GENERAL ARTICLES

A GREAT MEETING IN GREATER NEW YORK

Accompanied by Elder C. A. Scriven, of the Union office, I attended the general meeting held in New York City, Sabbath, the 14th. I consider this one of the most important meetings it has been my privilege to attend in the Atlantic Union Conference. The Greater New York Committee had planned to call in the entire membership of their conference, with the exception perhaps of some up-state members, to spend an entire Sabbath day in earnest study and prayer for the consideration of a movement toward a greater soul-winning program. This meeting was held in the Academy of Music in Brooklyn. This place will seat 2,500 which made it easy to determine the number in attendance, for the place was taxed to its fullest capacity with quite a number standing.

It was a most inspiring scene to see, in the midst of that great city, a congregation of 2,500 people representing a dozen or more races and languages grouped in their various sections, yet bound together in spirit and purpose by this message which has called them out. At our best attended campmeetings we seldom get 50% of our members on the best days. It can be easily realized that this was a great occasion for Greater New York for 2,500 representatives, nearly the entire active membership of the conference.

After an interesting and well organized Sabbath school, Elder L. K. Dickson, the president of the conference, occupied the hour in presenting in a most forceful and logical way God's plan and purpose for the entire membership to become active in soul-winning work. The sermon was timely and effective. At its close, as far as we could see, every member of this great congregation entered into a consecration and pledge to a more active soul-winning endeavor.

After a brief intermission an afternoon session was held with Elder O. Montgomery, of the General Conference, as the leading speaker, but with a number of others taking part. The good work done in the forenoon was carried through to the close, and it was truly a most inspiring occasion to all. During the afternoon session between 600 and 700 young people were called to a meeting in an adjoining hall where Professor A. W. Spalding carried on an inspiring and most effective line of study.

More will be reported in detail of this important meeting. I look upon it as a beginning of most important work in this great conference. We are in fullest sympathy with the movement and earnestly pray that it may mark the beginning of a mighty work in individual endeavor in Greater New York, and that a similar work may be inspired in a larger measure throughout our field.

$150,000 SALE

I want to express my appreciation to the Atlantic Union colporteurs for your untiring efforts in making it possible to reach our Union goal of $150,000. Our sales for the year were $150,195. This means long hours for many, and tired and blistered feet; it means that the wife remained at home many times lonely and worn with the duties of home, and without her husband; but remember, dear workers, that a great reward such as eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, awaits those who endure to the end. I want to thank the praying people of our churches and institutions who remember the colporteurs at the family altar each day.

We greatly rejoice to see Greater New York start off with $5104. for their first two weeks of 1928.

Northern New England has brighter prospects for winter work than they have had for many years. There are about eight faithful men who are going right through the winter with their work. Brother Griffis has been putting in over forty hours a week, and others doing well.

Southern New England is making splendid progress also. Just a brief experience from one of their colporteurs. Brother Stewart who recently started in the work, called at a home, and the lady came to the door. He said, "I am a gospel colporteur." She said, "You can't come in. I have a sick child in the first place, and second, I have been receiving Seventh-day Adventist literature and know they are right, so you could not help me." After explaining that he was a Seventh-day Adventist, he got in and sold her a book. He said it was the happiest hour of his life.

Brother Maris writes me that his courage is good, and the prospects are bright for the book work in New York. Our 1928 goal is $160,000.

Let us pray that as the Lord lays the burden of souls upon those who he is calling to the colporteur work they may respond. We have a number of sections in our Union where there is no representative of the message. A wonderful opportunity for the right families to do evangelistic canvassing. H. F. Kirk.

TWO GREAT CAMPAIGNS

Late in September, 1918, after complete preparations had been made, a gigantic offensive was launched along the whole battle front by the Allied forces. The object of this drive was to sever one or both of two railroad lines uniting the central forces with their base of supplies. The ultimate objective of this being to bring the war to a close. It was a bitter campaign from the moment it was launched until it ended at eleven o'clock November 11, when the firing ceased. The campaign had resulted in victory for the Allied forces and the war was over.

February 12-25 there is to be launched throughout North America a campaign of greater importance than that which was launched on the western front, back in those never-to-be-forgotten days. This campaign does not have for its objective the overthrow of armies, but rather a victory over the prince of the power of the air; to set the captives free and to bring a deeper experience to men through a knowledge of the third angel's message. This is to be accomplished during these two weeks by largely increasing the circulation of our pioneer missionary paper, the "Signs of the Times." Down through the years we have had demonstrated to our satisfaction, time and time again, that the "Signs" wins souls. It is without question the best missionary periodical published. As the army of the Lord moves forward in this great soul-winning campaign with the "Signs" beginning February 12, will you be in the ranks contributing your part toward a "Signs" circulation of 100,000?

