Are we reliving the experiences of 1888?

WHEN I was growing up in the West, logging truck drivers were among my teenage idols.

The skill that captivated my attention was the ability of those drivers to keep the giant trucks on their side of the narrow road. "How do you do it?" I asked one driver.

"The secret is a balance between the mirror and the windshield," he responded.

Puzzled, I queried, "What does the rearview mirror have to do with keeping the truck on the road?"

He answered: "To look back is to see ahead. With my mirrors, I can see exactly where my trailer tires are. I can put them on the edge of the center line or within a half inch of the shoulder. But if I spend too much time looking in the rearview mirror and don't focus on the road ahead, I'll find myself in trouble."

The Christian life has been described as a narrow road—easy to get off on either the right or the left! Isn't it urgent that we find a wholesome balance between the "rearview mirror" and the road ahead?

A fascinating landmark in the Adventist "mirror" is the message of 1888. As we focus on it briefly, we are compelled to ask, "Is the church reliving the experiences of 1888?"

In The Lonely Years by Arthur White, Ellen White describes the cause of her illness a few weeks before the Minnesota General Conference Session. She wrote:

"I had been instructed in regard to many evils that had been coming in among us while I was in Europe, and had written what was the mind of the Lord in reference to them.

"I had also been told that the testimony God had given me would not be received, because the hearts of those who had been reprovved were not in such a state of humility that they could be corrected and receive reproof . . . .

"A strong, firm resistance was manifested by many against anything that should interfere with their own personal ideas, their own course of action. This laid upon me the heaviest burdens I could possibly bear" (pp. 385, 386).

A few weeks later, Ellen G. White recovered sufficiently to attend the Minnesota session. What key lessons are reflected in the Adventist "mirror" from inspired comments at or about that session?

"The fact that he [E.J. Waggoner] honestly holds some views of Scripture differing from yours or mine is no reason why we should treat him as an offender, or as a dangerous man, and make him the subject of unjust criticism" (p. 401).

"Satan has done his work with some success. There has been variance of feelings, and division. There has been much jealousy and evil surmising. There have been many unsanctified speeches, hints, and remarks. The minds of the men who should be . . . prepared to do mighty strokes for God, at this very time are absorbed in matters of little consequence" (p. 402).

"Another danger that threatens the church is individual independence . . . . Let every member seek to be in accord with the truth, and with the brethren" (p. 382).

In some circles in the church today, a debate rages if the denomination rejected the message of 1888. In other places, the ill-natured debate continues over personal relationships—who will hold a church office, how the pastor is doing, the role of women in the church or whether the educational system is really Adventist.

From this driver's "rearview mirror," it appears many of us have failed to learn the real lesson of the last century: How we get along with each other is at least as important as what we teach!

Michigan Camp Meeting rained out

by Glenn H. Hill

THE 118th annual Michigan Conference Camp Meeting will go down in history as "the camp meeting that wasn't."

Tents and cabins were ready and speakers had been appointed, but deep Michigan mud forced cancellation.

Eleven inches of rain had fallen on the campground in June. Even with three days of beautiful, drying weather that followed, the fields could not handle the anticipated 6,000 cars and 500 recreational vehicles. The vehicles of a few "early birds" were already stuck down to the axles.

After two hours of discussion late Thursday afternoon, June 19, the campground committee voted to cancel. An additional nine-tenths inch of rain ended any hope of acceptable fields for parking.

Alternate plans were discussed, including utilizing blacktopped lots in other areas of town and shuttling drivers to the grounds. But it was deemed not feasible in view of the unloading problems on the small amount of blacktop in the campground.

Services for those already on the grounds were held on Sabbath and Sunday until noon.

A ministerial council planned for August at Camp Au Sable was cancelled. In its place, a hastily crafted meeting was held at the campground during what would have been camp meeting. This was a move to recover some expenses and utilize food supplies already on hand.

Three mini camp meetings were planned to reach at least some of the people who would have gone to Grand Ledge: June 27, 28 at Adelpian Academy, August 1, 2 at the Battle Creek Tabernacle and August 8, 9 at Cedar Lake Academy.

No housing or food service accommodations were planned for these meetings.

The cancellation of camp meeting was a great disappointment to many. It was hard to understand in the light of God's providence. But history has taught us that the Lord is able to bring good out of evil and joy out of sorrow.

One minister on the campground was heard to say: "Our attitude toward this is the most important thing. The devil will have had his day only if we let him. The Lord is able to use all this to His ultimate glory."

