

Youth Congress Report No. 3*"They Looked Unto Him And Were Radiant!"

By JOHN H. HANCOCK

When the Psalmist David wrote, "They looked unto him and were radiant, and their faces were not ashamed" (Psalms 34:5), he must have had a vision of the youth congress delegates who attended the great "Festival of the Holy Scriptures" in Atlantic City.

What a contrast our Seventh-day Adventist young people were to the pleasure-loving and "beatniks" whom we encountered on our trip. Everywhere we stopped people were attracted to our Northwest young people. At Chicago one lady in the Museum of Science and Industry called Pat Craik over to the booth and asked, "Are you one of the Seventh-day Adventist Youth from the Northwest?"

Pat replied, "Yes, I am."

The lady remarked, "Well it really seems nice to see so many girls dressed so appropriately and so clean looking. You are a beautiful group of young people."

I went outside to wait for the delegation to assemble at the busses after the tour through the museum. While standing there, the bus dispatcher sided up to me and commented, "These young people are different. You know, there isn't one of them that smokes!"

"That's right," I quickly responded, "and did you know that none of them drink either?"

The dispatcher was deeply impressed. "You know," he said earnestly, "It's wonderful to see a group of young people like this. The majority of youth follow the crowd, but here are young people that America can put its future hope in."

While riding down the elevator in the Jefferson Hotel, where our delegation stayed in Atlantic City, Bill Peterson, one of the delegates from Walla Walla College, struck up a conversation with a bellboy.

"Are you a Seventh-day Adventist?" the bellboy asked nodding toward the identification badge on Bill's lapel.

"Yes, I am," Bill replied, to which the bellboy inquired, "Well, what do you Adventist people believe?"

As best he could, Bill explained simply some of our major beliefs, but the elevator reached the main floor before he could say very much. The bellboy followed Bill through the lobby, however, and Bill tried carefully to explain further the important doctrines of the Seventh-day Adventists. At this point in the conversation, the bellboy interrupted him and revealed what had actually made the deep impression on his mind, "I noticed that none of your girls wear makeup or jewelry."

"That," Bill pointed out, "is a specific application of the general principle that our dress should be healthful and modest. In short, we believe our appearance should glorify God and not ourselves."

Obviously very much impressed, the bellboy mused, "That's exactly the way I feel. Can you tell me any more about your church?"

Bill was able to give him a copy of the Marked Bible and other literature, including a Bible Correspondence Course enrollment blank.

Marvin Blehm went into a drug store for some medicine. The druggist was quite sarcastic until he saw Marvin's delegate badge. Then he asked, "Are you one of those Adventists?"

When Marvin replied in the affirmative, the druggist wanted to know all about Oregon, and then after a brief over-the-counter visit remarked, "You know, you Adventists are the happiest and friendliest people I've ever seen." Before Marvin had hardly a chance to say a word, the druggist blessed him over and over again.

Another business man said, "I hate to see this youth congress come to a close. You Adventist young people are the finest group that has ever come to Atlantic City. They may not be rich but they are certainly honest."

Yes, the light and glory of Jesus shined forth in the faces of these Adventist young people wherever they went. And they were not ashamed to live their faith before the people. I can still remember seeing the proprietors of the many concessions that lined the boardwalk stand in their doorways with arms folded watching the procession of youth carrying their Bibles on the boardwalk stream by. They couldn't understand what had happened to Atlantic City—it was a sight they had never seen before! Most of the youth didn't even bother to look their way—why should they? They had their faces toward Zion—They looked to Jesus and the things of this world grew strangely dim!

Next week we shall tell some more interesting experiences of how our train crews were affected by their close association with the young people.

Camp Doss in Oregon—
A Chance of a Lifetime!

With no assurance that our National Medical Cadet Camp will ever be held in Northwest territory again, this year's location of Camp Doss at Gladstone Park, Oregon, makes it imperative that all of our young men who should have medical cadet training take advantage of this opportunity.

In the past many parents have hesitated to send their boys back to Michigan because of the hazards and expense of such a long trip. Now this objection is eliminated, and we should have at least 100 of our young men from the Northwest in attendance. Thus far, the applications have been coming in steadily. To date, sixty from the North Pacific Union have applied. It is expected that the camp attendance will be close to 250.

