BANGKOK ADVENTIST HOSPITAL – 1987

Fifty years down memory lane....

Therdpong Chaiyanand, Minister of Public Health; William Brown, US Ambassador to Thailand; and Elder George Johnson, BAH Board Chairman participated in the 50th anniversary celebration.

Bangkok Adventist Hospital celebrated its golden anniversary (1937-1987) with great pomp and ceremony which lasted four days from June 3 through 6. It also coincided with the opening of the new wing - the Pleng Vitiamyalaksana Building which houses the new pediatrics and obstetrics nursing section, a food service facility and an underground carpark.

This grand event was well covered in the local newspapers. The ceremony was presided by the Minister of Public Health, Therdpong Chaiyanand. The occasion was followed by a three-day health exhibition based on the theme of NEWSTART - the Key to Good Health. In conjunction with the 50th anniversary, the hospital provided some blood tests, stress evaluations, and chest x-rays either free or at a discount rate. Room rates for all obstetric cases between June 1 to 7 were given a 25% discount.

Following is an excerpt of an article written by Dr. R. W. Brody, president of Bangkok Adventist Hospital, for the SPRAY OF GOLDEN SHOWER, a memory book commemorating the occasion.

"The medical environment in Bangkok is ever changing. When this hospital was founded in 1937 by Dr. Ralph Waddell as a small clinic on the corner of 56 Maitrichitr Road, it was probably never dreamed that it would reach the proportions that it has today. When Bangkok Sanitarium and Hospital opened in 1951 it was on the edge of the city. In fact, some advisors thought we had built too far out of town and patients would never patronize the hospital. This proved to be false; the Hospital was well patronized and built up a reputation for being one of the finest in this city. A subsequent addition was completed in 1958, with other improvements following.

With the explosion of modern technology, with the upgrading of government health services and with the overseas training of many of the practicing physicians and surgeons in this country, the medical scene in Thailand rapidly changed throughout the 1970's and the administration was put into a situation of deciding the future of both the Hospital and the School of Nursing. The present facility was inadequate to meet the demands of modern medical practice. Our financial situation was such that we were unable to capitalize the hospital with the resources that we had at that time.

In 1979 a decision was made to upgrade the plant. With a grant of five million baht, from USAID (United States Agency for International Development), an ambitious master plan was begun by the building of the Ralph Waddell Wing. With the encouragement this addition brought, and with further grants from USAID, augmented by funds generated from improved operation and donations from generous patients and friends of the hospital, the present project was undertaken in July 1985. It will provide us with much needed car parking space, with a new food service facility and with a new pediatrics and obstetrics nursing section. Concurrent with this we have tried to upgrade and modernize the existing facility. This has resulted in new Physical Therapy and Hemodialysis Departments and new wards on the fourth floor of the original building.

US Ambassador William Brown unveiling the plaque which reads: "Construction of the Pleng Vitiamyaluksana Building was made possible through the generous donations of the Thai people, International Friends of Thailand, and a grant from the United States Agency for International Development, American Schools and Hospitals abroad, solicited by the Adventist Development and Relief Agency on behalf of Bangkok Adventist Hospital - 1987."

The new wing named in honor of Pleng Vitiamyalaksana, the first Thai SDA and first national mission worker.

This new building has been named the Pleng Vitiamyalaksana Building in honor of the dedication with which Nai Pleng served this institution over many years. Throughout his retirement he has also shown unfailing interest in the welfare of workers as well as the institutions. I believe this will be an appropriate memorial to one of the most dedicated pioneers of the Seventhday Adventist medical work in this country. As we look back over this period of time culminating in the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of this hospital, we cannot but be thankful to God for His continued blessing and guidance throughout these fifty years.

We are modernizing this institution to meet the challenges of modern medicine. We trust that the practice of medicine in this institution will rightly represent the Master that we serve-in its personnel, in its equipment and in its solicitation to the needs of others. It is our aim to treat people rather than disease. With this we have emphasized four distinctive areas which we believe are unique. These areas are (1) the physical therapy aspect based on the premise that the body will heal itself if given a chance; (2) dietary, advocating a vegetarian diet which we believe was the original diet for man; (3) health education to prevent well people from becoming sick; (4) nurturing spiritual growth and developing awareness of the interdependence of physical health and spiritual health. We believe that to treat man's body without treating his soul is sadly imcomplete medical treatment. It is our hope that this hospital will continue to be an honor and glory to our Maker. We hope that our practice of medicine will rightly represent the God in whom we so firmly believe.