New Michigan van ministry reaching the unreached

STATISTICS show us that hypertension among Americans has reached an all-time high. Many undetected cases lead to heart disease and stroke.

The desire to meet physical, mental and spiritual needs activated the Detroit/Flint van ministry program.

In 1984, the van programs in operation in Florida and elsewhere were studied, and a committee was set up to get the program going in Detroit and Flint. With much study and prayer, the Lord opened the way, providing a 30-foot van and funds for refurbishing it.

Plymouth and Belleville Church members prepared 150 lunches for the van ministry. On December 25, 1985, these volunteers took the lunches, warm clothing and blood pressure equipment to serve the less fortunate in the Cass Quarters district of Detroit.

As Patricia, a 40-year-old prostitute, entered the van, she saw Geneva Kelp who had assisted her a month earlier. At that time, most of Patricia's clothing had been stolen while she was in jail.

Patricia made her way to the back of the van and expressed her feelings by greeting Geneva with a warm hug. Geneva had sent Patricia some clothing, a Bible and study guides Patricia had requested on her first visit.

The Detroit/Flint van ministry volunteers continue to minister to be the Good Samaritans on the roads of Detroit and Flint.

The Sutherland House

Volunteers needed for restoration of historical Sutherland House

NOW, Sutherland House is an 84-year-old building with badly chipped white paint, peeling green trim and boarded-up windows.

On the edge of the Andrews University campus, the house stands in the midst of overgrown landscape on the banks of Lemon Creek.

Built by Edward A. Sutherland, the first president of Emmanuel Missionary College (now Andrews University), the Sutherland House remains the only structural link to the beginnings of the university and the man whose ideals are part of its purpose. For these reasons, the Committee for the Restoration of Sutherland House has been formed.

Elsie Buck, committee chairperson, says, "We want to restore this house so we can remember the exceptional courage and commitment of E. A. Sutherland to the church and its youths, and the legacy which he gave us in mission outreach both at home and abroad."

Mr. Sutherland introduced programs at Emmanuel Missionary College and the other institutions with which he was associated. Reforms included a vegetarian diet, exercise program, emphasis on religious and vocational education, and evangelism for world missions.

In addition to being the first president of Walla Walla College and president of Battle Creek (Michigan) College, Mr. Sutherland was founder and president of Madison College in Madison, Tennessee.

In 1946, Mr. Sutherland established the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Self-supporting Institutions. Now named Adventist-Laymen's Services and Industries, this organization continues Mr. Sutherland's principles for mission evangelism.

Mr. Sutherland's vision of the campus as a global evangelistic center will be expressed in the Institute of World Mission to be headquartered in the restored house.

"The Institute of World Mission will rekindle Mr. Sutherland's vision and will remind us of the mission outreach of the church," says Mrs. Buck. The need to relocate the institute is critical to its training mission appointees in this area.

The parlor of Sutherland House will be furnished to reflect the early 1900s. A reading room will be provided to encourage those interested in missions to spend time exploring the subject.

Maranatha Flights International of Berrien Springs, Michigan, is sponsoring a two-week assignment July 27-August 8 to start restoration. Ron du Preez, president of the Andrews student chapter, will be in charge.

He says: "Whether you have had any experience in building doesn't matter. What we really need are people willing to work. Of course, those with construction skills are especially welcome and are urged to join us."

The committee for restoration will provide free meals and accommodations to anyone working on the project for at least three days. Planners say the job can be nearly completed in those two weeks if willing workers come.

Volunteers should call Ron du Preez at 616-473-3676 or Maranatha Flights at 616-471-3961.

Estimated cost for restoration of Sutherland House is $167,000, and $60,000 has been collected. Funds are urgently needed by August 30, 1986. To make a tax-deductible contribution, send your gift to: Committee for the Restoration of Sutherland House, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, MI 49104.

A November 1 occupancy date has been set. Plans are in place for action. Now, people and money are needed.

Wisconsin Academy Church welcomes new members

Wisconsin—Ken Bean and Carl Malmquist, inmates at Fox Lake Correctional Institution, were baptized April 26 by Richard Habenicht and received into the Wisconsin Academy Church family.

and Carl were each allowed to invite one fellow prisoner.

Ken Bean started "Voice of Prophecy" lessons at the suggestion of Fred and Debbie Reill of Cave Creek, Arizona, who corresponded with him through their "Wings of Love Ministry." After completing the course, Ken requested that a pastor visit him. Pastor Habenicht began Bible studies with Ken, who soon interested a fellow prisoner, Carl Malmquist.

