."

During the 1984-85 school year, 12 students were able to attend Broadview as a result of this program. "It is quite certain that they could not have attended without financial assistance," said Ms. De Groot.

Harold Oetman, principal of the academy, thanks all who have contributed and all who faithfully continue to send their monthly commitment. "Because of this type program," he said, "Christian education becomes obtainable and affordable through the united efforts of God's people for a worthwhile goal."

Summer Story Hour for Inner-City Children

ILLINOIS—Four women from the Garfield Ridge Church in Chicago, Illinois, held an outdoor summer story hour on the lawn outside Dorothy Brown's apartment on 44th Street. They started with a small group which grew to 30 by the end of the summer. Dorothy Brown, Margie Seres and Herminia Utreras taught stories, songs and Bible games. Marsha Brummel, wife of the assistant pastor, Ken Brummel, reported that the children eagerly anticipated attending V.B.S. each Tuesday of the two-month program.

Conference President Speaks At Community Guest Day

LAKE REGION—The Philadelphia Church in Muncie, Indiana, held their Community Guest Day on August 24.

The church was delighted to have Charles Joseph, president of the Lake Region Conference, and his wife, Vivian, conference communication director, as their special guests.

Debra Young, communication secretary, reports that Elder Joseph spoke on the "Spirit of a Man."

She said, "He used the example of how Jesus prevailed over the Pharisees and scribes to illustrate that we should never let anyone break our spirit." She stated that a key text for the sermon was Luke 23:46: "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit."

Philadelphia church members hosted a fellowship lunch for guests from the community and members of the Ephesus church of Marion, Indiana.

That afternoon the Adventist Youth Association presented a program of singing, stories, and poetry. A quiz was the highlight of the program.

Hosie Hatchett, pastor of the Philadelphia and Ephesus churches, closed the program and Community Guest Day activities with prayer.

Laywoman Conducts Seminar

LAKE REGION—Leila Lindsey, a member of the Southside Church, Pontiac, Michigan, is the first laywoman in her church to conduct a successful Revelation Seminar.

During the spring, Sister Lindsey and her team of five church members went into the community and began sowing the seeds of truth. She used the 24 Revelation Seminar lessons for the meetings.

Sister Lindsey invited Nathaniel Harris, a 20-year acquaintance, to accompany her to church one Sabbath. Mr. Harris admits he had never made a conscious effort to understand God's Word and had consented to accompany her to church merely to pacify her.

Since joining the Seventh-day Adventist Church, he says, "I have gained a deeper understanding of God." Royce Mentor, pastor of the Southside Church, says that Brother Harris continues to search for more truth and is full of meaningful questions. He has adopted the Revelation Seminar motto: "If God said it, I believe it; and that settles it for me."

Brother Harris now began to witness. He invited Betty Carter to attend the seminar, and she was later baptized. Then, Betty Carter invited her teenage daughter, Donna, to attend church. She was baptized, and is making every effort to get her friends to visit the church.

Six graduates of the Revelation Seminar received certificates, and Betty Carter was presented a special gift for being selected the most outstanding student.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Henry Holt, pastor of the Sharon Church in Inkster, Michigan. His message was titled "Why I Am a Seventh-day Adventist."

Pastor Mentor is very excited and thankful for what a dedicated laywoman has done with the help of God. He encourages others to go and do likewise.

Hyde Park Church Announces Opening of Soup Kitchen

LAKE REGION—"For I was an hungred and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink . . ." (Matthew 25:35).

Rudolph Brooks, program director, and Robert L. Jones, church pastor, announce the opening of the Hyde Park Church Community Soup Kitchen in Chicago, Illinois, on August 7. The soup kitchen is opened to the public every Wednesday from 11 A.M. to 2 P.M.

Deborah L. Brooks, a church member, said that 153 people were served tasty, well-balanced, and nutritious meals within the first two weeks.

She said that when Brother Brooks was asked why his heart "burned" to feed the poor and hungry, he said, "This is my way of showing love to my neighbor."

Church members and some Lake Region Conference office workers are uniting their efforts to do God's work through this program.

After the meals, people are encouraged to return for meetings conducted by Pastor Robert L. Jones. "The love that's being poured into this community soup kitchen," said Sister Brooks, "has a dual purpose: to feed the hungry and to win souls to Christ."

Church Conducts Baptisms At Wednesday Services

MICHIGAN—The Cadillac, Michigan, Church has decided to conduct baptisms on Wednesday night instead of Sabbath because many baptisms are a result of the Wednesday night praise and prayer services.

