DEDICATION OF THE BROOKLYN ENGLISH CHURCH

THE dedicatory exercises of the Brooklyn English church occurred on Sabbath, May 10. The exercises were of a very simple and impressive nature. The address was given by Elder A. G. Daniells, and assisting him were Elder J. C. Stevens, pastor of the church, Elder J. E. Jayne, the conference president, Elder A. T. Robinson, president of the Southern New England Conference, Elder B. E. Miller, pastor of the Brooklyn German church, and Elder W. R. Andrews.

The history of the church was given by the pastor. Thirty-one years ago, the work began in Brooklyn under the leadership of Elder A. T. Robinson and his wife. At the close of a summer's effort the church was organized in the parlor of a private home. For nearly as many years as Israel wandered in the wilderness this church went from home to home, from hall to hall, and from church to church. For nearly a quarter of a century it was served largely by local elders under whose leadership there was a steady, but not a large growth.

About ten years ago Elder A. V. Cotton was called to work in Brooklyn, and under his leadership the Academy of Music, Brooklyn's most central and popular auditorium. During Elder Stevens' labors in Brooklyn there have been two hundred and forty persons baptized, making a present membership of over four hundred.

About a year ago it became evident that this church needed a home of its own. Search being made, a beautiful building was found on the corner of Greene and Patchen Avenues which could be purchased for twenty-five thousand dollars, fully equipped for immediate use with a seating capacity of six hundred. Representatives from the General there came new life and increased membership. This growth continued under the leadership of Elder E. L. Cardey, so that in the spring of 1915, when he was called to the Boston field, the church had reached a membership of two hundred.

BROOKLYN ENGLISH CHURCH

At that time Elder J. C. Stevens took up the work. Since coming to Brooklyn he has held four tent and three hall efforts. The one for the past winter was held in Conference Committee and Atlantic Union Conference met with the Greater New York Conference Committee, and after investigation it was unanimously decided to purchase this property. The General and Atlantic Union Conferences very generously agreed to provide $5,000 which, with another $5,000 to be raised by the church, made the necessary $10,000 for the first cash payment. During the year an additional

$2,500 has been raised, making it necessary to raise at the dedication only $2,500 more to reduce the debt of the building to the original first mortgage of $10,000. This amount was raised, and the Brooklyn church-members are today rejoicing in the prosperity that is attending their efforts to provide themselves with this home.

This is a strong, solid, faithful church, and its growth in tithes and offerings has been commensurate with its growth in membership.

The address given by Elder Daniells awakened memories of bygone days as he carried us back to his old home and told us of the little meeting-house, eighteen by twenty-four feet in size, within the walls of which he first worshiped with this people. He forcibly impressed upon our minds and hearts that it is not the largeness of the temple, the beauty of its architecture, the grandeur of its material equipment, that gives strength to an organization, but the spirit and truth represented by its membership.

The history of the Brooklyn church is but the history of other like efforts in many places. The stake driven by Elder A. T. Robinson thirty-one years ago has never been pulled. Each succeeding year it has been driven deeper. Cords fastened to it have been lengthened, until today we have the German, the Brooklyn Number Two, the Swedish, and the Danish-Norwegian churches as the result of the work begun so many years ago.

What a glorious message we have! What a mighty power is in it! To have even a small part in its proclamation is an honor to any individual.

W. R. ANDREWS.

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE new building at Pigeon Hill, erected for a meeting-house and church school, will be dedicated Sunday, June 1, at 2 P. M., in connection with a two-day's meeting continuing over Sabbath and Sunday. Elder Verrill, who has been instrumental in the construction of this building and the establishment of the church at this place, especially requests the attendance of near-by churches and all who can be present. This will be an important meeting. Everybody come.

Nearest railroad stations are Mechanic Falls and Oxford.

JUNE MEETING

It is planned to hold an old-fashioned meeting at Bath, Maine, June 27, 28, and 29, at which time the church building will be dedicated.

When the submarines were destroying so many ships, the city of Bath became a great center for ship-building. Many came from different parts of the country to work in the shipyards. Elder Sanderson was quick to see an opportunity to advance the message in the city and surrounding country.