The training program at Camp Doss is always exceptionally good, but this year with the addition of the Fort Lewis army field unit, the young cadets will have an outstanding opportunity to learn latest army medical techniques firsthand.

Our international situation is growing more tense with each passing day. Threats of rocket attacks and the boastful and sword-rattling voices of the leaders of angry nations should cause

Final Call to Camp Doss

Plans for 1960 Camp Doss are rapidly filling out. The Deputy Surgeon General of the US Army, Major General Thomas J. Hartford, will be at the camp as an honored guest and official observer. Arrangements have been made for the 60th Field Hospital of the US Army to take their time of required monthly field training at the camp, setting up their hospital and using it as an instructional aid for our trainees for five days. This all adds up to the best instructional program ever offered at the national camp.

This summer Camp Doss will be held on the Oregon Conference campground at Gladstone, Oregon, from August 16 to 30. It is open to young men who will be in at least the eleventh grade next school year or who are at least 16 years of age.

The sweeping changes in world affairs that have been made in the last few weeks point Seventh-day Adventists to the necessity of being prepared. If you or your son are old enough to attend Camp Doss to prepare for eventual military service as a conscientious objector to the bearing of arms, make arrangements to attend Camp Doss this summer. The cost is $33.50 for board, room, tuition, books, insignia, and insurance while there. Write your local or union conference MV Secretary for a leaflet giving all details. There is an application blank with the leaflet.

Camp Meeting Accomplishments

The 1960 Upper Columbia camp meeting is now history and once more our ministry and laity have returned to their homes and work after a real spiritual blessing. I am sure I have never heard so many words of appreciation and commendation for a meeting as I heard for our camp meeting this year. Naturally it helps those who plan and work for the meeting to know that it is meeting its objectives in proving to give a great spiritual lift to our good people.

Seemingly everyone familiar with our Upper Columbia camp meetings felt that we had by far the largest attendance ever. The meetings were well attended during the week and the weekend attendance was overwhelming.

The last Sabbath we conducted an overflow Sabbath school at the Youth Center as well as the regular overflow church service and every place was filled with hundreds listening to the loud speakers on the lawn.

The meetings were deeply spiritual and many decisions were made for God. The last Friday night of Elder O'Brien's meetings with the youth, over 100 went forward. This was a time for old and young of making wrongs right, putting away sin and getting right with God.

Our people took back into their homes and churches $15,056.12 worth of books from the Book and Bible House. The Sabbath school offerings amounted to $6,722.53 and the Thank Offering during the Sabbath school on the last Sabbath amounted to $838.20. The regular church service offerings for the two Sabbaths amounted to $5,228.06 in cash and $2,864.00 in pledges. The cash offering was divided as indicated by the donors $2,645.43 for missions and $2,573.63 for evangelism.

The evening offerings were taken for camp meeting expense and totaled $2,254.52 or $495.34 more than last year. At the close of the Upper Columbia Academy hour on the first Sabbath afternoon a worthy student aid offering was taken which amounted to $292.58.

And now your conference administration is already planning for the 1961 camp meeting and it will be our studied plan to make it bigger and better. Please mingle your prayers with ours and plan to be with us next year.

Aid to Study of Sabbath School Lessons

While we all were greatly benefited by the second quarter Sabbath school lessons, yet many found them a bit difficult and were glad for the change this quarter to these wonderful lessons on the law (or laws) of God. We are already finding some of the deep and hidden things as we realize that all natural laws are God's laws and all life is dependent upon observing these laws. The Ten Commandment Law is only a part of God's great system of laws that we must observe if we are to live and be united with Him in His kingdom.

The extent of help we get from our Sabbath school lessons depends to a large degree upon the lesson helps that we have at our finger tips. Everyone should by all means have access to the book The Ten Commandments written by Elder Taylor G. Bunch. It contains 190 pages of the most thought-provoking material on the Law of God that I have ever seen.

Realizing how eager our people are to get good helps, I feel constrained to draw this to your attention as it is filled with a wealth of material. The regular price of the book is $2.50, but the Book and Bible House is making it available at this time for $1.95. You may order it through your church missionary secretary or direct from the Upper Columbia Book and Bible House.

Blessings and inspiration to you as you study these wonderful lessons for this quarter.

