Telling vs Keeping Still

Have you heard of Jesus' love?

Tell it, tell it again.

Has light come to you from above?

Tell it, tell it again.

Have you been cleansed from every sin?

Doth Jesus sweetly dwell within?

Do you each day some victories win?

Tell it, tell it again.

Do you enjoy His peace and rest?

Tell it, tell it again.

By trusting God have you been blessed?

Tell it, tell it again.

Do you rejoice from day to day,

And follow Jesus all the way?

And is it sweet to thus obey?

Tell it, tell it again.

Are you discouraged, blue or sad?

Keep still about it then

Should you, perchance, feel very mad,

Keep still about it then.

Should friendliness all disappear,

Should slander ever reach your ear,

Should you by chance some gossip hear,

Keep still about it then.

Another Opportunity

The apostle James addressing the "brethren" says, "Count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations." This epistle is for the "brethren" in the last days. He continues, "Take my brethren, the prophets who have spoken in the name of the Lord for an example of suffering, affliction and of patience. Behold we count them happy which endure, ye have heard of the patience of Job and have seen the end (object or purpose) of the Lord."

It is evident that the people who speak in the name, and by the authority of God in the last days will have similar losses and trials to meet which Job experienced. Naught but a living faith will lead one to say as did Job, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

In every experience of special trial in the loss of property and bodily affliction we have another opportunity to test our faith and try the gold in our characters. Such an experience comes to our people in the burning of the Pacific Press.

In a private letter from C. H. Jones I quote:—

"With reference to finances, would say that if we can collect our insurance we are still solvent. Briefly stated, our buildings were insured for $100,000. Our property in Oakland, still unsold, and unincumbered, is worth $60,000. Books, etc., on deposit in Kansas City and Portland will amount to about $30,000. Then we have our real estate and boarding house here in Mountain View, valued at about $10,000. Then there are bills receivable amounting to $20,000 or $30,000. So that if our property not in use can be sold and money due us all collected, we will still have over $200,000, which will more than cover our indebtedness. The money which we have borrowed belongs to our people excepting about $20,000 due the bank.

So we do not anticipate any run on the institution. But now where is the money coming from with which to rebuild? It may be some time before we can collect the insurance. We have thought that perhaps our people would respond in this our time of need. We know that the printed page is one of the most effective agencies in getting the truth before the people. Satan has come down with great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time. We can but believe that this destruction is the work of Satan, but of course for some good reason God permitted it. We want to learn the lesson.

We recall the case of Elijah, when the Lord said: "Go forth, and stand upon the mount before the Lord." And, behold, the Lord passed by, and a great and strong wind rent the mountains and break in pieces the rocks before the Lord; but the Lord was not in the wind, and after the wind an earthquake; but the Lord was not in the earthquake; and after the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire; and after the fire a still small voice."

We are listening for the still small voice, and believe we shall be guided by it to right conclusions. We want your counsel, and we want an interest in your prayers.

If twenty persons could be found who would give five thousand dollars each, that would make one hundred thousand dollars. Then if fifty persons could be found who would give one thousand dollars each, this would put our plant right back where it was before the fire, and we could go right ahead with our work. We have learned something in the matter of building, and could put up a very economical building in a very short time. Within three months we think we could be running again in full force.

Eight thousand dollars have been donated, and we have received offers from quite a number to loan money without interest.

Our people have just been called upon to help us out from the effects of the earthquake, and we hardly dare to call again, and so simply offer this suggestion, though we cannot but believe that God will move upon the hearts of our people everywhere to respond in this hour of trial."

There are a sufficient number of Seventh-day Adventists whom the Lord has entrusted from ten to fifty thousand dollars or more who could respond to this call with from one to five thousand dollars and quickly replace this loss and equip the Press in better shape than before the earthquake or fire.

We must have a number such persons in the Northern Union Conference whom God has blessed that they might be a blessing. Who will be first to respond? You can report to the writer, the General Conference, or Pacific Press.

A Word from Manitoba

After the camp meeting in Minnesota which it was my privilege to attend, I went to Bowden, N. D., to help in the German camp meeting. The weather was everything but pleasant, yet the people kept coming, until, as already reported, the goodly number of about 500 was present. The Lord witnessed to His word by His Holy Spirit, and a time of refreshing from the Lord was enjoyed by all. My time was mostly spent with the young people, of whom there were many. The tent was too small to accommodate all that desired to attend. What a power these young people will be when their life is fully devoted to God and this last message of love, and the time of refreshing has come from the presence of God. My mind was called to the experience of King Ahab, where 232 of the young men were called by the Lord to defeat the thirty-three united Kings with their forces. What a victory was gained in the name of the Lord! I Kings 20. Dear reader so it will be in the near future. The last days of the feast were the best, the Lord came near to His people, and about fifteen of the young people gave their hearts to the Lord.