C. A. Scriven.

THE SIGNS CAFETERIA

The Menu for 1928

In the old-time restaurant the dishes were few. There was little variation or opportunity for selection. A person had either to eat the one or two things set before him or go without. But in our modern cafeterias the hungry man walks beside long serving tables which fairly groan with their load of appetizing foods in a hundred forms. If he does not like vegetable soup, he may take either pea or tomato soup. If he does not care for white bread, then here is graham or whole-wheat.

The "Signs of the Times" is made on the cafeteria plan. It believes that if a good Presbyterian picks up an issue he may not be attracted to an article on baptism or the millennium, but may be interested in the state of the dead. A Methodist may not care for the article on the state of the dead, but will eagerly read our interpretation of the millennial period. A Baptist may be interested in the second coming of Christ where other subjects would not appeal to him.

Last year, 1927, we had 721 articles and editorials in the "Signs," an average of 14½ in each issue. This assures such a boundless variety of topics in each week's paper, that no matter into whose hands it falls—be he educated or uneducated, church member or worldling, fundamentalist or evolutionist, Protestant or Catholic—every reader will find one or more articles which will catch his eye and appeal to his appetite. A bait in each issue appealing to the various kinds of fishes—that's our aim. If we don't catch them on one hook, then just over the page is another hook which will get them.

Here are a few samples of our menu for 1928 which will indicate the great variety of converting articles on the fundamentals of Seventh-day Adventism, which the "Signs" taken in this present campaign will bring to you and your friends:

A series of 15 articles on "Daniel and Revelation" by Elder John L. Shuler. A series of 25 wonderful articles on the "Sabbath Question" by Elder Carlyle B. Haynes. The "Eastern Question in the Light of Revelation 16, a group of articles by Frederick Lee, editor of the Chinese "Signs of the Times." The "Purpose of the Millennium," by Elder C. K. Meyers. An "Exposition of the Book of Hebrews," by W. W. Prescott. The "Sabbath and Evolution," by George McCready Price. "What Christ Means to the Christian," a series by Elder I. H. Evans, and another series by Sister Evans, "Gospel Triumphs in the Orient." Ten articles on the "State of the Dead," by Elder M. L. Andreasen. "God's Plan for This World," by Elder E. K. Slade, and "Bible Prophecies Fulfilled in the 19th and 20th Centuries," by John L. Shuler, are two powerful series on the second coming of Christ. "The Second Coming of Christ as Seen by the Minor Prophets" is another series by Elder J. N. Anderson. The "Ask the Doctor Page," and "The Decalogue of Health," by Dr. Lenore Campbell will be two health features. C. K. Meyers will also contribute a series on "The Spiritual Values in the Sabbath." "Modern Superstitions in Religion" is the title of a series by Elder E. Kotz. Professor H. E. Giddings has given us a series of eight articles on "The Law," and Elder N. S. Ashton on "The Law and the Sabbath." "The Millennium" is the topic Taylor G. Bunch writes on; Professor G. F. Wolfkill on "The First Angel's Message."

Be it understood that these are only some of the series we will run. We also will have many independent articles on the conditions in the world which fulfil prophecy, on religious liberty, and scores of other subjects. The editorial pages will

MISSIONARY VOLUNTEERS

Officers' meetings, well-studied plans, the annual enrolment, good leadership and a large attendance at the meetings, are all indications of the M. V. work progressing. Our societies are doing excellent work. Somehow our plans seem to show new life in many places. We are moving ahead as a unit, and hopeful for our heaven-given program's triumph. Our Missionary Volunteer organization is more than conducting good programs for the society. There is a work to be done for the youth about us. The church needs our cooperation in her appointed task. The whole world presents a field for Missionary Volunteer endeavor. Volunteers, this is the hour of our opportunity; let's enter into God's plans with consecration and earnestness.