Items Found

The following lost items were unclaimed at the Upper Columbia camp meeting: lady's wrist watch, purses, gloves, sweaters, jackets, keys, glasses, and other items.

If you claim any of these items, write full description to D. H. Dull, 632 S. Columbia, Milton-Freewater, Oregon.

Camper Sponsor

Every summer there comes to the MV secretary's desk letters from mothers, widows, or young people themselves, asking if there is not some way the young people could attend camp. Such letters are on my desk from several families at this writing. One states, "We are on welfare and it is pretty steep to pay out that much this summer."

It may be that you do not have a child to send to Camp MiVoden and would like to see one go and benefit from the summer camp training. In this event you can sponsor one of these worthy applicants. The cost is $17.00 per camper per week.

You may write me at Camp MiVoden, Rt. 2, Hayden Lake, Idaho, for further particulars.

Washington Conference Summer Camp Plans

Plans have been laid and are in the final stages for the best year yet at Sunset Lake Summer Camp. Again this year a number of choices will be given to the teen-agers. August 7 to 14, they may spend a week in the Cascade Mountain Wilderness area backpacking on remote trails and learning the skills of comfortable outdoor living. August 14 to 21, teen-agers may join the mountain climbing class camping for a week at the foot of Mt. Rainier in the beautiful Summerland Park area, taking their training in mountaineering on the glaciers and rock slopes of Mt. Rainier and Little Tahoma Peak. August 21 to 28, teen-agers may attend the regular camp session at Sunset Lake water skiing, swimming, attending classes in subjects ranging from horsemanship to junior Red Cross lifesaving, and in general, eating, sleeping, swimming, playing baseball and enjoying themselves.

The cost for any one of these weeks will be $18.50, all expenses included; however, any teen-agers wishing to attend two or more may do so at $16.50 per week.

There will also be a junior camp for girls, ages 9 to 12, at Sunset Lake, August 7-14, and a junior camp for boys, 9 to 12, also at the lake, August 14-21. The cost of these camps is $18.50.

Springfield Welfare

Antiseptically clean and stocked to the beams with rows of neatly displayed articles of clothing, the Springfield Welfare Center sponsored by the local Seventh-day Adventist church opened to the public on Wednesday, June 29. Mayor Edward Harms welcomed the new unit by stating that "The community can well be proud of this new facility," and praised the church for its dedication to those less fortunate. Elder H. L. Rudy, the Oregon Conference president, and Elder C. J. Ritchie, Oregon Conference home missionary secretary, gave impressive speeches dealing with the purpose of our world-wide "Good Samaritan" program. The Center is located in a most strategic location on the main street of town, and is certain to have a profound influence for good through the years.

Oregon Conference News

From June 5 through July 10 the Youth of the Springfield Seventh-day Adventist church conducted a series of evangelistic meetings in the sanctuary of their new church. From beginning to end the music, platform organization, ushering and preaching was done by youth, mostly in the early teens. During the series we were reminded of the statement in Gospel Workers, "With such an army of workers as our youth, rightly trained, might furnish, how soon the message of a crucified, risen, and soon-coming Saviour might be carried to the whole world, and how soon might the end come."—Page 66. Nine candidates are preparing for baptism July 16, which will make a total of thirty-one baptized at Springfield this spring. Most of these would trace their conversion to the diligent efforts of the lay members.

With grave forebodings the ladies of the Springfield church faced their first attempt at conducting a Vacation Bible School. Now that it is over, they are not only enthused, they are thrilled. A total of 171 students enrolled and a very high percentage of these were from non-Adventist families. Diplomas were received by 157 on graduation night, and already 42 from non-Adventist families have attended Sabbath school and church. A concerted effort is under way to increase this number and to interest the parents in the various activities of the church.

The Dorcas Welfare Society of The Dalles Seventh-day Adventist church loaded 27 large cartons of clothing and bedding for shipment to Chile, where 2,000,000 persons were made homeless by the recent earthquakes, and to Japan to aid the tidal wave victims. Cartons were sent to Portland, then on by van to the West Coast Seventh-day Adventist Welfare Distributing Center at Watsonville, California. Mrs. Zeph Foster is the Dorcas leader at The Dalles and she was ably assisted by the members of the church as well as by the pastor, Elder L. L. Huntington.

