College Sacrifices For Missions

THEOLOGIAN PORTRAYS PROPHETIC CONDITIONS

LECTURE OPENS SERIES

Health Talk Given on Drugless Medicine and Water Cure Precedes Lecture

"Germany thinks the world is trying to restrict the size of her army. But it is not! Mussolini thinks the world is not in vision with his dreams for Italy's expansion. But that is not so! France thinks there is a combined effort of the nations to crush her. But there is not! The United States thinks all is well with the nations of the earth and that they have no evil design upon her wealth—but she is wrong."

400 Attend Lecture

This was the startling statement hurled at the 400 people who attended the opening lecture of the winter, last Sunday night in Washington by Dr. B. G. Wilkinson, Dean of Theology, in answer to his query, "Is there a conspiracy against the prosperity of the United States?"

The Sunday night lecture, "The World's Financial Crisis," was the first subject of a series that Dr. Wilkinson will discuss during the winter months. The lectures are based upon the great events in the light of Bible prophecy, and deal upon current happenings with their immediate significance as revealed in the Bible.

Miss Bergman Lectures

Miss Esther Bergman, of the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, preceded the main lecture with a health talk on "Drugless Medicine and Water Treatment." This phase of the program will also continue throughout the lecture series. Miss

HARM IN CIGARETTES IS DEPICTED IN FILM

The famous Kellogg Anti-Cigarette film was presented by Dr. D. H. Kress at the regular weekly health lecture hour last Tuesday evening in the Washington Sanitarium main parlor. The film shows the effect of tobacco smoke on animals, and cleverly compares the annual cost of tobacco with the cost of running the government.

Dr. Kress is the discoverer of the silver nitrate method of treating smokers to cure them of the tobacco habit. In his years of service he has helped many men and women to overcome the drinking, drug and smoking habits.

These films have been shown by Dr. Kress in high schools and churches. They have met with hearty approval from officials and authorities, many of whom have stated the wish that every youth in the United States could be shown the evil effects of such vices.

NORMAL CLASSES TO DEPICT PIONEER LIFE

EIGHT GRADES TO ASSIST

The Normal Training School of Washington Missionary College will present a Thanksgiving program entitled "Pilgrims at Home" at Columbia Hall, Saturday night, Nov. 22, under the auspices of the teachers of the school. Many hours of careful preparation have been spent in drilling the children for the evening's entertainment.

Children from each of the eight grades will participate in this program depicting the daily life of the early settlers of America. Hardy Pilgrim fathers and their sons will tell of their adventurous lives in unsettled territories. Industrious Pilgrim mothers and prim little Pilgrim maids will tell

And the Roommates Sleep on While an Unseen Power Slowly Shuts the Window

'Tis a cold winter morning at 5 o'clock and all is still on the campus. The night watchman has made his last round and is coming into North Hall. He snaps on the light switch. Sleepy forms roll over in bed in order to escape the brilliancy of the lights which were not turned out at 10 o'clock the night before.

Some men on waking up find that their rooms are cold. As much as they hate to, they get up to close their windows so that at 6 o'clock the

SINGER'S LOCAL DEBUT ACCLAIMED A SUCCESS

Baritone's Good Nature Seen in Response to Encores

Harrington van Hoesen, eminent baritone, made his initial appearance in Washington, D. C., last Saturday evening, when he presented the opening College Lecture-Concert number of the current school year. More than 500 persons applauded as Mr. van Hoesen with Frank La Forge, his accompanist, appeared on the platform to sing his first group, three of Handel's compositions.

Composer Plays Group

Mr. La Forge, composer-pianist, is famous throughout America and Europe for his ability as an accompanist. Mr. La Forge played the third group on the program, and following the "Etude de Concert" by MacDowell, he gave as an encore the well-known "Romance," one of his own compositions.

PROGRAM IN MINATURE PORTRAYS GOOD FORM

The Public Speaking I class conducted the chapel exercises Friday, Nov. 14. They presented a miniature lecture-course number, illustrating proper and improper conduct while in attendance at such a program.

