Elder H. M. S. Richards talks with Mrs. Ed Sohm and Mrs. R. R. Laing at the Oshawa, Ontario, camp meeting.

And the Church Burned Down . . .

Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Laing of Toronto, Canada, decided to move to an area where there were no Seventh-day Adventists, which would give them an open field for missionary work. So they began to look around in northern Ontario. They had $8,000 to spend on a new home. They found just the place, a 350-acre farm with a 40-acre lake on it; but the owner wanted $16,000. So they passed it up. Disappointed, they went back to Toronto; only to receive a long distance call a few days later, offering them the farm for $8,000.

When they moved up there they found living nearby a pleasant little lady—Mrs. Ed Sohm—who was unhappy with her own church, because it no longer preached the Bible as the absolute word of God. About 20 years before, she had taken a Voice of Prophecy Bible course, and had been praying that God would send her information about the true Church. Then the Laings moved in. Now they are studying the Bible with her.

A short time ago Mrs. Sohm prayed that God would help her break away from her old church, without hurting anyone's feelings. —The church burned down! Mrs. Sohm plans to be baptized soon. Dr. and Mrs. Laing are now holding Sabbath and week-night prayer meetings in their home every week.

Harry Anderson to Paint Faith for Today Picture

Another masterpiece from the brush of Harry Anderson will be completed soon when the veteran artist paints a portrayal of the Faith for Today soul-winning television ministry. Mr. Anderson has been giving careful study to the slant for the picture for the last several months. He has completed a preliminary sketch and is now working on the painting.

Conferring together about the preliminary painting highlighting Faith for Today's ministry are David Vanderwilt, Faith for Today Art Department Director, and Harry Anderson, noted artist. Vanderwilt visited with Anderson at the latter's home in Ridgefield, Connecticut, recently about the painting. Anderson has expressed determination to make the Faith for Today painting one of his best artistic works.

The picture will depict a family watching Faith for Today with Christ behind the television set, giving blessing to the scene. On the television screen will be hands folded over a Bible, symbolizing the Faith for Today ministry that weekly enters millions of homes across North America and in nine overseas countries.

In the rustic setting of his New England home, Mr. Anderson commented: "I have always appreciated the Faith for Today ministry. I am glad for the opportunity to paint a picture that will demonstrate how effective television is in soul winning. I am hoping that the picture will inspire more viewers to watch Faith for Today."

Consulting closely with Mr. Anderson on the picture and giving preliminary sketch ideas has been David Vanderwilt, Art Department Director at Faith for Today. Mr. Vanderwilt has been giving thought to a Faith for Today picture for more than a year. Several months ago he brought plans to the House Committee at telecast offices. These plans were accepted and from them Mr. Anderson made his preliminary sketch.

Mr. Vanderwilt points out that this will be the first time that an artist has done a painting sketching the Faith for Today ministry. "We have used various pictures to highlight Faith for Today's outreach," Mr. Vanderwilt says, "but this represents the first time that we have had a painting specifically commissioned to highlight Faith for Today's ministry. Pictures used in the past were always obtained on second use basis."

The four-color painting, 30" by 30" in size, will hang in the lobby of Faith for Today. It will be featured in Teletones and also in Faith for Today's annual soul-winning brochure material.

Each day, all persons participating read the same verse from the Bible. Selections are printed in advance on bookmarks and distributed by the Society, without charge, to churches, hotels, libraries, stores, banks and to people who request them.

This year, the first selection will be Psalm I, to be read on Thanksgiving, and the last selection, to be read on Christmas, will be Luke 2:1-20. Different selections are listed for each day of the program.

Among the highlights of the observance are Bible Week, December 5 to 12, and the reading of the Christmas Story on Christmas Eve. Special booklets containing the Christmas Story are provided by the Society.

Those participating may use the Bible of their choice, in any translation or version. Because of the growth of the ecumenical movement in recent years, many more persons are expected to participate this year.

The Society, which will observe its 150th anniversary this spring, limits its activities to the translation, publication and distribution of the Bible, without note or comment, and the encouragement of its use.

The program originated in 1943 from a request by a lonely Marine stationed in the South Pacific. He wrote his parents asking them to join him in daily reading of identical verses selected from the Bible. Together they would be able to maintain a true spiritual bond although thousands of miles apart. His mother, recognizing the tremendous spiritual hunger which must be experienced by many servicemen throughout the world, called the Society's office to share the idea. Thus Worldwide Bible Reading was born.