Correction

In the July 4 GLEANER the caption under the picture of the second and third generation students in Laurelwood's class of '60 listed "Archie Walter, son of Alice Starr-Walter of Junction City, '36." This should read: Archie Walter, son of Viola Starr-Walter of Junction City, '38.

Vancouver Vacation Bible School

The success of the Vancouver, Washington, Vacation Bible School could be measured by the happiness and radiance of enthusiastic boys and girls at the closing program June 30. One hundred fifteen strong, following the flag, they marched to the platform as Mrs. Turner played, "Onward Christian Soldiers." Led by Pastor Harold R. Turner they sang, with full volume of their childish voices, "God Bless America," "Whisper a Prayer," and several choruses.

The trend of the program was love to Jesus, allegiance to the Bible and to our country, as they sang, "Everybody Ought to Love Jesus," "B-I-B-L-E" and as they pledged allegiance to the Bible and to the flag. The theme text of the school was, "Thy Word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against Thee."

Mrs. Burton MacPherson, the leader of the school, attributed the success of the undertaking to the good leadership in the departments; to the interest and daily attendance of Pastor and Mrs. Turner and to the leaders in the craft department. The leader of the juniors was Mrs. Walter Milholland, the primary leader was Mrs. George Fullerton, and Mrs. August Opp had charge of the kindergarten children.

Pastor Turner conducted the daily worship hour and trained the children in group singing. Mrs. Turner assisted in the music. Teaching arts and crafts were Mrs. R. E. Hopmann, Mrs. Harry Pearson and Mrs. Donald Champaign.

Opening day ceremonies at Springfield Welfare Center. Mayor Edward Harms cutting the ribbon; Mrs. Lawrence Naught, director of the Center; Elder Ruppert, local pastor; and Elder Rudy, president of the Oregon Conference.

Vancouver, Washington, Vacation Bible School.

Art work was exhibited at the close of the program and each child took home three or four things they had made.

An interesting feature of one school-day program was the honor paid to little three-year-old Joe Henderson, who on that day was naturalized at the County Courthouse. The leaders of the school took advantage of the opportunity to teach patriotism and to honor the little new American citizen. Joe was born in Korea. Joe held the flag which the children saluted and they sang "God Bless America."

Further evidence of the success of the school was the attendance of children not of our faith. Nearly half of those who attended were from families that had made contact through the Church Welfare Service. Parents of the visiting children attended the closing program nearly 100 per cent. Children from four of these families wish to attend our Sabbath school and the parents asked Elder Turner if it would be all right. The church accepts the challenge to follow the lead into the homes of these children and their parents that the Vacation Bible School may prove to be successful as an entering wedge into soul-winning.

Vacation Bible School

The Junction City church closed its Vacation Bible School on Thursday evening with a program of music and memory work. Forty-eight children were enrolled, twelve of which were of our faith. Elder and Mrs. Geer were in charge, while Mrs. Hazel Unterseher had charge of crafts. After ten days it was a tired group of teachers who were happy for the good work accomplished for Christ.

Montana

And Ye Shall be Witnesses For Me

Here are some of the expressed witness statements of those who attended the Montana camp meeting. This camp meeting has meant much to all of us, and through the preached sermons and God's Spirit working on our hearts, here are some of the resulting feelings and attitudes.

"The main theme and sense of most meetings has been 'this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness . . . and then shall the end come.' Perhaps we have failed by living not Christ-like lives in our home and our communities. I have realized since coming here that it takes more than words but we must 'give the gospel in our lives.'" M. P.

"It has been two years since I accepted the Adventist doctrine and since that time I have given hundreds of Bible studies. And not until last Monday night did I become a Christian. I learned that the most important test of our love for God is the love we have for all others. We visited the home of a Mormon lady a few days ago and realized that we were not visiting Mormons, Catholics or agnostics. We are visiting the children of God and as Dr. Bietz said, 'If we realize that love is more important than doctrine . . . our churches will become as they should be—love centers!'" M. B.

