Blow the Trumpet!

Part I

by Robert H. Carter, President
Lake Union Conference

THIS is the first of three articles on the Lake Union Conference Strategic Plan that was presented by the president to the delegates attending the recent Union Session held in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Global Mission, adopted by the Church at the General Conference Session, is to reach a new group of 1 million people every other day for the next 10 years. As part of the world church, the Lake Union Conference wishes to join our believers in this noble objective. The Lake Union Conference Executive Committee adopted a strategic plan for accomplishing our "Global Mission."

The plan lists five goals during this quinquennial period. They are: 1) to increase Sabbath School and church attendance by 10 percent, 2) to increase church membership by 5 percent, 3) to increase mission giving by 5 percent, 4) to increase church school enrollment by 10 percent, and 5) to increase tithe receipts by 10 percent.

Five steps are suggested as a means of realizing these objectives. They are:

STEP 1 — To develop a strong spiritual lifestyle emphasis through stewardship.

Much prayer and regular study of the Word are essential for spiritual growth. We recommend spending more time seeking the Holy Spirit's aid to develop a lifestyle that is pleasing to God. Faithful stewardship is evidence of spiritual development.

According to the Seventh-day Adventist Church Manual, (1986 edition) Page 133: "Stewardship in its fullest form covers many aspects of Christian life and experience, such as our time, our influence, our service."

In Testimonies for the Church, vol. 9, Page 248, Ellen G. White states: "God desires all of His stewards to be exact in following divine arrangements. ... God calls upon all to give their influence to His own arrangement. He has made His plan known, and all who would cooperate with Him must carry out this plan instead of daring to attempt an improvement on it."

Faithful stewardship would result in at least two LUC goals: 1) a 5 percent increase in mission giving and 2) a 10 percent increase in tithe income.

STEP 2 — To increase Sabbath School and church attendance by meeting the spiritual needs of our members.

Ellen G. White warns: "Some, fearing they will suffer loss of earthly treasure, neglect prayer and the assembling of themselves together for the worship of God, that they have more time to devote to their farms or their business. They show by their works which world they place the highest estimate upon." (Testimonies for the Church, vol. 2, Page 654).

In Hebrews 10:25 believers are urged not to forsake "the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day appearing."

Why not begin now urging that delinquent spouse, son or daughter, relative or friend to be in Sabbath School and church next Sabbath? We can increase attendance by 10 percent with God's help.

Real Education for Real People

by Rilla Taylor

“I always knew I should have taken nursing,” Christine’s brown eyes were appraising my reaction intently, “but my folks thought secretarial work was more suitable. Now when I see how much my daughter is enjoying your program, I wish I could join her.”

What fun it was to explain to this woman that she could enter directly into our Master of Science (nursing) program rather than returning for a second baccalaureate degree!

“Since you have many of the pre-nursing courses completed,” I reassured her, “all you will need to do is take nutrition this summer and then you will be ready to begin our nine-quarter master’s program in the fall.”

This mother’s experience is not unique. More and more people holding a variety of college degrees have become disillusioned with either the daily routine of their present employment or by the scarcity of openings in their fields.

Nursing programs throughout the country report an increasing number of students entering nursing programs who hold previous bachelor’s degrees, master’s degrees, and even doctorates in a variety of fields. These people, being mature students and stable professional adults, thrive on a program designed to efficiently move toward their goal such as is available at Andrews.

For registered nurses returning to school, the Andrews courses are designed to stimulate growth, focus on new learning and prepare for an increased scope of practice. Because courses are offered at six to seven outreach sites per year, many of these students can take the majority of their class work in their home town. They come back to campus only for a summer study block while preparing their research projects.

Students who are not yet nurses study on the main campus. This coming year, the largest junior class in several years will begin upper division work of the nursing major. These are capable, enthusiastic and bright students.

In addition, undergraduate students benefit from many convenient aspects of their program. For example, the faculty recently decided to offer the total baccalaureate program at Berrien Springs.

Since students may remain on the Andrews University campus for the whole program, they will be able to participate actively in student association activities, student clubs and social opportunities, and will have fewer demands to orient to new learning environments.

Ellen’s comment to this announcement was: “Oh, thank you! Because of my family situation, I would have had to change schools because I simply could not move to Hinsdale. And I want my degree to be from Andrews University!”

The success of the Andrews University Department of Nursing may be attributed to a combination of outstanding faculty, who seek the blessings of the Lord, and dedicated students.

How many times have faculty members heard Millie Case say, “I’m praying for you.” How frequently have students been inspired by the competence and commitment of the faculty.

And how very often do faculty gain strength and encouragement from comments such as recently made by Jean, a wide-eyed sophomore: “Hey, that’s cool! I can do it!”

They are inspired by Yvonne, a junior who told her advisor: “I didn’t think I could pray with a patient, but this woman just needed help so much I said, ‘Would you like to pray?’ before I thought. And she thanked me as if I did just OK. She died the next day — I may have been the last one to pray with her.”

Teachers find reward in the remark of Alicia, a nearly-graduated senior, “During my internship last summer it finally occurred to me — I’m ready!”

In short, Andrews’ Department of Nursing is comprised of real people, making real contributions to the lives of real people. It’s a good place to be!

Rilla Taylor is professor of nursing at Andrews University. She notes that this article includes actual comments from students, although the first names have been changed.

Kids' Corner

Submissions for the Lake Union Kids' Corner can take at least six weeks to appear in the Herald. Deadline for the August 1991 issue is June 26. When submitting material send your name, address, school, and grade on another sheet of paper. Include camera, lens and film information for photos. Public/home school students submit to: Kids' Corner, P.O. Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103. All others submit to your conference communication director.

But You Won't

(read at the memorial service for Stephanie's grandmother)

The birds will be singing,
But you won't hear them.
The wind will be blowing,
But you won't feel it.
We'll still love you,
But you won't know it.
We'll miss you,
But you won't know that.

The wind will be whispering
Through the trees,
But you won't hear it.
The sun will still be shining,
But you won't see it.
The snow will be cold,
But you won't feel it.
Life will be going on,
But you won't be there.

But when that cloud descends,
You will see it.
When the trumpets sound,
You will hear them.
You will feel His love for you.
You will know of His love for you.
And I'll be there,
To see you again.
I love you,
And I'll miss you.

Of course not, that stuff is junk.
I want to be happier in some other way,
And that is what I choose today, drugs are no good, get out of my way.

Father's Day Tribute

Jesus Knows Best

by Norma J. Clinton

“Lord, you know the best for me” is what Daddy said, sighing with relief when something was on his mind. With his arms planted perpendicular to the kitchen tabletop, fist clenched, pressing against his cheekbone, thin lips pensively pursed, eyes closed, he was very deep in thought.

I used to wonder what he was contemplating: His hard upbringing? Unpaid bills? Noisy children? Guilt? Relatives? Job predicament? Marital problems? Disagreements? Disappointments? How the “system” changed his name from Ferdie to Fred, or simply life in general?

Yet, why didn't I ever ask him? Perhaps the reason could be that he seemed “all right” once these words were spoken — like the final realization, after a soul-searching struggle, that, God indeed knows what is best in every situation.

Tell me — if you can — who actually knows one's reactions to the death of a loved one. Few ever give it a passing thought. We push that stark possibility out of our minds and hearts; we choose to think about it at a more convenient time, or not at all.

