Dear Friends,

In my letter to you with this issue of the OUTLOOK, I would like to call to your attention a group of workers in our churches that are sometimes overlooked.

We see these people in our churches every week. Sometimes they are serving as officers in leadership roles, sometimes they are leading out in Sabbath School, and many times they are teaching a class. They are usually at the social activities, and whenever there is work to be done around the church, you will find them in attendance for those activities. I am talking about the tremendous working force of literature evangelists that we have in our area.

The administration of the Mid-America Union Conference is extremely proud of the 170 literature evangelists that we have in this territory. We have outstanding leadership in our conferences and at the union level. You might be interested to know that the literature evangelists in our union visit approximately 5,000 homes every week, and are leaving multiplied hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of our Adventist literature in those homes. These front-line workers visit in more homes and pray with more people than the average minister does, and yet, they are self-supporting workers. I personally would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to these untiring workers who are doing so much to spread the good news of the gospel throughout our territory.

We count thousands of people in our churches who trace their first knowledge of our message to literature, much of which was left in the homes by a literature evangelist. No doubt, as we get nearer to the end of time, we are going to see more and more conversions because of the literature that has been scattered "like the leaves of autumn."

It might be well to let these soldiers of the cross know that we appreciate having them in our churches. The next time you see one of these faithful workers in the church, why not shake his hand and thank him for the good work that he is doing. There is no way that we can know of all the good that has been accomplished through the literature work. Only eternity will reveal the results of this untiring labor.

Surely there must be a better way to measure success than by the use of the monetary scale. However, I thought you might be interested to know that even with the economy like it is, the literature evangelists of Mid-America are planning to sell well over $2,500,000 worth during 1981. May God continue to bless and go with these courageous front-line soldiers as they go about their work for Him.

Literature Evangelist Training-Witnessing Seminar

By Ron Ihrig

Literature Evangelists, their wives and family and directors.

Bill Dawes, Iowa-Missouri Conference Publishing Director presenting his lecture on "Positive Mental Attitude".

Ron Ihrig, Associate Mid-America Union Publishing Director reviewing sales instruction.

Walt Maier, Rocky Mountain Conference Publishing Director lecturing on "Time Management".

A Training-Witnessing seminar was conducted July 13-16, 1981 in Lincoln, Nebraska in the College View Church Annex for literature evangelists. It was one of three conducted each year by the Mid-America Union Publishing Department staff with the help of the local conferences publishing directors and assistants. Thirteen new literature evangelists attended. They are as follows: Gary E. Peterson - Casper, Wyoming; Dales Fuhrmeister - Coralville, Iowa; Jerry A. Castello - St. Peters, Missouri; Rodney A. Smutzer - Kingsley, Iowa; Larry L. Everly - St. Charles, Missouri; Jerry Hagemeyer - Joplin, Missouri; Tim Smutzer - Kingsley, Iowa; Harlan E. Thompson - Summit, South Dakota; Dwight E. Morse - Burns, Wyoming; John Abbot - Boulder, Colorado; Valena M. Stutzman - Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Joseph J. Barnes - Fremont, Nebraska; and Steve W. Allison - St. Peters, Missouri.

This was an excellent class of new workers. Each one was eager to learn and improve his sales and witnessing abilities for the service of God in Mid-America.

We praise God for this dedicated group of new workers who are now faithfully carrying on their work of reaching souls for Christ in their assigned territory through the literature ministry. Remember to place these names and the names of all of our "colporteurs" on your daily prayer list.

Our next Training Seminar will be conducted in Lincoln September 28-October 1. Should the burden of service be weighing on your heart and you would like more information concerning this outreach for Christ you may contact us at the Mid-America Adventist Headquarters or your local conference publishing department director.

Ron Ihrig is associate publishing director of the Mid-America Union.

North Star Camp 1981

By Beverly Dickinson

For 244 young people, the 1981 summer camps were a memorable experience. Many children had been waiting all year for the chance to spend a week at camp.

The 27-member camp staff had planned a variety of activities and classes from which to choose. The following classes were offered: archery, guitar, gymnastics, horsemanship, unicycle. Waterfront classes included canoeing, sailing, skiing, and swimming. It was possible to receive honor tokens for six of these. Each day the campers went to craft class: ceramics, leathercraft, or macrame.

Archery class taught by Bruce Tasche and Sheri Davidson.

Guitar lessons given by Kevin Miller with Pastor Rob Vandeman practicing as well.

Campers learning to paddle their own canoe.

Larry Kromann, camp director, is pleased with the summer program and results. He especially appreciates the staff he has had this year. Their enthusiasm and sense of responsibility plus ability to work together smoothly were valued. Along with their regular duties, the staff completed the dividing of all the cabins, making them more useful for family units.

For recreation or free time, softball games were held, and various relays and other games were played. The children were kept busy throughout the day, and wore off most of their energy, which had to be supplied in large volumes of food at mealtime.

After a fun-filled day, sleep came easily to the occupants of the cabins. Already, many of the campers are making plans for next year's summer camp.

Horsemanship was a popular class at camp.

A "dress-up" relay.