The Society's officers enlisted the active cooperation of churches across the country to bring this idea to the families in their congregations. In time, shared Bible reading between home and foxhole grew to worldwide proportions, and in the years following, people in other countries have joined in this Bible reading program between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Bookmarks are available by writing the American Bible Society, 450 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022. Also a booklet containing the Christmas Story may be obtained without charge from the same source. In quantity, the booklets cost $3 per hundred.

Title 3—THE PRESIDENT

Proclamation 3663

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, 1965

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

Losses by fire—especially those resulting from fires which could have been prevented—constitute a tragic waste of human and material resources.

Much of this waste is avoidable. Community fire prevention programs, effectively conducted, have contributed substantially to local and national development by reducing sharply the number of destructive fires.

Further progress can be made if every individual recognizes his responsibility for eliminating fire hazards and for participating in community fire prevention programs and related activities.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning October 3, 1965, as Fire Prevention Week.

I bid all citizens to support and promote the fire prevention and control efforts of their respective community fire departments. I urge State and local governments, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the American National Red Cross, and business, labor, and farm organizations, as well as schools, civic groups, and public information agencies to observe Fire Prevention Week, to provide useful fire safety information to the public, and to enlist the active participation of all citizens in year-round fire prevention programs. I also direct the appropriate Federal agencies to assist in this effort to reduce the needless waste of life and property caused by preventable fires.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 14th day of July in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-five, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninetieth.

LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Birthday

Excuse me---

But haven't you had a birthday recently? One thing is certain—you have had one in the last twelve months, and if our Heavenly Father permits, you will have many more.

Birthday time is remembering time. Our friends remember us and often honor us with special greetings, telegrams or a kindly gift. Remember the inward glow that comes when being remembered?

Yes, from the cradle to the rocking chair, the joys of birthday are ever with us—reminding us of God's continuing love and care. Those who love the Lord the most, love also to give as well as receive on birthday occasions. How fitting that on these special days we express our heartfelt gratitude for heaven's blessings by a gift to the Lord. Remember—"These birthday gifts are recognized of Heaven."

Exemptions, Deferments and Classifications

The purposes of the information provided by the registrant in the questionnaires from the draft board are to sort out those who are to be exempted, deferred, or drafted. This process of sorting goes on continually according to the needs of the moment for manpower in the Armed Forces of the United States.

The exemptions from the draft would include: certain elected officials of the government on federal, state, or local level; a sole surviving son in a family in which a son or daughter was killed in war; those already in military service; ministerial students or ministers.

A deferment from induction may be granted under certain conditions. These would include: students in school at any level; engineers, teachers or others engaged in an occupation or work essential to the national interest, safety, or welfare; married men, especially those with dependents; those not meeting the current standard for physical, mental, or moral standards.

A registrant who is given a classification that he does not consider correct, or who is denied a deferment, may appeal the decision of the draft board if he notifies the draft board of his appeal within 10 days of the date the communication from the draft board was placed in the mail. Additional time is given in the case of registrants residing overseas.

Only registrants in the I-A and I-A-O classifications are drafted into the Armed Forces. The law provides that the oldest available man among the registrants in a draft board must be drafted before younger men; however, those delinquent in their Selective Service responsibilities and those requesting immediate induction are

Washington Personnel Changes

The acceptance by Elder and Mrs. Bob Seamount of a mission appointment set in motion a chain reaction which is reflected in the actions taken by the Conference Committee a few days ago. Before the Committee completed its work, a number of transfers within the conference had been voted. In order to fill the vacancies within the conference, the following changes were made:

Elder L. W. Robison and family have moved to Oak Harbor where Elder Robison will be in charge of the Island district. Elder Larry Kurtz will move to Enumclaw as associate pastor in the Puyallup district in charge of the Enumclaw and Orting churches.

Elder D. L. Kindig is replacing Elder Kurtz, pastor of the Ballard church, and Brother C. L. Praye will become pastor of the Snoqualmie district which includes the Carnation, Issaquah, and Snoqualmie churches. Replacing Brother Praye at Federal Way will be Brother Ted Parks of Bellingham. To fill the vacancy of associate pastor at Bellingham, a call has been extended to Brother Robert Burt, a recent graduate of Andrews University. Brother Burt and his family have already arrived in the field and are getting settled in their new responsibility. Before attending Andrews University, Mr. Burt spent three and one-half years as singing evangelist in the Texas Conference. We welcome the Burts to our field.