The program opened with an audience which was typical. The people were inattentive, noisy, boisterous with their applause, and in general, acted disgracefully. The entertainment consisted of a violin solo played by Miss Helen Lamond, and a speech on "Etiquette of the American Audience" by Marion Bourdeau.

Second Scene Is Orderly

The second scene was the same as the first, except that it was presented before a respectful audience. The audience was quiet and attentive, and the applauding was sincere. The class proved that an attentive audience can make or break the success of the entertainment by its manners during the program.

INSTITUTE OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY TONIGHT

NOTED GUEST TO SPEAK

This evening at 8 o'clock the Home Study Bible Institute will celebrate its 21st anniversary by a banquet in the main dining room of the Washington Sanitarium. The one hundred guests will consist mainly of the board and faculty members, and their wives. Prof. C. W. Irwin, president of the board, will act as chairman of the evening.

The chief speaker of the evening will be Doctor J. S. Noffsinger, the director of the National Home Study Council. Doctor Noffsinger represents the accredited correspondence schools of the U. S.

Mr. L. R. Alderman, government specialist of adult education, will also address the guests.

Prof. W. E. Howell, the first principal of the Home Study Bible Institute, formerly known as the Fireside Correspondence School, will give some reminiscences of the early days.

Brief addresses will also be given by Elder C. H. Watson, president, and Elder J. L. Shaw, treasurer of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Telegrams to Be Read

During the evening, telegrams of congratulation from those in charge of branches of the institute will be read. These branches are located in Australia, with Prof. C. B. Bell in charge, and in Shanghai, China, with Prof. W. A. Scharffenberg as the head.

The Fireside Correspondence School was established in 1913, and the banquet is for the purpose of celebrating its "coming-of-age" birthday.

SANITARIUM WORKERS TO EQUIP DISPENSARY

When pictures of beds, stretchers, cabinets and operating room equipment are seen hanging on the walls of a gymnasium, something out of the ordinary is taking place.

The 12 classes of the Sanitarium Sabbath school have taken it upon themselves to provide hospital equipment for the new dispensary in Bolivia, South America, which is now

ELECTION FILLS TWO SLIGONIAN VACANCIES

At a short meeting of The Students' Association last Monday morning two vacancies on The Sligonian staff were filled.

Ferdinand Welebir was elected make-up editor to take the place of Russell Quackenbush. Mr. Quackenbush was forced to resign because of his duties as president of the Famous Fifty.

Arthur McCoy was elected advertising manager for the remainder of the semester. Miss Bertha Walton was the former manager.

INTERNATIONAL SACRIFICE WEEK IS SUPPORTED BY W. M. C. BODY

MISSION DEFICIT IS LARGE

Educational Department Plans to Raise $20,000 by Combined Efforts

By Elfrieda Kuntz

A call for sacrifice, to meet a deficit of $500,000 in the mission treasury, comes once again to the students and faculty of Washington Missionary College as they participate in the annual Week of Sacrifice, extending from Nov. 15 to 22. The Educational Department of the General Conference plans to raise $20,000 through the combined efforts of denominational schools in the United States and Canada.

Office Will Credit Work

The plan for denominational schools as outlined by this department is for faculty members and other workers in the College to donate a week's salary. College students are to give $1.00; academic students, $.50; and church school students, $.25. The College business office announces that as usual it will credit the work of students who are interested in giving their contributions in this manner.

Speaker Stresses Needs

Prof. W. I. Smith, associate secretary of Higher Education of the General Conference, and former president of Walla Walla College, in presenting this year's plan during last Monday's chapel period, cited as examples of the existing need two training schools in South America. The teachers there were overburdened with scholastic and missionary work, and finally succumbed to ill health or gave up life itself because of lack of finances.

FALL COUNCIL EVENTS RETOLD BY F. M. WILCOX

Last Sunday morning at 7:30, Elder F. M. Wilcox, editor of the Review and Herald, told the workers of the Publishing Association some points of interest from the Fall Council which he attended at Omaha, Neb.

Elder Wilcox stressed the fact that this gathering was a council of prayer, and that a distinct spiritual influence was felt by all who attended.