The new ski sled gave one the feeling of riding a whale!

3-legged race for the girls.

Whoever would believe that kids could ride on just one wheel!

Attendance among SDA campers was up by 30 children. This summer there were no welfare camps as such, but many of the churches helped sponsor worthy young people from their areas to attend the regular junior or teen camps. This arrangement worked out very well. It is hoped that these children, plus Minnesota's own SDA young people, received a positive Christian influence this summer at camp.

Beverly Dickinson is the secretary in the Communication Department, Minnesota Conference.

Morgan Vacation Bible School

By Agnes Johnson

Vacation Bible School in Morgan was held from July 26-31, evenings.

The theme this year was "Children's World," and the leader was Mrs. Harold Mosier. Teachers were Mrs. Dan Iffert, Patti Mosier, and Byron, and crafts leader was Connie Miller, assisted by Byron Lund.

As many as thirteen children attended, most of them non-Adventists. One family drove twenty-five miles every night so their children could attend; they were non-members. The children loved the songs, stories, and crafts, and enthusiastically told how they enjoyed the activities.

On the last Friday evening, the parents were invited to view the crafts and observe the children in a program. Pastor Bahr spoke to the group at this time. The Morgan Church is hoping that the children will remember what they have learned and later a harvest can be reaped from the seeds sown this summer.

Agnes Johnson is the communication secretary of the Morgan Church.

Investment in St. Paul

A Fall Extravaganza is being planned by the St. Paul First Church for Investment on September 20, noon to 6 p.m. at the Capitol City School, says Yvonne Lueck, leader. Ethnic food booths will include German, Scandinavian, Italian, Hawaiian, Mexican, and American cookery, plus a bakery, a farmers' market, a plant booth, and a handicraft booth. To top it all there will be a flea market for about everything you want to sell.

Individual projects will include Viola Campion selling her Shaklee products. All bonuses she receives from selling to Adventists go to Investment. Minnie Kittel is in her 80's and has a sister in New York who sews dolls and stuffed animals. Minnie sells them and donates part of this to Investment. Sheryl Prindle personally monograms sweatshirts and donates her profits. The Primary Sabbath School, under the direction of Janet Lister, is raising garden vegetables to sell. They also collect coupons. Chuck and Beverly Peck invest in cattle, and Eugene and Harriet Anderson sell pure Vanilla and sharpen scissors. Dale Bartholomew is a stamp collector and gives the value of any stamps given to him to Investment.

The Investment Committee included Ruth Bodin, Marlene Fritz, Bob and LouAnn Staeheli, Florence Nielsen, Onnalee Wadell, and Debbie Thompson.

Lay Training Sessions Held at Rolla

By June E. Vitzthum

Lay Training in "How to Give Bible Studies" was conducted at the Rolla, Missouri Church by Pastor James Stevens. Pastor Stevens took the members through an actual study and asked volunteers to give their testimony. He showed how this should be given in a more effective manner. The objective of these training sessions is to prepare the laymen and laywomen to go out and help bring the word of God to the people in the community in preparation for the Evangelistic Series Pastor Stevens will be conducting at the Rolla Church this Fall.

June E. Vitzthum is the communication secretary of the Rolla Church.

Cooking Schools

By Robert K. DuPuy

Lael Smith of New Athens, Illinois, recently conducted two cooking schools in the Iowa-Missouri Conference, at St. Charles, Missouri, and at the church school in Mason City, Iowa, in June.

The St. Charles cooking school was held primarily for the members of the church, although several brought non-church-member friends. The class was held on four consecutive Sunday afternoons and consisted of lectures, films, demonstrations, and sample tasting. The "It's Your World of Good Food" lessons and the cookbook 375 Meatless Recipes were provided for class participants.

Almost all of those attending the Mason City cooking school were non-Adventists who met several church members as they assisted with the lectures and preparation of foods for sampling. Unique features of the program included an evening of dishes from other lands including Mexico, Japan, and Germany, and a vegetarian supper on the concluding night of the six-evening class, attended by about sixty people.

Robert K. DuPuy is the communication director for the Iowa-Missouri Conference.

Reunion at St. Joseph Church

By Dorothy Butt

On April 18, 1981, the Jule Street Seventh-day Adventist Church in St. Joseph, Missouri, held their 27th Anniversary reunion, reuniting many who had not seen each other for years. During morning services, Betty Parley sang and Ethel Lebard, a well-loved former teacher of the church school, taught the lesson study. Lunch was served at noon having been prepared by ladies of the church under the leadership of Pauline Lewis.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the church came together again to relive old times. The program was directed by Marion Waggoner whose work brought together reminiscing, tapes, slides and film.

Ruth Reinhold and husband Bernard told about the very earliest ministers and their wives followed by tapes of some still living who couldn't attend. Doris Newton told the history of the church. Dr. and Mrs. Waggoner told of four former pastors, some who are ill and had sent tapes. Pauline Lewis told of the history of Pathfinders, and Calvin Saxton told of the early church school.

Alma Kerns, Jack Kerns, Dorothy Butt, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cansler told of their experiences with some of the more recent pastors.