Voice of Prophecy

It is good to occasionally look back over the way we have been traveling. Often this helps us to understand better how to plan for future endeavors. Just now we invite you to look back over the past thirty-five years and note the progress which has been made in every aspect of life. The work of the church shows remarkable advancement during this time.

One of the outstanding achievements has been the work of the Voice of Prophecy which began broadcasting just thirty-five years ago on one small station under the direction of Elder H. M. S. Richards. Elder Richards has continued to lead in the religious broadcasting world and today the Voice of Prophecy is one of the best-known and loved programs on the air. Thousands of people have made it a weekly practice to tune in each Sunday and listen to Elder Richards and the King's Heralds quartet. This has resulted in many thousands of conversions. Today the Voice of Prophecy is one of the major evangelistic programs of the church.

The way to expand the radio work is opening just as fast as money is available. This brings us to the realization that Sabbath, October 9, is Voice of Prophecy Day in all the churches of America. The need this year is as great as it has ever been and $350,000 must be raised if the Voice of Prophecy is to carry on as it should.

The 1966 budget calls for a church-offering income of $350,000. This is just one-sixth of the total operating expense, including a projected 81 new station outlets. We depend on you in radio's great search for souls, which is, dollar-for-dollar, your best soul-winning investment. Multitudes still wait for the light of God's presence in their homes, wait for the peace that trust in God can give. They can be reached through radio, but it will require the help of every member today.

"This year the challenge is for every man, woman, and youth, every boy and girl to give to the Seventh-day Adventist radio broadcast a multiple of thirty-five dollars, half-dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels or pennies. Fall Series of Meetings at Lake Forest Park

The Lake Forest Park Seventh-day Adventist church in northeast Seattle has received the unusual opportunity to use the auditorium in the new Lake Forest Park Shopping Center, corner of Bothell Way and Ballinger, for a presentation of religious subjects. Therefore, for the months of October and November, and the first part of December, we plan to sponsor a series of public meetings, each subject to be an answer to a question of current interest. We are inviting guest speakers who by training or experience would be able to present stimulating answers to questions such as: "Can a Scientific Mind Believe the Bible?" "What About the Ecumenical Movement?" "Will Our Present World Unite Under One Government?" "Why Do the Innocent Suffer?" "Where Can I Find Health?" "World Tension and Riots—What Do They Mean?" and many others.

The first meeting of this series will be Saturday night, October 2, 7:30 to 9:00, and will continue each Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday evenings for 10 weeks. If you know people in this area who would be interested in attending this series, or former Seventh-day Adventists who should be contacted, please notify the writer as soon as possible. We also solicit your prayers that this endeavor for the Lord will result in decisions for God and will create a favorable impression for our work in this area.

Monroe Vacation Bible School

Sixty-one boys and girls, over half non-Adventists, attended Vacation Bible School in Monroe, Washington, held August 22 to 26.

Mrs. John Huback was director for the school and was assisted by Mrs. Mona Bell, assistant director; Mrs. Mamie Rockwell, kindergarten; Mrs. Juanita Madke, primary; Mrs. Francis Sines, junior; and Mrs. Elaine Aberle, crafts. Mrs. Esther Aberle served juice and many others assisted in making the Bible School a success.

An extra special feature this year was pony rides which the children all enjoyed.

All sixteen Juniors have enrolled in the Voice of Prophecy Bible course and arrangements are being made for a meeting each week with Mrs. Francis Sines to help in the study of these lessons.

The closing program was well attended and appreciation was expressed by the parents of these children.

"Can You Help Me?"

A few evenings ago as the writer was preparing to leave the office for home, the phone rang and on the line was the wife of a businessman in the City of Seattle. She seemed most anxious for help. In fact, her first words were, "Can you help me stop smoking?" I assured her that with her cooperation we could help her break the habit. She said, "Can you do it today? I am desperate." She was assured that help had already come to her when she made her decision to stop smoking. She was advised to start immediately on fruit juices and plenty of fresh fruit. After assuring her that the 5-day plan was safe and highly successful, she revealed the real secret of her anxiety. She had stopped smoking for nine days and had been eating candy almost constantly for this period of time. Someone had told her she could break the habit by eating candy. Of course, this was poor counsel, and she failed in her effort and started smoking again. She became so discouraged by her failure that she began to make plans to take her life. This, of course, is what the enemy of souls wanted. A friend came to her rescue by suggesting that she try once more by calling "Smokers' Dial." She stated in her conversation that had the writer not answered the phone, she had the equipment necessary and the plans laid to take her life. Today this lady is on a sound program, has not touched tobacco in any form since our first telephone conversation, and states that she does not want it.

