God's efficiency expert

John R. Loor
President
Indiana Conference

MUCH study has been given in recent years in the church to developing greater efficiency and effectiveness in our work for God. Every sincere effort along these lines must be applauded, but it is absolutely essential that we manifest new awareness of God's great efficiency expert. He is the Holy Spirit, the third person of the Godhead.

Consider these specifics, Acts of the Apostles, page 39 and 40, "The Holy Spirit did for them (the believers at Pentecost) that which they could not have accomplished for themselves in a lifetime."

Coupled with the following statement in Testimonies to Ministers, page 119, "God can teach you more in one moment by His Holy Spirit than you could learn from the great men of the earth."

How relevant this is as we all face the great challenges for Christ that are found in the bustling cities and rural areas of the Lake Union Conference. Surely, the outpouring of God's Holy Spirit is the answer for us, collectively and individually.

As we allow the Holy Spirit to exercise increasing control in our lives and organizations, Jesus will become supreme, and pride and selfishness will be laid in the dust. When that happens, it is amazing to see what a short time is required to solve most of our problems.

The promise is given on page 119 in Early Writings, "If pride and selfishness were laid aside, five minutes would remove most difficulties" (emphasis added). Isn't that amazing and thrilling!

When we consider how thousands of dollars and many manhours of time and energy are spent seeking the solution to problems, it is inspiring to see what God's efficiency expert can do for us in this context.

As 1986 continues to unfold and Harvest 90 moves on swiftly, let us so fully surrender to Christ that we can see the Heavenly Efficiency Expert accomplish the will of our Lord in our work for Him and in our individual lives. This priceless opportunity and choice is ours.

Dialogue fosters understanding and organization

by Faith Crumbly

OF the 333 appointed delegates to the 16th Business Session of the Lake Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, 268 convened at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, April 13 and 14.

Their goal: establishment of the organizational framework for the next five years. Their agenda: election of officers, departmental directors and executive committee members; receipt of reports, and consideration of proposed changes in the constitution and bylaws.

Charles E. Bradford, president of the North American Division, laid the foundation for the proceedings by commending to the delegates the principles of church growth: the Word, worship, fellowship and service. "Christianity," he said, "is practical spiritual religion."

Later that evening, constituents from Andrews University, Adventist Health System/North and the five local conferences met. Thus, three persons from each conference, two from Andrews University and two from AHS/North were selected for the 19-member organizing committee.

Elder Bradford chaired the transactions of these 10 laity (individuals not employed by the church), five administrators and four pastors. Their task: selection of the members of the nominating committee and the bylaws and constitution committee.

The 25-member nominating committee also represented a cross section of the church: seven women, four educators, six pastors, five lay members and eight administrators.

This committee was charged with bringing recommendations for officers, departmental directors and executive committee members. Their first recommendation was the re-election of Robert H. Carter as president of the Lake Union Conference.

Charles E. Bradford, right, president of the North American Division, congratulates Robert H. Carter upon his re-election as president of the Lake Union Conference.

Elder Carter's wife, Rose, joins him as he accepts his re-election. He expresses determination to help move the Lake Union into action during Harvest 90.

His nomination was unanimously endorsed.

Other officers re-elected were John Hayward, secretary; Herb Pritchard, treasurer, and Charles Woods, associate treasurer.

All departmental directors were returned to office.

The delegates voted approval of two major changes recommended by the nominating committee: (1) The General Conference session reorganization of the new church ministries department, combining personal ministries, Sabbath School, stewardship, family life, and youth into one department. (2) The addition of the information services department to the Lake Union Conference.

Delegates approved 39 executive committee members. Included are 11 ex officio members: four officers, the five presidents of local conferences and two presidents of institutions.

Seven pastors, 15 laity, four union departmental directors and two institutional representatives comprise the 28 elected members. Seven Blacks, two Hispanics and seven women are in this group.

In addition to considering committee recommendations, delegates responded to reports of the president, secretary and treasurer of the union, the General Conference auditor and presidents of member organizations.

Stephen J. Wilham, who manages risk management services in Berrien Springs for the General Conference, reflected the convictions of many delegates. He said, "If there is a time that you question your leadership, Brothers and Sisters, today is the day."

A sampling of the dialogue between leadership and delegates about officers' reports follows.

A delegate from Michigan asked, "What factors have contributed to the large membership growth in the Illinois and Lake Region conferences?"

President Carter pointed to the special emphasis of these fields during the past several years:

"They have expended considerable funds. Their workers have conducted many meetings. They have had many evangelists come in. However, we feel that, during this quinquennium, the gap will be closed as our other conferences give special emphasis to evangelism."

John L. Hayward, union secretary, pointed to financial considerations.

"During the last several years, some conferences were economically unable to bring in full time or even part time evangelists," he said. "This made a difference in their soul-winning program."

After the treasurer's report, an executive committee member questioned why the increase in funds for educational programs exceeded that for church programs.