Robert and Brenda Dynes of Hillside Church supplied music.

About 170 people attended and reported many happy experiences.

Dorothy Butt is communication secretary of the St. Joseph Church.

"Health Yourself Seminar"

By Vera Ness

Fifty-two persons enrolled in the "Health Yourself Seminar" at the Ankeny Church, which began Monday, April 20. The eight-week program of habit modifications was attended by five non-Adventists. The instructors were Robert Peck and James King of the conference office.

The "Health Yourself Seminar" was designed to deliver the following benefits: increased energy, reduced fatigue, sharpened mental acuity, improved digestion, more restful sleep, diminished cravings for tobacco and alcohol.

A new experiment was tried each week in several different areas, including fluid replacement, eating pace, modified sugar intake, role of fiber, learning to relax, combatting stress naturally, and harmonizing digestive rhythms.

The "Health Yourself Seminar" programs were entertaining, fast-paced, and visually illustrated. Each participant received a personal control book for charting individual progress. Those who attended can testify to the value of the Seminar to overall health and well being.

Two full course Health Seminars are being planned for 1982.

Vera Ness is the communication secretary for the Ankeny, Iowa, Church.

Evangelism in Kansas City

By LaVerne Zumbaum

The Kansas City Central Church had the privilege of hosting the Revelation Lectures given by Dale Brusett in the spring of 1981. Scores of visitors from many faiths attended the series: Catholics, Lutherans, Pentecostals, Methodists, Baptists, Inter-Denominationalists, Jehovah's Witnesses, Church of Christ, Jews, Christians, and those of no declared preference of faith.

Night after night meetings began with a brief viewing of God's handiwork in nature projected in full color on multi-media screens — even some of Kansas City's own beauty, much to the delight of the audience. These progressed into the presentation of each night's topic, fully illustrated and clearly presented.

Members receiving baptismal certificates at conclusion of Revelation Lectures by Dale Brusett in the Kansas City Central Church. Elder Brusett is standing in the back row, far left; pastor Randy Murphy is in the second row, far right.

A novel feature of the Revelation Series was a question-and-answer seminar held several Sabbath mornings and following the lectures toward the conclusion of the series. Not only new members came to have questions answered and to find solutions to their particular problems, but many long-time members gained skills and encouragement from the instruction of Elder Brusett and inspiration from the enthusiasm and dedication of the new members.

Newly arrived pastor Randall Murphy, along with many dedicated church members, assisted throughout the series.

At the conclusion of the meeting, church members, along with the new members, gathered in the fellowship hall for a social hour of getting better acquainted and wishing God's continued blessing on Elder Brusett as he journeyed to his next assignment. The church has been much blessed with the addition of these new members.

Cherokee Church Reopens

By Stanley Teller

On August 1, 1981, the Cherokee Seventh-day Adventist Church opened its doors for the first time in several years to welcome members and visitors. Twenty-three were in attendance, singing and praising God. Each one enjoyed the special music and the lesson study for all divisions and united in the sacredness of the worship hour. It was a very special Sabbath for the members of the Cherokee Church. Baptisms are planned for the near future.

Stanley Teller is pastor of the Spencer, Iowa, District.

Community Service Center Holds Blood Pressure Clinics

By Colleen Stelling

More than 350 people had their blood pressure checked during 30 hours of Blood Pressure Clinic operations in St. Louis, Missouri, recently. The health outreach included invitations to begin Bible studies, from which there were 14 requests for group Bible studies, 14 requests for personal Bible studies, 41 requests for Weight Control classes, and 16 requests for information about the next Health/Nutrition Clinic. Each of the persons who had his or her blood pressure checked also received a copy of Steps to Christ.

Gene Schermerhorn distributing literature outside the van.

The project was made possible by the combined efforts of members of the St. Louis Central Church and the newly-organized Northwest Church, including Mary Miller, Community Services director; Cordell Reiner, Bible worker and literature evangelist; Pastor Rodney Brunken and his wife Debbie (a nurse). Another person who devoted much time and effort was a newly-baptized member of only two days, Pamela Yates.

Mary Miller stated that even though it required much time and effort, she found that it was also fun.

Open House

By John Treolo

In an effort to better acquaint Lincoln-area Adventist church members on the progress of the Good Neighbor Center, an open house attracted over 200 members recently.

According to Susan Moon, center director, the purpose was to allow members in Lincoln the opportunity to tour through and see what their center is accomplishing.

"Since each Lincoln-area member helps support the center, we wanted to let them see first-hand where their funds are going," Mrs. Moon explains.

"Most were amazed at how much was being accomplished at the center."

In addition to touring the Good Neighbor complex, participants were introduced to the various programs sponsored by the center, including Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, vegetarian cooking schools, camps for underprivileged children and much more.

A panel board titled "Our Star Workers" displayed photos of the more than 45 members and residents who volunteer their time and talents to help make the center a success.

The center is located at 26th and Y Streets and is sponsored by the six Lincoln-area Adventist churches.

John Treolo is public relations director for the Good Neighbor Center.