"When the men requested baptism, we were up against two problems," says Pastor Habenicht. "Prisoners were not allowed to leave the institution for any reason, and there were no facilities for baptism."

John Albinger, a Catholic chaplain, finally solved the dilemma by suggesting the use of the only bathtub in the prison—a large, deep bathtub in the physical therapy department.

Ken and Carl are continuing Bible study with Pastor Habenicht.

LaCrosse students win space-exploration contest

Wisconsin—Frieda Mattson, the LaCrosse Seventh-day Adventist Elementary School teacher, accepts awards for her students, Jodi Clemons and Erik LaSeure. Mark N. Brown of the Johnson Space Center in Houston made the presentation in the University of Wisconsin Eau Claire Arena on April 8. The LaCrosse students were each a first-place winner of $100 cash. They constructed rockets that depict America's future in space. The First Wisconsin National Bank of Eau Claire sponsored the contest and provided prizes in the interest of science and the education of America's youths. The contest was held in conjunction with station WEAQ/WIAL "Techno Expo '86."

Emilio B. Knechtle speaks in Rhinelander District

Wisconsin—Emilio B. Knechtle from New Canaan, Connecticut, was weekend guest speaker for the Rhinelander District meetings June 6 and 7.

"We're fortunate to have him," commented district pastor, Clinton Meharry. Mr. Knechtle, formerly a successful banker, corporation president and New York City Council president, is now a multilanguage, Christ-sharing, Adventist speaker-in-demand in several countries.

He urged daily Bible study, much prayer and sharing Christ with others and admonished the group to be uncompromising regarding Bible truth. He urged 100 percent honesty.

Rhinelander members Joy Braeger, Linda Hutchins, Iris House, Joan Meharry and Myrtle Perlberg provided vocal and instrumental music. They were assisted by Darrel and Candee Kuhn from Tomahawk and Gary Stebbeds of Clearwater Lake.

New members added to Racine District churches

service was conducted in the Kenosha Church by Elder Pitman, pastor of the Racine, Kenosha, Raymond and Franklin congregations. Each candidate gave a personal testimony. Wisconsin Conference President, Jere Wallack, was speaker for the worship service. His wife, Nancy, shared a story with the children.

Michigan Conference

Gobles-Pinedale members observe Education Day

Michigan—Gobles Junior Academy students conducted the Gobles-Pinedale Church Education Day service on April 5. Each teacher received a gold apple from Home and School Association leader, Alvena Evans, to remind them that they are "worth their weight in gold." Pictured, left to right, are Bob Patterson, grades 4-6; Tom Coffee, principal and grades 9-10; Gordon Evans, grades 1-3; Sandra Buell, student teacher for grades 1-3; Tom Lechleitner, grades 7-8 and Alvena Evans, Home and School leader. Renee Coffee, teacher for grades 9-10, is not pictured. Students in grades 2-6 played the ChoirChimes. They were conducted by Gordon Evans. The grades 7-10 choir sang, directed by Renee Coffee. Principal Tom Coffee gave a report of student witnessing activities for the 1985-86 school year.

Investment raised with country, western 'haydown'

Michigan—The Jackson Church raised $480 through a country and western haydown directed by Dorothy Thomas, Investment leader. Pictured is Wayne Hyde, a Jackson Sabbath School teacher who ground fresh corn meal for sale at the program. More than 200 people attended. Most were dressed in western attire. The haydown featured craft and food sales, pony rides, musical presentations and sleight-of-hand by Felix Lorenz. Ralph Benedict from Battle Creek led the group in a grand march.

12 certified as Breathe-Free instructors at Escanaba workshop

Michigan—Fourteen people from the Upper Peninsula attended the April 5 and 6 Breathe-Free Training Workshop at the Escanaba Church. Twelve completed the Breathe-Free Plan to Stop Smoking course and have been certified as instructors. Many participants expressed appreciation for the positive emphasis given to self-image, self-esteem and self-respect in this program. More training programs are being planned. Contact the Michigan Conference health and temperance department for information.

Andrews Academy graduates 65

Lawrence Geraty, president of Atlantic Union College, gave the address entitled "Charting Your Way to Success." Academy Principal Richard Orrison presented the diplomas.

Members of the 1986 class are: Julie Ahn, Darryl Allen, Michelle Bacchus, Rochelle Bernet, Michael Binns, Robin Bodi, Felix Carpenter, Judy Christiansen, Hak-Jae Chung, Annette Clemonds, Mark Coupland, Erwin Dass, Delmer Davis Jr., Kevin Denton, Shelley Dunn.