From here Elder Haffner and the writer crossed the line into Canada, where we visited several of the churches. Having but a short time that we could spend in this way, we had to cut our visits short. Elder Haffner visited four companies in all. The Lord gave power to his word and hearts were made glad in their Redeemer.

As God is working to save His people, the enemy of all good is at hand to do His work, this we had to see in marked ways, but the truth of God, founded on the Third Angel's Message, will go its way triumphantly until Jesus comes from heaven to make an end of all controversy.

We have now begun tent meetings in Winnipeg, a city with many German speaking people. We have held a few meetings with a fair attendance. As the Dominion Exhibition is on this week we have reason to expect that our meetings will not be attended very largely. North Dakota has kindly given us the help of Brother and Sister Kurtz for which we are very thankful. We need a strong force in this place to do effective work.

We desire the prayers of you, dear reader, that God may give wisdom and power, that the truth for this time may be presented in a way that hearts will be led to the Lamb of God.

Our address is 740 Alexander Ave., Winnipeg, Man., Can.

Center

Our tent is located about eleven miles south of Winfred and nine miles north of Salem, near a little place called Center.

The first meeting was held Friday evening, July 20, so we have been here just a week. The attendance has been fair so far, though harvest is just at hand and we realize we have come in what is by no means the most favorable time for meetings in the country.

There is a large Swedish settlement here and our meetings are all conducted in that language. We feel very sure that the Lord has a people in this place and are exceedingly anxious that the truth may be presented in such a way that the honest in heart may be reached.

We earnestly desire to see the cause of God triumph and a company brought out to the glory of His name. To this end we pray and labor.

The Canvassing Work

I expect it is about time I was sending you a little report of my work or you will think we are all dead over here.

I will say I have been out with the boys in the field the past month and have had some splendid experiences. Some of the younger workers found the work going a little hard, but in all but one or two instances we had good success while out. Our sales per day or a little more than a day ran from eight dollars to twenty dollars, this taking the territory just as we came.

I went out with one young man just east of Sioux Falls and in a little less than one day we took eighteen dollars and twenty-five cents. I find nearly all of good courage and they are determined to push the battle to the gates.

A few are walking and as the houses are far apart it makes it very hard. We have been trying to get some kind of a conveyance for them but so far have not succeeded but hope to soon. We have some more good things that we will send in a little later on.

W. L. MANFUL.

The South Dakota Academy

On our return from the Educational Convention, at which we enjoyed a pleasant and very profitable occasion, we were glad for the privilege of stopping over night at our Industrial Academy.

The crops are looking well and we have prospects of a very good crop this year. At a meeting of the executive committee of the school board several items of importance were considered. It was decided to build a double corncrib at once, so it can be used in the early fall for drying the crop of broom corn. It is to be erected northeast of the barn.

The need of knowing whether each line of industry pays its own expenses, etc., was considered and it was decided to keep a separate account of each industry, that we may know the expense, in time and money, that it takes to operate each department and then by comparing the cost with the returns received from each department we will know whether each is making a gain or a loss to the school. We believe all will see the advantage gained in this plan.

There is an excellent prospect for a large tomato crop and while we had 5,000 empty cans on hand we have ordered 7,000 more from the factory to be shipped at once.

We have already made arrangements to dispose of more than 9,000 cans of this year's crop at quite an advance above last year's prices. These are sold to merchants.

Knowing that many of our members would be glad to obtain some of these canned tomatoes it was decided that all orders received by August 10 will be honored at $1.10 per dozen cans, in two or more dozen, case lots.

Our Church Schools

There is no other subject in which the parents among Seventh day Adventists are as deeply interested as that of their children. No one who appreciates the dangers that threaten our youth can fail to have a special care for them. The world has thrown open its doors of pleasure, wealth and fame and beckons our youth to enter and satisfy the natural longings of the youthful imagination. The sad fact is that so many of the brightest and most promising are responding to these worldly calls.