Herb Pritchard responded that about a third of the union income is committed to education. He ended his remarks by saying, "We don't think that's out of line."

Warren Minder, director of education, elaborated on the education expense program. "There are three areas supported by the union," he said. "They are elementary, secondary and higher education."

"The major portion of the funds that go to elementary and secondary

Delegates challenged through multi-image presentation

A four-projector, multi-image program was the vehicle for presenting a special challenge to delegates attending the 16th quinquennial business session of the Lake Union Conference. The source for much of the inspiring material was taken from past "No One But You" programs.

ONE
YOU

Charles C. Case, union communication director, explains: "A compilation of 'No One But You' stories demonstrated how members worked during the 1,000 Days of Reaping and provided a challenge to others for Harvest 90."

Included was the hospitality ministry of the Troy, Michigan, Church; the outreaches of ethnic Adventist churches of Chicago; the seminar ministry of Emil and Pat Schneider of Green Bay, Wisconsin; the Bible study witness of Howard and Juanita Bryant of Flint, Michigan.

Also shared were the "No One But You" accounts of Matt and Amparo Prieto's home fellowship outreach in East Chicago, Indiana; the home-for-the-handicapped witness of Doris Meyer of Hartford City, Indiana; the Bible study, faith sharing ministry of Marion, Indiana, Church members, and the substance abuse outreach of Gary Loster from Saginaw, Michigan.

At the close of the report, President Robert Carter presented the challenge: "God needs you to share with others the wonder of His love for all mankind.

"Harvest 90 is our program for this quinquennium to double the number of baptisms we achieved during the 1,000 Days of Reaping. I invite you to join me in—and participate in—Harvest 90 through one of the many ministries in your local church.

"Let us pray for each other that God will bless us abundantly as we work together with Him to prepare for the final Harvest. God is counting on us to work for others."

education come from the General Conference reversion funds, and this amount is affected by the tithe.

"One of our greatest missions in the Lake Union is our university. We give a tremendous amount of support to Andrews University's undergraduate programs and capital improvements."

"And the Lake Union Conference increased funds given to Andrews University. Regrettably, there was also a decrease in union support to K-12 education. This influenced the appropriation to conferences. So, the increase in education was due to increased giving to Andrews."

However, a delegate from Michigan pursued the subject. "I am just curious where the 50 percent increase in the appropriation went," he said. "Did it go to the university? Did it go to our high schools or to K-12 education?"

Dr. Minder's response that 51 percent of the funds were given to K-12 education and 49 percent were given to higher education satisfied questions on this topic.

In other business, delegates also expressed their concerns.

Reading the revised guidelines for replacement of executive committee personnel, a delegate concluded, "The committee can just remove anyone they want."

Elder Hayward responded that such action would have to be in harmony with denominational policy for cause. "In other words," he said, "replacement couldn't be at the whim of an administrator."

Elder Bradford addressed delegates' concerns about use of the tithe. "Tithe monies pass through us and are shared with the world field," he said.

"The tithe is a unifying factor in the church," he continued. "And this church works on the principle of tithe sharing to the extent that it is policy, as far as humanly possible, to help those who need help. This whole church is built upon that principle."

President Carter expanded on this issue: "The church has decided—worldwide—that a percentage of the tithe is to be used by the local conference in the operation of its work. The union and the General Conference each has a certain percentage to work within.

"The world church has policies that govern us all. And should we violate them, we deserve to be called in to give an accounting."

A delegate asked Adventist Health System/North representatives about abortion policies. Lawrence E. Schalk, president of AHS/North replied: "We do not do elective abortions in any of our facilities. And therapeutic abortions are performed only by recommendation of the physicians."

A delegate from Illinois introduced a motion that would guarantee laity 51 percent of the 39 executive committee positions. He said: "The reason for stipulating lay representation is to protect the executive committee from the criticisms that it is self-indulgent and self-perpetuating. I think this action can dispell these untruths."

The proposal appealed to a constituent from the Lake Region Conference who said that many of the positions under consideration could only be filled by ordained ministers.

"And since more than half of the membership cannot be ordained, I think that the only way we can have a voice in the executive committee is through the protection that might be given here," she explained.

President Carter reacted to the motion, saying: "I certainly welcome and encourage the wide participation of laity on all boards and committees.

"And I am glad that the church has seen fit to make it possible, to even insist, that laity be widely represented on all of these various committees and boards. We support it."

After much discussion and revision of the proposal, delegates voted that the executive committee include a minimum of 14 lay members.

Delegates interviewed on Monday afternoon referred to the tone and flow of the dialogue. "It's good that individuals have an opportunity to express their opinions and disagreements," said Allena Mitchell. Her husband, Archie, was a delegate from the Sharon Church in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Mr. Mitchell said, "Meetings were prompt and short."