"Since accepting the truth in 1908, I have missed possibly one camp meeting. This has been the most inspirational of them all. From night to night, Elder Bietz has been holding before us the core of Christian living, that the life of God must possess us and that the truth must become a living experience if it is to be our salvation. We are told about righteousness by faith by Elder Bietz and it is the desire of my heart to enter into this life. I pray that we might live the kind of life the God wants us to live." A. R.

And this is the prayer of all our hearts. We thank God for His blessing us so abundantly through this camp meeting in Montana.

GEORGE E. TAYLOR

Ordination of Edmund Jones

Our hearts were solemnized on July 2, the first Sabbath of the Montana camp meeting, as we witnessed the ordination to the gospel ministry of Brother Edmund Jones. Elder Jones began his service with the organized work of God eight years ago in Alaska. After spending three years in that mission field he was invited to connect with the work in Montana where he has labored successfully ever since. In the beautiful little city of Sidney, Montana, recently he and Brother Curtis Dale and their wives held a series of meetings and nine precious souls were brought to Christ and into church fellowship through their untiring efforts. A Sabbath school of twenty-five members was also established.

Edmund Jones is welcomed to the gospel ministry by Elder George E. Taylor. Also in picture are Elders C. A. Scriven and V. G. Anderson.

A study, showing the privileges and joys of the gospel ministry, was presented by Elder A. L. Bietz of the White Memorial Church, Los Angeles, California. This was followed by Elder C. A. Scriven, giving the charge which pointed out the responsibility of one who gives his life wholly to God. Elder V. G. Anderson, visiting from Washington, D. C., offered the prayer which closed with the laying on of hands in accordance with the instruction found in God's Word. The official welcome was extended by Elder G. E. Taylor, conference president, after which all the ordained ministers who were present shook Brother Jones' hand in Christian fellowship. The joy of Christian love and the fellowship of kindred minds is like to that above was the witness that was given in song as the congregation joined in singing, "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love."

Our prayers and love will continue in behalf of Elder and Mrs. Jones and family as they go forth in fuller service for God and to tell their fellowmen of the soon coming of Jesus.

Teachers Are Needed

There is an urgent need for elementary teachers in Montana. We need at least four qualified teachers at the present time. These schools will not be able to open unless we can find competent, qualified teachers. For more information write to: Education Department, Box 743, Bozeman, Montana.

Idaho

Another First

Rupert, Idaho, held their first Vacation Bible School June 6 through 16, with an enrollment of 38 and a record of almost perfect attendance.

Mrs. Cecil Loeffler served as director. Pastor David Watts of the district was in charge of the juniors, Mrs. Walter Sanada and Mrs. Waldo Fletcher were in charge of the primary division and Mrs. Jay Throckmorton led out with the kindergarten. Other teachers were Mrs. Louise Cole, Mrs. Stella Barnes and Mrs. Ella Wall.

On Saturday night, June 18, the final exercises were held, with most of the parents of the non-Adventist children in attendance. By far the majority of the students were from non-Adventist homes. We are trusting that through this method of evangelism, seeds will be sown which will ultimately produce souls baptized into the church for the kingdom of God.

Gem State Academy

Construction has begun on the new Gem State Academy campus located three and one-half miles southwest of the present campus. Elder M. E. Smith, the builder of Mt. Ellis Academy, is in charge of the construction of the academy on the new campus. With a rich background of educational experience Brother Smith is eminently qualified for the construction of educational buildings.

The new campus will comprise fifteen acres of land in the midst of the academy farm overlooking the beautiful Boise Valley. Adequate space will be available for roads, parking area, and campus.

Because of the academy building project there will be excellent work opportunities for young men who will be in attendance at Gem State Academy. Not only will the young men be able to defray a good portion of their school expenses, but they will also be able to gain valuable experience and knowledge in construction work. After they have completed their schooling at the academy they will be able to find remunerative jobs during the summers to help them meet their expenses for a college education. Then if they are called to the mission fields for overseas service in the Lord's work, they will be well qualified to supervise the construction of schools, hospitals, and churches in mission lands.

If there are any individuals with building experience who owe accounts at Gem State Academy, it would be greatly appreciated if they would help in the construction work in order to clear up their debts at the school. Those who will be able to do this should write to Elder M. E. Smith, Gem State Academy, Caldwell, Idaho.

Please pray that our heavenly Father will bless and guide in all our plans and work in the re-building of the academy.

generally supervise the health and safety program of the school family. A small health center has been added on the main floor of the administration building.

