Our Medical College

A. L. HAM, Vice-president, General Conference

THE establishment and growth of the College of Medical Evangelists has meant much indeed to the whole program of our church in all the world. Let's make no mistake about that. This institution, established under the direction of heaven, fifty years ago, in a series of remarkable leadings, has enjoyed a long and useful history in the work of the Lord.

It was my privilege as a young man to spend several months at Loma Linda during the second year of the college. In this way I became acquainted with Dr. W. A. Ruble, J. A. Burden, and others who pioneered that work. We heard Elder Burden on several occasions relate the crisis through which they passed, and the providences of God which ever led them forward. Little did they realize then how the work there was to grow and prosper in years to follow. Those were men and women of great courage and faith and vision. Their faith did not fail.

Now we have a college second to none. Connected with it is a thoroughly consecrated, efficient staff of experienced and devoted workers. Medical buildings and new facilities have had to be added as the needs have developed, with changing conditions and growth of the work.

From the graduating classes year by year men and women have gone to the 48 states of the union, to Canada, the five United States territories, and to many foreign lands.

True, there have been many disappointments in the past; not all have represented the ideals and objectives of the church and college. To some extent, that has been so of our other institutions of training, but when we see so many faithful members in these professions, employing their talents and training in contributing a full measure to the work of the church at home and abroad, we are led to thank God for them and for His leading and blessing, and so we take courage. The sacrifices we have made and are still making for this work are not in vain.

There have been 2,816 doctors graduated, and of these 160 are deceased. Serving at present overseas are 104 doctors, and 160 have previously given mission field service. That makes a total of 264 medical missionaries in overseas service.

It has been an inspiration for me to see many of these and visit their hospitals and dispensaries in a number of mission fields. They are devoted and faithful self-sacrificing men and women. Often they do not have good, or even adequate facilities, or qualified trained help, but are doing valiant service nevertheless for the Master and humanity. Personally, I have high regard for them.

We also find Seventh-day Adventist medical workers in all 48 states and five United States territories, as well as Canada, mostly engaged in private practice. They are serving many of our churches in North America as elders, and leaders in other capacities, including chairmen of church school boards. There are those who have pioneered in backward areas, personally winning souls, raising up companies of believers and churches. Many have had a very important part in erecting church buildings and church schools. In many ways they have contributed to the program of the church. We very much appreciate their spirit and service.

At present there are 329 in all four years of training in the medical school, and 133 taking dentistry. To these must be added those now in training in the schools of nursing, school of medical technology, school of physical therapy, schools of dietetics, and X-ray technology.

It is obvious that this institution is contributing a very large and growing part in the endeavor of the church as a whole throughout the world. We can be very thankful for what it has accomplished and what it will still accomplish in furthering the objectives of this denomination in proclaiming the gospel and ministering to the sick and needy. If this good work is to continue as it should, it will be necessary for all of us to remember the special offering to be received in all our churches on June 23rd.

We hope for a really large offering at that time, for it is really very much needed, and we want to thank all who will have a part in this united effort for Our Medical College.

Let us remember to pray for the continued success of the college and its various schools of training. Our loyal leaders and those associated with them there are certainly worthy of our deep interest and faithful support.

Remember — June 23 is the date for the offering in all of our churches.

Save Your Boy

If you knew that not far in the future your boy would be subject to some grave danger, you would put forth every effort to prepare him to pass through the experience unharmed.

That is exactly what is in store for your boy. Some of these days he will receive a long envelope enclosing a summons to present himself for military service. You will take him down to the train or bus station and he will be swallowed up by a strange and unknown world. As you journey back home you are going to wonder whether you have done all you could to prepare him for the peculiar problems which he will face. Whether he remains true to the faith or is lost to the world depends on how well you have prepared him to meet the problems of military life.
Camp Desmond T. Doss is held each summer by your church to prepare your boy to stand for God in that day when he finds himself surrounded by thousands of men whose habits and customs are so different from that in the home church. At Camp Doss he will learn what the church really teaches about military service. He will learn all about those military terms and customs which would otherwise be so new and confusing to him. He will meet the Surgeon General of the United States in person, for he will be present at our camp this summer, and this will establish confidence in himself and in the Army. There is an old adage, "Forewarned is forearmed." This certainly applies to the principle of preparing for military service on the part of the Seventh-day Adventist lad.