Baptism at Pleasanton

By Ed Jumper

Carl and Cheryl Brown were recently baptized in the newly installed baptistry in the Pleasanton Church. The Browns and their next door neighbors, Russell and Cheryl Mohr, attended a baseball game and a discussion arose over the eating of hot dogs. From this conversation, the Mohrs began giving the Browns Bible Studies, which resulted in the baptism.

Baptism at Hyannis

By Joan Roberts

A family became united in Christ on July 3, 1981, when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutton and their two children, Holli and Cory, were baptized in the Hyannis Church. Mr. Bill Sutton, Harry's father, was also baptized in the same ceremony. Bill's wife, Edna, has been a Seventh-day Adventist for seventeen years, and was instrumental in organizing the Hyannis Church.

Following the ordinance of baptism, the entire church enjoyed the fellowship of a candlelight communion service.

Joan Roberts is communication secretary of the Hyannis Church.

Church Dedication

By Joan Roberts

A twenty-year-old girl, teaching in a country school in the sandhills of Nebraska, organized a branch Sabbath School for her Sunday-keeping neighbors. That was in 1947, and the teacher was Miss Lois Fisher, from Scottsbluff. On July 11, 1981, five of those original Sabbath School members, with their families, friends and neighbors, met together to dedicate the lovely new Hyannis Church to God's service. The total membership has now grown to twenty-eight.

Dr. Robert Bowen and his wife, Clella, of Alliance, who provided leadership for the group during the early years, were honored guests, with Dr. Bob teaching the Sabbath School lesson.

A. H. Liebelt, pastor when the church was built, read the prayer offered by Solomon at the dedication of the temple, as recorded in the sixth chapter of 2 Chronicles. Joan Branson read an account of the history of the Hyannis Church.

Joel Tompkins, Kansas-Nebraska Conference President, presented the sermon, in which he discussed the importance of the place of worship throughout the Scripture. The patriarchal family altar, the wilderness tabernacle, the temple in Jerusalem, all were intended to direct attention toward the true temple in Heaven. Today we are instructed to come boldly to the throne of grace, where Jesus is constantly mediating for us.

Mrs. Miles Branson reading the history of the Hyannis Church as Joel Tompkins and Howard Voss listen.

The congregation was led in the Act of Dedication by B. A. Roberts, present pastor of the district. Howard Voss, former president of the Nebraska Conference, offered the dedicatory prayer, and Walter Howard, Kansas-Nebraska Conference Trust Services Director, gave the benediction.

Special musical numbers for the occasion were provided by Merilyn Rice of Marsland, Dr. and Mrs. John Ruffing of Hemingford, and James Carley, of North Platte. Carley also presented a sacred concert in the afternoon.

Joan Roberts is communication secretary of the Hyannis Church.

Baptism at South Sioux City

By Mrs. David Ritchie

Mrs. David (Charlene) Greger and Troy Finley were baptized recently at the South Sioux City, Nebraska, Church. Charlene had been studying for some time with Pastor Harold O. White, and her decision for baptism came following a two-week series of meetings at the church. Troy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Finley and a member of the Junior Sabbath School Division in South Sioux City.

The baptisms climaxed Pastor White's ministry in South Sioux City.

He and his family left the following week for Bison, Kansas where they will be living while he pastors the LaCrosse, Kansas district.

Pastor and Mrs. Fred McIntyre have arrived to take up pastoral duties in the South Sioux City District. They are living in Norfolk, Nebraska. The family includes Joel, 2, and a new baby daughter, Mindy Sue.

Mrs. David Ritchie is communication secretary for the South Sioux City Church.

Golden Anniversary

By Roger Baker

Clarence and Lois Tribble of Lincoln, Nebraska, celebrated their Fiftieth anniversary, June 21. Clarece Krein, their daughter, served as hostess for the reception at the Piedmont Park Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The Tribbles first met in Utica, Missouri, and were married in a pastor's home in Sidney, Iowa.

Since retirement the Tribbles have moved to Lincoln and currently manage the 72-unit Sutter Place Apartments.

Roger Baker is the communication secretary of the Piedmont Park Church.

Personal Ministries Department Sponsors Banquet

By Mazie Mitchell

Members and friends of the Bethel Church in Kansas City, Kansas gathered to be honored for a job well done in the 1980 Ingathering Campaign.

Personal Ministries leader, Clarence Small, was in charge of the church celebration, music and words of encouragement were rendered by Ruby Robinson, Shirley Platt, Christine Thompson and church pastor, James White.

J. E. White (holding son), B. White, E. F. Carter.

Guest speaker for the affair was E. F. Carter, conference Personal Ministries director. Elder Carter commended the church for its early victory in reaching the stated goal. He challenged every member to reach the Jasper Wayne goal for 1981. One hundred and twenty-five members received commendation.

Ella Thomas, Myrtle Barker, and Rose Estell along with several young adults prepared and served a delicious dinner.

S. Haywood Cox, conference president expressed his appreciation to those in attendance.

Mazie Mitchell is the communication secretary of the Bethel Church.