He rented the North Street Baptist church, and soon it was overflowing with eager listeners. It then developed that the church must be purchased or the meetings closed. We could not think of closing, so the church was bought, and when you come to the dedication, which will occur at the time of the June meeting, you will be pleasantly surprised, we think, not only at the beautiful accommodations and surroundings, but to meet the large company of believers now worshipping there from Sabbath to Sabbath, many of whom are new in the faith.

This meeting will be a very important one from first to last. Brother and Sister Skaling are conducting a restaurant near by, and lodging will be provided by the entertainment committee.

Elder Sanderson and his faithful helpers have been working very hard, and you know how glad they will be to meet you all and share with you in their blessings and labor for a new impetus in the summer's work.

FIELD DAY AT PIGEON HILL

THE little church at Pigeon Hill started out on its first field day Thursday, May 15. Brother Maurice Bailey, from the Lewiston church, and Brother Chester Perkins, our home missionary secretary, led out in the campaign. He went to Norway with three of the older members of the church, and in a very few hours they put ninety-eight "World Peace" and about one hundred Present Truth leaflets into the homes there. They solicited for the books and brought home nearly twenty-eight dollars. Brother Bailey and others went to Mechanic Falls and Hebron and met like success.

In the evening we all met at Sister Record's home, where we related our experiences. It was indeed inspiring to hear the testimonies of these dear brethren and sisters who had a little part in the Lord's work. We found the people anxious to help out in the home missionary work, and each of us thoroughly enjoyed working for souls. Nearly two hundred books were distributed during the day. The profits were given for the benefit of the new church school building which is just being completed at Pigeon Hill. Every one is looking forward to our next field day.

ITEMS

MISS HELEN COBB, who has been nursing in Camden for several weeks, is now assisting in the care of Sister Howe, who is some better.

Elder Carr and Brother Covey visited Cliff Island the first of the week to plan with the brethren for colporteurs to work along the coast and among the islands this summer.

Brother Osterblom spent a few days last week at the Review and Herald office in New York in the interests of our book stand order for camp-meeting. It is none too early to begin to plan to attend our annual camp-meeting, which is to be held at Lewiston August 22-31.

Elder E. L. Cardey spoke in the White Memorial church Sunday evening, May 20, to a full house. The theme "Will the League of Nations Establish Peace" has aroused interested thought in the city and liberal notice in the daily paper. His son, Norman, and four ladies came with him in the auto.

Elder C. T. Everson spoke to the people of Bath Sunday evening, May 20. The large auditorium of the North Street Seventh-day Adventist church was packed. Several took their stand for the Sabbath. Sister Everson accompanied her husband. They made a short call at Portland.

Mrs. H. W. Carr received a message from her nephew, Mr. Roy Brown, of his safe arrival in New York City May 20, from Liverpool, England, where he was stationed in the navy a few months after leaving Queenstown, Ireland. He has been in the service twelve months.

THE Sabbath-school spirit is good in Southern New England, but we hope to make it better and stronger, so that not one of our church-members will be content to remain outside the doors of the Sabbath-school.

The first rally day program to be carried out in this conference was at Meriden, May 17, with Mrs. Eldridge, the superintendent, in charge. It was a success in every way even to the rally day luncheon. The members wore neat little pen-nants with "Rally Day" printed on them in gold letters. As I listened to these carefully prepared articles, I could not help thanking God for our dear Sabbath-school. I hope not a school, no matter how small, will fail to have this program, for it is just full of good things—things that if carried out will surely prepare us for the Sabbath-school in the new earth. I know the members of the Meriden school have received a new inspiration to raise their school to a much higher standard.

The Missionary Volunteers are doing a good work. We have just one hundred names enrolled. Almost half that number are young persons and children. The honor roll includes only those that are up-to-date with the assignments.

Last week I received a package from the Guilford juniors containing eight nicely made scrap-books for the crippled children in a home near Hartford. The Hartford juniors are also making some for this home.