Socially, we are interested that all young men and women develop into good citizens for the community and for the cause of God. Many social functions are held during the school year which lend themselves to the development of the social graces.

With sound, healthy bodies, keen minds that are eager to learn, and hearts filled with gratitude and willingness to do God's will, why shouldn't it be said of our youth as it was of the Master Teacher: "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." Luke 2.52.

For this purpose and this cause, WWCA dedicates itself in providing superior education for the constituency in the Walla Walla Valley. We invite the youth in our area who have an earnest desire to take advantage and make the most of what we have to offer, to submit your application today.

Surely God has been good to us and we look forward to a pleasant and profitable school year. Won't you pray with us that God's will may be fully accomplished in all that we do?

In the Health Careers Dreams Can Become Realities

Choosing a health career is a big decision because it is more than a job. It is a point of view, a way of looking at life—your own life and the lives of the people you see and serve. In a health career you will have a part in helping to make the world a happier and healthier place. At Walla Walla College, training for such careers may begin.

Whether you want a special preparation which requires an education that takes a year or a longer one which takes several years, there are opportunities for you in the health careers.

Pre-professional courses are a strong part of Walla Walla College offerings. Pre-medical, pre-dental, pre-optometry, pre-pharmacy, and pre-hygiene courses are available.

In the forty-eighth commencement exercises of the College of Medical Evangelists the weekend of June 5, thirty-one WWC graduates received advanced degrees. Doctor of Medicine degrees went to sixteen and Doctor of Surgery degrees went to thirteen WWC alumni. The many professional men and women around the world who have taken their foundation work in scientific study at Walla Walla College are witnesses to the excellence of scientific training available.

Professional Nursing

More people are engaged in nursing and in services related to nursing than in any other group of health occupations. Yet the demand for their services continues to be greater. For bedside nurses, administrators, teachers in nursing or health educators, opportunities are legion and varied. With advances in science and medicine, nurses are needed who can meet challenges in the healing arts. Walla Walla College is one of the pioneers in collegiate nursing in our denomination. Hundreds of its graduates have found opportunities in bedside nursing, nursing specialties, leadership positions in nursing, education, health education, and overseas service.

Practical Nursing

Practical nursing is an expanding field. Those who may not want to take the extensive preparation necessary for professional nursing, but who do want to contribute their services to the nursing team may consider this branch of nursing. They have an important share in the care of the sick, the prevention of illness, and working under the direction of a physician or nurse. The demands for their services are increasing. Walla Walla College offers a one-year course for those interested in this worthwhile position.

No one person stands alone in the health team. Medical technologists, X-ray technicians, join with practical and professional nurses and health educators for service.

Obituaries

Knigh—Zula Elizabeth Knight fell asleep in Christ on the afternoon of May 20, 1960. She was born Nov. 9, 1889, in Missouri. Sister Knight was dearly beloved by all who knew her. Her life was a benediction and comfort to many as she sought to do what she could for her fellow travelers. Our sister awaits the great Life-giver in her resting place in beautiful Memory Gardens at Medford, Ore. Pastor John Trude conducted the final rites.

Summer Seniors Organize

Walla Walla College's largest summer session senior class organized July 12 with Dr. H. L. Rasmussen, academic dean, and Mrs. Irene Black, registrar, in charge.

The class of 64 members chose Art Bushnell, theology major, as president. Other officers are: LaVonne Ziprick, nursing major, vice president; Betty Penner, nursing major, secretary-treasurer; Clyde Mundy, theology major, chaplain; Knut Jensen, mathematics major, sergeant-at-arms.

Commencement events for this large group will be held the weekend of August 19 and 20. The senior consecration service is set for Friday evening at 8 o'clock with Elder B. M. Preston, Sabbath school and public relations secretary of the North Pacific Union, as speaker. Giving the baccalaureate sermon at the Sabbath 11 o'clock service will be Elder A. J. Gordon, president of the Idaho Conference. Dr. A. H. Grauman of Seattle will deliver the commencement address at the 8 o'clock graduation exercises Saturday evening. All appointments are in Columbia Auditorium.