Lori Ann Powers, for example, met and worked with Mona Garvin at a local restaurant in Cadillac more than four years ago. Mona is a Seventh-day Adventist and shared Jesus. After four years of prayer support and Bible study, Lori was recently baptized.

Karen Phelps picked up a copy of Christ's Object Lessons from a literature rack in a laundromat stocked by the Cadillac Church. She found a card inside offering Bible studies and sent for them.

Cadillac members Joan Kline and Sue Sinor began to visit and study with Karen who soon included four friends in the study. She met some opposition, but was recently baptized. United prayer had won again.

Shelly Hutching was manager of a clothing store. In the past few years she has completed several sets of Bible studies. However, she had to work on Saturday and didn't want to lose her salary as a manager. The prayer group remembered her often on Wednesday night while Rich and Pam Sutton studied with her.

Shelly gave up her job, was recently baptized and is an account executive with a radio station. She witnesses daily for her Lord and attends the Wednesday night praise service.

John Kline Sr. was baptized several years ago into the Adventist Church. At one of the Wednesday night services he decided to rededicate his life to Jesus. He was rebaptized.

Jim Micheff, pastor of the Cadillac Church, says that Wednesday night is special. "Things really happen," he said, "when God's people come together in prayer and praise and experience the Holy Spirit at work in their lives."

New Teachers at Adelpian

MICHIGAN—Adelpian Academy opened its doors on August 25 with 225 students. By the third week of school, that figure had climbed to 230.

Dr. George Parry, new vice-principal, was formerly principal of Jefferson Adventist Academy in Jefferson, Texas.

Kenneth Micheff, the new boys dean, was also previously on the staff at Jefferson Academy.

Mrs. Barbara Perez, incoming English teacher and librarian, is the wife of Edward Perez, who is taking his residency in family practice at Pontiac General Hospital.

Doug Day, treasurer, has been treasurer of various Adventist hospitals and schools and most recently served at Jefferson Academy.

Dave Grams who most recently taught at Hartland Institute in Rapidan, Virginia, is directing Adelpian's band.

Science classes are taught by Leon Hill who transferred from Walla Walla College, College Place, Washington.

David Shepler from Southwestern Adventist College, Keene, Texas, is a Task Force worker who serves Adelpian as assistant boys dean.

Fremont Church Welcomes the Kenneys

MICHIGAN—Chuck (center) and Pam Kenney and their daughter, Brandy, joined the Fremont, Michigan, Church on June 2 after two years of Bible study with Pastor Don Williams. Mae Stout, communication secretary, reports that Chuck is a sanitarian with the local county health department, and Pam is a homemaker. A younger daughter, Melissa, also attends the Fremont Church.

A.D.R.A. Helps Mexican Victims

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The Adventist Development and Relief Agency (A.D.R.A.) International sent 3,000 blankets, 1,000 tents and medicines to Mexican earthquake victims on a United States Air Force plane that arrived in Mexico City on Tuesday morning, September 24. A second shipment containing tents and urgently needed medicines is being prepared.

Three hundred Adventists have been involved in cleanup operations. They have rescued 150 people from collapsed buildings and recovered 250 bodies. Shelters have been set up and A.D.R.A. will be responsible for feeding 1,000 people in two centers for at least the next six weeks.

The Mexican government has asked private volunteer organizations to help them rebuild. A.D.R.A. is considering building 100 homes as part of this reconstruction. They continue providing emergency relief as long as it is necessary. The cost for this aid and reconstruction will be approximately $1 million dollars.

A.D.R.A.'s ability to respond to this disaster depends entirely upon donors—many of whom already have been giving generously. One school aims to raise money for one house. Some churches have taken special offerings. Several conferences and unions have already started to collect money which is requested rather than clothes and food.

Many other conferences, pastors, and members are asking what they can do. The answer is to give as generously as possible. An average of five dollars from 200,000 people will raise the $1 million dollars needed. As seen in the news, thousands are homeless. As soon as the funds are received, construction can begin.

Donations and questions should be directed to Conrad Visser or Aileen Sox at A.D.R.A. International, 6840 Eastern Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20012; 202-722-6770.

Mexico Properties Are Undamaged

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The day of miracles is far from over! Israel Leito, communication director of the Inter-American Division (I.A.D.), reported that church leaders in Mexico City on September 23 indicated Seventh-day Adventist "properties are undamaged and our brethren are all right."

When the earthquake struck in Mexico City, Sergio Moctezuma, I.A.D. church ministries director, was knocked unconscious, cut and bruised when rubble fell on him as he left his seventh-floor hotel room. However, he found everyone at the nearby union headquarters and the building itself "unscratched." Outside of Mexico City, one Adventist is reported dead.