Satisfaction showed on the face of William Bloom, a delegate from Michigan as he replied: "I am very well pleased! I appreciate the opportunity to ask questions."

"Meetings were well organized and well synchronized," commented Willie Smith, a layman from Lake Region Conference.

Chuck Randall has been a member of the constitution and bylaws committee and served on the organizing committee for this session. A delegate for the Michigan Conference, he said: "I appreciated the opportunity to be an 'active' participant.

"I always enjoy the opportunity to find out how the church works and to feel that I'm a part of the decision making process. The change in Article Six of the bylaws shows that participation by the laity is a priority."

Claude Shaw, a pastor from the Chicago area, spoke regarding the balance in participation between the laity and leadership.

"I hope the laity recognize, early on, their responsibility to be well informed," he said, "thus, seeking the good of the conference. I am encouraged by their increased participation."

Other delegates leaving the session remarked: "It was good to have such open meetings. You could certainly tell God was present today."

Leadership and laity wove Harvest 90 into the fabric of the meetings. President Carter challenged the delegates to become involved in Harvest 90 and to return to their churches and encourage their members to become involved.

The goals of Harvest 90 were posted throughout the meeting area. And they were reflected in a dialogue that fostered the understanding and organization vital to a productive quinquennium.

President

Robert H. Carter

"Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest" (John 4:35).

It is no secret that the delegates to the 54th World Session of the Seventh-day Adventist Church held in New Orleans launched Harvest 90. The intent of this thrust is to add twice the number of new converts to our ranks as were added during the 1,000 Days of Reaping.

Dare we who are delegates to this the 16th Business Session of the Lake Union Conference attempt anything less. As our Lord pointed out in the above text, the fields indeed are ripe and ready to harvest. These words are truer today, I believe, than when they were first spoken.

We are thankful to have had a part in the total success of the church during the 1,000 Days of Reaping. During that period, 8,980 souls were added to the ranks of the Lake Union Conference.

The assembled delegates should be reminded that the Illinois Conference was the first local conference in North America to reach its 1,000 Days of Reaping objective. We congratulate Elders Cumbo, Everett and Rouse along with every worker and member of the conference for this marvelous achievement.

While the other conferences in the union did not quite reach their objectives, they did play a significant role in the overall total realized by the Lake Union. Already, each of them is gearing up to do their full share during Harvest 90. It is our intent by the grace of God to add 18,000 new converts to the union membership by the year 1990.

During the past quinquennium, the Lake Union Conference membership increased by 6,463. On January 1, 1981, we had 57,735 members. At the end of December 31, 1985, our members totaled 64,198. Praise God for growth.

This was not accomplished by one individual or even a few. Every member deserves credit for the role that he or she played in advancing the cause of God in this territory.

According to the treasurer's report, $134,328,030 was returned as tithe by our members over the past five years. This represents a $34,833,420 gain over the previous period. Again, I say, "Praise God." Without the faithful support of our membership, very little would be accomplished. Our Heavenly Father rewards faithful stewards.

We should not fail to acknowledge the $126,618 raised by the Lake Union Conference in support of the radio station on Guam. Progress continues to be made on the establishment of this new station. Soon the Third Angel's Message will be beamed to two and one-half billion people in that part of the world. Surely, its ministry will contribute to the harvest.

It is my privilege to be associated with one of the most dedicated and best prepared staffs to be found anywhere. They carry their share of the load with Christian dignity. On the following pages, you will find the reports of each department of the Lake Union Conference. There have been a number of personnel changes in our Lake Union staff during the past quinquennium. As some have left for new responsibilities, others have come to fill the vacancies.

We look forward to the culmination of Harvest 90 which shall take place in Indianapolis, Indiana. As the host union conference, surely we want to do our faithful part in helping our church reach its world objective of two million new converts.

"The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth laborers into the harvest!" (Matthew 9:37, 38).

Secretary

John L. Hayward

Facts and figures can be boring! But, "cold statistics" take on special warmth when reflecting thousands of souls led to Christ as Lord and Saviour.

A statistical report of the Lake Union Conference is really a consolidated report of the five local conference members and workers of this territory. As we review the following statistics and graphs, we rejoice in what the Lord has led His people to accomplish, but we earnestly pray for a greater measure of the Holy Spirit's power and for greater accomplishments in Harvest 90. We also include some interesting statistics for North America and the world field since Lake Union members support a world work.

Treasurer

Herb Pritchard

All Lake Union eyes focus on the 1981-1985 finances. What is our financial condition?

Lake Union Tithe income (10% of the total tithe remitted through local conferences) for the years 1980 through 1985 reached a zenith of $13,432,802.98, an increase of $3.2 million or 32.1 percent over the prior quinquennium. Total Missions for this same period were $9,985,248.69, improving $772,963.69, 8.4% over the prior five years. Total mission giving is not keeping pace with tithe income increment of 32.1%. God has opened the windows for Lake Union and we rejoice in the deep bathing of His showered blessings.