For further information and for an application blank to Camp Doss, write today to your Union War Service Commission Secretary, R. A. Nesmith, 2829 W. Cantey Street, Fort Worth 9, Texas. Evert D. Dick, Associate Secretary General Conference War Service Commission.

A Breakdown With Profit

Generally we expect that a breakdown will be costly and annoying. The following quotation comes from a letter just received from a Seventh-day Adventist brother, and is rather self-explanatory.

"I have been an Adventist for over 13 years, but always felt I had too many other things to read without subscribing for more literature, mainly the 'good old Review' as it is called. But after so many years of promotion in our churches, I broke down this year and subscribed. It has really been a blessing to read the current world happenings of our people and the timely articles each week. We get the local news in the Columbia Union Visitor, and mission talks and Bible study in church, but the Review rounds out the picture in bold relief."

Brethren and sisters, perhaps there are readers of this little article who ought to break down and subscribe to the Review and Herald before they break down spiritually. Perhaps there are fathers and mothers who ought to read this little story of the breakdown, and then in turn break down and send the Review to sons and daughters not in the church. Let the Review bring the picture of a world program in bold relief for you and your loved ones.

New Book About Atlantic Union College

That New England School, by Rowena E. Purdon, a history of South Lancaster Academy and Atlantic Union College in South Lancaster, Massachusetts, has just come off the press and is ready for distribution. Miss Purdon, who passed away on Christmas Eve 1954 at the age of 85, was in the first graduating class of SLA and has personally known of the progress of the school all through the years. She finished the manuscript for That New England School shortly before her passing, and the AUC Alumni Association has had it printed.

The book, which has 150 pages and 100 pictures, traces, in a very interesting manner, the history of the school from the time when it was only the germ of an idea in the minds of a few pioneers, to the present administration. Copies can be secured at $3.00, plus 20 cents for mailing, from the treasurer of the A.U.C. Alumni Association, South Lancaster, Massachusetts.

Some Facts About the Mentally Ill

Some people still believe that mental illness is hopeless. But the truth is when mental patients receive the best hospital care, seven out of ten leave the hospital improved or recovered.

Some people still believe that the mentally ill would get well if they used more will power. But the truth is most mentally ill are incapable of controlling their thoughts and feelings and actions. It does no good to tell them to "snap out of it" or "stop worrying." They should have medical treatment in order to get well.

Some people still believe that mental illness is a disgrace. But the truth is it is only ignorance that makes people ashamed of mental illness. A mental illness is like any physical illness in that it requires medical diagnosis and treatment.

Some people still believe that mental illness appears suddenly without any warning. But the truth is usually there are early signs of mental illness which trained people can recognize long before the illness reaches the more serious stages.

Some people still believe that it is all right to put off treatment for a mental illness. But the truth is many milder mental disorders may become fixed or chronic when early treatment is neglected. The sooner mental illness is treated the better the person's chances for recovery.

Some people still believe that you have to handle former patients with kid gloves. But the truth is they have a simple basic need for friendship, a job, family, and recreation — just like anyone else.

Some people still believe that mental illness is inherited. But the truth is after years of medical research the most that scientists have found is that there is an inherited tendency in some types of mental illness. But even if a person inherits such a tendency, mental illness does not develop unless certain factors are also present in that individual's environment during childhood and adult life.

Infant Dedication

"Suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not." On April 21 the Tulsa Sabbath School brought 31 infants and children under three years of age to Christ for a special service of dedication.

As mothers and fathers walked to the front of the sanctuary, some with babies in their arms, and others leading their toddlers by the hand, "Thank you for the inspiration you brought to their church. The timely messages and beautiful singing were greatly enjoyed by everyone who attended."

New Student From Korea Enrolls At SWJC

A recent newcomer to the Southwestern Junior College campus is Violet Kim, a student from Seoul, Korea. Violet is a graduate of the Seoul Union Training School, and she plans to take school work at Southwestern Junior College this next year.

At the present time she is studying English under special tutorship, visiting classes, and doing some work in preparation for next year.

Violet's father died in a communist prison camp in May of 1949; her mother died the following year from an illness. After her father's death the mother and daughter fled to Seoul, South Korea to avoid communist aggression.

There she met James Lee, the president of the Korean Union Conference, who introduced her to C. A. Williams, a missionary, who helped her with her education.

After the invasion of South Korea, Violet again fled south with friends. She walked from Seoul to Pusan, taking a month to make the trip. She lived on the island of Cheichu for two years with Adventist church members where she completed most of her secondary education.