Brent Geraty, Christopher Griggs, Suzanne Haakmat, Shelly Hass, Tammy Jones, Robert Kalua, Angelique Kulinski, Brenda Ladd, Luis Leonor, David Lofthouse, Sonya McCoy, Roxanne Medina, Gregory Metzger, Bernard Mun, Gloria Murdick, Jeffrey Muskett.

Juhyeok Nam, Rodney Nash, Louise Ntaganda, Christian Olson, Janelle Olson, Richard Orrison Jr., Beth Osborn, Rachelle Pangman, Carmen Pena, Paul Poyser, Aldene Preddie, Michael Quion.

Princess Vallieres, Janice Weathersby, Stephanie Wilham, Benjamin Williams, David Wutzke and Glenn Wyant.

Five graduates received scholarships for more than $2,300.

Upper Peninsula meeting features 'fulfilled Jew'

Michigan—Mordecai DuShey and his wife, Jolene, were guest speakers at the Upper Peninsula annual district meeting held May 10 at Camp Sagola.

Mordecai is a "fulfilled Jew" recently baptized into the Adventist Church. He is studying at the North American Division Soul-Winning Institute in Chicago, and he carries a burden to reach Jewish people with the Adventist message. He says Seventh-day Adventist teachings give meaning to his Hebrew background.

At the Sagola meeting, the DuSheys displayed a model of Herod's Temple as it was during the time of Christ and explained its interesting details.

A highlight of the weekend was Mordecai's explanation of Jewish Sabbath observance. He explained that on Friday evening the Jewish family lights two candles. On Saturday evening, they light just one. The lesson is that the week's activities often divide families, but the Sabbath celebration brings them into oneness again.

The district meeting was attended by more than 280 adults plus children.

Manton Church spearheads benefit

Michigan—Jacob Schnitter (left) poses with Clint Mayoral and his brothers, Jesse and Abe. The people of Manton and the surrounding community held a benefit for 8-year-old Jacob who was diagnosed as having cancer at the end of last year. Manton Church musicians participated in the March 22 program. Buddy Houghtaling, a pianist and vocalist from Battle Creek, was in Manton to give a sacred concert when he heard about Jacob. Mr. Houghtaling gave proceeds from the sale of cassettes at his concert to be combined with the offering taken by the Manton Church. A total of $800 was raised.

Andrews Academy opens health center in gymnasium

Michigan—A $17,500 Health Fitness Center in the Andrews Academy gymnasium is now open.

"The center provides an incentive for a total body fitness program throughout the year," said Douglas Newberry, physical education coordinator for the academy.

The initial money for the center came as a gift from the class of 1985, and students raised the remainder through various projects.

Dr. Richard Orrison, principal, said the Health and Fitness Center is one of many additions to the academy for which students raised money.

Michigan Conference news note

- A musical pantomime of Dallas Holm's play, "His Last Days," enriched a district communion service for 100 members of the Sturgis, Mendon and Three Rivers churches, Friday night, March 28, in Three Rivers. On Saturday night, March 29, a repeat performance drew 115 people, including many guests.

Detroit Korean Church announces baptisms

Michigan—Six members pose with Elder Kwang Oh Kim (in white robe) following their baptism. They are, from left: Sam Pyo, Tae Hyun Kim, Danny Park, Chaewon Song, Changsoo Suk and Chonchul Kim. Another new member, Hyo Duch Choi, traveled to Dear Mountain, Korea, so her parents could witness her baptism.

Lake Region Conference

Capitol Avenue students honor grandparents

Lake Region—In Indianapolis, Capitol Avenue Seventh-day Adventist Elementary School faculty and students honored grandparents on March 26.

The fourth annual celebration began with a grand march. Students ushered their grandparent, parent or other guest into the gym as Barbara Curley, teacher for grades 1-3, played a lively tune on the piano.

Two grandparents seated in special chairs each received a flower planter. Students presented potted plants to their grandparents.

Guests were served salads, sandwiches, cake and fruit punch.

Dorothy J. Davis, the pastor's wife, acted as tour director. She took grandparents on an imaginary cruise to Nassau in the Bahamas. Passengers boarding a make-believe cruise ship received leis and long-stemmed carnations. The gym was decorated in a Caribbean theme.

A humorous skit entitled "Those Golden Years" starred Maxine Bethea.