You would expect the union to be strong financially and live within its income. It is and did so. The newly combined 1985 Balance Sheet of the Operating Fund indicates the conference is both financially solid and liquid. As of December 31, 1985, Total Assets stood at $4.7 million with a Fund Balance of $1.7 million.

The Lake Union Conference does not intend to hoard large reserves but joint venture with the local conferences in vibrant evangelism and other pertinent conference programs while maintaining financial strength per General Conference guidelines. Although it is impossible to meet all the requests extended to the Lake Union in 1986, we will share $325,000 beyond normal operating budget. Of this amount, $100,000 is designated for Harvest 90 large city evangelism and $20,000 for each of the five conferences for various projects. How exciting to be working together for a common "soul saving" mission!

The Lake Union Revolving Fund continues to serve valiantly in providing low cost loans to churches, schools and conferences. Total assets have moved from $3.1 million in 1981 to $5.2 million in 1985. Commitments from each conference and a $642M fund balance provides security to the $4.5 million outstanding loans.

This Lake Union must focus on its mission "to share the good news of ing grace to every soul within our territory."

This union shall provide support services to its constituents that will form a chain of objectives moving membership toward the climactic coming event of our dear Saviour. This mission must never dim, its zeal never flag.

It is a unique thrill for the treasury trio, Nona Ludeman, Charles Woods, and Herb Pritchard, to be stewards and supporters in the sacred mission of the Lake Union family. "Praise ye the Lord" (Psalm 135:1).

Adventist-Laymen's Services and Industries

William E. Jones

"Sharing Christ in the Market Place" is the motto of ASI members, and it has become a substantial part of their lifestyle. Attendance at the national convention or chapter fellowship meetings is a real treat. You can almost hear members leave the meeting whispering, "If John and Mary can do it, so can I." And they do! The next year, they are the ones sharing how the Lord has blessed their service for Him.

Revelation Seminars, personal Bible studies, literature distribution and special construction projects are a variety of ways ASI members share Christ's love through their talents and means. They also encourage fellow Seventh-day Adventist business and professional people to join them in this unique ministry.

The question is not what can my church do for me; it is what can I do for my church.

Communication

Charles C. Case

The challenge of the Communication Department is to reach those millions of people in the Lake Union territory with the Adventist message through the columns of the newspapers and the airways of radio and television.

We are thankful for the many laymen and pastors who have spiritual programs on radio and television within the Lake Union.

Three hundred twelve faithful church communication directors are the backbone of our communication success. As they faithfully gather information, write stories and news notes, and visit newspaper editors, they let their communities know that the Seventh-day Adventist Church is alive and well. Their work informs the public and helps distinguish us from other religious groups with which we are confused.

The printed and electronic medias were used extensively during the last quinquennium by pastors and evangelists to help acquaint people with the great truths of God. This helped in the large number of baptisms toward the world church goal of "1,000 baptisms a day for 1,000 days."

Lake Union Herald. As the principle publication of the Lake Union for all members within the Lake Union territory, the Herald provides a medium for which news is disseminated to all the members of the Lake Union Conference, from the conferences and institutions of the Lake Union.

The Herald has as its goal to Inform, Instruct and Inspire each member. Human interest and feature articles are written to inspire and instruct. News notes and announcements are printed to inform.

No One But You. This quarterly media program, featuring soul-winning and outreach programs in the Lake Union, has met with great success. There are many thrilling stories to tell about the active church members of the Lake Union. presently, there are 276 churches subscribing to the program.

The challenge ahead is to make the people within the Lake Union territory even more aware of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, and invite them to join us as we work and pray for Jesus' soon return.

Education

Warren E. Minder

The educational system of the Seventh-day Adventist Church is one of the most effective means of evangelizing the youths and holding them to the tenets of the church. It is a large undertaking and heavy responsibility. It is also big business. But Seventh-day Adventist education is also the Lord's business.

We continually hear that 50% of our youths are leaving the church. The sad fact is that this is true for a significant group of youths. From recent studies we know that 50% of the children from Adventist families who do not attend Adventist elementary and secondary schools do leave the church. The good news is that information from these same studies indicate that if children attend all 12 grades in Adventist schools, 98% of them join and stay in the church.

The goal of every classroom teacher, administrator and support person working in our schools is to follow the admonition found in John 12:32, paraphrasing that verse to read, "And I, if I be lifted up to all students, they will be drawn unto me."

Over the last five years, the goal of the Lake Union Education Department was to make sure that Christ was lifted up in all aspects of the school program. Curriculum guides for most of the content areas taught during the 12 years of schooling have been completed. Careful attention was given to ensure that all teacher materials represent a truly Christ-centered approach.

Of particular interest is the Christian Service K-12 Curriculum Guide that provides help to every teacher in the Lake Union as he or she leads youths in the practice of Christian service.