It would be remiss of me if I did not remember, not necessarily to mention by name, all of those who have given faithful and dedicated service to this hospital over the past fifty years. Our minds go back to such names as the late Dr. Neil Thrasher, just to mention a few who have sacrificed to make this hospital a success. As we look back over the past fifty years we praise God for His goodness; we praise Him for the honor of having been part of His work at Bangkok Adventist Hospital, and as we look forward to the future we can do with confidence knowing that God will continue to care for this institution which we believe He has set up for a definite purpose.

Achievements in the recent past include the upgrading of our School of Nursing to college status, offering a degree course in nursing for the first time in the school's thirty-six year history. Toward the end of this year we plan to start upgrading the facilities with a new block of classrooms and an administration building.

What of the future? We still have much work to do here in the renovation of the old building and in modernization of the whole area. We are looking forward to having a conditioning center—a preventive medical program—with facilities built in an area outside of the city in Saraburi province. The program is designed to show people how to live better and therefore longer.

We have also extended our outpatient services from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. We have put together a vigorous marketing program which will keep our facilities before the public. Many staff changes have been made in 1987. For the first time we have opened the staff to many outside physicians and surgeons. The number of physicians and surgeons on our consulting and associate staff is continually expanding. We believe that we have to face the realities of the generation in which we live.

The Bangkok Adventist Hospital is coming of age and while it is with some degree of poignancy and nostalgia that we look back on a system which has served us well over the priod of many years we, at the same time, have to face the fact of change and we have to adjust ourselves to it. We are happy to have these physicians and surgeons on our staff who have been a support to our work here at the hospital and who continue to support us so faithfully.

I would, in closing, just like to make mention of a dedicated staff many of whom have served this hospital for periods of more then twenty years. They have lent a stability to our staff at a time of change and I would like, on behalf of the administration of the hospital, to thank them very much for the contribution that each has made to the program."

SCHOOL OF NURSING 1941 and 1947

Previous directors of the School of Nursing have been Miss Ruth Monroe, Miss Wilma Leazer, Mrs. Ellen Waddell and Miss Elizabeth Rogers. The most recent and longest serving director is Miss Salinee Svetalekha who graduated in 1950 and has been employed by BAH since that time. She became director of the School in 1963 and has continued an admirable leadership of its scholastic program during the intervening years. She has successfully accomplished the difficult transition from a three-year school to a collegiate program of four years, a program which was instituted with the class accepted in 1986 (Class of 1990).

When the School of Nursing opened in 1941 with twenty-five students, the entire clinic family were as thrilled as if a mighty multiple adoption had occurred.

The first graduating class was special for many reasons, the most outstanding being that seven of the graduates of the Class of 1950 were still working at the hospital thirty-six years later—at the end of 1986.

As the 1950's brought about a transitional period to the Hospital so the late 1980's has brought a transition to the School of Nursing. To the experienced, seasoned staff has been added young, already-degreed teachers, creating a stimulating balance. The Mission College has aroused intense interest and is off to a great start.

SCHOOL OF MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY 1951

Dr. Ethel Nelson with Kar Yoke Khow, head technician.

Dr. Neil Thrasher and Dr. Lourdes Jimarkon – the first and last (to date) fulltime radiologists – with Miss Ratana Chanitranont and Mr. Sakon Somboon, the longest employed technicians in the department. Miss Ratana joined the staff in 1944 and Mr. Sakon, head technician, joined the staff in 1950.

MIDWIFERY 1954

MADAM LA-IAD PIBULSONGGRAM OPENED THE SCHOOL OF MIDWIFERY BUILDING ON 4 JANUARY 1955.

The Midwifery department of Bangkok Adventist Hospital came into being as a necessity to fill a missing link in the curriculum of the School of Nursing—the link being midwifery training which would improve the proficiency of BAH nurses and enable them to receive higher salaries.