When Mrs. C. A. Williams returned to the United States, she happened to speak at the Enid, Oklahoma church. In her talk she mentioned Violet, and Brother and Sister Ezra Riffel of the Enid church asked to sponsor Violet in the continuation of her education. The United States agreed to her entry as a student, and the Korean government finally gave her a passport to come to the States.

She plans to complete junior college at Southwestern Junior College after which she will go on to a senior college.

Seminole Church Effort

On the date set for all the workers in the Southwestern Union to be engaged in evangelistic meetings, the church in Seminole, Oklahoma was privileged to have Elders Winders and Gray open a series of meetings in their church. From the very beginning to the closing night the attendance was outstanding. On the closing night, every pew was filled and in addition, folding chairs were set up at the back of the auditorium.

We truly felt the Holy Spirit working on the hearts of people and feel the Lord richly blessed us. On the first Sabbath afternoon, when the call was made, four individuals took their stand to join the remnant church. During the second week of the series, three other individuals joined the baptismal class and on March 24 seven persons were baptized — six new members and one a re-baptism. At the call on the last Sabbath afternoon four more individuals joined the baptismal class. On March 31, two of these were baptized and the other two came into the church on profession of faith. Another baptism is planned for in the very near future.

Elder Winders, and Elder and Mrs. Gray, the Seminole church wishes in this way to say a very sincere Thank You for the inspiration you brought to their church. The timely messages and beautiful singing were greatly enjoyed by everyone who attended.

“There is no book, aside from the Bible itself, that portrays so beautifully and so appealingly the life of our dear Lord and Saviour. In this volume we find the leading denominational doctrines presented in a truly Christ-centered manner that leads the reader to realize that they are indeed Christ’s personal teachings. This book will win our friends and influence many of our neighbors for God’s eternal kingdom.” R. R. Figuhr, President, General Conference.

“Among all the books published by our publishing houses, ‘The Desire of Ages’ has no rival. It is a classic in its own right. He who reads it will be a better man. Here is a book that will create in the heart of the reader a kind feeling toward the people that have published it because of the winning truths that it contains.” F. L. Oswald, Secretary, Home Missionary Department, General Conference.

1956 Ingathering Victory Celebration

On Saturday night, March 31, the Ephesus Seventh-day Adventist Church of New Orleans, Louisiana celebrated victory for its 1956 Ingathering campaign. The 1956 Ingathering Minute Man goal of $10,000 had been raised some weeks before, but L. B. Baker, conference home missionary secretary, was unable to be present until this time.

The Kenner church, which is a part of the New Orleans district, was also present, for they too had reached the Minute Man goal. We express our sincere thanks to these two churches for the completion of a job "well done."

The lower auditorium of the beautifully decorated Ephesus church was filled with happy warriors of Christ who came to witness the crowning of the King and Queen and to celebrate victory for the 1956 Ingathering drive.

As the audience waited in tense expectancy, the royal procession began. The court of honor was preceded by two pages, Barry Janes, and Arthur Hunter, who had raised the largest amounts among the youth of the church. Then came the King and Queen.

The ceremony was officially opened with an appropriate song and prayer. Mrs. Bell Crumes, mistress of ceremonies, introduced the pastor who gave words of welcome and commendation to the entire church.

The church had been divided into two large groups, the Army and the Navy, then subdivided into smaller groups. Special words of commendation were addressed to Admiral C. S. Terry, Admiral of the Navy whose side raised the largest amount and General Edward Wilson, General of the Army.

Then came the most thrilling moment of all when Joseph Charles and Birdie McCluster were crowned King and Queen for a year by the pastor.

The pages, Barry Janes who had raised the largest amount of the youth, of several Minute Man goals, and Arthur Hunter, next with a very few dollars less were presented with small awards.

L. B. Baker assisted in giving out the awards and gave words of appreciation for the work that had been done by the entire membership. After final words from the pastor, the remaining moments of the evening were spent in enjoying the delightful refreshments prepared by the committee that had been appointed for the occasion.

It Opens Doors

“The right hand is used to open doors through which the body may find entrance. This is the part the medical missionary work is to act. It is to largely prepare the way for the reception of the truth for this time.” Manuscript No. 55, 1901.

The physicians, dentists, technicians and nurses in the Texas Conference are doing a good job in helping to open doors for the spreading of the gospel throughout this field; but our medical force is far too small. The need is great for doctors and nurses who are missionary-minded and are looking for opportunities to help in this wonderful work of opening doors.