We find that a greater percentage of Adventist families are sending their youths to non-Adventist schools. Parents are gambling with the salvation of their God given responsibility. The studies previously quoted indicate that nearly twice as many children from Adventist families who complete all 12 grades in Adventist schools will join and stay with the church as those who complete all 12 grades in non-Adventist schools.

In spite of the many concerns and challenges facing Adventist education, the spirit of the teachers and administrators is high. The reason for the excellent spirit of the teachers is the realization that they are partners with home and church in leading youths to Christ. Adventist education without concern for the soul is not true education. Our mission in Adventist education, from kindergarten through university, is to provide opportunities for students to develop a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Every aspect of the school program is dedicated to this aim.

Health and Temperance

William E. Jones

Seventh-day Adventists were pioneers in the practice of healthful living and still maintain a strong Health and Temperance educational promotion. Our clinics and workshops are well-known, not only in the Lake Union but all around the world. Our ministers and dedicated laity have worked hand in hand to spread this good news through stop smoking clinics, stress workshops, nutrition classes, literature distribution, and in various other ways.

The Adventist Youth for Better Living chapters on our academy campuses have actively pointed out the evils of tobacco, liquor, and substance abuse by means of oratorical, poster, essay, and other types of temperance contests.

Great accomplishments are anticipated as we present our health and temperance principles to people who are awaking to the knowledge that these "Healthy Choices" do make a difference.

Loss Control

William E. Jones

The Loss Control Program goes beyond safety for people. It also prevents losses to buildings and equipment. Thousands of dollars have been saved by insurance premium reductions and avoided restoration expenses.

As we have watched the Loss Control concept flow throughout our organizations, we have had more time and money with which to accomplish the spread of the Gospel. How many souls for Christ did Loss Control win during the last five years? That is a difficult question; only the books of Heaven can reveal the answer. We do know, however, that our witness for Christ will be more meaningful if we do not suffer preventable catastrophes.

Prevention is the key. And, with this key, each of us has the opportunity to unlock the door to a happier future for ourselves and others.

Public Affairs and Religious Liberty

Vernon L. Alger

The great majority of activity in the Public Affairs and Religious Liberty Department has involved the resolution of conflicts arising between church members' work schedules and Sabbath observance. As the pressure for uniformity increases, so does the pressure on those who march to the beat of a different drummer. To assist with Sabbath-work conflicts, we counsel members, meet with employers, meet with union representatives, assist members in filing claims with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (when warranted), attend fact-finding and administrative hearings, and help members pursue their God-given and Constitutionally-protected rights in court, when appropriate. During the course of these proceedings, the opportunity for witnessing is unparalleled. People who would have no other contact with Seventh-day Adventists learn of our beliefs and our commitment to our Saviour.

With the passage of the federal conscience clause amendment to the National Labor Relations Act and with Title VII of the Civil Rights Act in place, union membership problems have been greatly facilitated. Many potential problems are resolved by discussions with and the education of the local union officials regarding the current law. The source of most of the union membership activity is with the state-employed church members because the federal conscience clause does not apply to state employees. However, similar legislation applicable to state and local government employees has passed the Illinois legislature and is currently pending in the Michigan legislature.

We look forward to the next five years with a renewed spirit to face new challenges.

Publishing

John S. Bernet

The Publishing Department follows the practice of placing a major doctrinal volume with each set of children's books that are sold. Thus, the customer is given a balanced diet of milk and meat. Those that do not or cannot buy our literature are either given a booklet or a tract, enrolled in the Bible correspondence course, invited to church with Bible studies following, or all of the above.

Lake Union literature evangelists reported sales of $17,415,858.23 during this quinquennium. The missionary report is as follows:

Pieces Free Literature	1,120,774
Bible Course Enrollees	106,476
People Attending Services	14,205
Formers S.D.A.'s Contacts	11,012
Prayers Offered	269,913
Bible Studies	31,184
Literature Evangelist

Contacts Baptized 1,918

The Home Health Service presently has a bank of 100,000 customer paid-out accounts that are available to any pastor who wishes to have those names in his area for follow-up, or to mail notification of his evangelistic meetings. Some pastors are requesting these names.

God's admonition is that we should "scatter them (our publications) like the leaves of autumn." —Colporteur Ministry, p. 25. Your publishing workers endeavored to follow this counsel during the 1,000 Days of Reaping. Church leaders, pastors, and laity placed more than 250,000 copies (six 18-wheeler loads) of Cosmic Conflict, a specially prepared outreach edition of The Great Controversy, in the homes. Local Lake Union publishing directors and assistants visited more than 60 church boards in the promotion of this project. No other union field placed so many of these books in such a short time.

The Lake Union is blessed with four active and financially strong Adventist Book Centers which work to place our missionary outreach and devotional literature in all of our churches. They carry an aggressive program of book sales in the churches in their efforts to involve every member in an active program of literature distribution.