This experience serves anew to demonstrate that the world does not have the answer for the ills of mankind; and what a thin thread lives hang on. How thrilling it is to belong to an organization that has the answer to the world's problems. The Apostle Paul belonged to this same organization; he found the answer and gave it to us in Romans 7:25, "I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord."

EIGHT BIG SERVICES

FILLED WITH BLESSINGS FOR ALL — DON'T MISS ANY

a good school spirit is the staff. They are, as it were, the key that unlocks the rich storehouse that leads not only to an enriched learning process, but also to educational excellence and Christian character building.

From every angle the staff at Gem State Academy is professionally qualified. All instructors are college graduates and either have or are working towards their master's degrees and their teaching credentials. Furthermore, the staff is dedicated to the cause of Christian education and takes personal interest in each pupil which is greatly appreciated by both the students and patrons. As one mother put it, "I have visited all the academies in our Union and the friendly Christian understanding and fellowship that exists at Gem State just cannot be matched, and that is why I brought my boy here."

We sincerely hope and pray that every academy-age young person of the Idaho Conference is enrolled at Gem State Academy; but, you young people who, for some reason, may not be, don't you wish you were!

We rejoice and give thanks to God for the progress at our academy. This has come about only through the sacrificial giving and united efforts of both the patrons and the Conference.

We wish we could say, "Now all is finished;" but we can't! Additional housing for staff and students is needed, as well as a good vocational arts building. Won't you plan now to give a liberal offering on September 25 for Gem State Academy? God will bless you for it!

Mt. Ellis Academy News

◆Mrs. Josephine Cunningham-Edwards, denominational author-speaker, teacher of Spanish and history at Gem State Academy, was a Sabbath guest at Mount Ellis Academy, September 3 and 4, and spoke at Friday evening vespers on the topic, "Why I Love the Lord Jesus," and at the eleven o'clock service Sabbath morning on the question, "Have You Kept the Faith?"

◆Everet Witzel, M.D., graduate of '53, accompanied by his wife and two children, visited friends in the Mount Ellis community, Tuesday, August 31. Doctor Witzel, an instructor in the medical school of Loma Linda University, will be leaving with his family shortly to teach on loan from Loma Linda University for two years at the Vellore Christian Medical College in India.

◆As the enrollment at the Gallatin Valley church school numbers forty-four, it has been necessary to house the lower grades in an extra ground-floor room of the girls' dormitory and to remove the partition between the upper- and lower-grade rooms to accommodate the increased enrollment. Plans are being laid by both the Mount Ellis and the Bozeman churches to build a larger school. Teacher of the upper grades is Mr. Leslie Saylor who comes from Canada, while Miss Vivian Larson, a Montana native whose home is near Livingston, will continue with the lower grades for the third year.

◆The traditional Mount Ellis hike took place Wednesday, September 8. Classes were dismissed for the day and students and faculty, carrying lunches distributed at the base, began the ascent around 9 a.m. Carole Vining, junior, was the first girl to reach the top while James Jellison, freshman, was the first boy. All the seniors participated in the climb. First faculty to scale the top was Registrar Lowell Nelson. Kathy Way, Mable Page and Mr. Smith took pack horses to the top with water for the hikers.

◆Latest figures from Mr. Lowell Nelson, Registrar, reveal that Mount Ellis has 146 academy students so far. Of this number 27 are seniors, 47 are juniors, 36 are sophomores, and 36 are freshmen. There are 76 girls and 70 boys. The junior class is so large that it has had to be sectioned, and if this large membership continues through the senior year, it will be the largest graduating class in the history of the school.

◆The annual handshake, getting acquainted, was held Monday evening, September 6, in the academy chapel, after a short musical and novelty program presented by members of the faculty, the introduction of the student body officers and a message of welcome from the principal.