Several vacancies in the departments of the General Conference were filled. Elder Carlyle B. Haynes was appointed as General Conference evangelist, and Elder S. A. Ruskjer from Canada was asked to take charge of the South American Division.

Following are some of the foreign visits to be made by General Conference men in the near future: Elder W. H. Branson to the China and the Far Eastern Divisions during the winter; Elder O. Montgomery to the

CAN YOU STUDY?

Study is an art, and like all arts it has rules. Following are a few thoughts, gleaned from a good authority, which may be of interest to students.

The first requisite of study is to read thoughts, not words; to read with a purpose—to recall. Then observe by forming questions and seeking their answers. Analyze, penetrate!

Study as fast as possible all the time—not just at the last moment. Make this a habit. And learn the lesson as a whole, not in disconnected parts. It is easier to grasp, and saves time.

After this, associate. Relate the points studied to something already known. Tie it up to something solid so it won't drift away. Then apply what has been learned and make it real!

Next is the law to repeat. Recite frequently and thoughtfully. And before each change of subject, pause for a few minutes to allow the subconscious mind to assimilate what has been put into it.

This done, the recall is easy. Remember by association. Let general principles bring forth specific examples. Make each thought arouse its brothers. When you have accomplished all this, you are a student!

LECTURE-CONCERT ETIQUETTE

First, last Friday's chapel program on good behavior at public performances was timely.

Second, the Public Speaking I classes gave commendable demonstrations on the right and wrong methods of conduct.

Third, the "bad" audience, whose members chewed gum, talked aloud and left during numbers is typical.

Fourth, the "good" audience, whose members gave undivided attention, sincere applause and left between numbers, is civilized and Christian.

Fifth, Sabbath's sermon on worship reverence by Elder W. R. French was a good reminder of our need for a heart religion that really glorifies our Creator.

Sixth, the quiet, considerate, sincerely appreciated conduct of our audience at the van Hoesen-La Forge concert Saturday night, proved that when we want to, we can behave well.

Seventh, may we not always "let all things be done decently and in order"?

REGRETS AND WELCOME

THE SLIGONIAN regrets to lose its make-up editor, Russell Quackenbush, from the staff. He gave valuable service and proved faithful when the Tuesday night make-up job came around. We wish, in behalf of The Students' Association, to express our appreciation for the time and effort he gave in helping THE SLIGONIAN this semester.

And we welcome Ferdinand Welebir and Arthur McCoy to places on the staff and invite them to share in the problems and long hours of work which are required to make a college paper a success.

RECIPE FOR A DAY

TAKE a little dash of water cold,
 And a little leaven of prayer,
 And a little bit of morning gold,
 Dissolved in the morning air.
 Add to your meal some merriment,
 And a thought for kith and kin,
 And then, as your prime ingredient,
 A plenty of work thrown in.
 And spice it all with the essence of love
 And a little whiff of play;
 Let the wise old Book, and a glance above,
 Complete the well-made day.

—Amos R. Wells.

THE SCRIBBLER

By K. K.

Now that mid-semester exams are out of the way, we have something more definite to work for before the semester is over. That is, removing the "incompletes" which we have made.

And now that Thanksgiving vacation is almost here, we can relax a little before the heavy program of the Xmas vacation, which comes this year and next from Dec. 23 to Jan. 4.

Also the van Hoesen concert is over. It more than came up to our expectations. And we are certain that, if the remaining programs of the course will be as worth while as this one, they will do more than provide, for South Hall girls' scrapbooks, just another article with their escort's name scrawled nervously over the program.

I say, did you ever come up to 15 minutes before a Saturday evening program, and were anxiously waiting for your escort (or ready to leave for the girls' home) and suddenly remember that you had forgotten, during the excitement of getting that first "H. H. L." or "G. E. J." or "M. A.," to send in your laundry? And after searching ruthlessly through your roommate's and next-door neighbor's desks, you gave up the hunt for a laundry slip just in time to stroll into the packed auditorium 10 minutes late? I never have, but isn't college life exciting?