One very rainy day, on our way to the Amston school, which is about three miles along country roads and through the woods, we met one of our sisters and her little granddaughter on their way to the village about a mile and a half distant to distribute Present Truth. They had planned to do missionary work that day, and not even a steady down-pour of rain could keep them back. When we all get to the place that nothing can hinder us in the work for the Lord, the work of giving this last message will soon be finished.

The children in this conference are to receive the very best attention that is possible to give them at the coming camp-meeting. They are to have the very best time of their lives, and plans are being made which we hope will make this a fact. Later I will tell them some of the good things that we are planning for them, but they must begin now to help their fathers and mothers save for the camp-meeting. They must save their pennies and dimes, so that every member of the family can attend.

I should be glad to hear from the children as to what they would like to do at camp-meeting. It will be held at the same place as last year, and we sincerely hope that every little child in this conference will be there.

NEARLY ANOTHER MONTH TO PREPARE FOR OUR ANNUAL MEETING

Do NOT wait until the last week before our annual meeting begins to make the required preparations to attend. Lest some one has forgotten, we again repeat that the meeting will be held in Elmwood Music Hall, corner Elmwood and Virginia Streets, Buffalo, N. Y., June 20-30.

This year the weather will be no handicap, for the meeting is to be held in a most comfortable hall where the health of those in attendance will not be jeopardized by being exposed to cold, damp, and rainy weather. Both the little ones and the aged can attend without endangering their health.

If the earnest appeals made in former years to attend our annual meetings by Sister White were necessary and important, how much more important such appeals are today when we are so many more years nearer the consummation of all things. Certainly we need the Spirit's power as never before to meet the assaults of the enemy of all truth who is trying with all of his Satanic power to overthrow God's people.

When so many unheard of things are taking place both outside and inside of the church, many will be shaken out unless their hold upon God is firm. But we are assured "that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." The experience outlined in these wonderful words will not be ours unless we comply with the conditions upon which the promises are made. Here are some of them: Joel 2: 15-17; Heb. 10: 25; Zeph. 21: 1-3.

The import of these scriptures is that in these perilous times God's people should assemble together and seek him for the needed strength that will enable us to be "more than conquerors." No sacrifice that we can make for ourselves and families will be too great if we can be assured of salvation and a home in the kingdom of God.

K. C. RUSSELL.

MINISTERIAL HELP FOR OUR ANNUAL MEETING

I AM pleased to announce the names of a number of ministers who are to attend our coming conference, June 20-30.

Professor J. L. Shaw, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the General Conference, will represent the General Conference.

Elder Carlyle B. Haynes will conduct the evening services during our conference. Elder Haynes has been engaged in the evangelistic work for a number of years, laboring in Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Atlanta, Ga., and other cities in the South. Our own people, besides many others who are not Seventh-day Adventists, have learned of Elder Haynes through the books he has written and the articles from his pen through the columns of our various periodicals. He is the author of "The Other Side of Death," "Spiritualism versus Christianity," "Our Lord's Return," "The Christian Sabbath," and "Bible Prophecies Unfolding."

Our plan is to have Elder Haynes present the great cardinal features of the third angel's message during the ten or twelve evening services that will be held during our annual meeting. Heretofore at our general gatherings we have had a different speaker each evening, but this year we are going to adopt the plan of one minister's conducting all of the evening services with the hope of reaching a climax before the meeting is over that will result in a goodly number taking their stand for the truth.

We are also pleased to announce that Professor C. T. Everson, of Greater New York, has given us encouragement that he will be with us a portion of the time during our annual meeting.

Besides the ministers we have already indicated, Elder R. D. Quinn, Doctor D. H. Kress, and other representatives from the Atlantic Union will be present. Our local workers will also be present to do personal work with all who may become interested.

We urge that our people in every church induce their friends and neighbors who are convinced of the truths of this message to attend our annual meeting with the hope that they may decide to obey it. All should refrain from arguing with the people who may be in attendance.

None should fail to be present and get a knowledge of the truth in its new setting, that will enable them to return to their homes and pass the message on to others who have never heard it.