Sabbath School Leaders

Confident of the blessing of God in our Sabbath school work for 1928, our officers are pressing ahead with courage and enthusiasm. Some of our superintendents are carrying very heavy responsibilities for the school, and it is good to note their painstaking efforts to study methods of successful leadership. With many the life of the the Sabbath school is the great object of their life interest. Around the school centers every effort to advance, and to plan for soul-winning. Her progress is the source of holy joy; her plans are a stimulus for Bible study and development. Such devotion must be crowned with success. Such a leadership deserves the cooperation of the entire church membership. Let us all press on to make the Sabbath school all God planned for it.

COLPORTEUR PROGRESS

The first two weeks of colporteur work, since our fine institute, have just been concluded. Our institute occupied the first half of January, so these two-weeks' work represent our monthly report for January. We are glad to report that our sales for this month total $5104.00. This represents a $700.00 gain over our January sales for the year 1927. Forty-five colporteurs are now devoting their full time to this high order of missionary work. The Lord is blessing their faithfulness with good sales, and many encouraging experiences. We invite you to remember this army of house-to-house workers in your prayers.

EXPERIENCE OF THE BIBLE WORK

For some time I have been visiting and studying with a very prominent member, a local missionary of one of the branches of the A. M. E. Church. This lady has become very much interested in the study of the fundamental principles of this message. She has read several of our books, large and small, including "Daniel and the Revelation." From the many studies held with her, she has been so impressed with the real food obtained from studying the Bible that she not only uses quotations from our magazine, "Signs of the Times", in her church work to the entire satisfaction of her people, but last Sunday evening I accepted an invitation from her to have a study at her Christian Endeavor Meeting on the subject, "What Difference Does Reading the Bible Make?"

Surely this was an opportunity to give the message to more than could have gathered together in a home, for which I was glad. There are those in the other churches whose hearts are quite open to listen to the story of the gospel. May the Lord give them the desire to obey. The invitation has been to return to this church again sometime. There is also a member among them who desires Bible studies at home. May the light shine in the heart of this missionary to the obedience of the truth.

COLPORTEUR ITEMS

We were favored with a visit from Elder Kirk over the week-end last week. Thursday we went to Auburn where we attended one of the meetings being conducted in Odd Fellows' Hall by Elders Capman and Gram. We found an enthusiastic company of people gathered in one of the rooms where they were holding the meeting. I am certain these brethren will appreciate the prayers of our people, as it is a difficult thing to get many people out to evangelistic meetings in these larger places.

Friday morning, we went out to the Academy. Elder Kirk spoke at the chapel period and the students listened attentively to the many colporteur experiences he related to them. We organized a colporteur band of about twenty students that are already laying their plans to canvass this summer. They elected Mr. Roland McIntosh, who has been a very successful student colporteur, as their leader, and they are planning for some interesting and helpful meetings each week. We greatly appreciate the encouragement these teachers are giving the students in this line of work.

Parents, how I wish you might have attended the student's prayer meeting Friday evening! I don't know when anything has touched my heart so much as the earnest testimonies of those dear students. Parents, your sacrifices to keep your boy or girl in school are a thousand fold repaid. I have been in close touch with our schools as a student, as a teacher, and as a conference worker for twelve years now and I have never seen a better spirit in any school than is in Pine Tree Academy. The students love their work and are cooperating enthusiastically with the teachers to make their school the very best.

As we see on every hand the disastrous spiritual condition of our young people who have to go to the public schools, what a contrast our schools present when we see all the students in our academy standing on their feet testifying how they appreciate the privilege of attending a Christian school to prepare themselves for a place in God's work. Fathers and mothers, there is no sacrifice you can make that is too great in order to keep those young people in a Christian school like Pine Tree Academy. Our hearts are burdened for the dozens of other young people throughout the conference that should be there too, if only some of us as parents, lay members, and conference workers would be willing to make a bigger sacrifice.

I know all our people throughout the field will be glad to know that our colporteurs are making a real gain January this year over January last year. Last year we made a $400.00 gain over the previous year for the first month. This year we have made over a $1,000.00 gain over January last year, or approximately 100% gain. We praise the Lord for helping our colporteurs to have this increased success. When we speak in dollars and cents concerning our gains in sales, it actually means that much more truth placed in the homes of the people. The servant of God tells us the colporteur work is going forward with increasing success.

B. M. Preston.

P. T. A. BOOSTER'S CAMPAIGN

To our friends I would like to say that we recently launched our campaign for improvements at Pine Tree Academy for the year 1928. Students and teachers have entered into this very enthusiastically. In the very near future it is planned to write to every friend of the school that we know of. We trust that the same hearty response, that they have always received from our good people, will be given to our students this year. When a letter comes to you from some earnest student, who is trying to do all he can for P. T. A., please do not lay the letter aside, but write a kind letter with a good substantial donation. Remember, we are making workers as well as building up an excellent school plant for the young people who are fortunate enough to be born at the fountainhead of this message.