Northside Youth Organize

By Jayne Byrd

Jean Ross became quite concerned about the apparent lack of participation by many young people in the Northside Church of St. Louis, Missouri. Recently, on her return home from school, Miss Ross felt compelled to direct this idleness into usefulness for the Lord. The young people were organized into a musical group which now is known as the Strings of Harmony. The group has grown so fast that now it has become an official choir of Northside.

Strings of Harmony not only gives its musical talents to God but recently 4,000 items of canned goods were solicited from the St. Louis community to be distributed to the needy. Several hundred items of the canned goods were given to the church welfare society.

Jean Ross (center) visits with residents of Good Shepherd's Nursing Home.

The Good Shepherd's Nursing Home anticipates a visit from the musical group each month. Some visits are highlighted with special treats to those living at the nursing home.

Under the direction of Jean Ross, Strings of Harmony has begun a mission of service to the church and outreach to its immediate community.

Miss Ross is a graduate of Oakwood College in Huntsville, Alabama. She has a degree in biology and religion and is a former student missionary. She is presently attending St. Louis University, participating in an accelerated nursing program. Her co-director is Benjamin Germany.

Jayne Byrd is the communication secretary of the Northside Church.

King's Daughters Honor Woman of the Year

By Alma York

Carol Anderson of Lincoln, Nebraska was named Woman of the Year by the King's Daughters Organization. The award was made at special services conducted at Allon Chapel, honoring all women of the church. Elder W. S. Lee, Pastor Gerald Jones, Martha Allen and Ruth Lee were participants on the program.

Carol is a native of Omaha, Nebraska and mother of eight children. She has been employed by the health care system for more than 25 years. Carol is presently employed at the Madonna Professional Care Center as a licensed practical nurse where she works in the rehabilitation of patients who have had cerebral vascular accidents (strokes).

The Andersons moved to Lincoln three years ago so that Ted, Carol's husband, could continue his studies in theology. Carol is known as a pleasant, friendly and hard-working Christian woman with a ready smile. She enjoys singing, playing the piano, and crafts in her leisure time.

According to Pastor Jones, Carol's selection as Woman of the Year was very timely and appropriate. Carol was honored specifically by the Sabbath School, the Adventist Youth and King's Daughters. As a part of the ceremony, all women of the church were given long-stemmed roses.

Alma York is the communication secretary of the Allon Chapel.

Sedalia Holds Community Father's Day Celebration

By Erma E. Curd

Fathers of several community churches were honored Sabbath, June 13, at Sharon Chapel in Sedalia, Missouri. Elder Donald Taylor of the Shiloh Church in Leavenworth, Kansas was the guest speaker. His family, plus a youth quartet, the Chosen Four, provided messages in song throughout the entire day.

Miss Barbara Byrd, church clerk, presented each father with a book written by Ellen G. White. It was a joyous occasion for all.

DAKOTA

Pastor Preaches in Three Presbyterian Pulpits

By George W. Liscombe

The Presbyterian pastor was terminating his services in Lemmon, Hope, and McIntosh, SD churches. He was moving to California. The postmaster of Lemmon asked the Seventh-day Adventist pastor, Hal Rutherford, "will you help us until we are able to call another minister?"

And so, for a number of months, it was the privilege of Elder Hal to occupy their pulpits and share 'in Christ' messages with the Presbyterians.

In addition, being speaker at Thanksgiving and Easter services in the Lutheran and Catholic churches plus weekly services over KBJM has developed a community acquaintance and friendship of tremendous worth. So much so that when sharing the faith from door-to-door with the Dukane portable television Bible studies many are acceptably receptive.

Please continue to pray for the freedom of the gospel presentation in this west-central section of the Dakota Conference.

George W. Liscombe is secretary of the Dakota Conference.

Baptism at Topeka College Avenue SDA Church

By Dorothy Woodson

Recent additions to the Topeka College Avenue SDA Church are Christine and Stacey Griffiee.

Howard, Lucille, Christine and Stacey Griffiee.

Christine looked on tearfully Sabbath morning while her older sister, Stacey was being baptized. Not satisfied with the fact that she was the only unbaptized member of the Griffiee family, she decided on her own to do something about it. One morning as Hector Mouzon, the minister of our church at that time, prepared for a baptismal service, little Christine donned her baptismal garb and awaited her turn in line. She was baptized and is now a very happy member and worker for the Lord.

Dorothy Woodson is the communication secretary for the Topeka College Avenue Church.

Peterson from the Review and Herald Publishing Association.

Peterson, currently director of Public Relations, Advertising and Marketing, has served the church in pastoral, youth and educational work. His special interest is amateur radio. He is founder of the Adventist Amateur Radio Association which operates some 25 networks world-wide.

Peterson spoke about Christian compassion, and told of instances where simply listening to another had opened inroads for the Gospel. This is one reason he is interested in amateur radio, for he views radio as a tool for aiding others. During the day he told of instances where radio had saved lives and helped people in distress.

The Mid-Dakota Summer Rally was organized by pastors Richard Byrd, John McGee, Michael Porter, and Clarence Small. It was sponsored by the Bowdon, Carrington, Goodrich, Harvey, Hurdsfield, Manfred, McCluskey and New Home Seventh-day Adventist Churches.