K. C. RUSSELL.

ONCE more we are glad to be able to report. The Sabbath-school membership is a little smaller than the membership of the conference. This indicates that there are some persons within our borders who are not members of the Sabbath-school who should be. If those who are not members should offer as their excuse for not joining the impossibility of their attending, they should study the home department figures. These figures, you will notice, are especially good, but would be larger should all who cannot attend Sabbath-school become members of this department. We trust before the end of the year we can say that every member of our conference is a member of the Sabbath-school either through the home department or through the regular schools. If this were the case the membership of the Sabbath-school would far exceed the membership of the churches, for children of Sabbath-keepers who are not old enough to join the church can become members of the Sabbath-school.

We are glad to be able to report a substantial gain of this quarter over the corresponding quarter of last year.

Looking into the immediate future, we wish to call your special attention to rally day. Plans are already laid for this, and we trust every Sabbath-keeper in our conference will have a very definite part to perform on that day. We trust that all will attend some school in our conference, even if it means a sacrifice to do so.

In order for us to have the assistance of the laborers of the conference, it has been necessary for us to change the date of rally day to June 14. We hope that this will be the beginning of another forward movement. Every step must be in advance, and we believe that the future looks bright for the Sabbath-school work in our conference.

LEBANON DISTRICT

IN our experience meeting on Sabbath we heard of the interesting experiences which three of our sisters had when out on an auto trip selling books.

As the first lady told her experience we immediately caught the enthusiasm which she possessed. The second told how her husband volunteered to take them in his car to sell books. The third said she was on her way to a special sale that afternoon, but when she met the others she gladly joined them. On the way she canvassed a group of men who were fixing the road. She sold two books to the leader and ten to the rest of them. Each sold twenty books that afternoon notwithstanding the scattering territory, hills, and mountains.

In addition to the home missionary work and other interests in our district, we are holding at Lebanon a Bible class, which is for the purpose of better enabling our new Sabbath-keepers to give a reason for the hope they hold so precious. Oral reviews are a strong feature, thus clinching the most important truths.

We thank God there are a few souls awaiting baptism besides others who are interested.

BURLINGTON

LAST Wednesday evening the Burlington church school closed with an interesting program. The church was nicely decorated and presented a very pleasing appearance.

The program rendered was enjoyed by all present. The way in which each child did his part showed that careful training had been given him by the teacher.

Although the children are quite young, an active interest has been taken in all missionary enterprises. Hundreds of magazines have been sold. Enough money has been raised to adopt a little Armenian girl for one year. Ten reading course certificates have been issued to the school, and several of the pupils are taking the Bible Year, and are right up to date. This is surely encouraging.

The last number on the program was one of interest to us all. Elder Altman spoke in behalf of the school board and patrons, expressing appreciation for the service rendered by Miss Kinney during the past year. Miss Kinney was asked to come forward, and Elder Altman, in behalf of the church, presented her with a twenty-dollar gold piece, thus expressing in a tangible way their gratitude.

At the close of the program an exhibition of the children's drawing, sewing, and carpentry was given in the schoolroom.

OUR CAMP-MEETING

IN about two weeks from the time this issue of the GLEANER is being read the Massachusetts camp-meeting will be opening. This will be a meeting of unusual importance, not only because this is the year to elect the officers of the conference for the coming term of two years, but because of the increasing solemnity of the times. Our experience within the last year with epidemics and war restrictions shows us that our privilege of freely assembling in this way may at any time be curtailed, if not entirely lost. We should therefore greatly prize the opportunity of coming together at this time.

The conference committee, at recent meetings, has given much attention to plans for the meeting, and has appointed sub-committees to take charge of various features of the work, which are already at work. A large number of requests for rooms or tents have come in, and beginning June 2 active work will begin in preparing the grounds for the meeting.