Brother Donald Ellis is in charge of the campaign this year. I wish that you could have been in the chapel the other morning when the campaign started. The posters, goal chart and booster cartoons would have aroused your interest. Young people have a way of doing things that is contagious.

Please make checks and money orders payable to Pine Tree Academy.

Irville A. Armstrong.

SANITARIUM SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION

Sabbath, January 28, was a sort of red-letter day in the history of the sanitarium church and Sabbath school. At the chapel service on Friday evening the keynote of the convention was sounded in earnest. Timely addresses were given by Eld. W. C. Moffett, president of the Southern New England Conference, Eld. W. L. Hyatt, pastor of the Boston Temple church and Miss Walsh, Bible worker, of Boston. A full attendance of the members of the sanitarium family, with quite a sprinkling of visitors, filled the chapel to about the limit of its capacity. The blessed presence of an unseen Guest brought a sweet spirit of unity and love into the hearts of all present.

Sabbath morning, as the hour for Sabbath school arrived, a larger number of visitors had come in and the large gymnasium was about filled to its capacity. The Sabbath school conducted by the regular officers of the Sanitarium Sabbath school, assisted by Mrs. Schnetzler and other visitors, was a most inspiring occasion. Among the pleasing features of the opening exercises were the musical selections, especially a song by a large number of children.

The time of the regular preaching service at 11 o'clock, also an afternoon session beginning at 2 o'clock, were occupied in convention work. A varied program of topics relating to Sabbath school work had been arranged and were spoken to by the following visiting brethren: Elders Slade, Kime, Knipschild, Schnetzler, Shultz, Greene, Howard, Williams, Bicknell, and Brethren Burgess, Houghton, Branson, and Snipes. Ample time was afforded for full and free discussion of the more important phases of Sabbath school work. Each speaker confined himself to the topic assigned him, and the words spoken were timely and will result in stronger and more effective work done in the Sabbath schools of Massachusetts. The program was interspersed with appropriate musical selections, led by Brethren Gardiner and Jewell. The superintendents of eighteen of the Massachusetts schools were present. Other schools were represented by other officers.

The occasion was a great inspiration and spiritual uplift to our sanitarium family.

A. T. Robinson.

CONVENTIONS

The Home Commission of the conference is planning to hold three conventions for the benefit of the parents and homes. These conventions will be held at South Lancaster, February 11 to 14 inclusive, at Boston, February 18-21, and at Providence, February 25-28. Meetings will be held from three to five in the afternoon and from seven-thirty to nine in the evening. The regular church service for each Sabbath will be taken up with items in connection with the convention. Elder A. W. Spalding, secretary of the Home Commission of the General Conference, will be with us for the full time and will undoubtedly present the most of the instruction. We are planning on having Miss Ethel Scott, assistant medical secretary of the Union, to give instruction along health lines. Local help will also be rendered. Members of other churches adjacent to these localities above mentioned are invited to take advantage of these meetings.

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY WORK PROGRESSING

Thirty-five thousand signatures against the pending Sunday bill have already been secured by our loyal people and many are reporting excellent success. Sister Milks of our Westfield company writes:

"I have had such wonderful experiences in meeting the people and getting these names! The Lord seemed to go before me, and the large share of these are leading people of our town—the Methodist minister, the Mayor's wife, preceptress of schools, a justice and so on. A number have begun to study to know what these things mean. Last night I held a Bible study with a Sunday School teacher on the United States in prophecy, and she wants to study more now on the second coming of Christ and the Sabbath. The Baptist minister's wife is willing to read, and some others. I do believe the Lord is using these petitions to wake people up."

Our readers will be pleased to know that already 140 interested people have been found in this campaign by the twenty-eight churches reporting. Sister Rea of our Auburn church has over five hundred names on her petition, and sold one hundred fifty "Church in Politics" besides. The sales of these books will win us well-informed friends. Let us give the public an opportunity to secure light on this important topic while we get their signatures. They may never have another chance. Our instruction is to educate the public on this vital issue. "Church in Politics" and the "Liberty" magazine will do it. Take them along and use them as well as the Religious Liberty leaflets and "Present Truth" No. 52, which gives the text of the Lankford Bill.