Texas is truly a “Land of Opportunity.” Anyone who knows of a doctor or nurse who may be interested, first of all, in sharing his faith, and at the same time earning a good living, please send us the name and address.

A Camp Meeting Reverie

The following poem was sent to us by Lora B. Darlington, one of our elderly Seventh-day Adventist church members located in the Rio Grande Valley:

Camp meeting time will soon be here;
And I can hardly wait,
To pack my grip, and go to Keene;
Cleanest city in the state.

The speakers are the VERY best,
They come from many a land.
The demonstrations all are fine
And the music simply grand.

You'll meet friends from near and far;
And make many new ones too,
So take a train, a bus, or car,
And prove these words are true.

He'll save a room for two or more
And he will treat you well.

It Happened In Texas

★ The Rusk church with 28 charter members was organized Sabbath, April 28, with N. R. Dower, conference president, leading out in the organization services. This brings to 70 the total number of churches in the Texas Conference. It was just five years ago that Floyd H. Brigham, M.D., moved to Rusk and began practice. Soon a Sabbath school was organized. In 1953 A. B. Huengardt, a retired minister, joined the Brighams in their work. During the past year an intensive program of evangelism has been carried on by R. D. Necker, district pastor, and twenty have been baptized in the area. A Vacation Bible School is to be held this summer, followed by another evangelistic effort.

★ Seven were baptized in the Fort Worth district Sabbath, May 12. Four were added to the Denton church, and three to Fort Worth. Those baptized are largely the results of evangelistic meetings being conducted in Fort Worth by R. R. Biloff, district pastor, and Lee Hadley, assistant, and in Denton by Leonard Webb and Altus Hayes of the conference office. This brings to 14 the number baptized in the district since the meetings began March 4.

The Valley View church was awarded first prize honors with their Temperance float that was entered in the Gainesville Circus Round-up Parade a few weeks ago. The Chamber of Commerce gave special commendation to H. L. Schmidt, Valley View temperance secretary, and his committee for their fine work on this prize-winning project.

Conference Welfare Emergency Fund

Just recently the conference voted to set up a special emergency fund to be used in times of disaster, such as fires, flood, or storm in any area within the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference territory where damage is great enough for a state of emergency to be declared. The disbursement of the fund will be under the control of the conference welfare committee. Each church, in cooperation with the Dorcas society, is to be encouraged to contribute quarterly on the basis of one dollar ($1.00) for the church organization up to and including a church membership of fifty, and one dollar ($1.00) for each additional 100 members — maximum for any church to be $3.00 per quarter. Also it was voted to ask each Dorcas federation to give ten per cent (10%) of all the offerings received at federation meetings to be turned in to this fund.

Such dues should be sent in to the conference office through the medium of the regular church treasurer's report, the fund to be marked "CONFERENCE WELFARE EMERGENCY FUND," on the treasurer's remittance blank. This is not to be confused with the quarterly dues paid by local Dorcas welfare societies to their respective federation treasurers.

The local church missionary secretary should remind the local church treasurer each quarter to send in the CONFERENCE WELFARE EMER-GENCY FUND quarterly dues to the conference treasurer, included in her regular remittance.

We believe this is a step in the right direction. We want to be prepared whenever the emergency arises. In a short while we will be sending out to each church a list showing the quota they are to raise each quarter. We believe that our churches will be glad to turn in this small amount each quarter, thus enabling the conference to build up a fund that would be used in a time of disaster. This fund will begin with the second quarter of 1956.

Investment Plan

Many Sabbath schools throughout the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference have found that the saving of Loma Linda labels is an excellent means of increasing their Investment fund. Since the plan was inaugurated fifteen years ago, in excess of $71,000 has been paid to the Sabbath School Investment fund by the Loma Linda Food Company, as a result of label saving by Sabbath school members. Undoubtedly this figure could have been much larger had all of the labels been turned in rather than destroyed.

The Loma Linda Food Company now manufactures and distributes more than thirty food products so that the variety of labels which can be saved and accumulated for your Investment project is a varied one.

New, especially designed boxes in which to accumulate labels are being provided and can be had just for the asking. If your Sabbath school has not been supplied, please write the Sabbath school department of the conference and request the number of boxes you will need — one for each division if you desire.

Investment secretaries should keep in mind that Loma Linda labels and box tops should be sent directly to their conference Sabbath school secretary, who is authorized to give the Sabbath school credit for their full value in the amount of one cent (1c) each. DO NOT send labels to the Loma Linda Food Company.