All lines of departmental work will receive attention at the meeting, and we expect excellent help from the General Conference, as well as from the Atlantic Union. We cannot as yet give a full list of all visiting laborers, but among those who may be present are Elder J. L. Shaw, associate secretary of the General Conference; Brother J. W. Mace, of the Review and Herald; Miss Matilda Erickson, of the Missionary Volunteer Department. These, with others who may come, and the laborers of the Atlantic Union and our local conference, will unite in doing all they can for the spiritual uplift of all. If you have not yet laid your plans to attend do so now by all means. Come prepared to use the time in seeking the Lord together.

One special feature of the meeting will be a field day with the new book "World Peace in the Light of Bible Prophecy." On that day regular services will be suspended, and all will go to nearby places to place these wonderful little books in the hands of the people. Already over seven thousand eight hundred of these books have been sold from this office, and the territory near South Lancaster has been reserved for this special effort; so come prepared for this bit of practical work along a line which is of great benefit both to those who take part in it and to those who receive the books. Several thousand of these books will be on hand, and those not sold on the field day will be available for you to take to your homes to continue the work. A full line of our publications will be displayed at the book tent as well as a fine assortment of Bibles.

Come prepared to stay through the meeting, and if possible bring interested friends with you.

RALPH BROWN, eight-year-old son of Sister Anna Brown, of Pompey, who died recently, has been placed in the care of Supreme Court Justice Kiley, of Cazenovia. While the orphan boy will receive excellent care, it is to be regretted that he is not in a good Seventh-day Adventist family.

In the comparative table issued recently by the Atlantic Union home missionary department, Eastern New York occupied second place in January, fifth place in February, and second place again in March. It should encourage our members to know their efforts compare favorably with those of the other conferences' home missionary work.

THE use of foreign literature, magazines and tracts, especially in German, Polish, Yiddish, and Italian, is steadily increasing in the city churches of the conference. In canvassing certain quarters of Syracuse, Albany, and other cities in the "World Peace" campaign, workers found it very profitable to carry a small supply of magazines of this character to satisfy the demands of foreigners in these localities. Brethren Kinney and Howeth, of the Syracuse church, report excellent success and interesting experiences in this work.

THE JUNIOR COLLEGE

ITEMS

WEDNESDAY evening, May 21, the closing festivities of the school year began with a good band concert in the college chapel.

Thursday evening there followed the one event that all look forward to—class night. From the time the president arose with a welcome to all to the close of the valedictory, the audience sat straight in the pews with unusual interest.

The last students' meeting of the year is always bright in a student's memory wherever he be during the summer. Doctor Olsen spoke that night to an interested audience of students and friends.

A vision of "True Greatness" came to every one listening to the baccalaureate sermon which was given by Elder H. S. Premier on Sabbath morning. True greatness comes to the one who does his utmost in service for others. "Loyalty, Justice, Courage" is needed in the closing message to be given to the world and then when the work is done a new meaning comes to L. J. C.—Lord Jesus Come.

Thursday morning in chapel the commercial students gave an excellent demonstration of their work during the year. Many of them received certificates from that department. On the afternoon of the same day the annual exhibition of the sewing department was given in the sewing room. Eight girls from that department received their diplomas in chapel on Monday morning.

Saturday evening the students of the Music Department gave a recital in the college chapel, and the college chorus gave its annual recital Sunday evening. The room was crowded, and all enjoyed the excellent programs rendered.

An unusually large number of parents and friends are spending commencement week with us.

"Efficiency" was the subject of Elder Longacre's powerful commencement address, given in the church Monday night. He held up Christ as the most efficient man that ever lived and he "went about doing good."

OUR BOOK WORK

OUR summaries for March and April show the same continued progress of the year. Substantial gains have been made in most all of the conferences. We believe these early reports for the year and the gains made are only an indication of larger things to be accomplished.

It is most encouraging to note the excellent reports now coming from our colporteurs. Right in the heart of New York City last week two of our colporteurs report sales for $131.25 and $121 respectively. We are witnessing a new development as regards the sales of our large books in the cities, and it is being demonstrated by our men now in the field that we can expect the same results in our city work as formerly experienced in rural districts.

Surely the Lord is going before the faithful colporteur. On every hand we see his special providences opening the way, giving the workers success and many rich experiences in their labors.

E. E. FRANKLIN.