Yet, as I saw him approach my house one late autumn day, bent with age, leaning upon an ordinary stick that posed as a walking cane, in the December of his years, my love flowed out to him. This was Daddy. Peering from the kitchen window as he slowly made his way up to the door, I prayed, “Dear, God, help me to be sweet and patient with him.”

God granted me the opportunity to view the dear man who had sired me from a more mature, gentler perspective; to give compassion, warmth and a listening ear to the last sweet but serious father-daughter conversation that we would ever have.

He didn't stay very long — he never did — but I was very glad that he had come. Somehow intuition told me that this was the absolute last visit we would be blessed to share in my home.

As a child, I wanted to be the first to break the family circle. You know, the first one to “go” because my adolescent reasoning warned me of a problem I had with “losing” loved ones to death. How selfish of me. I now truly realize that God does everything according to His divine plan.

I can accept why God allowed Daddy to go first: it was to make me strong and appreciative of life; to grant me more time for “growing up in Jesus,” physically, mentally, morally, and spiritually; to give me new hope; and to serve people as Daddy had — in the best way that he knew how.

Yes, I miss him, but look forward to meeting him again in Heaven.

I'm thankful to God for this rich blessing because surely He knew what was best for me.

Excavation at Tel Gezer

Discovering the Spirit

by Jennifer Groves

Jennifer Groves was one of approximately 30 people from Andrews University who participated last summer in the archaeological excavation at the ruins of an ancient Canaanite/Israelite city known as Tel Gezer. Here she recounts her experience of the trip.

As I gazed at the charred remains of our van, the acrid scent of burning rubber filled my nostrils and I wondered if coming to Israel had been a mistake.

When I heard that the Institute of Archaeology at Andrews University was co-sponsoring an excavation in July at Tel Gezer, Israel, I jumped at the chance to participate. But now, standing on the sidewalk in Jerusalem amid flashing police lights, I wasn't sure I had chosen wisely.

The Israeli van, rented from a local agency, had proved too tempting for Palestinian youths to resist, so they had soaked it with gasoline and lit a match. Not an unusual occurrence for the streets of Jerusalem, but it left a shaken group of Western archaeologists in its wake. We were ready to leave the city.

Within a few days all 40 of us were transported to Kibbutz Gezer, the communal farm that served as field camp during our stay. The excavation was a

Arizona and Randall Younker of Andrews, also made sure that all the volunteers understood the history of the site and the plans for excavation.

By 5 a.m. the next day, the rental vans (including a replacement) were making their bone-jarring way up the Tel. As the sun rose over the rolling hills of the Shephelah, we went to work with pick axes, wheelbarrows and trowels, peeling back layers of history one by one.

As the season wore on, the days grew hotter and laboring bodies glistened with sweat. Many times the work proved monotonous, giving me plenty of time to imagine what this ancient city looked like during every period of its history.

The first reference to Gezer in the Bible relates to Joshua's conquest of Canaan, when he killed Hiram, King of Gezer (Joshua 10:33). The tribe of Ephraim then inherited this border-city and gave it to the Levites (Joshua 16:3, 21:21; I Chronicles 6:67, 7:28).

However, the Canaanites were not completely driven out until an unnamed Pharaoh burned the city, killed the remaining Canaanites, and gave it as a dowry to his daughter, who became King Solomon's wife (I Kings 9:15-17). Solomon took it on as a building project, and re-fortified the damaged defenses. The repairs included an impressive six-chambered gate, identical to those that he built at Hazor and Megiddo.

Occasionally, when break time arrived, I would stand on the bluff overlooking the gate, which was nestled in a dip on the south side of the Tel. I imagined city leaders conducting business in the chambers as chariots rumbled past or children played joint effort between the University of Arizona and Andrews, and before any digging occurred, students from both schools got acquainted. The dig directors, William Dever of the University of in the street. I tried to picture Solomon's engineers directing the chisel blows of skilled craftsmen as they shaped limestone boulders into brilliantly white, dressed stones to be added to the gate or the city wall by straining slaves.

I sympathized with those slaves. Sometimes our task seemed just as hard and hot as we worked to conclusively date the wall's construction (which has been debated among scholars).

After a tiring week, there was time for touring. Leaping from the 10th century B.C. to Roman times, we left Gezer behind on our pilgrimages to Jerusalem, Bethlehem, and the Mount of Olives.

I discovered that the famous Mount supported only a few token groves of gray-green olives, squeezed in among chapels, churches and monasteries commemorating Christ's sorrow over Jerusalem and His agonized prayers. In Bethlehem, the Church of the Holy Nativity marked His birth and His manger with golden censers, silver stars and colored lights. (I half expected to see a jolly old elf pop out from around a corner.)

But if I could not see Jesus' birthplace in a realistic setting, perhaps I could visualize His second nativity in Jerusalem's Church of the Holy Sepulchre. Here again, the interior, though impressive, was glitzed with shiny mosaics and shrouded with a musty incense odor. Whatever the countryside had looked like at the time of Jesus' death was now hidden by memorials.

Returning to Tel Gezer for another work week, I contemplated the history of Israel from the Canaanites to Jesus to the present. Surely no country in the world has a richer heritage for Christians and Jews, and very few are fortunate enough to have physical remains of societies that vanished 5,000 years ago.

Yet violence continues, rain still falls, weeds still grow, and people like me still come to gaze at eretz (the land of) Israel. Many visitors leave, never to return, their pilgrimage fruitless, for they have not discovered what they expected. Neither did I.

I wanted to see Jerusalem as Jesus saw it, to walk with Christ among the hills He once traversed. I wanted to discover proof to quiet my questions about the Bible and reaffirm my faith, but I discovered something else instead.

Israel is not some Sleeping Beauty, quietly tucked away from the rest of the world. Solomon's temple is gone; his works lie in ruins; and Jesus' Jerusalem no longer exists.

Though Christ is not residing in the Holy Land, He has sent the Spirit. "And I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper, that He may abide with you forever, even the Spirit of truth ... He dwells with you and will be in you" (John 14:16-17, NKJV). Wherever you are. You don't need to go on a pilgrimage to find Him.

The 17th LUC Business Session

If You Were a Delegate ...

by Karen Spruill

Have you ever wondered what delegates do when they attend the Business Session of the Lake Union Conference? Delegates drive and fly for hundreds of miles to meet for a day and one-half; they stand in long lines to register for their newly-remodeled hotel rooms; they greet old friends and make new ones; they put on name tags and meet with other delegates from their conference.

Delegates sit in a designated section, listen to reports, serve on organizing and nominating committees; ask questions, vote on motions, eat out, discuss issues, and pray together.

Out of 338 appointed delegates, 229

registered at the Kalamazoo Center Hotel Ball Room for the 17th Business Session of the Lake Union Conference on April 21 and 22. "Watchman, Blow the Trumpet" was the welcoming banner.

Robert H. Carter, president of the Lake Union Conference, Jay Gallimore, president of the Michigan Conference and R.C. Brown Sr., president of the Lake Region Conference, welcomed the delegates to their territories. At 3:35 p.m. President Carter called the first meeting of the Business Session to order.

Al McClure, NAD president, challenged everyone present with his opening message, "God's Time is the Right

Time." He quoted from Our High Calling, Page 197 and the Desire of Ages, Page 380. McClure said: "We are gathered here today to do God's business ... there is a crisis, a blurring of our sense of mission. We have developed a loss of a sense of urgency. We find ourselves doing the right thing, putting forth our energies, but with little results. We need the interference of God ... We must recognize the need of His presence."