Worthington Foods, Inc., also redeem their food labels for Investment. These labels are worth two cents (2c) each — 1c for the individual sending them in, and 1c for the Sabbath school of which he is a member. Or, if you prefer, the entire 2c may be used for your Sabbath school. It is IMPORTANT TO REMEMBER: that you MUST send these labels to: Worthington Foods, Inc., Worthington, Ohio.

Madison Food labels may also be redeemed for Investment. These labels should be sent to the conference Sabbath school secretary. They are redeemable at one cent (1c) each.

Please note: All labels that are sent to the conference Sabbath school secretary should be counted, and the number written in a conspicuous place. Also, please mark the name of your Sabbath school in bold letters.

Investment at Texarkana

The Junior Division of the Texarkana church has taken for its Investment project this year the raising of a registered Holstein calf which was donated to them by Mr. and Mrs. 0. A. Barrow of the Texarkana church, as announced Mrs. Harry Buford, Investment leader for the junior division. On Sabbath, April 14, this calf was dedicated to the Lord. C. L. Beason, pastor of the Texarkana church, led in the short dedication ceremony. The plan is that the contributions made each week by the members will go to help buy the feed for this calf.

We are hoping that by the time this calf is sold this coming fall the funds received from this unique Investment will do its part to help support the Seventh-day Adventist missions in the 183 countries that we are now working. God bless the Texarkana Junior Division in their new undertaking to help support the mission program. May there be many more of our Sabbath schools in the conference follow this noble example of the Junior Division in the Texarkana church.

Central Arkansas Singspiration

The Central Arkansas Singspiration enjoyed another special musical feast on Sabbath afternoon, May 12, at Malvern, Arkansas. The program was a part of the weekend meetings held in honor of Elder and Mrs. Isaac Baker who have labored so long, and so faithfully in this cause. A full report of this will be given in a forthcoming issue of the RECORD.

Due to the fact that Brother Carson Adams, the present leader for the Central Arkansas Singspiration, has accepted a call to the Indiana Conference, a committee was called and the following officers were elected:

First Voice of Prophecy Broadcast On NBC — June 3

“It’s about time to erect a statue to ... the first man to be a man ... the man who was never born ... the man who had no mother,” begins H. M. S. Richards on the first Voice of Prophecy broadcast over the NBC network, Sunday, June 3; also to be heard on Mutual and ABC.

Elder Richards makes reference to the record of the first surgical operation, an event at which skeptics once sneered, declaring that no one could sleep while a rib was being taken from him. “Today we know better. Now no one wants an operation performed unless he is asleep.”

And what is the hope of the man who was never born?

Listen to the Voice of Prophecy broadcast on June 3! Invite others to listen! — D. V. POND.

Radio-Active Chain Reaction

Someone was on the job. Someone casually mentioned the Voice of Prophecy broadcast one day to his neighbor. The neighbor responded and listened each week to the familiar music of the King's Heralds and the inspiring sermons by H. M. S. Richards heard weekly on the Voice of Prophecy program. The neighbor heard an advertisement of the Bible correspondence courses. He did nothing about it until an enrollment card appeared in the Signs of the Times. This he signed and mailed in. The young man took the Junior Bible Course as well as the Faith Course.

Lion Hunting At Home

Around the corner, along the walk to the bay-window. Halt. Lie down on your tummy. See that sandy place under the window. That's the best kind of lion country. Be careful now, get your spoon ready for action. Here are some places in the sand that look as they were made by the imprint of a tiny ice cream cone. Now, lie still and watch. Look, here comes a lion's dinner. See that ant. Watch him carefully. There he goes down in the cone. See him try to get out. When he tries to crawl up he slides back down. There they go, the dirt and the ant are now sliding down to the bottom of the cone. Zip. The ant is gone!

"Where did he go, Daddy?"

"He went into the jaws of a hungry ant lion, Bobby. Get your spoon ready and we'll soon have him. Careful now. Put your spoon in just below the hole in the sand. Up he comes. Now dump him into this cardboard box. There he is. Isn't he ugly looking! Dirt color — bristly hairs — and wicked looking pinchers. There's an ant lion for you, Bobby. See him try to cover himself with sand. He's about a quarter of an inch long but he looks like a monster to an ant. Let's get some more. Now cover your captives up with this dry sand. They will soon make traps and you can take a box of lions into the house to show mother." — T. E. BANKS.