Word from the Central Mexican Conference indicated that everything was "under control" even after the second quake Friday night. However, division officers were trying to reach Ciudad Guzman (near Guadalajara) which is reported to have considerable damage. Whether or not that included Adventist family and property is not yet determined. Church properties in Guadalajara itself are undamaged.

News updates are relayed by short-wave radio.

Manistee Church Wins Award

MICHIGAN—The Manistee, Michigan, Church received a Best of Fair award for its "Mother's Old Bible Is True" display at the Onkama fairgrounds, August 28 to September 2.

The focal point of the display room was an open Bible on an antique stand complete with wire rim spectacles and an oil lamp. An old settee and rocking chair with a shawl and footstool sat in the corner. Victorian-style furnishings and music from that period further reflected the theme.

Materials including 299 books and magazines and other smaller pieces of reading material were taken from the self-serve literature table, and 219 people signed up for the family Bible which was given away the last day of the fair. Fifteen church members were involved in the fair booth.

Herald Increases Payment For Winning Cover Photos

LAKE UNION—The Lake Union Herald staff is requesting photos for use on the cover of the Herald.

Selections for 1986 will be made this fall. The following rules will apply.

1. All photos—slides (transparencies and slides mean the same to us) and black-and-white prints—must be received at, or delivered in person, to the Herald office by Friday, November 1, 1985. Allow ample time when you mail from a long distance.

2. Each photographer may submit up to 10 slides or black-and-white prints. Submissions of greater amounts will NOT be considered. Please do not send negatives or color prints.

3. Slides may be 35 mm or 4" x 5". Preference will be given to 35 mm slides. All black-and-white prints should be 8" x 10".

4. All slides and prints must be of a VERTICAL format.

5. The photos must have been taken within the four states which comprise the Lake Union.

6. Place your name and address on each submission.

7. Do not send slides which are duplicates. They will not be considered.

8. Make certain your photos are in very sharp focus.

9. Seasonal or scenic photos are preferred, but they should not be similar to cover photos of the past two years. If you have recognizable people in the picture, you must be prepared to furnish a model release for each one.

10. The Herald pays $35 for each slide used for a color cover, and $15 for each slide or black-and-white print used for a black-and-white cover. Payment is made at the time of publication. The slide or print is also returned at the time of publication.

11. Any slides which are not selected for use will be returned after the selection period in November.

12. Submissions for Herald covers should be mailed to the Copy Editor, Lake Union Herald, Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103.

The Master's program in Physical Therapy is just one way that Andrews University teaches caring people how to care.

Teaching a handicapped child how to walk.

Helping an injured truck driver regain the use of a broken arm so he can return to work — and provide for his wife and children.

Giving an elderly woman the confidence to know that her broken hip will heal — with proper treatment and time.

Physical therapists know how to do these things. And they do them every day. That is what makes a physical therapist such a caring person and physical therapy such a caring profession.

At Andrews University, we're teaching students how to help people in these uniquely caring ways. And our new master's degree in physical therapy makes Andrews the only Adventist school offering an entry-level graduate program in this vital medical profession.

This should come as no surprise. The master's degree in physical therapy is just the latest addition to Andrews' wide selection of graduate programs in the caring professions. Professions like nursing, education, counseling, and ministry.

So if you want to teach handicapped children how to walk, or if you want to become a caring professional in some other important discipline that touches the lives and hearts of human beings, call us toll-free on the Andrews In-Line and find out more about how Andrews can teach you how to care. The news release, "Biology Teacher Sights 701st Bird," which appeared on page two of the August 13, 1985, issue of the Lake Union Herald attracted my attention, because C. Roy Smith is a friend and birding partner of mine.

This news release conveyed the impression that Mr. Smith had finally, after 40 years of birding, sighted 701 individual birds. (Probably most of the readers of the Lake Union Herald see that many birds every year.) Obviously, what the article intended to convey was that Mr. Smith had recently joined that small, elite group of birders who have seen 700 or more different species of birds within the boundaries of the 49 continental United States and Canada. (Nearly 800 species of birds have been seen in that area.)

Mr. Smith has seen nearly 1,300 additional species of birds during his travels in Mexico, Ecuador, Europe, North Africa, Kenya, Hawaii, Australia, and New Zealand, giving him a "life list" of nearly 2,000 species of birds sighted.

Perhaps some of Mr. Smith's most vigorous birding efforts have occurred within the boundaries of the state of Michigan where he has seen 338 species of birds. This number is approximately 89 percent of the total number of species of birds reportedly seen within Michigan and is a record that no other birder has equaled.