Evangelism in Ketchikan

One week of intensive evangelistic meetings is to be held in the Ketchikan, Alaska, Seventh-day Adventist church beginning September 25 through October 1.

Elder Kenneth Mittleider's opening subject will be, "A Good God, A Wicked Devil—Why?" If you have any relatives or friends, or know of any who should be visited during this series of meetings, please write immediately to Elder Bill Jensen, 2320 First Avenue, Ketchikan, Alaska.

We ask an interest in your prayers that these decision meetings will bring an abundant harvest.

Doctors and Ministers Study Mental Health

Three hundred fifty Seventh-day Adventist doctors and ministers studied mental health late in August at the church-owned Big Lake Youth Camp in the Cascades, east of Salem.

Purpose of the third annual Medical-Ministerial Retreat was to encourage ministers and doctors to regard man as an indivisible unit—whose "heart" affects his body and whose body affects his "heart." There were also recreational hours for the men and their families.

Featured speaker was Dr. Charles E. Wittschiede, professor of applied theology and mental health, Andrews University. Others were H. G. Stoehr, Walla Walla pastor, and Dr. Philip S. Nelson, medical director of the church's 16 hospitals, sanitariums, and clinics in Southern Asia.

"Shall We Divide the Patient Between Us?" was the topic under which Dr. Wittschiede outlined the tremendous need for trained personnel in mental health fields.

"It is readily agreed that at least 50 per cent of physical ills from which men suffer," Dr. Wittschiede pointed out, "have their origins in the emotions of the patient. Since ministers deal largely with emotions, they are by virtue of their calling 'doctors of the soul.'"

"Religion is no lifetime guarantee against mental illness, but it can make its occurrence less likely and any attack less severe and more quickly 'curable,'" Dr. Wittschiebe assured. "Healthy religion can play a great part in preventing emotional breakdowns and unhealthy religion can accelerate them," he said. "Mental illness can make even the Bible a dangerous book to read," he explained.

He called for ministers and doctors—especially psychiatrists—to work together in creating mutually acceptable interpretations of religion and mental health in order to work together more comfortably and successfully. He also gave guidelines to the ministers to present religion in a way that can prevent emotional illness rather than foster it.

Dr. Nelson is in the States to search for 28 doctors and dentists plus other medical personnel to fill current Asia needs. He described the physician in foreign service. Dr. Stoehr directed daily devotions.

"The World's Only Hope"

"Give, and It Shall Be Given Unto You; . . ."

Among the 33 persons that were baptized at the conclusion of the Knowles-Hiner evangelistic series held in our Sandy, Oregon, church this past May was a family of six who have little of this world's goods. About three weeks after the baptism, on one of my regular visits to their home, father and mother and four juniors in this new Christian home along with a younger brother were overjoyed as they told me of an incident they had just experienced.

The family had gone to the beach for a day's outing together. While there the children had gathered a large number of pop bottles and turned them in at a store for cash. When they counted the money they found that it totaled nearly $12.

One of the children suggested that it be given to help build the new church in Boring. Without hesitation they all agreed. Shortly after they had returned home from their beach trip, I called on them. When the children saw me they sang out, "Oh, Pastor, we have some money for the new church. We want you to build the new church with it!"

As I looked about their humble cottage, I realized there was a score of ways they could put this money to use for themselves. However, they were happier to give it to the Lord.

A sacrifice? No! A thrilling pleasure of joy to be able to give something for Jesus as they had prayed that the Lord would help them to be able to give something which they previously did not have to give. And they are still praying and giving offerings to Sabbath school and church because they always seem to receive an abundance of overflow blessings as a result of their prayers and their giving.

This experience is a simple demonstration of the kind of spirit that will help finish the work of the gospel and hasten the coming of Jesus.

Praying and giving go hand in hand. This fact is emphasized in the experience of Cornelius as related in Acts 10. It is said of him that he was "a devout man, and one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always."

He was told by an angel of God who appeared to him: "Thy prayers and thine alms are come up for a memorial before God."

Here is a challenge to each one of us to build a memorial before God with our prayers and our means.

We need never tire of being called on to give as the Lord has prospered us. Occasionally I hear someone say they wish there were not so many calls for money in the Sabbath school and in the church service. Jesus our Saviour gave and gave until He gave His life for you and me. He did not complain about too many calls for giving, did He?