Barbara Curley's lower-grade class recites poems for the Grandparents' Day program at the Capitol Avenue Seventh-day Adventist Elementary School in Indianapolis.

Guest speaker, Susie Davies, is assistant to Mayor William H. Hudnut III. She noted the love displayed in presentation of the Grandparents' Day program. Speaking about the honored guests, she said, "Grandparents possess a God-given treasure of wisdom and knowledge."

Ms. Davies commended Jerome Davis, pastor, and the school faculty for promotion of Christian education.

Principal Edwin Davis and Dorothy J. Davis provided many of the decorations for this program.

Dorothy A. Davis, the principal's wife, helped teachers and volunteers plan the program and implement special effects. She also narrated the humorous skit.

Mattie Maxwell, Ciane Burt and Liz Joseph volunteered their services and participated in the program.

In his closing remarks, Elder Jerome Davis commended Principal Davis and his staff for "an outstanding program."

Echoes of Faith concert features Angela Brown

Lake Region—Angela Brown, a recent convert to Adventism, exercised her desire to be used by God in the April 27 benefit concert at the Shortridge Junior High School in Indianapolis. Sister Brown was the featured soloist for the Echoes of Faith Gospel Choir. Diane Reed, choir president, reported that the Capitol Avenue Seventh-day Adventist Elementary School received proceeds from the concert. Charli Cartwright, church communication secretary, says: "Angie was in extraordinarily good form. Her voice was powerful and expressive. Charming and sometimes amusing, Angie displayed a skillful stage manner. The audience repeatedly broke into applause. Echoes of Faith received a standing ovation at the close of the concert."

Adventist School stresses practical religion

Lake Region—When Capitol Avenue Seventh-day Adventist Elementary School pupils take standardized achievement tests, most score in the 80th and 90th percentile.

"The school, operated by the Capitol City Church in Indianapolis, has turned out businessmen, research scientists, ministers, teachers, doctors and lawyers," says Diane Reed, area director of youth. She notes that behavior in the school is monitored to maintain an environment that encourages learning.

Since its establishment in 1921, enrollment in Capitol Avenue has ranged from 20-120. Attendance now averages 55 in grades one through eight.

The school's merits were published in a story written by Carol Elrod, religion writer for the Indianapolis Star newspaper. The article notes graduates' accomplishments and states that teachers at Capitol Avenue are "certified by the state of Indiana as well as 'dedicated to the Lord.'"

Lake Region Conference introduces Spanish evangelist

Lake Region—Pablo Maizonet held a six-week crusade at the South Shore Spanish Church in Chicago that closed May 17. This picture was taken during a vocal concert he gave while working with the South Shore Church. Following the South Shore crusade, Pastor Maizonet held an evangelistic effort at the Waukegan Spanish Church. He will conduct all the Spanish evangelistic crusades for the Lake Region Conference this year.

Lake Region Conference news notes

• The Investment committee of the City Temple Church in Detroit determined to make an investment in people and a profit—friends. An Investment dinner was held in the fellowship hall immediately following the 11 o'clock service April 12. C. W. Drake III, church pastor, and Oretha Slaughter, Sabbath School superintendent, hosted the affair. Tables were numbered, and a captain was assigned to see that members became better acquainted. Captains told their conversion stories and members followed this example. Heart-shaped key rings were given to those seated in "lucky chairs." Members of the City Temple Church thank the Investment committee for their untiring efforts in sharing and caring. Naomi Renti, Investment leader, stated, "It took all of us working together to make the affair a success."

• The 1985-86 showing of Halley's Comet created excitement for 90-year-old J. Sue Johnson of the Indianapolis Capitol City Church. Sister Johnson says her father called the family outside to view this "beautiful sight" when she was 14 years old. She thanks God for a long life and reasonably good health that enabled her to see the comet again.

Indiana Conference

Thirty-three graduate from Indiana Academy

Indiana—Commencement exercises for Indiana Academy were held on May 25.

Special recognition was given to a number of deserving graduates. Amy Hartmann, John Faris, Karl Weber and Delynne Bolin were presented the President's Academic Fitness Award.

John Faris received a $1,200 scholarship from W. Richard Leshner, president of Andrews University. John was winner of a unionwide essay contest sponsored by the Andrews University business department. He was also recognized as semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

Awards were presented to students exhibiting qualities of Christian education. John Anthony received the award for outstanding service. Doug Goolsby was recognized for his contribution in spiritual leadership. Audrey Ham received the Fine Arts award.