Clarence Small is pastor of the Carrington and New Home Churches.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN

3 + 12 = 100 — or The Twelve Disciples

In Colorado Springs, Colorado, when the dust settled from the last of the Dale Brusett Revelation Lectures, 100 persons had made their decision for Christ and joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Mid-America Union Evangelist Dale Brusett visits with an earnest questioner at the Colorado Springs, Colorado meetings. The opening night attendance was 500, which increased to 700 on the second night. More than 70% of this large number were not church members. Public evangelism still works!

Contributing significantly to the success of the meeting was the organization of a very willing visitation team. This group of 12 church members was chosen to visit by pairs the homes of interested persons to provide answers to their questions and demonstrate friendship. Sunday was visitation day as was Wednesday evening (the only night when there was no meeting).

Pastors English and Eineke stand with "The Group of 12" who received special training in visitation and have become effective soul winners.

One morning each week the group met with Evangelist Brusett and Pastor Sid English to receive instruction on "how" to visit. These dedicated visitors covered their assigned territories weekly, freeing the three pastors from "routine" visiting and giving them opportunity to concentrate on special help for special needs.

The strength of the visitation team lay in its willingness to devote itself totally to the evangelistic series. Some on the team went so far as to take time off from their jobs for the six-week series. Once baptisms began, new members were regularly invited to the homes of the team members for Sabbath meals and fellowship. Was it worth it? The 100 new members represented one out of every five non-Adventists who attended opening night.

The same visitation team still exists at Colorado Springs. It is called the Twelve Disciples and continues to visit weekly with new members. It will now serve as a pilot group for an expanding visitation program to include more teams to visit regularly old and new members. These people are on fire for God and plan to continue to give of their talents to reap souls for the Kingdom.

Wyoming Community Services Federation

By Anna May Pearce

Bonnie Merchant, Disaster Relief Director for the Wyoming and Colorado Chapters of the American Red Cross, was the featured speaker at a recent Community Services Federation held in the Casper, Wyoming Seventh-day Adventist Church. Ms. Merchant stressed that potential disaster events are growing and include drought, floods, energy-impact conditions, hazardous materials, highrise buildings, and fires — to name a few. She stated that the agreement between the Seventh-day Adventist Church and the National Red Cross was binding in regard to cooperation during any emergency, that all should become acquainted with it and that pre-disaster decisions would help greatly during any emergency. Then and only then would each know what the other was prepared to do and would do.

Four advance preparations include:

1. Stock piling of clothing, bedding, household supplies and food.
2. Be prepared to help with mass feeding and give temporary shelter that may include private homes.
3. Special training in the counseling of disaster victims who lose loved ones or suffer material loss.
4. Organize trained personnel, including nurses, First Aid or CPR trainees, ham operators and individuals capable of directing others; also qualified in evaluating extent of injuries.

The first 24 hours after a disaster are usually the responsibility of the local community. That is the time it usually takes for national groups to arrive. Therefore, the training of local personnel capable of handling situations at that time is vital. This training should be given in advance, with practice sessions. Weak places then surface and can be remedied. Things to consider include: evacuation plans, disaster potential in community, leadership, training and a written plan that can be easily followed.

Ms. Merchant concluded by stating, "The more you plan, the more you exercise your plans, the more success you will have".

Jerry Page, Personal Ministries Director for the Rocky Mountain Conference, presided at the Federation Meeting. Those present, representing the majority of churches in the state, voted to have one set of officers. Those elected included: Hollis Gronning, Casper, president; Marilyn Deiss, Powell, and Margaret Schroeder, Newcastle, vice presidents; Jean Van Buskirk, Casper, secretary-treasurer; and Goldie Steigelman, Sheridan, assistant secretary-treasurer. The two vice presidents are to travel in the western or eastern parts of the state and give needed assistance to the Dorcas Societies.

Anna May Pearce is the communication secretary of the Casper Church.

SMMC Names Sulzle as Director of Rehabilitation Services

Shawnee Mission Medical Center has named Howard Sulzle as the director of rehabilitation services.

Sulzle is in charge of planning and coordinating the hospital's rehabilitation services which include speech pathology and occupational and physical therapies. The department serves both inpatients and outpatients.

Sulzle holds a bachelor's degree in physical therapy from Loma Linda University. He has two master's degrees; one in physical therapy from the University of Southern California and one in health education from Loma Linda University.

between 4.5 and 5 percent on interest costs. Loan applications range from the complete replacement of hospital beds to purchase of new and replacement x-ray equipment.

The program was developed with the cooperation of the Colorado Hospital Association. Underwriting the program was Shearson, Loeb, and Rhodes. Bonds were sold by the Colorado Health Facilities Authority.

Porter Gets an Octopus

The Clyde G. Kissinger Eye Center at Porter Memorial Hospital is now equipped with an $89,000 computerized perimetry machine, marketed by the trade name, Octopus.

The massive machine is already in use detecting weak points in patients' field of vision and providing more sophisticated diagnosis for glaucoma and certain other eye diseases.