As Dr. Waddell and Nai Pleng were returning from a trip, Pleng remarked, "Why don't we start our own midwifery?" By the time they had arrived at the hospital their plans were taking shape. It would be a charity institution to not only provide training for our nurses but also to provide maternity care for the poor of the area.

The following morning Dr. Waddell called in an architect to draw plans for the building. It would cost baht 400,000! An enormous sum! Unfazed, and its typical ingenuity Dr. Waddell solved the problem of fitting cost of the building into a tight budget, and the architect, impressed by the charity to be extended, offered to work without pay. The charity midwifery soom became a reality.

The building was completed, and staffed only by Miss Gertrude Green and Miss Yupha Sookcharern, began admitting patients in December 1954. A month later, on January 4, 1955, with additional nurses and the presence of the first class of nine carefully selected students, the School of Midwifery building was officially opened by La-iad Pibulsonggram, wife of the then Prime Minister.

Miss Gertrude Green has been director of Midwifery during its thirtytwo year history.

In anticipation of opening of the School of Midwifery, Miss Yupha Udomsuk was sent to New Yoke to study for a midwifery degree. When she returned the School of Midwifery opened with only two midwives (Miss Yupha and Miss Green) to teach classes, supervise the clinics, deliver babies and oversee care of the mothers and newborns. After working all day they had to alternate night call. What a joy it must have been to graduate the first class of midwives! Dr. Yupha is now a member of Parliament. July - August 1987

DENTAL DEPARTMENT 1958

Whether at Bangkok or Chiangmai, the Dental outreach program has held an important place in the schedule.

Dr. Nantje Twijnstra enjoys the sounds of an ancient culture as a by-product of extending dental care in isolated Mong village. Below she accesses damage caused by betal nut.

In late 1957 Dentist Clark Lamberton, his wife Evelyn and children arrived to pioneer the SDA dental work in Thailand. The BAH dental department opened a few months later in the former garage-kitchen-classroom-apartment house where it has remained to the present time. Immediately patients flocked in and the dental department was a great success.

A second honor was awarded to Dr. Lamberton in 1985, the inscription translated as follows: PRINCESS MOTHER'S VOLUNTEER FLYING DOCTOR FOUNDATION (Princess Mother's signature) This plaque of honor given to DR. CLARK LAMBERTON For service in the volunteer medical team ministering to the needy people in remote villages of the country. 5 June 1985

Bangkok Adventist Hospital had a romantic beginning, a violent adolescene and But let her tell her own story.

The autobiography of BAH is written in the faces and deeds of thousands of people, its future shaped by the thoughts and dreams of many more. This throng of individuals has each left an imprint and has made BAH a living, vibrant personality with a distinctive spirit all her own.

Nai Pleng Vitiamyalaksana with Dr. Ruchee Chulajate, Mrs. Apsorn Dabanand, and Miss Salinee Svetalekha-combined years of service to BAH - 163 yeras!

The devotion of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Tee Ee to the welfare and success of the clinic as well as the Mission was infinite.

Pastor and Mrs. Kalee Paw, house parents and teachers in the School of Nursing, Pastor Kalee Paw authored a book with Eric B Hare entitled "The Way of God with Jungle Flower" which was chosen as one of the Senior Reading Course books for 1960.

Dr. Ralph and Ellen Waddell, the pioneers of BAH, had as their goal in 1937 - "To make Man Whole-Spiritually as well as Physically" and Dr. Ralph saw that happened in his life time!

The First Wing of the new Bangkok Sanitarium and Hospital. The money for this wing was solicited by Pastor Kon Vui Leong and Dr. Ralph F. Waddell plus a gift of $40,000 from the Far Eastern Division. From this nucleus sufficient income was generated to build the Second Wing, the School of Nursing Dormitory, the Powerhouse, the Laundry, the Quadriplex and the School of Midwifery, all free from debt. Admittedly when these were completed the bank account was at a low ebb. However the income potential was greatly improved.

Dr. Donald and Elsa Latourette's devotion to the people of Thailand has continued through the years in the form of working visits and financial aid to many projects.

Dr. Ronald R. Brody, the present administrator of BAH, with Mrs. Broday serving as the gracious hostess.