OPEN FORUM LETTER GIVES TIMELY ADVICE

The following letter to Sligonian readers was received at The Sligonian office this week. It is worthy of every reader's attention:

Here comes another issue of The Sligonian filled with news, ads and editorials. Most subscribers read the news, some readers notice the ads, but how many read these editorials?

Really, friends, the material in the editorial column isn't to fill space, or to balance the page. It is there for a purpose. The rest of the paper gives you news. This column gives you views which are meant to be enlightening as well as entertaining. Read them, and see for yourself.

I am not an editor, so I'm not selling my own wares. Watch this column each issue. If you don't, you may miss a surprise in the near future.

—A Student

WEEK OF SACRIFICE IS OBSERVED AT COLLEGE

The speaker invited all to be as responsive in reinforcing the mission treasury as were the princes, in the days of King David when they responded to a call to help build the temple of Jerusalem by donating $2,450,000,000, a sum which if divided into silver dollars and piled eight feet high, would make a wall 72 miles long.

Prof. C. W. Irwin, general secretary of the Department of Education of the General Conference, will address the student body tomorrow morning on another phase of the mission program.

MASTER HAROLD MILLER FRACTURES LEG SKATING

No more school and no more play for six long weeks is the lot that has fallen to Harold Miller, young son of Prof. H. A. Miller. Master Harold's misfortune is due to a badly broken leg caused by a fall received while roller skating near his home over a week ago.

It is necessary that his leg be bound in a cast for six weeks. Harold was a pupil in the Sligo church school.

Capital City Obelisk Is Tallest in World

Among many other national shrines located in Washington and which W. M. C. students have the opportunity of visiting is the Washington Monument.

This magnificent marble obelisk is the tallest piece of masonry in the world. It towers 555 feet, five and one-eighth inches into the air. It is capped with a pyramid of pure aluminum. Begun in 1848, the work was abandoned from 1855 to 1877. It was completed in 1884 at a cost of $1,300,000. The site is said to have been chosen by Washington himself.

A large elevator takes visitors to the top, from which is afforded a panoramic view of the entire city. A winding stairway can also be used to reach the top.

SANITARIUM DIETITIAN HOLDS FIFTH LECTURE

Mrs. Martha Whittier Howe, Washington Sanitarium dietitian, was graduated last June from the University of New Hampshire, taking the highest honors in the class of 312 members. She was the only woman to receive the magna cum laude, the highest honor recognized by that University. Tonight the fifth in a series of 10 classes in nutrition and dietetics will be held under her direction in the Sanitarium gymnasium.

During her training, Mrs. Howe studied in eight universities. At present her daughter, Mrs. M. Howe Bowers, is director of Nursing Education at Loma Linda.

Prof. Weniger Says:

"Three prophetesses have thus far greatly influenced American thought, and of the three the greatest was Ellen Gould White." It was a man of the world speaking, the late Dr. George W. James, to a throng of globe-trotters at the International Exposition in San Diego, Cal., in 1915. And a little later the same summer the editor of The Independent concluded an editorial: "She lived the life and did the work of a worthy prophetess, the most admirable of the American succession."

Lives to Be 87 Years Old

She had just died—this godly woman, who as a frail girl was called to be the handmaid of the Lord, and who throughout her 87 years proved a guiding star to the Advent people. Thinkers were led to reflect upon the strange career of the unschooled woman whose teachings served as an inspiration for the educational program, the health work, the publishing activity, which under God's blessing have made Seventh-day Adventists what they are.

How did Mrs. White exert this influence? From her mind, by the inspiration of God, came 65 volumes of published matter aggregating over 29,000 pages, which if stacked in a pile would equal a man's height. She was probably the most prolific woman writer of all time.

Was Divinely Inspired

But not mere extent of literary productivity proves merit. The highest tribute to the work of this inspired author lies in the fact that every sentence of hers points the reader from the human to the Divine, so that he must exclaim, "Verily, these are the words of eternal life."

How happy it is that such truth is couched in felicitous language. Search the best modern English and you will find no prose more lucid, more sincere, more earnest, more direct and vivid than is the language of what is perhaps her most finished work, "The Desire of Ages." And the other

DO YOU KNOW

That two new men are living in North Hall? They are Louis Mosher of Oshawa, Ontario, and Leslie Schultz of Boston.