Ralph Thompson, secretary of the General Conference, lead everyone in prayer, asking the Lord to guide in the business session.

The first order of business was for the conferences to meet with their delegates to select names for the Organizing Committee. An Organizing Committee consists of three representatives from each conference, two representatives from the health care system and two representatives from Andrews University, and the president of the NAD, or his designee, to serve as chairperson.

Organizing Committee

Members of the Organizing Committee included: Kevin Benfield, James Brauer, Orlando Magana, Illinois; Jim Bolin, Barbara Bryant, Tom Massengill, Indiana; R.C. Brown Sr., Marguerite Dixon, C.D. Joseph, Lake Region; Jay Gallimore, Ray Hamblin, Dwight Nelson, Michigan; Kathy Freeman, Arnold Swanson, Dale Ziegele, Wisconsin; Warren Minder, William Richardson, Andrews University; Carl Bandy, Charles Snyder, Hinsdale Health System. McClure chaired the committee.

President Carter and Secretary Herbert Larsen presented their reports as appearing in the May Herald, received questions, and the reports were voted and accepted.

The Organizing Committee was then called by McClure to begin work on naming the Nominating and standing Constitution and Bylaws committees.

Attorney Richard Huff then presented the Constitution and Bylaws Report. Voted changes from the floor included: of the minimum 14 laypeople on the Executive Committee, they shall include a cross representation of the Church (gender and ethnic representation).

Another change added, "The nominating committee shall consist of at least 15, and not more than 27 members of which one-third of these be lay persons, with the President of the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists or his designee serving as chairman."

At the second meeting of the Business Session on April 21, Carter announced the April 27 launching of the Lake Union Conference Global Mission to approach unreached people groups.

The Lake Union Conference Communication Department presented the audiovisual union report, "Trumpets of Joy," produced by Richard Dower. Carter then invited all delegates to "blow the trumpets of joy" throughout the Lake Union.

Carter and Larsen were then joined by the five conference presidents to lead out in the Litany of Dedication, followed by prayers of rededication among small groups of delegates.

McClure offered the benediction and then started to give an Organizing Committee Report. After a lengthy discussion from the floor about Charles Joseph's resignation from the Nominating Committee, the report was referred back to the Organizing Committee. The meeting was finally adjourned at 10 p.m.

The third meeting of the Business Session opened at 8 a.m. on April 22. Edward J. Annen Jr., the mayor of Kalamazoo welcomed the delegates.

Then Manuel Vasquez, vice president of the NAD, presented a devotional message, making analogies between the Persian Gulf War and the final assaults of the devil on the Remnant Church. Scriptures for his message were Revelation 7:7-12 and Ephesians 6:10-18. The Marine motto of "Semper Fi" — "always faithful" was suggested as a motto for Christian soldiers.

Carter called the session to order, and McClure, chairman, and Marguerite Dixon, secretary, of the Organizing Committee presented the following recommendations for the committees which were voted and accepted.

Nominating Committee

The 27 members of the Nominating Committee were: Al McClure, General Conference; Gladys Brown, B.J. Christensen, Orlando Magana, and George Schlinsog, Illinois; Edward Barnett and Barbara Bryant, Indiana; R.C. Brown Sr., Marguerite Dixon, Thesba Johnston, Charles Joseph, Nancy Perez, Roderick Shaw, Jonathan Thompson, and Mack Wilson, Lake Region; Jay Gallimore, Ray Hamblin, Alger Keough, Dwight Nelson, Roberto Perez, Barbara Randall, Dolores Slikkers, and Don Yohe, Michigan; Paul Conner and Arnold Swanson, Wisconsin; Warren Minder, Andrews University; Charles Snyder, Hinsdale Health System.

Constitution and Bylaws Committee

The standing Constitution and Bylaws Committee consists of: Union Secretary, chairman; James Brauer, secretary; Union Trust Director; Richard Huff; Bruce Harlow; Tom Massengill; Samuel Turner; Floyd Costerian; and Art Nelson.

Herbert Pritchard, Lake Union Conference treasurer, presented the treasurer's report. Dan Herzel, GC Auditing Department, presented the quinquennial financial statements for the LUC and Home Health Education Service.

During the fourth meeting of the Business Session held on Monday afternoon, April 22, W. Richard Leshar, president of Andrews University, presented his report and a recruitment film.

McClure, chairman, and Barbara Randall, secretary of the Nominating Committee, recommended to re-elect Carter as president of the Lake Union Conference for the next five years. Secret balloting was requested on the floor and he was re-elected by a majority vote. Robert and Rose Carter were then received with a standing ovation by the delegates and guests.

Dr. Thesba Johnston, Lake Union Conference representative on the NAD Women's Commission, reported on the formation, and activities for nurturing leadership among the women of the Lake Union during the past five years.

The Credentials and Licenses review was referred to the new Executive Committee for their June 5 meeting.

Questions and discussion was held by church ministries, education and youth ministries. Fred Stephan and Charles Case reported on the impact of the Valuegenesis Study, originally a national school enrollment study.

McClure, chairman of the Nominating Committee, brought in the list of officers and departmental directors but invited Carter to explain an issue that had been under discussion by the Nominating Committee.

Carter reported the committee's recognition of a need for leadership among several ethnic groups. It was recommended that the union add a bilingual vice president from Hispanic culture and a departmental director from the black membership.

Officers and Directors

The Nominating Committee recommended that Herbert Larsen, secretary and ministerial director; Herbert Pritchard, treasurer; and Luis Leonor (Michigan Conference), vice president, serve as the Lake Union Conference officers.

The Nominating Committee also recommended the following names for directors, associates and assistants of the Lake Union: Vern Alger, religious liberty/trust director; John Bernet, publishing director, HHES; Charles Case, communication director, associate director in church ministries for youth and family life; Richard Dower, associate director of communication, managing editor, Lake Union Herald; Auldwin Humphrey, health and temperance director; William Jones, church ministries director; Harvey Kilsby, information services director; Roy Roberts, assistant treasurer and associate director in church ministries for stewardship; Fred Stephan, education director; Gary Randolph, associate education director; and Charles Woods, associate treasurer

A lengthy question and answer period ensued concerning added positions and the budget, thereafter it was voted that the above report dealing with the departments be referred back to the Nominating Committee. Questions and answers continued on the study of health care ministry and church structure.

The fifth and final meeting of the business session opened at 8:15 p.m. on April 22. Carter called the meeting to order. McClure explained that the Nominating Committee struggled with how to incorporate the suggestion to add another departmental director.

The report recommended that the incumbent departmental directors, associates and assistants carry their current positions until the Lake Union Conference Executive Committee (keeping in mind the need for ethnic representation) can fill the positions within current budgets.

The report was voted and accepted.

Association Board

In Conclusion

The last report of the session was given by Charles Snyder, president of Hinsdale Health System. Snyder explained the current status of the medical institutions and answered questions about Adventist Living Centers.

The Session was adjourned on April 22 at 10 p.m.

Constituents and guests were blessed during the meetings by the musical contributions of Rose Carter, Bernice Jubert, The Andrews University Seminary Chorus, Peggy Fisher, Madlyn Hamblin, Julia Lindsay, Karen Randolph, and Kathie Lichtenwalter.