SNACK BAR 1962

Dr. Chulee Thavaravej

DEVELOPMENT OF THE SNACK BAR

"It is believed among Thai people that the best way to get merit is to give a drink to the thirsty." Thinking of this gesture of kindness inherent in the Thai culture, Dr. Chulee Thavaravej urged the administration of BAH to install drinking fountains in public areas of the hospital. This was done in 1960.

The concept of providing a point of instant refreshment did not stop with drinking fountains. To Dr. Chulee, this was a small beginning to what she envisioned for the future.

Two years later, when Mrs. Sarly Chitsing and Mrs. Frieda Jensen worked together in Food Service, they set up a small table opposite the back steps to sell orange juice and other soft drinks. The little table proved a popular place and profit amounted to a few hundred baht each day.

The ''little table'' grew in size and developed into a ''snack bar'' which sold a number of refreshment items. When Mr. Roy Walin came as internal auditor in mid 1981, he saw 450 BAH employees and hundreds of patients as potential customers and proceeded to build an enlargement.

The previous small building would continue to sell snacks as well as sandwiches and other items. The new area would be a "walk-in" minimart, containing staple items that most homes need.

Popularity of the Snack Bar is obvious, not only with those associated with the Hospital, but lines form continuously as groups of people from neighboring businesses and institutions come seeking vegetarian foods, yogurt, delicious bakery products including whole grain bread, and other items unique to BAH.

HEALTH EDUCATION 1974

Part of a health tour experiencing how tasty healthful vegetarian foods can be.

Department Head Miss Wanjareeya Sansri and staff members Miss Chinda Tantirungsimapun and Miss Nid Poomsuwan demonstrate procedures to aid stress control.

Miss Nid Poomsuwan, who had just returned from upgrading at Philippine Union College, is head of the Health Education Department, assisted by Mrs. Carolyn Hammonds and veteran departmental worker, Miss Raveewan Khamsaard, all three being nurses.

Through the thirteen years since its inception, the Health Education Department has made significant contribution to the community as well as to outlying areas by disseminating disease control and preventive health information to the public. It continues to demonstrate the interaction of the physical, mental and spiritual upon the whole person.

The second floor patio of the Ralph Waddell Wing lends itself beautifully to dinners and receptions since windows in the Health Education kitchen may be opened for convenient serving purposes.

"FILLING YOUR LOVE CUP"

Penang Adventist Hospital held simultaneously an annual Week of Prayer and an evangelistic effort in late May of this year at the PAH lecture hall. Dr. Steve Bassham, Ministerial Secretary of the Southeast Asia Union Mission, was the guest speaker. The morning sessions theme for the Week of Prayer was "Filling Your Love Cup." "How to Find Eternal Life" was the theme for the evangelistic thrust in the evening. An average of fifty to sixty people attended both the meetings. Dr. Bassham stressed the importance of the need of "filling our love cup" in relationship with one another specifically with fellow workers. However, the most interesting feature was the introduction of the various types of hugs. In fact, the speaker declared the commencement of the Hug Association during the last session of the Week of Prayer. The messages presented were well received as the speaker always had new insights to share along with his humorous approach.

During the night meetings, the speaker answered the quest of the human heart concerning "how to find eternal life" by scriptural references. In addition to using the Bible to present the sin problem and the deliverance from its power, the speaker also shared his personal experiences of his victory over Satan through our Lord Jesus Christ. The messages which were always Christ-centered were thought provoking, inspiring and had a personal effect on the audience. Dr. Bassham made a comment regarding the Second Coming of Christ, "Thirty over years ago, if one would preach about the end of the world, people would laugh and scorn at you. But today, scientists, politicians, Hindus, Buddhists, and other religious groups would agree with you that the world is coming to an end."

We pray that the gospel seeds sowed in the hearts will germinate, grow and bear fruits. It is also my earnest prayer:

"Open our eyes that we may see, Each day fresh opportunities; Open our hearts to let Him in, That sin stays without and His love within."

> Jimmy Toh, Chaplain, Penang Adventist Hospital

We are proud of our two pastors from the WMSM! Pastor Ng Kah Seng graduated summa cum lauda and Pastor Alfred Low cum laude from the Asia Adventist Theological Seminary in the Philippines on May 26, 1987. They were among the first sixteen graduates of the new Master of Pastoral Studies program offered by the Seminary.