Again I say, let us give proportionately as God has prospered us. We will in turn be blessed just as the promise Jesus made in Luke 6:38, "Give, and gifts will be given you. Good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over, will be dealt to you in return."

During the 20 years of my ministry I have seen the fulfillment of this promise not only in my own experience but in the lives of many of God's people.

Our Sabbath school leaders in the General Conference have seen the needs in the mission fields and have appealed to us to respond. With good leadership in our Sabbath schools to present these needs to our members, the response will be spontaneous and liberal.

Strong leaders in the Sabbath school who clearly present the needs of the mission field are important to the success of systematic giving on the part of the Sabbath school members.

This has been demonstrated in our Sandy church in every department of the Sabbath school. Not only in the regular Sabbath school offering, but in the Investment, thank, and 13th Sabbath school offerings as well. As the result this church is usually well up toward the top in their giving. Our Wemme Company, though small in membership is almost always right at the top.

Let us continue to pray and give for the finishing of the work and the hastening of the coming of the Lord.

Benghazi, Libya, is probably the farthest from home. Rod and Beverly Herbrandson came from Missouri where their father is director of a Job Corps Center.

Portland Union registered a record 228. Nine staff members are also new at this, the newest of conference-operated schools. At PUA, 49 are seniors; 60, juniors; 55, sophomores; and 65, freshmen.

Columbia's 220 students include 56 seniors, 51 juniors, 59 sophomores, and 54 freshmen. New cafeteria and language arts facilities are highlighting features for the new year.

At Milo 224 began the new term. Sixty-nine are seniors; 61, juniors; 48, sophomores; and 46, freshmen. Additional facilities for physical education instruction are being used.

Elementary registration indicates that last year's 2,711 enrollment will be surpassed. Illustrative of the trend is Portland Union Grade School with a total of 392—114 of whom are in the junior high section. The 1964 closing enrollment was only 366.

Clatskanie Home Coming

A copy of the Signs left on a Portland doorstep in the early 20's indirectly inspired the home coming of former members to the Clatskanie church this summer. Former pastors, Forest Grove members witnessed the first baptism ever to be held in any of their churches last month when Pastor George MacLean baptized nine new members. Such services in the past have been conducted in nearby rivers. With Pastor MacLean in the baptism is Jan Gibson. Standing below are Linda and Marilyn Powell, Leslie Jones, Mrs. and Mr. George Lewis, Judy Thierfelder, Mrs. D. S. Kime, Kent Boring, George Marsh, and Elder D. S. Kime—associate pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hall whose first contact with the church was through their son, Russell, attending first Sabbath school and then church school.

Elder Calvin Hartnell, now chaplain at Portland Sanitarium, and Elder N. C. Erntson assisted Intern-pastor George Thayer with special services.

The Signs left at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Cameron in Portland resulted in the baptism of the family of eight. One of the children, Mrs. Constance Jackson, reviewed the history of the church from her teenage days of being the only Seventh-day Adventist in Clatskanie to the organization of the church in 1932.

Tired of meeting in a union hall when the weather would not permit their Sabbath school to be held under their shade trees, the five baptized members, including only one man, purchased a shell of a church. Even the women did the shingling, replaced windows, and doors. Food sales netted an average $22 per month and met the monthly $20 payment.

Still not a large congregation, the present 33 members have contributed financially and personally to the finishing of the Lord's work as former members serve in all parts of the field.

Church School Wins Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hall wanted their son to have a Christian education. Although they were members of another Protestant church, they moved near Livingstone Junior Academy so that their son could attend church school. Their confidence in the Adventist educational program for children was gained as Mrs. Hall's aunt, a Seventh-day Adventist, took the Hall children to Sabbath school week by week. The Halls were amazed at the Bible knowledge being gained by their children in the Adventist Sabbath school.

When the Knowles-Hiner Evangelistic Team began meetings in Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Hall reasoned that a church that had so much to offer their children might also have something to offer adults. A deep interest developed in their hearts as the Halls came consistently every night. In order that he might keep the Sabbath, Mr. Hall found it necessary to sever his connections with a large firm where he had been employed for several years. He was confident that the Lord would lead him to other employment where he could keep the Sabbath.

Russell's younger brother and sister are looking forward to the day when they will be old enough to go to church school. In the meantime, the parents and three children are enjoying the Sabbath school where they are gaining the preparation which we all need to enter the kingdom of God.