In case you haven't had the opportunity to talk to one of your conference constituency delegates, below is a sample of some of their reactions and comments about the Session.

"I was pleased with the way the meetings were held — the Christian spirit. The leadership seems to have a more positive attitude toward including ethnic groups and gender. I was happy to see women involved as delegates."

Jaime Chanaga, Westmont, IL

"I thought it was well-organized — as constituency meetings go. I enjoyed the music and devotional talks. However, constituency meetings don't always go the way you want them to."

Constituents of the Lake Union praying for God's presence at the 17th Business Session.

Richard Rogers, Frankfort, IN

"The meetings seemed Spirit led and there were answers to things we had been praying about."

Kathy Freeman, Milwaukee

"There's an underlying grass-roots current suggesting that the laypeople want more of a voice in leadership. Also I was frustrated with some of the organization of the meetings. Confidentiality of the nominating committee was a problem."

Pastor Tim Gebhardt, Wilson, MI

"I thought the meetings were well-run ... it was worthwhile, sometimes boring and yet informative.

"During the Charles Joseph discussion and the response to Elder Carter's nomination you could feel distrust and that was unfortunate. That marred it and yet made it more interesting."

Joy Hyde, Westland, MI

"I thoroughly enjoyed the meetings. It was interesting and thought provoking. The departmental directors' answers to questions were very helpful — it brought us closer together. The dialogue after the Hinsdale Health System report was also helpful. I came away better informed."

Lake Region Conference news notes

- Clara Warren, community service leader for the Beacon of Joy Church in Chicago, distributed 105 food baskets to needy families last November. Sixteen members of the church, including Pastor and Mrs. Robert F. Tolson, were on hand to assist with packing boxes and lifting materials. In addition to the November food distribution, each month 16 bags of food are delivered to the doors for the seniors, sick and shut-ins.

- Capitol City Church held a Youth Emphasis Day in Indianapolis on Dec. 29, 1990, featuring Brian Chapman, a dynamic youth leader. His theme "Every Round Goes Higher, Higher," challenged fellow youth to excellence for Christ.

THE ECHOES OF FAITH CHOIR highlighted their 13th anniversary at the Capitol City Church on Jan. 12 with a Celebration of Praise Program. The worship service was presented as a combination of songs by the choir and the spoken word by Pastor Nevilon Meadows of the East St. Louis Church. This unique idea of sermon and song originated with Brenda Simpson, assistant director of the choir.

THE HEALTH AND TEMPERANCE DEPARTMENT began a new series called "Focus on the Family" on Jan. 27. David Stombaugh, mental health counselor for the Counseling Center sponsored by the Church at the Crossing in Indianapolis presented a lecture about building better relationships. On Feb. 27 the series dealt with building a healthy self image. The series continued through March and April with films, videos and discussions.

THE HEALTHY CHOICE AWARDS BANQUET on Feb. 2, honored those who had made healthy choices during 1990. People who completed courses on health and fitness and/or cooking classes were given certificates; those who made a healthy change in lifestyle were issued blue "healthy choice" ribbons. Elder Andre Wilson, director of the Country Life Restaurant and Health Center in Nashville, TN, was the guest speaker for the worship service.

CAPITOL CITY CHURCH SENIORS were honored on Feb. 9, with a healthful, delicious dinner served in the Fellowship Hall. The Senior Citizen Committee, under the direction of Phyllis Murrell, prepared a program of important information needed by seniors. The hall was decorated in a red and white Valentine's Day motif.

- The New Jerusalem Church of East St. Louis, IL, was spiritually uplifted on Jan. 26 by guest speaker Pastor Jonathan Thompson, of the City Temple Church in Detroit. During the AYS hour, he continued his ministry by conducting a spiritual gift seminar. He gave us handouts along with a spiritual gift inventory booklet. On Sunday morning, Jan. 27, Pastor Thompson gave out the results of the spiritual gift inventory. We plan to use our gifts to bless the people in the surrounding area.

- The Flint-Saginaw District churches met together on Feb. 23 for the Message magazine campaign kick-off. Pastor Samuel Thomas announced that the district led the conference in subscriptions for 1990. Pastor Sandy Robinson from Washington, D.C., was the guest speaker for that day, according to Harvey Porter, communication secretary for the Ephesus Church.

Youth Day at Beacon of Joy

Lake Region - The Beacon of Joy Church in Chicago held "Youth Day" on March 30. "Only What You Do For Christ Will Last" was the theme of the program.

The day began with a 13th Sabbath program presented by the lower division Sabbath School department. Ellen Tolson and Tanya Williams are co-superintendents of the lower division.

Youth Day was developed to give our leaders of the future an opportunity to give service to the Lord today. The Beacon of Joy youth displayed leadership in every capacity. The children occupied the choir and the youth filled all the other positions in the church including acting as elders and deacons. The sermon was presented by Bobby Lane who is currently an elder in training at Beacon of Joy.

In the afternoon a musical completed the special day with selections by Charity, Expressions, Straffords Youth Choir and many others.

Eastside Honors Guests and Members

Lake Region - "Who is thy Neighbor?" was the theme for the Indianapolis Eastside Community Guest Day. The Sabbath School department sponsored the day under the direction of superintendent Ernestine Freeman. A lovely clock was presented to the person bringing the most guests, Ingram Carr.

Community Service Awards were presented to: Dwayne M. Brown, Clerk of the Supreme Appellate Court and Tax Court, IN; Bryan

Faithful Attendance Honored

Lake Region - A vision of higher Sabbath School attendance at the Niles, MI, Philadelphia Church, produced the honor roll list by superintendent Myrna Hunt. Each Sabbath the names of the faithful were recorded in her Honor Roll Book.

On April 6, Pastor Ralph Shelton presented awards of recognition to members for excellent attendance in Sabbath School: James McClain, Jane Shields, Frank and Karen Alford, Ellen Collins, Jim Jewels, and Delbert Hunt. Myrna Hunt was honored for her steadfastness and diligence in encouraging people to come to Sabbath School regularly.

Chapman, personnel management specialist at Fort Benjamin Harrison; and Alberta Ellis, Community Service director at Eastside. Lewis Scott received the Helping Hand Award.

Pastor Leroy Logan gave the message, and lunch was served.

Campus Church to Expand

Andrews University - Members of the Pioneer Memorial Church on the Andrews campus voted in March to launch a $4.9 million capital improvement campaign. The project will more than double the size of the church.

The project will provide 41,000 square feet of new space for a Christian Education Center, fellowship hall, 300-seat chapel and administrative offices for the 3,000-member parish.

In addition, the campaign will provide funds for renovation of the main worship area and entrance ways to the church.

A major goal of the project is to provide elementary, junior high and high school-age children worship rooms within the church structure. These new classrooms and a Family Life Center will be housed in additions which will span north and south sides of the church. An addition to the west of the church will provide a new entrance and access to a fellowship hall. Ground level entrances and an elevator will provide the handicapped with access.

Seminary Dean Installed

Andrews University - Werner K. Vyhmeister, new dean of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews, was officially installed at a ceremony conducted in the seminary chapel this March.

Andrews President W. Richard Leshner, university administrators and academic deans from other schools on campus participated in the installation service. Vyhmeister's dedication and devotional message highlighted the ceremony.