I received my copy of the Lake Union Herald [the September 24 issue] and was pleasantly surprised to find that I was being wished well on my one-year baptism birthday. I am delighted by your very thoughtful and encouraging treatment of me.

I thank all of the wonderful people I've met since becoming a member of the Adventist faith. I have been embraced by a family. I do not exaggerate when I say that the Adventist Church and Sabbath-keeping have changed my life for the better.

So many have extended the hand of friendship to me since last September. Pastor Fekete of the Mt. Vernon and Centralia churches has been my spiritual guide. Together we have studied the profile lessons, the Sabbath School lessons, and the Amazing Facts lessons. I have met his family, and two members of his church wrote to me after my baptism. When I think of the pastor, I think of Jesus speaking in Matthew 25:36. Pastor Fekete has visited me many times since I have been baptized, and he also writes often.

I am also very grateful for your kindness, Bonnie [Bonnie Kotter is the former copy editor of the Herald]. Your letters helped me more than words can express. During a period of frustration, you took time out of your busy schedule to offer advice and support. I could go on forever in this manner because the list of blessings that I have received from my brothers and sisters in the faith is endless. I thank all of you.

I also appreciate the gesture of printing my essay on love. It is an essay that is very much connected to the new life that I've found as a member of the Adventist family.

With the guidance of the Holy Spirit and the continued fellowship of my Adventist family, I will continue to walk and grow in the truth. I have placed Bible study and prayer at the top of my list of priorities, along with keeping the Sabbath holy. Through the blessing of the fruit of the Spirit, I am learning valuable lessons in patience, love, long-suffering, faith, hope and goodness.

I want all of you to know that I am very much aware of the fact that I have an obligation to share the truth of Sabbath-keeping with others inside and outside of prison. I donated my Ellen White series to the prison library where they may become a blessing to others. Also Pastor Fekete and I have discussed holding Bible classes and, possibly, a Sabbath service if the response is good. I will try to encourage the men from my vantage point, and Pastor Fekete will give spiritual advice. My cup runneth over, and my joy has been greatly enhanced by your kind mention of me in your paper. Thank you. But more important, I thank God for paying the penalty on the cross and for all the revelations he has given to us concerning His will.

Forty Years of Sojourning

Charles D. Joseph
President
Lake Region Conference

Israel's journey from the mountain of Sinai led into the long years of the wilderness and then toward the promised land. For 40 years they traveled through hardships and trials. Israel had to learn to trust in God's providence. "God knows you're going through this great wilderness. These forty years the Lord your God has been with you; and you have lacked nothing" (Deuteronomy 2:7, Revised Standard Version).

The strange thing, however, was that it would be in the Land of Promise, where hardship seemingly had been left behind, that Israel would be most tempted to forget God's providence. The sojourner and wanderer became the possessor of God's promise.

Arriving in the Land of Promise brought promise and danger to God's sojourning people. In crossing the Jordan, Israel came into possession of a tremendous gift representing the divine guidance, power, and presence of a concerned God. But Israel made the terrible mistake of forgetting that Canaan was a gift and not a conquest. The witness in the Old Testament is that the Land of Canaan was a gift of grace. The land was not the spoils of human conquest. Israel had to learn to depend upon God's hand through the wilderness journey. God's supply of manna was to teach His people that He could be counted upon. "For the Lord your God is bringing you into a good land; . . . And you shall eat and be full, and you shall bless the Lord your God for the good land he has given you" (Deuteronomy 8:7-10).

In spite of all the assurance of God's leading, Israel slipped into trying to seize, grasp and claim that what came from God was the result of human accomplishment. Exclusivism, pride, and selfishness became the dangers to be avoided by Israel, but they failed.

The Lake Region Conference is now 40 years old. We would love to announce that we have arrived in the Land of Promise, but we are still journeying. There are mountains and obstacles ahead for all of us in Lake Region and, yes, in the Lake Union that are designed to prevent our arrival in the Land of Promise. But we will get there!

My message in this column, however, is that we never forget and fall into the errors of Israel. There are enemies from without and at times some conflict from within. These all suggest a threat to the security and stability of God's people. We may be led to believe that there are humans who, because of their demonstrated abilities, can lead us through these troubled waters of our fields of labor. But now as then, all we need are men and women dedicated to keeping their hands in the hand of Yahweh; determined to let Him lead them.

"Take heed lest you forget the Lord your God . . . Beware lest you say in your heart, 'My power' and the might of my hand have gotten me this wealth" (Deuteronomy 8:11-17, Revised Standard Version).

There are, indeed, both blessings and dangers in looking back over the last 40 years of sojourning. Lake Region Conference commits itself anew not to forget the provisions or the provider.