NATIONAL FAMILY WEEK

A relay team from Youngberg Adventist Hospital comprising of Dr. Clarence Ing, See Swee Leng, Efren Mariano and How Wah Beng took part in a competitive run for the hospital staff in conjunction with the Fun Run during the national family week from June 20 to 28, 1987. In this event, YAH team together with sixty teams from both the government and private hospitals ran to raise funds for the Home Nursing Foundation, Health Endowment Fund and Nurses' Education Fund.

During the national family week, which was initiated by the government in 1985 and has become an annual event emphasizing parent education and family life, YAH chaplain Jonathan Ng was invited by the Ministry of Community Development as a guest speaker in a Mandarin Public Forum on family communication. Furthermore, he helped to conduct a four-session workshop for parents on self esteem in the family at a Child Care Centre after he went through a training workshop for trainers on self esteem organized by the Ministry during the early part of the year.

Coverages on television and radio interviews and newspaper reportings have certainly helped to create a better public image for the hospital in the community. Praise the Lord for these opportunities in community services!

COLLEGE STUDENTS HELP IN 5-DAY PLAN

Over the past few years, Chaplain Jonathan Ng, who is a volunteer officer of Singapore Anti-Narcotics Association, has been invited to share his experience with students of Drugs and Society Class at the Southeast Asia Union College. He also helped to make arrangement for students to visit various organizations involved in rehabilitation of drug abusers in the community.

Mrs. Viola Jones, instructor of the class, decided to do something in return for the help given by the hospital. She assigned her students to serve as volunteers of a recent 5-Day Plan conducted by Dr. Clarence Ing and Chaplain Jonathan Ng from May 17 to 21, 1987. It became a tremendous blessing to the participants. All of them appreciated the warm welcome and telephone calls the young people rendered them. It has helped to promote a more conducive atmosphere for these group therapy sessions. As a result, among the seventeen participants, fifteen of them quit totally on the final session, while between the remaining two participants, they only smoked three cigarettes.

The hospital administration is pleased with this added blessing in the 5-Day Plan and hopes to continue this cordial relationship with the college.

SOUTHEAST ASIA UNION COLLEGE

During the last four months, SAUC's affiliation program with Walla Walla College (WWC) has made considerable progress. First, WWC called Mrs. Doreen Ng (SAUC's registrar) and Dr. Jones (academic dean) to WWC for consultation. That visit provided a forum through which SAUC's concerns were shared and answers could be given to WWC's questions. The outcome of that visit resulted in all of SAUC's programs becoming affiliated. Students attending SAUC can now receive a degree from Walla Walla College in the following areas:

Business Administration Business Education Elementary Education Office Administration Religion

WWC's graduation program on June 7 was quite impressive. Commencement was held on the lawn under the trees. Names were called and diplomas given out. Seven SAUC students were granted degrees in absentia at that time. When the last SAUC graduate's name was called, Dr. Jones was called up and at that time he received all seven diploma folders. The audience responded with a loud applause.

Dr. Jones met several times with the WWC administration during the second week of June. Problems in connection with acceptable general studies were discussed. Students entering SAUC cab now do so with a Michigan English Language test (MELAB) score of 82. This makes it more comparative to a TOEFL score of 500.

Four minors from SAUC were also accepted: Business Administration, English, Mathematics and Office Administration. Two more minors are expected: Biology and Health.

WWC has appointed Dr. Robert Gardner, Associate Dean for Academic Administration as coordinator of the SAUC/WWC affiliation. With this new appointment, the affiliation program is on a solid basis.

Three additions to the teaching staff were made this quarter. A business teacher representing WWC is assisting us. Professor Dan Rozell comes to us from Southern College where he taught for the last nine years. As WWC's representative, he is assisting Mr. Matthew Hutabarat and Mr. Wu Seng Chee. His experience in the business field will benefit our students. Miss Myrtle Fitzgerald comes from Bangkok. She agreed to postpone her retirement until December. Ten years ago she was a member of our staff. Now that she has returned, she finds that many of our current teachers were formerly her students. She is teaching English. Mr. Donaldy Sianipar has also come from Bangkok although he is an Indonesian citizen. He recently completed a Master's degree in Engineering. He is teaching the Mathematics

Professor Dan Rozell.