Vyhmeister, a native of Chile, arrived on campus in April from the Philippines, where he had been dean of the Asia Adventist Theological Seminary and president of Adventist International Institute of Advanced Studies. Although he was elected to his new position in July 1989, responsibilities at the seminary in the Philippines required that he wait for a replacement dean there before leaving.

In 1956, Vyhmeister received a master's degree in history and geography, and in 1968, a doctorate in philosophy, both from the University of Chile, Santiago. He earned a bachelor's degree in divinity in 1967 from the seminary he has now come to lead. His writings in Spanish, Portuguese and English have been widely published in religious and scholarly journals.

Benjamin Schoun, associate dean of the seminary at Andrews, noted that this is actually a return to the seminary faculty for Vyhmeister, who was a professor here from 1975 to 1984 and associate dean from 1981 to 1984. Schoun said Vyhmeister was "one of the primary architects of the seminary's current master of divinity program."

In addition to dean, Vyhmeister will teach in the department of mission. His wife, Nancy, who has a doctorate in religious education, will teach in the same department and co-edit "Andrews University Seminary Studies," a theological journal published by the seminary.

- William Richardson, professor of religion, was recently appointed as facilitator of a newly formed ethics committee at Visitors Hospital, Buchanan, MI. The committee studies ethical issues like abortion, euthanasia and other dilemmas created by advancing medical technology. The formation of such a group reflects a growing national concern about medical ethics.
- Newton Hoilette, vice president of student affairs, was recently selected as a consultant-evaluator for the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education. The commission is part of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. Hoilette is one of 67 people selected by the regional accrediting body for 1991.
- The National Honor Society of Nursing, Sigma Theta Tau, inducted 24 new members in a ceremony held March 7 at Andrews. Norita LaChica, president of the NHSN Eta Zeta Chapter, led in the induction ritual.

Wisconsin Academy Farm Auction

Wisconsin - The black and white holstein cows were lined up in holding pens, patiently chewing their cud and sometimes giving each other a grooming lick - or was it a consoling lick?

Wisconsin farmers, church members from around the state and other interested people began to arrive long before the 11 a.m. cattle sale on April 2. Trucks - pickups, large farm trucks, cattle haulers and pickups with trailers - were parked on both sides of DuBorg Road, Columbus, close to the farm buildings, ready to transport cattle.

People gathered in the specially erected tent and took seats on bales of straw arranged in semi-circles as the auctioneers hurried to get their assistants in place and sale catalogs distributed.

During a specially called constituency meeting on Nov. 18, 1990, Wisconsin members voted that the assets (cattle, equipment and crops) of the Wisconsin Academy Farm be liquidated and the land and buildings be leased. Low milk prices, high indebtedness and the continuing monthly losses were cited as contributing factors to the closing of the farm program.

C. Glenwill Aztee April was the first milk cow to be brought into the pen and after hearing her statistics, prospective buyers began their bidding. "What do I hear? Let me have 12. Do I hear a 12?" toned auctioneer Orin Schultz. And so the first day of the sale began.

Several Wisconsin Academy Farm management team members were present for the sale: Norman McChesney of Oxford, Don Mann of Sturgeon Bay, Ralph Jones from Sparta, Bert Crary of Dane, F.M.T.

Committee Chairman, Art Nelson (conference secretary-treasurer) and farm manager, Earl Witzel.

At the end of the day, when the bidding came to an end, $193,675 had been raised from the sale of the cattle.

On day two, another large crowd gathered to bid on the farm machinery and crops. Total sale proceeds this day amounted to $96,255.

The two-day sale total was $289,930 from which the auctioneers' 7 percent fee and other expenses of the auction would be paid.

The following is an interview with Art Nelson about the Farm.

Terrell: Elder Nelson, did the total sale proceeds meet the expectations of the auctioneers' pre-sale inventory?

Nelson: Yes, the pre-sale inventory estimate of $330,030 was based on 290 head of cattle to be sold. Some of the cattle were sold prior to the auction leaving 247 head. When you add the amount received from the pre-auction sale of cattle plus the amount received from the auction, the total did reach the expectations.

Terrell: The constituents also voted that the farm buildings and land should be leased. Can you give us a progress report on this aspect?

Nelson: The farm land has been leased to a Beaver Dam farmer for three years. The buildings are available to be leased as a whole, but presently two of the buildings are leased on a temporary basis.

Terrell: Looking to the future, is there a possibility that the Academy Farm will, one day, again be a part of the academy student labor program?

Nelson: The farm land has been leased for three years. At the end of the lease period, the Conference Committee will review the financial status and determine if the farm will continue on a lease program or if it will again be operated by the conference.

Preparing for Vacation Bible School

Wisconsin - More than 50 Vacation Bible School leaders and assistants attended the VBS Workshop at the Wisconsin Conference Office on April 28. Leading out in the workshop was Kitty Crary of Lambs for Jesus Ministries, who is a member of the Madison East Church.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. the day was filled with inspiration, information and ideas. Some of the presenters were Annette Campbell of Beaver Dam and Denice Bushor of Madison East, with Jean Buchanan of Superior at the piano who shared VBS "Songs for Kids." Elder Robert Stauffer, also of the Madison East Church, demonstrated how to put Bible texts to music.

In special breakaway sessions, Jamie Burch of Franklin led out in the discussion of "Kindergarten Kids"; Judi Clark of Green Bay shared information regarding "Junior Jets"; Sharon Kuntz of Madison presented plans for "Primary Playmates"; and Kitty Crary explained "How to Plan Your VBS."

In the afternoon, Florence Schacht of the Delavan Church shared her slides from a recent mission trip to Mexico in which Wisconsin Academy students and sponsors helped build a church, and also gave Bible studies and conducted three Vacation Bible Schools each day.

Schacht explained what it was like to have 250 Spanish-speaking children in VBS and not speak Spanish yourself! Quite a challenge.

Near the end of the day, Pearl Bowen of Evansville shared craft ideas after which Kitty answered questions and then challenged the leaders and their assistants to share Jesus' love with the children of Wisconsin this summer.

Lloyd Caesar, second-place winner in the Wisconsin finals of the National Geography Bee.

Geo Whiz Makes Finals

Wisconsin - Lloyd Caesar, son of Lael and Lena Caesar of Madison, and seventh-grade student at Madison Church School, won second place in the Wisconsin finals of the National Geography Bee. Students from more than 1,500 Wisconsin schools participated in this competition and 125 students were selected to participate in the finals.

The Geography Bee is sponsored by National Geographic magazine as an incentive to encourage children to learn more about the world in which they live.

Gary Way, Lloyd's teacher, says: "He's gained this knowledge all by himself. We haven't drilled him or given him extra coaching. But Lloyd is a kid who reads constantly. You'll see him reading encyclopedias in his spare time - and sometimes when he is supposed to be doing math homework!"

In an article titled "Geography is his forte" in the Wisconsin State Journal, April 2, the Journal reporter said, "What makes his accomplishment more remarkable is that Lloyd is a student in a tiny school - two rooms and 38 students."

Lloyd says his goal is to be the top winner in next year's Bee.

Alanna Ruppert of Superior is one of the top 10 winners in the National Radon Poster Contest.