We are also enlisting the aid of the public press in our fight for liberty and have recently sent articles to about four hundred papers in our conference. A number of these have written splendid editorials, and Sister Eldridge has just sent in a most excellent one from Olean. This editor certainly lines right up with us in a most whole-hearted fashion.

Let us keep up the good work of getting signatures until this crisis is past. We can not possibly get too many and we are still far short of our allotted 185,000. Help keep America free.

Sabbath School Workers' Training Course

The review questions for the 1927 Training Course are found in the December "Worker." If you do not have this periodical write me, and a set of the questions will be sent you. Mail in your answers soon and receive our General Conference Certificate in recognition of your faithful work.

"Studies In Ephesians"

Do you expect to get all you possibly can out of our Sabbath school lessons for the first quarter of 1928? If so, do not fail to promptly order Elder M. C. Wilcox's one hundred six page book, "Studies in Ephesians", which is a verse by verse commentary on the entire book of Ephesians. Your 35 cents will be well invested indeed. Do it now.

Sabbath School Goals

Let us begin the new year right. Let every school set a weekly and thirteenth Sabbath goal. Make it one worth striving for, and let us be satisfied with nothing but our best from week to week in daily lesson study, punctual attendance, and offerings during 1928.

Fireside Correspondence Course

A good number of our people enrolled in the Bible Reader's Course during campmeeting. We hope they are doing faithful work and that others in our conference will join them in improving the long winter evenings by preparing themselves for more efficient service for the Lord. To encourage them, the Fireside Correspondence School is making a special offer for January and February of $4.00 on the Bible Reader's Course, and $7.50 on the Home Nursing Course, or $10.50 for both courses combined, requiring only a payment of $2.00 per month. Here is your chance to receive a very valuable training for a small amount of money. Why not take advantage of it?

BIBLE HOUSE NOTES

One hundred forty-five "Morning Watch Calenders," plain edition, were recently placed in one of Albany's large hotels by the Missionary Volunteer Society of that church. We feel to commend the young people of Albany for this worthy work, and trust that it will do a great deal of good to those who may chance to be stopping in that certain hotel. We hope that others will follow their example.

The "grippe" does not seem to spare anyone, not even our office workers and stenographers. Miss Castor, one of our stenographers, has recently had a touch of it which forced her to leave her chair vacant for a few days, but we hope that she will soon be with us again.

Orders for "Studies in Ephesians" during the past week have really been encouraging. Don't forget your copy. Only 35¢.

N. E. SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

NEWS NOTES

The Sabbath school Convention held at the Sanitarium over last Sabbath was well attended by some 100 delegates. The Sanitarium was glad to welcome the convention here this year, and we believe that the occasion will prove both an impetus and a permanent blessing to all in attendance. We feel to thank the Lord for the enthusiastic loyalty that is being manifested by the members of the Sanitarium church and family as evidenced by the following figures for last Sabbath:

Members present	.....206
Daily Study	.....183
Visitors	.....102
Offerings	.....$101.07

We are glad to see Brother George Nickerson, our head carpenter, upon his feet once more from a second serious operation. Miss Porter, one of our nurses, who had a similar operation, is also sufficiently recovered that she has returned to her work at our dispensary in Somerville. Sister Leonard Bohner is recovering nicely from a case of appendicitis, and we hope she may soon be with us again.

Brother Ozier, our head farmer, gave the patients their annual sleigh-ride last Monday. They all seemed to enjoy the occasion very much. This is the first time this winter that there has been sufficient snow for such an occasion.

We are glad to welcome Brother and Sister Frank Johnson from Florida as an addition to our nursing staff; also Sister Elliott, from Aroostook County, Maine, to our domestic staff.

Brother George Cornforth, our dietician, has just returned from Waterville, Maine, where he was called by the sickness and death of his mother. As a family we would extend our sympathy to Brother Cornforth, and also to Sister Bertha Priest Barrett, who has recently lost her sister by death, and to Sister Julius Matson, whose mother recently passed away. May God comfort these bereaved hearts.