That Jack Casey, Irwin Moore and Samuel Clarke spent the week-end in Shenandoah Valley?

That Kenneth Somers, a Famous Fifty-ite, is a licensed life boat man?

That Thomas C. Lupo was a violin instructor in New York City?

That there are 18 Sophomores, 6 Seniors, 5 Juniors, 3 Freshmen and 2 academics on The Sligonian staff?

That Laurence Senseman has in his room a machine-gun shell that can be shot nine miles and can pass entirely through 25 men?

That Sanitarium gardeners have made a beautiful park on the western slope of the San property? The walks have been gravelled and benches have been placed here and there for the use of patients who must rest while taking their exercise.

That the News Writing class spent a laboratory period last Thursday in visiting the College Press?

That Miss Bernice McClary has been ill for several days and that she is rooming in Central Hall under the care of her sister, Mildred?

That the first in a series of lectures by Dr. B. G. Wilkinson was so well attended that many had to stand in the rear of the hall and on the steps?

TRUE WORSHIP URGED BY LOCAL INSTRUCTOR

"When Satan comes to church, he does not sit right up by the pulpit, but sits afar off," asserted Elder W. R. French in the Sligo Church last Sabbath morning during his sermon on "Proper Worship in the House of God."

In stating this, the speaker showed the place of the true worshiper, and how quietness is essential to worship. He brought out the fact that even a theater may become holy ground when it is used as a place of worship. "Children ought to sit with their parents in church," he admonished.

"Our minds cannot be on something else to worship Him acceptably, and our worship is vain if it is not accepted. Love is the basis of worship; obedience is the highest form of worship; true worship is born of trust; and reverence is a synonym of worship," was the conclusion.

WARNING BELL RINGS HOUR BEFORE WORSHIP

At the instigation of Dean Eric Jones, a new plan has been put into effect whereby those who work Friday afternoon may be warned of the approaching hours of the Sabbath.

Just one hour before sunset the fire alarm bell is rung throughout the campus and buildings. This will take place every Friday afternoon and may be distinguished from the regular fire alarm by the fact that the bell rings six times instead of the regular three times.

The purpose of the bell is to warn the workers that all work should be stopped for preparation of the Sabbath in harmony with the words of Mrs. E. G. White: "Guard well the edges of the Sabbath."

Theological Project Shows Much Growth

There is no group of students who are given a more practical education than those of the Theological Department who are officers of the Mt. Pleasant church and Sabbath school.

The church, primarily a project of the Theological Department, has grown to the membership of 90, and new members are added continually as converts except that which is imparted them through Bible studies. Under the guidance of Dr. B. G. Wilkinson, Dean of Theology, and Elder R. F. Farley, the church is at present rounding out its fourth year of service. Though very young, it has maintained a high standard of efficient work both in the Sabbath school and the church. Fifty young men and women, preparing for the ministry or for the Bible work, are vitally interested in this base.

It was at the suggestion of the church board that the theological students assumed full responsibility. Officers acting now in the Sabbath school are: assistant superintendent, William Guthrie; assistant secretaries, Miss Hazel Hanvey and Arthur McCoy; chorister, Leon Robbins; pianist, Mrs. James Stanley; and Kindergarten leaders, Mrs. Dwight Magill, Misses Violet Numbers and Edna Coffren. Church officers are: assistant treasurers, Leon Robbins and Dwight Magill; assistant clerk, Miss Marion Booth; assistant deacons, Wilson Beall and Ray Stockil; assistant deaconesses, Miss Laura Campbell and Mrs. Dwight Magill; assistant Home Missionary secretary, Walter Riston.

WEST COAST FAMILY GIVES BELL PROGRAM

Thursday evening, Nov. 13, at 6:30 the Famous Fifty and Halcyon clubs presented the Charles English family, bell ringers of Alhambra, Cal., to an audience of 300 gathered in Columbia Hall.

The unique program consisted of such well-known pieces as "O' Sole Mio," "Whispering Hope" and a group of southern melodies played with Swiss hand bells, four-in-hand bells, musical glasses and an auto-harp.