The sweet and cheerful spirit of Tammy Craig qualified her for the School Spirit award. John Faris and Delynne Bolin received Outstanding Worker awards.

Dr. Leshner presented scholarships to the seniors totaling $41,800. These were based on academic achievement and involvement in various academy activities. Renee Schalk of Hinsdale, Illinois, received $3,500, the largest scholarship awarded.

Parents of Melissa Barnhart, Kathy Brewer, Karl Eisele and Susan Leacy were presented flowers by John Loor, president of the Indiana Conference. These graduates were the third in their families to graduate from Indiana Academy. Delynne Bolin's parents were honored because Delynne was the fourth in her family to graduate from Indiana Academy.

The family of Doug Goolsby was recognized because Doug's parents, grandparents and great-grandfather graduated from Indiana Academy. His great-grandfather Vance graduated in 1916.

Graduation weekend was a special time for 33 very special, young people. The class was challenged at the consecration service by Bob Dunn, chaplain for Kettering Hospital in Ohio. During the baccalaureate, they were encouraged by Elder Loor. At commencement, Dr. Leshner gave them the formula for making dreams come true.

Indiana Conference news notes

• Plymouth Church Community Services assisted in a community-wide project to clothe 43 children of the area during the fourth quarter of 1985. The church turned in its funds to the local Jaycees, who coordinated the event. The church donated 25 pairs of mittens to a neighborhood project and gave holiday food baskets to needy families.

• Shirley Burton, news director of the General Conference communication department in Washington, visited the Wolf Lake Church April 19. "We were moved to tears as she shared with us how Jesus' love changes lives," reports Pat Johnson. "Her visit to our small church will never be forgotten."

• Pathfinders conducted the March 22 Sabbath worship program in the Shelbyville Church, under the direction of Steve and Linda Nugent, Pathfinder leaders. Rosemary DeHart, communication secretary, reports that prayer was offered by Lucas White. Beth Hall gave the children's story. Jared Nugent gave the welcome and announcements. Pathfinders presented a skit.

Ralph and Vivian Combes honored by Glendale Church

Indiana—Members of the Indianapolis Glendale Church honored Ralph and Vivian Combes on March 15 with a dinner and gifts of appreciation.

Although Elder Combes retired nine years ago, he has actively participated in Glendale Church programs.

The Combes began their ministry in the Iowa Conference as a pastor-teacher team with a combined paycheck of $15. They lived in a tent, taught full time, conducted evangelistic meetings and pastored. "God blessed with one soul in my first evangelistic meeting," Elder Combes said and then remarked, "It can be done."

Other areas of service by Elder and Mrs. Combes include the Oregon Conference, a year of language study at the seminary in Washington, D.C., six years as president of French West Indies Mission, five years directing the Sabbath School and lay activities departments of the Carribean Union Conference and the same responsibilities for two years in the union office in Haiti.

Elder Combes came to the Indiana Conference in 1959 as director of the Sabbath School, lay activities, radio and Bible correspondence school.

Thirteen years later, he pastored the Brownsburg-Frankfort District for five years and retired in 1977.

Mrs. Combes continued her teaching career at Indianapolis Junior Academy until 1980, retiring after 18 years service there.

The Combes moved some 17 times in their first eight years of marriage. They have lived at 6325 N. Tacoma Street in Indianapolis for 27 years.

Head deaconess, Beth Schmidt (left), observes as Vivian Combes and Elder Ralph Combes respond to the recognition gift of the Glendale Church, presented by John Allen, head elder. The Combes are active in visitation, preaching and ministering to members of the conference family.

Four students baptized at Broadview Academy

Illinois—Principal Harold Oetman baptized two freshmen and two sophomore students at Broadview Academy on May 10.

These students had been given individual Bible studies for several months. All four students were enthusiastic in their decision for baptism. Carolyn Fowler will join the Broadview Academy Church. The other three students will join churches in Chicago: Lynell Bushrod, Morgan Park Church; Jenny Fuller, West Central Church; Gary Bala, Hispanic Central Church.

Gary Bala is the only one of the four students who does not come from a Seventh-day Adventist home. Gary and his mother (who live only one block from an Adventist church) were attending the Catholic Church when they heard of "a private school in the country where Gary would receive personal attention and a Christian education."

Without fully understanding why or how, Gary found himself at BVA on registration day last August. He says: "My first concern was the food. I couldn't believe that people could actually eat vegetarian food and continue living!" This new Adventist has not become a full-fledged "vegie" as yet, but he has learned to enjoy healthful meals.