Music Department Progress Revealed

For the Music Department of Walla Walla College, the school year 1959-60 was very successful. However, since one success is but a step to another, it takes continued planning to insure quality for another year's program. Hence it is that a school year hardly closes but that plans are well under way for the following year's work. There are such items as pianos and organs to be tuned, instruments to be repaired, and building rearrangements to be made in the face of continuing expansion. In addition comes the responsibility of planning next year's musical programs and ordering the necessary music.

Indications of a non-static program are also seen in staff additions. Professor J. J. Hafner, who has been the director of the entire instrumental program at Walla Walla College, will have Professor Lloyd Leno to help out with this monumental task. Professor Leno has already arrived in College Place and is currently inundated with the work of planning for the Concert Band and instruction in brass instruments. He comes to us with a fine background of musicianship having completed his master's degree at Columbia University and seven successful years at Union College. The constituents of the Northwest are well acquainted with Professor Leno since his academy and college days, as well as his first teaching position, were spent in this union.

To assist the equally large program of the choral and vocal department will come Miss Rae Constantine, instructor in voice. She has just received her Bachelor of Music Education degree from Emmanuel Missionary College and is presently pursuing graduate study at Wayne University in Detroit.

These additional teachers will greatly help in furthering the cause of great music so ably fostered by our present fine staff of musicians including Dr. S. K. Gernet, Professor of Music; Melvin W. Davis, Associate Professor of Music; Richard Randolph, Instructor in Music.

It is in the interest of each individual student under our care as well as providing musical enjoyment for all of those with whom we come in contact that we, the music teachers of Walla Walla College, endeavor to present "excellent music, excellently done" through the Christian means and environment provided by Walla Walla College.

Chairman, Music Department

Two Accepted for Medical Study

Two additional acceptances for WWC spring graduates by the School of Medicine, College of Medical Evangelists, were announced this week by Dr. R. H. Brown, Dean of Administration.

Tom Matthews, who received a B.A. degree with a major in Chemistry and a minor in Zoology, will be entering the fall class in medicine. Theodore Miller, whose degree was a B.S. with a major in Zoology, will also be a member of the same class.

Superior Education

Walla Walla College Academy is continuously studying ways to improve the quality of its educational program and to make it superior to public education in its spiritual foundations and training.

Again and again the Spirit of Prophecy indicates that "we take too narrow and too low a range" in our educational ideas and plans. We are obliged to study carefully to see if we are doing all we can to educate our youth properly, not only to meet the challenges of our ever-changing world but also to prepare them to live in it and help to fulfill God's purpose as a witness to the fearful age in which we live.

"Education for Life and Service" is our aim at WWCA. In order to accomplish this fully, love must be the basis of action by parents, students, and teachers. No sacrifice will then be too great to provide for our youth in our Christian schools where the Law of Love is not only the foundation but also the heart of the educational program.

Spirituality is not just a way of life; to a Christian it is life. To help our students develop Christian characters, we have planned that every student shall have a Bible class during one of the first two periods of each day. This, we believe, is really making first things first. It is also planned that our chapel periods shall be devoted to spiritual and character-building themes. All our club and student Association activities will also be planned to instill high ideals in the leadership of our youth. Sabbath school, MV meetings, and weeks of prayer will have a new look and life. These will be under the direction of the Student Association spiritual vice president in counsel with the faculty Spiritual Emphasis Committee.

Scholastically WWCA is offering a new curriculum this fall. It is designed to help select a four-year program that will best fit a student into the various degree programs offered at college. Such a choice, now possible, will, we feel, help reduce the drop-outs both on the academy and the college levels.

Four types of courses are to be offered, namely; the Academic for those planning science, mathematics, engineering, and medical careers; the Practical and Fine Arts for those who are planning careers in the fields of English, history, or theology; the Vocational for those interested in business, food and nutrition, industrial education, nursing, and medical technology. The General Secondary will be geared for those who do not plan to go on to college but rather to enter a trade. Units required will range from 20 to 23 and an average of C-plus is required to stay within each of the upper courses.

Every preparation is being made, not only to develop the body physically, but to instill a thorough knowledge of health and good living. In compliance with state regulations, every student, before he is enrolled, must have a medical checkup by his family doctor. A school health consultant has been added to our staff. She will follow up the physical examinations, will teach the health classes, and will