Youth Creates Winning Poster

Wisconsin - Alanna Jean Ruppert, an eighth-grade student at Duluth, MN, church school and member of the Superior, WI, Church received a letter from the United States Environmental Protection Agency saying:

"Congratulations, you have been selected as one of the Top Ten Winners in the National Radon Poster Contest! The EPA and the American Lung Association would like to thank you for your superior efforts and your distinguished poster entry. Your poster reflects a significant amount of work and talent in communicating a very serious health risk to Americans. ... Thank you for your support to help improve the world's environment."

Alanna, daughter of Douglas and Karen Ruppert, was one of more than 500 entrants in the 1990 National Radon Poster Contest. She has been informed that the EPA may use her poster in public information campaigns to help inform citizens about radon gas.

Wisconsin Conference baptisms

Mike Ferrel of Stoughton, was raised in another denomination. He attended a Prophecy Seminar in Madison with curiosity and suspicion that there must be something wrong. Refusing the lesson materials on opening night, he watched and listened with attention, ready to point out "error."

Through the promptings of the Holy Spirit, Mike's suspicions were eradicated when he could find no error. He completed the seminar, studied further with Pastors Robert Stauffer and Glenn Lewis, resulting in his full commitment to the Lord. He was baptized April 27, into the Evansville Church. Mary Layman (pictured above) became acquainted with the SDA lifestyle by watching "It Is Written." Shortly after moving to Evansville in 1988, her first Adventist contact was an Ingathering solicitor. Mary stated that she would like to visit the church sometime and in August of 1990 she attended the Evansville Church.

Appreciating the warm welcome she received, Mary continued to regularly attend. After Bible studies with Pastor Robert Stauffer, Mary's heart was open to a deeper relationship with her Lord. Leaving a background of three other denominations, Mary was baptized and became a member of the Evansville Church on Jan. 26. Incidentally, Mary had remarked to her husband, "When we move to Evansville, I'm going to the church nearest our house," evidence of the Holy Spirit's guidance as the Evansville Church is near her home.

Mark Williamson, Lance, Lon, and Luann Barske studied with Pastor Clint Meharry prior to their baptisms in January. The twins' parents, Bob and Theresa Barske, and their sister (Mrs. Mark Williamson) who taught their Sabbath School class, rejoiced with the Antigo Church as these young men committed their lives to the Lord.

Mark Williamson was raised in a Christian home but decided to become an SDA when he realized that the Lord created the seventh-day Sabbath as a day of worship.

Luanne Barske recalled that about four years ago she began to want a closer walk with Christ. She started studies with Pastor Mike Doucoumas (now in Indiana). Antigo members welcome these four new members into their fellowship and care.

Sharee Renee Couron cites "seeing the Kenneth Cox video series" along with the training received from her parents, as one of the events leading to her decision to give her heart to the Lord. Sharee was baptized in the Portage Church by Pastor George Shaver on Jan. 19.

A Gifted Memory to the Glory of God

Michigan - "Hold Fast Till I Come" is the name of a 30-minute program presented by Paul Williams, who recently became a member of the Urbandale Church in Battle Creek.

Williams memorized the chapter, "God's People Delivered," in the book The Great Controversy. His expressive delivery was enhanced by sound effects on Sabbath, March 30, in Urbandale Church.

"The scenes of the closing moments of this world of sin were graphically imprinted on our minds, as Paul powerfully described the climactic return of Christ," Pastor Ivan Blake said. "Numerous people spoke of a renewed sense of the urgency of Christ's return," he said. Williams is willing to share his program with other congregations who invite him. He can be reached at 616-965-1807.

Members Welcome Soldier

Michigan - More than 100 members were present from the Fenton and Holly churches to welcome Lance Verhelle, a member of the Holly Church, home from the Persian Gulf. Verhelle was presented with a tape and a framed photograph with the poem titled "Footprints." He was also presented with a large "Welcome Home" banner with many signatures.

Pastor Dan Towar, as host of the evening, interviewed Verhelle about some of his experiences. He was involved in unloading cargo ships and security duty.

1991 Summer Camp Meetings

Michigan - "Turning Hearts Home" will be the theme of the 1991 summer camp meetings to be held in four Michigan locations.

According to conference president, Jay Gallimore, we need to be leading families toward our Heavenly home. Family units may consist of even one person living alone. The important consideration is that, no matter what size the family, we all need to be turning our eyes toward "home" in the Heavenly sense.

Camp meeting is being planned for all ages - cradle roll through adult. Excellent leaders have been selected to care for children and youth from Friday-Sunday afternoon. Plan to attend each meeting.

Four Great Locations: 1) Battle Creek Academy, June 14-16, 480 Parkway Drive, Battle Creek; 2) Athens High School, June 21-22 (Detroit area, no Sunday meeting), 4333 John R. Road, Troy; 3) Great Lakes Adventist Academy, June 28-30, Cedar Lake; and 4) Upper Peninsula, July 5-6 (no Sunday meeting), Camp Sagola, Sagola.

Ithaca SDA Elementary students rake the yard of an elderly church member.

Students Rake and Run

Michigan - The Ithaca SDA Elementary School worked in Bible Labs this year. Under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Smith, the students undertook several projects.

Near the end of October, the 27 students, their teachers, and parental drivers, raked leaves from 12 yards. Called "Rake and Run," the students left notes wishing the residents a pleasant day.

An ongoing project for the entire year was the "Adopt a Grandparent" program. The students visited their special "Grandparent" during school hours once a month, taking them conversation, hugs, and some small token, usually hand made. Many of the students took their natural parents to visit at other times as well.

In a effort to remind students who have graduated from the school that they have gone-on but are not forgotten, the students in grades 1-4 sent occasional "care packages" to former students. Many return thank-you notes, telling the students what they are doing and keeping the friendship lines open.

Some students made posters to promote the "Great American Smoke-Out" and many were displayed in local stores and offices. Other posters were made supporting abstinence from drugs and drinking.

The students and teachers enjoyed the new program and returned to their studies with renewed energy.

Sanctified Inspection Held at Pontiac

Michigan - Members of the Pontiac Riverside Church recently met on Sabbath morning for a "sanctified inspection" of their new church facility.

The building is enclosed but not ready to be occupied, so members decided to have a Sabbath morning inspection to let everyone see the new building and even get an idea where they would sit when it is officially open, according to Pastor Michael Nickless.

When completed, the church will seat approximately 300. It is attached to the elementary school.

Riverside members are planning to permanently occupy the building early in September.

Grand Ledge Ground Breaking

Michigan - Heavy rain failed to dampen the spirits of Grand Ledge Church members Sunday, May 5, when they met for the ground breaking of their new church. The new church has been in the planning stage for some time, slowed down at times by problems with getting sewage and building permits from the city. These problems have now been solved, and building is going forward, according to building chairman, Ralph Townsend. The church will be built next to the church school and will seat about 250 people.

• Pastor Robert Quillin of the South Haven, Bangor and Covert churches, has been conducting a six-week, one-night-a-week "Ruth Seminar" for the general public at the Warren Center. Titled "The Gospel in the Book of Ruth," the seminar is an in-depth study of the customs and background of the text. It is a non-doctrinal study designed to catch the interest in the Old Testament and reveal the plan of redemption not as a haphazard plan but one with infinite structure.

Indianapolis and Michigan Members Tour Battle Creek

Indiana - On Sabbath, April 20, 45 people from the Indianapolis area visited Battle Creek, MI, for an Adventist historical tour. They worshiped in the morning services at the Battle Creek Tabernacle; participated along with 300 other people in the midday potluck at Battle Creek Academy; and joined another Michigan group for the afternoon guided tour.