C. O. Perkins,
Associate Chaplain.

TO MY SUBSCRIBERS

My visits to your door have been once a week regularly since January 1, 1927, excepting July 4 issue and the holiday issue. My visits are somewhat dependent upon receiving the subscription price of 50 cents a year. You will remember that on the back page of the "Atlantic Union Gleaner," under the date of December 22, 1926, we laid before you the plan of having our subscriptions expire December 31 of each year. We would repeat that the expense for each subscription is one dollar a year but the price is only one cent an issue to each reader. We would respectfully request that you who receive the "Gleaner" consider renewal of your subscription and if you have received benefit from my weekly visits remit 50 cents to your local conference office, or for such a term of unpaid subscription as is known to you. If my readers in foreign fields and in territory outside of the Atlantic Union have not made arrangements for my continued visits do not be surprised if I fail to visit your door after February 28.

MIDGET PICTURES OF
BIBLE STORIES

"Papa, tell me a story out of the picture book. Papa, will you?" What do you do when your little girl comes to you? How do you make the Bible stories interesting to your children in the home? How many times those of us who are older have sat watching the children in Sabbath school as a skillful teacher drew on the blackboard eye-gate pictures, and, like the children themselves, we sat entranced while she told the story. "Midget Pictures of Bible Stories" is a book that will fill just this kind of need in the home. It will help to bring mother and father and the children closer to each other. It is a fine book for family worship or for Sabbath afternoon with the children.

The Sabbath school lessons for 1928 begin with the stories in the first of this book and follow right through. With each picture is giving a description of the lesson scene, the lesson scripture, and at least part of the memory verse. The book contains 133 pages, is published in an attractive form, and in convenient size. It is the best book of its type that we know of, and, while forming a part of the Primary Reading Course for 1928, it is also a very practical help in the preparation of the children's Sabbath school lessons for the next five years.

Order of your Conference Book and Bible House. Price postpaid $1.25 H. T. Elliott.

ATLANTIC UNION COLLEGE

NEWS NOTES

Two weeks have passed since we informed our readers of our work at the College. During that time many things have happened.

First, there was the boy's reception. The girls were delighted with the program given in their honor, and with the beautiful gift of a clock presented to them for their parlor.

Second, there was the launching of the colporteur work for the coming summer vacation. Elder E. K. Slade shows his interest in every department by being on hand to help when needed. He spoke about this work on Monday, and Elder H. F. Kirk, our field secretary for the Union, spoke Tuesday morning.

No doubt you know that influence is a talent. After hearing Professor C. D. Utt talk on the subject Friday evening, we decided to be more careful of this great gift.

Of course we are always glad to have Elder L. F. Passebois with us. He occupied the eleven o'clock hour last Sabbath morning.

The fourth number of our lecture course was presented last Monday evening in the College chapel. William F. Clapp gave an illustrated lecture on the "Mysteries and Marvels in Nature."

Last Friday evening Professor J. W. Salisbury told us very clearly of Matthew's call to follow the Master, and Professor G. H. Winslow emphasized the thought Sabbath morning that many of us worry over our sins, instead of remembering that Jesus died for them. In view of this fact we should live positive Christian lives. There are souls who are the center of love, happiness, and inspiration. They radiate sunshine and good will. Their association with the Master helps them to do this—are you one of them?

In the College auditorium the choral society presented a sacred cantata, "The Holy City," Saturday evening under the directorship of Professor J. W. Salisbury.

The student members of the College Council elected last Thursday consisted of the following personnel: Miss Esther Feltus, Miss Lucile Haskin, Mr. Everett Watrous, and Mr. Charles Wittschiebe. We wish these students every success as they endeavor to further the interests of the College. Violet E. Morgan

OBITUARY

He greatly endeared himself to all with whom he had to do. He was about his work Friday forenoon the 13th, but was obliged to give up in the afternoon and go to bed. He was quite comfortable all day Sabbath, but during the following night he grew rapidly worse with acute pneumonia. Everything that human skill could do was done for him but all to no avail, and at 10:30 Monday morning he peacefully fell asleep.

We who have been closely associated with him are stunned by the blow, and as yet it does not seem real to us. He was so young, and so greatly needed that it is hard for us to understand the why, but we can only kiss the rod that smites and say, "The Lord gave and the Lord taketh away, and blessed be His name He will restore again."

Funeral services were conducted by Eld. L. K. Dickson and the writer at the home of Dr. Kinne Wednesday evening. Thursday morning we followed him to his last resting place in Rosedale Cemetery, New Jersey. He leaves to mourn his wife, his mother, a sister, other more distant relatives and a host of friends in and out of the church.

Of him it can truly be said, A faithful and beloved brother has fallen.

W. R. Andrews.