Elder Neal Wilson's appeal is "that we all dedicate a pocket or purse to carry literature with us everywhere we go."

the influence of His divine presence. . . . We should do as Christ did." —Christian Service, p. 119.

By means of the practical programs of the Sabbath School and Personal Ministries departments, it has been our purpose to carry out this injunction that we should do as Christ did. We do not believe that there is an inappropriate time to witness for Christ. It may be more difficult at times, but when wisdom and tact are exercised, it is always appropriate. Therefore, we are emphasizing that witnessing is what we do as we go and that soul winning is what we go to do. Stated in another way, we believe that witnessing for Christ and His kingdom should be a natural part of all our daily activities. Also, soul winning should be a well-planned and organized endeavor. We are convinced that every activity of Sabbath School and Personal Ministries should be a soul-winning activity.

Over $4,000,000 has been raised in the Ingathering program during the past five years. For this, we praise God and His people.

We operate 451 Community Services organizations. Our people reported that over $2,500,000 of food, clothing, and other help was given during the quinquennium. In addition, many thousands of pounds of clothing were delivered to the Adventist Development and Relief Agency for distribution overseas. We have also distributed several hundred thousand dollars worth of food, clothing, and other assistance to the poor in the inner city through our Better Living Centers. Certainly, our members are demonstrating genuine Christian kingdom. . . . He sought them in the public streets, in private houses, on the boats, in the synagogue, by the shores of the lake, and at the marriage feast. He met them at their daily vocations, and manifested an interest in their secular affairs. He carried His instruction into the household, bringing families in their own homes under commitment to the poor as is mandated by Christ.

Our members have reported conducting 807 evangelistic efforts during the past quinquennium. They have also reported 522,979 Bible studies. As a result, it is estimated that they had a part in at least 1,500 baptisms.

The Sabbath Schools have also participated in the denomination's soul-winning program in a large way. More than $9,750,000 in mission offerings has been given by our members. Also, over $1,350,000 in Investment funds were turned in during the same period of time, making a total of more than $11,000,000 in support. Certainly, our Sabbath Schools are committed to missions.

Vacation Bible Schools usually are seed-sowing efforts for evangelism. The precious children who are influenced for Jesus by this program are future members of the churches. The churches reported 620 Vacation Bible Schools with 25,000 children in attendance during the quinquennium.

My appeal is that each of us determine not only to attend ourselves but also to put forth every effort to encourage all our members to attend. What a difference this would make in so many ways to the total program of the denomination.

Trust Services

Vernon L. Alger

From a small program in 1971, the Trust Services program has grown to an average of more than $1,300,000 in total annual maturities from our five conference Trust programs.

This growth is primarily the result of the faithful stewardship of our Lake Union church members and the diligent work of our conference Trust directors.

We believe that our ratio of expense-to-dollar maturity is the lowest of any union in North America. Yet, we feel that church members can expect to receive a full range of services from our conference directors. The laws are constantly changing, and any tax reform can have a large impact on the Trust program. For that reason, we continue to conduct frequent seminars to update our membership on the laws affecting charitable giving.

Our major emphasis continues to be to encourage all our members to have properly drawn wills. In addition, we offer the services of a trust or annuity to those who can benefit from these programs.

Based on the good work of the men serving you as Trust directors, we look forward to the next five years with the assurance that God will continue to bless our people in the Lake Union. In return, our people will continue their strong stewardship program. We in Trust Services stand ready to be of service and counsel wherever and whenever we can.

Youth

Charles C. Case

Each one of us has passed through the childhood and teen years. We were challenged as we developed and matured, so are the young people today. There has never been an age when the young people had more economically and were more challenged spiritually than today. Lifestyles have changed to where even parents, in many instances, are not the role models they once were. Church members look around them, discovering that some young person is watching them and their lifestyles.

Charles C. Case, director

We as a church are trying to provide education, activities and spiritual guidance for our young people through the Youth Department.

The Pathfinder program is designed to meet many of the needs of young people ages 10-15. Club meetings are planned on a weekly basis in most churches where the Pathfinders are able to work on crafts, nature classes, Adventist junior youth classes and honors; practice marching and drill, and experience outdoor living.

I want to say "Thank You" to all of the volunteers who give of themselves, their time and money to work with the Pathfinders.

Summer camps also occupy a central place in youth ministries. A total of 12,787 young people attended the five camps operated by the conferences. Of these campers, 3,947 made a decision to follow Christ while at camp. One of the primary goals of the summer camps is to provide an atmosphere that will inspire the campers to give their hearts to Jesus.

Teenage youths and young adults have been active in Daniel and Revelation Seminars and Secular Campus Ministries. We presently have several thousand students on secular college and university campuses. Through the participation of several seminary students from Andrews University, under the leadership of Ken Williams, Secular Campus Ministries have been established on 10 campuses, and a half-time chaplain has been established in the Illinois Conference at Bloomington.