Among the sites visited were Oak Hill Cemetery which was established in the significant year of 1844; the original home of the White family; and the recently established Adventist Museum.

Those who took part in this historic venture are members and friends of the churches at Irvington, Greenfield and Shelbyville. The convoy of cars for the northward journey was radio controlled by walkie-talkie for safety and coordination. This is the second such expedition from central Indiana in recent years.

Principal Doug Brown keeps his promise to spend a day on the roof after students read 10,000 books.

Principal Spends Day on the Roof

Illinois - Doug Brown, principal at Hinsdale Junior Academy, challenged the student body at the beginning of the school year to read 10,000 books. As incentive he promised to spend a day on the rooftop if they succeeded. They reached their goal in April and Brown fulfilled his promise and spent a sunny but chilly spring day on the roof. Dressed in wool socks and long johns, he set up an "office" with table, lawn chair, brief case, and portable phone.

Wanting to continue to encourage the students, a different subject will be emphasized next year. "I've already been thinking about what I'm going to do for an encore. I don't know if I'll be able to top this one," Brown said.

Filipinos Dedicate Hinsdale Church

Illinois - On March 23, the members of the Fil-Am Church in Hinsdale burned the mortgage and dedicated their sanctuary as a "house of prayer for all people in the Midwest." The service was a celebration of God's leading.

The Austin SDA Church in Chicago was the forerunner of the present congregation. Organized during the late '60s to serve immigrants from the Orient, the church became 75 percent Filipinos by the mid-'70s.

Its goals have always been clear: 1) to establish a home base for evangelism among the more than 70,000 Filipinos in the Chicago-land area, 2) to provide a wider platform for training and participation among Filipinos in Illinois, 3) to recruit a Filipino minister who could more effectively relate to the needs of a congregation sharing a common cultural background with him, 4) to provide an atmosphere for the development of a socio-cultural heritage for the children of Filipinos, and 5) to foster a spirit of unity among Filipino SDA's in the Midwest.

The congregation grew rapidly to almost 200 under the leadership of pastors Victor Medina and Carmelito Galang. It was soon evident that relocation and a new facility was necessary. Worshiping in rented halls after the Austin property was sold for $70,000, a search for property in the western suburbs began.

After months of searching, a suitable one-acre piece of land nestled among apple trees along the boundary of Hinsdale and Burr Ridge was located. The asking price was $140,000. It was a fair price but much too high for the congregation to afford. After learning how the property would be used the owner reduced the price by half. Her decision was influenced by a positive impression left by an SDA

Broadview Plans VBS

Illinois - The Broadview Vacation Bible School is very unique. Among the teacher's assistants are blind Sandy Farrentino and deaf Vincent Milaro. Both are active members in their respective churches: Sandy at LaGrange; Vincent at Broadview. This will be the third year they have assisted in the kindergarten department. The children respond to their loving kindness.

Broadview's Vacation Bible school for 1991 is being held July 22-26 from 6:15-8:30 p.m. Graduation will be on Sabbath morning at 9:30 a.m. These hours reach the community that would not be available during the day. Approximately 55 students, a majority from non-Adventist homes, graduate each year. An excellent follow-up program keeps the children and their families involved with the church for a long period of time.

Teen Bible Camp

IA - On February 1, many young people from around the state made their way to Camp Timber Ridge in Spencer, IN. What's the big event you say? Why it's Teen Bible Camp. You say you don't know what that is? Why it's a camp for seventh- through tenth-graders to have fun, meet new friends and learn about God.

Our speaker for the weekend was Pastor Al Demsky, of the Jeffersonville/New Albany District. Pastor Demsky was very much enthused and excited over the weekend. He would begin each of his talks with a wonderful story. The theme of his talks was that God is very accepting and that He offers love and forgiveness for all. We can just relax and let His love be first in our lives.

The activities were also centered around this theme. They held the attention of the campers. On Friday many of the games were centered on getting acquainted. On Sabbath afternoon the first annual Bible Olympics were started. There were four different stations or events. The kids were divided into 10 separate groups. Each group went to a station and a winner was determined at the end.

Saturday night followed with our progressive parties, a snack and then a movie.

The weekend was filled with excitement. Love was expressed to everyone in many different ways. We had our warm fuzzy board and our cotton ball warm fuzzies. When someone gave you a cotton ball he or she also gave you a hug. You then had to find someone else to pass it to.

Then there were the family groups. The group was divided into 10 separate groups. Each had it's own activity. The purpose of the groups was that the campers would open up and be able to trust other people. All activities were led by the 16 students from Indiana Academy who were the staff for the weekend.

Sunday morning arrived, the campers left, and it was time to clean the camp. All in all everyone had a good time and left Timber Ridge with a positive attitude. That ended the first annual Teen Bible Camp.

When I was Little

WA - When I was little I wanted to control time. I wanted to make the clock go faster and I wanted my hour nap time to be over.

When I was little I wanted to grow up. I wanted to wear nylons and high-heeled shoes, and I wanted to have lots of friends to call on the telephone.

When I was little I wanted my brother to leave me alone. I wanted him to stop teasing me. I wanted him to get out of my room and I wanted him to stop giving me slobbery kisses.

When I was little I wanted to be independent. I wanted to make up my own rules. I wanted to stay up until one in the morning and I didn't want to wear my coat out to play.

Life was so simple in those crayon-eating days. It all seems so ironic; now that I'm older, I would give anything to be little again!

I would love to "have" to take an afternoon nap. I would rather go barefoot than to wear heels, and it's funny that the phone company is the only one who is happy that I have friends to call.

What I wouldn't give to have my brother near me - to have him give me a hug (we compromised on the kisses) and to tell me that everything would be all right.

And, yes, every now and then, I would love to be told what to do instead of being expected to make my own decisions.

But I suppose that's how life is. Time moves on and we all must grow up sooner or later. It makes you realize how precious time is and just how fleeting the moments are. And I know time can't stand still forever, but don't let it hurry past you either. As life rolls on, remember to spend the time to tell someone how much you love them. Enjoy the little things. Don't rush through life in a frenzy to grow up. If we never stop to enjoy the moments when we are young, we will certainly never stop to enjoy them once we get older.

Spend the time to make memories.

Ice Storm Hits Indiana Academy

IA - On March 12 at 11:30 p.m. most students at Indiana Academy, Cicero, were resting comfortably, when something dreadful happened.

That day a freezing rain had been falling. As students had walked to chapel for a Week of Prayer meeting, falling branches could be heard breaking all over campus. The electricity had flickered on and off a couple of times that afternoon, but now it was off for good.

On the morning of the 13th when students saw the electricity was still out, most went back to bed. Eventually we struggled up and started surveying the damage from the dorm windows. It was terrible, there were tree limbs all over the ground and at least an inch of ice covering everything. At 10 a.m. the cafeteria had brunch and the cooks did the best they could without electricity. After that we were filled in on what had happened. Apparently branches and whole trees had toppled electric lines and poles for miles around. Thousands of homes were out of electricity and no one was sure when it would come back on.

At this point, everyone was buzzing about being able to go home. Mr. Harold Grosboll, principal of the academy, wasn't sure yet but said it might be a possibility. Following these announcements the Week of Prayer continued and Pastor Lorenzo Shepherd preached a rousing sermon.