Gary's well-meaning friends in the boys' dormitory delighted in sharing with him topics concerning the end of time. The two favorites were "The Mark of the Beast" and "The Time of

Four generations graduate from Broadview Academy

Trouble." In astonishment, Gary absorbed these discussions, the strange beliefs, and concluded that the whole school was weird!

Gary reflects, "I really wondered what my mother had gotten me into!"

Gary asked his Bible teacher, Jackie De Groot, many questions generated by his friends' instruction. Because he seemed to have a new dilemma every day, he was given regular Bible studies. Gary's quick and probing mind soon grasped the beautiful truths of the Word, and it wasn't long before he was doing more answering in Bible class than the other students.

A deeply religious, young man, Gary served his former church as an altar boy and performed many other duties. Because of his concern and love for his mother, he often shares with her the Bible lessons which he has finished and hopes she, too, will accept the Adventist message someday soon.

Principal Harold Oetman says: "We are proud to have Gary at BVA and are happy that God has led him here. I also count it a privilege and honor to have been able to baptize all four of our young people. Praise the Lord for Christian education."

Andrews University

Andrews University news notes

- Brenda Rowland, senior at Andrews Academy in Berrien Springs, has been named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program. Miss Rowland is among a group of high school seniors comprising less than one half of one percent of the nation's senior class, who have completed the second step of the competition for about 5,800 merit scholarships. The scholarships are worth almost $21 million and will be awarded later this spring. For Miss Rowland to advance to this stage of the competition, she had to document high academic performance, be recommended by Principal Richard T. Orrison, confirm her qualifying test score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and submit information about her school and community activities, personal interests and goals. Miss Rowland plans to attend Andrews University next year.

- This year's Blossomtime Metric Century biking event attracted 782 bicyclists to the Andrews campus May 4 from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin. The annual event is organized by the Berrien Bicycle Club. Albin Grohar, Andrews' director of development, is president. The ride is sponsored by three Michigan companies: Blossomtime, Inc. located in Benton Harbor, Apple Valley Market in Berrien Springs and Wegner's Schwinn Cyclery in St. Joseph. Registration took place on the Andrews campus. Apple Valley Market prepared the food served at the three food stops. There were three distance options for the ride: 100, 50 or 30 kilometers. Cumulatively, the participants rode 45,000 bicycle miles in one day. This is almost enough miles to circle the globe twice.

Andrews University—Edwin R. Thiele was a teacher for 28 years.

He was born September 10, 1895, in Chicago, Illinois. He graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College in Berrien Springs, Michigan, in 1918 with a bachelor's degree in ancient languages. He served as home missionary secretary of the East Michigan Conference from 1918 to 1920.

In 1920 he married Lorena Stone, and the couple left for the Orient where Edwin served for 12 years as editor and two years as manager of Signs of the Times Publishing House in Shanghai, China. He became an expert in the Mandarin dialect. He taught religion at Washington Missionary College during a furlough.

Upon permanent return to the United States in 1936, Mr. Thiele entered the University of Chicago. There he earned a master's in archaeology in 1937 and a doctor of philosophy degree in 1943. In 1937, he began teaching religion at Andrews, a position he held until his retirement in 1965. For most of those years he also chaired the religion department.

Upon his retirement, Mr. Thiele was given the title professor of religion and philosophy, emeritus. Andrews honored him with an honorary doctor of divinity degree in 1965 for his outstanding scholarly work and ministry for the church.

Among his greatest scholarly achievements is solving the problems relating to the chronological data in the Old Testament books of Kings and Chronicles. His findings were jointly published in 1951 by the University of Chicago Press and Cambridge University Press in The Mysterious Numbers of the Hebrew Kings.

Mr. Thiele died April 14 in St. Helena, California. Lorena, his wife of 41 years, died in 1961.

He was married to Margaret Rossiter White for the past 24 years. He is survived by his wife, Margaret; his son, Arthur L. Thiele; his sister, Hilda Flanagan, four grandchildren and several nephews and nieces.

Roger Bothwell officiated at the funeral service in St. Helena. Daniel Augsburger, Ivan Blazen, Kenneth Strand, Steven Vitrano and Rosemary Waterhouse participated in a graveside tribute at the April 29 interment in Rose Hill Cemetery in Berrien Springs.

Children imitate parents in new radio spot series

Newbury Park, Calif.—A new series of Adventist radio spots feature children imitating common statements parents make in anger. An announcer invites parents to hear themselves through their children's ears.