This family, composed of father, mother, son and daughter, is the only group of more than three who entertain with such instruments. They have traveled extensively in the United States and in Canada to present their talent. Their 30 musical glasses have been gathered from all parts of the country. The four-in-hand bells which they played are a rarity. There are only two other sets in this country.

HALCYON CLUB MEMBERS ENJOY MUSIC HOUR

Subdued lights and subdued tones created a reverent atmosphere in which Halcyonites enjoyed a musical program during Tuesday evening's worship hour. A reading "My Little White Rose" given by Mrs. H. A. Morrison appropriately followed Miss Jean Wingate's scripture reading from Psalms 81 and 89. The reading so impressed the audience that no applause followed and none was heard throughout the program.

A violin solo by Miss Alice Olsen was followed by a Swedish melody sung by Mrs. A. T. Christiansen in her native tongue. Miss Eunice Graham played on the piano one of her favorite selections.

The three readings which followed struck a responsive chord in the heart of each hearer. Vividly Mrs. Morrison portrayed the story of Eugene Field's "Little Boy Blue" and recalled pleasant memories in her rendition of Edgar Guest's "Heap o' Livin'" and "Mother's Songs." The closing number was a trumpet duet by Misses Marian Booth and Ava Covington.

EXCHANGE

On the inauguration of W. M. C.'s lecture course, it should be of interest to note what other colleges are providing for Saturday evening entertainment. On the evening of Nov. 1, Broadview College, La Grange, Ill., presented Televox, the mechanical man, a demonstration conducted by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Mr. F. A. Wheller, the demonstrator, revealed its uncanny ability to perform many tasks now accomplished by man.

Under the auspices of the Adelphean Club, Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Mass., presented on Nov. 8, "With Byrd at the South Pole," a reel on the recent explorations in the Antarctic.

Sterling K. Gernet, teacher of piano at Union College, College View, Neb., featured in a recital given on the evening of Oct. 25. Brother of Bruce Gernet, W. M. C. class of '29, he has spent previous years in teaching music classes and radio broadcasting in Pennsylvania.

SCHOLARSHIP EARNED BY COLLEGE STUDENT

As a result of working many hours selling "Bedtime Stories" for a few weeks in Cleveland, O., and the magazine Life and Health the remainder of the time at various detours at Norwalk, Mansfield, and Medina, O., Miss Margaret Mettler recently received word that she earned a super-scholarship during the summer vacation.

The value of books and magazines sold was $750, which entitles Miss Mettler to a bonus check of $100. This will be awarded later in the year. Miss Mettler, whose home is in Cleveland, O., is now a college Sophomore at W. M. C. She received her preparatory education at Mt. Vernon Academy, Mt. Vernon, O.

Working with Miss Mettler at the detours was her sister, Frances, who also earned a scholarship. She is a Junior this year at Mt. Vernon Academy.

TRUST IN GOD GIVEN AS REMEDY FOR EVIL

"Evil cannot harm those who put their trust in God," remarked Prof. W. I. Smith, associate secretary of the Educational Department of the General Conference, last Friday night in Columbia Hall.

The speaker carried the students back 4000 years to the birth of Moses, and vividly described the events in his life, laying stress on the lesson of the burning bush.

Moses put his trust in the Lord in every walk of life, and made every experience in the wilderness wanderings count for eternity, were the facts brought out in the meeting.

During the testimony service which followed, many students expressed their determination to put their trust more in the Lord.

South European, South Asia and African Divisions from November, 1930, to September, 1931; Elder M. E. Kern to China from February to June, 1931; Elder G. W. Wells to the Inter-American Division this fall and winter; Elder C. K. Meyers to the Northern and Central European Divisions, Abyssinia, and the East African missions from November, 1930, to May, 1931; Elder Meade MacGuire to the Northern European Division from June to September, 1931; Elder C. H. Watson to the three European divisions, as much time as possible in the summer of 1931.

In his talk Elder Wilcox pointed out the great importance of these visits, for they preserve the unity of the work throughout the world.