Glaucoma is the third most common cause of blindness in the United States, according to Dr. William R. Whalen, an ophthalmologist on Porter's medical staff who was instrumental in acquiring the machine.

It is one of only 15 which have been installed in this country to date, says Whalen.

By the third week in July, an average of four tests per day were being performed, with patients scheduled into September, according to David Beers, Porter's ophthalmic technician.

"We expect to increase our volume to eight patients per day on the Octopus as more ophthalmologists in the area learn that we have it," says Beers.

Ophthalmic technician David Beers tests a patient on the Octopus computerized perimetry machine recently purchased by Porter Memorial Hospital. The machine is one of only 15 of its kind in the United States.

UNION COLLEGE

Canadian Economist Joins Union As Business Division Chairman

The "foreign language" of economics is just one of several tongues spoken by Dr. George Selivanoff. Union College's new chairman of Business and Consumer Science was born in China of Russian parents. He immigrated to Canada 30 years ago.

Dr. Selivanoff

Dr. Selivanoff's last position was with the Ontario (Canada) Development Corporation, a division of the provincial government. He holds a B.A. from the University of British Columbia and his M.A. and Ph.D. from American University in Washington, D.C.

It was during his stay in Washington that he met his wife, Alice, who was then assistant editor of the Youth's Instructor at the Review and Herald Publishing Association.

He will teach courses in economics, in addition to leading the largest of six divisions at the college. The family has four children.

News Notes

• Lillian Dinger, of Wyoming, has given $12,000 to the college for the purchase of a new public address system for the gymnasium. The system will be useful for convocations and special events, as well as the Saturday night lyceum programs.

• Beginning with the fall semester, Union will offer a new course in recreation administration. Dr. Charles Felton, chairman of the Division of Human Development, says this degree will open up job opportunities for the "non-super athlete" who is nonetheless interested in physical education. He expects to place graduates in 10 to 12 jobs per year, in areas like hospital recreation, special education (disabled), and city and county government parks and recreation administration.

• Beverly Harris, a sophomore nursing major from Lincoln, Nebraska, received a $400 scholarship from the Allstate (Insurance) Foundation. It was awarded by the Nebraska League of Nurses.

• Two significant programs will kick off the new academic year at Union. On Monday evening, August 31, the Voice of Prophecy King's Heralds and the Heritage Singers will present a joint concert at the College View Church. A freewill offering will be taken. The next evening, Victor Borge will perform his brand of pianistic shenanigans at Pershing Auditorium as the first concert of the 1981-82 Family Entertainment Series (free to registered students).

First 'Faith' Quartet Reunites for Concert

After 27 years, members of the original Faith For Today quartet will present a reunion concert October 10 at the Sligo Seventh-day Adventist Church in Takoma Park, Maryland.

It will be the first time they have sung together since 1954. Members of that first quartet include Harold Lickey, now at Andrews University, Walter Isensee of Greater New York, Lyle Jewell an officer of the church in Bemidji, Minnesota and Herb Hohensee who works at the Adventist Media Center in Thousand Oaks, California.

The reunion concert coincides with the weekend of the 1981 Annual Council in Washington, D.C.

VOP Releases Radio Spots

"BRITE SPOTS 2" is a new set of public service radio spots released for the Seventh-day Adventist Church by the Voice of Prophecy. Each spot discusses one of the basic needs: loving, belonging, sharing, accomplishing, or forgiving. Because radio stations have many different formats, each spot was recorded in eight different styles. John Robertson produced the series, a total of 80 spots.

Marge had already pulled out of what she and Ted had resignedly concluded was a divorce-prone family. No hope.

Is it necessarily true that divorces "run in families" and there is no use in trying to mend fences and hearts in such doomed homes? Don't you believe it. These situations may require more patience, more tender compassion and more perseverance, but they are not hopeless!

Before you "split," there are some things you should know. Divorce will not settle many of your problems, thousands of divorcees have testified to that. And divorce is a nightmare for children; besides, your way of coping with the stresses and strains of marriage will likely be the way your children will cope. You can choose better alternatives than your parents did and break the cycles for your own. And for yourself, the anxiety, even regrets, that accompany divorce are not very comfortable "helpmeets" to share your future with.

Think it over a long time. Pray about it. Talk with a minister or counselor that you trust. Keep on trying to make something beautiful within the commitment you have made to each other.

Week of Prayer Tapes Available

The Adult Week of Prayer messages are available on cassette tapes through the ASPIRE Tape of the Month Club sponsored by the General Conference Ministerial/Stewardship Association. Also the children's messages will be welcomed by pastors, school teachers, Vacation Bible School directors, parents and others interested in children's programs. The eight messages for adults on the general theme, "The Family of God," are available on two cassettes for $5.00. The six children's messages on the same theme, are on a single cassette at a cost of $2.50. Send money with order to: Aspire Tape of the Month Club, 6840 Eastern Avenue N.W., Washington, DC 20012.