At last everyone shuffled back to their dorms and spent the afternoon playing games or just talking with friends. A fire had been built in the lobby so the dorm hadn't gotten too cold yet.

Around 5 p.m. people made their way back to the cafeteria for a sandwich supper. That was followed by another convincing sermon by Pastor Shepherd.

Amazingly enough, students were still quite cheerful as they wandered back to the dorms.

The next morning a late breakfast was served and students heard faculty saying that this was the worst storm they'd ever seen. After another meeting we were told that we would have shortened classes that day. That really didn't make anyone too happy, but most students didn't have anything to do.

Thanks to a generator that had been hooked up to the dorm's heating system, some students were fortunate enough to have a warm shower.

That afternoon as the seniors and sophomores were going to classes the word got out that there was going to be a final meeting and then everyone could go home. Most scurried around trying to call home and get packed. At 5:30 p.m. people started leaving, not knowing when they would be returning.

Later that evening, when there were only two students left, lights flickered on all over Indiana Academy. The electricity was back on, much to the faculty's relief. Many houses in central Indiana, however, didn't get electricity until almost a week later. School resumed on Monday, and everyone returned Sunday relieved and rested from their extra break.

Some things are too hot NOT to handle.

But just because some church issues are hot, doesn't mean we have to get burned.

Martin Weber's Adventist Hot Potatoes proves this is true by braving the heat and tackling the topics smoldering in the church today.

- Are celebration churches of the Devil?
- Is the church lowering its standards?
- Is jewelry an issue anymore?

Don't pass up these potatoes . . . get yours today.

ADVENTIST HOT POTATOES

Martin Weber

When the storms of life rage, you need more than an umbrella.

You need shelter.

Glib answers and clichés about suffering are about as effective as an umbrella in a hurricane.

Pain, disappointment, and grief are real. And they hurt.

From a man who has faced his share of life's storms comes a brilliant, sensitive survival guide for believers who are hurting and struggling to face another day.

Jeris Bragan's When You Walk Through a Storm deals both with the downside of life and the reality of God's healing presence for those who hurt.

Just Like Your First Summer Camp, All the Friends You Make Will Be Single.

Remember the summer-camp joys of splashing in a lake, meeting friends, and singing around the campfire? Well, as long as you're a single adult, the fun hasn't passed you by.

After their week-long camp was a sell-out success last year, Adventist Singles Ministries planned two for 1991: one at Camp Kulaqua in Florida from August 18-25, and one at Camp MiVoden in Idaho from August 26 to September 2.

You'll meet fun-loving people who'll join you in dozens of exhilarating activities, including water sports, horsemanship, and handicrafts. To get a brochure with the details, write or call:

Birthdays

Centenarians Frances Sheler and Gladys Paepke

Gladys Paepke and Frances Sheler both celebrated their 100th birthdays (Gladys in January and Frances last December) and are still active in the work of the Church.

Gladys is a member of the Lakeview, MI, Church and Frances is a member of the Grand Rapids, MI, Central Church. The two women first met at Howard City, MI, and worked together in the weekly Dorcas meetings. They have lost count of the many quilts they have made but not the number of their descendants. Frances has nine children, 54 grandchildren, 132 great-grandchildren and 66 great-great-grandchildren. Gladys has seven children, 18 grandchildren, 55 great-grandchildren and 50 great-great-grandchildren.

Anniversaries

John and Thelma Bottsford

John and Thelma Bottsford marked their 50th wedding anniversary

March 2, 1991, by renewing their vows in the Madison, WI, Community Church. The Bottsford were married at the University Chapel in Dubuque, IA, in 1941.

John, 83, a painting contractor until his retirement, continues to be very active in church activities, including team teaching a Sabbath School class and providing special music. He also enjoys walking, cars, and is "generous, kind and loving," adds his wife.

Thelma, 78, enjoys swimming and has a patch for swimming more than 700 miles even though she did not start swimming lessons until she was 68. The East Madison YMCA awarded Thelma a placard for outstanding service to the community for her work with special-needs children in teaching them to swim. Thelma also serves her church each Sabbath by welcoming members and guests to the Madison Community Church.

The Bottsford have four children: John, Bruce, Dolores Tollefson and Alice Cronick; 7 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

Irene and Willard Lanaville

Irene and Willard Lanaville celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on March 30 at a public reception and dinner given by their children. The couple were married on January 15, 1941.

They have seven children: Patricia Brewer of Stevens Point, WI; Sandra Miller of McFarland, WI; Larry of Cottage Grove, WI; Judith Bumpas of Aniwa, WI; Allen of Hermansville, MI; Philip of Cornell, MI; and Dan of Carney, MI. They also have 21 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

PAVEK, Daisy S., 86, born Dec. 27, 1904, in Hancock County, KY, died

Something is not right!

If a loving Father exists in heaven, why are so many of His children so unhappy on earth?

Many question God's right to judge humanity because of the tragedies He's allowed and His inability to identify with the human condition. Are these accusations true?

How Dare You Judge Us, God!, by Clifford Goldstein, is a hard-hitting look at the unseen battle behind your pain. From the book of Job will emerge a new love for a God who cares, identifies, and gave His life to make things right.

Pulse of the Lake Union

Letters to the Editor and personal opinions are welcome. Please limit opinions to 400 words and letters to 75 words; include name, city and state. The Lake Union Herald reserves the right to edit all material. Mail to: Herald Pulse, Box C, Berrien Springs, MI 49103.

Letters

Considering I have read the Lake Union Herald now for almost 58 years, I wonder why I have waited so long to tell you how much I appreciate this wonderful periodical. The last few months the issues have piled up on me during my husband's illness and death and the adjusting to a new era.

As I was reading it during my lunch hour, I renewed my often-made resolution to write and thank you for a wonderfully inspiring and informative printed messenger. Keep up the good work and a million thanks for keeping me on your mailing list these many years, with no financial remuneration from me or my husband. I could never repay you for all the blessings it affords.

Ora M. Baker, Rogers City, MI

Editor's Note:

Your financial support to your local conference brings the Herald to you each month.

Under the Wisconsin News in the March Herald was an interview with John Baker from the Eau Claire Church.

Having grown up in Wisconsin and living here for a good share of our lives, we questioned the accuracy of a couple of his statements. We checked them out in the SDA Bible Commentary article on Wisconsin and found the following:

In June 1916 the state was divided into the North and South Wisconsin conferences. The North also included eight counties from Michigan.

In 1927 Wisconsin merged and the Michigan counties reverted to Michigan — not after 1930.

Mr. Baker also said he helped start the Durand Church in 1933. According to the Commentary, the Durand Church was organized Feb. 10, 1863, by William Ingraham with 14 members.

Quite often there are wrong facts in the Herald. For instance, in the article about me in the same issue, it says that I daily call in an announcement to WDLB. I call in only on Mondays and not even every week.

Thank you for the nice article about the Bethel Community Services.

Ann B. Deedon, Arpin, WI

We appreciate the information you sent. We do not have the staff to research every fact that comes to us. The articles are all generated at the local church or conference level, and we rely on our correspondents to send to us correct information.

You can come home again!

Coming home is the message of the gospel. No matter how far we may drift from God, we can always come home.

In one of his most hope-filled books yet, Morris Venden shatters the myths about backsliders and denies the idea that it's difficult to be saved. Hard to Be Lost gives the good news that God won't give us up without a fight.