The announcer suggests: "It's amazing how much a child can sound like a parent. But even more amazing is how we expect our children to grow up to be reasonable, after telling them their thoughts don't matter. So, next time, hear it through his ears."

Each spot closes with the tag line: "A parenting reminder from this station and the Seventh-day Adventists."

John Robertson, researcher and producer at the Voice of Prophecy, creates three sets of public service spots each year. He says: "We hope hundreds of stations air these messages. And we hope thousands of parents think about the ideas they present."

The 16 public service messages were sent to all radio stations in the United States and Canada.

My Dear Brethren: I just received my May Lake Union Herald. Oh, I was so happy to get it. I guess I've been reading it since I learned to read. My mother became a Seventh-day Adventist while carrying me in her arms, and I've praised the Lord many times for that through my 78 years.

But the magazine is now so much improved. I received it while raising six sons and one daughter. I received it while I was on staff 10 years at Loma Linda Hospital. I received it when I was on staff at Kettering, Ohio, Hospital. It has helped me be content wherever I am.

Financial aid doesn't grow on trees, but we know where to find it.

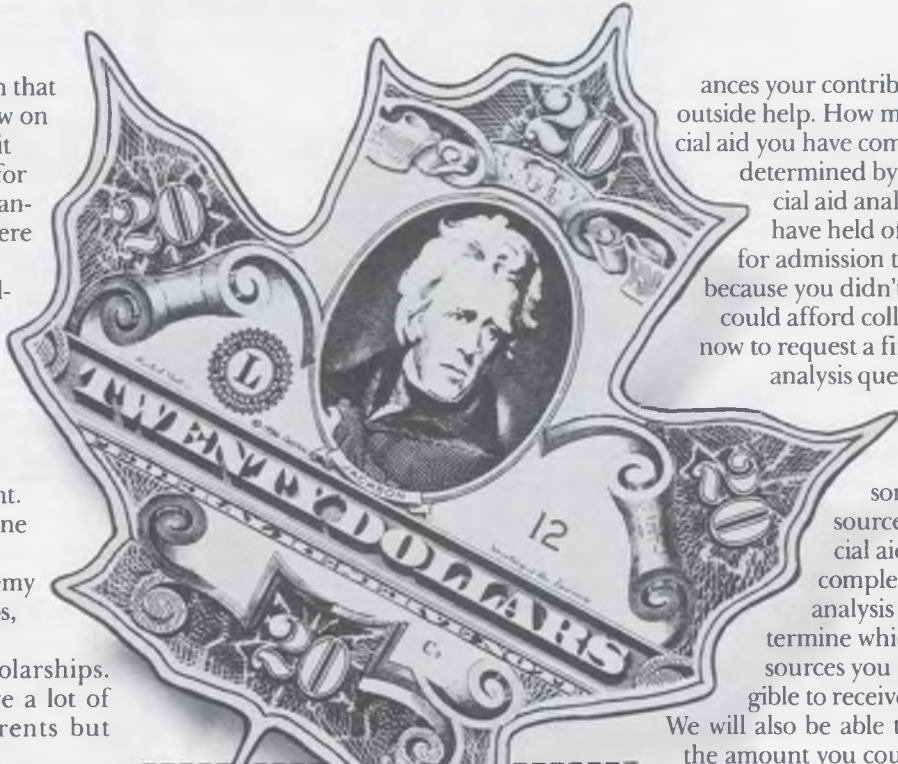

We may all wish that money for college grew on trees, but we all know it doesn't. Financial aid for college comes from planning and knowing where to look. There are financial aid funds available, and we know how to find all that you are eligible for.

We have found that financial aid requirements vary from student to student. Students who have done exceptionally well in high school and academy often earn scholarships, while others do not qualify for these scholarships. Some students receive a lot of help from their parents but others cannot.

That's why we review every request for financial aid, and then develop a plan for financing your education that balances your contributions and outside help. How much financial aid you have coming can be determined by our financial aid analysis. If you have held off applying for admission to Andrews because you didn't think you could afford college, call us now to request a financial aid analysis questionnaire.

The charts below list some current sources of financial aid. Once we complete your aid analysis we can determine which of these sources you may be eligible to receive aid from. We will also be able to estimate the amount you could receive. Andrews can help you reach your educational goals, and we'll do everything we can to find the financial help you need.

Yes, I'd like more information about available financial aid. I want to have a financial aid analysis done as soon as possible.