New Series of Books For Adventist Children

Now your boys and girls can read in large print, attractive, illustrated books written in an easy vocabulary suited for early and middle elementary grades. However, the interest level reaches from the second to the eighth grade. Adventures of the "Trailblazer For Jesus" series includes Mamma Stahl And The Butterfly Girl, A King Who Couldn't Preach, Uncle Uriah And Tad, Miss Marian's Gold and A Soldier For Jesus. These first five books are already off the press. More have been written and will soon be published. Pacific Press has not determined how many biographies will be in the series.

For Your Schools

By Melvin Northrup

Home and School Association leaders have been asking for backup articles and ideas. FOCUS ON THE HOME & SCHOOL is a new periodical to be published beginning this fall by the North American Division Education Office.

The periodical will carry materials resources, questions asked by children and their answers, articles about parenting and family life, kitchen lessons, and alternative program outlines. Subscribers will also receive a special program kit.

Most schools will need at least two subscriptions. The price is only $4.00 for the three school-year issues. Subscription checks should be sent to the local conference office of education fairly soon.

Melvin Northrup is director of curriculum and development for the Mid-America Union.

tlement. Many Adventist church members moved into this area where they hoped to make a living from the fertile land. Some of these people dared to dream of a new Adventist boarding academy in the jungle - a school where their children would learn to work the soil as well as stretch their minds. A place was found that covered three million square meters.

There was no money available from the mission or from the North Brazil Union. Two brothers, Ervino and Lindolfo Gutzeit donated the necessary money for construction of this boarding school and for the operation the first year.

In January of 1978 construction began. By April electric lights were wired to the generator, the farm was in operation, water from a large reservoir was piped in, and 20 head of cattle and 1000 chickens were suitably housed and producing.

One of the original buildings at Trans-Amazon Agro-Industrial Academy.

When the first 55 students began classes they had little time to enjoy the natural beauty about them. There were rice, beans, and corn crops to tend, bananas ready to harvest, and 22,000 cacao plants to set out. The following year the enrollment increased to 80 and the faculty to six. A sawmill was donated and a woodworking industry begun. Students could now learn to build furniture for schools and churches while earning part of their tuition.

This fine academy was built without help from the mission. But now expansion is necessary. Some of the original buildings need to be replaced with something more permanent. The Special Projects Offering September 26 will assist the Trans-Amazon Agro-Industrial School as well as other academies in Brazil

New Light for Southern Brazil

One hundred six years ago Burchard, a young German living in the South of Brazil, violated one of the local laws and thereby started a mysterious chain of events that have been significant to Adventist history. He fled to Itajai and stowed away on a German ship.

On board he met two Adventist missionaries who eagerly inquired of the religious life of Santa Catarina. Burchard was glad to inform them of the strong Lutheran work at Brusque. Readily he listened to the Adventists and agreed that they should send Adventist papers to his step-father, Carlos Dreefke, in Brusque.

Ten copies of Stimme Der Wahrheit (Voice of Truth) in German arrived neatly addressed to Carlos Dreefke. He took the package to the local tavern to show his friends. David Hort, the tavern keeper, and his 9-year-old son, Adolf, were among the curious who crowded around Dreefke.

"It looks like religious papers," they agreed after scrutinizing the tracts. "But why ten of them?"

Dreefke stuffed one of the papers into his coat pocket and headed for the door. As Hort's hand closed around the rest Dreefke called back over his shoulder: "If there is any bill to come, I'll pay for this one. I'll not be responsible for the other nine!" Everyone reached for the copies that Hort passed out.

Friederich Dressel, a local teacher and an alcoholic, read one of the papers with interest. In a little box on the back page of the Voice of Truth was an offer for free literature upon request. Dressel lost no time in ordering a large regular subscription which he knew would sell for a modest profit.

Often in the years that followed, as the poor man stuffed the Voice of Truth into envelopes he would drop some. They were somehow gathered up and used by a local storekeeper to wrap groceries. Thus the word was spread.

When F. H. Westphal first visited Brusque he baptized 23 people and organized the first church in the great country of Brazil. David Hort and Adolf were among the charter members. Today, in the South Brazil Union we have 150,000 members. In Santa Catarina Mission we have 8,000 members and 31 churches. Two thousand children in this area attend Seventh-day Adventist schools.

Students of our schools in Santa Catarina and Goias, Brazil.

Dr. Carlo Heinrich, a medical doctor from Hanover, Germany, with Adventist theological training, began the work in Goias in 1926. He ministered to the Indians along the Araguaia river.

Today in the state of Goias, in the Central Brazil Mission, we have 12,000 members and 3,500 pupils in elementary schools. Neither Santa Catarina nor Goias mission has a boarding school for these children and youth to continue their secondary education. This is our special project for the Thirteenth Sabbath offering, September 26.

GOD CARES, Vol. I, is one of the most important books you'll be reading in this decade. It contains the latest research on the book of Daniel and follows a verse-by-verse commentary style.

Definitely this is a publishing event whose time is now.

The author is Dr. C. Mervyn Maxwell, chairman of the department of church history and professor of church history at Andrews University. He writes with a lively freshness in easy-to-understand language, yet the book is scholarly.

When you have read GOD CARES, Vol. I, you'll know much more about God and how much He cares for you, and about the meaning of world history. It's a book for the times.