SAN WORKERS BEGIN ON INDIVIDUAL GOALS

under the direction of Dr. L. H. Butka. The individual goal for each class is to provide money to buy some instrument or piece of apparatus for this new dispensary. The pictures in the Sanitaqum gym serve as a constant reminder of their goal.

The classes are planning to get an operating table, instrument table, anesthetic tanks and carriage, medicine cabinets, record file desks and beds. The definite class goal idea creates unusual interest in offerings and mission work.

This same group of classes raised $1,760.42 at the end of last quarter when they went way over their Investment and Thirteenth Sabbath goals by several hundred dollars.

TABLE TALK

The college Physiology class recently visited the Washington Sanitarium for the purpose of seeing a fluoroscope examination. Dr. H. T. Morse, internal medicine specialist, conducted the demonstration.

Leonard Ramey, a former W. M. C. student, visited the College last week.

Parents of Miss Louise Archibald and of Robert Daniels were guests at the College over the week-end. They motored from Columbus, O.

Alumna Visits W. M. C.

Miss Rachel Christman and a group of students were guests at the College last week-end from Shenandoah Valley Academy. Miss Christman, W. M. C. graduate of '29, is Dean of Women at the Academy.

A birthday party in honor of Miss Claire Christman was held Saturday evening in South Hall.

President and Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. William Shephard and John T. Hamilton were guests of Prof. and Mrs. G. E. Jones at dinner in North Hall, Sabbath, Nov. 15.

Elder C. V. Leach, president of the Ohio Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, visited his sons, Brainard and Clement, last Sabbath.

Physical Tests Given

During the past two weeks, school home students were given eye, ear, nose and throat examinations, at the Washington Sanitarium as part of the physical examinations held once a year.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Koch and daughters, Ruth and Jeanette, accompanied by Mr. Jennings Ochs, motored from Grottoes, Va., to visit Ethelbert Koch last week-end.

Doctor Visits S. V. A.

Dr. Evelyn Buckheim, Mrs. Samuel Patton and a group of College nurses visited Shenandoah Valley Academy a few weeks ago for the purpose of giving the students their annual health examinations.

Dr. E. Burgenson, recent Loma Linda graduate, is staying at the Sanitarium. She will be connected with that institution during the coming year.

MORE CONSECRATION IS NEEDED, SAYS SPEAKER

"The Seventh-day Adventist movement is a great forward movement, and God wants for His service men and women of conviction who will go forward under any circumstances," declared Elder W. P. Elliott, president of the Potomac Conference, in an appeal to the student body for greater consecration.

The speaker contended that just as battles were won the day before, so young people in college are preparing to win the battle of truth in a tomorrow such as no other generation on this earth has ever faced.

Among the illustrations that were given to prove that the truth prospered in spite of forbidding circumstances, Elder Elliott told how 35 people in the island of Haiti, who had met in a haunted house as a temporary chapel, were baptized in spite of the persistent persecution of the priest in that city.

INDIANS IN CLASS PROGRAM TO TELL OF PILGRIMS

of household duties unknown to modern housewives. The Indians will also tell of the part they played in the lives of the Pilgrims.

Songs and drills of various kinds will be interwoven throughout the program.

STUDENTS OF AFRICA REGISTER FOR STUDY

In pursuit of further education, Miss Anthea R. Lindup and her brother, Rodney Lindup, came to W. M. C. from South Africa last July.

They were born in Maritzburg, the capital of the Province of Natal, South Africa. Their father, a dental surgeon, settled there in early frontier days.

Miss Lindup has received a liberal education in music. She early chose the cello as her instrument, and spent much time improving her talent. She was fortunate to have Miss Rhoda Anderson as her instructor. Often when renowned artists came to the city, she took special lessons from them.

Receives Cello as Gift

Franz Hirst, who had spent twenty years in Germany studying the art of making violins and cellos became interested in Miss Lindup, and made her a cello to suit her special tastes. It took three years to complete this task. Miss Lindup prizes this instrument very highly.

Mr. Lindup was connected with the Singer Sewing Machine Company of South Africa for a number of years, and proved his ability in the business profession.

The Theological Course is Mr. Lindup's choice, and after completing it, he intends to return to Africa to help spread the gospel.