One of the highlights for the senior youths took place in December of 1984, when 123 youths and sponsors went to the Bahama Islands for one week to work on two churches and a large auditorium for our academy in Nassau. From there, these delegates were joined by 25 others as they attended the Pan American Youth Congress in Mexico City.

Teen Pathfinders from the Michigan Conference have made five mission impact trips to Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

This report has been made possible through the dedicated leadership of these men who travel the highways day and night to attend the needs of youth and leaders in our schools and churches.

Relief offering to meet human needs

by Don A. Copsey

EARTHQUAKE, famine, starvation, pestilence, disease, war, devastation, flood, drought. Words, words and more words—you see them every day! What do they mean?

In terms of Biblical prophecy, they mean Jesus is coming. In terms of nations, they mean extreme danger. In terms of people, they mean great suffering. But for Christians, they evoke compassion, love and concern.

Throughout the world, Seventh-day Adventists respond to human need through our community services organization. In our towns and cities, individuals and families receive food, clothing and other essentials during time of need.

But when manmade and natural disasters befall humanity in large areas of the world, we must respond in larger and more complete ways than is possible through our community services organization.

The Adventist Development and Relief Agency is our denominational organization for response to large-scale needs.

We are working in many areas where help is needed—Africa, Ethiopia, South America, Mexico or wherever human need is great.

Thousands of tons of foodstuffs, clothing, medical supplies and equipment have been shared by ADRA. These costly items can be made available because of the financial generosity of nations, foundations, businesses and individuals.

We can be grateful for all of these gifts and those who give that we might do our work. But Jesus said, "I have compassion on the multitude . . ." (Matthew 15:32).

He expects each of us to show His compassion for we are His witnesses.

Now is your opportunity to respond with compassion. Please be generous as you give to the Disaster and Famine Relief Offering through your home church.

Education director receives doctorate

Lake Union—Warren Minder, Lake Union director of education, completed requirements for the Doctor of Education degree at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Due to the Sabbath commencement ceremony, he received his diploma in absentia.

Dr. Minder has been the director of education for the Lake Union Conference since the summer of 1980. He had been the associate director to Fred Stephan for two years. And he assumed the directorship when Elder Stephan was called to be director of education for the North American Division.

Dr. Minder began his educational career in 1959, teaching science and mathematics at La Sierra Academy in Southern California. After five years of teaching at La Sierra, he was called to be principal of Armona Academy in Central California, a position he held for two years.

He served as principal of Sacramento Academy for three years and then moved to Mountain View for a six year tenure. In 1975, Dr. Minder accepted the call to be educational superintendent of the Ohio Conference, a position he held for three years before coming to the Lake Union Conference.

In his dissertation entitled, "A Study of the Relationship Between Church Sponsored K-12 Education and Church Membership in the Seventh-day Adventist Church," Dr. Minder set out to answer two questions:

(1) "Does attendance in Seventh-day Adventist K-12 schools substantially increase the probability of a person being baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church?" and (2) "Does attendance at Seventh-day Adventist schools substantially increase the probability that those who join the church will remain in the church?"

Dr. Minder sent surveys to randomly selected families in the Lake Union for this study. The completed data revealed that 70 percent of Adventists baptized were between the ages of 7 and 14.

Likewise, the data indicated that "If a child attends all 12 grades of church school, there is a strong indication of family commitment to the church value system." This usually results in baptism.

He found "when a child is exposed to affective learning at home, at church, and at school which emphasizes close to the same value system, the harmonious influence is obviously strong." This, too, leads to baptism.

Dr. Minder's data indicates about 98 percent of young people who attend all 12 grades in Adventist schools are baptized and remain firmly committed church members. However, about 50 percent of those who attend public schools all 12 years leave the church.

In a conversation with Dr. Minder at the conclusion of his study, he said: "There is no question in my mind, and there never was, that Seventh-day Adventist Christian education has a significant influence in preparing our young people to be committed Seventh-day Adventist Christians.

"That is the purpose of our schools, and we are fulfilling that objective. I wish all of our dear people would heed the counsel to put their children in Seventh-day Adventist schools.

"If there ever was a day our youths should be in our schools, it is today. We must work harder to convince parents that they are doing themselves and their children a disservice by sending them to the public schools, because the values are different.

"You will notice I used the word 'values.' While the public schools are academically good, they do not teach our values, and that is what is important. Values that prepare for Heaven are our goal."

The Editors

Editor's note: We have asked Dr. Minder to prepare a write-up of the complete findings of his study for the Lake Union Herald.

Indiana Conference triennial session report: A new dedication to God's mission

by Jerry Lastine

INDIANA'S 286 delegates to the 32nd triennial conference session, April 20 at Cicero, Indiana, unanimously elected John R. Loor and Tom Massengill to head the conference program for their 5,959 members Meeting in the completely remodeled Indiana Academy gym, the delegates returned all departmental directors to office. Some directors were realigned under the structure of church ministries which will be headed by Ed Skoretz.