To a great extent we, who are older, are to blame. We have not manifested the care for them, nor laid the plans for their safety that God has expected of us. Think of the child in tenderest years sent away from the home of Christian influences, where the Bible is honored and respected, to hear the vilest words from the lips of other children, and even have the teacher manifest no interest in its spiritual development. In this fertile soil yet unoccupied, the seeds of sin and infidelity are sown, springs forth and bears its legitimate fruit unless by the special operation the "weeds" are uprooted and truth sown in its place. As we see the course our young people take can we wonder at it?

How many earnest prayers are offered to God by father and mother whose hearts are breaking because of the waywardness of their children! Let me ask, Is it not time that we do something besides pray? God expects us to watch and work to answer our own prayers.

The Lord has instituted the church school work among us. What has been our attitude toward His plan for the preservation of the dear children? Do not cease your praying but take hold of God's appointed agency and work together with Him and our crying shall be turned into song and our sorrow to rejoicing.

When God becomes sufficiently in earnest in a matter to send special instruction it ought to elicit most earnest thought and devoted co-operation on our part with the author of this instruction. God has plainly spoken on this point. Please read Test. Vol. 6, pages 192-205. These are God's words and we cannot afford to pass them by idly.

We may have made mistakes in the past and our work may have proved, in many instances, almost a failure. But the fault is with us not with God. Let no one dare to charge the failure up against Him. God surely will and does repudiate the charge.

There are causes why this work has not always been what was expected and there are methods if fully adopted will prove successful. These we will consider another time. In the meantime let us begin, under the counsel of God, to plan for a school the coming year.

To our brethren in South Dakota I would say, Quite a number have already made definite arrangements for their school but I am sure that others are waiting putting it off a little longer and still expect to come into line. Please send in your request at once and we shall do the very best we can to furnish you with a teacher, who, under the direction of God and your co-operation, will teach a successful school for you.

Notes from the Canvassers

Hansine Larson—Canvassing work is a blessing and I praise God to-day that He has given me a part in it. I will mention one experience which has especially taught me a lesson. As I was almost to the end of a street I saw a little house far out, and though it was almost time to go home I thought I ought to canvass it. I tried to find excuses but it seemed as though God wanted me to go and I went. I met a lady who first told me she did not want any books, but after a moments talk I gave her a canvass and she became so interested. She said she had read the Bible over and over again but could not understand it. She was trying to be good but did not know how to become a Christian. I explained these things as best I knew and I know God will bless. He wants us to be His messengers. I will go where He wants me to go.

John P. Glenbin—I again send you my report. It is real good for the chance I've had, having so many other things to contend with. I hope to do better in the future with the Lord's help. I am of good courage and may this find you so.

Gutsena M. O. Bakke—I have been working here in Spring Valley and am very glad in my work. I am thankful to God for a place among those who are looking for a soon-coming Saviour. I know that the only way to get success is by consecrating ourselves to God; and it my earnest desire to give myself to my dear Jesus. I know that He will help me to go forward telling the people that "the end is near."

Harvey Jensen—I have nothing but encouragement to write for the Lord is surely doing wonders here in Clark County. If He wants to use me to sell books I am perfectly willing. This has been my best week yet.

Olive La Fave—I have met some very nice people and so far have not had a cross word spoken or a door closed against me. Though some are much opposed to our literature others are glad to get it, and are thankful for more light. Others take the book because it is interesting though they say they do not believe. Many who take "Coming King" already have "Great Controversy" and "Heralds" and own the truth they teach.

Glen Hodson—Though my report is small I have had some good experiences and am of good courage. The territory in which I have been working is thinly settled and the people hard to reach. Although this may look discouraging we are bound to meet difficulties, and must do as we sometimes sing, "Look on the sunny side of every cloud, and see something good in everything."

As shown in the reports, and in these notes, God is blessing in the work in South Dakota. We shall hear from others next week.

St. Cloud, German

Sunday and Monday, July 22 and 23, I was called up to St. Cloud to assist in the German interest. We held a German meeting Sunday afternoon. There are a few Germans that are interested in the truth, two have taken their stand for God. We called on them Monday and had some real interesting visits.

The interest is quite good. Several among the English have taken their stand also. Brother Ewert has gone home to attend to harvesting on his farm.

A. W. KUEHL.

I have been at this place five days. We have had a profitable season holding meetings and visiting. One sister was baptized and united with the church. Two members were received into church fellowship. Church and Sabbath school officers were chosen. The meetings closed to-day, July 23, with the communion service. How good it is to meet with our brethren when we all believe the same and have the same blessed hope! We were truly blessed of God at this place. To-day I go to other appointments, praying the Lord to help me.