LIBRARY TO ADD NEW BOOKS ON MUSIC ART

The world's master series of music appreciation, "Fundamentals of Musical Art," a 20-volume library of the most famous authors and critics of music, has been ordered for the library.

It is a series that every one can read and understand because of its non-technical and fascinating nature. Some of the titles of the volumes are: "Who's Who in the Orchestra," "Modern Tendencies in Music" and "The Art of Listening." The material is printed on soft opaque laid paper, and is beautifully bound in dark green fabrikoid. The design and lettering are in genuine gold leaf.

Music Relieves Diseases

Among other things, the series will prove that music can relieve and often cure diseases of the body, nerves and mind. It is said of King Philip of Spain that he was so broken in health that he refused to be shaved and appear in public. Then the great singer, Farinilla, sang to him every day, and soon the king was cured.

DR. WILKINSON OPENS NEW LECTURE SERIES

Bergman has assisted the effort in previous years, playing a decided role in making the meetings of a worthwhile nature to the public.

Miss Ruth Lindup, instructor in cello at the College, played two beautiful cello solos. She was accompanied by Russell MacMeans at the piano. Prof. H. A. Miller is in charge of the music.

GATEWAY TO SERVICE ENROLLS NEARLY 400

Three hundred and seventy-four students are now enrolled in the courses offered at Washington Missionary College. Students have come from far and near to avail themselves of the opportunities at "The Gateway to Service."

Men and women in the college courses number 213. Seventy-seven represent the Freshmen. Last year's Freshman Class, now Sophomores, consists of 69. The Junior Class presents 41 students, and the field is soon to receive 26 recruits, representatives of the Senior Class.

The classifying of students according to courses which they are following gives the General College Course 83; Premedical, 43; Theological, 36; Normal, 12; College Nurses', 10; Commercial, 9; Home Economics, 8; Bible Workers', 5; Dietetics, 4; Music Conservatory, 2; Teachers' Training Course for Graduate Nurses, 1.

There are 127 youth in the academy.

Prof. Weniger Says

volumes of "The Conflict Series," "Education," and so on, exhibit the same striking rhetorical qualities.

For sublimity of thought and majesty in simplicity read Chapter 78 of "The Desire of Ages." For exquisite portraiture read the Gethsemane pictures in Chapter 74.

For epigram consider among hundreds, these: "To give is to live" (p. 623). "Heaven is a ceaseless approaching to God through Christ" (p. 331).

For perfect balance, note these sentences: "Men hate the sinner, while they love the sin. Christ hates the sin, but loves the sinner." (p. 462).

Friends, let's not neglect the gems of spiritual thought encased in the casket of beautiful English of the latter-day Spirit of Prophecy. Let's read it, let's love it, let's follow it. Then our hearts will burn within us while He talks with us by the way.
—C. E. Weniger.

Editor's Note: Next week Elder R. F. Farley will contribute an article on "Thanksgiving."

NOTES NOT USED IN FIRST LYCEUM NUMBER

The entire program of both piano and vocal selections, was presented without notes. The last group on the program consisted of compositions of Mr. La Forge sung pleasingly by Mr. van Hoesen in his warm baritone voice. He showed a wide range, and proved a splendid interpreter of various moods and fancies.

Remember When Irons Were "SAD"?

It hasn't been so many years ago that every family had its "sad" iron. What better name could have been bestowed upon this unfortunate creature? . . . Placed upon a hot stove, removed and made to quickly cool by being pushed back and forth over damp clothes . . . and then put back on the stove to heat up again.

What a difference modern times have made! Now, the electric iron is plugged into a convenient light socket where it heats to just the right degree . . . automatically controlled by a thermostat that makes it possible for you to select the heat you want . . . and maintains it constantly.

Electrically operated ironing machines have also found many friends in home-makers who appreciate the extra hours of leisure which they afford. You should really see how they work . . . Ask your neighborhood electrical dealer to demonstrate one to you.

Ironing, once so tedious, is now a pleasure. "Matchless Service" will operate your ironing machine or automatic iron for only a few pennies.