Jim Cox and Archie Moore are associates in that department and head the ministerial and education departments, respectively. Completing the slate of directors are Jerry Lastine, communications and trust services; Lloyd Jacobs, ABC manager; Dick Tanner, ASI and publishing.

The 15 members named to the executive committee include eight laity, four of whom are women. Three women were voted to the Indiana Academy executive board. Five of the 15 board members are laity.

In his opening remarks, Elder Loor paid tribute to Robert A. Thompson who served as president during the triennium before moving to the Egypt Field in the Middle East Union.

Noting the addition of 699 new members, Elder Loor pointed to the economic stabilization in Indiana. He called for a new dedication to God's mission, especially during Harvest 90 preparation for hosting the 1990 General Conference Session in Indianapolis.

The Huntingburg and Indianapolis Falcon Creek churches were added to the sisterhood of churches, and new buildings were completed at Elkhart and Indianapolis Chapel West. The Columbus and Noblesville churches were dedicated debt free. Improvement programs at the academy totaled $823,000, including $474,000 on gymnasium renovations.

increase of 9.23 percent during the triennial period, compared with 4.36 percent during 1980-82. Conference fixed asset value exceeds $10.2 million. Maturities from the trust service program exceeded three-quarters of a million dollars in this three year period.

Literature evangelist sales surpassed $1.1 million, and Sabbath School mission offerings were $645,836, a decrease of $29,000 from the last triennium.

Adventist Book Center sales reached more than $1.5 million, and the academy endowment fund contributed nearly $26 to each student account.

Community services in food and clothing exceeded $3.5 million.

Reports in Christian education show 20 elementary schools are served by 32 teachers who average more than 10 years experience. Achievement tests showed a composite score well above the national average.

Youth camp director, Archie Moore, announced the Senior Citizen's Camp at Timber Ridge, July 22-27, for all over 55 years of age. There will be a 10 percent discount to each camper. Delegates who qualify were urged to attend.

Challenging his constituents, Elder Loor observed: "Our greatest need is not financial, planning, nor procedure. It is, rather, absolutely imperative that we all consistently spend time in Bible study, prayer and service."

Members of the executive committee, in addition to President Loor and Secretary-Treasurer Tom Massengill, are Pastor Jerry Arnold, Elkhart; Pastor Albert Gerst, New Albany; Nancy Good, Marion; Harold Grosboll, Indiana Academy; Cathryn

Kuzmaul, Cicero; Pastor Archie Moore, Cicero; Larry Pleasants, Indianapolis; Dorothy Reed, Tell City; Ray Self, Bloomington; John Smith, Lafayette; Edna Trojanowski, South Bend; Pastor Lou Toscano, Indianapolis, and Robert Weisner, Logansport.

The delegates approved a new constitution for the conference and voted a constitution for Indiana Academy.

The noon meal was served by the junior class of the academy under the direction of Dorothy Massengill, wife of the Indiana secretary-treasurer.

Microphones positioned among the delegates were available for use by the delegates like Barbara Ryan of the Indianapolis Glendale Church.

Delegates from 67 churches gathered at the self-serve tables for lunch break. The junior class of Indiana Academy prepared vegetarian hoagies, soup, a beverage and fruit.

"Christian Lifestyle Magazine" accepted by armed forces

Newbury Park, Calif.—The "Christian Lifestyle Magazine" weekly television series has been accepted for public service, worldwide broadcast by the Armed Forces Television Network.

Major Geoffrey Moran, audiovisual manager for the U.S. Army Chaplain Board, said, "Our group enthusiastically approved 'Christian Lifestyle Magazine' for airing over the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service.

"Thank you for your work in producing such an excellent program. We especially appreciate the breadth of your program. This is much more useful for our pluralistic audience."

"Christian Lifestyle Magazine" will be one of only three religious programs aired for the 1,100,000 United States military personnel and their families stationed in foreign countries and aboard Navy ships.

Dan Matthews, host and executive producer of the series, said, "At a time when "Faith For Today's" budget is stretched to the limit, with no additional funds to purchase air time, this doubling of our audience is a real miracle for which we thank God. We are especially grateful for this opportunity to minister to the men and women, and their families, serving our country around the world."

How can a small Christian university like Andrews compete with a Goliath-size state university?

Actually, we don't try. Our goals are different. Andrews is a university with a mission. Yes, we have a reputation for academic excellence and we are pleased, but that's not all we are about. We are an institution with Christian heritage and vision.

If your goals include academic achievement and strong professional preparation in a school small enough to care, Andrews is your kind of university.

If your values are Christ-centered, they are the stone that no Goliath-size state university can compete with.

Use the coupon to the right to help us help you reach your goals.