A. MEAD.

Alexandria

Since camp meeting I have visited the following places: Morris, Sebeka, Wadena, and Fergus Falls.

In company with Brother Ruble I went to Morris to look over the ground and become acquainted with the work as it had been planned that Brother Clark from South Dakota should join me in a tent effort. We were disappointed in getting him so this plan had to be abandoned, although the people of Morris seemed ready to hear the message.

At Sebeka we have a small company of believers who hold Sabbath school in their homes. The Methodist church was secured and I held a few public meetings with good interest and expect to return and continue them.

At Wadena I found most of our people away on claims but had a good visit with Sister Green who was baptized at our late camp meeting.

Having been elected elder of the Fergus Falls church, I visited that place in company with Elder Shaw who remained over Sabbath ordaining me and giving valuable instruction to the church which was much appreciated by them. I remained the next week holding meetings and visiting. On the following Sabbath baptized seven, five of whom were newly added members. We also held the ordinance service in the afternoon with a large attendance.

I hope to be remembered by the REAPER family.

A Letter to Our Canvassers

I have been watching with much interest as well as pleasure the progress of the canvassing work since the opening of the campaign in the spring, and am sure that no human tongue can protrait nor the keenest mind conceive the great results which may come from the efforts you may put forth within a single year.

Now be on the lookout. You see, having marched forward successfully hitherto through the first part of the summer's campaign, there comes a feeling that we would like a rest—the weather is hot and the farmers are busy, trade is a little dull, good wages are offered harvest hands, and the canvasser may feel the spirit of the season creeping over him, but this is where a great mistake may be made. Don't listen to these temptations, just gird on your courage and if you haven't much courage, hunt some, and press to the front like Gideon's three hundred at the siege of Moreh Hill.

I have known many canvassers to start in well taking orders, week after week, until they had a good list of names, and then it would seem to them that it would seem nice to take a vacation before their delivery, and from that time on their efforts were fruitless. Others would not harbor such a thought but plunged into the work and allowed nothing to switch them off, carried the day. In twenty years I have not seen one failure where the canvasser would stick to his knitting with the whole being centered on that one important business. When Gideon called his army to the field they numbered 32,000, but they had been in the field but a short time till ninety-nine out of every hundred of them struck out for home; and when Gideon got the working force together on the bank of a creek on a very important morning, there were but three hundred left. Yes sir, its a real fact, it says so in Judges seven. It looked pretty discouraging, but there was a work to be done; and it just must be done or Israel could not have their liberty. God had told Gideon to lead out in it, but only three hundred persons in the whole denomination were willing to stick to it till it was done. A hundred had started, and there was now but one. But the Lord said, "By the three hundred that lapped will I save you," and He did. This is victory.

Let nothing impede your onward course even though our goodly Publishing House in Mountain View has been swept away by the burning flame. God still lives and reigns. In His providence He has spared enough books to fill orders for a long time yet, and our canvassers need not fear of being left without books. Let this glorious cause move forward, and may this calamity that we do not understand, only be an incentive for us to rally to the standard; and God will say, "With these I will finish my work and bring deliverance."

H. S. SHAW.

Do You Want an Education?

We sincerely wish that every young man and woman, as well as every parent in Minnesota, might have enjoyed the privilege afforded those who attended the "epoch making" convention recently held at College View.

Such was the spirit pervading the services and the deliberations of the convention, that every teacher felt as never before the exalted position he might occupy as a Seventh-day Adventist teacher, and as having an important part to act in the actual advancement of the message. Every minister and every worker from the field received new courage from the attitude of the educational workers, and the evident approval of the Spirit of God.

The plans discussed and resolutions adopted cannot but result in an increased efficiency of our schools, a larger attendance, a better preparation, and a more thorough consecration of teachers and students, leading to a much greater zeal and activity in the King's business.

Much has been written and will be written concerning the convention. Do not fail to read every obtainable thing about the meeting. Its results are yet future, and we have a part in bringing them about. Of this we are assured; our responsibility lies in relating ourselves in the right way to this forward movement, by responding to the call of God to us. The spirit which dominated that gathering will work, yes, even now is working, upon the hearts of our young people, and will, if followed, lead them into fields of usefulness which perhaps they have never imagined.

My brother, my sister, has the call come to you? It will if it has not. Do not put it aside as if of little importance, but answer, Lord I have heard thy call, "What wilt thou have me to do?" Do you feel that your privileges of gaining an education have been limited or neglected? Do not despair. There is still a place for every willing servant in the Master's harvest field.

If you feel the need of more schooling, it is time now to begin to plan in earnest to attend some of our schools this fall. Unless you are prepared for regular college work, by all means attend an intermediate school or academy, where the same advantages may be had at less expense and perhaps more thorough work done because of the smaller size of the classes.

We are sure that there are a number of young people in our conference whose hearts have been filled with a desire to better equip themselves for labor, by a year or two at school, and yet whose home circumstances are such they have not the necessary means. Perhaps there are those whose help is required at home during those months where they might, but for that fact, be earning their scholarship. There are brothers and sisters who have, during the past two years, interested themselves in such cases, and several young people have been given their schooling in part or in whole this way.

Are there not others of our brethren who could easily give or loan to young people the necessary funds? Can not the Academy act as a middleman to place those in need in touch with those able and willing to supply the need? May I not hear from those interested in this matter, from either standpoint?

To those planning to attend the Academy let me urge the importance of sending in your application blanks at the earliest possible moment, whether you are a former student or a new one, whether you have signified your intention of coming or not. This is absolutely necessary that we may know how to answer the repeated inquiry as to whether there is yet room; and that you may be assured of a place, for the indications are that a number more will desire to attend than can be accommodated under present conditions. If you have not received a catalog and blank send for them.

Canvassers' News Letter

A. G. Goude writes from Mallory: "Times are dull up here on account of the crops being so far behind. Better times are coming. My courage is good and I intend to press on."

Miss Lulu Pressnall—As I make out my report this afternoon I am somewhat encouraged for I have done better than I thought I would.

Everyone should take a glance at Sister Pressnall's report and rejoice with her in her marvelous success for the first week. Good is it not? Why cannot others do the same?

Jay Battin—Friday we came down to Mallory and because of being misdirected we had to walk six and a half miles to get three and a half but we did not give up. I am glad we are here we go to East Grand Forks Monday morning.

Herman Olson—If I had not of worked evenings I would not have my scholarship yet and I doubt if I would have it if I would work up till the time school begins.

The above shows how much credit we should give to extra hours work. We should become so enthused in our work that we really would regret when night comes.

Let every canvasser write out in a brief paragraph in their weekly canvassers letter an epitome or brief sketch of their weeks experience. Not a long drawn out story, but a brief note telling how the Lord has helped you to gain victories and overcome difficulties. It will help your fellow worker.

Balfour, N. D. Twenty-one of those had just accepted the truth through the labors of Brother Bohienks of Manitoba.

The name of the Harvey Industrial School has been changed to "Sheyenne River Academy."

The work at Egeland, N. D. has been reinforced by the arrival there of Bro. W. H. Allison. The interest there is good and the gospel is bearing fruits.
Report next week.

Through some mistake in the report of the St. Cloud, (Minn.) tent meeting last week it read that the average attendance was 160, it should have been sixty instead of 160.

Montrose Sanitarium Notes

Sister Williams of Anoka spent a few days at the Sanitarium last week.

Bro. G. C. Clark of Anoka, returned to his home much improved in health.

Miss Lottie Swegles has returned from St. Paul and again resumed her duties as a nurse.

Miss Lillian M. Farrar, who is a recent graduate of the Nebraska Sanitarium Nurses' Training School, has been assisting in the work here during the past few weeks.

Bro. E. B. Braman of the Maple Plain church is a patient at the Sanitarium at present. It was found necessary to perform an operation in his case. He is making a rapid recovery.

Miss Daisy E. Nary has completed her course of two years here and is planning to take a third year in the Boulder, Col., Sanitarium. She leaves for Boulder about September first.

At the present writing we are enjoying a much appreciated visit from our old friend, Eld.
P. T. Magan. He held a Bible study with our family of helpers and patients Tuesday evening.

Sr. Hazel Hickok of Dodge Center and Sr. Gordon B. Loucks of Fargo, N. D., who have been with us the past three weeks, are recovering nicely from their surgical treatment and will return to their homes in a few days.

Dr. W. C. Dunscombe and wife of Chicago have recently connected with the work here. We will thus have an able assistant both in sanitarium work and outside practice. We feel sure all will welcome these valuable workers to our conference.

E. P. HAWKINS.
